A diversity of many living things,

And a created order of huge sea creatures.
[26]Because of Him His messenger has a prosperous journey,
And by His word all things are held together.

How Do We Praise Him?

[27]We will say many things and not reach the end,
But the sum of our words is seen in this: “He is the all.”
[28]How shall we ever be able to adequately praise Him?
For He is greater than all His works.
[29]Fearful is the Lord and exceedingly great,
And wondrous is His power.
[30]Glorify the Lord and exalt Him as much as you are able,
For He will surpass even that.
And when you exalt Him, put forth all your strength;
Do not grow weary, for you cannot exalt Him enough.
[31]Who has seen Him and will describe Him?
And who can magnify Him as He truly is?
[32]There are yet many hidden things greater than these,
For we have seen but few of His works.
[33]For the Lord made all things
And gives wisdom to the godly.

In Praise of Honored Men

[1]Let us now praise honored men and our fathers.

[2]The Lord established His great glory
And majesty from the beginning through them.
[3]There were those who ruled in their kingdoms
And were men renowned for their power,
Giving counsel through their understanding
And proclaiming prophecies.
[4]There were leaders of the people by their counsels
And understanding of learning for the people,
Wise in their words of instruction.

5There were composers of music,
And they set forth verse in writing, 6Wealthy men with great resources,
Living in peace in their dwelling-places.
7All these were honored in their generations
And in their days were a source of boasting.
8There were those who left behind a name
That men might declare their praises.
9There were also those whom no one remembers,
Who perished as if they never existed;
And they died as if they had not been born,
And so have their children after them.
10Nevertheless, these were men of mercy,
Whose righteousness lives with God.
11The good they did remains with their seed,
And their inheritance with their children's children.
12Their seed stands with the covenants,
And their children as well for their sake.
13Their seed shall remain forever,
And their glory will not be blotted out.
14Their bodies were buried in peace,
And their name lives to all generations.
15Peoples will tell of their wisdom,
And the assembly will proclaim their praise.

Enoch

16Enoch pleased the Lord and was translated
As an example of repentance for all generations.

Noah

17Noah was found perfect
And was righteous in the time of wrath,
In which he was rescued in exchange.
Therefore a remnant was left on the earth
When the flood came.
18Everlasting covenants were made with him

That all flesh would not be wiped away again by a flood.

Abraham and His Sons

19 Abraham was a great father of many nations,
And no one is found like him in glory.
20 He kept the law of the Most High,
Who made a covenant with him.
He established a covenant in his flesh,
And he was found faithful in testing.
21 Therefore He affirmed by an oath
That nations would be blessed in his seed;
And He would multiply him like the dust of the earth,
And exalt his seed like the stars in number,
And cause them to inherit from sea unto sea,
And from the River to the ends of the earth.
22 And with Isaac He established the same assurance,
For the sake of Abraham his father.
23 A blessing for all men and the covenant He made Rest upon the head of Jacob.
He acknowledged him with His blessings
And gave him an inheritance.
Then He divided his portions among twelve tribes.

Wisdom of Sirach 45

Moses

1 He brought from him a man of mercy

Who found favor in the eyes of all flesh,
Beloved by God and man,
Moses, whose remembrance is blessed.
2 He made him equal in glory to the saints
And magnified him in the fears of his enemies.
3 With his words he caused signs to cease,
And the Lord honored him in the presence of kings.
He gave him commands for His people

And showed him His glory.
4He sanctified him because of his faithfulness and gentleness
And chose him out of all flesh.
5He caused him to hear His voice,
Then led him into the darkness
And gave him the commandments face to face:
The law of life and knowledge,
To teach Jacob His covenant
And His judgments to Israel.

Aaron

6He exalted Aaron, a holy man like himself,
His brother from the tribe of Levi.
7He established an everlasting covenant with him
And gave him the priesthood of the people.
He blessed him with orderly behavior
And covered him with an adornment of glory.
8He clothed him with the consummation of boasting
And confirmed him with instruments of strength:
The linen breeches, the long robe, and the ephod.
9And He encircled him with tassels,
With many golden bells all around,
To sound their ring at his steps,
Making their ringing sound
As he walked in the temple,
A reminder for the children of his people.
10With a holy garment, with gold and hyacinth
And purple cloth with embroidered work,
With the oracle of judgment, the Urim and Thummim,
With woven scarlet by the work of an artisan, 11With entwined scarlet, the work of a skilled craftsman,
With precious stones engraved like a seal
In a setting of gold, in a cut stone, a jeweler’s work,
With a memorial in engraved letters,
According to the number of the tribes of Israel.
12He set a golden crown over the priestly turban,
A figure of the holy seal, a distinction of honor,

The work of an expert,
Things desirable to the eyes, richly adorned!
13There was never so much beauty before his time.
No outsider was ever clothed in these garments,
Only his sons and his offspring perpetually.
14His sacrifices shall be a whole burnt offering Perpetually, twice every day.
15Moses ordained him and anointed him with holy oil.
It was an eternal covenant for him
And for his seed forever,
To minister to the Lord and serve as priest;
To bless His people in His name.
16He chose him from all the living
To offer sacrifices to the Lord,
Incense and sweet-smelling offerings as a remembrance
To make atonement for Your people.
17He gave him authority with His commandments
In covenants of judgments,
To teach Jacob the testimonies
And to enlighten Israel in His law.
18Outsiders conspired against him
And were jealous of him in the desert,
The men who gathered with Dothan and Abiram,
And even the company of Korah with anger and wrath.
19The Lord saw and was not pleased,
And they were brought to an end by the anger of His wrath.
He performed wonders against them
To consume them in His flaming fire.
20He also brought Aaron glory
And gave him an inheritance.
He divided the firstfruits for him;
He prepared bread in abundance from the firstfruits.
21For they will eat the sacrifices to the Lord,
Which He gave to him and to his seed.
22But in the land of the people
He will have no inheritance,
And there is no portion for him among the people;
For the Lord Himself is his portion and his inheritance.

Phineas

[23]Then Phineas the son of Eleazar is the third in glory,
When he showed zeal in the fear of the Lord;
And he stood fast when the people turned away,
By the goodness of the eagerness of his soul,
And he made atonement for Israel.
[24]Therefore He established a covenant of peace with him,
To be in charge of the sanctuary
And leader of his people,
That the priesthood might be with him and his seed forever.
[25]A covenant was also established with David,
The son of Jesse from the tribe of Judah.
The heritage of the king is from son to son only,
And the heritage of Aaron is for his seed.
[26]May He give you wisdom in your heart
To judge His people in righteousness,
That their good things might not disappear,
And their glory throughout their generations.

Wisdom of Sirach 46

Joshua and Caleb

[1]Mighty in battle was Joshua the son of Nun

And successor to Moses in prophecies.
He became, in accordance with his name,
A great savior of God's chosen ones,
To punish the enemies who rose up against them
That he might give Israel its inheritance.
[2]How glorious he was when he lifted up his hands
And stretched out his sword against the cities.
[3]Who stood so firm before him?
For he led the wars for the Lord.
[4]Was not the sun held back by his hand,
And one day become as two?
[5]He called upon the Most High, the Lord,

When enemies oppressed him from all sides.
Then the great Lord answered him
With hailstones of mighty power.
6He shattered that nation with war,
And at the descent of Beth Horon
He destroyed his opponents,
So the nations might know his full armor,
That he fought his battle in the sight of the Lord.
7For indeed he followed behind the Lord.
Even in the days of Moses he showed mercy,
He and Caleb, the son of Jephunneh:
They withstood the assembly
To prevent the people from sinning
And to stop their evil murmuring.
8Indeed, these two alone were preserved
From the six hundred thousand on foot,
To lead them into an inheritance,
Into a land flowing with milk and honey.
9The Lord gave Caleb strength
And remained with him until old age;
For he went up to the hill country,
And his seed took it as an inheritance,
10So all the children of Israel
Might know that it is good to follow the Lord.

The Judges

11The judges also, each by his name,
Those whose heart did not fall into idolatry,
And whoever did not turn away from the Lord—
May their memory be blessed!
12May their bones revive from their place,
And may the name of those honored live again in their sons!

Samuel

13The prophet of the Lord, Samuel, beloved by his Lord, Established a kingdom and anointed rulers for his people.

14 He judged the assembly by the law of the Lord,
And the Lord watched over Jacob.
15 By his faithfulness he proved to be a true prophet,
And by his words he was known to be faithful in vision.
16 Thus he called upon the Lord, the Mighty One,
When enemies troubled him on every side,
And when he offered a young lamb.
17 Then the Lord thundered from heaven
And with a great sound made His voice heard.
18 He destroyed the leaders of the Tyrians
And all the rulers of the Philistines.
19 And before the time of his sleep in perpetuity,
Samuel called men to witness
Before the Lord and His anointed:
“I have not taken any man’s possessions,
Even to my sandals.”
Indeed, no man brought any charges against him.
20 Even after he fell asleep, he prophesied
And showed the king his end,
And raised up his voice out of the earth
With a prophecy to wipe away the lawlessness of the people.

Wisdom of Sirach 47

Nathan and David

1 Then after this Nathan rose up To prophesy in the days of David.

2 As the fat was divided from the peace offering,
So David was separated from the sons of Israel.
3 He played with lions as with young goats,
And with bears as with lambs of sheep.
4 Did he not slay a giant in his youth,
And remove the disgrace from the people
When he took in his hand a stone for a sling
And struck down the arrogance of Goliath?

5For he called upon the Lord Most High,
And strength was given to his right hand
To defeat the mighty man in battle,
To exalt the power of his people.
6So for his tens of thousands they glorified him
And praised him for the blessings of the Lord when they brought him a diadem of glory.
7For he destroyed his enemies all around,
Reduced to nothing his enemies the Philistines,
And crushed their power to this very day.
8In his every work, he gave thanks with a word of praise
To the Holy One, the Most High;
And he sang a hymn with all his heart
And loved his Maker.
9He placed psalm-singers before the altar
To make sweet melody with their voices.
10He gave dignity to the feasts
And set in order the appointed times throughout the year
For them to praise His holy name,
And for the sanctuary to resound from early morning.
11The Lord took away his sins,
Exalted his power forever,
And gave him a covenant of kings
And a throne of glory in Israel.

Solomon and His Successors

12After him there arose his wise son,
Who lodged in a broad space because of him.
13For Solomon reigned in days of peace,
To whom God gave rest on every side
That he might establish a house for His name
And prepare a sanctuary to last forever.
14How wise you were in your youth,
And filled with understanding like a river.
15Your soul covered the earth,
And you were filled with the parables of riddles.
16Your name was known to islands far away,

And you were loved for your peace
17And for your songs, proverbs, and parables;
Nations marveled at you because of your interpretations.
18In the name of the Lord God,
Who is called the God of Israel,
You collected gold like tin
And multiplied silver like lead.
19But you lay down beside women
And were enslaved by your body.
20You brought disgrace on your honor
And defiled your seed
So as to bring wrath upon your children;
And they were pierced by your lack of good sense.
21Thus one kingdom became two,
For out of Ephraim there began a disobedient kingdom.
22But the Lord did not abandon His mercy
Nor corrupt any of His words.
Neither did He wipe away the descendants of His chosen one,
Nor did He remove the seed of the one who loved Him.
He gave a remnant to Jacob,
And to David a root from his stock.
23When Solomon rested with his fathers,
He left behind him one of his sons,
Lacking in good sense and understanding,
Rehoboam, who turned away the people by his counsel.
24There was also Jeroboam, the son of Nebat,
Who caused Israel to sin
And led Ephraim on the road to sin.
Then their sins were multiplied exceedingly
So as to remove them from their land.
25They sought every wickedness
Until punishment came upon them.

Wisdom of Sirach 48

Elijah

[1]Then Elijah the prophet rose up like fire,

And his word burned like a lamp.
[2]He brought a famine upon them,
And in his zeal he reduced them in number.
[3]By the word of the Lord he shut up heaven,
And also three times he brought down fire.
[4]So by your wonders you were honored, O Elijah,
And who can boast like you?
[5]You raised the dead from death
And from Hades by the word of the Most High.
[6]You brought down kings to destruction,
And from their bed, those who had been honored.
[7]You heard rebuke at Sinai,
And at Horeb the judgments of punishment.
[8]You anointed kings for retribution
And prophets to serve after you.
[9]You were taken up in a fiery whirlwind,
In a chariot of flaming horses.
[10]It is written that you will come at the proper time with rebukes
To calm the wrath of God before it breaks forth in fury,
To turn the heart of the father to the son,
And to restore the tribes of Jacob.
[11]Blessed are those who saw you
And who fell asleep with love,
For indeed we will surely live.

Elisha

[12]Elijah was covered by the whirlwind,
And Elisha was filled with his spirit.
And in his days he trembled before no ruler,
And no one oppressed him.
[13]No word could overcome him,
And after death his body prophesied.
[14]As in his life he did wonders,
So even in death his works were amazing.

15For all these things the people did not repent,
Nor did they turn away from their sins
Until their land was plundered;
Then they were scattered over all the earth.
16But a people few in number were left
And a ruler in the house of David.
Some of them did what was virtuous,
But some multiplied sins.

Hezekiah and Isaiah

17Hezekiah fortified his city
And brought water into its midst.
He dug through the hard rock with iron
And constructed cisterns for the water.
18In his days, Sennacherib came up
And sent out the Rabshakeh, and he retreated.
Then he lifted up his hand against Zion
And boasted in his arrogance.
19So their hearts and hands were shaken,
And they suffered pain like women giving birth.
20Then they called upon the merciful Lord,
Stretching out their hands toward Him.
Thus the Holy One quickly heard them from heaven
And rescued them by the hand of Isaiah.
21He struck the camp of the Assyrians,
And his angel destroyed them.
22For Hezekiah did what was pleasing to the Lord
And grew strong in the ways of David his father,
Which Isaiah the prophet commanded,
The one great and faithful in his vision.
23In his days the sun moved backward
And lengthened the life of the king.
24With a great spirit he saw the last things
And encouraged those who mourned in Zion.
25He showed what was to come to the end of time,
And the hidden things before they came to pass.

Wisdom of Sirach 49

Josiah and Jeremiah

[1]The remembrance of Josiah is like the composition of incense Prepared by the work of the perfumer.
In every mouth it is sweet like honey
And like the music at a banquet with wine.
[2]He led in the conversion of the people,
And he removed the abominations of lawlessness.
[3]He directed his heart to the Lord,
And in days of lawlessness he strengthened godliness.
[4]Except for David, Hezekiah, and Josiah,
All offended continually,
For they forsook the law of the Most High.
The kings of Judah failed,
[5]For they gave their power to others
And their glory to a foreign nation.
[6]They set fire to the chosen city of the sanctuary
And desolated her streets
[7]According to the word of Jeremiah;
For they did him evil,
He who was sanctified as a prophet while still inside his mother,
To root out, to afflict, and to destroy,
And likewise to build and to plant.

Ezekiel and the Twelve Prophets

[8]Ezekiel himself saw a vision of glory,
Which the Lord showed him on a chariot of cherubim.
[9]For He remembered his enemies with a thunderstorm
And did good to those who directed their ways aright.
[10]May He indeed revive the bones
Of the twelve prophets from their place.
For they encouraged the people of Jacob
And redeemed them with steadfast hope.

Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah

[11]How shall we magnify Zerubbabel?
He was surely like a seal upon the right hand,
[12]And so was Jeshua the son of Jozadak,
Who in their days built the house
And raised up a holy temple to the Lord,
One prepared unto eternal glory.
[13]There is the lasting memory of Nehemiah,
Who raised for us the walls that had fallen;
And he established gates and locks
And raised again our home sites.

Others of Honor

[14]No one like Enoch was created upon the earth,
For he himself was taken up from the earth.
[15]Neither has a man like Joseph been born,
The leader of his brothers and the support of his people;
And they watched over his bones.
[16]Shem and Seth were honored among men,
And Adam over every living thing in creation.

Wisdom of Sirach 50

Simon, Son of Onias

[1]There was Simon, the high priest and son of Onias,

Who repaired the house during his life
And strengthened the temple in his days.
[2]He also laid the foundation of the double high wall,
The fortified wall surrounding the temple.
[3]In his days the cistern for the waters was dug,
A reservoir like a sea in circumference.
[4]He was concerned about how to save his people from ruin,
And he strengthened the city to withstand siege.

The Day of Atonement

5 So was he honored when the people gathered round
As he came out from behind the veil!
6 Like the morning star in the midst of the clouds,
Like the moon when it is full;
7 Like the sun shining upon the temple of the Most High,
And like the rainbow shining in clouds of glory;
8 Like the bloom of the rose in the days of firstfruits,
Like lilies by a spring of water,
Like a sprig of frankincense in the summer;
9 Like fire and incense in the censer,
Like a solid gold vessel decorated with every precious stone;
10 Like an olive tree sprouting fresh fruit,
And like a cypress tree rising into the clouds.
11 When he took up a robe of honor
And was clothed with the perfection of boasting
In his ascent to the holy altar,
He glorified the court of the sanctuary.
12 When he received the portion from the hands of the priests While standing by the hearth of the altar,
A crown of brethren surrounding him,
He was like a sapling of cedar in Lebanon;
And they encircled him like the trunks of palm trees, 13 All the sons of Aaron in their glory,
And the offering to the Lord in their hands
Before all the assembly of Israel.
14 Finishing the services at the altars
And arranging the offering to the Most High, the Almighty, 15 He stretched out his hand to the cup
And poured a libation of the blood of the grapes.
He poured it out on the foundation of the altar,
A fragrant scent to the King of all, the Most High.
16 Then the sons of Aaron cried out,
Sounding out the trumpets of hammered work,
A great noise to be heard
As a remembrance before the Most High.
17 Then all the people hastened in common

And fell with their faces on the ground
To worship their Lord, the Almighty God, the Most High.
18The singers also praised Him with their voices,
And their song was sweetened with a variety of sounds.
19The people also prayed to the Lord Most High,
In prayer before the Merciful One,
Until the order of the Lord was ended
And they finished His liturgy.
20Then going down he lifted up his hands
Over the entire assembly of the children of Israel,
And to boast in His name.
21Then they bowed down in worship a second time
To receive the blessing from the Most High.

Praise of Honored Men Concluded

22And now bless the God of all,
Who does great things in every way,
Who exalts our days from our birth
And deals with us according to His mercy.
23May He give us gladness of heart,
And may there be peace in our days,
In Israel as in the days of old.
24May He entrust with us His mercy,
And let Him redeem us in our days.

Author's Summary

25With two nations my soul is angered,
And the third is not a nation:
26Those who reside on the mountain of Samaria and the Philistines,
And the foolish people who dwell in Shechem.
27Jesus, son of Sirach, son of Eleazar the Jerusalemite,
Who poured wisdom forth in this book,
I inscribed instruction in understanding and knowledge.
28Blessed is he who will conduct himself by these,
For by putting these things in his heart

He will be made wise.
29For if he does these things,
He will grow strong in all things,
For the light of the Lord is his path.

Wisdom of Sirach 51

A Psalm of Thanks

1I will give thanks to You, O Lord and King,

And I will praise You as my God and Savior.
I give thanks to Your name.
2For You have been my protector and helper,
And You redeemed my body from destruction
And from the snare of a slanderous tongue,
From the lips of those who work falsehood.
And before all those who stood by, You were a helper,
And You redeemed me,
3According to Your great mercy and Your name,
From being devoured as one prepared for food
At the hands of those who sought my soul;
From many afflictions that I endured, 4From suffocation by an encircling fire,
And from the midst of a fire I did not start;
5From the depths of the belly of Hades
And from the tongue of the unclean and the word of a liar—6The slander of an unrighteous tongue before the king.
My soul drew near unto death,
And my life was near Hades below.
7They surrounded me on all sides,
And there was no one to help me.
I looked for the help of men, but there was none.
8Then I remembered Your mercy, O Lord,
And Your work which is from of old,
For You lift up those who wait upon You,
And You save them from the hand of their enemies.
9I sent up my supplication from the earth

And prayed about the instability caused by death.
10 I called upon the Lord, the Father of my Lord,
That He might not forsake me in the days of affliction,
When I am helpless against the arrogant.
I will praise Your name continually,
And I will sing a hymn with thanksgiving.
11 My prayer was heard,
For You saved me from destruction
And rescued me from a time of evil.
12 Therefore I will thank and praise You,
And I will bless the name of the Lord.

Striving for Wisdom

13 While I was still young, before I went on my travels,
I sought wisdom openly in my prayer.
14 Before the temple I prayed about her,
And I will search for her to the end of my life.
15 From blossoms to ripening grapes,
My heart rejoiced in her.
My foot embarked on her righteous path,
And from my youth I hunted for her.
16 I inclined my ear a little and received her.
I found much instruction for myself.
17 There was progress for me in her.
To Him who gives me wisdom, I will give glory.
18 For I purposed to practice wisdom;
And I was zealous for the good
And was not put to shame.
19 My soul strove earnestly for her,
And I examined myself closely in my performance of the law.
I stretched out my hands to the heights
And mourned my ignorance of her.
20 I directed my soul to her,
And in purification I found her.
I acquired a heart for her from the beginning;
Therefore, I was not forsaken.

21 My heart was stirred to search for her,
And therefore I gained a good possession.
22 The Lord gave me a tongue as my reward,
And I will praise Him with it.
23 Draw near to me, untaught ones,
And lodge in my school.
24 Why do you say that you are lacking in these things, Yet you let your souls thirst exceedingly?
25 I opened my mouth and said,
“Gain wisdom for yourselves without money.
26 Place your neck under her yoke,
And let your soul receive her instruction.
She is near that you might find her.
27 See with your own eyes that I labored little,
But found much rest for myself.
28 Partake of instruction with a great amount of silver,
And gain much gold with it.
29 May your soul be gladdened by His mercy,
And may you not be put to shame when you praise Him!
30 Do your work before the appointed time,
And He will give you your reward in His appointed time.”

Annotations for Wisdom of Sirach

† Prologue This introduction was written by the grandson of Jesus ben (son of) Sirach, who translated his grandfather's book from the original Hebrew to Greek in about 132 BC, some fifty years after the book was written. Note how God's gift of wisdom is closely connected with the reading and learning of the Holy Scriptures.

1:1 Forever tells us Wisdom is without beginning. He is Christ, the power and wisdom of the Father (1Co 1:24).

1:4 The statement Wisdom was created before all things is a prophecy concerning the Incarnation of Wisdom, who was slain from the foundation of the world (Rev 13:8); for He became incarnate for us men and for our salvation (Creed). "Created" refers to His human nature which He assumed at His conception in the Ever-virgin Mary. "All things" refers to all creation, which Christ came to redeem along with the children of God (Rom 8:21–23; Eph 1:10; Col 1:15–17). From eternity also shows that Christ is without beginning.

1:6 This verse is left out of some ancient manuscripts but included in others. It very possibly was taken out following the Bar Kochba rebellion of AD 135, when Jewish rabbis made a strong effort to purge the LXX of references that could be interpreted as referring to Christ as Messiah. This was done to stem the tide of Jewish conversions to Christianity, which had brought near total destruction to the Jewish nation.

1:7 Again, created wisdom refers to the Incarnation (see 1:4), while wisdom poured . . . out on all His works reminds us the Father created all things through His Son.

1:10, 11 The fear of the Lord brings blessing both to life and to death.

1:12 The capacity to fear the Lord and thus to believe in Him is joined with the infant in the womb. This would explain why the Lord Jesus Christ speaks of the special faith of nursing babes (Lk 18:15–17).

1:23–27 To gain wisdom we must be obedient to the commandments, maintain faithfulness and humility, and come to God with an undivided heart.

2:1 One who determines to serve the Lord will be tested and face temptation (see 1Co 10:13). Thus, we prepare our soul for this challenge to our fidelity.

2:12–14 Faintheartedness, the loss of endurance, and double-mindedness are forms of unbelief and bring great instability (see Jam 1:8).

3:1, 2 Ben Sirach implores children to listen to the wisdom of their father and mother. Verses 1–16 contain timeless counsel for children concerning their parents.

3:18 Humility is essential to true spiritual works and opens the door to God's immeasurable grace.

3:20–23 Ben Sirach's word on mental health.

3:24–27 A hard heart is a great spiritual danger, warned against in the OT and NT. There is no healing for the man afflicted by this disease (v. 26; see also Mk 8:17; Heb 4:7).

4:10 The care of the poor, the needy, and the orphan is nothing short of Christlike: you will be like a son of the Most High.

4:11–19 Gaining wisdom is not passive or automatic. Note the action verbs: seek (v. 11); loves (v. 12); come (v. 12); holds fast (v. 13); serve (v. 14); obeys (v. 15); gives heed (v. 15); trusts (v. 16).

5:1–8 Looking to possessions and being independent from God is dangerous to one's soul. To assume that God is unwilling or unable to deal with our sins and therefore we can escape the consequences of our deeds is also dangerous. Thus, Ben Sirach's exhortation: Do not delay to turn to the Lord (v. 7).

5:9—6:1 The double-tongued man is one who "talks out of both sides of his mouth" and brings shame and disgrace (6:1).

6:2–4 In ancient agrarian societies where fences were few, a young bull would be forced from his herd and would wander about looking for a herd where he was strong enough to assert dominance.

But in doing so he was in danger of encountering stronger bulls and being torn in pieces. So is a man who looks only to himself for counsel and wisdom. One Orthodox saint teaches, "He is a fool who has himself as his spiritual father."

6:5–17 There are also those who are fair-weather friends and appear to be especially close when one is prosperous. But if things turn for the worse, these false friends will become enemies (v. 13). Faithful friends are a great treasure (v. 14). Such friendships are beyond worth (v. 15) and are like a good and healing medicine (v. 16).

6:18, 19 Lifelong instruction is essential to gaining wisdom. As a farmer patiently plows and sows in order to produce good fruit, so is the one who gains the fruit of wisdom.

6:20 To the undisciplined and spiritually ignorant, the gaining of wisdom seems to be harsh and overly demanding. But the person seeking wisdom will gladly continue with her because of the great good she will bring into his or her life.

6:32–37 The requirements for gaining wisdom: (1) be willing to be taught—have a teachable spirit; (2) love to listen (v. 33) rather than persistently talking; (3) attach ourselves (v. 34) to those older and wiser; (4) listen carefully to divine narrative and wise proverbs (v. 35); (5) continuously practice the commandments (v. 37) of the Lord. As we do these things, He will grant our desire for wisdom. Remember, the early church fathers saw the Wisdom of the Proverbs and Sirach as speaking of the preincarnate Christ. We find in Him the complete personification of Wisdom.

7:1–3 Wisdom requires we avoid all forms of evil things. For if we participate in wrongdoing, we reap its bitter fruit sevenfold.

7:10, 11 Be bold in prayer and alms, or deeds of mercy. The Lord through His Church both humbles and exalts us by providing special seasons of fasting, prayer, and almsgiving to the needy, especially during Lent and Advent.

7:18 Ophir, likely in southwestern Arabia, was a famous source for gold in the ancient world. The queen at Christ's right hand (Ps 44:10), the Theotokos, is arrayed in gold from Ophir.

7:20, 21 The wise employer places high value on a worker who is intelligent and devoted to his job. In ancient times this meant repaying the servant with his freedom. In our times it means providing just compensation and job security.

7:22 Because they are God's creation, we take care of animals we own.

7:24, 25 The father arranged the marriage of his daughter, and until then he protected her chastity.

7:29–31 Love for God and honor for His priests go hand in hand. The OT laws required that part of each sacrifice to God be given to the priests for their support. Here, following give them their portion as commanded, the Syriac version of the LXX includes what some believe to be an emendation by an early Christian copyist. It reads, "the bread of oblations and the firstfruits of the hands." Orthodox Christians would understand this to be the prosphora bread to be used in the Eucharist.

7:32 God has always promised blessing to those who give to the poor.

8:1–3 The application for us is this: Only join battles worth winning.

8:6–9 Valuable counsel for our youth-oriented culture.

8:10 To kindle the coals is to arouse the passions.

8:17–19 Ben Sirach warns us not to reveal our thoughts to just anyone. In the Church, the priest vows that all confessions will be kept confidential.

9:1 A warning against marrying a woman and then becoming jealous of her. Instead, love her and encourage her to use her gifts.

9:3–9 Up-to-date ancient advice on a man's behavior toward women. A courtesan (v. 3) is a prostitute of noblemen. A wise man is not to gaze at a virgin (v. 5), that is, any young unmarried woman. To do so could tempt the couple to immoral relations, which in Jewish society carried a strong penalty (see Dt 22:28, 29). The beauty of a married woman belongs only to her husband (v. 8). It is especially important for a man to avoid dining and drinking alone with a married woman lest they fall into sin and destruction (v. 9).

9:10 Loyalty to an old friend is a great virtue. A new friend cannot take his place.

9:15 The strongest friendships are based on a relationship with the Most High God!

10:4, 5 Since the Lord has authority over all, He will raise up rulers for His purposes and in His time.

10:9 A very humbling passage. One could almost call it crude, except that God is forcing us to face our utter lack of a basis for personal pride.

10:14, 15 This theme echoes Pr 3:37 and is repeated by St. Peter (1Pt 5:5, 6).

10:17 When the faithful die in Christ, we sing, "Memory eternal!" By contrast, the Lord puts an end to the memory of unworthy rulers (v. 14) and nations (v. 16).

10:20–23 All are to fear the Lord—the rich and the poor. A poor man with true godliness and spiritual wisdom must be honored.

10:28, 29 All human beings should humbly recognize the immense value and glory of their own soul. The Lord Jesus Christ may have had this passage in mind when He spoke the words of Mt 16:26.

11:2–9 This section deals with the age-old tendency to judge matters merely by external appearance. Woven in are warnings about boasting of a present possession or position.

11:10 We are to work faithfully and devotedly, but if we become involved in too many things they can overwhelm us. Rushing about to fulfill our obligations, we will keep falling further behind.

11:16, 17 As with 10:28, 29, one wonders if our Lord did not have this passage in mind when He spoke the parable in Lk 12:16–21.

11:22 Being independent in terms of freedom from a dictatorship or oppression is a blessing. Here, however, is a spirit of independence from God, the "I've-got-it-made" syndrome.

11:24, 25 At the end of our life we will be judged for the whole of it. And those who remain watch for the revelation of the works of the departed. This helps explain why the Church waits long to glorify her saints.

12:1–6 Christians extend hospitality, but not indiscriminately (see Ps 140:4, 5; 2Ti 3:6). Almsgiving—giving to the needy—has always been a godly virtue. The Wisdom of Sirach teaches when one practices this virtue to wisely choose a godly recipient. The man who does not give alms is classed with those who persist in evil (v. 3).

12:4–7 These verses reflect the view of ancient societies, including the Hebrews and Greeks, that one should extend grace or do good mainly to one's family or to one who is godly. Few believed in doing good to one's enemies until Jesus Christ strongly taught us to do so (see Mt 5:38–48; Lk 6:27–36). St. Paul sums up the Christian view of almsgiving: "Therefore, as we have opportunity, let us do good to all, especially to those who are of the household of faith" (Gal 6:10).

12:7–18 In a fallen world the godly will always have enemies—either human or demonic, or both. Ben Sirach warns us of fair-weather friends (vv. 8, 9). An enemy is like rust, which ruins metal (v. 10). Be on guard and never trust your enemy (v. 10).

13:3, 4 When a rich man falls, he has many helpers. But when a poor man is wronged, often even his friends push him down further.

13:14–17 Everything in creation loves its like! Thus, we have nations, tongues, and tribes (see Rev 5:9), and that is natural. But for Christians, we do not first identify ourselves as Greek or Russian or American. Rather our allegiance is first to "a holy nation" (1Pt 2:9), which is the Kingdom of God.

14:2 See 1Jn 3:21.

14:3–7 A small-minded, stingy man is not fit to be wealthy, for he will not help others. Such a person only does good accidentally (v. 7).

14:12 Death makes no contract or covenant with anyone to come at the time we might prefer. (See 14:17, and also Gn 2:17; 3:19 for the eternal covenant of death.)

14:20–15:1 The pursuit of wisdom is portrayed, with many vibrant metaphors, as the primary goal of life—keeping in mind that wisdom is ultimately and fully embodied in Christ.

15:2 Wisdom is for those who will seek her with the love of a mother seeking her child, or of a groom being received by his young wife.

15:11, 12 It is not rational to say God led me astray into sin. (Nor is it Orthodox to give the excuse, "The devil made me do it.") In His creation of mankind, God gave us the freedom to choose good or evil. Without that freedom we could neither be held accountable for our evil deeds nor rewarded for our good works.

15:16 Fire and water represent extreme opposites. One could allegorize: we can choose between condemnation and baptism.

15:19 The fear of God is reverential awe, the foundation for worship, love, and obedience to Him (see Dt 30:15–20).

16:1–3 A multitude of children is seen in Scripture as a blessing from God (Gn 24:60; Ps 127:3–6). But God forbid they be useless or ungodly.

16:6 A fire will be kindled and wrath is kindled are references to the stirring up of sinful human passions.

16:7 The ancient giants are mentioned in Gn 6:4; WSol 14:6; Bar 3:26; and 3Mc 2:4.They are described as expert men of war, arrogant, insolent, foolish, mighty, and trusting in their own strength. They were destroyed by God in the flood.

16:8, 9 The men of Sodom are referred to here. In Ezk 16:49, 50 God declares the people of Sodom were arrogant and had abundant food and wine, but were unconcerned for the poor and needy. They also committed "acts of lawlessness" before God, which are described in Gn 19: homosexual acts of incredible disgust. The Sodomites were so "haughty" they had to be dealt with by God in extreme harshness.

16:10 During their sojourn in the wilderness, God allowed the 600,000 foot-soldiers of Israel to die because of their hardness of heart.

16:12–14 The OT and NT teach us that God holds all mankind accountable and will judge us according to our works (see Ps 61:13; Pr 24:12; Mt 25:31–46).

16:15–21 Ben Sirach understands well the mind of the skeptic who refuses to believe in God. Because the unbeliever does not admit that outside his limited realm of finite wisdom God could exist, the author calls him diminished in heart, without discernment and deceived (v. 21).

16:22, 23 Ben Sirach here offers one of the finest evangelism lessons in the OT. His premise: A teachable person will receive precise and accurate knowledge from God. How? He will recognize God has created everything in exactness of order, and the way to find harmony and peace in life is to find our place in His plan and order. The author also gives instruction on (1) the creation of the world (16:24–28), (2) the creation of man (17:1–8), (3) God's revelation through His covenant (17:9–19), and (4) how to return to God (17:20–27).

17:1–8 In the previous verses Ben Sirach briefly sets forth the order and majesty of God's creation of the world. Now he begins a discourse on the grandeur of man made in the image of God. Consequently man is given authority and dominion and power over all the earth.

17:9–19 God intended Israel (v. 14) to be a tight-knit, unified nation. But He also intended her to have open and honorable relations with every nation (v. 14), that is, the Gentiles, ultimately becoming the instrument of their salvation. However, as a nation they did not fulfill this divine intent. Their unity became centered in their ethnicity rather than their relationship with God. They even grew to despise the Gentiles with no concern for their salvation. It is extremely important for us within the Church, the new Israel, not to fall into this same sin and incur the same judgment (see Rom 11:11–36). For the fulfillment of God's promises to Israel in the Church, see the following passages: Rom 4:9–16; 9:6, 8, 23–27; 11:7; 1Co 10:18; Gal 6:16; 1Pt 2:4–12; Rev 3:12; 21:2, 10.

17:20–23 This marvelous passage on repentance forms the basis for many of the prayers, litanies, and services of the ancient Church. This passage was used and paraphrased in the third-century treatise attributed to St. Cyprian entitled "Exhortation to Repentance."

17:23 This verse emphasizes the temporal existence of man. Death is seen as the destroyer of earthly praise to God. Augustine translated thanksgiving as "confession."

17:24 The mercy and atonement from the Lord anticipates the coming of the Son of God.

17:26 On earth nothing is brighter than the sun, yet even it can be eclipsed. So with mankind, the best of us can be darkened by evil.

18:3–6 The works and wonders of the Lord are of such magnitude and majesty, it is impossible to enumerate them all or to plumb their depths. Augustine has a long and moving sentence on the depth and beauty of Scripture in which he says that if one had a long lifetime to study it at leisure, he could never fathom it all. He concludes by quoting a portion of v. 6: When a man completes his search, then he starts over.

18:8–10 Man's inability to consistently practice righteousness, the brevity of even the longest life, and human suffering all move God to be compassionate and merciful.

18:15, 16 A friendly word often brings more comfort than does a gift. However, a gracious person will give both comforting words and fitting gifts.

18:18–20 These serious admonitions apply to one's health and daily life, but their ultimate application is to prepare the soul for the final judgment.

18:22 Making a vow to the Lord can be as simple as promising Him to give a tithe of one's income, or as all-encompassing as monastic vows (see Nm 6:5; Acts 18:18).

18:24 God teaches us that we must use our wealth to help those in need.

18:26 Times are changing. In these days of sin, when the culture takes an evil turn, the wise man will be even more careful to guard against wrongdoing.

18:28 As one labors to be wise, that virtue will spread to others.

18:29 Interestingly, the heading Self-Control appears in the Greek text.

19:1 One who has self-control will not dissipate his wealth in drunkenness, nor will he be careless about small things. "Faithfulness in small things is no small thing" (Aug).

19:8 The one exception to not passing on hearsay is when keeping quiet is a sin.

19:13–17 These verses urge careful examination. The KJV uses "admonish" for the Greek elegzon, which we have rendered question. Some would render it "reprove" or "examine." However, true friendship requires that we gently and tactfully ask a friend or a neighbor about a potential false charge or hurtful statement. We always give the benefit of the doubt to our neighbor or friend, remembering that we all slip and sin with our tongue far more often than we realize (v. 16).

19:18–27 This passage affirms the nature of true wisdom by contrasting it with false wisdom. All wisdom begins with the fear of the Lord (v. 18).

19:26, 27 Outward appearance can be an indicator of wisdom.

20:3 The martyr Cyprian (200–258), in a passage attributed to him calling this book by its nickname "Ecclesiasticus," meaning "Church Book," places Sirach on a par with all other Scripture. Many church fathers also quoted from Sirach. In his treatise, Cyprian quotes first from 17:24–26 and then from 20:3. This document includes a great many Scripture quotes, mostly from the LXX but also a few from the NT, and is worthy to be studied by all Christians.

20:4 A eunuch is a castrated man who serves as an attendant to a sovereign in his bedchamber or harem. The analogy here is that a man who uses senseless violence to bring about justice is impotent in producing justice.

20:5–8 The church fathers insist that the most difficult discipline for most of us is learning to keep silent. "Now what ought we to learn before everything else, but to be silent, that we may be able to speak? Lest my voice should condemn me, before that of another acquit me, it is written: 'By thy words thou shalt be condemned'" (AmbM).

20:9–12 These verses employ contrasting terms to show that things are not always as they appear to be.

20:14, 15 Beware of fools bearing gifts!

20:16, 17 The foolish man awash in self-pity complains about being friendless and unappreciated. His world revolves around himself, and he becomes a laughingstock to all.

20:19 This definition of a fool as a man without grace serves as a reminder to Christians to rely on the grace of God in their speech instead of merely on their own understanding.

21:1–3 A simple and powerful summary of the attitude of the repentant believer. If one has sinned, he is not to continue in it. Rather, he is to pray urgently for forgiveness. The humble believer must view all sin as dangerous, as much as a poisonous snake. St. Paul follows this exhortation when he says, "Flee sexual immorality" (1Co 6:18).

21:3 Lawlessness is any form of rebellion against the duly constituted authority over us. God calls it "every man doing whatever is right in his own eyes" (Dt 12:8).

21:11–28 This passage is a brilliant series of comparisons and contrasts of wisdom and folly.

21:13 The guidance of a wise man flows abundantly from his lips because it comes from the Holy Spirit (see Mk 13:11).

21:16 Literally, "the exegesis of a fool."

21:17 St. Paul speaks of "the word of wisdom" (1Co 12:8).

21:27 Jude 9 also warns against rebuking Satan, instead instructing us to say, "The Lord rebuke you!" (See also Zec 3:2.)

22:1 A powerful condemnation of laziness. The filthy stone was used like toilet paper—which explains 22:2.

22:3–6 Because the father is ultimately responsible for the discipline of children, St. Paul issues a helpful word in Eph 6:4.

22:11 The concept of rest for the dead suggests a life after death, not a cessation of existence.

22:13 Close contact with a fool can defile a person, and his influence is an exhausting irritation.

22:22 St. John Chrysostom has a lengthy discourse on friendship in which he quotes from this verse, listing the evil actions that destroy friendship: "reproaching . . . and revealing of a secret, and a treacherous wound." He goes on to say, "For there is nothing good without friendship . . . so let there be a man having ten thousand talents and another a hundred friends: the latter is more rich in resources than the former."

22:27 This passage amplifies Ps 140:3, which is sung at Vespers.

23:1–6 It appears this prayer may have formed the basis for the Prayer of St. Ephraim the Syrian, the prayer of repentance which Orthodox Christians pray repeatedly throughout Great Lent, though that prayer is simpler and shorter.

23:9 Ben Sirach's warning reflects the serious matter of making vows and not fulfilling them. To break a vow made in the name of the Holy One would be to take God's name in vain (Ex 20:7).

23:20 This verse is very clear on God's foreknowledge: all things are known to Him.

24:1 This chapter is a poetic discourse on Wisdom, which can only find its fulfillment in Christ, and thus is viewed by the early church fathers as being Christological. The Greek word sophia (wisdom) is feminine in gender, and therefore the pronouns associated with it are translated in the feminine. The preincarnate Christ is revealed as the eternally begotten Son, God of God, co-equal with the Father. Also, Wisdom, the preincarnate Son, is exalted above all. Perhaps St. Paul had this passage in mind when he penned Php 2:5–11, which many believe is an early Christian hymn.

24:3 "Observe the peculiar attribute of the Divine Generation, that the Son doth not seem to have come forth out of any place, but as God from God, a Son from a Father, nor to have a beginning in the course of time, having come forth from the Father by being born, as He Himself who was born said: 'I came forth from the mouth of the Most High'" (AmbM).

24:8 Created me is a prophecy concerning the incarnation of Wisdom. He is Christ, the power and wisdom of the Father (1Co 1:24). The phrases a place to live, a tent in Jacob, and an inheritance in Israel also emphasize the Incarnation.

24:9 The phrases before the age, from the beginning, and in the age to come show that Wisdom is without beginning. The statement He created me is prophetic of the Incarnation as well. For Christ, the power and wisdom of the Father, assumed a human nature at His conception in the womb of the Mother of God, the Ever-virgin Mary.

24:16, 17 St. Paul teaches that in Christ we find a superabundance of the riches of grace (Eph 1:7, 8).

24:21 Though the Christian finds true nourishment in the Body and Blood of Christ, he will always hunger and thirst for more of Christ in all aspects of life.

25:1–15 Though these verses primarily describe those worthy of praise, they also include a denunciation of the unworthy (v. 2). It is interesting that one of the great celibate monks of the Church, St. John Chrysostom, should say of v. 1: "For there is no relationship between man and man so close as that between man and wife, if they be joined together as they should be . . . nothing whatever is more precious than to be . . . loved by a wife and to love her."

25:7 The Christian must love and pray for his enemies while rejoicing at the downfall of evil.

25:15 Ben Sirach continues his diatribe on the evil wife (vv. 15–25, and again in 26:5–12). Following each of these passages are sections praising a good wife (26:1–4, 13–18). Both vice and virtue are fair game for this outspoken author!

25:21 Historically, it was seen as disgraceful for a wife to financially support her husband. When necessity calls for the husband to stay at home with the children and keep the house while the wife earns the income, be aware of these warnings of Ben Sirach.

25:24 Just as neglecting a crack in a reservoir could cause a flood, so also an emboldened evil wife can produce a torrent of wicked deeds.

25:25 The OT rules concerning divorce were less strict than those given by Jesus.

26:1–4 A good wife brings her husband happiness (vv. l, 2, 4), long life ( v. 1), and peace (v. 2).

26:5, 6 After listing three fears, Ben Sirach declares the fourth to be the wife who is jealous over another woman. The implication is that her jealousy is unfounded.

26:9–12 This passage warns of the sin of sexual promiscuity. Clement of Alexandria says of v. 9, "But languishing looks, and ogling, which is to wink with the eyes, is nothing else than to commit adultery with the eyes" (ClemA).

26:13–18 This passage makes many of the same observations as 1Pt 3:1–6.

26:20—27:3 Business-related scandals are not new. Unless a merchant holds steadfastly to the fear of the Lord, the work of his hands will be overturned.

27:4–7 Jesus Christ must be the Lord of our reasoning process (v. 6), keeping our motives pure.

27:5 Cyprian of Carthage (martyred AD 258) sees this passage as the basis of St. Paul's and all Christian sufferings. "This, in short, is the difference between us and others who know not God, that in misfortune they complain and murmur, while adversity does not call us away from the truth of virtue and faith, but strengthens us by its suffering."

27:8 The Lord Jesus Christ confirmed and amplified this truth in His fourth Beatitude (Mt 5:6).

27:13, 14 Trash talk and swearing may make a man look tough, but Ben Sirach is right: it is offensive and gains no respect from others.

27:27 Moses told the children of Israel the same thing in different words: "You will know your sin when evils overtake you" (Nm 32:23).

28:1 This concept is recorded in Dt 32:35, and is affirmed by St. Paul in Rom 12:19.

28:2 The Lord Jesus Christ echoed this truth in His Sermon on the Mount (Mt 6:14, 15). It is not that God's grace and forgiveness are somehow purchased or earned by our first forgiving others. Rather, our unforgiveness prevents us from having the humility to receive God's mercy and forgiveness.

28:3 It is well known that those who are filled with wrath and discontent develop serious diseases. Forgiveness of others promotes our spiritual and physical healing.

28:4 One of the most powerful of Christ's parables greatly amplifies this common human failing (Mt 18:23–35).

28:6 The church fathers often urge us to ponder our death and the great judgment seat of Christ in order that we stand fast in a state of preparation for that awesome day.

28:24 Some see possessions as referring to the tongue, which is to be guarded as carefully as silver and gold. Cyprian, apparently quoting the Vulgate, renders this verse as, "Hedge thine ears with thorns, and hearken not to a wicked tongue."

28:25, 26 The Church teaches us to weigh our words and to pray, "Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth" (Ps 140:3). He who lies in wait is Satan, who desires to capture our soul.

29:1 Christ expands on this in the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5:42).

29:10–13 "What is so likely to win favor as gratitude? . . . What [is] more natural than to love one who loves us?" (AmbM). Thus, we are urged to give our money to help a brother and friend (v. 10).

29:11–13 This passage is a precursor to Christ's words in Mt 6:19–21. Since the Sermon on the Mount is the heart of the Lord's teachings, and since it rings with many words and concepts from Sirach, it is easy to see why the early Church gave the book the nickname "Ecclesiasticus" (Church Book). Verses 12 and 13 instruct us to keep an alms fund in a safe place so it will be available when we meet a needy person. One who is generous to the poor will be protected from affliction and his enemy. Perhaps following the Old Latin, some fathers read v. 12 as, "Store up your alms in the heart of the poor man."

30:1–13 God believes in discipline! Heb 12:5–10 reveals how the Lord disciplines His children, and asks the question, "What son is there whom a father does not chasten?" (v. 7).

30:16 May we thank God for health of body and joy of heart!

30:19 In the "Bel and the Serpent" section of Daniel, they tried offering food and drink to an idol; Daniel laughed, and they failed.

30:21–25 Ben Sirach teaches that sorrow does not simply sneak up on us and take over. Instead, we give ourselves over to it (v. 21), or we can put it far away. How? By rejoicing (v. 22), loving our soul, and comforting our heart (v. 23).

31:1, 2 Among the great problems caused by wealth and its accumulation are anxiety and sleeplessness. "Why enviest thou the rich man? Is it because he has subjected himself to many cares? . . . Because he is bound like a dog, with ten thousand chains—namely his riches? . . . As though at enmity with ourselves, we have devised a tyranny more powerful than natural want of rest—the sleeplessness which comes of wealth" (JohnChr).

31:8–11 Rare is the individual who is rich but does not love money. Such a person can do great good in the world. "For the love of money is a root of all kinds of evil, for which some have strayed from the faith in their greediness, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows" (1Ti 6:10). "What is greater than the man that knows how not to be excited at the thought of money, and has contempt for riches, and looks down as from a lofty vantage-ground on the desires of men? Men think that one who acts thus is more than a man" (AmbM).

31:12–32:13 This passage gives attention to righteous conduct at dinner parties. Issues such as moderation in food and drink, good manners, proper conversation, and even stinginess are addressed.

31:14 Eating everything in sight is not new! Ben Sirach calls for restraint.

31:16 Even during Lent, when dining elsewhere, the fathers say to eat what is set before you.

31:19 A small helping of food is sufficient for those with discipline. This is not written just for monks, but for all Christians.

31:25–31 Throughout Scripture, wine is seen as a good gift from God if we drink it in moderation to bring gladness of soul (v. 28).

32:1, 2 In ancient times, hosting a banquet was a magnificent honor. Ben Sirach reminds the host to be as one of them and to take care of them—that is, be the servant of your guests.

32:3–6 This banquet is complete with a concert of dinnertime music (v. 5) and delicious wine (v. 6). Looking ahead, imagine the grandeur of the "marriage supper of the Lamb" (Rev 19:9).

32:7–13 Banquet behavior for a young man.

32:17 A wise man is correctable; a sinful man is not.

32:23 We are called to trust the Lord in every work we do, not just in religious work.

33:2 The analogy of a hypocrite being like a ship in a storm indicates he is in grave mortal danger.

33:5 The mind of a fool moves in circles. His reasoning reveals a state of confusion.

33:7–9 God is the author of holy days, seasons, and feasts. This is clear both in the OT and in the NT: for example, people gathered in Jerusalem for Pentecost (Acts 2:1, 5). Human beings are created to experience some days as sanctified, some as ordinary, as we live within time (v. 9). The fact that some feast days became abused in the Old Covenant does not mean we are not to have them in the New. The Church as the new Israel (Gal 6:16) has the authority of Christ to mark her holy days and seasons.

33:13 The same theme found in this pivotal verse is found throughout the OT (Is 45:9; 64:7; Jer 18:6). Complete submission to the will of our Creator is the highest of virtues.

33:14, 15 The cross of Christ is the preeminent example of good coming out of evil.

33:16–18 These verses are autobiographical. The author speaks of himself as coming on duty following the other OT authors. But after great effort, laboring like a grape-picker, he gathered many sayings of wisdom into one large collection. With God's blessing, his word became the greatest of his time. He takes pleasure that his labor has not been for himself alone, but for all who seek instruction.

33:30–33 To enslave another human being is fundamentally wrong. However, in ancient societies it was common, as it still is in many parts of the world. In Israel's history, slave-owners were taught to treat their slaves humanely, as these verses clearly show. In fact, the faithful servant was to be treated as a brother.

34:1, 2 The foolish person gives himself to false hopes and dreams.

34:6 From ancient times the Most High God has revealed Himself in dreams and visions to godly people whose hearts were prepared to receive them.

34:9–12 One who has had an easy, limited, untested life knows little. By contrast, he who has traveled about is broadened by that experience, tested by the dangers of intensive travel. He has given himself to serve others in or by his travels, and will have more understanding and wisdom about life than he can put into words.

34:15–17 Once we have learned to fear the Lord and hope in Him, then we can love Him with our whole being. We find Him our constant support and protection. He lifts up our souls, fills our countenance with light, and brings healing to our afflictions.

34:18, 19 When money we donate is ill-gotten gain, the Most High is not pleased.

34:23–26 This litany of questions highlights the continuous struggle between good and evil. The person who fasts and then commits the same sins all over again (v. 26) profits nothing.

35:1 Ben Sirach declares that he who keeps the law does the equivalent to making a peace offering. Faithfulness to God's revelation requires obedience. Jesus said, "If you love Me, keep My commandments" (Jn 14:15).

35:2 The traditional meaning of alms is "charity" or "a gift of anything needed by the poor." Almsgiving is equivalent to a praise offering. The Scriptures and the church fathers place a striking emphasis on almsgiving.

35:8 St. Paul writes, "God loves a cheerful giver" (2Co 9:7). The tithe is the giving of ten percent of our income. Is the tithe only for Israel? St. Irenaeus wrote in the second century, "Thus the Jews consecrated tithes of their goods to Him, but those who have received liberty [in Christ] set aside all their possessions for the Lord's purposes." In other words, giving ten percent is minimal. St. John Chrysostom wrote in the fourth century, "If there was a danger then [under the Old Covenant] in omitting tithes, think how great it must be now!"

35:10 If we give our tithe, the Lord has promised to repay us sevenfold. How? Perhaps by making us more wise in the management of our money. Or He may prosper our work so that we have even more to give. Or both! Even better, He always enriches the generous giver with joy and many spiritual blessings.

35:13 Simply being poor does not mean that one will receive God's special compassion, for many are poor due to laziness or unwillingness to work. But for those who have been wronged and thus are poor, God hears their prayers and will compensate for their suffering, either in this life or the next. God is on the side of those who suffer through no fault of their own: the orphan, the widow, the oppressed.

35:17 The devout, humble man knows God has heard his prayer because he is comforted by the Lord.

35:19 Ben Sirach assures us the Lord will not delay in answering our prayers. The first half of ch. 36 is a prayer for Israel.

35:24 Through Christ's affliction on the Cross, we receive mercy.

36:1–4 Ben Sirach prays for mercy for us (Israel); that all the nations (the Gentiles) would fear Him; and that God would let them see Your power. Rom 9:24–10:4 is one of many biblical passages that explain how God has answered this prayer. Augustine said of v. 4, "We see this prophecy in the form of a wish and prayer fulfilled through Jesus Christ."

36:7 Here oath refers to the covenant God made with Abraham (Gn 17:21).

36:8 Though God has shown Himself as a "consuming fire" in history, His preference is to redeem and save His enemies, for He is a God of mercy and grace.

36:10 The tribes of Jacob include all those of the true Israel, in both the Old and New Covenants (see Rom 2:26–29).

36:13 The new Zion, the Church, holds a celebration every Sunday, the Divine Liturgy. In it, the Body and Blood of Christ, the full expression of all virtue, is given to the people of God.

36:17 Though this prayer was for Israel, it was also for all on earth. Thus, the Church has become the New Jerusalem, the new Zion, the new nation in which the OT prophecies are fulfilled (see Rom 3:29–31; 4:13–16; Gal 4:21–31; all of Hebrews but especially 12:18–29; 1Pt 2:4–10; Rev 21:9–27).

36:21–23 Women of ancient times often had little or no choice concerning the man they would accept to marry. As with Isaac and Rebekah, for example (Gn 24:1–67), marriages were often arranged by parents or someone in authority. It is worth noting, however, that some sociological studies indicate there was not the unhappiness arising from this practice that we moderns are prone to imagine, and certainly not the divorce rate! The Scriptures laud a woman who is beautiful, both outwardly (v. 22) and inwardly (v. 23).

36:25–27 A good marriage protects both husband and wife from the snares of the devil.

37:1–6 Avoid one who is a friend in name only. To have trusted a friend who becomes an enemy is a great grief.

37:7–10 Though there is safety in many counselors, be sure to know beforehand what the agenda is.

37:21 If we do not heed God's wisdom, we will not experience His grace.

37:29–31 Gluttony is not only sinful, it is dangerous to one's health.

38:1, 2 It is godly to honor the hard-working physician, who is seen in Scripture as a gift from God. Since God is the true Healer, it is He that gives the physician healing skills. Kings kept physicians in their retinue and often gave them lavish gifts when they had successfully treated the king or his family.

38:4 The ancients understood the healing power of plants and minerals, all created by the Lord.

38:5 This is a reference to Ex 15:23–25.

38:6–8 God gives healing skills to druggists and pharmacists for the benefit of all mankind.

38:9–11 There is a direct link from prayer, repentance of sin, and worship to healing.

38:14, 15 How blessed are those whose physician is a faithful, praying Christian.

38:16–23 Proper mourning for the dead is essential to the healing of our grief. An honorable burial for the departed was considered a great work of mercy in the ancient Church. Each parish had its volunteers who washed and dressed the body, making preparation for burial. We are warned not to allow our hearts to be grief-stricken (v. 18) so grief overpowers us, for some have even died from grief. Thus, St. Paul says we grieve, but not as those "who have no hope" (1Th 4:13).

38:23 The exodus of his spirit implies life after death.

38:24 From here to the close of the chapter, Ben Sirach reveals the wisdom of the scribe (v. 24), the plowman (v. 25, 26), the craftsman (v. 27), the blacksmith (v. 28), the potter (vv. 29, 30), and other laborers who work with their hands (v. 31).

38:25 The goad is a cattle prodder.

39:1–11 Those who study the Scriptures are described here. A modern-day equivalent would be the seminarian who learns the Old and New Testaments. The ancients would include the apostles and church fathers.

39:4–11 This sounds like the biography of St. Paul.

39:14 Incense has been an important aid to prayer and praise of God from time immemorial. King David wrote, "Let my prayer be set forth before You as incense" (Ps 140:2). The prophet Malachi predicted incense would be used in worship and prayer among the Gentile nations (Mal 1:11). This continues to be fulfilled in the Church. One of the gifts brought to the baby Jesus by the wise men was frankincense.

39:15, 16 As fallen humans, many tend to see things as bad. God sees them as good. It is our unbelief that clouds our outlook.

39:17 The waters in a heap refers to the oceans being separated from the land at creation (Gn 1:9, 10).

39:19, 20 Nothing takes the all-knowing God by surprise!

39:24, 25 Those who by virtue of God's work are holy see all of God's ways and works as good.

39:26, 27 The basic needs of human beings are ever the same.
39:32–35 Here, Ben Sirach inserts a brief autobiographical comment. God's great work is redemption and salvation, which He accomplishes through His Eternal Son.
40:1 Knowing the heavy yoke we bear, Jesus promised, "My yoke is easy" (see Mt 11:28–30). St. Paul called the heavenly Jerusalem "the mother of us all" (Gal 4:26).
40:12–17 This passage contains a dialectic demonstrating that in the midst of surrounding evil, deeds and attitudes of the righteous shine and produce grace and blessing (v. 17).
40:19–23 The Scriptures from start to finish consistently glorify married love between a faithful husband and wife.
40:24 Almsgiving can be translated "merciful giving." One who gives alms should make it a lifetime habit. Almsgiving includes deeds of love and kindness, not just monetary gifts.
40:27 The reverential awe or fear of the Lord brings a paradise of blessing in this life as well as in the life to come.
41:1 The coming of Christ changed everything. Ben Sirach rightly calls death a bitter memory. Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in Me, though he may die, he shall live" (Jn 11:25).
41:5–7 Tragically, the children of the ungodly usually follow their parents' path.
41:12, 13 The Wisdom Literature of the OT is replete with admonitions to establish and maintain a good name. Pr 22:1 declares, "A good name is to be chosen more than much wealth."
41:18 From the birth of the synagogues during the Babylonian captivity until the mid-20th century, if one openly sinned in the Jewish community one was called before the assembly to give an account and express repentance. This was practiced in many Christian churches as well.
41:26 We cannot always control what we hear. We can absolutely control telling others what we've heard and revealing secrets.
42:1, 2 In according with this teaching, St. Paul wrote, "I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ" (Rom 1:16).
42:5 There is no shame in making a profit or in the discipline of children to keep order at home while the merchant is away. The reference to the evil servant seems harsh, yet wicked servants if left unpunished could destroy one's home or business (see notes on 33:30–33).
42:8 This would seem to refer to a leader in the synagogue who must instruct and arbitrate. The old man judging the young reminds us the "generation gap" has its roots in antiquity.
42:9–11 This passage expresses the universal concerns that any moral father would have for his daughter. It does not contain all of a father's concerns, nor does it reflect the deep affection that good fathers feel for their daughters.
42:13 Moth larvae are hatched from eggs laid by moths within the fabric of garments. The analogy is that wickedness comes from within the heart, as Christ taught (Mt 15:19). Ben Sirach had in mind the fall of Eve, thus sin from a woman.
42:14 There is a subtle contrast here that can easily be missed. Whereas the churlish baseness of evil male conduct can be vulgar and obscene, the flirtatious seductiveness of a woman can lead to the even more serious sins of fornication or adultery.
42:15 Any works done by God begin with His Word. He decrees it and it is done. Though the Greek for "words" here is plural, the Christian knows the Eternal Word (Logos), the Second Person of the Godhead, was and is eternally active in all creation (see Jn 1:1–18).
42:16–25 It is likely St. Paul had this passage in mind when he wrote Rom 11:33–36.
42:17 Not even the greatest of saints or angels can declare all the wonders of God that stand firm as a testimony to His glory.
42:18 The word abyss means "a bottomless pit" and speaks of the infinite and unfathomed reaches of earth, space, and all creation. The human heart is placed alongside the abyss since it too contains a universe that only the Most High can know and fathom.
42:20 The Lord Jesus Christ elaborated on this thought (Mt 12:31–37).
43:1 In the Greek this verse is comprised of all nouns except for one preposition: a challenge to translate. It is a unique doxology to the beauty of the earth and heavens.

43:2–5 A similar teaching on the sun appears in Ps 18:5–7.

43:11, 12 The rainbow is like a jewel that adorns creation. In Revelation, a rainbow appears "like an emerald" around the throne of God (Rev 4:3).

43:13–26 Note the action words that describe how God relates to His creation: By His command (v. 13); at His appearing and by His will (v. 16); He sprinkles (v. 18); He pours (v. 19); He consumes (v. 21); by His reasoning (v. 23); by His Word (v. 26). Natural phenomena do not "just happen."

43:26 St. Paul makes a similar statement (Col 1:17). By the Living Word all things were created, and in Him all things hold together, or consist.

43:27 This verse declares the great truth of God's supreme omnipresence. He permeates everything, but also transcends everything. He is in everything but is above everything. Literally, He is the all is "The all is He."

43:27–33 We have a choice: Either we give glory to God for all His works, or we shrink back in unbelief. King David wrote, "The fool said in his heart, 'There is no God'" (Ps 52:1).

44:1 This begins a section of Sirach that continues to the end of ch. 50, giving honor to the famous men of the OT in the same spirit as Heb 11.

44:3–15 The author of Heb 11:34–38 perhaps borrowed his thoughts from this passage of Sirach.

44:17 Noah by his righteous life became a propitiation for the whole human race. That is, a special mercy was given by God in the form of a covenant: He would never again destroy the human race by a flood.

44:21 This oath by God to bless the seed of Abraham is fulfilled in and through the Church. The Church embraces all nations and fulfills the role of ancient Israel in the prophecies of the OT (see note on 36:17; Mt 23:38; Lk 21:20–24). The River is the Euphrates.

45:1–4 Moses, of blessed memory, is honored among the saints. He brings great encouragement to all believers because on many occasions he stumbled (Ex 4:13–15; 5:22, 23; Nm 20:11, 12 are but a few instances), yet he repented, persevered, and followed God. The Lord honored him (v. 3) and sanctified him (v. 4).

45:7–13 Aaron was vested with an adornment of glory (v. 7). Similarly, the Christian priesthood in the Church is vested. Why? To perpetuate the law? Not at all, for the Levitical priesthood has passed away. Rather, the priest is vested because he represents the King of kings. He is to be the image of Christ, no longer common but ordained (Jn 15:16).

45:15, 16 Only if one understands the Church as set forth by the apostles can these verses be completely fulfilled. Thus, the seed of Aaron continues in the priesthood of the Church in the same way that all true believers are the seed of Abraham.

45:22 This passage has encouraged the hearts of God's servants down through the centuries. Most have served with low pay and many died in poverty. But the eternal promise is that the Lord Himself will be their true inheritance.

45:26 Here Ben Sirach pauses to pray a benediction on God's priests as they serve His people.

46:1, 2 It is probable that Ben Sirach is speaking of the incident in Ex 17:8–13 when Joshua defeated the Amalekites. Joshua prevailed in battle as long as Moses lifted up his hands, holding the rod of God in them. Due to Moses' fatigue, it became necessary for Aaron and Hur to support his arms until the battle ended. The name Joshua means savior.

46:3 These enemies were idol-worshipping tribes that engaged in evil practices such as the sacrifice of babies. They were worthy of God's judgment. Thus, Joshua led the wars for the Lord.

46:4 The sun being held back refers to the miracle of the sun moving from east to west being interrupted in a supernatural manner until the battle led by Joshua could be fought to a successful conclusion (see Jos 10:12, 13).

46:6 For the battle at the descent of Beth Horon, see Jos 10:11.

46:12 Such passages as this and 49:10 make it clear that Sirach reflects a widely held ancient belief in the resurrection. Since 49:10 is in the section on Ezekiel, it would seem clear Ben Sirach had in mind Ezk 37:1–14, which predicts the resurrection of the faithful of Israel.

46:19 The Christian concept of death is that the body will sleep until the resurrection, but the spirit, or the soul, is present with the Lord.

46:20 Blessed Augustine, in an article entitled "Why We Repudiate Arts of Divination," refers to Samuel speaking to Saul through the medium of En Dor (1Kg 28:3–19). He calls such things as consulting mediums "delusions," "pernicious error," and "fornication of the soul."

47:1 The prophet Nathan reproved King David for his adultery with Bathsheba and for having her husband killed in battle (2Kg 12:1–15).

47:2 This is called both the thank offering and peace offering described in Lv 3. The fat of the offering was to be burned on the altar; the breast and right shoulder of the lamb or goat were to be given to the priest.

47:6 See 1Kg 18:2 for this occasion when the women sang this refrain after the defeat of the Philistines, when David killed Goliath.

47:8 Undoubtedly these practices of David are what made him a man "after His (God's) own heart" (1Kg 13:13).

47:9, 10 The renowned musical and liturgical abilities of David are clearly seen here.

47:11 The covenant God made with David (2Kg 7:16) is that He would establish the throne of David forever. This promise is fulfilled in our Lord Jesus Christ, who is the seed of David according to the flesh and the eternal King of heaven.

47:13 This sanctuary or temple, which had been rebuilt and refurbished by King Herod, was standing at the time of Christ. But Jesus predicted it would be utterly destroyed and not one stone would be left upon another (Mt 24:2). This prophecy was fulfilled by the Roman invaders in AD 70. The sanctuary that will last forever, and which replaces the former one, is the New Jerusalem, the Church of the Living God (see also Mt 23:38, 39).

47:19–22 After being given great wisdom, fame, and wealth by God, Solomon compromised and brought disgrace (v. 20) on it all by his enslavement to sexual passions. But God, in His great mercy, did not abandon (v. 22) David's lineage. Ultimately, Christ was born of the seed of David (v. 22).

47:23–25 Due to his passions, and in direct disobedience to God, Solomon took many foreign wives who worshipped idols. Thus he planted seeds of rebellion and disobedience in his son Rehoboam. The same is true of his former-servant-turned-enemy, Jeroboam. Their disobedience to God caused the division of the Hebrew kingdom (see 3Kg 11:1–13:42). Sometimes the Northern Kingdom of Israel, made up of ten tribes, is also called Ephraim. The Southern Kingdom was called Judah and included the tribe of Benjamin. Jeroboam led Israel into great sin through the worship of idols (see 3Kg 12:46–54). The result of this evil was the total ruin of the ten tribes of the northern kingdom. These people were never heard from again, and became known as the ten lost tribes of Israel.

48:1 Elijah was a great prophet, a powerful man of faith and prayer. His great fault was his fear of the wicked Jezebel—most remarkable since he had been so fearless with her evil husband, King Ahab (see 3Kg 18:1–19:10).

48:5 This raising of the dead refers to the son of the widow of Zarephath (see 3Kg 17:1–24). Note in that passage Elijah stretched himself upon the child three times, crying out to the Most High for the child's life to be restored. Orthodox Christians see in this a foreshadowing of prayer to the Holy Trinity: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

48:6 Apparently a reference to King Ahaziah (see 4Kg 1:2–17).

48:7, 8 The kings anointed by Elijah were Hazael and Jehu (see 3Kg 19:15, 16). The only prophet anointed by Elijah who is mentioned by name is Elisha. But since there were at least 100 prophets who had been protected by Obadiah from the massacre carried out by Jezebel, it can be assumed that Elijah anointed several or all of them (see 3Kg 18:3, 4).

48:11 Ben Sirach is saying that since Elijah did not die but was caught up into heaven by a whirlwind, then all who fell asleep in the love of God since Elijah's time will yet live. As Christians, we know our resurrection is possible only because of Christ, who rose from the dead.

48:12 Elijah was covered by the whirlwind: "Was covered by" also means "was enshrouded by," and thus could be translated "disappeared in."

48:13, 14 Elisha's dead body prophesied in the sense that it worked the miracle of a dead man being restored to life when he was hastily placed in the tomb on Elisha's bones (see 4Kg 13:21). The Bible teaches there is power in holy relics.

48:17 In addition to cisterns, Hezekiah had a tunnel constructed through hard rock to allow the water of the Gihon spring to flow into the pool of Siloam. Archeologists have discovered Hebrew words carved in the wall of the tunnel, celebrating its completion in the time of Hezekiah's reign as king (see 2Ch 32:2–4).

48:18–22 Rabshakeh (v. 18) was an Assyrian title, probably meaning "chief of staff" or "governor." Sennacharib, (v. 18) king of the Assyrians (v. 21), was encamped at Lachish and sent the insolent Rabshakeh to demand that Hezekiah surrender the city of Jerusalem to him. Hezekiah turned to the Lord in repentance and sent for guidance from Isaiah. They were rescued from Sennacharib, who ultimately died (see 4Kg 18:13–19:37). The angel (v. 21) destroyed 185,000 of Sennacharib's soldiers (see 4Kg 19:35).

48:25 Isaiah's prophecies concerning the coming of Messiah and the rise of the Church are more precise than those of any other prophet of the OT.

49:6, 7 The sad prophecies of Jeremiah were a great burden to him. On one occasion he determined not to speak them, but could not hold them back (Jer 20:9). His prophecies about the destruction and burning of Jerusalem were completely fulfilled (see Jer 38:14–39:10; 52:12, 13; 4Kg 25:1–21).

49:8, 9 In spite of the hardships and sorrows of living with his people during the Babylonian captivity, Ezekiel had visions of great glory to come and the restoration of the people of Israel to their land. Verse 9 likely refers to Ezk 38:22, which prophesies God pouring out wrath upon the attackers of a restored Israel. God will do good to those who walk in the right paths.

49:10 See notes for 46:12 and 48:11 on the doctrine of the resurrection. Their place is their burial place.

49:14, 15 Enoch's being taken up from the earth by God certainly plants the seed of the doctrine of the resurrection. One could argue that Joseph's concern for the removal of his bones from Egypt (v. 15) to the Promised Land connotes a hope for a future resurrection.

50:1 Simon II was high priest in about 220–196 BC and would have been known to Ben Sirach.

50:1–4 Simon supervised major renovations to the temple and the increase in height of the security wall surrounding it. Other important projects, such as building a huge water cistern and strengthening the city of Jerusalem against siege, were the products of his leadership.

50:5 This refers to processions around the temple by the people during high holy feasts. The same is practiced in the Orthodox Church to this day. Coming from behind the veil refers to the high priest coming out of the Holy of Holies on the Day of Atonement.

50:15 The Greek word for King of all is found nowhere else in the LXX.

50:16 The trumpets of hammered work would signify finely made trumpets of expert craftsmanship.

50:21 This concludes the description of the Day of Atonement service, which points to Simon's strong liturgical skills and the beauty of this service in the temple. As this account was obviously written by one who observed this service in person, we conclude that the author was a personal acquaintance of Simon. This would also explain why so much space in the book is devoted to a high priest who did not hold the same rank and prestige in Hebrew history as the famous men mentioned in chs. 44–49.

50:22–24 This benediction beautifully expresses the mercy of God and the gladness of heart He gives us. Finally we see hope for redemption (v. 24). The word redeem means "to bring forth a ransom" or "to release on payment of a ransom." This age-old Jewish hope is accomplished through the life, death, and Resurrection of Jesus Christ (see Eph 1:7–14; Rom 8:22, 23).

50:25, 26 The mountain is a district in the Edomite Mountains on the east side of the Jordan, beginning slightly north of and running southward parallel to the Dead Sea. The three peoples mentioned—the Samaritans, the Philistines, and those in Shechem—were ancient enemies of Israel. The Samaritans were probably called not a nation (v. 25) because they were a mixture of peoples brought in by the Assyrians. They were called a foolish people (v. 26) because they were primarily idol-worshippers. They have a temple on Mt. Gerizim until this day. Shechem, modern Nablus, was the small town where Jesus encountered the woman at the well known to us as St. Photini (see Jn 4:1–43).

50:27–29 This is a brief biographical reference to the author of the Wisdom of Ben Sirach; Jesus, son of Sirach, son of Eleazar of Jerusalem. These words were added by the grandson of Jesus, the translator of Sirach. (See the Prologue for additional comments of the translator.)

51:1 This begins two closing psalms: (1) a prayer of thanks (vv. 1–12); (2) a poem expressing the author's love of Wisdom (vv. 13–30).

51:5, 6 Apparently the unclean and unrighteous tongue refers to someone who lied about Ben Sirach to the king, nearly causing his death. Thus, this prayer is largely devoted to thanking God for saving him.

51:10 The ancient Church saw the Father of my Lord as God the Father, and my Lord as Jesus Christ. Similarly, the Holy Spirit inspired King David to write, "The Lord said to my Lord, 'Sit at My right hand, / Until I make Your enemies the footstool of Your feet'" (Ps 109:l). In quoting this the apostle Peter declared "my Lord" referred to Christ (Acts 2:34, 35).

51:15 From blossoms to ripening grapes indicates that Ben Sirach's ardent search for wisdom began early in his youth and continued to the time of this writing, when he was mature in age.

51:18 Though uncreated wisdom is seen by the Church Fathers as the preincarnate Son of God, the Logos, nevertheless wisdom exists as a created attribute of man as well as a gift from God. Thus, Ben Sirach prayed for and received the gift of wisdom.

51:21 When one is stirred to search for God and His good gifts with a sincere heart, one will never be disappointed.

51:25, 26 Wisdom is near to us because Christ is near to us.

The Book of Hosea

Author

The prophet Hosea (commemorated October 17) is traditionally considered the author of this work. He was of the tribe of Issachar and his name means "salvation" or "deliverance."

Date

Hosea's prophecy occurred about 750 BC, during the reign of Jeroboam II (786–746) and also after that king's death.

Major Theme

God's love and faithfulness to His people. Hosea's marital experience is used as a parable in the book, illustrated by his faithfulness to his unfaithful wife Gomer. Hosea is also one of the prophets who emphasize the importance of knowing God (6:6) in steadfast love, instead of substituting vain and empty sacrifices and burnt offerings to come into His presence.

Background

Hosea was a contemporary of the prophets Amos (in the Northern Kingdom of Israel) and Isaiah and Micah (in the Southern Kingdom of Judah). His prophecy was directed to the Northern Kingdom. The time of Hosea was marked by great material prosperity but also national anxiety in Israel. The people in their complacency and insecurity turned to the gods of the pagans (primarily Baal and Ashtoreth) for guidance. Hosea saw these pagan religions as the exact opposite of God's revelation to His people. Hosea saw it as his calling to bring wayward Israel back to its covenant with the Lord.

Outline

I. Introduction: Author and Time of the Prophecy (1:1)
II. Hosea and Gomer as Images of God's Dealings with Unfaithful Israel (1:2–3:5)
  A. The children as signs (1:2–2:1)
  B. The unfaithful wife—Gomer and Israel (2:2–3:5)
III. God's Faithfulness and Israel's Unfaithfulness (4:1–14:10)
  A. Israel's unfaithfulness (4:1–6:3)
  B. Israel's punishment (6:4–10:15)

C. The compassionate and faithful love of God (11:1–14:10)

Hosea 1

1 The word of the Lord that came to Hosea the son of Beeri in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam son of Joash, king of Israel.

Hosea's Family

2 The beginning of the word of the Lord to Hosea. The Lord said to Hosea,

"Go, take to yourself a wife of fornication
And children of fornication;
For the land will surely go a-whoring
By departing from the Lord."

3 So he went and took Gomer, daughter of Diblaim, and she conceived and bore him a son. 4 Again the Lord said to him,

"Call his name Jezreel;
For in a little while
I will avenge the blood of Jezreel on the house of Jehu,
And I will make to cease the kingship of the house of Israel.
5 It shall be in that day
That I will break the bow of Israel in the Valley of Jezreel."

6 Then she conceived again and bore a daughter. So God said to him,

"Call her name Lo-Ruhamah,
For I will no longer have mercy on the house of Israel,
But will surely set Myself in array against them.
7 But I will have mercy on the house of Judah
And will save them by the Lord their God.
I will not save them with bow,
Nor with sword, nor by war,
Nor by chariots, nor by horses or horsemen."

8 Now after she weaned Lo-Ruhamah, she conceived again and bore a son.

9 So the Lord said,

"Call his name Lo-Ammi,
For you are not My people,
And I am not your God.

Israel Will Be Restored

10 "Yet the number of the children of Israel
Shall be as the sand of the sea,
Which shall not be measured or numbered.
Then it shall come to pass
In the place where it was said to them,
'You are not My people,'
Even then they shall be called
The sons of the living God.
11 The children of Judah and the children of Israel
Shall be gathered together.
They shall appoint themselves one head
And come up out of the land;
For great shall be the day of Jezreel.

Hosea 2

1 "Say to your brother, 'My People,'
And to your sister, 'Pitied.'

Gomer and Israel Are Unfaithful

2 "Plead with your mother, plead,
For she is not My wife,
And I am not her Husband.
I will remove her fornication out of My presence
And her adultery from between her breasts,
3 That I may strip her naked
And make her again as she was at the day of her birth.
I will make her desolate and as a dry land,
And I will kill her with thirst.

4 “I will not have mercy upon her children;
For they are children of fornication.
5 For their mother went a-whoring.
She that bore them disgraced herself,
For she said, ‘I will go after my lovers,
Who give me my bread and my water,
And my garments and my linen clothes,
My oil and my necessities.’

6 “Therefore, behold, I will hedge up her way with thorns.
I will stop the ways so she shall not find her path.
7 She will follow after her lovers
But not overtake them.
She will seek them but not find them.
She will say,
‘I will go and return to my former husband;
For it was better for me than now.’
8 For she did not know I gave her corn, wine, and oil,
And multiplied silver to her;
But she turned the silver and gold over to Baal.

9 “Therefore I will take back
My corn in its season,
And My wine in its time.
I will remove My raiment and My linen clothes
That she may not cover her nakedness.
10 Now I will expose her uncleanness before her lovers,
And no one shall by any means Deliver her out of My hand.
11 I will take away all her gladness, her feasts,
And her festivals at the New Moon,
And her Sabbaths,
And all her solemn assemblies.

12 “I will destroy her vines and her fig trees,
All things of which she said,
‘These are my wages that my lovers have given me.’
But I will make them a testimony;

And the wild beasts of the field, the birds of the sky,
And the reptiles of the earth shall devour them.
13 I will repay her For the days of Baalim, Wherein she sacrificed to them,
And put on her earrings and her necklaces,
And went after her lovers;
But she forgot Me," says the Lord.

God Has Mercy on His People

14 "Therefore, behold, I will lead her astray
And make her as desolate,
And I will speak to her heart.
15 I will give her possessions from there,
And the Valley of Achor to open her understanding.
She will be humbled there
According to the days of her infancy,
And according to the days of her coming up
Out of the land of Egypt.

16 "Then it shall come to pass in that day,"
Says the Lord,

"That she will call Me 'My Husband,'
And shall no longer call Me 'Baalim.'
17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth,
And their names shall be remembered no more.
18 In that day I will make a covenant for them
With the wild beasts of the field,
And with the birds of the sky,
And with the reptiles of the earth.
I will break the bow, the sword, and the battle from off the earth,
And will cause them to dwell safely.

19 "I will betroth you to Myself forever;
Yes, I will betroth you to Myself
In righteousness and justice,
And in mercy and compassions.

20 I will betroth you to Myself in faithfulness,
And you shall know the Lord.

21 “It shall come to pass in that day,” says the Lord,

“That I will listen to heaven,
And it shall listen to the earth.
22 The earth shall listen to the corn,
And the wine, and the oil;
And they shall listen to Jezreel.
23 I will sow her to Myself on the earth,
And will love her that was not loved,
And will say to that which was not My people,
‘You are My people!’
And they shall say,
‘You are the Lord my God!’ ”

Hosea 3

Israel Will Return to the Lord

1 Then the Lord said to me, “Go yet again and love a woman that loves evil things, an adulteress, even as the Lord loves the children of Israel, for they look after strange gods and love raisin cakes.” 2 So I bought her for myself for fifteen pieces of silver, a homer of barley, and a jar of wine. 3 I said to her, “You shall stay with me for many days. You shall not commit fornication, neither shall you be for another man; but I will be for you.” 4 For the children of Israel shall abide many days without a king, without a prince, without a sacrifice, without an altar, without a priesthood, and without symbols of revelation. 5 Afterward the children of Israel shall return and seek the Lord their God and David their king; and they shall be amazed at the Lord and at His good things in the latter days.

Hosea 4

God’s Judgment on Israel

[1]Hear the word of the Lord,
You children of Israel,
For the Lord has a judgment for the inhabitants of the land:

“There is no truth or mercy
Or knowledge of God in the land.
[2]Cursing and lying, murder and theft
And adultery gushed forth in the land,
And blood is mingled with blood.
[3]Therefore the land shall mourn
And be diminished with all the things that dwell in it:
The wild beasts of the field, the reptiles of the earth,
And the birds of the sky,
And the fish of the sea shall come to an end;
[4]That neither may anyone judge, nor analyze another;
But my people are as a priest who is spoken against.

[5]“Thus you shall be weak by day,
And the prophet shall be weak with you;
I have compared your mother to the night.
[6]My people are like as those who have no knowledge.
Because you have rejected knowledge,
I will also reject you from being a priest to Me;
And because you have forgotten the law of your God,
I also will forget your children.
[7]According to their multitude,
So they sinned against Me;
I will turn their glory into dishonor.
[8]They will eat the sins of My people
And take away their lives because of their wrongdoings.
[9]The priest shall also be as the people;
So I will punish him for his ways
And repay him for his counsels.
[10]They shall eat and not be satisfied;
They have gone a-whoring and shall by no means prosper,
Because they have abandoned holding fast to the Lord.

Israel’s Idolatry

11“The heart of My people has gladly engaged In fornication, wine, and strong drink.
12They asked counsel by means of signs
And they reported answers to them by their staves.
They have gone astray in a spirit of whoredom
And grievously gone a-whoring from their God.
13They have sacrificed on the tops of the mountains,
And on the hills they have sacrificed
Under the oak and poplar
And under the shady tree,
Because their shade was good.
Therefore your daughters shall go a-whoring,
And your daughters-in-law shall commit adultery.
14But I will not show care for your daughters
When they commit fornication,
Nor your daughters-in-law
When they commit adultery;
For they mingled themselves with harlots
And sacrificed with the initiated ones;
And the people who understood
Entangled themselves with a harlot.

15“But you, O Israel, be not ignorant,
And do not go, men of Judah, to Gilgal;
And do not go up to Beth Aven
Nor swear by the living Lord.
16For Israel was maddened like a mad heifer;
Now the Lord will feed them
Like a lamb in a wide place.
17Ephraim, joined with idols,
Has laid stumbling blocks in his own way.
18He has chosen the Canaanites;
They have grievously gone a-whoring;
They have loved dishonor through her rudeness.
19You are a blast of wind in her wings,
And they shall be ashamed because of their altars.

Hosea 5

Warnings for Israel and Judah

1 “Hear these things, O priests,
And attend, O house of Israel!
Listen, O house of the king!
For judgment is with you Because you have been a snare in Mizpah
And a net spread on Tabor,
2 Which they that hunt the prey have fixed;
But I will be your instructor.
3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not far from Me;
For now Ephraim has gone grievously a-whoring;
Israel is defiled.

4 “Their deliberations did not allow them
To return to their God,
For a spirit of fornication is in them,
And they have not gotten to know the Lord.
5 The arrogance of Israel
Shall be brought low before His face,
And Israel and Ephraim shall become weak
Due to their wrongdoings;
And Judah also shall become weak with them.

6 “They shall go with sheep and calves Diligently to seek the Lord;
But they shall not find Him,
For He has withdrawn Himself from them.
7 For they have forsaken the Lord
Because strange children have been born to them.
Now the rust shall devour them along with their heritages.

8 “Blow the trumpet on the hills,
Sound aloud on the heights,
Proclaim in Beth Aven:
‘Benjamin is confused.’

9 Ephraim has vanished in the days of reproof;
Among the tribes of Israel I have shown faithful things.

10 “The princes of Judah became as those Who remove the boundaries;
I will pour out my fury upon them as water.
11 Ephraim oppressed his adversary;
He trod over judgment,
For he began to go after vanities.
12 Therefore I will be as a confusion to Ephraim
And as a sting to the house of Judah.

13 “Ephraim saw his disease
And Judah his pain;
Then Ephraim went to the Assyrians
And sent ambassadors to King Jareb.
But he could not heal you,
And your pain shall in no way cease from you.
14 Wherefore I am as a panther to Ephraim
And as a lion to the house of Judah.
So I will grasp and go away;
And I will take, and there shall be none to rescue.
15 I will go and return to My place
Until they are destroyed,
And then they shall seek My face.
In their affliction they will seek Me early, saying:

Hosea 6

Return to the Lord

1 “‘Let us go and return to the Lord our God;
For He has grasped and will heal us;
He will smite and plug the wound with lint.
2 After two days He will heal us.
In the third day we shall rise
And live before Him.

3 Let us know, let us pursue
That we might know the Lord.
We shall find Him ready as the daybreak,
And He will come to us
As the early and latter rain to the earth.’

Israel and Judah Are Unrepentant

4 “What shall I do to you, O Ephraim?
What shall I do to you, O Judah?
Your mercy is as a morning cloud
And as the early dew that goes away.
5 Therefore I have cut off your prophets;
I have slain them with the words of My mouth,
And My judgment shall go forth as the light.
6 For I desire mercy and not sacrifice,
And the knowledge of God
More than whole burnt offerings.
7 But they are as a man who transgresses the covenant;
There they despised Me.
8 Gilead is a city working vanity with troubling water.
9 Your strength is that of a pirate;
The priests have hidden the way;
They have murdered the people of Shechem,
For they have done lawlessness.
10 In the house of Israel I have seen horrible things;
There is the fornication of Ephraim;
Israel and Judah are defiled.
11 Begin to harvest for yourself
When I return the captives of My people.

Hosea 7

1 “When I have healed Israel,
Then shall the wrongdoing of Ephraim
And the evil of Samaria be revealed,
For they have worked falsehood.

A thief shall come in to him,
Even a robber taking spoil in his way,
2That they may sing together
As men singing in their heart.
I remember all their evils;
Now their own counsels have encircled them;
They were before My face.
3They gladdened kings with their evils
And princes with their lies.

4"They are all adulterers,
Like an oven heated for cooking,
Burning with a flame during the kneading of the dough
Until it is leavened.
5In the days of our kings,
The princes began to be inflamed with wine;
He stretched out his hand with pestilent fellows.
6Wherefore their hearts are inflamed like an oven
While they were falling down all the night.
Ephraim is satisfied with sleep;
The morning is come;
He is burnt up like a flame of fire.
7They are all heated like an oven
And have devoured their judges.
All their kings are fallen;
There was not among them one that called upon Me.

8"Ephraim is mixed among his peoples;
Ephraim became a cake not turned.
9Strangers devoured his strength,
And he knew it not.
Grey hairs came upon him,
And he knew it not.
10The pride of Israel shall be humbled before his face;
Yet they have not returned to the Lord their God,
Neither have they diligently sought Him in spite of all this.

Trusting Other Nations Is Futile

11 “Ephraim was like a silly dove, not having a heart;
He called to Egypt, and they went to the Assyrians.
12 Whenever they shall go, I will cast My net upon them;
I will bring them down as the birds of the sky.
I will chastise them through the news of their affliction.

13 “Woe to them, for they have turned away from Me!
They are cowards,
For they have committed impious deeds against Me.
Yet I redeemed them,
But they spoke falsehoods against Me.
14 Their hearts did not cry aloud to Me,
But they wailed upon their beds.

“They slashed themselves for oil and wine;
They were chastised by Me.
15 I strengthened their arms,
But they devised evils against Me.
16 They turned aside to nothing;
They became as a stretched bow.
Their princes shall fall by the sword;
They will be despised in the land of Egypt
Because of their unrestrained tongue.

Hosea 8

Israel’s Apostasy

1 “He shall come into their midst like the land,
Like an eagle against the house of the Lord,
Because they broke My covenant
And acted impiously against My law.
2 They shall cry out to Me, saying,
‘O God, we know You.’
3 For Israel has turned away from good things;
They have pursued an enemy.

4“They made kings for themselves, but not by Me.
They have ruled, but they did not make it known to Me.
They made idols for themselves with their silver and gold
That they might be utterly destroyed.
5Get rid of your calf, O Samaria.
My anger is kindled against them.
How long will they be unable to purge themselves in Israel?
6A workman made it, And it is not God;
Therefore your calf, O Samaria, was a deceiver.

7“For they sowed wind-damaged seeds,
And their destruction shall await them;
A sheaf of corn cannot produce flour;
And even if the seeds should produce it,
Strangers would devour it.
8Israel is swallowed up.
Now he has become as a worthless vessel among the nations.
9For they have gone up to the Assyrians;
Ephraim has sprouted again against himself;
They loved gifts.
10Therefore they shall be handed over to the nations.
Now I will receive them,
And they will stop awhile to anoint a king and princes.

11“Because Ephraim has multiplied altars,
His beloved altars have become sins to him.
12I will write a multitude of statutes for him,
For his statutes are considered as strange things,
As well as his beloved altars.
13For if they should offer a sacrifice and eat flesh,
The Lord would not accept them.
Now He will remember their wrongdoings
And take vengeance on their sins.
They have returned to Egypt,
And they shall eat unclean things among the Assyrians.

14“Israel has forgotten Him who made him.
They have built temples,

And Judah has multiplied walled cities;
But I will send fire upon his cities,
And it shall devour their foundations.”

Hosea 9

Punishment for Israel

1 Rejoice not, O Israel,
Neither make merry, as other peoples,
For you have gone a-whoring from your God.
You have loved for hire
Upon every threshing floor of wheat.
2 The threshing floor and winepress did not know them,
And the wine disappointed them.
3 They did not dwell in the Lord’s land.
Ephraim dwelt in Egypt,
And they shall eat unclean things among the Assyrians.
4 They have not offered wine to the Lord,
Neither have their sacrifices been pleasing to Him,
But like the mourning bread to them.
All that eat shall be defiled
Because their bread shall be for their own life;
It shall not come into the house of the Lord.
5 What will you do in the day of public festival
And in the day of the Lord’s feast?
6 Therefore, behold, they go forth from the trouble of Egypt.
Memphis shall receive them
And Machmas shall bury them.
As for their silver, destruction shall inherit it,
And thorns shall be in their tents.
7 The days of vengeance have come;
The days of your recompense have come;
And Israel shall be afflicted
As the prophet that is mad, as a man deranged.
By reason of the multitude of your wrongdoings
Your madness has abounded.

[8]The watchman of Ephraim was with God,
But the prophet is a crooked snare in all his ways.
They have planted the madness firmly
In the house of God.
[9]They have corrupted themselves
As in the days of Gibeah.
He will remember his wrongdoings;
He will take vengeance on his sins.

[10]"I found Israel as grapes in the wilderness,
And I saw their fathers as an early guard at their fig tree.
They went in to Baal Peor
And were shamefully estranged;
And the beloved ones became abominable.
[11]The glory of Ephraim has flown away as a bird:
Their glories from birth, birth-pains, and conception.
[12]For even if they should rear their children,
Yet they shall be utterly bereaved.
For woe to them! My flesh is of them.
[13]Ephraim, even as I saw,
Presented their children as a prey;
Ephraim was ready to bring out his children to slaughter."
[14]Give to them, O Lord!
What will You give to them?
A childless womb and dry breasts.

[15]"All their evils are in Gilgal,
For there I hated them.
Because of their evil practices,
I will cast them out of My house.
I will not love them any more.
All their leaders are disobedient.
[16]Ephraim underwent trouble;
He is dried up at his roots;
He shall bear fruit no more.
Wherefore, even if they should beget children,
I would kill the desired fruit of their womb."
[17]God shall reject them

Because they have not hearkened to Him.
So they shall be wanderers among the nations.

Hosea 10

Israel's Judgment and Captivity

[1]Israel is a luxuriant vine;
Her fruit is abundant.
According to the multitude of her fruits
She has multiplied her altars;
According to the wealth of his land
He has set up pillars.
[2]They have divided their hearts;
Now shall they be utterly destroyed.
He shall raze their altars to the ground;
Their pillars shall experience distress.
[3]For now they will say,
"We have no king,
Since we did not fear the Lord.
As for a king, what would he do for us?"
[4]As he speaks words With false motives,
He would make a covenant.
Thus judgment will spring up
As a weed on the soil of the field.
[5]The inhabitants of Samaria Shall dwell near the calf of Beth Aven,
For its people mourned for it.
To the degree that they rebelled against it,
So they will rejoice at its glory
Because it was removed from them.
[6]For they bound it up for the Assyrians
And carried it away as a gift to King Jareb.
Ephraim shall receive it as a gift,
And Israel shall be ashamed of his own counsel.
[7]Samaria has cast off her king
Like a twig on the surface of the water,

[8]And the altars of Aven, the sins of Israel, Shall be removed.
Thorns and thistles shall come upon their altars,
And they shall say to the mountains, “Cover us,”
And to the hills, “Fall on us.”

[9]“From the days of Gibeah, Israel has sinned;
There they stood.
The war on that hill against the children of unrighteousness
Did not overtake them.
[10]I came to chastise them,
And peoples shall be gathered against them
When they are chastised for their two sins.
[11]Ephraim is a heifer taught to love victory,
But I will come upon the fairest part of her neck.
I will mount Ephraim;
I will pass over Judah in silence;
Jacob shall prevail against him.”

[12]Sow to yourselves in righteousness;
Gather in the fruit of life;
Light for yourselves the light of knowledge;
Seek the Lord till the fruits of righteousness come upon you.
[13]Why have you passed over ungodliness in silence
And reaped its wrongdoings?
You have eaten the fruit of deception,
For you have hoped in your chariots,
In the abundance of your power.
[14]Therefore destruction shall rise up among your people,
And all your walled places shall be gone,
As Beth Arbel in the time of Prince Shalman.
In the days of battle,
They dashed the mother to the ground upon the children.
[15]Thus will I do to you, O house of Israel,
Because of your evil deeds.
Early in the morning were they cast off;
The king of Israel has been cast off.

Hosea 11

God's Love for Rebellious Israel

1 "For Israel is a child, and I loved him,
And out of Egypt I have called his children.
2 As I called them,
So they departed from My presence.
They sacrificed to the Baals,
And burned incense to graven images.

3 "Yet I bound the feet of Ephraim.
I took him on My arm,
But they did not know that I healed them.
4 When men were destroyed,
I drew them with the bands of My love,
And I will be to them as a man
Smiting another on his cheek.
I will look with favor to him;
I will prevail with him.

5 "Ephraim dwelt in Egypt;
And the Assyrian himself was his king,
Because he would not return.
6 The sword became weak in his cities,
And he ceased to war with his hands;
For they shall consume themselves
With their own intrigues.
7 His people shall hold onto His habitation;
But God shall be angry with His precious things,
And shall not at all exalt him.

8 "How shall I deal with you, Ephraim?
How shall I protect you, Israel?
What shall I do with you?
I will make you as Admah and as Zeboiim.
My heart is turned about;
My repentance is utterly thrown into confusion.

9 I will not act according to the fury of My wrath;
I will not abandon Ephraim to be utterly destroyed.
For I am God and not man;
The Holy One among you;
And I will not enter into the city.

10 "I will go after the Lord.
He shall utter His voice as a lion;
For He shall roar,
And the children of the waters shall be amazed.
11 They shall be amazed as a bird out of Egypt
And as a dove out of the land of the Assyrians;
And I will restore them to their houses,"
Says the Lord.

Hosea 12

A Charge against Israel and Judah

1 "Ephraim has encompassed me with falsehood,
And the house of Israel and Judah with ungodliness.
But now God knows them,
And he shall be called God's holy people.
2 But Ephraim is an evil spirit.
He has chased the east wind all the day.
He has multiplied empty and vain things
And struck a covenant with the Assyrians.
He made business with oil in Egypt.

3 "The Lord has a judgment against Judah
So as to punish Jacob according to his ways,
And He will repay him according to his practices.
4 He kicked his brother in the womb,
And in his toils he regained strength with God.
5 He prevailed with the Angel and was strong.
They wept and entreated Me.
They found Me in Bethel,

And there a word was spoken to them.
6So the Lord God Almighty shall be his memorial.
7You shall return to your God;
Therefore, observe mercy and judgment,
And draw near to your God continually.

8“As for Canaan,
There is a balance of wrongdoing in his hand,
For he has loved to oppress.
9As for Ephraim, he said,
‘Nevertheless, I am rich;
I have found relief for myself.’
But none of his labors shall be found in him,
Because of the wrongdoings by which he sinned.

10“But I the Lord your God brought you up
Out of the land of Egypt.
I will yet again cause you to dwell in tents
According to the days of the feast.
11For I will speak to the prophets,
And I have multiplied visions,
And by the authority of the prophets
I was represented.”
12If Gilead does not exist,
Then the leaders in Gilead were false when they sacrificed,
And their altars were like mounds on a parched field.
13Jacob retreated into the plain of Syria,
And Israel served for a wife
And kept watch for a wife.
14The Lord brought Israel
Out of the land of Egypt by a prophet,
And by a prophet he was preserved.
15Ephraim was angry and excited;
Therefore his blood shall be poured out upon him,
And the Lord shall repay him for his disgrace.

Hosea 13

Relentless Judgment on Israel

[1]According to the word of Ephraim,
He received ordinances for himself in Israel
And established them for Baal; then he died.
[2]So now they have sinned increasingly
And have made for themselves
A molten image with their silver,
According to the fashion of idols,
The work of craftsmen done for them.
They say, “Sacrifice men,
For the calves have come to an end.”
[3]Therefore they shall be as a morning cloud
And as the early dew that passes away,
Like chaff blown away from the threshing floor
And as smoke out of the chimney.

[4]“But I am the Lord your God,
Who makes the heaven firm and creates the earth,
Whose hands have created the whole host of heaven.
But I did not show them to you that you should seek after them.
I brought you up from the land of Egypt,
And you shall know no God but Me;
And there is no Savior besides Me.
[5]I tended you as a shepherd in the wilderness,
In an uninhabited land.
[6]When they had their pastures,
They were completely filled,
And their hearts were exalted;
Therefore, they forgot Me.

[7]“So I will be to them as a panther
And as a leopard by way of the Assyrians.
[8]I will meet them as an excited she-bear,
And I will rend the hardness of their heart.
The lions’ whelps of the thicket shall devour them there;
The wild beasts of the field shall rend them in pieces.

9“O Israel, who will help you in your destruction?
10Where is this king of yours?
Let him save you in all your cities.
Let him judge you, of whom you said,
‘Give me a king and a prince.’
11Thus I gave you a king in My anger
And took him back in My wrath.

12“Ephraim is a conspiracy of unrighteousness;
His sin is hidden.
13Pains as of a woman in travail shall come upon him.
He is your unwise son,
For he shall not stand in the destruction of your children.

14“I will deliver them out of the hand of Hades
And will redeem them from death.
Where is your penalty, O death?
O Hades, where is your sting?
Pity is hidden from My eyes.”
15Forasmuch as he will cause
A division among his brethren,
The Lord shall bring upon him
A hot wind from the desert,
And shall dry up his springs
And drain his fountains.
He shall dry up his land
And spoil all his precious vessels.

Hosea 14

1Samaria shall be utterly destroyed,
For she has resisted her God;
And they shall fall by the sword.
Their infants shall be dashed against the ground
And their pregnant women ripped up.

Restoration of Israel

2 Return, O Israel, to the Lord your God,
For you became weak through your wrongdoings.
3 Take with you words
And turn to the Lord your God.
Speak to Him,
That you may not receive the reward of unrighteousness,
But that you may receive good things.
We will render in return the fruit of our lips.
4 Assyria will not save us;
We will not mount on horseback.
Let us no longer say to the works of our hands,
“Our gods.”
He who is among you shall have mercy on the orphan.

5 “I will restore their dwellings.
I will love them willingly,
For he has turned away My wrath from them.
6 I will be as dew to Israel;
He shall bloom as the lily
And cast forth his roots as Lebanon.
7 His branches shall spread,
And he shall be as a fruitful olive tree,
And his fragrance shall be as the smell of Lebanon.
8 They shall return and dwell under his shadow;
They shall live and be satisfied with corn,
And he shall flower as a vine;
His memorial shall be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 “To Ephraim: What has he to do any more with idols?
I have humbled him
And I will strengthen him.
I am as a leafy juniper tree.
From Me your fruit is found.”
10 Who is wise and will understand these things?
Or prudent and will know them?
For the ways of the Lord are straight,
And the righteous shall walk in them;
But the ungodly shall become weak in them.

Annotations for Hosea

1:1 "But the word came to Hosea as a teacher of God, softly speaking to the disobedient and making them return through what he says and does" (Theoph).

1:2 A wife of fornication is a woman given to prostitution. It also suggests Gomer was one of Baal's worshippers. Likely Hosea's wife was a young Israelite woman who before marriage was involved in the Canaanite rites of initiation prescribed for future brides, intended to ensure their fertility. "From these people God will build the Church, which will be made holy through its union with the Son of God, as this woman was made holy by her union with the prophet" (Iren). The unbelieving wife is made holy by her believing husband (1Co 7:14).

1:4 Jezreel means "God sows" (judgment), and here it designates the place (today the Arab village of Zerin) where King Jehu of Israel killed Queen Jezebel along with King Ahab's royal house (4Kg 9; 10).

1:6 Lo-Ruhamah means "Unpitied" or "No Mercy."

1:9 Lo-Ammi means "Not My People."

1:11 They shall come up out of the land: They will live the life of the saints as well, for great shall be the day of Jezreel. Indeed, great is the day of Christ, when He will raise to life all the dead.

2:2 This prophetic saying was probably issued in the years following the Syro-Ephraimite war of 733 BC, during which the two Israelite kingdoms were in a state of enmity.

2:3 Strip her naked: An act of humiliation preceding capital punishment of an adulteress (Ezk 16:39, 40; Lv 20:10; Dt 22:22). Perhaps this means Israel would experience humiliation during the Assyrian exile, beginning in 722 BC.

2:5, 7 I will go after my lovers refers in a historical setting to the Israelites' frequent forays into idolatry.

2:13 Baalim refers to various manifestations of the god Baal rather than to many deities named Baal. Days of Baalim points to the festivals listed in v. 11. Originally consecrated to God, these festivals became tainted by Baalism. Similarly, today's world secularizes Christmas and Easter as best it can.

2:14 I will lead her astray: "Having received the light of the knowledge of God in mind and heart . . . she is no longer able to find her old path" (CyrAl).

2:19 "How great is God's mercy! A prostitute fornicates with many lovers, and because of her offense is handed over to the beasts. After she returns to her husband, she is said not at all to be reconciled to him but rather to be betrothed. Now notice the difference between God's union and that of men. When a man marries, he turns a virgin into a woman—that is, a non-virgin. But when God joins with prostitutes, He changes them into virgins" (Jerome).

3:1 Chapter 3, written in autobiographical style, should not be read as another version of ch. 1, a biography, or as referring to Hosea's second marriage to a woman other than Gomer. Instead, ch. 3 describes events which occurred after the facts of ch. 1. "Again means that he [Hosea] has previously loved a whore, who now is an adulteress" (Jerome). Hosea is an icon of God's unconditional love. The Lord loves the children of Israel in spite of their constant acts of idolatry.

3:2 Hosea had to pay to redeem his wife for himself. Likewise, in order to redeem sinful humanity, Christ had to pay with His own precious life.

3:5 The object of this seeking is twofold: the Lord their God and David their king, showing this text to be a messianic prophecy. At some time Israel, once rejected, "will be called, and by faith she will return and know the God of all and David along with Him, that is, the One who is from the seed of David, Christ according to flesh, the Lord and the King of all" (CyrAl).

4:1 The second part of Hosea's book (chs. 4–11) consists of prophetic sayings and begins with an assessment of the moral status of northern Israelite society as a whole.

4:5 "One says that Israel will be weak not forever but for days. For it has been reserved for her a time of salvation and a return to faith" (CyrAl). See also Rom 10:1; 11:26, 27.

4:8 "They used to sacrifice goats for sin; for this reason the sacrifice was called sin. . . . They eat the sins of My people means they (the priests) eat the offerings brought for sins" (CyrAl).

4:9 "Seemingly he calls ways the walking in works and counsels the faults from outrageous thoughts" (CyrAl).

5:2 I will be your instructor: The accent falls here on correction or instruction rather than on punishment. "I am your master, or rather instructor, who wishes to correct, rather than to punish; to save, rather than to lose" (Jerome).

5:7 "'Strange children,' he says, are those who, from the womb, and from their swaddling-clothes, were dedicated to the worship of idols, perhaps when the fathers offered the thanksgiving and sacrifices for births to the demons. Therefore, 'strange children' are the ones who are not in God. Or, according to another interpretation, the ones from the foreign wives" (CyrAl; see Dt 7:3, 4).

5:10 The princes of Judah, the military leaders, are guilty of moving the boundaries. This may be an allusion to the Judean advance into the Benjamite territory in 733 BC. But Judah's princes do not stop at Benjamin; they begin to pluck portions out of the Ephraimite territory, which never belonged to the Southern Kingdom. This wrongdoing is compared with the crime of those who move the boundary markers (Dt 19:14; 27:17; Pr 22:30).

5:15 "By My place we have to understand God's place, His splendor and majesty" (Jerome).

6:1 "These may refer to those among the Hebrews who afterward came to believe in Christ. In such a thirst and long captivity they will seek the face [5:15], namely, the Son" (Theoph).

6:2 The Church understands this text as a messianic prophecy regarding Christ's Resurrection: two days refers to the time the body of Jesus lay in the tomb; the third day points to His glorious Resurrection, promising we shall rise with Him. St. Paul writes that Jesus "rose again the third day according to the Scriptures" (1Co 15:4), most likely alluding to this passage from Hosea.

6:3 Among the Church's early writers, Tertullian (ca. AD 160–225) is the first to relate this passage to the Resurrection of Jesus, and more precisely to the myrrhbearing women who went at daybreak (Lk 24:1) to their Master's tomb to anoint His body.

6:6 God does not reject worship as a whole, but He criticizes the way Israel perceives it. Instead of a means to enter into a relationship with God and to foster community ties, the worship gradually becomes a goal in itself (Am 5:21ff.; Mic 6:6ff.). This applies also to Orthodox people who see the liturgy as "boring."

7:8 "The kingdom of the ten tribes has become like any other nation because they went away from the Lord. And he [Ephraim] is like a bread beneath the ashes that is not turned, that is, he does not repent" (Jerome).

7:11 "Why was Ephraim compared with a dove and not with other birds? The other birds hurry to protect their offspring even at the risk of life. And when they see a bird of prey, snake, raven or crow approaching their nest, they . . . attack with their beak, and wound with their claws, and with a crying voice show the parent's suffering. Only the dove does not grieve for or miss [its] robbed offspring. Ephraim is rightly compared with this bird because he does not suffer for his devastated people but is indifferent to their salvation" (Jerome).

8:1–14 Here God is addressing Hosea immediately after the conclusion of the Syro-Ephraimite war (733 BC). He charges Ephraim (vv. 10, 11) with unfaithfulness. Idolatry, political plots, and lack of trust in Him with respect to foreign relations—all these make the inhabitants of Samaria (vv. 5, 6) consider God's instructions a strange thing. For this reason, His punishment is near: Israel, the worthless vessel (v. 8), will be brought into captivity. Judah will experience the same fate because of her arrogant attitude toward God.

8:12 A multitude of statutes: This saying is one of the earliest evidences that by the eighth century BC the Torah ("instruction" or "law"; Ex 24:12; 34:1) was circulated, at least partially, in a written form.

9:4 "Having collected the fruit of the vine into the wine vats, they offered the firstlings as a libation to the demons, and not to the God who gave them. They also offered loaves of bread as first fruits of the harvest—except that the sacrifice will become for them defiled and impure, he says, and the offerings will be considered as mourning bread (that is, disgusting, impure and odious). For what reason? For the law considered unclean anyone who approached a dead body either by blood relationship or rather by the very touching of the body. . . . Therefore the mourning bread is that bread which was at hand as food for those who were mourning for the dead; for those who strive to avoid contamination with a dead body it is considered terrible even to taste this bread" (CyrAl).

10:1, 2 "Having good shoots and fruit-bearing branches, she [Israel] produced many clusters, and the abundance of the grapes equaled the great number of the branches. But she who before was of such a kind offended God afterward, turning the abundance of the fruits into a great number of offenses. The more people she had, the more altars she built, and she overmatched the abundance of the land by the number of idols" (Jerome).

10:13 "They ate the fruit of deception, namely, they had a useless and senseless hope. For the true fruit is the one that can save and help, the love toward God and the glory of righteousness. On the contrary, the false fruit would reasonably be considered impiety, for in the end it altogether descends to what is abominable" (CyrAl).

11:1 The New Testament application of this passage in Mt 2:15 concerns the return of Jesus, Mary, and Joseph from Egypt. Matthew did not use the Septuagint version (his children), but rather a Hebrew manuscript which had the singular "my son."

11:3, 4 "I bound the feet of Ephraim, that is, the whole Israel . . . although he was awkward. God Himself declares why this is so: 'I will take them in My arms.' This image is from child raising. Those who take infants in their arms are those who bind their feet, bringing their feet together. For it is necessary, I think, that the thighs and knees of anyone who sits down should be drawn together. And in fact this is so. 'I bound the feet' as, for instance, it was written about Abraham, who bound his son Isaac when he thought to bring him as a sacrifice to God. One must note that the Hebrew version and other versions do not have 'I bound the feet' but rather 'I became as one who nourishes Ephraim'" (CyrAl).

11:8, 9 Here, as in numerous other places in Scripture, God speaks as though He were a man. He condescends to communicate in our terms. In this dilemma, it is the infinite, overwhelming love of God that triumphs. His heart turned against His just decision to punish the apostate people (10:8, 14, 15).

12:5 They wept and entreated Me: The only choice Israel has is to beg God for mercy.

13:14 "Moreover the Lord liberated everyone, and redeemed them through the suffering of the Cross and the shedding of His blood, when His soul descended into Hades, and He did not experience corruption to His flesh; and He speaks of the death itself as well as Hades: 'I will be your death, O Death!' For that reason I have died so that you may die through My death. 'I will be your sting, O Hades' for you devoured all with your throat" (Jerome).

14:3 "Become rich in supplies of goods, promise to bring to Him the gifts of the lips, the thank-offering songs and confession. For such things as these are the fruits of the tongue" (CyrAl).

14:5 Israel's return to the Lord may be compared with the repentance of the prodigal son (Lk 15:11ff.). God responds generously to repentance. In the parable, the father sees the repentant child and runs to meet him. In Israel's case, God also begins the healing as soon as Israel shows the first signs of repentance. If love unconditionally flows from God upon Israel, it means that love is His foremost attribute. Hosea may be considered the spiritual forerunner of John the Evangelist, who gave one of the most beautiful definitions of God when he wrote, "God is love" (1Jn 4:8).

The Book of Amos

Author

Amos, which means “burdened” or “bearer.” He is commemorated on June 15.

Date

About 754 BC, “two years before the earthquake” (1:1, 2), which was so severe that Zechariah wrote about it 200 years later.

Major Theme

God’s wrath is to be feared: “A lion shall roar, and who will not fear?” (3:8). Crimes committed against the Jews by their neighboring nations will be the first to be punished. Then God’s wrath will turn to the kingdom of Israel for their sins of oppression of the poor (2:6), incest (2:7), indulgence (3:15), gluttony and drunkenness (4:1). The other theme is the promise of Israel’s restoration if they repent, or of foreign captivity if they do not repent.

Background

Amos was born in the small rural village of Tekoa, twelve miles south of Jerusalem. He was a goatherd and a tender of sycamore, a contemporary of Hosea. Amos may have known Jonah and Elisha when he was young, and Isaiah and Micah when he was older. He prophesied to the Southern Kingdom (Judah) from 795–754 BC. His prophecies were the first to be written down, perhaps because he was the first prophet to proclaim the end of God’s covenant with Israel for their stubborn unrepentance. The prophecies occurred approximately 30 years before the Assyrians captured Samaria in 721 BC, during the time when the two kingdoms were divided. Josephus wrote that a great earthquake took place (1:1) when Uzziah was struck with leprosy. The Israelites had amassed great wealth because of their control over the trade routes, which had created an aristocratic class. Amos was sent to Bethel to warn the king and the people of the Northern Kingdom to repent. The priests, who were tired of his prophecies, clubbed Amos to death.

Judgment of the Nations

[1]The words of Amos, who was among the shepherds of Tekoa, which he saw concerning Jerusalem in the days of Uzziah king of Judah, and in the days of Jeroboam the son of Joash king of Israel, two years before the earthquake.

[2]And he said, “The Lord proclaims out of Zion, and out of Jerusalem He gives a shout. The pastures of the shepherds mourn, and the top of Carmel is dried up.”

[3]Thus says the Lord: “For three sins of Damascus and for four, I shall not turn away from it; for they sawed open the pregnant wives of the men of Gilead with a saw made of iron. [4]So I shall send fire into the house of Hazael, and it will consume the foundations of the son of Hadad. [5]And I shall shatter the bars of the gate of Damascus into pieces. I will put to death those dwelling in the plains of Aven, and I will cut in pieces the people of Charran. The notable people of Syria will be led away captive,” says the Lord.

[6]Thus says the Lord: “For three sins of Gaza and for four, I shall not turn away its punishment, for they took prisoner the whole captivity of Solomon and held them as slaves in Edom. [7]And I shall send a fire upon the wall of Gaza, and it will consume its foundations. [8]I shall put to death those dwelling in Ashdod and remove the people of Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish,” says the Lord.

[9]Thus says the Lord: “For three sins of Tyre and for four, I shall not turn away its punishment, for they imprisoned the captivity of Solomon to Edom, and did not remember the covenant of brotherhood. [10]And I shall send a fire upon the wall of Tyre, and it will consume its foundations.”

[11]Thus says the Lord: “For three sins of Edom and for four, I shall not turn away its punishment, because Edom pursued his brother with a sword and ravaged the womb on the earth. And as a testimony he took captive those shuddering in fear, and he sustained his violence in battle. [12]Therefore I shall send a fire upon Teman that will consume the foundations of its walls.”

[13]Thus says the Lord: “For three acts of ungodliness by the sons of Ammon and for four, I shall not turn away its punishment, for they ripped open women with child in Gilead so as to expand their territory. [14]Therefore, I shall kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah. It shall consume her foundations with shouting in the day of war, and she shall be shaken in the days of her destruction. Their kings shall go into captivity, their priests and their princes together," says the Lord.

Amos 2

[1]Thus says the Lord: "For three sins of Moab and for four, I shall not turn away its punishment, for he burned the bones of the king of Edom to ashes. [2]Therefore I shall send a fire against Moab, and it will consume the foundations of their cities, and in helplessness Moab shall die with shouting and with the sound of a trumpet. [3]And I shall put to death the judge from her midst and slay all her princes with him," says the Lord.

Judgment against Israel and Judah

[4]Thus says the Lord: "For three sins of the sons of Judah and for four, I shall not turn away its punishment, for they rejected the law of the Lord and did not keep His ordinances. And the vain idols made by their fathers led them astray. These were lies their fathers followed. [5]So I shall send a fire upon Judah, and it shall devour the foundations of Jerusalem."

[6]Thus says the Lord: "For three sins of Israel and for four, I shall not turn away its punishment, for they sold the righteous for silver and the poor for a pair of sandals. [7]They trample the heads of the poor into the dust of the earth, and turn away the afflicted and pervert the way of the humble. A son and his father go in to the same handmaiden in order to profane the name of their God. [8]And having bound their clothes with cords, they made curtains by the altar, and they drank wine gained through false accusations in the house of their God.

[9]"Yet it was I who destroyed the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars and who was as strong as an oak tree. It was I who dried up his fruit from above and his roots beneath the ground. [10]And it was I who brought you up out of the land of Egypt and led you forty years through the wilderness, that you would inherit the land of the Amorite. [11]I took some of your sons as prophets and some of your young men to be consecrated. Is this not so, O you children of Israel?" says the Lord. [12]"But you gave the consecrated ones wine to drink and commanded the prophets, saying, 'Do not prophesy!' [13]Behold, for this reason, I weigh you down, just as a wagon being filled with sheaves is weighed down. 14Therefore, escape will be totally lost to the swift, and the strong will certainly lose his strength, and the warrior will in no way be able to save his life. 15The archer will not stand his ground, and the swift foot will not escape danger, and the horseman will be completely unable to save his life. 16The strong will find no confidence in their strength; the naked will flee away in that day," says the Lord.

Amos 3

The Lord's Case against Israel

1O house of Israel, hear this word the Lord has spoken against you, against the whole family which I brought up from the land of Egypt, saying, 2"Out of all the families of the earth, I have especially known you. Therefore I shall exact vengeance upon you for all your sins. 3If two people walk together, will each one not come to know the other? 4Will a lion roar from his lair in the forest if he has no prey? Will a lion's whelp cry out from his den if he has nothing? 5Will a bird fall to the earth without a fowler? Will a snare be sprung if it has caught nothing? 6If a trumpet is sounded in a city, will not the people be alarmed? If evil should be in a city, has not the Lord brought it?
7For the Lord God does nothing unless He reveals instruction to His servants the prophets. 8A lion shall roar, and who will not fear? The Lord God speaks, and who will not prophesy?

9"Proclaim it in the regions among the Assyrians and to the lands of Egypt, and say, 'Gather yourself to the mountains of Samaria, and behold the many remarkable things in her midst and the oppression that is within her. 10She does not know the things that will come against her,' says the Lord, 'she stores up injustice and misery in her lands.' " 11Therefore thus says the Lord God: "O Tyre, your land round about you shall be made desolate, and your strength shall be sapped from you, and your lands shall be plundered." 12Thus says the Lord: "As when a shepherd takes two legs or a piece of an ear out of the mouth of a lion, so shall the sons of Israel be taken out who dwell in Samaria in the presence of a foreign people, and in Damascus.

13"Hear, O priests, and testify against the house of Jacob," says the Lord God Almighty, 14"for in the day I exact vengeance against Israel for their sins, I shall also visit destruction on the altars of Bethel and tear down the horns of the altar, and they will fall to the ground. 15I will demolish and knock down the turreted house upon the summer house, and I shall destroy the ivory houses along with many other houses as well," says the Lord.

Amos 4

Israel's Boundless Sin

1Hear this word, O heifers of Bashan who are on the mountain of Samaria, who oppress the poor, who trample the needy, and who say to their lords, "Bring us wine that we may drink!" 2The Lord swears by His holiness: "Behold, the days shall come upon you, for they will seize you with weapons and cast you and those with you into boiling cauldrons. 3You shall be brought out naked before one another and be cast out on Mount Hermon," says the Lord God.

4"You come to Bethel and act lawlessly and multiply your transgressions in Gilgal. You bring your sacrifice in the morning and your tithes every three days. 5Moreover, outside they read things of the Law and call for professions. Proclaim that the children of Israel love these things," says the Lord God. 6"And in all your cities I gave you cleanness of teeth, and in all your places a lack of bread. Yet you did not return to Me," says the Lord. 7"And also, I withheld rain from you for the three months before the harvest. I caused it to rain upon one city while I withheld rain from another. On one field it rained, but where it did not rain, the crops withered. 8So two or three cities wandered to another city to drink water, but they were not satisfied. Yet," says the Lord, "you did not return to Me."

The Lord Smites Israel for Her Sin

9"I struck you with a parching and blight. When you multiplied your gardens, your vineyards, your fig trees, and your olive trees, the caterpillar devoured them. Yet you did not turn back to Me," says the Lord. 10"I sent forth death against you by way of Egypt, and I killed your young men with a sword, together with your captured horses. And in My wrath I brought fire upon your army camps. Yet you did not return to Me," says the Lord. 11"I overthrew you as God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and you became like a torch that burns out after being plucked out of the fire. Yet even after all this you did not return to Me," says the Lord.

12“Therefore, O Israel, thus shall I do to you, and because I will do thus to you, make yourself ready to call upon your God, O Israel! 13For behold, I am the One who strengthens the thunder, and creates the wind, and proclaims His Anointed One to mankind, making the daybreak and the darkness, while treading upon the high places of the earth. The Lord God Almighty is His name!”

A Lamentation for Israel

1O house of Israel, hear this word of the Lord, a lamentation which I take up against you. 2The virgin of Israel has fallen; she will rise no more; she tripped over her land, and there is no one who shall raise her up.
3For thus says the Lord God: “From the city where a thousand went out, in this group there will yet remain a hundred. And in that from which a hundred went out, ten will be left to the house of Israel.”

A Call to Repentance

4For thus says the Lord to the house of Israel: “Seek Me, and you will live.
5But do not seek Bethel, nor go into Gilgal, nor cross over to the Well of Oath, for Gilgal shall surely go into captivity, and Bethel shall come to nothing. 6Seek the Lord and live, lest He break out like fire in the house of Joseph and devour it, with no one to extinguish the fire for the house of Israel. 7The Lord is He who brings about justice on high and righteousness on the earth!
8“He makes all things. He transforms the darkness into the morning and makes the day dark as night; He calls forth the waters of the sea and pours them out on the face of the earth. The Lord God Almighty is His name. 9He rains ruin upon the strong and brings misery upon the fortress.
10“They hated him who reproved in the gates and abhorred the upright word. 11They tread upon the poor and take bribes from him. They built houses of hewn stone, yet they shall not dwell in them. They planted pleasant vineyards, but they shall not drink wine from them. 12For I know your many transgressions and the enormity of your sins, devouring the righteous and taking bribes, turning away the poor at the gate. 13Because of this, the prudent keep silent in this time, for it is an evil time. 14Seek good and not evil

so that you may live, so that the Lord God Almighty will be with you. As you have said, 15‘We hated evil and loved good.’ And restore justice in the gate that the Lord God Almighty may have mercy on the remnant of Joseph.”

16Therefore the Lord God Almighty says, “There shall be wailing in all the streets, and it shall be said in all the highways, ‘Woe! Woe!’ The farmer shall be called to mourning and lamentation, as will those skilled in wailing and complaining. 17There shall be lamentation in all your streets because I shall pass through the midst of you,” says the Lord.

18Woe to you who desire the day of the Lord! What is the day of the Lord to you? It will be darkness and not light. 19It will be as though a man fled from a lion, and a bear met him! As though he rushed into the house, leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him! 20Is not the day of the Lord darkness and not light? Is it not a deep darkness, with no brightness in it?

21“I hate, I reject your feast days. I do not savor your sacred assemblies. 22Though you offer Me burnt offerings and meat offerings, I will not accept them. I will not regard your fattened peace offerings. 23Take away from Me the sound of your songs, for I will not hear your musical instruments. 24Instead, let justice run swiftly as does water from the mountain, and let righteousness be as a stream that cannot be crossed.

25“O house of Israel, did you offer Me sacrifices and offerings those forty years in the wilderness? 26You have carried the tabernacle of Moloch and the star of your god Raiphan, which you made for yourselves. 27Therefore I shall exile you beyond Damascus,” says the Lord—the Almighty God is His name.

Amos 6

Woe to the Complacent

1Woe to those who feel secure in Zion and who trust in Mount Samaria. They have gathered the notable heads of the nations who go there. 2O house of Israel, all of you, go and see. Go to Hamath the great, and then go down to Gath of the Philistines, the most powerful of all those kingdoms. See if their territory is greater than your territory. 3You who are approaching the evil day, who draw near and hold false sabbaths. 4You who lie on beds of ivory, who stretch out on your couches and eat kids from the flock and suckling calves from the midst of the herds, 5who applaud the sound of stringed instruments, considering them as if permanent and not fleeting, 6who drink filtered wine and anoint yourselves with the best ointments, and have suffered nothing because of the affliction of Joseph. 7Therefore, now they shall be taken captive first, and the neighing of horses will be cut off from Ephraim. 8For the Lord has sworn by Himself, saying, “I abhor all the pride of Jacob, and I hate his lands. Therefore I shall destroy the city and all its inhabitants.”

9Then it shall come to pass that if ten men remain in one house, they will die. 10But a remnant will remain, and they will diligently endeavor to remove the bones of their relations from the house; and one will say to those standing before the house, “Are there any more with you?” Then someone will say, “None.” And he will say, “Hold your tongue! For we dare not mention the name of the Lord.”

11For behold, the Lord commands, and He shall break the great house into bits and the little house into pieces. 12Will horses run on rocks? Do they keep silent among mares? Yet you turned justice into anger and the fruit of righteousness into bitterness; 13you who rejoice vainly, who say, “Have we not possessed horns by our own power?” 14“But, behold! I shall raise up a nation against you, O house of Israel, and they will afflict you from the entrance of Hamath to the river of the west.”

Powerful Acts of Judgment

1Thus the Lord showed me: Behold, He formed locust swarms at dawn; and behold, one locust, Gog, was the king. 2And so it was, when they had finished eating the grass of the land, I said, “O Lord, Lord, be merciful! Who will raise up Jacob? For he is small! 3Repent, O Lord, concerning this.” And the Lord said, “It shall not be.”

4Thus the Lord showed me: Behold, the Lord called for judgment by fire, and it engulfed the great deep and devoured the Lord’s portion. 5Then I said, “Lord, Lord, cease, who will raise Jacob? For he is small! 6Relent, Lord, concerning this.” “This also shall not be,” said the Lord.

7Thus He showed me: Behold, a man stood on a wall made of adamant, with adamant in his hand. 8And the Lord said to me, “Amos, what do you see?” And I said, “Adamant.” Then the Lord said, “Behold, I am placing adamant in the midst of My people Israel. I shall not pass by them anymore. 9The joyful altars will be abolished, and the sacrifices of Israel will be laid waste. I shall rise up against the house of Jeroboam with the sword.”

10Then Amaziah the priest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, “Amos conspired against you in the midst of the house of Israel. The land is not able to bear all his words. 11For thus Amos has said: ‘Jeroboam will die by the sword, and Israel will surely be led away captive from their own land.’ ” 12Then Amaziah said to Amos, “Go, you seer! Flee to the land of Judah. Live out your life there and prophesy there. 13But no longer prophesy at Bethel, for it is the king’s sanctuary, his royal residence.”

14Then Amos answered and said to Amaziah, “I was no prophet nor the son of a prophet. I was but a sheepbreeder and a tender of sycamore fruit.
15Then the Lord took me from the sheep, and the Lord said to me, ‘Go, prophesy to My people Israel.’ 16Now therefore, hear the word of the Lord:
‘You say, Do not prophesy to Israel, and do not stir up the house of Jacob.’
17Therefore thus says the Lord: ‘Your wife shall be a prostitute in the city, and your sons and daughters shall fall by the sword. Your land shall be divided by a survey line, and you shall die in a defiled land. Israel shall surely be led away captive from his own land.’ ”

Amos 8

The Bird-Catcher’s Basket

1Thus the Lord showed me: Behold, a bird-catcher’s basket. 2And He said, “Amos, what do you see?” So I said, “A bird-catcher’s basket.” Then the Lord said to me, “The end has come upon My people Israel. I shall not pass by them anymore. 3And the recessed ceilings of the temple shall wail in that day,” says the Lord, “for many are fallen in every place; I will bring silence upon it.”

4Therefore, hear this, you who oppress the poor in the morning and use tyranny to drive the needy from the land, 5saying, “When does the month end so we can barter? and the Sabbath end so we can open the storehouses? So we can falsify the balancing scales to our favor, and thereby receive greater profits by deceit; 6when the poor man can be acquired for silver and the downcast for sandals; when we can trade in any kind of product?” 7The Lord swears against the arrogance of Jacob; He will not forget any of your works.
8Will not the land be disturbed by these things, and will not everyone dwelling in it mourn? Even as a flooding river comes to an end, so too the flood waters of the river of Egypt return to their banks.

9"And it will come to pass in that day," says the Lord God, "the sun will set at noon, and the light of day will grow dark over the land. 10And I shall turn your feasts into mourning and all your songs into lamentation. I shall place sackcloth on every waist and make every head bald. They shall be as one mourning a beloved one, and those with them as a day of grief."

A Famine for Lack of the Word of the Lord

11"Behold, the days will come," says the Lord, "that I shall send a famine across the land; not a famine of bread nor a thirst for water, but famine to hear the words of the Lord. 12The waters will be unsettled as far as the sea. And from the north to the east men will scurry about seeking to find the word of the Lord, but they will not find it. 13And in that day the fair virgins and the strong young men will faint from want of water. 14Those who swear by the sin-offering of Samaria, and who say, 'O Dan, your god lives; O Beersheba, your god lives!' They shall fall and never rise again."

A Vision of the Altar

1I saw the Lord standing by the altar, and He said, "Strike the mercy seat, and the gateway of the temple shall be shaken. And cut through to the heads of all of them, and I will slay the remnant of them with the sword. He who flees shall not get away, and he who escapes from them shall not be delivered. 2Though they may attempt to bury themselves in Hades, from there My hand shall drag them out, and though they climb up to heaven, from there I shall bring them down. 3Though they hide themselves on top of Carmel, from there I shall search and take them. Though they hide from My sight at the bottom of the sea, from there I shall command the serpent, and it will bite them. 4And though they go into captivity before their enemies, from there I shall command the sword, and it will slay them. And I shall set My eyes on them for evil and not for good."

5The Lord, the Lord God Almighty, is He who takes hold of the land and causes it to shake, and all who dwell there shall mourn; for its destruction shall come up as the flood of a river and shall then return to its banks as the River of Egypt. 6He who builds his ascent to the heaven and establishes His promise on the earth, who calls the water of the sea, and pours it out on the face of the earth—the Lord God Almighty is His name. 7"O sons of Israel, are you not as the sons of the Ethiopian to Me?" says the Lord. "Did I not bring Israel up from the land of Egypt, the Philistines from Caphtor, and the Syrians out of Kir?

8"Behold, the eyes of the Lord God are on the kingdom of sinners, and I shall destroy it from the face of the earth. Yet I shall not utterly destroy the house of Jacob," says the Lord. 9"For I commanded, and I will winnow the house of Israel among all the nations, as grain is sifted in a sieve; yet not a grain will fall upon the ground. 10All the sinners of My people who say, 'No evil will draw near, neither will it overcome us,' shall die by the sword.

Restoration after Judgment Is Past

11"In that day I shall raise up the fallen tabernacle of David, and I shall rebuild its ruins and repair its damages and rebuild it as in the days of old, 12that the remnant of men and all the nations upon whom My name is called will seek Me," says the Lord, who does this thing. 13"Behold, the days are coming," says the Lord, "when the threshing will overtake the harvest, and grapes will ripen at the time the seed is sown, and the mountains will drip sweetness, and all the hills shall share in it. 14I shall bring back the captives of My people Israel, and they will rebuild the ruined cities and inhabit them. They will plant vineyards and drink wine from them. They also will make gardens and eat fruit from them. 15I shall plant them on their land; no longer will they be uprooted from the land which I have given them," says the Lord God Almighty.

Annotations for Amos

1:1 Amos preached repentance during a time of spiritual drought that preceded judgment (Lk 3:1, 2); indeed, Christ's Advent was an earthquake that shook the world (Mt 28:2), and the coming of the Holy Spirit a judgment by fire (vv. 4, 7, 10, 12, 14; 2:2, 5).

1:3—2:3 These judgments are clearly against God's spiritual enemies: demonic powers, idolatry, false teaching, pride, hypocrisy, etc. Gregory the Great sees Gilead, which means "heap of testimony" (see Gn 31:47, 48; Jos 1:12–18 and note), as showing forth the witness of the faithful; and the saw made of iron as being "the sword of error," or false teaching, which leads the people astray. "When therefore, we endeavor to instruct these people not to entertain perverse views, we must first admonish them not to seek their own interests. For if the root of pride is cut away the branches of false assertions become withered."

2:6 In the ultimate perversion of good, Judas sold Christ for thirty pieces of silver (Mt 26:15).

3:1 The Lord accused the Israelites more severely "and showed that they deserved greater punishment, because they sinned after receiving the honors that he had bestowed on them" (JohnChr).

3:4 As a lion will not roar in a forest that has no prey, so the passions will not attack the believer who brings "every thought into captivity to the obedience of Christ" (2Co 10:5).

3:6 John Chrysostom writes on the question of whether God is the author of evil: "Now evil is a many-faceted thing. . . . There is evil, which is really evil: fornication, adultery, covetousness, and the countless dreadful things, which are worthy of the utmost reproach and punishment. Again there is evil, which rather is not evil but is called so: famine, pestilence, death, disease, and other of a similar nature. . . . These were evils intended to become the sources of good to us, chastening our pride, goading our sloth and leading us on to zeal, making us more attentive."

3:12 "If there are but two legs or a piece of an ear, leap back from him who has wounded you. . . . Do not despair of salvation. . . . The Lord does not wish the death of the sinner, but that he return and live" (BasilG).

4:7 "We ought to strive with great care that we may not be that city upon which the rain of the Word of God either does not come at all, or, at least, only late and rarely. Without any doubt, if the dew or rain of the Word of God is provided too late, the fruits of souls will be the same as earthly fruits which do not receive rain" (Caes).

4:10–12 "In their hardness of heart and with their frequent habit of sinning, they are beyond the purgation of this very brief age and the punishment of the present life" (JohnCas).

4:13 As both God and Man, Christ, the Anointed One, holds the thunder of His divinity within His humanity. His very breath was created "in the midst of the earth" (Ps 73:12; see Zec 12:1) when He was conceived by the uncreated Spirit in the womb of the Virgin.

5:2 "God can do all things, but the virgin who has fallen will not be raised up. . . . Such are evil virgins in the flesh, not in the spirit; foolish virgins, who, having no oil, are shut out by the Bridegroom" (Jerome). Israel is a "fallen virgin" not because she is chaste, but because she has never experienced the joys of marriage; therefore she will be struck down without leaving a legacy. It will be as though she had never existed.

5:6 House of Joseph refers to Joseph's two sons, Ephraim and Manasseh (Gn 46:20) and their descendants, who were the main tribes of the Northern Kingdom of Israel. By extension, it refers to all of Israel.

5:7 Justice and righteousness are perfectly fulfilled in Christ.

5:8–20 The Sun of Righteousness rises in the morning and transforms (v. 8) the repentant soul from death into life. But on the day of the Lord, those who flee God will be plunged into the very darkness (v. 20) that they love so much (see Jn 3:19–21).

5:10 Christ, the upright word Incarnate, was hated for publicly rebuking the scribes and Pharisees in the gates (Mt 21:45, 46; Lk 11:45–12:1; 13:14–17; Jn 7:7; 8:20; see also Pr 9:8).

5:14, 15 "For when a man rules his own self—and that counts for more than to govern others—his heart is in the hand of God, and God turns it where He wills. If He turns it to the good, perfect goodness is His. And so let us be in the hand of God that we may seek the good . . . that you may live, and so the Lord God Almighty will be with you" (AmbM).

5:21–27 Those who adhere to the "propriety" of religious practice, but whose hearts are rebellious, will be judged harshly; while those who may not follow the "proper" rules, but who love God as far as they are able, will be accepted by Him.

5:27 Beyond Damascus points to Assyria as the nation that will conquer and exile Israel, bringing about the Lord's judgment. This prophecy was fulfilled in 722 BC (4Kg 17:5, 6).

6:1–6 Basil the Great, quoting this passage, comments that it is shameful when we spend our time running about "searching for anything not demanded by real necessity but calculated to provide a wretched delight and ruinous vainglory."

6:12 Justice was overturned when Pilate, having declared that Christ was innocent, submitted to the anger of the Jews and allowed Him to be crucified (Lk 23:13–25). Chrysostom remarks further that bitterness was hell's response when Christ entered.

7:2 Like all true prophets, Amos grieves and intercedes on behalf of his people.

7:7 Adamant is a stone of unbreakable substance. Ephraim the Syrian writes that this "stone" is Christ, set in the midst of the people. "The leaders of the people were gathered together against Him and wanted His downfall because His teaching did not please them. But He said, 'It will crush and destroy whomever it falls upon' (Mt 21:44), because He had resisted idolatry, among other things."

7:14, 15 Gregory the Great writes on the work of grace in the life of the humble: "What a skilled worker this Spirit is. There is no question of delay in learning what the Spirit teaches us. No sooner does the Spirit touch our minds in regard to anything than we are taught; the Spirit's very touch is teaching. The Spirit changes the human heart in a moment, filling it with light. Suddenly we are no longer what we were; suddenly we are something we never used to be."

8:8–10 The day of Christ's Crucifixion was indeed a day of mourning (v. 10). The earth quaked (Mt 27:50–53), and the sun was darkened at midday (Mk 15:33). In a more immediate sense, this prophecy may also have been fulfilled on June 15, 763 BC, when a total solar eclipse occurred in Palestine.

8:11 Basil the Great writes that when the people "put to death the bread of life, a hunger for the bread came upon them."

9:1–15 This prophecy is fulfilled in Christ and His Church. In the Incarnation, He shook the gateway of humanity under the Old Covenant; destroyed demonic powers with the sword of the Spirit; descended into Hades (v. 2); sanctified creation in the river (v. 5) of baptism; made his ascent to the heaven (v. 6); and established His Church on the earth (Acts 1:8, 9; 2:1–11). He restored the faithful remnant (v. 12); brought in the nations (v. 12); and planted His Church among them. Drink wine (v. 14) foreshadows the Eucharist.

9:11 At Nativity services in the Church we sing this hymn to the Mother of God, who is typified by the tabernacle: "Fulfilled is the prophecy of him that cried aloud, saying, 'I will raise up the tabernacle of holy David that is fallen.' You, O Undefiled, did prefigure His words, through whom the dust of man has been wholly refashioned into a body for God." Chrysostom writes on the fallen tabernacle of our human nature, "For it was not possible to raise it up otherwise, unless He who fashioned it in the beginning stretched out a hand to it and formed it again from above by the regeneration of water and the Spirit. Behold the awesome and ineffable character of the mystery. He dwells always in this tabernacle, for He put on our flesh, not to put it off again but to have it always with Him. If this were not so, He would not have deemed it worthy of His royal throne."

9:12 This verse points to the Gentile believers, who had been dead in their sins, but now, through the apostles' universal preaching, are called by His name (see Acts 2; 11:26; 15:13–19).

The Book of Micah

Author

Micah, which means, “who is like the Lord?” He is commemorated on August 14.

Date

Tradition holds that Micah prophesied from 740–686 BC and that his book was written before 720 BC.

Major Theme

God’s destruction of evildoers and His goodness to the faithful. In the midst of a very dark time, Micah delivers the messianic prophecies of hope and deliverance for the faithful remnant. He foretells the New Covenant, the Incarnation, Christ’s birth at Bethlehem, Christ’s sufferings, the Church and its persecutions, the conversion of Gentiles, and a time of peace.

Background

The prophet Micah prophesied during a time of spiritual and moral decadence in the midst of great affluence throughout the Northern and Southern Kingdoms. He witnessed the adoption of the idolatry of the Canaanites by Samaria and Judah. Micah was the son of Joram, from the tribe of Ephraim. He prophesied to both kingdoms. Micah was known as the prophet of the poor and the herald prophet. His contemporaries were Isaiah, Amos, and Hosea.

Outline

I. God’s Judgment against Israel and Judah (1:1–16)
II. The Upper Classes Guilty of Injustice (2:1–3:12)
III. Triumph of God’s Mercy (4:1–5:14)
  A. Gentiles will enter the Kingdom (4:1–8)
  B. Judgment on Israel’s enemies (4:9–14)
  C. The Messianic King from Bethlehem (5:1–8)
  D. Israel’s victory after purging of idolatry (5:9–14)
IV. God’s Judgment of Israel’s Ungratefulness (6:1–16)
V. A Remnant Will Receive God’s Mercy (7:1–20)
  A. Lamentation for the sins of corruption (7:1–6)
  B. The prophet’s assurance of hope (7:7)

C. The faithful will trust in God’s mercy (7:8–10)
D. The Messiah’s victory (7:11–20)

Micah 1

1 The word of the Lord came to Micah of Moresheth in the days of Jotham, and Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah, concerning what he saw as it relates to Samaria and Jerusalem.

Judgment against Israel and Judah

2 Hear these words, O people! Give heed, O earth, and all that is in it. For the Lord God shall be among you for a witness against you, the Lord from His holy house. 3 For behold, the Lord is coming out of His place. He will come down and tread upon the high places of the earth. 4 The mountains will shake under Him, and the valleys will melt like wax before the fire, like water pouring down a steep incline. 5 All of this is for the transgression of Jacob and the sin of the house of Israel. What is the transgression of Jacob? Is it not Samaria? And what is the sin of the house of Judah? Is it not Jerusalem?

6 "I will make Samaria become as a shed in the field and a vineyard for planting, and I will tear down her stones in confusion and expose her foundations. 7 And they shall cut all of her carved images into pieces and burn down all her houses of prostitution with fire. And I shall utterly destroy all her idols, for she gathers from the price of prostitution and has accumulated from the price of a harlot."

A Lamentation

8 On account of this she will wail and lament. She will walk barefoot and naked, beating her breast in mourning as a serpent, and mourn as the daughters of Sirens. 9 For her calamity overwhelms her, for it has come to Judah, as far as to the gate of My people—to Jerusalem. 10 Those of Gath, do not exalt yourselves, and those of the house of Aphrah, do not rebuild your house from laughter; sprinkle dust on your laughter. 11 The one living in Shaphir, dwelling comfortably in her cities, did not come to mourn her neighbor; she will receive a calamity of grief from you.

12 Who has begun to do good for her who dwells in distress? For evils have come down from the Lord upon the gates of Jerusalem, 13 even the sound of a chariot and horseman. Those dwelling in Lachish—she was the beginning of sin to the daughter of Zion—for in you were found the transgressions of Israel. [14]Because of this He will cause men to be sent forth as far as the inheritance of Gath, vain houses, for they have become vanity to the kings of Israel, [15]until they bring the heirs to you, O inhabitants of Lachish; the inheritance shall come as far as Adullam, even the glory of the daughter of Israel. [16]Shave your hair and make your head bald as an eagle for the sake of your precious children; increase your widowhood, for they have been taken captive.

Micah 2

The Sins of Judah

[1]They devised wickedness and were scheming evil on their beds, and at daybreak they put their plan into action, for they did not lift up their hands to God. [2]They coveted fields and plundered orphans; they oppressed families and plundered a man and his house, a man and his inheritance. [3]Therefore thus says the Lord: “Behold, I am devising evils against this tribe from which you shall not lift up your neck, nor will you suddenly walk upright, for this is a time of evil. [4]In that day a parable shall be taken up against you, and a dirge will be wailed, saying, ‘In misery we have suffered hardship. The portion of my people has been measured out with a measuring line, and there was no one who was able to stop Him. Our fields have been divided among them.’ [5]Therefore there will be no one to put out a measuring line for a lot for you in the assembly of the Lord.

[6]“Do not shed tears, nor even weep over these things; for He will not dismiss the reproaches [7]who says, ‘The house of Jacob has provoked the Spirit of the Lord; are these not His practices? Are not His words good with Him, and have they not proceeded as predicted? [8]And previously, for enmity my people resisted against His peace. They flayed his skin to remove hope in the ravages of war. [9]Therefore those leading my people will be cast out of their luxurious homes; they have been driven out because of their wicked practices. Draw near to the everlasting mountains.’ ”

[10]Arise and depart, for this is not a final resting place for you on account of uncleanness; you have been utterly destroyed by corruption. [11]You were pursued by no one pursuing! You pursued a spirit built on a falsehood; it drips on you, into the wine and the intoxicating drink, and by reason of the drop of this people, it shall happen.

Future Deliverance

12"Jacob will be completely gathered together with all of them. I shall wait, expecting the remnant of Israel. By him, I will cause their return as sheep in trouble, as a flock in the midst of their fold. From the breach made before them, they will rush out from among their captors. 13They will break through the gate of captivity, and their king comes out before their presence. And the Lord shall lead them."

Micah 3

Rulers and False Prophets Judged

1He will say, "Hear these things, O heads of the house of Jacob, and you remnant of Israel. Is it not for you to know judgment? 2you who hate good and love evil; you who seize their skins in order flay them and cut their flesh off their bones? 3who devoured the flesh of my people by removing their skin, breaking their bones, and dividing them as merely flesh for the cauldron and as meat for the pot?"

4Thus they will cry out to the Lord, but He will not hear them. Instead, He will turn His face from them at that time because they have done wickedly in their deeds against themselves.

5Thus says the Lord concerning the prophets who lead my people astray, who were proclaiming peace upon them while they themselves ate, but who, when nothing was put in their mouths, stirred up war against them:
6"Therefore to you there will be darkness instead of vision, and to you there will be darkness instead of prophecy. For the sun will set on the prophets, and the day shall become very dark on them. 7And the seers of dreams will be put to shame, and the prophets will be laughed to scorn. And all the people will speak evil of them, because there will be no one heeding them."

8Surely I shall strengthen myself in the Spirit of the Lord, and of judgment, and of power, to proclaim to Jacob his ungodliness and to Israel his sins.
9Indeed, hear this, you heads of the house of Jacob and the remnant of the house of Israel, you who despise judgment and are perverting everything that is upright, 10who build up Zion with bloodshed and Jerusalem with injustice.
11Her leaders make decisions founded on a bribe, and her priests give answers for pay, and her prophets prophesy for money. And they lean on the Lord, saying, "Is not the Lord with us? No harm can come upon us."

12Therefore on account of you, Zion shall be plowed as a field; Jerusalem shall be as a shed in the field, and the mountain of the house as a grove of trees.

Micah 4

The Lord Shall Reign

1And it shall come to pass in the last days that the mountain of the Lord will be revealed. It will be raised up on the top of the mountains, and it will be exalted far above the hills, and peoples will hasten to it. 2And many nations will go there and say, “Come, let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob. They will teach us His ways, and we will walk in His paths.” For out of Zion the law shall go forth, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. 3And He will judge between many peoples and rebuke strong nations afar off. They will beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into sickles. Nation shall no more lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore. 4But everyone shall be at rest under his own vine and under his own fig tree, and no one shall make them afraid, for the mouth of the Lord Almighty has spoken these things. 5For all the peoples shall walk each one his own way, but we will walk in the name of the Lord our God for ever and ever.

6“In that day,” says the Lord, “I shall gather her who has been broken, and I will welcome her who has been exiled, even those whom I have rejected.
7And I shall make her who has been broken into a remnant, and her that was rejected into a strong nation. So the Lord will reign over them in Mount Zion henceforth and forever. 8And you, O daughter of Zion, dark tower of the flock, on you it will come and enter in, even the former kingdom of Babylon to the daughter of Jerusalem.”

9And now, why have you experienced such evils? Was there no king in your midst? Or did your counsel perish? For your birth pangs have seized you as one in labor. 10Suffer birth pains and take courage, O daughter of Zion, and draw near like a woman giving birth; for now you will be exiled from the city, and you will abide in the flat open country, and you will have come as far off as Babylon; and from that place the Lord your God shall redeem you from the hand of your enemies.

11Now many nations have gathered against you, saying, “We will rejoice, and our eyes will gaze upon Zion.” 12But they do not know the thoughts of the Lord nor perceive His counsel, for He gathered them like sheaves for the threshing floor.

13“Arise and thresh them, O daughter of Zion, for I shall make your horns iron, and I will make your hooves bronze. And you will cause the nations to melt away, and you will winnow many peoples. You will dedicate their abundance to the Lord and their strength to the Lord of all the earth. 14Now the daughter of Ephraim will be blockaded by a siege wall; for he ordered affliction against us, and they shall smite the tribes of Israel with a rod upon the cheek.”

Micah 5

A Ruler Out of Bethlehem

1“And you, O Bethlehem, House of Ephrathah, though you are fewest in number among the thousands of Judah, yet out of you shall come forth to me the One to be ruler of Israel. His goings forth were from the beginning, even from everlasting.” 2Therefore He shall give them up until the appointed time for her to give birth, and then the remnant of their brothers will return to the sons of Israel. 3And He shall stand and see, and shepherd His flock in the strength of the Lord, and they will dwell in the glory of the name of the Lord their God, for now they will be magnified unto the ends of the earth. 4And she will have peace; for when the Assyrian comes into our land and goes up upon our country, then seven shepherds and eight attacks from men will be raised up against them.

5They will tend the Assyrian with a sword and the land of Nimrod in her trench. And He shall deliver you from the Assyrian should he come into your land, and should he come up over your borders. 6And the remnant of Jacob will be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples, as dew falling from the Lord and as lambs in a field of grass, in order that none among the sons of men may assemble together nor resist. 7And the remnant of Jacob will be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples, as a lion among the cattle in the forest, and as a young lion among a flock of sheep, which, whenever it passes through, seizes and carries off its prey, and there is none to rescue. 8But your hand will be exalted above those oppressing you, and all your enemies will be completely cut off.

9“And it shall come to pass in that day,” says the Lord, “I shall utterly destroy your horses from your midst and destroy your chariots. 10I shall utterly destroy the cities of your land and demolish all your strongholds.
11And I shall drive away your sorceries out of your hands, and there shall be no soothsayers among you. 12I shall utterly destroy your carved images and the sacred pillars from your midst, and you will no longer worship the work of your hands; 13and I shall cut off your sacred groves from your midst and destroy your cities. 14And I shall exact vengeance on the nations with wrath and anger among those who did not heed.”

Micah 6

The Lord Has a Case against Israel

1Now hear the word of the Lord. The Lord says, “Arise, plead your case before the mountains, and let the hills hear your voice. 2Hear, O mountains, the judgment of the Lord, and you valleys, the foundations of the earth; for the Lord has a case against His people, and He will contend with Israel. 3O
My people, what have I done to you? How have I grieved you? Answer Me!
4For I brought you up from the land of Egypt and redeemed you from the house of bondage; and I sent you Moses, and Aaron, and Miriam. 5O My people, remember now what King Balak of Moab plotted against you, and what answer Balaam the son of Beor gave to him from the reeds as far as to Gilgal, that the righteousness of the Lord might be known.”

6How shall I come to understand the Lord and devote myself to the Most High God? Shall I reach Him with burnt offerings? with year-old calves?
7Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams? or with a myriad of streams of oil? Should I give my firstborn for my ungodliness, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul? 8He has shown you, O man, what is good. Or what does the Lord seek from you but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to be ready to walk with the Lord your God?

9The Lord’s voice shall be proclaimed in the city, and He shall save those who fear His name. “Hear, O tribe, who will put the city in order? 10For is there not a fire there, and the house of the lawless storing up lawless treasures with insolent unrighteousness? 11Will the lawless be justified by a balance scale or a bag of deceitful weights 12from which they accumulated their ungodly wealth? And those that dwell in the city have spoken lies and exalted themselves with their own mouth.

13“Therefore I will begin to smite you; I will destroy you because of your sins. 14You shall eat but not be satisfied, and there will be darkness upon you, and he will depart without being noticed, and you will not be rescued; and all who do escape will be given over to the sword. 15You will sow, but you will not reap. You will press olives, but you will not anoint yourself with oil. And you will make wine, but you will not drink any of it, and the statutes of my people will be utterly abolished. 16For you have kept the ordinances of Omri and done all the works of the house of Ahab. You walked in their counsels, so that I should deliver you over to complete destruction and make your inhabitants into a hissing, and you will bear the reproach of the peoples.”

Trust Not in Men

1Woe is me! For I have become like one harvesting stubble, like one gleaning small grapes after the vintage grapes are picked, but not finding for myself any cluster of first fruit to eat. Woe is me, O my soul! 2For the God-fearing man has perished from the earth, and there is no one upright among the men. They all lie in wait, even unto blood, and each one grievously oppresses his neighbor. 3They prepare their hands for evil; the prince demands a gift, and the judge speaks flattering words; it is the desire of their soul. “Thus I shall take away 4their good things as the moth who eats away, and as one proceeding by the rule in the day of the watch. Alas! alas! the time of your vengeance is come; now shall be their lamentation. 5Do not trust in friends, nor put your hope in those who govern. Beware of your wife and do not tell her anything. 6For a son dishonors his father, a daughter will rise up against her mother, a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; a man’s enemies are all the people of his own house.”

Hope in the Lord

7But I will look to the Lord. I will wait for God my Savior, for my God will hear me. 8Do not rejoice over me, O my enemy, for though I have fallen, yet will I arise, because even if I should sit in darkness, the Lord will be a light to me. 9I will endure the wrath of the Lord, for I sinned against Him, until He pleads my cause; for He will execute my judgment and will bring me out into the light, and I will perceive His righteousness. [10]And my enemy will see it, and he who says to me, “Where is the Lord your God?” will be clothed with shame. And my eyes will look upon him, and now he will be for trampling upon as mud in the streets.

[11]In the days when your bricks are being plastered—that day will be your destruction, and your ordinances will be abolished. [12]In that day even your cities will be leveled to the ground and divided among the Assyrians; your fortified cities will be divided from Tyre as far as the River of Syria; it will be a day of flood and chaos. [13]And the land will become totally desolate together with those dwelling in it, because of the fruit of their practices.

[14]Shepherd Your people with Your staff, the sheep of Your inheritance, those dwelling solitarily in the thicket in the midst of Carmel. They will feed in Bashan and in Gilead, as in days of old. [15]And as in the days of your departure from the land of Egypt, you will see many wonders. [16]The Gentiles will see and be ashamed of all their might. They will cover their mouth with their hands, and their ears will become deaf. [17]They shall lick the dust like serpents crawling on the earth; they will be confounded in their confinement and be amazed at the Lord our God, and they will be afraid of You.

[18]Who is a God like You, removing wrongdoings and passing over the ungodliness of the remnant of His inheritance? He does not keep His anger as a witness, for He delights in mercy. [19]He will return and have compassion on us. He will subdue our transgressions, and all our sins will be cast into the depths of the sea. [20]You will give truthfulness to Jacob and mercy to Abraham, as You swore to our ancestors from days of old.

Annotations for Micah

1:1–7 Give heed, O earth: Micah's oracle announces judgment not only for a specific place and time, but for all time and for all people. The physical cities of Samaria and Jerusalem, with their rebellious and sinful inhabitants, are icons of mankind. Some, like those in Jerusalem, practice "right religion" in God's house, but with sinful hearts. Others, like those in Samaria, have forgotten how to worship God and have turned to idols (v. 7) of their own making. Though God's immediate judgment on Samaria and Jerusalem is destruction, His universal judgment is Christ Himself, who will come down (v. 3) in the Incarnation and destroy sin, death, and the devil (see Is 31:4).

1:4 Like wax before the fire echoes Ps 67:2, which is used in the Resurrection services in the Orthodox Church.

1:6, 7 Samaritans were among the first to repent and receive the gospel (Jn 4:1–42). Therefore, this prophecy is ultimately fulfilled in the Church, Christ's vineyard.

1:7 The city embodies all the sins of the people. The images used in worship at Samaria, the wealth gathered in her sanctuaries, are referred to contemptuously as the price of a harlot.

1:8 Barefoot and naked: See Ezk 24:17–23; Is 20:2; 2Kg 15:30.

1:10–16 Though this passage is often considered one of the most difficult in the book, some clarity emerges when it is viewed with the understanding that the Old Testament inevitably points to and is fulfilled in Christ and His Church. As God used the Gentiles to strike the Jews in judgment (v. 11), so in the Incarnation He came down to cut off (v. 16) Israel's heritage because of their ungodliness and to save His inheritance: His Bride, the Church.

2:1, 2 A universal indictment against those who work evil in the earth against the poor and needy for their own gain. The passage can also be taken as a description of those who persecute Christ (a man) and His Church (his house . . . his inheritance).

2:3–5 Ultimately, the evils are the Cross, which bent the neck of the proud and powerful like a yoke.

2:4–7 The Jews who provoked the Spirit (v. 7) will lose their inheritance, which will be taken away (v. 4) and given to the Gentiles.

2:11 This verse is regarded by scholars as difficult at best and corrupted at worst.

3:1 He will say: This rendering in the third person (as found in the LXX) is opposed by the Hebrew text, which consistently reads in the first person ("I will say" or "I said"). The third person form is thought to be the more original.

3:2 You who hate good and love evil: The negative form of an idea articulated in Am 5:15, "'We hated evil and loved good.' And restore justice in the gate."

3:2, 3 The closest parallel to this passage is the charge against the shepherds in Ezk 34:2, 3: "O shepherds of Israel who feed themselves, should not the shepherds feed the sheep? 3 Behold, you drink the milk and clothe yourselves with the wool. You slay the fatlings, but do not feed My sheep."

3:8 Micah is a true prophet of God, as opposed to the false prophets of v. 5. Note that Micah's prophecy against sin under the Law emphasizes the Spirit's judgment and power; while Isaiah's parallel prophecy (see Is 61:1, 2), which is fulfilled in the New Covenant, emphasizes healing and liberty in Christ (Lk 4:17–21).

📖 4:6, 7; 5:1–3 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Nativity of the Lord.

4:10 St. John Chrysostom, in his sermon on Jn 16:21, 22, sees Christ's words echoing those of the Prophets (see also Hos 13:13; Is 13:8; Jer 4:31). He writes, "Now, He was making use of a comparison frequently employed by the Prophets, also, when they compared their sufferings to the excessive pain of birth pangs. What He meant is something like this: 'Suffering as keen as birth pangs will take possession of you. However, the pain of childbirth becomes a cause of joy.'" Indeed, the daughter of Zion will "give birth" to a new creation when she has been redeemed by Christ (see note at Jn 16:21, 22).

5:6, 7 The remnant of Jacob will be among the nations: This phrase does not necessarily imply the scattering of Israel, but rather a focal point for the gathering of the nations together in Christ, as in 4:1–3 and 4:6, 7.

6:1–5 A covenantal "lawsuit," filed by the Lord against Israel. Here the prophet functions like an "attorney" in God's lawsuit against His people.

6:3–5 This passage recalls the liturgical themes that run through the services of Great and Holy Week, especially Orthros of Great and Holy Friday (Service of the Twelve Gospels).

6:8 The classical definition of true religion: Micah in one verse knits together the basic themes of the books of Amos (righteousness—to do justly), Hosea (steadfast love—to love mercy), and Isaiah (humility and faith—to be ready to walk [or "to walk humbly"] with the Lord your God).

7:6 This verse is quoted by Christ in Mt 10:35, 36 and Lk 12:53.

7:18, 19 All our sins will be cast into the depths of the sea: The Fathers agree that this phrase foreshadows baptism.

The Book of Joel

Author

Traditionally the prophet Joel (commemorated October 19), son of Pethuel, of the tribe of Reuben. His is a common Jewish name, meaning "Yahweh is God." Nothing is known of his life outside of his short prophecy.

Date

Any number of dates have been suggested for Joel's life. Fathers such as Ss. Jerome and Isidore place Joel in the time of the prophets Isaiah and Hosea, about 740 BC. Tradition held Joel to be one of the earlier prophets; modern scholars are undecided about the matter, often placing him at about 450–400 BC, after the restoration of Israel from exile.

Major Theme

Ultimately, the Lord is victorious. Three major themes are prominent. (1) A call summoning the people of God to turn their sorrow into penitence (1:1–2:17). (2) The faithfulness of God to rise up on behalf of His people, restore their prosperity, and bring the nations to justice (2:18–27). (3) The coming of the Holy Spirit, the Third Person of the Trinity (3:1–5). Joel emphasizes the universal mission of the Spirit, anticipating the Day of Pentecost, when He is poured out on all flesh.

Background

It is likely the prophet Joel wrote in the face of a double disaster—the attack of military aggressors such as the Babylonians, and the onset of a plague of locusts. The prophet freely switches between the two calamities, likening them to each other. As the narrative proceeds, Joel employs two distinct prophetic genres: (1) he calls his people to contrition and repentance; and (2) he uses vivid apocalyptic imagery to convey deep spiritual truths. The contrast created by these two approaches prompted St. Jerome to comment, "Joel is clear at the beginning, but at the end more obscure."

Joel 1

[1]The word of the Lord came to Joel the son of Pethuel.

Invasion of the Locusts and the Caterpillars

[2]Hear this, you elders, and give ear, all of you inhabiting the land. Have such things happened in your days or in the days of your fathers? [3]Tell your children about this, and your children to their children, and their children to the next generation. [4]What the caterpillars have left is eaten by the grasshopper, and what the grasshoppers have left is eaten by the locust, and what the locusts have left is infected with red blight.

[5]Get sober, you who are drunk from your wine, and weep, mourn all you who drink wine, for joy and gladness are removed from your mouth. [6]For a nation strong and numberless came up against My land. His teeth are the teeth of a lion and his molars those of a young lion. [7]He laid waste My vine and splintered My fig tree. He diligently searched out and uprooted My vine, peeling off its outer bark.

[8]Mourn before Me more than a virgin bride clothed with sackcloth for the husband of her youth. [9]The meat-offering and the drink-offering are removed from the house of the Lord. Mourn, you priests, you who serve at the altar, [10]for the fields languish and the land mourns; for the grain withers, the wine is dried up, and the olive oil is scarce. [11]The farmers are exhausted. Mourn for the sake of your fields of wheat and barley, for the harvest from the field has been lost. [12]The vine is shriveled up, and the fig trees are scarce in number. The pomegranate and the palm tree, the apple tree and all the trees of the field are withered, for they put to shame the delight of the sons of men.

[13]Gird yourself with sackcloth and wail, you priests. Mourn, you who serve at the altar. Go in, sleep in sackcloth, you who minister unto God, for the grain-offering and drink-offering are withheld from the house of your God. [14]Sanctify a fast. Call a solemn assembly. Gather all the elders and all the people of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry out fervently to the Lord.

[15]Alas! Alas! Alas! For the day of the Lord draws near, and it will come as misery upon misery. [16]The food is completely destroyed before your eyes; joy and gladness are removed from the house of your God. [17]The heifers are restless in their stalls, and the storehouses are emptied. The winepresses are broken down; the grain is withered. 18What will we store up for ourselves? The herds of cattle groaned because there was no pasture, and the flocks of sheep are no more.

19O Lord, I will cry out to You, for fire has devoured the pleasant places of the wilderness, and a flame burned all the trees of the field. 20And the cattle of the field also look up to You, because the brooks are dried up and fire has devoured the pleasant places of the wilderness.

Joel 2

The Day of the Lord

1Sound the trumpet in Zion; make a proclamation in My holy mountain. Let all the inhabitants of the land be confounded, for the day of the Lord is near, 2a day of darkness and gloominess, a day of cloud and of dense fog. About daybreak a people both strong and great in number will be spread upon the mountains, the likes of whom have never been nor will come after them, not even for many generations. 3Before them is a consuming fire and behind them a flame set ablaze. Before them the land is as a paradise of splendor, but behind them a desolate plain; no one will be able to escape them.

4Their outward appearance is as the appearance of horses, and thus as horsemen they will pursue. 5They shall bound upon the tops of the mountains as the sound of chariots, as the sound of a flame of fire devouring straw, as a great number of mighty men setting themselves in battle array. 6Before them the people will be crushed; every face shall be as the blackness of a cauldron. 7As warriors they shall march quickly, and they will climb the walls like men of war. Everyone shall march in formation; they will never break their ranks. 8They will not separate from their comrades and will march weighed down with their arms. And though they fall by their arrows, even so they will not be stopped. 9They will seize the city and run on the wall. They will climb into the houses and enter the windows as do thieves. 10Before their presence the land will be confounded, and the sky will be shaken. The sun and moon will grow dark, and the stars will hold back their brightness. 11And because the day of the Lord is great and exceedingly glorious, the Lord shall utter His voice before the face of His army, for His army is numberless, and the works of His words are mighty. Who shall resist?

12 Now says the Lord your God, “Turn to Me with all your heart, with fasting and wailing and with mourning; 13 rend your heart and not your garments. Return to the Lord your God, for He is merciful and compassionate. He is longsuffering and plenteous in mercy and repents of evils. 14 Who knows if He will return and change His mind—if He will leave a blessing behind Him, even an offering and drink-offering to the Lord our God?”

15 Sound the trumpet in Zion, sanctify a fast, call a solemn assembly; 16 gather the people, sanctify the congregation, call out the elders, and gather the nursing infants. Let the bridegroom go out from his bedchamber and the bride out of her bridal chamber. 17 Between the porch and the altar, the priests of the altar, ministering to the Lord, will each be weeping and will say, “O Lord, spare Your people; do not give Your inheritance to reproach, that the Gentiles should rule over them, lest they should say among the Gentiles, ‘Where is their God?’ ”

God’s Blessing upon His People

18 But the Lord was zealous for His land and spared His people. 19 And the Lord answered His people and said, “Behold, I send you wheat, wine, and oil, and you will be satisfied with them. I will no longer make you a reproach among the nations, 20 and I will drive the army from the north away from you, and I shall force him into a dry land. I will drown his face in the eastern sea and his back in the western sea; its stench and foul smell will rise up, because he has done powerful works.”

21 O land, be of good courage; be glad and rejoice, for the Lord has done great things. 22 Take courage, you beasts of the field, for the plains of the wilderness have budded, and the trees bear their fruit. And again the vine and the fig tree yield their full potency. 23 And you children of Zion, be glad and rejoice in the Lord your God, for He gives food that is right for you, and He will shower you as before with the early and the late rain. 24 The threshing floors shall be full of wheat, and the presses of wine and olive oil will overflow. 25 “And I will restore to you the years the grasshopper and the locust have eaten, and for the blight, and the caterpillar, even for My great army, which I sent against you. 26 You will eat abundantly and be satisfied and will praise the name of the Lord your God for what He has so wondrously done unto you. And My people will not be put to shame forever.
27 Then you shall know that I am in the midst of Israel; that I am the Lord your God, and there is no other but Me. And at no time will My people be put to shame forever.

Joel 3

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

[1]"After this it shall come to pass that I will pour out My Spirit upon all flesh; your sons and daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, and your young men shall see visions. [2]And in those days I shall pour out My Spirit on My servants and on My handmaids. [3]And I shall give wonders in the heavens and upon the earth, blood and fire and vapor of smoke. [4]The sun shall be turned into darkness and the moon into blood before the great and glorious day of the Lord comes to pass. [5]And it shall be that whoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved, for in Mount Zion and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the Lord Himself said, and there shall be proclamation of the good news to those whom the Lord Himself called.

Joel 4

The Coming Day of Judgment

[1]"For behold, in those days and at that time, when I bring back the captivity of Judah and Jerusalem, [2]I shall also gather all the nations together and bring them down to the Valley of Jehoshaphat, and there I will enter into judgment against them on account of My people and My inheritance Israel, who were dispersed among the nations—against those who divided My land, [3]and who cast lots over My people, and traded boys for prostitutes, and sold girls for the wine they drank. [4]Indeed, O Tyre and Sidon, and all the coast of Philistia, what have you to do with Me? Are you paying Me back for a grudge you hold against Me? If so, I shall return your retaliation swiftly and immediately upon your own head, [5]because you have taken My silver and My gold and taken My precious possessions into your temples, [6]and because you sold the sons of Judah and Jerusalem to the sons of the Greeks in order to exile them far from their borders. [7]Behold, I shall raise them up from the place where you sold them, and I shall return your retribution upon your own head. [8]I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hands of the sons of Judah, and they will sell them into captivity to a far distant nation, for the Lord has spoken."

[9]Proclaim these things among the nations: "Prepare for war; arouse the warriors; draw near and go up, all you men of war. [10]Beat your plowshares into swords and your pruning hooks into spears. Let the weak say, 'I am strong.' [11]Assemble together and join in, all you nations round about. And in that place, gather yourselves together; let the gentle be warlike. [12]Let all the nations rouse themselves and come up to the Valley of Jehoshaphat, for there I shall sit to judge all the nations round about.

[13]"Bring out the sickles, for the harvest is ripe. Come in and tread the grapes, for the winepress is full, the wine vats overflow; for their wickedness is multiplied. [14]The news resounded in the valley of judgment, for the day of the Lord is near in the valley of judgment. [15]The sun and moon shall become dark, and the stars shall withdraw their light. [16]And the Lord shall cry out from Zion, and He shall utter His voice from Jerusalem; and the heavens and earth will quake, but the Lord shall keep His people safe and shall strengthen the sons of Israel. [17]So you shall know that I am the Lord your God, the one dwelling in Zion on My holy mountain. Then Jerusalem shall be a holy city, and no more will strangers pass through her.

The Final Restoration of God's Own

[18]"And it will come to pass in that day that the mountains shall drip sweetness, and milk shall flow from the hills, and all the brooks of Judah shall flow with water. And a fountain shall flow out from the house of the Lord, and it will supply water to the Valley of Acacias. [19]Egypt shall become a desolation and Edom a wilderness because of the wrongdoings against the people of Judah, because of the innocent blood shed in their land. [20]But Judah shall be inhabited forever and Jerusalem unto generations of generations. [21]And I shall avenge their blood and shall not let it go unpunished. The Lord shall dwell in Zion."

Annotations for Joel

1:1 Cyril of Alexandria interprets ch. 1 as a prophecy of the coming of Christ, when the Jews would revile and reject Him and incur the curses mentioned, understood spiritually. But Cyril is optimistic about the full restitution of the Jews, noting the solution found in v. 20—they need only to look up to God in faith.

The book begins in a manner similar to the other prophets, describing the advent of the Word of God to Joel. This is not merely a formula (see Jer 1:2; Ezk 1:3; Hos 1:1), but is God's way of arresting our attention, beckoning us to read the work not merely as literature, but as Holy Scripture. The advent of the word of the Lord to the prophet should lift our minds to Christ, the eternal Word of God.

Joel the son of Pethuel: The prophet's patronymic is included since Joel was a relatively common name (see 1Ch 4:35; 5:4, 8, 12; 6:13, 18, 21; etc.). Furthermore, the meanings of names in the ancient world were considered far more significant than they are today, and the overtones of Joel and Pethuel resonate throughout the text. The meanings of these names are ambiguous, although Jerome understood Joel to mean "God is" or "God is setting out," and Pethuel to mean "God is opening."

1:2, 3 Both the past and the future are called on to testify to the magnitude and weight of the coming destruction. Not only does this mark out the special nature of the coming onslaught, but it reminds us of the way persons in the past and the future participate in the present.

Scripture memorializes two types of events. On the one hand, the righteous exploits of God working through His saints (e.g., Ps 104) are held up as examples to be followed. On the other hand, there are the mistakes of the people of God and their consequences (e.g. Ps 105). Joel begins with the latter, while finishing with a promise of the former.

Elders . . . all of you inhabiting the land: Not only does the prophet call for the attention of the elders and the general population, but by formulating his petition in this manner, he indicates that his message is to be read by both the spiritual (the elders) and the carnal (the inhabitants of the land). The message of Joel is fitted to each person according to his spiritual fitness and place in his journey towards God, yet all should pay attention.

1:4 Caterpillar, grasshopper, locust, red blight: Exactly what creatures these words signify, whether in the Greek or in the Hebrew, we cannot say for certain. While some have suggested the four words describe four kinds of insect, others claim they refer to different stages in the lifecycle of the locust. Both are educated guesses.

On the metaphorical level, the text can be seen as four different waves of assault against the land. While Ephraim of Syria saw this as a reference to four different Mesopotamian kings, subsequent fathers accepted this verse as a prophecy of the four major conquests of Israel: the Babylonians, the Persians, the Greeks, and the Romans (see Dan 2).

1:5 Joel addresses the people of Israel as if they were all drunkards. Drunkenness represents the general proclivity of Israel to satisfy their pleasures. The prophet addresses people who are using good things to excess, drinking not to quench their thirst but to become drunk. Christ used this same theme when He warned those who were making merry in His own day (Lk 6:24–26).

1:6, 7 Here the prophet not only begins to describe what is in store for his wayward people, but he phrases this eight-line poem as if it were a dirge to lament the occupation of the land. Joel composes it both to shame Israel and to draw attention to the gravity of the situation.

Lion: The prophet turns from the locust metaphor to that of a lion to describe the conquering enemy, highlighting their powerful inhumanity. The first targets are the grapes and the figs, i.e., the juice and the sweetness of the land, representing the livelihood and wealth of Israel. This is the same manner in which the devil and the passions assault our own spiritual life. When we succumb to the temptations of the flesh, the powers of evil enter into our land and first attack the virtues of our character and our good deeds.

1:8 The bride weeps, presumably, for the death of her betrothed. In this same manner the apostles, in the days of Christ's betrayal and death, were like virgins girded with sackcloth, lamenting the death of their bridegroom. Indeed, in our own time, when God judges His People for their sins, we should assume this same demeanor, repenting, being cleansed by our tears, and awaiting the return of Christ our Savior.

1:9, 10, 13 The meat-offering and the drink-offering (v. 9); grain-offering and drink-offering (v. 13): The grain-offering is of bread, and the drink-offering is of wine. Joel, by reemphasizing the loss of bread and wine in the land, not only recalls the image of agricultural plague but anticipates the future life of the Church. We have before us the image of the Church stripped of the eucharistic sacraments through the disobedience of the community. In this situation, the priests are called to lament the plight of the land and intercede for their wayward people (see 2:17).

1:11 By calling the farmers to mourn, Joel not only includes landowners in the national calamity, but also reinforces vv. 9, 13. For just as the priests are to mourn over the people they tend, so the farmer is to weep over his care—his crops. The loss of property is, in the sight of God, a rather insignificant matter. More importantly, the prophet calls us to go beyond and grieve over the destruction of other people, and of the sins which ravage our souls.

1:12 They put to shame the delight of the sons of men: The phrase, a Hebraism, literally translates "have shamed their joy." That is to say that joy, a good thing in and of itself, was being abused and defiled by the Israelites.

1:13 For the loss of the sacrificial rite, see note at vv. 9, 10. It would be a mistake to read this as an anticlerical passage, for the prophet neither upbraids the priests nor questions the importance of the priesthood. Rather, Joel calls the spiritual leadership of the land to fulfill their proper role in times of national distress.

1:14 See Is 58:4, 5. This is but one more reason for fasting in the life of the Church—to repent of the sins of the community. The leaders and elders of the land are called to change their luxury into sackcloth (v. 8) and to cry out incessantly and fervently to God. Fasting without contrition of heart is nothing.

1:15 The threefold woe is the appropriate response in this disaster since the Holy Trinity has been offended. This reminds us as well that the Day of the Lord is not the visitation of Christ alone, but is a judgment that involves the participation of all three Persons.

The day of the Lord could suggest a day either of punishment or of reward. As it turns out, Joel uses the term here and in 2:1, 11 to refer to a day of judgment, but as he turns to the promised salvation of God, the day of the Lord becomes a day of restitution for the people of God (3:4; 4:14, 18).

1:19 The prophet interrupts his narrative with a prayer, reminding us that our deliverance from disaster comes not from any other so-called gods, but from the Lord Himself.

1:20 Just as all the beasts look to God to give them their food in due season (Ps 103:27), so they do here, since He will fill them with every good thing by His hand (Ps 103:28).

2:1–11 In this chapter the prophet switches to the future tense. While ch. 1 appears to discuss a plague that has already occurred, ch. 2 warns of yet another imminent plague. Furthermore, Joel moves from agricultural images to military ones. The repentance of the Church is the aim of the passage. Joel depicts the coming disaster in a number of ways, but he emphasizes throughout that God's sovereign plan is ultimately at work.

2:4, 5 St. Cyril notes that nothing was more warlike than the fully equipped horse, which "leaps over the earth in such a way that, I suppose, it mimics the clatter of chariots. And they gallop over any mountain crest, and fly down every hill, and produce the crackle of a flame devouring a reed."

2:12–17 Repentance is an ascetic effort. Joel emphasizes the inner state of the heart, bidding us to rend not our clothes but our hearts. This does not mean that the prophet opposed physical expressions of repentance. The penitent is to fast, weep, and mourn, all physical acts. Everyone in Israel was to gather to call upon the Lord, a physical and liturgical act. These acts, done in the right manner, only assist our repentance. If, in fact, we are justified simply by confessing our sins (1Jn 1:9), how much more so when our repentance is expressed physically, through our bodies and the community?

Interestingly, the prophet never tells us of what Israel was guilty. His emphasis remains on the coming judgment and the need to repent.

2:17 Between the porch and the altar: The altar represents the animal sacrifices which were offered to the Lord, while the porch refers to the people. So while the altar became a place of life through the death of the sacrificial animal, the porch was also a place for the dying who sought life. The priests, by placing themselves between the porch and the altar, were to mediate this life to the people. Because of the sacrifice of Christ, the porch and altar have been united. Christ's death brings life to us.

2:17, 18 These two verses form the center of the book. The passage summarizes all that has been written so far and introduces the rest of the book, which presents God's promises and explores the eschatological hope of Israel.

2:20 Army from the north refers to the Assyrian or Babylonian forces, since locust plagues generally came from the east or southeast. Nevertheless, this northern adversary will be driven by the Lord into a dry land, referring to the deserts from which locust plagues would come. The eastern sea and western sea refer to the Dead Sea and Mediterranean Sea, respectively.

2:21–23 The prophet calls on the land, the beasts of the field, and the children of Zion to rejoice. Just as the prophet distinguishes between two types of people earlier in the book (see note on 1:2, 3), so he does here, as well. The beasts refer to the more carnal Israelites while the children of Zion refer to the spiritual. The land refers to both of these groups.

2:22—3:5 The prophet now turns his gaze towards the final rest of the people of God, prophesying the coming of Christ and the descent of the Holy Spirit. These eleven verses are fulfilled ultimately in Christ, the sacramental life of the Church, and Pentecost.

🕮 2:23—3:5 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of Pentecost.

2:22–24 The trees bear their fruit: In this verse Joel foreshadows the cross of Christ, the tree which bore the greatest fruit of all. The vine and the fig tree refer to the establishment of the Church (see Rom 11:17–24; Jn 15:1; Lk 13:6–9). Rain, wheat, wine, and oil refer to the food that is right for you, namely the sacraments of Holy Baptism, the Eucharist, and the sealing of the Holy Spirit.

3:1 When Peter quotes this verse, he changes after this to "in the last days" (Acts 2:17), one of several modest modifications of the verse. Peter's adaptation of Joel indicates that he understood the passage to be eschatological. Your sons and daughters shall prophesy: The gift of prophecy was to be given to both men and women without distinction (see Acts 21:9).

3:5 There shall be proclamation of the good news: The Greek can also be translated "and there shall be heralds of the gospel," suggesting a prophecy of the missions of the Twelve and the Seventy Apostles, all of whom were appointed by Christ.

3:1–5 The Apostle Peter quoted this prophecy on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2:17–21; see Jn 20:22), when the Holy Spirit was poured out on the Christian believers, fulfilling the prophecy. Although this section forms a separate chapter, this passage should be understood as the culmination of the longer preceding prophecy. See note on 2:22—3:5.

4:1 In this chapter Joel deplores the mistreatment of Israel and prophesies the coming judgment of God on all the nations. While on one level the prophecy can be read as a promise of the restoration of Israel after the exile, the images go beyond this. Making use of apocalyptic imagery, Joel also refers to the last days of humanity, in which Israel will be spiritually restored and become the source of life for the rest of the nations. Captivity of Judah and Jerusalem: This prophecy refers to the restoration of Judah from the exile in Babylon. The Hebrew version does not mention the exile.

4:2 The judgment of all nations can be understood in one or more of three different ways. It may, on the one hand, refer to the attempted siege of Jerusalem during the building of the wall (see 2Ez 4). There is a strong case for this interpretation because of the earlier reference to the restoration from exile. Secondly, the passage may refer to the age of the Church, in which God deals with the persecutors or heretics who attempt to assail her. Thirdly, this may be understood as the final judgment of all people for their sins. In any case, God is dealing with nations who are willingly attacking His people.

The Valley of Jehoshaphat most likely refers to the Kidron Valley, just east of Jerusalem. The triumph of God over His enemies in a valley is echoed in 1 Enoch 53; 54, but here the valley is fiery. This image was retained in the New Testament, where Christ refers to a valley in which trash was burnt, Gehenna (translated "hell"), as a symbol of judgment.

4:4 All the coast of Philistia refers to the non-Jewish nations that lived in Galilee and its environs. Under Babylonian and Persian administration, many non-Jewish peoples moved into the northern regions of Israel.

4:6 The slave trade was widespread in antiquity. The abduction of Israelites for sale into slavery is attested as late as the Maccabean period (1Mc 3:41; 2Mc 8:11).

4:9–12 This passage is sarcastic in tone. God does not desire the death of a sinner (Ezk 18:23, 32), but knowing that the nations will attack Israel, He goads them on. He is well aware that their attack will come to no avail, but he uses the assault as an opportunity to bring them into judgment.

4:10 Spears: The Greek word used here indicates a special kind of spear. It was a barbed pole used to probe for concealed pits into which an advancing soldier might fall.

4:13 While the nations turn from farming to warfare, the Lord does the opposite, attending to agriculture, harvesting grain, and treading wine. While the treading of grapes is typically an image of the massacre of enemies, Joel emphasizes the moral aspects of the image. The runoff of the grapes is not simply blood, but the result of the abundance of evil in the nations (see Rev 14:17–20).

4:15 Changes in the sky are a result of the war between God and his enemies. See note on 3:1–5.

4:16, 17 The language used by Joel is reminiscent of descriptions of the last days found in the New Testament. In the final judgment the Lord shouts out (1Th 4:16) and establishes an incorruptible Jerusalem (Rev 21:9–27).

4:19 In previous verses, God deals with the Mesopotamian army. Here He promises to dispense with Israel's other enemies, Egypt and Edom.

4:21 The Lord shall dwell in Zion: Joel closes his book in fitting manner, pointing to the final state in which God will abide among His people. Although this verse was fulfilled in Christ, only in the last days will it be completely fulfilled in the restoration of all Creation.

The Book of Obadiah

Author

The prophet Obadiah, whose name means “servant of the Lord.” Nothing is known about him except that he wrote down this brief prophecy.

Date

Sometime near 587 BC. Internal evidence (vv. 11–14) seems to connect the book to the time of the overthrow of Jerusalem by the Babylonians. If this is the case, Obadiah would be a contemporary of the prophet Jeremiah.

Major Theme

The destruction of Edom and the restoration of Israel.

Background

The people of Edom (the descendants of Esau, the twin brother of Jacob) were intense rivals and enemies of Israel. They even assisted the Babylonians in the destruction of Jerusalem in 587 BC and took the occasion to occupy some of the territory of Judah. God raised up the prophet Obadiah to pronounce judgment on Edom’s arrogance and to proclaim that the Lord is the defender of what is right and the vindicator of the poor and the oppressed.

Judgment of Edom

[1]The vision of Obadiah. Thus says the Lord God to Edom: “I heard a report from the Lord, and He sent out a message to the nations, saying, ‘Arise, and let us rise up against her for battle.’ [2]Behold, I have made you least among the nations; you are greatly dishonored. [3]The arrogance of your heart exalts you, dwelling as you do in the clefts of the rocks, as one overconfident in his habitation, saying in his heart, ‘Who will bring me down to the ground?’ [4]If you should ascend as the eagle, and if you should make your nest amongst the stars, from there I shall bring you down,” says the Lord. [5]“If thieves come upon you or robbers by night, then to what place will you escape? Will they not steal a considerable amount for themselves? And surely if grape-gatherers come to you, will they not leave a gleaning? [6]How Esau has been searched out, and his hidden things seized! [7]All your allies force you to your borders.
Men at peace with you oppose you and prevail against you. They set an ambush below you; there is no understanding in them.

[8]“In that day,” says the Lord, “I shall destroy the wise men from Edom and understanding from the mountain of Esau. [9]And your warriors from Teman will be terrified, in order that everyone from the mountain of Esau may be cut off. [10]Because of the slaughter and ungodliness against your brother Jacob, shame shall cover you, and you will be cut off forever. [11]Because of that day in which you stood back and only watched the capture, his forces being led away as captives by foreigners; in the day when they entered his gates and cast lots for Jerusalem—on that day you were as one of them. [12]And you should not have looked on the day of your brother, on the day of foreigners, and you should not have rejoiced against the children of Judah in the day of their destruction, nor spoken boastfully on the day of distress. [13]Neither should you have gone into the gates of the people on the day of their suffering. Neither should you have looked upon their gathering in the day of their ruin, and you should not have joined in the attack on their forces in the day of their destruction. [14]Nor should you have stood at their mountain passes to put to death those escaping; nor should you have taken prisoner those fleeing from them in the day of trial.

[15]“For the day of the Lord is near against all the nations. For as you have done, it shall be done to you in the same manner. Your recompense shall return on your own head. [16]For in the same way that you drank on My holy mountain, so too shall all the nations drink wine. They will drink and will be brought down, and it will be as if they never existed.

[17]"But deliverance will come to Mount Zion, and it will be holy. And the house of Jacob shall obtain their inheritance as their rightful inheritance. [18]And the house of Jacob shall be the fire, and the house of Joseph the flame; but the house of Esau shall be the stubble and will be devoured in flames, and no one of the house of Esau will survive," for the Lord has spoken.

[19]And those who dwell in the Negev shall inherit the mountain of Esau, and those of the Sephelah the land of the Philistines. They will inherit the mountain of Ephraim, the plains of Samaria and Benjamin, and the land of Gilead. [20]For the captivity of the sons of Israel shall possess the land of the Canaanite as far as Zarephath; the captivity of Jerusalem as far as Ephratha shall possess the cities of the Negev. [21]And those who have been rescued shall ascend from Mount Zion to exact vengeance on the mountain of Esau, and the kingdom shall be the Lord's.

Annotations for Obadiah

1 The Old Testament contains twelve references to men named Obadiah. Of this prophet we know little except that his name means “Servant of the Lord.” The people of Edom, descendants of Jacob’s elder twin, Esau (see Gn 25:19–26), often stood in conflict with Israel (see 3Kg 11:14–17). Throughout this short book, Edom and Esau are employed interchangeably as titles for an actual kingdom and as general examples of rebellious humanity.

2–4 Edom is made . . . least among the nations, that is, humbled in response to its arrogance of heart and boasting. The clefts of the rocks mentioned in v. 3 are likely an allusion to the Edomite fortress of Sela, also called Teman and Petra, surrounded by cliffs rising up to 2,000 feet in height. Rebellious Edom here typifies the extent of human pride and arrogance with its seemingly boundless scope, yet still brought under the yoke of God.

4–7 Obadiah proclaims the destruction of Edom as thorough and complete: whereas thieves steal only what they need or desire, and grape-gatherers leave gleanings behind (see Lv 19:9; 23:22), Edom will be wholly and completely cast down.

8–11 Edom’s indictment for the slaughter and ungodliness committed against its brother Jacob is primarily centered on their failure to protect Israel from the foreigners who oppressed it, rather than any specific oppression on the part of the Edomites (though they were not entirely innocent in this regard; see v. 13). In failing to protect Israel, Edom incurred the guilt of a good undone, of a lack of fraternal love and responsibility. Perhaps the severity of this crime gives rise to the fact that the judgment against Edom is here pronounced before the full indictment against the nation is proclaimed (it follows in vv. 12–14), rather than after as is usually the case in prophetic literature.

12–14 This whole passage is stirringly anticipatory of Jesus’ parable of the sheep and goats (Mt 25:31–46) and His proclamation that actions done or left undone to the children of God are done directly to Christ (Mt 25:40, 45). In addition to the historical events undoubtedly referred to in these verses, Edom is also taken up once again as a typification of sinful human attributes: lack of benevolence and pleasure in another’s misfortune (v. 12); passivity and the desire for profit from another’s loss (v. 13); the hindering of another’s escape from undue persecution (v. 14).

15–18 Those who would engage in acts such as those described in vv. 12–14 are reminded, as you have done, it shall be done to you—a connection between action and consequence that is maintained by Christ in His model prayer: “Forgive us our debts, / As we forgive our debtors” (Mt 6:12). The day of the Lord, that is, His judgment, will come upon all the nations. Such people may rage in their pride and deceit (the likely meaning of so too shall all the nations drink wine), but eventually they shall have their comeuppance and it will be as if they never existed. The faithful of the Lord, however, shall be delivered and sanctified (v. 17), preserved even through the destruction of those hardened in sin (v. 18).

19, 20 This passage, which delineates the possessions of the land as they will be found after God’s judgment of Edom, may well be an addition to the original prophetic oracle. The Greek text is confusing (as is the text in the Hebrew) as to the precise geographic extent of the lands delineated, but the general thrust of the proclamation is clear: Judah, oppressed by Edom and its allies, will inherit the land of its oppressors at their defeat.

21 The final proclamation of the prophecy is hopeful both in a political sense, inasmuch as Judah shall exact vengeance on the mountain of Esau, and in a more eschatological sense: the divided people shall again be one (kingdom is in the singular), and rather than existing under the tumultuous leadership of judges or kings, the kingdom shall be the Lord’s.

The Book of Jonah

Author

The prophet Jonah (commemorated September 21) is traditionally considered to be the author. He was an inhabitant of the city of Gath Hepher (4Kg 14:25) within the tribal borders of Zebulun, about five miles north of Nazareth. His name means “a dove.”

Date

Perhaps 784–772 BC. The experience of Jonah occurred during the reign of King Jeroboam II of Israel (790–750 BC).

Major Theme

The universality of God’s mercy. The compassion of the Lord is not limited to the Jews, but extends to all people, even to the enemies of God’s people. Jonah’s reluctance to carry out God’s command and his disappointment when God acts mercifully are a result of his narrow-minded nationalism, shared with many Jews of the postexilic period.

Background

The only other historical reference to Jonah comes from 4Kg 14:25, which mentions “Jonah the son of Amittai, the prophet from Gath Hepher.” In the Orthodox Church’s liturgical tradition, the Book of Jonah is read in its entirety on Holy Saturday. The third-day deliverance of Jonah from the great fish is a foretaste of the third-day Resurrection of Christ.

We sing, “Jonah was enclosed but not held fast in the belly of the whale; for, serving as a figure of You, who were buried in the tomb, he leapt forth from the monster as from a bridal chamber and he called out to the watch: O you who keep guard falsely and in vain, you have forsaken your own mercy.”

Jonah Flees from the Lord

1 Now the word of the Lord came to Jonah the son of Amittai, saying, 2 "Arise and go to Nineveh, the great city, and preach in it; for the cry of her wickedness has come up to me." 3 But Jonah rose up to flee to Tarshish from the presence of the Lord. So he went down to Joppa and found a ship going to Tarshish, paid his fare, and boarded the ship to set sail with them to Tarshish, away from the presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord raised up a great wind upon the sea, and there came about a mighty tempest, and the ship was in danger of breaking up. 5 And the mariners were afraid and cried out, each one to his god. And they cast out the cargo of the ship into the sea, attempting to lighten the ship. But Jonah had gone below into the hold of the ship, had gone to sleep, and was snoring.

6 The captain came to him and said, "Why are you snoring? Get up and call upon your God, that your God may keep us safe so we do not perish." 7 And each one said to his shipmate, "Come! Let us cast lots and find out on whose account this calamity is upon us." So they cast lots, and the lot fell upon Jonah.

8 Then they said to him, "Tell us, what is your occupation? Where do you come from and from what country and people are you?" 9 And he said to them, "I am a servant of the Lord, and I worship the Lord God of heaven, who made the sea and the dry land." 10 Then the men were exceedingly afraid and said to him, "What is this that you did?" For the men knew he was fleeing from the presence of the Lord, because he had told them. 11 Then they said to him, "What should we do to you that the sea will calm itself for us?"
For the sea continued to be tempestuous, and the waves rose up even higher.
12 And Jonah said to them, "Take me up and cast me into the sea, and the sea will grow calm for you, for I know this great tempest is upon you because of me."

13 And the men tried hard to return to the land, but were unable to do so, for the sea arose and grew even more tempestuous against them. 14 Then they cried out to the Lord and said, "Please, O Lord, do not let us perish on account of this man's life, nor bring righteous blood upon us; for you, O Lord, have brought this about." 15 So they took up Jonah and threw him into the sea, and the sea ceased from its raging. 16And the men feared the Lord even more, and they offered a sacrifice to the Lord and vowed vows.

Jonah 2

Jonah's Song of Thanksgiving

1Now the Lord commanded a huge sea creature to swallow Jonah, and Jonah was in the belly of the sea creature three days and three nights. 2And from the belly of the sea creature, Jonah prayed to the Lord his God, 3and said:

"I cried out in my affliction to the Lord, my God,
And He heard my voice;
Out of the belly of Hades, You heard the cry of my voice.
4You cast me into the depths of the heart of the sea,
And rivers encompassed me;
All Your surging waters and Your waves passed over me.
5And I said, 'I have been driven away from Your sight;
Shall I again look with favor toward Your holy temple?'
6Water is poured over me to my soul;
The lowest depth encircled me;
My head plunged into the clefts of the mountains.
7I descended into the earth,
The bars of which are everlasting barriers;
Yet let my life ascend from corruption, O Lord, my God.
8When my soul was failing from me, I remembered the Lord.
May my prayer be brought to You, into Your holy temple.
9Those who follow vanity and lies forsake their own mercy.
10But with a voice of thanksgiving and praise,
I will sacrifice to You.
As much as I vowed, I shall offer up to You,
To You, the Lord of Deliverance."

11Then the Lord commanded the sea creature, and it cast up Jonah onto the dry land.

Jonah 3

The Repentance of Nineveh

1 Now the word of the Lord came to Jonah a second time, saying, 2 "Arise and go to Nineveh, the great city, and preach there according to the message I previously spoke to you." 3 So Jonah arose and went to Nineveh, just as the Lord spoke. Nineveh was an exceedingly great city to God, a journey of about three days. 4 And Jonah began to enter into the city, going a day's journey, where he proclaimed and said, "Yet three days and Nineveh shall be overthrown."

5 And the men of Nineveh believed God. They proclaimed a fast and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them to the least. 6 Then the word came to the king of Nineveh; and he arose from his throne, removed his robe, and put on sackcloth, and sat upon ashes. 7 And it was proclaimed and spoken in Nineveh by the king and by his great men, saying, "Let not the men, cattle, oxen, or sheep taste anything, eat, or drink water." 8 So the men and the cattle were clothed with sackcloth, and they cried out fervently to God; and they each turned back from their evil ways and from the wrongdoings of their hands, saying, 9 "Who knows if God shall have a change of heart and turn from His fierce anger, that we should not perish?" 10 And God saw their works, that they turned from their evil ways. And God had a change of heart about the evil which He said He would do to them, and He did not do it.

Jonah 4

Jonah Is Grieved by the Lord's Compassion

1 But Jonah was deeply grieved and was troubled. 2 So he prayed to the Lord and said, "O Lord, were these not my words when I was yet in my land?
Therefore I saw the need to flee to Tarshish; because I knew You to be compassionate and merciful, longsuffering and abundant in mercy, and willing to change your heart concerning evils. 3 And now, Master, Lord, take my life from me, for it is better for me to die than to live."

4 And the Lord said to Jonah, "Are you exceedingly grieved?" 5 Then Jonah went out of the city and seated himself opposite it. There he made for himself a tent and sat under its shade, until he might observe what would happen to the city. 6 And the Lord God commanded a gourd, and it came up over the head of Jonah to be a shade over his head, to shield him from his discomforts.
Jonah rejoiced with great joy because of the gourd. 7 But early the next morning, God commanded a worm, and it smote the gourd, and the gourd withered up. [8]And when the sun rose, God commanded a burning east wind; and the sun beat down on the head of Jonah, and he grew faint and despaired of his life. And he said, “It is better for me to die than to live.” [9]Then God said to Jonah, “Are you exceedingly grieved on account of the gourd?” And he said, “I am exceedingly grieved, even unto death.” [10]And the Lord said, “You took pity on the gourd, for which you did not labor, nor did you make it grow, which came up during the night and perished before the next night. [11]And shall I Myself not take pity upon Nineveh, the great city, in which dwell more than one hundred and twenty thousand people who do not know either their right hand or their left—and many livestock?”

Annotations for Jonah

1:1, 2 Jonah's calling is set apart from that of the other prophets because he is commanded to preach not to his own people, the Jews, but to the Ninevites. The Book of Jonah points to Christ's Great Commission (Mt 28:19, 20) in four ways: (1) Arise and go to Nineveh parallels Christ's words, "Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations." (2) Jonah's deliverance from the belly of the whale foreshadows the baptism of which Christ speaks in the same passage: "baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit." (3) Jonah's preaching to Nineveh foreshadows the apostles' preaching to the nations in obedience to Christ's command: "teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you." (4) God's protection of Jonah is echoed in Christ's words, "and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age."

1:2 Nineveh was the capital of the Assyrian Empire. See Tb 14:4, 8; 3Mc 6:8.

1:5 Hold means literally "belly," as it is translated in 2:1, 3 (see note at 2:3).

1:9 In Jonah's weaknesses we see our own fallen humanity, but as he turns towards God, we begin to see a figure of Christ emerge. To be called by His name, we must first become His servant.

1:5–11 Christ and His disciples had a very similar experience on a boat in a storm (see text and note at Mt 8:24–26).

1:14–16 God's power in nature, combined with Jonah's witness, persuade the sailors to convert to the God of Israel. Later, the Spirit's presence in Jonah will convince the Ninevites to repent and seek salvation. Similarly, God's presence in creation (Rom 1:20), combined with the presence of the Holy Spirit in believers (Acts 2:38–41), draws men to God.

2:1 Three days and three nights is a prophetic type of Christ's three-day sojourn in the "heart of the earth [Sheol]" (Mt 12:40; see also Mt 16:4; 1Pt 3:19: "He [Jesus] went and preached to the spirits in prison [Sheol or Gr. Hades]").

2:2, 3, 7 His God . . . my God: The pronouns "his" and "my" emphasize a personal relationship with God.

2:3 Belly of Hades: The word translated "belly" can also be used to mean "womb." Jonah's deliverance—first, out of the "belly of the ship" (1:5, 6) and now from the whale—is a type both of deliverance from death and of spiritual rebirth in the waters of baptism. Just as Jonah's "rebirth" makes possible the repentance and salvation of the Ninevites, so our Lord's Resurrection from the dead makes possible our salvation. In the Old Testament, Hades (Heb. Sheol) was the place of all the dead, a place of shadowy existence, of being cut off from the presence of God. It is used especially in poetic passages as a synonym for death. Hades held all the righteous dead before the crucifixion and Resurrection of Christ.

2:5, 6 To the Hebrews, the sea was a frightening place, full of chaos and death. To be cast into the sea was to sink down into Hades. See Ps 87:7, 8.

2:3–10 Jonah's prayer echoes the language and imagery of the Psalms. See especially Ps 17:5, 7; 30:23; 41:8; 49:14; 68:2, 3; 119:1.

3:2 According to the message I previously spoke to you: A reminder to Jonah that the message and the mission had not changed.

3:5–9 In an amazing response to Jonah's preaching, the Ninevites show us the true meaning of repentance in the following ways: (1) By the ancient practice of fasting, which implied a total fast. (2) By wearing sackcloth and ashes. Sackcloth was a rough, uncomfortable cloth made of goat or camel hair, used for making grain bags. It was worn as a sign of mourning (see Gn 37:34; Est 4:3; 1Mc 2:14; Mt 11:21). Putting ashes on one's head also symbolized mourning or repentance (see 2Kg 13:19; Is 58:5; Jer 6:26). (3) By prayer. (4) By changing their behavior. True repentance is not just feeling sorry, but involves both the heart and actions.

3:6 The king acted after the people. This was a spontaneous, popular movement, not imposed by the crown but inspired by the Holy Spirit.

4:1–7 Once again, Jonah's weakness controls him. Here Jonah's excessive nationalism is expressed in his disappointment at God's mercy. He knew God's character, and anticipated what would happen; yet, like the proud brother in the story of the Prodigal Son (Lk 15:11–32), he hoped to see the Ninevites destroyed. "After all," he might have said, "why would God want to save foreigners?" The gourd that is damaged by the worm is an icon of this attitude, which is personified in the unbelievers who allow pride and jealousy at the salvation of others to enter their hearts. Many like these will put Christ to death, thus bringing about their own destruction.

4:4 The Lord's question to Jonah is rhetorical and a rebuke. The tone of the Greek implies that, in fact, Jonah does not have the right to feel the way he does.

4:11 The people of the nations live in spiritual darkness until the light of the gospel is brought to them by God's messengers: the apostles, preachers, and all the faithful, who bear equal responsibility to "make disciples of all nations" (Mt 28:19). And many livestock: The Lord's compassion extends to all He has created, including the animals.

The Book of Nahum

Author

The prophet Nahum (commemorated December 1). His name means "consolation." He was from the tribe of Simeon and a contemporary of the prophets Zephaniah, Jeremiah, and Habakkuk.

Date

Between 663 BC (the fall of Thebes) and 612 BC (the fall of Nineveh)

Major Theme

God's judgment and the destruction of Nineveh (capital of the Assyrian Empire) for its idolatry, oppression, cruelty, and wickedness. Justice will prevail. God is the Lord of history and of all nations, and their destinies are in His hands. Christ is revealed as the One who brings good tidings and proclaims peace (2:1).

Background

The Assyrians had invaded Israel and Judah several times in the eighth and seventh centuries BC. They were ruthless and cruel to the conquered peoples, deporting them to other lands and bringing in foreigners to mingle with the few Jews who were left. The prophet Jonah was sent by God to preach to the inhabitants of Nineveh during this time, and they repented. However, within a few generations the evil and wickedness of their forefathers returned, and the city was at its zenith of power and wickedness when the prophet Nahum prophesied its destruction.

Outline

I. Nahum Receives the Prophecy (1:1)
II. The Lord Is Nineveh's Judge (1:2–14)
  A. The Lord's vengeance, power, and goodness (1:2–8)
  B. Nineveh's overthrow and Judah's peace (1:9–14)
III. The Judgment of Nineveh (2:1–14)
  A. Description of the siege and capture of the city (2:1–9)
  B. The city's desolation and former glory contrasted (2:10–14)
IV. Nineveh's Total Destruction (3:1–19)

The Lord Judges His Enemies

[1]The burden against Nineveh. The book of the vision of Nahum the Elkoshite.

[2]God is jealous, and the Lord is an avenger; the Lord is avenging with fury; the Lord takes vengeance on His adversaries and drives out His enemies. [3]The Lord is patient and His power is great, but the Lord will not acquit the guilty. His way is in destruction and in a whirlwind; the clouds are the dust of His feet. [4]He threatens the sea and makes it dry, and he dries up all the rivers. Bashan and Carmel have diminished, and the flowers of Lebanon have died out. [5]By Him the mountains are shaken and the hills quake, and the earth heaves at His presence—the whole earth and all who dwell in it. [6]Who can stand before His wrath? Who can withstand the fierceness of His anger? His fury melts away ruling powers, and He shatters the rocks into pieces.

[7]The Lord is merciful to those who wait on Him in the day of affliction, and He knows those who reverence Him. [8]For with an overwhelming flood He shall make an end to those rising up, and darkness will pursue His enemies. [9]What do you plot against the Lord? He shall bring about a complete end to it; He will not twice punish with affliction for the same thing, [10]for the enemy shall be laid bare even to the foundations, and consumed as twisted yew, even as fully dried stubble.

[11]From out of you shall come forth a plot against the Lord, counseling things hostile to Him. [12]Thus says the Lord who rules over many waters: “In the same manner you will be torn apart, and the report of you will no longer be heard. [13]And now I will break his rod from off you, and I will break your bonds.” [14]The Lord shall Himself give a command concerning you: “Your name shall be perpetuated no longer. I will utterly destroy the graven and molten images out of the house of your god. I shall dig your grave, and that quickly!”

Nahum 2

The Judgment of Nineveh

[1]Behold, on the mountains the feet of him that brings good tidings and proclaims peace. O Judah, celebrate your feasts, pay your vows; for in no way shall they pass through you as one who is beaten. He is completely destroyed; he has been removed. [2]The one being delivered from affliction has come up breathing in your presence. Watch the road, gird your loins, and be valiant in your strength!

[3]For the Lord has turned away the pride of Jacob, just as He did the pride of Israel, for the shakers have shaken them off and completely destroyed their branches. [4]The weapons of their power from men—mocking mighty men with fire, the reins of their chariots in the day of their readiness, and their horsemen—shall be thrown into a state of confusion [5]in the streets, and the chariots shall clash and become entangled with one another in the broad roads. Their appearance is as torches of fire and flashing lightning. [6]And their great men will be remembered, and they will flee by day. They will be weak as they go on their way; they will hasten to the walls, and they will prepare their advance defenses.

[7]The gates of the rivers have been opened, and the palaces have fallen into ruin, [8]and the foundation has been exposed. She has gone up, and her bondwomen were led away as doves moaning in their hearts. [9]And as for Nineveh, her waters are as a pool of water, and fleeing away, they did not stand; there was no one paying attention.

[10]They were plundering the silver, they were plundering the gold—and there was no end of her treasures; they have been weighed down by all her precious things. [11]There is thrusting, shaking, and tumult, and breaking of hearts and weakening of knees, agony in every loin, and the face of each one appearing as the blackening of a pot.

[12]Where is the dwelling place of the lions and the feeding place for her cubs? Where did the lion go, that the lion's cub should go where there is none to scare him away? [13]The lion carried off sufficient prey for his cubs, and he strangled prey for his lions and filled his lair with prey, even his dwelling-place of plunder. [14]"Behold, I am against you," says the Lord Almighty; "I shall burn up your multitude in smoke, and the sword will devour your lions. I shall utterly destroy your prey from the land, and your deeds shall never again be heard."

Nahum 3

The Wickedness of Nineveh

[1]O city of blood, totally false and full of unrighteousness: the prey will not be touched. [2]The cracking of whips and the sound of rumbling wheels, the galloping horses and bounding chariots, [3]cavalrymen in full charge with the glistening of swords and the glittering of weapons, a multitude of wounded and of heavy falling; and there was no end to her nations, but they will be weak in their bodies [4]because of the abundance of sexual immorality. She is a prostitute who is cultured and pleasing, skilled in the art of sorcery, selling the nations with her sexual immorality and the people by her sorceries.

[5]"Behold, I am against you," says the Lord God Almighty. "I shall uncover your backside in your presence, and I shall make known your shame to the nations and your disgrace to the kingdoms. [6]I shall cast abominable filth upon you according to your uncleanness, and I shall cause you to be a public example. [7]And it will be that all who see you will turn away from you and say, 'Wretched Nineveh, who shall lament her? Where shall I seek consolation for her?' "

[8]Prepare yourself a portion, tune the string of the lyre, and prepare a portion for Amon, the one dwelling by the rivers with the river round about her, whose dominion is the sea and the water her walls. [9]Ethiopia is her strength, and Egypt as well, and there is no limit to her flight, and the Libyans became her helper. [10]And she will go into captivity as a prisoner, and they will dash her infants to the ground at the heads of all the streets;
they will cast lots over all her splendid things, and all her nobles will be bound in chains. [11]And you will become drunk and be disregarded. You will seek for yourself a place of refuge from your enemies. [12]All your strongholds are as fig trees having a watchman: if shaken, they will fall into the mouth of the eater! [13]Behold, your people are as women among you. The gates of your land shall be wide open to your enemies, and fire will destroy the bars of your gates.

[14]Draw water for the siege and fortify your strongholds. Trample the clay and tread it with straw; make it stronger than brick. [15]There the fire will devour you, and the sword will utterly destroy you. It will devour you as a locust, and you will be oppressed as a locust. [16]You have multiplied your commerce beyond the stars of heaven; the locust has attacked and flown away. [17]As a grasshopper, your crowd of half-breeds has suddenly left, as a locust perched on a hedge on a frosty morning; the sun rises and it flies away. It does not know its place. Woe to them! [18]Your shepherds slumber; the king of Assyria put your nobles to rest; your people departed to the mountains, and there was no one expecting them. [19]There is no healing your destruction. Your wound is festering. All those hearing the news of you shall clap their hands over you, for upon whom has not your wickedness passed continually?

Annotations for Nahum

1:1 The burden: See Hab 1:1 and note. Nahum's prophecy takes on its deepest meaning when Nineveh is seen as an icon of sinful humanity. The "good tidings" (2:1) of the gospel turn the hearts of men away from idolatry (1:14–2:2); while the fire of the Holy Spirit (2:5) and cleansing in the waters of baptism (2:7–9) destroy demonic powers, purging and renewing the repentant heart.

1:3 The Church teaches concerning Holy Confession that unless one is sincerely repentant, the priest's prayer for absolution is meaningless and ineffective.

1:4 He threatens the sea and makes it dry: At the Great Blessing of Water on Theophany we sing, "The waters saw You, O God; the waters saw You and were afraid. The Jordan turned back, seeing the fire of the Godhead descending bodily and entering its stream. The Jordan turned back, beholding the Holy Spirit coming down in the form of a dove and flying about You. The Jordan turned back, seeing the Invisible made visible, the Creator made flesh, the Master in the form of a servant. The Jordan turned back and the mountains skipped, looking upon God in the flesh; and the clouds gave voice, marveling at Him who has come, the Light of Light, true God of true God."

1:3–5 This Old Testament imagery of the earthquake (also see 1Kg 4:5; 3Kg 19:11; Ps 103:32) was fulfilled ultimately at the Crucifixion (Mt 27:51). Clouds symbolize the Holy Spirit (see Ex 13:21, 22; 24:12–18 and notes). A cloud was at Christ's feet at His Transfiguration (Lk 9:34); and He Himself says He will come again in a cloud (Lk 21:27).

1:8–10 The overwhelming flood is fulfilled in baptism.

2:1 The good tidings are the gospel of peace, preached by the apostles. See Rom 10:15.

2:5 As torches of fire: See Jdg 7:16. The specter of the universal ravager, fire, is invoked to suggest an image of total destruction.

2:6–9 Nineveh was situated on the Tigris and Khoser Rivers, and ancient sources such as Xenophon and Diodorus note that the city was destroyed by flooding. Nineveh worshipped the goddess Ishtar, which would be led away by those who captured the city. This passage also points to the destruction of God's enemies in the waters of baptism.

2:11 A picture of the few terrified survivors, looking sadly on the ruins of their once-magnificent city.

2:14 The power of the lions, which represent the enemies of God, would be destroyed by the more powerful sword of the Spirit, "for all who take the sword will perish by the sword" (Mt 26:52).

3:4–7 The final judgment against the great harlot, an image of all that is evil, is found in Rev 17–18.

The Book of Habakkuk

Author

The prophet Habakkuk (commemorated December 2). Some traditions tell us he was the son of Sapnat, of the tribe of Simeon, prophesying in Judah six hundred years before Christ, in the time of King Manasseh. This would make him a contemporary of the Prophets Nahum, Jeremiah, Daniel, and Zephaniah.

Date

About 605 BC, during the weakening and collapse of the Southern Kingdom of Judah (626–586 BC) and before the arrival of the Babylonians in Palestine.

Major Theme

The problem of evil. Habakkuk agonizes in his soul that wickedness, strife, and oppression are rampant in Judah, but God seemingly does nothing about it. His perplexity intensifies when he learns God will judge Judah by the hands of the Babylonians, who are more wicked and ruthless than those being judged! In the end, he learns to rest and trust in God's dealings with His creation.

Our Lord Jesus Christ is prophesied in this book as the Lord in His holy temple (2:20) and the One who comes from afar to visit His People with salvation (3:3—quoted in the hymns of the Royal Hours of the Nativity).

Background

Our Orthodox tradition states that this same prophet was indeed the one who was miraculously transported to Babylon and who visited and ministered to Daniel the Prophet in the lions' den (Bel and the Serpent 33–37). Habakkuk entered into rest in great old age, and his relics were discovered during the reign of Theodosius the Great in the fourth century.

The prophecy is set against the backdrop of the approaching Babylonians, who destroyed Jerusalem in 587 BC. The people of Judah were living in wealth and luxury, and the society was showing signs of rot and collapse. The rich were unjust and greedy, disregarding the needs of the poor, the widows or the orphans. The judges were entirely corrupt.

Habakkuk 1

[1]The burden which the prophet Habakkuk saw.

The Prophet Complains of Injustice

[2]How long, O Lord, shall I cry out to You, and You will not hear me?
Being wronged I cry out to You; You will not save. [3]Why have You shown me hardship and suffering, to look upon misery and ungodliness? Judgment is before me, and the judge takes bribes. [4]Therefore the law is disregarded and justice is done ineffectually, for the ungodly oppress the righteous; therefore justice shall go forth perverted.

The Lord Answers

[5]"Behold, you scoffers, take notice; look and be amazed and be gone, for I am working a work in your days which you would not believe even if someone told it to you. [6]For behold, I am raising up against you the Chaldeans, a bitter and hasty nation that marches through the breadth of the earth to take possession of dwellings that are not theirs. [7]He is terrible and awesome. His judgment and dignity proceeds from himself. [8]Their horses bound more swiftly than leopards, and they are more fierce than the wolves of Arabia. His horsemen will ride out far away. They will spread out from afar, and they will fly as an eagle eager for its food. [9]Destruction will come upon the ungodly, opposing their advances from the opposite side, and like sand will he gather the captivity. [10]And he will revel in kings, and princes will be his plaything; he shall mock every fortified city and put up a siege mound and capture it. [11]Then he will change his spirit, and he will pass through and he will make an atonement saying, 'This strength is from my god.' "

A Further Complaint of Injustice

[12]Are You not from everlasting, O Lord God, my Holy One? O Lord, surely we shall not die. O Lord, You have ordered it for judgment; He has formed me to reprove for His instruction. [13]His eye is too pure to see evil, and You are not able to look upon affliction. Why then do You pay attention to those who scoff and keep silence when the ungodly swallow up the just?

14 And will you make men to be like the fish of the sea and as the reptiles with no one leading them? 15 He has brought up destruction with a fishhook, drawn it with his casting net, and gathered it in his dragnets. Because of this he will be glad, and his heart will rejoice. 16 On account of this he will sacrifice to his dragnet and burn incense to his casting net. For by them he has enriched his portion, and his foods are choice. 17 Therefore, he will throw out his casting net, and he will not spare to kill all the nations.

Habakkuk 2

The Lord Answers the Prophet's Complaints

1 I will stand on my watch, mounted upon the rock, and see what He shall say to me, and what might I answer when I am reproved?

2 And the Lord answered me and said, "Write the vision distinctly upon a tablet, that he who reads it may flee. 3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, and it will come up at the end, and it will not be in vain; if he should tarry, wait for him, for he will surely come, and he will not tarry.

4 "If any man should shrink back, My soul will not be well pleased in him; but the righteous shall live by My faith. 5 But the one who is drunk and the scoffer, the man who boasts, shall accomplish nothing; he widened his soul as the grave, and as death he is never satisfied, and he will gather to himself all the nations and will take to himself all the peoples. 6 Shall not all these take up a parable against him and a proverb for his history? And they shall say, 'Woe to him who multiplies to himself possessions which are not his.
How long will this continue? And who heavily presses down his yoke?' 7 For suddenly those biting at him shall rise up, and they who plot against you will sober up, and you shall be as plunder to them. 8 Because you have plundered many nations, all the people who remain shall plunder you, because of the men's blood and the sins of the land, and of the city and all who dwell in it.

9 "Woe to him who takes advantage of evil gain for his own house, so that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the hand of evil.
10 You counseled shame to your house, and you wiped out many peoples, and your soul sinned. 11 Therefore, the stones will cry out from the wall, and the beetle will speak out of wood.

12 "Woe to him who builds a city with bloodshed, who establishes a city by wrongdoing. 13 Are not these things from the Lord Almighty? And many a people have utterly perished in fire, and many nations have been disheartened. [14]For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord; it shall cover them as water.

[15]"Woe to him who gives clouded and intoxicating drink to his neighbor, that he might look upon his private parts. [16]Drink to the fullness of the dishonor of your glory. Quake and tremble! The cup in the right hand of the Lord has surrounded you, and it has gathered disgrace upon your glory. [17]For the ungodliness of Lebanon shall cover you, and the distress of wild beasts will terrify you, because of the blood of men and the ungodliness of the land and all who dwell in it.

[18]"What benefit is a graven image, since men carve it? They have formed it into a molten image, a false image. For the one who made the thing trusts in that which is formed by him, to make idols that cannot speak.

[19]"Woe to him saying to the wood, 'Awake and rise up,' and to the dumb stone, 'Be exalted.' It is a merely a fantasy, being but a hammered piece of gold and silver. There is no living breath in it at all. [20]But the Lord is in His holy temple; let all the earth be reverent before Him."

Habakkuk 3

The Prophet's Prayer

[1]The prayer of the prophet Habakkuk, with an ode.

[2]Lord, I have heard Your report and was afraid;
I considered Your works and was greatly astonished.
You shall be known between the two living creatures;
In the approaching years You shall be acknowledged;
You will be revealed when the time comes.
When my soul is troubled,
You will in wrath remember mercy.
[3]God will come from Teman,
The Holy One from the mount of shaded leafy trees. Pause.
His excellence covered the heavens,
And the earth was full of His praise.
[4]His brightness will be like the light;
Horns will be in His hand,

And He established a mighty love of His strength.
5Before His face a word will go forth;
It will go out by the shoes of His feet.
6The earth stood and was shaken to and fro;
He looked and the nations melted away.
The mountains were shattered by force;
The everlasting hills wasted away.
7In the place of distresses, I saw His eternal ways.
The tents of the Ethiopians will be dismayed,
Even the tents of the land of Midian.
8Were you angry, O Lord, with the rivers?
Or was Your wrath against the rivers,
Or was Your fury against the sea,
That You will mount on Your horses,
And Your chariot is salvation?

9"You will stretch your bow against scepters," says the Lord.
Pause.
The land of rivers shall be torn asunder.
10Many peoples will see you and be in travail, Dispersing waters from its course.
The abyss uttered its voice;
Raising its form on high.
11The sun arose, and the moon stood in its course;
At the light of Your arrows they went forth,
At the flashing of Your gleaming weapons.
12You will bring low the land with threatening;
You will break the nations in wrath.
13You went forth for the salvation of Your people,
To save Your anointed ones.
You brought death upon the heads of the lawless;
You brought bonds upon their neck. Pause.
14You cut off the heads of rulers in amazement;
They shall tremble in it.
They will break their bridles
Like a poor man eating secretly.
15You ran your horses into the sea,
Churning up the many waters.

[16]I kept watch, and my belly trembled
From the sound of the prayer of my lips;
And trembling penetrated into my bones.
And my very frame of mind was troubled.
I shall rest in the day of tribulation
To go up to the people of my sojourn.
[17]For though the fig tree will not bear fruit
And there be no grapes on the vines;
The labor of the olive tree fail
And the fields yield no food;
Though the sheep have no pasture
And there be no oxen in the cribs;
[18]Yet I will glory in the Lord;
I will rejoice in God my Savior.
[19]The Lord God is my strength;
He will direct my feet to the end;
He will set me upon high places,
So to conquer by His song.

Annotations for Habakkuk

1:1 Prophets frequently describe prophetic oracles as "burdens" (Heb. massa I: "burden, carrying" and massa II: "pronouncement, prophecy," both deriving from a verbal root nasa, "to carry") from the Lord, possibly because the oracles nearly always spell out heavy judgment from God (Jer 23:33). In contrast, Jesus describes his burden as "light" (Mt 11:30). John says that because of all God's love has done for us, keeping His commandments is not burdensome (1Jn 5:3).

1:2 Habakkuk laments the seeming silence of God in response to the rampant injustice and violence in the nation. When God reveals to Habakkuk the horrors in Judean society from His point of view, the prophet is horrified. He cries for God to act, but there is no answer from God. "How long?" is a familiar refrain among the Old Testament prophets (Zec 1:12) and the psalmists (Ps 12:1) when God appears silent, remote, and powerless (Is 63:15). God hates violence on the earth and will judge severely the cruel treatment of humans by other humans (Gn 6:5–7; Ps 10:6; Rev 6:10).

1:5 God frequently responds to humans in surprising ways. But God's "answer" to Habakkuk's lament is beyond belief.

1:7 The Chaldean standard for judgment is not God's righteous law, but their own purposes of conquest. Despite their evil, God can still use ungodly people and sometimes unwilling servants to accomplish His purposes, as in the cases of Pharaoh, Balaam, and Judas.

1:9 Violence will be punished with violence. God will use the Chaldeans to inflict punishment upon the evildoers of Judah. Israel's history showed that God was willing to use other nations to punish Israel. The cycle of Israel's covenant unfaithfulness, punishment, repentance, and subsequent restoration is amply described in Judges and 3 & 4 Kingdoms. What is new and surprising to Habakkuk is the extent of Judah's punishment, for God hints at their exile and utter destruction as a nation. The nation of Judah falsely believed that their fickle repentance (Hos 6:1–3) as well as God's covenant with David and the presence of the temple in Jerusalem would protect them forever (Jer 7:3) from God's unrelenting anger. They were sadly mistaken.

1:11 In a moment of self-recognition, even the godless Chaldeans realize they are not a law unto themselves. Although they are the vessels of God's wrath upon Judah, they are still answerable to God for their crimes against humanity.

1:12 With surprising boldness, Habakkuk questions God's judgment. Here Habakkuk is like many other biblical prophets: Abraham (Gn 18:23ff.), Moses (Ex 32:11ff.), Jeremiah (20:7), or Amos (7:1ff.). Throughout the Bible, men and women wrestle mightily with God and His will, like Jacob with God at the River Jabbok (Gn 32:22).

1:14 Habakkuk complains that the Chaldeans, God's chosen vessels, show absolutely no respect for human dignity.

2:1 Despite his questions, Habakkuk displays his stubborn faith in God's ultimate purposes. While waiting for what surely will be God's reprimand, Habakkuk is already marshaling his strength to answer back.

2:2 Habakkuk hears and sees God's response (1:1)! God's answer must be written so clearly that its readers can take immediate action.

2:3, 4 During tumultuous times, God first commands Habakkuk to wait patiently for His vision to arrive, despite all contrary appearances or delays. Heb 10:37, 38 quotes these verses from Habakkuk to exhort its hearers to endure suffering boldly as we await the fulfillment of God's promises.

2:4 Against those Judaizing Christians who wanted to bind the entire Law (particularly circumcision) upon Gentile converts, Paul quotes Habakkuk to show that we are justified by faith, not by the works of the Law (Gal 3:11; Rom 1:17).

2:5 Pride is the fountain of all vices. In the following verses, Habakkuk describes the profile of the arrogant individual with whom God is not pleased (2:4). His increasingly ravenous appetites are indeed hellish and deadly.

2:6 The Bible warns that the arrogant man will surely be destroyed for his evil.

2:10 Man has a relentless hunger for material gain, which he thinks will insulate him from misfortune; but wealth is false security. This deluded quest for self-sufficiency is described elsewhere as virtual atheism (Ps 11:4, 5). The yield is not security but death and destruction. There is no security other than in God.

2:11, 12 While the powerful engage in empire building, the truth of God's ultimate judgment over the proud is known by the smallest and the numerically insignificant. The city built by bloodshed and conquest will ultimately be destroyed. Only the city built with righteousness will endure.

2:14 Elsewhere, Hosea describes the fundamental human problem as lack of knowledge of God (Hos 4:1, 6; 6:6). This ignorance unfortunately is self-inflicted because men suppress the truth about God (Rom 1:18–32).

2:16 The proud man, for his debauchery and violence, will ultimately drink the wine of God's wrath. The Book of Revelation describes the eschatological judgment upon the "great Babylon" in terms of God giving her to drink of "the cup of the wine of the fierceness of His wrath" (Rev 16:19).

2:20 The mystery of God is best honored with silence. When God revealed Himself out of the whirlwind, Job too was found speechless (Job 40:5; 42:3).

3:2 St Augustine believes the two living creatures are either the two testaments, the two thieves, or Moses and Elijah talking with Jesus on the Mount of Transfiguration.

3:3 This verse is quoted in Orthodox hymnology (in the Festal Menaion) on the Entry of the Most Holy Theotokos into the Temple (Nov. 21) and on Christmas.

3:4 Augustine believes this verse refers plainly to Jesus.

The Book of Zephaniah

Author

The prophet Zephaniah (commemorated December 3), from the tribe of Simeon. His name can be rendered "God has hidden." It appears he was of royal blood, tracing his ancestry back to King Hezekiah (715–686 BC), and he was a resident of Jerusalem (1:4).

Date

About 627–625 BC. The holy prophet Zephaniah prophesied during the reign of King Josiah (1:1), who reigned in Judah from 640 to 609 BC. He was a contemporary of the prophets Jeremiah, Nahum, and Habakkuk.

Major Theme

Judgment and blessing on Judah.

Background

Zephaniah found himself prophesying in times that were both perilous and promising. During the long reign of Manasseh (696–642 BC), the religion and morality of Judah had been brought to an all-time low. The people practiced Baal worship, worship of the stars, and even human sacrifice, probably to please their Assyrian overlords. However, in the eyes of the holy prophet, these practices were nothing less than unbridled wickedness.

Manasseh repented of his wickedness (2Chr 33:12); however, his son Amon did not, and the people continued their pagan practices. When Josiah came to the throne in 640 BC, there were many who yearned for a return to the God of the fathers and were ready both to hear Zephaniah's message and to follow King Josiah in his zeal for reform.

The Great and Terrible Day of the Lord

1 The word of the Lord which came to Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hezekiah, in the days of Josiah son of Amon, king of Judah.

2 "Let all things be totally consumed from the face of the earth," says the Lord. 3 "Let man and cattle cease. Let the birds of the air and the fish of the sea be consumed. I shall drive mankind from the face of the land," says the Lord. 4 "I shall stretch out My hand against Judah and against all the inhabitants of Jerusalem. And I shall remove the names of Baal from this place and the names of the priests— 5 those who worship the host of heaven on the housetops and who swear oaths by the Lord and who swear oaths by their king— 6 those who turn away from the Lord, neither seeking the Lord nor holding steadfastly to Him.

7 "Fear before the presence of the Lord God, for the day of the Lord is at hand. The Lord has prepared His sacrifice; He has sanctified His guests. 8 And it shall be in the day of the Lord's sacrifice that I shall take vengeance on the princes and on the king's house, and upon all clothed with strange garments.
9 And I will openly take vengeance upon all those in the gates in that day, on those who fill the house of the Lord their God with ungodliness and deceit.

10 "And in that day," says the Lord, "there will be from the gate the sound of shouting from men killing, and a wailing from the second gate along with a great destruction from the hills. 11 Mourn, those of you dwelling here, being cut down in pieces; for all the people are like Canaan. All those exalting in silver are utterly destroyed.

12 "And it shall come to pass in that day that I shall search Jerusalem with a lamp and shall take vengeance on the men having scorned their charge, the ones saying in their hearts, 'The Lord shall not do any good, nor shall He do any harm.' 13 And their power will be for plundering and their houses for complete destruction. And they will build houses, but will not live in them; and they will plant vineyards, but will not drink of their wine.

14 "For the great day of the Lord is near. It is near and quick. The sound of the day of the Lord is bitter and harsh. 15 A mighty day of wrath has been appointed: a day of affliction and distress, a day of unseasonable happenings and destruction, a day of gloom and darkness, a day of cloud and vapor, [16]a day of the trumpet and shouting against the fortified cities and the high towers. [17]I will greatly afflict the men, and they will walk as blind men, for they sinned against the Lord; and He shall pour out their blood as dust and their flesh as dung. [18]Their silver and gold shall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of the Lord, but the whole land shall be consumed by the fire of His zeal; for He will bring about a speedy end to all those who dwell in the land.

Zephaniah 2

Judgment against the Nations

[1]"O untaught nation, be gathered together and united to one another, [2]before you become like a flower that passes away, before the anger of the Lord comes upon you, before the day of the wrath of the Lord comes upon you! [3]Seek the Lord, all you humble of the earth. Bring about justice, seek righteousness, and give answer to these things, so you may be sheltered in the day of the Lord's wrath.

[4]"For Gaza shall be for pillaging, and Ashkelon shall be for extermination. Ashdod shall be driven out at midday, and Ekron shall be uprooted. [5]Woe to those dwelling on the seacoast, neighbors of the Cretans; O Canaan, land of the Philistines, the word of the Lord is against you, and I shall destroy you out of your dwelling place. [6]Crete shall be a pasture for flocks and folds for sheep. [7]The seacoast shall be for the remnant of the house of Judah; upon them they shall pasture their flocks in the houses of Ashkelon; in the evening they will rest because of the presence of the children of Judah, for the Lord their God has cared for them and has removed their captivity.

[8]"I have heard the insults of Moab and the cruel acts of the people of Ammon, by which they have berated My people and exalted themselves against My borders. [9]Therefore, as I live," says the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, "Moab shall be like Sodom, and the sons of Ammon like Gomorrah, and Damascus is like a heap left on the threshing floor and ruined forever; and the remnant of My people will plunder them, and the remnant of My nation will inherit them." [10]This is their punishment because they have reproached and exalted themselves against the Lord Almighty. [11]The Lord shall show Himself to be against them and shall utterly destroy all the gods of the earth, and they will worship Him, each one from his place, even all the islands of the nations.

12"O Ethiopians, you are the slain of My sword." 13And He shall stretch out His hand to the north and destroy the Assyrian, and make Nineveh a waterless desolation, as a desert. 14And flocks will graze in the midst of her, even all the wild animals of the land; and the chameleons and hedgehogs will sleep in her coffered ceilings, and wild animals will cry out between her breaches and ravens in her gates, for her loftiness was as a cedar. 15This is the contemptuous city who dwells in hope, who says in her heart, "I am, and there is none beside me." How she has even become a desolation, a pasture for wild beasts! Everyone passing through her will hiss and shake his fists.

Woe to Jerusalem

6"I have brought down the arrogant with destruction, and their cornerstones are destroyed. I will make their streets totally desolate, so that none can pass through. Their cities are destroyed because there is no one to live or dwell in them. 7I said, 'But fear Me and receive instruction, and you will not be completely uprooted from the face of it—for much vengeance I have taken against her.' Prepare yourself, rise early in the morning, for every last small grape left for the gleaners has been spoiled.

8"On account of this, wait for Me," says the Lord, "until the day of My rising up as a testimony. For My judgment shall be for the gathering of the nations, to receive kings to pour out upon them all My fierce anger, for all the earth shall be consumed with the fire of My jealousy.

9"For then I shall transform for the people a language for her generation, for all to call upon the name of the Lord, to serve Him under one yoke.

10From the boundaries of the rivers of Ethiopia they will bring offerings to Me. 11In that day, you will not be ashamed of all your practices in which you acted profanely against Me. For at that time I will take away from you the contempt of your arrogance, and you shall no longer be haughty upon My holy mountain. 12And I will leave among you a gentle and humble people, who will show reverence to the name of the Lord. 13The remnant of Israel will not commit unrighteousness nor speak vanities; neither will a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth; for they will feed and lie down, and there will be no one terrifying them."

Promised Blessings for Jerusalem

14Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Cry aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem! Be glad and rejoice with your whole heart, O daughter of Jerusalem! 15The Lord has taken away your iniquities and ransomed you from your enemies. The Lord, the King of Israel, is in your midst; you will no longer see any evil. 16At that time the Lord shall say to Jerusalem, "O Zion, be of good courage; do not let your hands grow slack. 17The Lord your God is with you. The Mighty One shall save you. He shall bring gladness upon you and will renew you with His love. He will delight over you with joy as in a day of feasting. 18I shall gather together your broken ones. Alas! who has taken up a reproach against her?

19"Behold, at that time I will act among you for your sake," says the Lord.
"I will save the oppressed and welcome those being rejected. I will make them a praise and renowned throughout the whole earth. 20And they shall be put to shame in that day when I do well with you, at the time when I shall receive you, for I will make you praised and renowned among all the peoples of the earth when I return your captivity," says the Lord.

Annotations for Zephaniah

1:1–11 The revival that occurred in the days of Josiah prefigured the coming of the gospel in Christ, which will culminate on the final Day. Christ was the final sacrifice (v. 7), whose death and Resurrection was, and is, the ultimate judgment against sin in the earth. Indeed, with His stretched-out hand (v. 4), which was pierced through on the Cross, He destroyed idolatry, punished the proud princes of darkness, and cut down the Old Covenant.

1:12 St. Jerome writes that this verse was fulfilled when Christ went to Jerusalem (Mk 11:11). He was looking at everything in the temple "as though He were searching with a lantern . . . but He did not find what He wanted. . . . The Savior searched; the Apostles searched; in the temple they found nothing, so they left it."

2:7–11 All the islands of the nations (v. 11): A prophecy that is fulfilled in the Gentile Church.

3:1–13 Christ gathered the nations together and judged them with the fire (v. 8) of the Holy Spirit. The day of My rising up is a clear prophecy of the Resurrection.

🕮 3:8–15 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

🕮 3:14–19 This passage is read at Great Vespers in the Sixth Week of Great Lent.

The Book of Haggai

Author

The author is the prophet Haggai, whose name means “festal.” He is the first of the postexilic prophets and a contemporary of the prophet Zechariah. Jewish tradition suggests he was a priest.

Date

520 BC, during the second year of the reign of Darius, king of Persia. Four prophetic messages were delivered over a period of four months.

Major Theme

Forsake life’s comforts and rebuild the temple. Other themes revolve around the consequences of disobedience (1:6, 11; 2:16, 17) and the blessings of obedience (2:7–9, 19). A further prophetic theme points to the building of the Church from among the Gentiles (2:7).

Background

In 587 BC, the Babylonians conquered Jerusalem and carried the Jews into exile in Babylon. In 539 BC, the Persian king Cyrus conquered the Babylonians and decreed that the Jews could return to their homeland. The rebuilding of the temple was begun by the remnant that returned. Theodoret of Cyrrus points out, “Since the completion of the construction was interrupted partly on account of the wickedness of their enemies and partly on account of their own sluggishness, Haggai, the blessed prophet, induced the people to begin rebuilding the temple.” It was finished and consecrated five years after the Book of Haggai was written, in 515 BC.

Outline

I. Introduction (1:1)
II. First Prophetic Message: Exhortation to Rebuild the Temple (1:2–15)
  A. The people’s excuse (1:2–4)
  B. God’s response to their disobedience (1:5–11)
  C. The people go to work (1:12–15)
III. Second Prophetic Message: Future Glory of the Temple (2:1–9)
  A. God’s presence is with the people in their work (2:1–5)
  B. The “choice things” to come, filling the house with glory (2:6–9)

IV. Third Prophetic Message: God Will Bless the Nation's Obedience (2:10–19)
   A. Holiness and uncleanness (2:10–14)
   B. Further consequences of disobedience (2:15–17)
   C. Immediate blessings: the reward of faithfulness (2:18, 19)
V. Fourth Prophetic Message: God's Promise to Zerubbabel (2:20–23)
   A. Judgment of kings and nations (2:20–22)
   B. The calling and role of Zerubbabel (2:23)

Haggai 1

[1]In the second year of King Darius, in the sixth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came by the hand of Haggai the prophet, saying, “Speak to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, from the tribe of Judah, and Joshua son of Jehozadak the high priest, this message. [2]‘Thus says the Lord Almighty: “This people says, ‘The time has not come to build the Lord’s house.’ ” ’ ”

The Command to Rebuild the Lord’s House

[3]Then the word of the Lord came by Haggai the prophet, saying, [4]“Is it time for you to dwell in your paneled houses, while this house stands in ruins?” [5]Now therefore, thus says the Lord Almighty: “Consider your ways! [6]You have sown much and brought in little. You have eaten, but you are not satisfied. You have drunk, but not to get drunk. You have clothed yourselves, but no one is warm. And he who earns wages, earns wages to put into a bag with holes.”

[7]Thus says the Lord Almighty: “Carefully consider your ways! [8]Go up to the mountain and cut wood and build the house, and I will take pleasure in it and be glorified,” says the Lord. [9]Thus says the Lord Almighty: “You looked for much, but little came, and when it was brought into the house I blew it away, because My house is desolate while each one of you hurries to his own house; [10]because of this the heavens above you will withhold the dew, and the earth withhold its fruit. [11]And I shall bring a sword upon the land and upon the mountains, and upon the grain and upon the wine and upon the oil, and upon whatever the ground brings forth, and on men and livestock, and on all the labor of their hands.”

[12]Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel from the tribe of Judah, and Joshua the son of Jehozadak the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, heeded the word of the Lord their God and the words of Haggai the prophet, as the Lord their God had sent him to them, and the people feared in the presence of the Lord. [13]Then Haggai, the Lord’s messenger, said these words to the people: “I am with you, says the Lord.” [14]So the Lord stirred up the spirit of Zerubbabel son of Shealtiel from the tribe of Judah, and the spirit of Joshua the son of Jehozadak the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people. And they came and worked on the house of the Lord Almighty, their God, 15on the twenty-fourth day of the sixth month, in the second year of King Darius.

Haggai 2

The Future Glory of the New Temple

1In the seventh month, on the twenty-first of the month, the Lord spoke by Haggai the prophet, saying, 2"Speak now to Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel from the tribe of Judah, and to Joshua the son of Jehozadak the high priest, and to all the remnant of the people, saying, 3'Who among you saw this house in its former glory? And how do you see it now? Is this not in your eyes as being nothing? 4Yet now be strong, Zerubbabel,' says the Lord; 'be strong, Joshua son of Jehozadak, the high priest; and be strong, all you people of the land,' says the Lord, 'and work; for I am with you,' says the Lord Almighty. 5'And My Spirit remains among you; take courage!' 6For thus says the Lord Almighty, 'Once more I will shake heaven and earth, the sea and dry land; 7and I will shake all nations, and the choice things of all the nations shall come in, and I will fill this house with glory,' says the Lord Almighty. 8'The silver is Mine, and the gold is Mine,' says the Lord Almighty. 9'The glory of this latter house shall be greater than the former,' says the Lord Almighty. 'And in this place I will give peace,' says the Lord Almighty, 'and peace of soul for a possession to everyone who builds and raises this temple.' "

The Corrupting Effect of the Unclean

10On the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darius, the word of the Lord came to Haggai the prophet, saying, 11"Thus says the Lord Almighty: 'Now, ask the priests concerning the law, saying, 12"If one carries holy meat in the fold of his garment, and the edge touches bread or stew, wine or oil, or any food, will it become holy?" ' " Then the priests answered and said, "No." 13And Haggai said, "If one who is unclean because of a dead body touches any of these, will it be unclean?" So the priests answered and said, "It shall be unclean." 14Then Haggai answered and said, ' "So is this people, so is this nation before Me,' says the Lord, 'and so are all the works of their hands. Whoever comes near them shall be unclean because of their early burdens; they shall be distressed because of their toils; and you have hated him who rebukes in the gates.

15‘And now consider from this day forward, from before a stone was laid upon a stone in the temple of the Lord, 16what manner of people you were; when you put twenty ephahs of barley into the bin, and there were but ten; when you came to the wine vat to draw out fifty measures from the press, but only twenty were there. 17I struck you with barenness and blight and hail in all the labors of your hands; yet you did not turn to Me,’ says the Lord. 18‘Establish your hearts from this day forward, from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, from the day the foundation of the Lord’s temple was laid. Give careful thought to this: 19Is the seed still on the threshing floor? And as yet, the vine, the fig tree, the pomegranate, and the olive tree have not yielded fruit? But from this day I shall bless you.’ ”

A Promise Made to Zerubbabel

20And again the word of the Lord came to Haggai the prophet a second time on the twenty-fourth day of the month, saying, 21“Speak to Zerubbabel from the tribe of Judah, saying, ‘I shall shake heaven and earth and the sea and the dry land. 22I shall overthrow the thrones of kings, and I will destroy the power of the kings of the nations, and I shall overthrow both chariots and riders. The horses and their riders will come down; everyone by the sword of his brother. 23In that day,’ says the Lord Almighty, ‘I shall take you, Zerubbabel, My servant, the son of Shealtiel,’ says the Lord, ‘and shall make you like a signet ring; for I have chosen you.’ ”

Annotations for Haggai

1:14 Zerubbabel: See 2:23 and note.

2:6 I will shake heaven and earth: "There have been two remarkable transformations of the human way of life in the course of the world's history. These are called two 'covenants,' . . . two 'shakings of the earth' [Heb 12:26; Mt 27:51]. The first was the transition from idols to the Law; the second, from the Law to the gospel. The gospel also tells of the third shaking, the change from this present stage of things to what lies unmoved, unshaken, beyond" (GrgNa; see Heb 12:28). Indeed, writes Augustine, Christ moved heaven and earth when He was born of a Virgin; and moved the sea and dry land when He made His name known throughout the whole world.

2:9 I will give peace: "Since the restored temple signified the Church, which Christ was to build, those words can mean only 'I will give peace in that place (the Church) which this place (the rebuilt temple) prefigures.' . . . Not, however, until the House of the New Testament receives its final consecration will its greater glory in relation to the house of the Old Testament be made perfectly clear" (Aug).

2:10–19 This is Haggai's third discourse, intended to teach that the people must depend on God's grace for life and for holiness, and not on themselves or even on God's temple. God is good to us, says Haggai, not because we deserve it, not even because His presence makes us holy, but simply because He has chosen to bless us. God offers us an opportunity to return to Him through repentance and confession, as is illustrated in the parable of the Prodigal Son (Lk 15:11–32), recounted to us just two weeks prior to the Great Fast of Lent.

2:11 Ask the priests concerning the law: "For such is the important function of the priesthood to give answers to those who question them concerning the Law" (Jerome).

2:20–23 The oracle is private, addressed to Zerubbabel only. Note that he is addressed not as a descendant of David but as being from the tribe of Judah, implying that the Davidic kingship is not about to be reestablished. Official, royal acts in the ancient world were authenticated by the use of the monarch's signet. In designating Zerubbabel as his signet, the Lord was, in effect, stating that Zerubbabel would be acting as His vicegerent, charged with carrying out His supreme rule and divine will. On a deeper level, this is a strong messianic prophecy. "When our soul becomes peaceful . . . then she will receive Christ like a signet ring upon her, for she is the image of God. Then she will be according to that image, because heavenly is the heavenly man. And we need to bear the image of the heavenly one, that is, peace. . . . I wish the Lord Jesus may say to you, 'Put me as a seal upon your arm' [SS 8:6]. May peace glow in your heart, Christ in your works, and may there be formed in you wisdom and justice and redemption" (AmbM).

The Book of Zechariah

Author

Zechariah, whose name means “he whom God remembers.” He was born in Babylon, returning to Judah in 537 BC. Zechariah’s prophetic ministry was well established in Babylon among the people in captivity. He was from the tribe of Judah, succeeding his grandfather Addo as a prophet. Haggai was his contemporary. Zechariah is commemorated on February 8.

Date

520–480 BC. Zechariah’s prophecies coincide with those of Haggai.

Major Theme

Encouraging the returned captives to rebuild the temple. The prophecies of Zechariah are messianic, apocalyptic, and eschatological. Zechariah foretold Christ’s coming in lowliness and humility (6:12; 13:7), His rejection and betrayal for thirty pieces of silver (11:12, 13), His crucifixion (13:7), His priesthood (6:13), His heritage (6:13; 9:9; 14:9, 16), His coming in glory (14:4), His building of the Lord’s temple (6:12, 13), his reign (9:10, 14), and His establishment of peace and prosperity (3:10; 9:9, 10).

As to the apocalyptic and eschatological emphasis, the prophecies foretold the invasion of Jerusalem (12:1–3; 14:1, 2), the victory of Judah’s enemies (14:2), the Lord’s defense of Jerusalem (14:3, 4), the judgment on the nations (12:9; 14:3), the geographical changes in Judah (14:4, 5), the commemoration of the Feast of Tabernacles in the messianic age (14:16–19), and the fulfillment of the prophecies about the holiness of the Israelites (14:20, 21).

This book also develops the theology of angels, as God communicates through them to Zechariah. Many New Testament apocalyptic images are foreshadowed in this book.

Background

In the first year of Cyrus the Great of Persia, a decree was issued permitting the return of the Jews to Jerusalem with a commission to rebuild the temple. The Israelites were led back by Zerubbabel and Joshua. Zerubbabel, son of Shealtiel, was the heir to the throne of David. In 520 BC, Zechariah and Haggai attempted to rouse the remnant of returned exiles to rebuild the temple.

VI. The Rejection and Reception of the Messiah (9:1–14:21)

A Call to Conversion

1 In the eighth month of the second year of the reign of Darius, the word of the Lord came to Zechariah, son of Berechiah, son of Addo the prophet, saying, 2 “The Lord has been very angry with your fathers, 3 and you shall say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord Almighty: “Return to Me, and I will return to you,” says the Lord, 4 “And do not become like your fathers, whom the former prophets accused, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord Almighty: “Turn from your evil ways and your evil practices.’ ” But they did not pay attention or heed Me,” says the Lord.

5 “Your fathers—where are they? And the prophets—will they live forever?
6 But receive My words and My ordinances as I commanded by My Spirit to My servants the prophets who overtook your fathers.” And they answered and said, “As the Lord Almighty determined to deal with us, according to our ways and according to our practices, thus He dealt with us.” ’ ”

The Vision of the Four Horses

7 In the second year of the reign of Darius, on the twenty-fourth day of the eleventh month, this is the month Sabat, the word of the Lord came to Zechariah the son of Berechiah, the son of Addo the prophet, saying, 8 I saw a vision in the night, and behold, a man was mounted on a red horse, and he stood in the midst of the two shaded mountains, and behind him were red, dapple gray, piebald, and white horses. 9 And I said, “My lord, what are these?” And the angel talking to me said, “I will show you what these are.”
10 And the man who stood in the midst of the mountains replied and said to me, “These are those whom the Lord sent forth to go out into all the earth.” 11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord, who stood in the midst of the mountains, and said, “We have gone out into all the earth, and behold, all the earth is inhabited and is at peace.”

12 Then the Angel of the Lord answered and said, “O Lord Almighty, how long will You show no mercy on Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, which You disregarded these seventy years?” 13 And the Lord Almighty replied to the angel who was speaking to me with kind and comforting words. 14 And the angel speaking to me said to me, “Cry out, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord Almighty: “I have been jealous for both Jerusalem and Zion with great jealousy, [15]and I am exceedingly angry with the nations joining together against her, with whom I was only a little angry, but then they joined together with evil intent.” [16]Therefore, thus says the Lord: “I shall return to Jerusalem with compassion, and in her My house shall be rebuilt,” says the Lord Almighty, “and a measuring line shall indeed be stretched out over Jerusalem.” ’ ” [17]And the angel talking to me said to me, “Cry out again, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord Almighty: “Cities shall yet overflow with prosperity, and hereafter the Lord will have mercy on Zion and will choose Jerusalem.” ’ ”

The Vision of the Four Horns

[1]And I looked up, and behold, four horns. [2]And I said to the angel who talked with me, “My lord, what are these?” And he said to me, “These are the horns that have scattered Judah and Israel.” [3]And the Lord showed me four craftsmen. [4]And I said, “What are they coming to do?” And he said, “These are the horns that scattered Judah and broke Israel in pieces, and not one of them looked up, and they come forth to sharpen these with their hands, the four horns—the nations that lifted their horn up against the land of the Lord to scatter it.”

The Glory of the New Jerusalem

[5]And I looked up, and behold, a man, and in his hand was a measuring line. [6]And I said to him, “Where are you going?” And he said to me, “To measure Jerusalem to see its width and its length.” [7]And behold, the angel who was speaking to me stood up, and another angel went to meet him. [8]And he spoke to him, saying, “Run and speak to that young man, saying, ‘Jerusalem shall be fruitfully inhabited by reason of the multitude of men and livestock in the midst of her. [9]And I will be for her a wall of fire all around,’ says the Lord, ‘and I will be in glory in the midst of her,’ says the Lord.”

[10]“Oh! Oh! flee from the land of the north,” says the Lord, “because I will gather you together from the four winds of heaven,” says the Lord. [11]“Escape to Zion, you who dwell with the daughter of Babylon.” [12]For thus says the Lord Almighty: “He has sent Me out after glory to the nations that plundered you, for the one who assails you is as one who assails the apple of His eye. 13For behold, I bring My hand against them, and they shall be plunder to those serving them, and you will know the Lord Almighty sent Me.

14"Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of Zion, for behold, I am coming to you, and I will dwell in your midst," says the Lord. 15"And in that day many nations shall flee to the Lord for refuge, and they will be His people, and they will dwell in your midst, and you shall know the Lord Almighty has sent Me to you. 16And the Lord will inherit Judah, His portion in the holy land, and He will still choose Jerusalem. 17Let all flesh fear before the presence of the Lord, for He has roused Himself from His holy clouds."

Joshua the High Priest

1And the Lord showed me Joshua, the high priest, standing before the presence of the Angel of the Lord, and the devil stood at his right hand to oppose him. 2And the Lord said to the devil, "The Lord rebukes you, O devil, even the Lord choosing for Himself Jerusalem rebukes you. Behold, is this one not like a brand plucked from the fire?" 3And Joshua was clothed in filthy garments and stood before the Angel. 4And He answered and spoke to those who stood before Him, saying, "Take away the filthy garments from him." And He said to him, "Behold, I have taken your iniquities away from you. Now clothe him with a long robe, 5and place upon his head a clean miter." So they clothed him and put a clean miter on his head, and the Angel of the Lord was standing by.

6Then the Angel of the Lord testified to Joshua, saying, 7"Thus says the Lord Almighty: 'If you walk in My paths and if you keep My commands, you shall judge My house; and if you will diligently guard My courtyard, I will give you those to walk in the midst of these who stand here. 8Hear then, O Joshua the high priest, you and your neighbors sitting before you, for these men are prophets; for behold, I bring forth My servant the Dayspring. 9For the stone which I place before the face of Joshua, upon one stone are seven eyes. Behold, I am digging a pit,' says the Lord Almighty, 'and I will search out every wrongdoing of that land in one day. 10On that day,' says the Lord Almighty, 'each of you will invite his neighbor under his vine and under his fig tree.' "

The Lampstand and the Olive Trees

1 And the angel who spoke to me came again and awakened me as when a man is awakened out of his sleep. 2 And he said to me, “What did you see?”
And I said, “Behold, I have seen a lampstand made of solid gold, and a bowl at its top, and seven lamps upon it, and the seven tubes to its lamps; 3 and over it two olive trees, one on the right of the bowl and one on the left.” 4 And I asked the angel who was speaking to me, “What are these, my lord?” 5 And the angel speaking to me answered, “Do you not know what these are?” And I said, “No, my lord.” 6 And he answered and spoke to me, saying, “This is the word of the Lord to Zerubbabel, saying, ‘Not by mighty power nor by strength, but by My Spirit,’ says the Lord Almighty. 7 ‘Who are you, O great mountain, to set this right before the face of Zerubbabel? For I will bring forth the stone of the inheritance, its grace equaling My grace.’ ”

8 And the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 9 “The hands of Zerubbabel laid the foundation of this house, and his hands will complete it, and you will know the Lord Almighty has sent Me to you. 10 For who has scorned the day of small beginnings? They shall rejoice and shall see the plumb line in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seven are the eyes of the Lord, which look upon all the earth.”

11 And I answered and said to him, “What are these two olive trees at the right of the lampstand and at its left?” 12 And I inquired a second time and said to him, “What are the two branches of the olive trees in the handles of the two golden tubes that pour forth and bring oil to the golden channels?” 13 And he said to me, “Do you not know what these are?” And I said, “No, my lord.” 14 And he said, “These are the two sons of richness who stand beside the Lord of all the earth.”

The Flying Sickle

1 I turned and looked up, and behold a flying sickle. 2 And he said to me, “What do you see?” And I said, “I see a flying sickle, twenty cubits in length by ten cubits wide.” 3 And he said to me, “This is the curse going out over the face of the whole earth, for every thief on this side shall be punished with death, and everyone on that side who swears falsely shall be punished by death.” 4“And I will bring it forth,” says the Lord Almighty, “and it shall enter the house of the thief and the house of the one who swears falsely by My name. It shall settle in the midst of his house and destroy it, both its timber and its stones.”

5And the angel who was talking to me came out and said to me, “Look up and see this that is going forth.” 6And I said, “What is it?” And he said, “This is the measuring basket that goes forth.” And he said, “This is their wrongdoing in all the land.” 7And behold, a talent of lead was being lifted up, and behold one woman sat in the midst of the measuring basket. 8And he said, “This is lawlessness.” And he threw it into the midst of the measure, and he threw the lead weight into the mouth of it.

9Then I looked up to see, and behold two women going forth, and the wind was in their wings. They had wings like the wings of a stork, and they took up the measuring basket into the air between heaven and earth. 10And I asked the angel speaking to me, “For what reason do they carry this basket for measuring?” 11And he said to me, “To prepare and to build a place for it in the land of Babylon. They will place it there upon its own place.”

The Four Chariots

1I turned and looked up; I looked and beheld four chariots coming from between two mountains, and the mountains were mountains of bronze. 2With the first chariot were red horses, with the second chariot black horses, 3with the third chariot white horses, and with the fourth chariot piebald horses. 4And I replied to the angel speaking to me, “What are these, my lord?” 5And the angel who spoke with me answered and said, “These are the four winds of heaven, and they are going forth to stand before the Lord of all the earth. 6The black ones went out to the land of the north, and the white horses went out after them, and the piebald horses went to the land of the south. 7The dapple gray horses went out and looked to go around over all the earth.” And He said, “Go and travel over all the earth.” And they traveled over all the earth. 8And He called out and spoke to me, saying, “Behold, the ones going out to the land of the north have given rest to My anger in the land of the

9And the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 10“Take the things of the captivity from the rulers, from its useful men and from those having come to understand it, and on that day you shall enter into the house of Josiah, son of Zephaniah, who has come out of Babylon; 11take silver and gold and make crowns, and set them on the head of Joshua the son of Jehozadak, the high priest. 12And you will say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord Almighty: “Behold the man, Orient is His name, and He shall rise up from below the horizon, and He shall build the house of the Lord. 13And He shall receive power and shall sit and rule upon His throne, and a priest shall be by His right hand, and there will be peaceful counsel between both of them.’ ” 14And the crown shall be to those who endure patiently, to His useful men, and to those coming to understand it, and for the favor of the son of Zephaniah, and for a psalm in the house of the Lord. 15And those far away from them will come and will build in the house of the Lord. You shall know the Lord Almighty sent Me to you, and this will come to pass if you will listen diligently to the voice of the Lord your God.”

Zechariah 7

True Fasting

1And it came to pass, in the fourth year of Darius the king, the word of the Lord came to Zechariah on the fourth day of the ninth month, which is Chislev, 2when Sharezer and Regem-Melech and his men went to Bethel to propitiate the Lord, 3speaking to the priests in the house of the Lord Almighty and to the prophets, saying, “The holy offering has come in here in the fifth month—just as I have done for a considerable number of years.” 4And the word of the Lord of hosts came to me, saying, 5“Speak to all the people of the land and to the priests, saying, ‘Though you fasted or mourned in the fifth or seventh months, lo these seventy years, did you at all fast for Me? 6And if you do eat or drink, do you not eat and drink for yourselves? 7Are these not the words the Lord spoke by the hand of the former prophets when Jerusalem was inhabited and thriving, and the cities around her, and the hill country and the plains were inhabited?’ ”

8And the word of the Lord came to Zechariah, saying, 9“Thus says the Lord Almighty: ‘Render a just judgment; show mercy and compassion each to his brother. 10Do not oppress the widow, or the orphan, or the foreigner, or the poor. And let not one remember in his heart any wrong of his brother.’

11“But they refused to pay attention, and without reason turned their backs and stopped their ears so they should not hear. 12And they made their hearts disobedient so as not to heed My Law, nor to hear the words the Lord Almighty sent by His Spirit by the hand of the former prophets. And there came great wrath from the Lord Almighty. 13And it shall come to pass as He said, for they did not listen. So they will cry out, but by no means will I listen to their prayers,” says the Lord Almighty. 14“And I shall cast them out among all the nations which they did not know, and behind them the land shall become utterly worthless from traveling through or for coming back, for they made the chosen land a desolation.”

The Future Restoration of Israel

1And the word of the Lord Almighty came, saying, 2“Thus says the Lord Almighty: ‘I have been zealous for Jerusalem and for Zion, zealous for her with great zeal and fervor.’ 3Thus says the Lord: ‘I will return to Zion and will dwell in the midst of Jerusalem, and Jerusalem shall be called a True City, and the Mountain of the Lord Almighty the Holy Mountain.’

4“Thus says the Lord Almighty: ‘Elderly men and elderly women shall yet sit in the streets of Jerusalem, each one holding his cane in his hand for the multitude of their days. 5And the streets will be filled with boys and girls dancing in her streets.’ 6Thus says the Lord Almighty: ‘If it is impossible in the sight of the remnant of this people in those days, will it also be impossible in My sight?’ says the Lord Almighty. 7Thus says the Lord Almighty: ‘Behold, I shall deliver My people from the land of the east and from the land of the west. 8I shall bring them in and settle them in the midst of Jerusalem. They shall be to Me a people and I will be to them a God in truth and in righteousness.’

9“Thus says the Lord Almighty: ‘Let your hands be strong, you who hear in these days these words from the mouth of the prophets, from the day that the house of the Lord Almighty was founded, and from the time the temple was built. 10For before those days, men’s wages will not be profitable and a price for livestock will not even exist, and because of affliction there will be no peace for those going out and those coming in, and I will send forth all men, each against his neighbor. [11]But now I do not do to the remnant of this people as in the former days,' says the Lord Almighty. [12]'Rather I will show forth peace, for the vine shall give its fruit, the earth her produce, the heaven its dew, and I will give all these things as an inheritance to the remnant of this people. [13]And it shall come to pass that as you were a curse among the nations, O house of Judah and house of Israel, so I will save you, and you will be for a blessing; be of good courage and strengthen your hands.'

[14]"For thus says the Lord Almighty: 'As I purposed to afflict you when your fathers provoked Me to anger,' says the Lord Almighty, 'and I did not relent, [15]so now in these days I have prepared and purposed to do good to Jerusalem and to the house of Judah; be of good courage. [16]These are the things you shall do: speak the truth, each man to his neighbor, and judge with peaceful judgment in your gates, [17]and let none of you plan evil in his heart against his neighbor, and do not love a false oath, for all these things I hate,' says the Lord Almighty."

[18]And the word of the Lord Almighty came to me, saying, [19]"Thus says the Lord Almighty: 'The fourth-month fast, and the fifth-month fast, and the seventh-month fast, and the tenth-month fast shall be for joy and gladness and in good feasts to the house of Judah. And you will rejoice, and you will love truth and peace.' [20]Thus says the Lord Almighty: 'Yet many people will have come and those inhabiting many cities; [21]and the inhabitants of five cities will come together to one city, saying, "Let us go to beseech the Lord and to seek out the face of the Lord Almighty; and I will go also." [22]And many peoples and many nations will come to seek out the presence of the Lord Almighty in Jerusalem and to obtain the favor of the presence of the Lord.' [23]Thus says the Lord Almighty, 'In those days, if ten men from all the tongues of the nations stop you, even if they grab hold of the hem of a Jewish man, they will be saying, "We will go with you, for we heard God is with you." ' "

Zechariah 9

Judgment of Israel's Enemies

[1]The burden of the word of the Lord against the land of Hadrach, and of Damascus his sacrifice, for the Lord looks upon men and on all the tribes of Israel. [2]And on Hamath in her borders, Tyre and Sidon, because they are very wise. [3]For Tyre built a fortress for herself and stored up silver like dust and collected gold like mud in the streets. [4]Therefore, the Lord shall possess her as an inheritance, and shall strike against her power in the sea, and she shall be consumed by fire. [5]Ashkelon shall see it and fear; and Gaza, even she shall suffer greatly, and Ekron will be ashamed because of her transgression. The king will perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall no longer be inhabited.

[6]"And foreigners shall settle in Ashdod, and I will bring down the pride of the Philistines. [7]I will remove their blood from their mouth and their abominations from between their teeth, and this also will be left to our God. And they shall be as a captain of a thousand in Judah, and Ekron as a Jebusite. [8]And I will raise up a fortress around My house that none may pass through nor return back, and no longer shall anyone come against them to drive them out, for I have now seen with My own eyes.

The Coming King

[9]"Rejoice greatly, O daughter of Zion! Proclaim it aloud, O daughter of Jerusalem! Behold, your King comes to you; He is righteous and saving; He is gentle and mounted upon a donkey, even a young foal. [10]He will utterly destroy the chariots out of Ephraim and the horse out of Jerusalem. The bow of war shall be utterly destroyed, and there shall be abundance and peace among the nations. He shall rule over the waters as far as the sea and over the rivers to the ends of the earth.

[11]"And by the blood of your covenant, you freed your prisoners from the pit having no water. [12]You prisoners from the congregation, you shall live in the fortress, and for one day of your exile, I will repay to you double. [13]For I have bent you, O Judah, for Myself as a bow; I have filled Ephraim. And I will arouse your sons, O Zion, against the sons of the Greeks, and I will handle you as the sword of a warrior." [14]And the Lord will be over them, and He shall go forth like a lightning bolt. The Lord Almighty shall sound with the trumpet and shall go forth with the tumult of His threat. [15]The Lord Almighty will shield them, and they shall devour their enemy and overwhelm them with sling-stones. They will drink them down as wine, and they shall fill the bowls as at the altar. [16]And on that day, the Lord their God will deliver them, His people, as a flock, for sacred stones will roll across His land. [17]For if anything of His be good, and anything of His be fair, there shall be grain for the young men and the fragrant wine for the virgins.

Zechariah 10

The Ransomed People of God

[1]Ask for yourself rain from the Lord during the time of the early rain and the late rain. The Lord made a great display and will give winter rain to each crop in the field. [2]Therefore the ones speaking proclaimed troublesome things, and the seers false visions, and they told false dreams; they spoke vain words of comfort. They have been driven away like sheep, and they have lost heart because there was no healing.

[3]"My anger was kindled against the shepherds, and I will care for the lambs. The Lord God Almighty shall visit His flock, the house of Judah, and shall appoint them as His stately warhorse. [4]For from Himself He observed attentively, and from Himself He ordered—even from Himself a bow in anger; from Him shall go forth every oppressor. [5]And as warriors, they will be trampling as grapes the clay on the roads. They shall array themselves in battle array, for the Lord is with them, and the horsemen will be put to shame.

[6]"And I will strengthen the house of Judah and save the house of Joseph, and I will settle them, for I have loved them; and they shall be as though I had not turned away from them, because I am the Lord their God, and I will hear them. [7]And they shall be like the warriors of Ephraim, and their heart shall rejoice as with wine; and their children shall see it and be glad, and their heart shall rejoice in the Lord. [8]I will make a sign for them and gather them in, for I will redeem them, and they shall be multiplied according to their previous number.

[9]"And I will sow them among the peoples, and those far off will remember Me. They will rear their children, and they will return. [10]And I shall bring them back from the land of Egypt and gather them in from the Assyrians. I shall bring them into the land of Gilead and into Lebanon; not even one of them will be left behind. [11]They will pass through the narrow sea and will strike the waves of the sea, and all the full depths of the rivers shall be dried up. All the arrogance of the Assyrians shall be taken away, and the scepter of Egypt shall be stripped away. [12]And I will strengthen them in the Lord their God, and they shall boast in His name," says the Lord.

Zechariah 11

The Shepherds

[1]Open your doors, O Lebanon, and let the fire devour your cedars. [2]Let the pine wail, for the cedar has fallen; because the mighty men have been greatly afflicted. Wail, oak trees of the Basanite land, for the thickly wooded forest has fallen. [3]The sound of wailing is from the shepherds, for their greatness has been brought low; the sound of roaring lions, the arrogance of the Jordan has languished. [4]Thus says the Lord Almighty: “Tend the sheep of the slaughter like a shepherd, [5]the ones whose possessors have slaughtered and did not repent, and those selling them said, ‘Blessed be the Lord, for we have become rich and the shepherds themselves suffered nothing because of them.’ [6]Therefore I will no longer spare the inhabitants of the land,” says the Lord, “but behold, I will deliver men up, each one into the hand of his neighbor and into the hand of his king. They shall cut the land into pieces, and I will not deliver them from their hand.”

The Two Staffs

[7]But I shall tend the sheep of the slaughter in the land of Canaan, and I will take to myself two staffs: the one I called Beauty and the other one I called Line, and I shall tend the flock. [8]And I shall cut off three shepherds in one month, and my soul shall be weighed down by them, for their souls have roared against me. [9]And I said, “I will not tend to you; that which dies, let it die, and that which perishes, let it perish, and let the rest of them devour the flesh each of his neighbor.”

[10]And I shall take my staff Beauty, and I shall cast it away, to break my covenant which I made with all the people. [11]And in that day they will be scattered about. And the Canaanites shall know the flock is kept safe, for this is the word of the Lord. [12]And I shall say to them, “If it is fitting in your judgment, give me my payment, or refuse it.” And they established my wage at thirty pieces of silver. [13]And the Lord said to me, “Drop them into the smelting furnace and see if it is proven, as in the same manner I was proven for their sake.” And I took the thirty pieces of silver and threw them into the smelting furnace in the house of the Lord. [14]And I threw aside the second staff, the Line, to disband the possessions between Judah and Israel.

[15]And the Lord further said to me, “Take even for yourself the equipment of a shepherd, of an unskilled shepherd. [16]For behold! I raise up a shepherd against the land, one who will not care for the sheep who are abandoned, nor seek the scattered ones, nor heal the injured, nor even guide the healthy. But instead, he will devour the flesh of the choice ones, and he will tear them apart joint by joint. [17]Woe to you shepherding the flock carelessly, forsaking the flock! The sword shall be against his arms, and against his right eye; his right arm shall be completely withered, and his right eye shall become totally blind!”

Zechariah 12

The Coming Deliverance for Judah

[1]The burden of the word of the Lord to Israel: Thus says the Lord, who stretches out the heavens, who lays the foundation of the earth and forms the spirit of man within him: [2]“Behold, I make Jerusalem as a gate being shaken to all the peoples surrounding her; for in Judea there shall be a siege against Jerusalem.

[3]“And it shall come to pass in that day that I shall make Jerusalem a stone to be walked upon by all the nations. Everyone trampling her underfoot will utterly mock her, and all the nations of the earth shall come together against her. [4]In that day,” says the Lord Almighty, “I shall smite every horse with bewilderment, and I shall bring a state of total confusion against its rider. But I shall open My eyes upon the house of Judah, and I shall smite all the horses of the nations with blindness. [5]And the captains of thousands of Judah shall say in their hearts, ‘We shall find for ourselves those inhabiting Jerusalem with the Lord Almighty, their God.’ [6]In that day I will make the captains of thousands of Judah as a burning torch of fire among the trees and like a torch in dried straw. They shall consume all nations surrounding her, both on the right and on the left, and Jerusalem will again dwell by herself. [7]And the Lord shall preserve the dwelling places of Judah as at the beginning, that the boast of the house of David and the pride of the inhabitants of Jerusalem may not magnify themselves over Judah.

[8]“And in that day, it shall come to pass that the Lord shall defend the inhabitants of Jerusalem; and in that day, the one who is weak among them will be as the house of David, and the house of David as the house of God, as the Angel of the Lord before them. [9]It shall come to pass in that day that I shall seek to drive away all the nations that come against Jerusalem. [10]And I will pour the spirit of grace and compassion upon the house of David and those inhabiting Jerusalem, and they shall look upon Me whom they mocked, and they will mourn for Him as for a beloved one, and they shall grieve profoundly as for a firstborn son.

11"In that day, the lamentation in Jerusalem shall be very great, like the mourning for the pomegranate orchard being cut down in the plain. 12And the land itself shall mourn throughout the tribe, the tribe of the house of David by itself and their wives by themselves; the tribe of the house of Nathan by itself and their wives by themselves; 13the tribe of the house of Levi by itself and their wives by themselves; the tribe of Symeon by itself and their wives by themselves; 14and all the remaining tribes, every tribe by itself and their wives by themselves.

Zechariah 13

The End of False Prophets and Idols

1"In that day every place shall be opened to the house of David and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem. 2And it shall come to pass in that day," says the Lord of hosts, "that I will utterly destroy the names of the idols from the land, and their remembrance shall be no more. I will remove the false prophets and the unclean spirit from the land.

3"And it shall come to pass that if a man still prophesy, his father and his mother who begot him will say to him, 'You will not live, for you spoke falsehoods in the name of the Lord,' and his father and his mother who begot him will bind him when he prophesies. 4And it shall come to pass in that day that the prophets shall be put to shame, each by his vision when he prophesies, and they will put on a leather skin of hair because they spoke lies. 5And one will say, 'I am not a prophet, for I am a tiller of the soil; a man brought me up thus from my youth.' 6And I will say to him, 'What are these wounds in the middle of your hands?' And he will say, 'Those with which I was wounded in the house of my beloved.'

7"O sword, raise up against My shepherds, and against My fellow-man," says the Lord Almighty. "Smite the shepherds and draw out the sheep, and I shall bring My hand against the shepherds. 8And it will come to pass in all the land," says the Lord, "two of every three will be utterly destroyed and shall die, but the other third will be left in it. 9And I shall bring the remaining third through the fire, and I shall try them as silver is tried, and I will prove them as gold itself is proven. He will call upon My name, and I will hear him, and I will say, ‘This is My people,’ and they will say, ‘The Lord is my God.’ ”

Zechariah 14

The Day of the Lord

[1]Behold, the days of the Lord come, and your plunder will be divided among you. [2]And I shall gather together all the nations to war against Jerusalem. The city shall be taken, the houses plundered, the women defiled, and half of the city will go forth into exile, but the rest of My people shall not be utterly cut off from the city. [3]And the Lord will go forth and prepare for battle against those nations, as in the day of His battle array in the day of war. [4]And on that day His feet will stand on the Mount of Olives, which faces Jerusalem on the east. And the Mount of Olives shall be split in two, half towards the east and half towards the sea, a very great divide; and half the mountain shall lean toward the north and half of it toward the south. [5]And the valley of my mountains will be blocked up, and the ravine of the mountains will be joined as far as Azal. And it will be blocked up as he had blocked it up in the days of the earthquake, in the days of Uzziah the king of Judah, and the Lord my God shall come and all the saints with Him. [6]And in that day, it shall be that there will not be any light, but there shall be cold and frost [7]for one day, and that day shall be known to the Lord. It will be neither a day nor a night, but towards evening there will be light.

[8]And in that day living water shall come forth out of Jerusalem, half of it toward the eastern sea and half toward the western sea. So it will be in both summer and spring. [9]And the Lord shall be King of all the earth, and in that day the Lord shall be one Lord, and His name one name, [10]encircling all the land, even the wilderness from Geba to Rimmon south of Jerusalem. But Rama shall remain in her place; from Benjamin’s Gate to the place of the First Gate; to the Gate of the Corners, and to the Tower of Hananeel, as far as the king’s winepresses, [11]they will dwell in her, and it will no longer be a curse. Jerusalem shall dwell securely.

[12]And this will be the downfall with which the Lord will strike all the nations, as many as made war against Jerusalem. Their flesh will be eaten away as they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall pour out of their sockets, and their tongue shall melt away in their mouth. [13]In that day there shall be a state of great bewilderment upon them from the Lord. Each of them will seize the hand of his neighbor, and his hand will become locked with the person near to him. 14And Judah shall draw up for battle in Jerusalem, and He will gather together the strength of all the surrounding peoples: the gold, the silver, and the apparel in great abundance. 15And this will be the overthrow of the horses and the mules, the camels and the donkeys, and all the cattle that are in those camps throughout this downfall.

16And it shall come to pass that whoever may be left of all the nations that came against Jerusalem, they too will go up every year to worship the King, the Lord Almighty, and celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles. 17And it shall be that whoever from all the tribes of the land will not go up to Jerusalem to worship the King, the Lord Almighty, even these will be added to the others. 18And if the nation of Egypt shall not go up nor attend, upon these will come the downfall which the Lord will strike on all the nations, as many as do not come up to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles. 19This will be the sin of Egypt and the sin of all the nations, as many as do not come up to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles.

20In that day, there will be engraved in the bridle of every horse, “Holy to the Lord Almighty,” and the kettles in the house of the Lord will be like bowls before the altar. 21And every kind of kettle in Jerusalem and Judah will be holy to the Lord Almighty; and all who sacrifice will come and take from them and shall cook in them. And in that day the Canaanite shall no longer be in the house of the Lord Almighty.

Annotations for Zechariah

1:1 Zechariah records an exact date when his visions began. The eighth month is a reference to the Hebrew calendar, while the second year of Darius is a Persian rendering of time. Zechariah is the son of Berechiah and grandson of Addo the prophet. The identity of the prophet and the time of the prophecy are not merely historical references; they are eternally significant because the revelation of God came to Zechariah at this time.

The word of the Lord is an action of God in His graceful self-disclosure. The word of the Lord comes to Zechariah veiled, but when the Messiah comes in Bethlehem of Judea five centuries later, He comes in the flesh. Indeed, the language of the LXX here parallels the language used by John to describe the Incarnation (see Jn 1:1–18). The Word who comes to Zechariah is truly the eternal Son of God, the Word of God, the Second Person of the Holy Trinity who becomes flesh as Jesus Christ.

1:2 Zechariah informs the people of God's wrath against them. In the Bible, God is a God of wrath as well as of love. Indeed, the wrath and love of God are not contradictions within Him but are manifestations of His One Being. A God who was not angered over the sins of His creatures would be a God who did not care.

The issue of impassibility is also raised here. For the Church Fathers, God is impassible. This means that the nature of God does not change. God is not controlled by passions, desires, emotions that change unpredictably and radically as in man. God is consistent, pure, and simple. Impassibility, however, does not mean that God does not care. His wrath shows that He cares deeply. God loves His creation perfectly. His love and wrath are not changing, inconsistent, impure, or unreliable. God is not like man. His wrath and love are not like human wrath and love.

1:3 The dichotomy between the Old and New Testaments held by the arch-heretic Marcion and by many modern heretics as well is shown to be wrong since the God of the Old and New Testaments is the Holy Trinity. In the Old Testament, God has wrath and love just as He does in the New Testament. Zechariah delivers the same message of repentance later preached by Christ Himself. Repentance is necessary for salvation. There is no right relationship with God without turning from sin to God.

1:4 Zechariah warns the people not to become like your fathers. The prophets warned the former generation, calling them to turn away from their evil ways. Sadly, God notes, they did not listen. There is continuity between the message of the previous prophets and the message of Zechariah. This message is the same precisely because it is from the lips of God. The message of the prophets is fulfilled by Jesus Christ (Mt 5:17).

1:5 Zechariah asks a question that plagues humanity: Where are your fathers and the prophets? He reminds them of their own mortality by reminding them of the death of their fathers and the prophets. The prophets and their fathers are dead and buried in Mesopotamia because they did not repent. Zechariah is also presenting a contrast between men, who are transient and mortal, and God, who is immortal and transcendent. The previous generation is dead and gone, but God lives and remains the same. As Paul exclaims, "Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever" (Heb 13:8).

1:6 God commands His people to receive My words and My ordinances. God does not force His way upon mankind. He honors free will. He wants human obedience, fidelity, and fellowship. He calls people to repentance, but He never circumvents human free will.

1:7 The first vision occurs between mid-January and mid-February, 520 BC, three or four months after Zechariah delivers the initial call to repentance.

1:7—6:17 Zechariah unveils eight visions promising the restoration of the temple. All eight visions follow a pattern: (1) vision, (2) questions, and (3) answer. Eight is the number of re-creation in Holy Scripture. Jewish males were circumcised on the eighth day. Thus, the eight visions indicate a renewal of the covenant with the people of God.

1:8–10 Zechariah sees the vision, then asks the angel talking to him for an interpretation. Even the prophet must have guidance to understand the Word of God. The meaning of God's self-disclosure is not self-evident. This is why the Church, and not any mere individual, is the interpreter of Holy Writ.

1:11 The horsemen are angelic hosts, that is, angels in the armies of heaven. These particular angels are scouts. They have traveled around the world and found everything peaceful.

1:12, 13 The Angel of the Lord intercedes for the exiled Jews, pleading for mercy toward Jerusalem and Judah. The Angel of the Lord in the Old Testament is often a type of Christ, sometimes referred to as "Christ in the Old Testament." In this case, we have a type of the first and second Persons of the Godhead. The eternally begotten Son intercedes for the people of God before the eternal Father. Zechariah thus foreshadows the High Priesthood of Christ.

The Jews have been in exile seventy years (586–519 BC). The Lord replies with kind and comforting words, a comfort to the people, no doubt.

The holy angels serve before God, minister to men, and also intercede for men. The Church teaches the faithful to pray to the angels to intercede on behalf of mankind and the people of God. This is one instance in Holy Scripture of the dialogue of prayer occurring between a holy man and the angels.

1:14, 15 Zechariah is enjoined to cry out the good sayings and comforting words of God to the people. God is jealous for both Jerusalem and Zion with great jealousy. This is a Semitic construction meaning that God is really jealous. The Greek word rendered "jealous" is the origin of the English word "zeal." It means "jealous," but also means "to strive after," "eagerness," and "admiration." "For I, the Lord your God, am a jealous God" (Ex 20:5) is the explanation for God's commandment against idolatry. It may sound strange to modern ears to hear God speak of His holy jealousy, yet what husband would not be jealous in a positive sense for his wife? One would question a husband's love for his wife if he did not care whom she had conjugal relations with, spent time with, gave money to, or heaped devotion upon. Love does not preclude a zeal for the beloved or a protective, positive, proper jealousy. God is jealous for His people against all falsehood that destroys His creation.

The source of God's jealousy here is the foul way the enemies of the Jews treated them in the exile. God was angry with His people and directed these nations against Judah as divine punishment. These enemies, however, went farther than God intended. God uses evil for good and evil men for good purposes, but this does not excuse the evil or ascribe divine authorship to it. The wrath of God against His people does not justify the violence and wickedness of those who are instruments of it.

2:1–4 The vision of the four horns and four craftsmen is a message of hope and comfort for the people of God. Horns symbolize power in the Old Testament. The four horns are the hostile armies that carried first Israel, then Jerusalem and Judah into exile.

2:5–17 The vision of the measuring line pushes the promise of 2:1–4 further. The destructive work of the four horns now being completed, the way is clear for the heavenly surveyors to survey Jerusalem for rebuilding.

2:10 God calls the exiled back to the land of promise in a second exodus, promising to bring back His people from across the globe.

2:17 Let all flesh fear before the presence of the Lord: This phrase calls to mind the cherubic hymn of the ancient Liturgy of St. James (sometimes sung as a carol in Western Christmas celebrations): "Let all mortal flesh be silent, and stand with fear and trembling, and meditate nothing earthly within itself: For the King of kings and Lord of lords, Christ our God, comes forward to be sacrificed and to be given for food to the faithful; and the bands of angels go before Him with every power and dominion, the many-eyed cherubim and the six-winged seraphim, covering their faces and crying aloud the hymn, Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia." This is the proper approach to the presence of God in our lives, in the liturgy, and most especially during Communion. The prophet speaks of the divine humility and self-emptying of Christ for us. We are likewise called to humble and empty ourselves in His presence for Him.

3:1 The Hebrew name Joshua (Greek Jesus; Aramaic Yeshua) means "Savior" or "He who saves." It is a common name in the Old Testament (Joshua son of Nun, Jesus son of Sirach, Joshua the high priest here, among others) and at the time of Christ. Many cultures around the world today name children Jesus.

The scene opens with the high priest Joshua standing in the presence of God being opposed by the devil. Satan is the accuser who opposes the people of God (see Job 1; 2).

3:2 St. Michael the Archangel would not dispute with the devil over the body of Moses, but said, "The Lord rebuke you" (Jude 9). Even more astoundingly, Jesus Christ (the Lord) says, "The Lord rebukes you." This is fulfilled in the temptation of Christ, when He relies upon the written word of Holy Scripture rather than His own power as Son of God to rebuke Satan and resist temptation (Mt 4:1–11; Mk 1:12, 13; Lk 4:1–13).

3:3–5 Joshua the high priest wears the filthy garments of the Jews of his time, while Jesus Christ the Great High Priest wore them in the Incarnation for all people. Jesus our Lord took the flesh of a servant, wore our filthy rags, bore our sins, and was accused on our behalf before God and by man unjustly.

3:10 This promise is for peace, safety, luxury, blessing, and paradise.

3:1–10 The LXX makes the Christological typography of the fourth vision crystal clear. Paul calls Jesus the High Priest who supersedes the high priest in the Jerusalem temple (Heb 3:1, 2; 7:21). The high priest in the Old Testament is also a type of Christ, as is the case here. This includes the Jewish high priest contemporary with Christ and the apostles (Heb 9).

4:1, 2 Awakened from a dream by an angel, Zechariah asks him to explain its meaning. Zechariah sees a golden lampstand, a seven-branched candlestick called a menorah. The menorah is a symbol for Israel. It appeared in Solomon's temple and appears still in the Jewish synagogue. St. John the Theologian saw Christ in the midst of seven lampstands (Rev 1:12–20), which are seven churches.

4:3–5 Zechariah also saw two olive trees. He does not know what they mean. The two olive trees may be either Israel and the Church (the old and new Israel) or the Old and New Testaments.

4:6 The word of the Lord declares to Zerubbabel through Zechariah, 'Not by mighty power nor by strength, but by My Spirit,' says the Lord Almighty. The power of God, not human power, will rebuild the Jerusalem temple (see Ps 126:1). The divine and human synergy is thus affirmed here. Human labor is necessary, for God will not make the temple appear magically. Even so, the human efforts of the attempt to rebuild the temple thirteen years previously failed because the people did not depend on the Holy Spirit. Human efforts alone achieve nothing in the Kingdom of God. Human efforts under the power of God the Holy Spirit yield everything God wills.

4:11–14 Zechariah asks twice more about the olive trees. He is finally told, "These are the two sons of richness who stand beside the Lord of all the earth." They represent the two powers or functions held by the two men, Zerubbabel (political leadership) and Joshua the high priest (sacerdotal leadership).

5:1, 2 The sickle is "scroll" in Hebrew. Both are indicative of judgment. The sickle is huge, of roughly the same dimensions as the tabernacle in the wilderness (see Ex 26:15–28) or the porch of Solomon's temple (see 3Kg 6:6, 7).

5:3, 4 The seventh and third commandments are given here as representative of the first and second tablets of the Law (see Ex 20:1–17). The first tablet of the Law addresses the relationship between God and man; the second tablet speaks of the relationship between man and man. Covenant-breakers are excluded from the covenant. Israel is forewarned not to forsake the covenant with God again. The same judgment that led to the exile seventy years previously awaits them should they fail to be faithful.

5:5–11 This is a vision of a measuring basket or ephah (a measuring bucket for grain) going forth with a woman named lawlessness in it. The angel puts a lead weight in the mouth of the basket to keep her in it. Two angelic women whisk the measure off to Babylon, where it is placed on a prepared foundation. This passage assures the people of God that paganism will be destroyed. Good will overcome evil.

5:7–9 The activity of the Holy Spirit is often accompanied by activities of the wind or breath throughout the Bible.

6:1–15 The concluding vision of four chariots brings to mind the first vision (1:7–17). The four horsemen in the first vision were angelic warriors, since chariots were used by such soldiers in the ancient world.

6:2–8 The heavenly chariots span the four directions of the compass. Peace, rest, and security are given to the Lord's land. This reminds us of God's providential care of us through the activities of the angels.

6:9–15 Zechariah is commanded by the word of the Lord to collect gifts from the rulers and useful men of captivity into the house of Josiah and place these gifts of gold, silver, and crowns at the feet of Joshua the high priest. The promise is made that the crown goes to the one who endured. Others then shall come to rebuild the temple. In the New Testament, crowns are cast at the feet of Jesus Christ the Great High Priest (Rev 4:10). St. Paul promises crowns to believers who endure (1Co 9:24–27).

6:12 The word is variously rendered “Dayspring,” “Sunrise,” and “Orient.” The Hebrew reads “Branch.” This verse provides the backdrop for the hymn sung during the wedding service as the bride and groom circle the analogion and at the ordination of a priest as he is led around the altar: The Lord’s redemptive work takes place in the family and in the Church.

7:1 This date would be mid-November to mid-December, 518 BC.

7:2, 3 The authorities ask whether to continue the fasts associated with the fall of Judah and the Babylonian Captivity. The fourth-month fast commemorated the fall of Jerusalem. The seventh-month fast commemorated the murder of Gedaliah. The tenth-month fast commemorated the siege of Jerusalem. The fifth-month fast remembered the burning of the temple.

7:4–7 As He often does in the Scriptures, God replies with a series of rhetorical questions designed to arouse the contemplation of one’s inward disposition. During these fasts over the past seventy years of exile, the outward disposition was maintained but the hearts of the people were not devoted to God.

7:8–12 The people failed to live justly in relation to their neighbors. They were disobedient to God’s Law and Spirit given in Moses and the prophets. This brought great wrath from God. The result was the exile.

Nowhere is fasting condemned here. In fact, fasting continued as part of Israel’s practice. Jesus Christ fasted. The apostles and early Church did, too. Fasting is an integral practice of the Church through the ages. The prophet is not saying, “Your heart is not in it, so stop the fast.” Instead, he calls for repentance so that the heart and life are cleansed by proper fasting. Proper fasting involves the heart in right relationship to God and man. The prophet calls for his hearers to fast rightly, not to stop fasting because they are living wrongly.

7:13, 14 These verses spell out the cost of refusing to listen to God: God will not listen to them in their time of need.

7:1–14 Chapters 7 and 8 are a unit representing a single prophecy. The question about fasting raised in 7:1–14 is addressed again in 8:19, showing the literary unity of the two chapters.

8:1–23 Chapter 8 contains ten sections, each beginning with Thus says the Lord Almighty.

8:1–3 God’s zeal is a protective love that does not wish to see His people degraded and harmed. God’s zeal here is for Jerusalem and the temple mount specifically. God will return to Zion, to the temple, to dwell between the cherubim on the mercy seat of the ark of the covenant in the holy of holies. Jerusalem will once again be what she was intended to be, the True City, the Mountain of the Lord Almighty, the Holy Mountain.

8:4, 5 The picture of security includes elderly men and women sitting in the open squares of Jerusalem while children are playing (see Is 65:19, 20).

8:6–8 God will bring the exiles back. They shall be to Me a people and I will be to them a God in truth and in righteousness: This is a type of Christ in the Incarnation, in which God tabernacles with man (Jn 1:14), and of the New Jerusalem in the Eschaton (Rev 21:3).

8:9, 10 Zechariah exhorts the people to find strength to rebuild the temple. Jerusalem shall not have economic and political peace until that is accomplished. When man puts his own interests above the spiritual, moral, and liturgical things of God, prosperity is fleeting.

8:11–15 The exile curse is lifted. The postexilic blessing is on the way. Thus, the prophet exhorts, be of good courage!

8:16, 17 God demands that His people speak the truth, judge with truth, and avoid false oaths (Mic 6:8). Truth is essential for the people of God in every aspect of life: religious, personal, social, judicial, and political.

8:19–23 The matter of fasting which began this lengthy section (7:1–8:23) is addressed again. Fasting becomes joy, gladness, and feasting. Jerusalem will become a place for universal worship of God among all peoples (Is 2:3). Restored Judah has a mission to be light to the nations. This mission is fulfilled in Christ and now belongs to the Church.

8:23 The hem of the Jewish man’s garment refers to the prayer shawls worn by Jewish men, which had tassels representing all the commandments of the Law. The Hebrew text has “wings” instead of “hem.” The Orthodox deacon’s stole represents angelic wings. When the deacon holds the right half of the stole up, this represents angelic activity. When he lets it down, it represents angelic rest.

9:1—14:21 The second half of the Book of Zechariah consists of two burdens or oracles. Both burdens are related to the Messianic Age. The first burden (9:1–11:17) focuses on the Passion of Christ, while the second burden (12:1–14:21) focuses on the Second Coming of Christ.

9:1–8 The cities mentioned here are pagan cities of Syria and Philistia falling within the limits of the promised land (Gn 15:18–21; Ex 23:31). This prophecy may point to Alexander's conquests after 333 BC. The destruction of Judah's enemies precedes the Messianic Age. The restoration, Messianic Age, and coming day of the Lord are the themes of chs. 9–14.

9:9, 10 The Triumphant Entry of Christ into Jerusalem is foretold here (see Mt 21:1–9; Mk 11:1–10; Lk 19:28–38; Jn 12:12–19). Matthew and John cite v. 9 (Mt 21:5; Jn 12:15). Rather than riding proudly on a warrior's chariot in victory, the Messiah-king rides humbly on a donkey, notes St. Ambrose. Justin Martyr comments, "Jacob predicted that Christ would ride upon an ass [Gn 49:11] and Zechariah confirmed it." He views the unharnessed colt as signifying the Gentiles and the harnessed donkey as symbolizing the Jews.

9:11 The fathers typically see this verse as a reference to Christ's descent into Hades to set the captives free.

10:1–3 Zechariah condemns the spiritual leaders (shepherds) who fleece the flock of God by false visions and false dreams using Semitic idols. God will punish them as well as deliver Judah.

11:1–17 The Good Shepherd (see Jn 10) is contrasted with the bad shepherds of 10:1–12. He replaces the bad shepherds Himself.

🕮 11:10–13 This passage is read on Holy Friday, the Friday before Pascha (Easter).

11:12–14 The Good Shepherd is betrayed. Matthew cites this passage in his Gospel (26:15; 27:9). The pieces (or shekels) of silver are the price for a slave (Ex 21:32).

12:10–14 This mourning may also apply to the apostles, the women, the Mother of God, and others who mourned Christ at His crucifixion. It may also refer to repentance as a result of beholding the Crucified, seeing who He is and why He is dying and turning to Him in faith and obedience.

13:7 Smite the shepherds and draw out the sheep is "Strike the shepherd and the sheep will be scattered" in the Hebrew text. Jesus cites this verse in Mt 26:31 concerning the falling away of the disciples upon His arrest. As it appears in the LXX, the passage matches vv. 1–8, continuing the warning against the false prophets and the promise of the people's delivery.

13:8, 9 The people of God are tried. Two thirds of the people shall die but the third part will remain. This trial is compared to the way silver and gold are purified by fire. In the end, God calls those who are purified by His Name, and in turn they call Him their God.

14:1–21 The prophet foresees the nations gathered in battle against Jerusalem, God's delivery of His people, and the establishment of a secure, peaceful land (see Is 66:15–23; Ezk 38–40; Joel 4:9–21; Mk 13:7–27; Rev 20–22). In the New Testament, this is to be accomplished at the Second Coming of Christ and the last battle between God and Satan.

🕮 14:1, 4; 8–11 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Ascension of the Lord.

14:3, 4 The Lord's feet will stand on the Mount of Olives in this reference to the Messianic Age. This applies both to the Incarnation and the Second Coming of Christ. Jesus and the disciples stayed on the Mount of Olives during Holy Week (Lk 21:37), and, of course, Jesus spent the night on the Mount of Olives when He was betrayed (Mt 26:30). Whether or not Christ will touch down upon the Mount of Olives at His Second Coming is another question. The eschatological imagery here, however, indicates judgment in the presence of God.

14:8–11 Christ is the living water (Jn 4:10–14). In the Apocalypse, a river runs through the Holy City (Rev 22:1–5). The Garden of Eden was at the headwaters of four great rivers (Gn 2:10–15). In the garden of Paradise, Christ is the living water who sustains, refreshes, and gives life to the inhabitants.

14:18–20 The grotesque imagery of the destruction of the enemies of Jerusalem reminds the reader of the utter seriousness of God's judgment. The passage warns that those who do not come up to Jerusalem to worship the King (who is the Lord) are destined for the same fate. Sometimes we look at the judgment of God upon wicked figures and think ourselves safe from wrath because our evil is small by comparison. The fact that we are not murderers of millions does not make us safe. The standard of God's judgment is whether we worship Him in Spirit and in truth (Jn 4:21–24).

Zechariah concludes with a condemnation of Egypt and all nations that do not come to Jerusalem to celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles (also called the Feast of Booths; see Lv 23:33–36). This feast was associated with covenant renewal and the deliverance of Israel. Christ is the eternal Word of God who, in the Incarnation, "dwelt [or tabernacled] among us" (Jn 1:14). So then, all who reject Christ and do not enter the Church to celebrate and serve Him are condemned.

14:21 The Canaanite is a merchant. The connotation appears to be that merchants will no longer be necessary or allowed in the Lord's house. The cleansing of the temple by Christ comes to mind in this regard (see Mt 21:12, 13; Mk 11:15–19; Lk 19:45–48; Jn 2:13–17). One is also reminded how easily God's house is turned into a bartering place and how churches can be used for profits rather than prophecy. The booming industry of Christian items today is alarming. It has always been easy to confuse piety and profits in relation to the Lord's house. The day is coming in the Kingdom of God when this shall be neither permitted nor necessary. Indeed, the coming age is one when God Himself shall supply every need of His children. Buying and selling will no longer be necessary.

The Book of Malachi

Author

Malachi, whose name means “angel” or “messenger.” Whatever he prophesied, that very day an angel of God appeared and repeated his message. Malachi spoke with his angel face-to-face as to a friend. Malachi was born in Sopha (Supha), of the tribe of Levi, after the return of the captives from Babylon. He prophesied after the consecration of the temple in Jerusalem, 515 BC. He is commemorated on January 3.

Date

500–350 BC, based on the contents of the book.

Major Theme

Turn from sin, for the day of the Lord is coming. Malachi considers the temple, the priesthood, and true worship as the spiritual foundation not only for the people of his day, but also for the messianic kingdom to come. Even in the midst of a multitude of sins and evildoings, Malachi looked ahead with hope to see a new day dawning when Elijah (that is, John the Baptist) would be sent and the darkness would disappear with the coming of the Christ.

Background

After the reconstruction of the temple, the Israelites began grumbling against God, neglecting true worship. In spite of the many times God had delivered them, the people were ungrateful and forgot their history, saying, “And how has God shown His love?” (1:2). The priesthood neglected their sacred duties, no longer teaching the Law, accepting inferior sacrifices (1:7, 8) from men who oppressed the widows and orphans, and abandoning their lawful wives and children (2:14–16). Empty ritualism, hypocrisy, irreverence, apostasy, sorcery, and idolatrous practices were common (3:5). Because of the sins of the priests and the people, droughts, disease, and misfortunes were commonplace. The Book of Malachi addresses these issues.

Malachi 1

The Lord's Love for Israel

1 The burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the hand of His messenger Malachi. Take it to heart!
2 "I have loved you," says the Lord. "But you say, 'In what way have You loved us?' Was not Esau the brother of Jacob?" says the Lord. "Yet Jacob I have loved, 3 but Esau I have hated, and I have appointed his borders for destruction and made his heritage as dwellings of the wilderness." 4 Because one will say, "Edom has been destroyed, but let us return and rebuild the desolate places," thus says the Lord, Ruler of all: "They may build, but I will throw down. They shall be called the Territory of Wickedness, and the people against whom the Lord has placed Himself forever. 5 Your eyes will see, and you will say, 'The Lord is magnified beyond the borders of Israel.'

Defiled Offerings

6 "A son honors his father, and a servant his master. If then, I am the Father, where is My honor? And if I am a Master, where is the reverence due to me?" says the Lord Almighty. "You priests are the ones who disparage My name, yet you say, 'In what way have we disparaged Your name?' 7 You offer defiled bread on My altar, but you say, 'How have we defiled You?' By saying, 'The table of the Lord is contemptible and the food placed upon it is contemptible.' 8 And when you offer the blind as a sacrifice, is that not evil?
And when you offer the lame and sick, is that not evil? Offer it then to your ruler! See if he will accept it, if he will accept it favorably," says the Lord Almighty.
9 "But now earnestly entreat the face of your God and pray to Him. These things have been done by your hands; shall I accept these from you?" says the Lord Almighty. 10 "For this reason, even among you the doors will be shut, and you will not burn an offering on My altar. I have no pleasure in you," says the Lord Almighty, "nor will I accept an offering from your hands.
11 For from the rising of the sun even to its going down, My name has been glorified among the Gentiles; and in every place incense shall be offered to My name, and a pure offering, for My name shall be great among the Gentiles," says the Lord Almighty. 12 "But you profane it in that you say,

‘The table of the Lord is defiled; and the food placed upon it is contemptible.’
13And you said, ‘Oh, what a weariness!’ And I have blown these away,” says the Lord Almighty. “And you bring prey, the lame, and the sick, and when you bring an offering, should I accept these from your hands?” says the Lord Almighty. 14“But cursed be the man who is able, who has in his flock a male, and takes a vow but sacrifices to the Lord what is blemished—for I am a great King,” says the Lord Almighty, “and My name is glorious among the nations.

Contemptible Priests

1“And now, O priests, this commandment is for you. 2If you will not hear, and if you will not take it to heart, to give glory to My name,” says the Lord Almighty, “I will send a curse upon you, and I will curse your blessing; indeed I will curse it, and I will scatter your blessing, and you will have it no more because you do not take this to heart. 3Behold, I am turning my back on you, and I will smear dung on your faces, the dung of your feasts, and I will carry you away at the same time. 4Then you will know that I have sent this commandment to you, that My covenant is with the sons of Levi,” says the Lord Almighty.

5“My covenant of life and peace was with him, and I gave this to him that he might reverently fear Me, that he might be established before My name.
6The law of truth was in his mouth, and injustice was not found on his lips.
He walked with Me in peace and equity, and turned many away from lawlessness. 7For the lips of a priest should keep knowledge, and people should seek the law from his mouth, for he is the messenger of the Lord Almighty.

8“But you have departed from the way; you weakened many in the law and corrupted the covenant of Levi,” says the Lord Almighty. 9“Therefore I also made you contemptible and disregarded before all nations, because you have not guarded My ways but have shown partiality in the law.”

10Did not one God create you? Do you not all have one father? Why, then, does each of you forsake his brother to profane the covenant of your fathers?
11Judah was forsaken, and an abomination has occurred in Israel and in Jerusalem, for Judah profaned the holy things of the Lord, which He loved, and sought out foreign gods. 12The Lord will destroy the man who does these things until he is humiliated from the tents of Jacob and from among those who offer sacrifice to the Lord Almighty.

The Tragedy of Divorce

13And you do these things which I hate. You cover the altar of the Lord with tears, with weeping and moaning because of troubles, yet still thinking it is worthy to look upon your sacrifice or take it as acceptable from your hands. 14And you say, “Why?” Because the Lord has been witness between you and the wife of your youth, whom you have forsaken; yet she is your companion and the wife of your covenant. 15But did He not make another, having a remnant of His Spirit? Yet you ask, “What else does God seek but offspring?” But take heed to your spirit, and do not forsake the wife of your youth. 16“But if you hate her and send her away,” says the Lord God of Israel, “ungodliness will obscure your thinking,” says the Lord Almighty. “So take heed to your spirit, that you do not forsake her.” 17You weary the Lord with your words, yet you say, “In what way have we wearied Him?” In that you say, “Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of the Lord, and He delights in them,” or, “Where is the God of justice?”

Malachi 3

Messenger of the Covenant

1“Behold, I send My messenger, and he will prepare the way before Me. And the Lord, whom you seek, will suddenly come into His temple, even the Messenger of the covenant, whom you desire. Behold, He is coming,” says the Lord Almighty. 2“But who can endure the day of His coming? And who can withstand His appearance? For He enters like a refiner’s fire and as soap in one’s wash. 3He will sit as a refiner and a purifier of silver and gold. He will purify the sons of Levi and pour them out as purified gold and silver, and they will bring an offering to the Lord in righteousness. 4Then the offering of Judah and Jerusalem will be pleasing to the Lord, as in the days of old, as in former years.

5“And I will draw near to you in judgment, a swift witness against sorcerers, adulterers, those who swear falsely by My name, those who exploit wage-earners, those who oppress widows and afflict orphans, those who pervert the justice due foreigners, and those who do not fear Me," says the Lord Almighty. [6]"For I am the Lord your God; I have not changed. But you, O sons of Jacob, have not abstained [7]from the sins of your fathers. You have turned away from My ordinances and have not kept them.

Tithing Brings God's Blessing

"Return to Me and I will return to you," says the Lord Almighty. "But you say, 'In what way shall we return?' [8]Will a man insult God? Yet you have insulted Me! But you say, 'In what way have we insulted You?' You kept back your tithes and offerings. [9]You most certainly turned your back on Me, you and the whole nation, and you insulted Me. [10]You brought all the produce into the storehouses—but it will be plundered in its house. Return now in this," says the Lord Almighty, "and see if I will not open for you the floodgates of heaven and pour out for you a blessing until it is overflowing. [11]And I shall send it to you for food and I will not destroy the fruit of your ground, nor will the vine in the field fail to bear fruit," says the Lord Almighty. [12]"And all nations will call you blessed, for you will be a delightful land," says the Lord Almighty.

[13]"You spoke harsh words against Me," says the Lord, "yet you say, 'What have we spoken against You?' [14]You have said, 'One who serves God is foolish; what profit have we from keeping His ordinances, and why do we go as suppliants before the face of the Lord Almighty? [15]And now we call foreigners blessed, and those doing lawless deeds are raised up—they even oppose God and go free.'"

[16]Then those who feared the Lord spoke these things each to his neighbor, and the Lord listened and heard them, and He wrote a book of remembrance before His face for those who feared the Lord and reverenced His name. [17]"They shall be mine," says the Lord Almighty, "in the day that I make them My possession, and I will choose them as a man chooses his own son who serves him. [18]Then you shall return, and you will discern between the righteous and the wicked, between one who serves God and one who does not serve Him.

The Day of the Lord

[19]"For behold, the day of the Lord is coming, burning like an oven. And it will burn them up, and it shall be that all foreigners and all who do wickedly will be stubble; and the day that is coming shall burn them up," says the Lord

Almighty, “and neither root nor branch will be left of them. [20]But to you who fear My name the Sun of Righteousness shall arise with healing in His wings, and you shall go forth leaping as little calves released from their bonds. [21]You shall trample the wicked, for they shall be ashes under your feet on the day I do this,” says the Lord Almighty. [22]“Behold, I will send you Elijah before the coming of the great and glorious day of the Lord. [23]And he will turn the heart of the father to his son, and a man’s heart to his neighbor, lest I come and strike the earth completely. [24]Be in remembrance of the Law of Moses My servant as I commanded him, with its statutes and judgments, at Horeb for all Israel.”

Annotations for Malachi

1:1 Malachi means "my messenger." A burden or oracle is a prophetic poetic message in the form of a question and answer dialog between God and the people. Malachi is a long oracle rebuking the hypocrisy of the people of God. Take it to heart is good advice for reading any of the prophets.

1:2–4 In what way have You loved us? God declares His love for His people, but they reply coldly. God reminds them of the covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Jacob I have loved, but Esau I have hated is a Semitic way of emphasizing God's choice of Jacob, not of indicating hatred for the unchosen (see Gn 25:23; Lk 14:26; Rom 9:10–13).

1:7, 8 The priests offered defiled bread, as well as blind, lame, and sick animals, as sacrifices contrary to Mosaic directives. Malachi observes that they do not treat their civil ruler with such contempt.

1:9, 10 The Lord calls the people to make atonement and to pray. He will not, however, accept an offering favorably while the priests and people continue their liturgical misdeeds. When liturgical actions are void of repentance and faithfulness, the clergy and people simply go through the motions.

1:11 A remarkable and clear prophecy that the Gentiles, in their worship of God, in every place or church will burn incense before Him—as Israel had done. To this day, incense is offered in nearly every service of the Orthodox Church.

1:12–14 In Malachi's day people complained that worship brings on weariness. Today, people complain that worship is "boring." Worship was not designed by God as entertainment, but for His people to have communion with Him.

2:3 The word here is dung (Gr. anaustrov). The Hebrew text also reads "dung." The offal of offerings was removed from the sanctuary and burned (see Ex 29:14; Lv 4:11, 12). God detests false offerings so intensely that He threatens to rub dung on the faces of the priests and take them out to the dung heap as refuse. This passage was so disturbing that later Targums translated it, "I will make visible on your faces the shame of your crimes." In this instance, Malachi delivers an angelic message with an earthy tongue, demonstrating the severity of the priestly misdeeds.

2:4–6 Malachi reminds the priests of the Levitic covenant and what they are meant to be and do (see Nm 25:12, 13; Dt 10:8, 9).

2:7 A stunning job description of the priest serving Christ today.

2:10 Christians call God Father because Jesus Christ, the eternally begotten Son of God, revealed Him as Father (Mt 3:17; 6:9), and He has made us the children of God (Jn 1:12).

2:10–12 Sons of Israel profaned the holy things of the Lord. Too often they followed foreign gods through intermarriage with pagan women, which was prohibited (see Ex 34:11–16; Dt 7:1–4). St. Paul echoes this truth in saying, "Do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers" (2Co 6:14).

2:13–16 In this passage, God says I hate two things: hypocrisy (v. 13) and divorce (vv. 14–16). Regarding divorce, the husband is held accountable, for he has forsaken his wife. We learn that (1) marriage brings companionship—an intimate relationship and partnership between husband and wife; (2) marriage is a covenant between the Lord and the husband and wife, not to be broken—which is why the historic Church sees it as a sacrament which is permanent; and (3) marriage produces the fruit of offspring—we pray in the wedding service, "And let them behold their children's children." Thus, God's final word to husbands: do not forsake her (v. 16).

2:17 The people weary the Lord, accusing Him of blessing evil doers and withholding justice. The truth is that their own evil acts cause their troubles.

3:1–7 My messenger: The Lord will send John the Baptist to prepare the way (see Is 40:3) as forerunner of the Messiah. Our Lord Jesus Christ verifies this prophecy about John in Mt 11:10, 14.

3:2, 3 As with many prophecies of Christ in the Old Testament, the first and second comings of Christ are not separated. The Lord comes as both Savior and Judge. As Savior, He redeems the creation from sin, death, and the devil. As Judge, He will both purify and terrify: And who can withstand His appearance? The offering is the body and blood of Christ.

3:5 Sorcerers, adulterers, and those who swear falsely indicate practices deeply destructive to the soul and to society. Sorcery or witchcraft is an attempt to manipulate creation for one's own ends. Adultery is sexual infidelity to one's spouse or with the spouse of another. Swearing falsely by God's name is lying and perjury, taking God's name in vain.

This list of those who exploit wage-earners . . . oppress widows and afflict orphans . . . pervert the justice due foreigners, and do not fear Me demonstrates the biblical concern with social as well as personal morality. The Old Testament prophets, Christ Himself, the New Testament apostles, and the saints of the Church all address social matters. Creation is a singular reality and cannot be arbitrarily divided into personal and social categories.

3:6, 7 God has not changed and does not change. The Scriptures (Heb 13:8) and the Church Fathers apply this verse to Christ.

3:8–12 How have we insulted you? God answers this self-righteous question pointedly: they have withheld tithes and offerings. A tithe is a tenth of one's income; offerings are additional gifts. Some modern Christians reject tithing, claiming it is a part of the Law not applicable today. But they forget that Abram (Abraham) tithed to Melchizedek five hundred years before the Law was given to Moses (Gn 14:18–20). And Melchizedek is a type of Christ (Heb 6:19–7:6). To those who tithe, God promises a blessing until it is overflowing.

3:13–15 Speaking against God is the heart of the problem. They call people who serve God foolish and accuse Him of blessing the wicked, thereby attempting to put Him on trial.

3:16–18 Contrast such people with those who feared the Lord and reverenced His name. Their names are in a book of remembrance (Ex 32:32–34; Is 4:3; Dan 7:10).

3:19 For all who do wickedly, the day of the Lord, the last judgment, shall burn them up.

3:20 For those who fear the Lord, Christ the Sun of Righteousness, He shall bring healing.

3:22 Elijah the Tishbite and Moses were present with the Lord at His Transfiguration (Mt 17:1–13).

3:24 The Giver of the Law of Moses will soon become incarnate, writing His laws on our hearts and minds and remembering our sins and lawless deeds no more (Heb 10:16, 17).

The Book of Isaiah

Author

According to both Jewish and Christian tradition, Isaiah the son of Amoz is the author of this book. Isaiah, which means "the salvation of God," was from the tribe of Judah and was the nephew of King Amaziah (796–767 BC) of Judah. He is commemorated on May 9.

Date

The time period is mentioned as "in the days of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah." This places the book about 745–680 BC, from approximately 25 years before the Assyrian captivity of the Northern Kingdom to about 40 years after it.

Major Theme

"The Holy One of Israel" (1:4), who punishes His unrepentant people but later will redeem them. The prophet's vision of the glory of God (1:6ff) is one of infinite transcendence. Man's role is one of faith in response to God's holiness and vision for the world. Isaiah revealed the Messiah in amazing detail—as if he were telling history instead of the future. He even describes the Theotokos (ch. 7) and how she is to conceive and bear God the Son incarnate with her virginity intact. Isaiah describes the suffering of Christ (ch. 53) together with His Resurrection from the dead, proclaiming His kingdom as if it had already happened.

Background

Assyria was growing in power under Tiglath-Pileser, who turned to the west after his conquests to the east. He saw the kingdom of Israel fall to Assyria's might along with other nations along the Mediterranean coast. Seeing his people taken captive, Isaiah turned to warn the Southern Kingdom of Judah to trust in God alone.

Isaiah 1

[1]The vision of Isaiah the son of Amoz, which he saw against Judah and Jerusalem in the kingdom of Uzziah, Jotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah, kings of Judah.

[2]Hear, O heavens, and listen, O earth. For the Lord has spoken: “I have begotten and brought up sons, but they rejected Me. [3]The ox knows its owner and the donkey its master’s crib; but Israel does not know Me, and the people do not understand Me.” [4]Alas, sinful nation, a people full of sins, an evil seed, lawless children. They forsook the Lord; they provoked to anger the Holy One of Israel. [5]Why should you still be struck as you continue in lawlessness? The whole head is in pain, and the whole heart in sadness.
[6]From the feet all the way to the head, there is no soundness in them, only wounds and bruises and festering sores. They have not been closed or bandaged, or soothed with ointment. [7]Your land is desolate; your cities are burned with fire. Strangers take over your land in your presence and it is made desolate, overthrown by foreign people. [8]So the daughter of Zion is forsaken, like a tent in a vineyard, like a hut in a garden of cucumbers, like a besieged city. [9]Unless the Lord of hosts had left us a seed, we would have become like Sodom and been made like Gomorrah.

[10]Hear the word of the Lord, you rulers of Sodom. Give ear to the law of our God, you people of Gomorrah: [11]“What is the multitude of your sacrifices to Me?” says the Lord. “I am full of the burnt offerings of rams and the fat of lambs. I do not desire the blood of bulls and he-goats. [12]When you come to appear before Me, who required these things from your hands to tread My court? [13]Although you should bring fine wheat flour, it is vain.
Incense is an abomination to Me. I cannot endure your new moons, and Sabbaths, and the calling of assemblies, and fasting and holy day. [14]Your new moons and feasts My soul hates. You have become a dissatisfaction to Me; I will not forgive your sins. [15]When you stretch forth your hands to Me, I will turn My eyes from you. Although you make many prayers, I will not listen to you. Your hands are full of blood. [16]Wash yourselves, make yourselves clean. Put away the evils from your souls before My eyes. Cease from your evils. [17]Learn to do good. Seek judgment and redeem the wronged.
Defend the orphan and justify the widow. [18]Come now, and let us reason together," says the Lord, "although your sins are like crimson, I shall make them white like snow, and although they are as scarlet, I shall make them white like wool. 19If you are willing and obedient, you shall eat the good things of the land. 20But if you are unwilling and disobedient, you shall be devoured by the sword," for the mouth of the Lord has spoken.

21How the faithful city of Zion has become a prostitute! It was full of judgment. Righteousness lodged in it, but now murderers. 22Your silver is worthless; your tavern-keepers mix wine with water. 23Your rulers are disobedient and companions of thieves. Everyone loves bribes and follows after rewards. They do not defend the orphans, nor do they regard the cause of the widow. 24Therefore says the Master, the Lord of hosts: "Woe to the mighty ones of Israel, for My anger against the adversaries will not cease; and I will execute judgment on My enemies. 25I will bring My hand upon you and purge you completely. I will destroy those who disobey and remove all the lawless from you; I will humble all the arrogant. 26I will establish your judges as at the first and your counselors as at the beginning. Afterward, you shall be called the city of righteousness, Zion, the faithful mother-city." 27For her captives shall be saved with judgment and with mercy. 28The lawless and sinners shall be destroyed together. Those who forsake the Lord shall come to an end. 29For they shall be ashamed of the idols they desired and the gardens they longed for. 30For they shall be as a terebinth tree that has lost its leaves; like a garden with no water. 31Their strength shall be as broken fiber and their works as sparks of fire. The lawless and the sinners will burn together, and no one shall quench them.

Isaiah 2

1The word that came from the Lord to Isaiah the son of Amoz concerning Judah and Jerusalem.

2Now it shall come to pass in the last days, the mountain of the Lord and the house of God shall be visible on the tops of the mountains and exalted above the hills. All the Gentiles shall come to it. 3Many Gentiles shall travel and say, "Come and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, to the house of the God of Jacob. He will proclaim His way to us, and we shall walk in it." For the law of the Lord shall go forth from Zion, and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem. 4He shall judge between the Gentiles and rebuke many people. They shall beat their swords into plows and their spears into pruning hooks. Nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war anymore.

5O now, house of Jacob, come and let us walk in the light of the Lord. 6For He forsook His people, the house of Israel, for as from the beginning, their land is filled with divinations—like the land of foreigners—and many children of foreigners were born to them. 7Their land is filled with silver and gold, and there is no end to their treasures. Their land is also filled with horses; there is no end to their chariots. 8Their land is also filled with the abominations of their works, and they worship the works of their hands, which their fingers made. 9A man bows down and each man humbles himself, but I will not forgive them. 10Enter now into the rocks and hide in the earth from the face of the Lord, for fear and the glory of His might when He rises to smite the earth. 11For the eyes of the Lord are lofty, and man is humble. The haughtiness of man shall be humbled, and the Lord alone shall be exalted in that day. 12For the day of the Lord of hosts shall come upon all who are insolent, arrogant, high and lifted up, and they shall be humbled; 13and upon every cedar tree of Lebanon, high and lifted up, and upon every oak of Bashan, 14and upon every mountain and lofty hill, 15and upon every high tower and fortified wall, 16and upon every ship of the sea, and upon every sight of beautiful ships. 17Every man shall be humbled, and the haughtiness of man shall fall. The Lord alone shall be exalted in that day. 18But they shall hide all the things made by hands. 19They shall carry them into the caves and cracks of the rocks, and into the holes of the earth, from fear of the Lord's presence and the glory of His might when He arises to strike the earth. 20For in that day, man will cast away his abominations of silver and gold, which they made to worship worthless things and bats, 21so as to enter into the holes of solid rocks and clefts of the rugged rocks, from fear of the Lord and the glory of His might when He arises to strike the earth.

Isaiah 3

1For behold, the Lord, the Lord of hosts, takes away from Judah and from Jerusalem the strong man and the strong woman; the strength of bread and the strength of water; 2the mighty man and the man of war; the judge, the prophet, the diviner, and the elder; 3the captain of fifty, the wonderful counselor, the skillful artisan, and the prudent disciple. 4"I will give children to be their princes, and mockers shall rule over them. 5The people will collapse, every one on another and every one on his neighbor. The child will be arrogant toward the elder and vulgar toward the honorable." 6When a man takes hold of his brother or his father's servant, saying, "You have clothing; you be our ruler and let my food be under your roof." 7In that day, he will protest, saying, "I will not be your ruler, for in my house there is neither food nor clothing. I will not be the ruler of this people." 8For Jerusalem is ruined and Judah is fallen, because their tongues are lawless and they are disobedient to the Lord. Now their glory is humbled. 9The shame on their face witnesses against them. They declare and exhibit their sin as Sodom.

Woe to their soul, for they planned evil upon themselves, 10saying, "Let us hand over the righteous man, for he is burdensome to us." They shall eat the fruit of their doings. 11Woe to the wicked! It shall be ill with him, for the reward of his hands shall be given him. 12"O My people, your punishers gather you, and those who make demands of you rule over you. O My people, those who bless you lead you astray and trouble the path of your feet." 13The Lord stands up to plead and stands to judge His people. 14The Lord will enter into judgment with the elders of His people and His princes: "For you set fire to My vineyard and the plunder of the poor is in your houses. 15What do you mean by crushing My people and grinding the faces of the poor?"

16Moreover the Lord says, "Because the daughters of Zion are haughty and walk with outstretched necks and wanton eyes, because they walk and mince as they go, making a jingling with their feet, 17therefore the Lord will humble the chief daughters of Zion. The Lord will uncover their secret parts." 18In that day, the Lord will take away the glory of their garments and adornments:
the hair-clasps, the tassels, the crescents, 19the necklace, and the ornament on their faces; 20even the collection of glorious adornment, the anklets and the armlets, the bracelets for the right arm and the finger-rings and the earrings, 21the garments dyed and decorated with purple, 22the house-coats and transparent Lyconian garments, 23the fine linen—the hyacinthine and scarlet and flax interwoven with gold and hyacinth—and the flowing veils. 24And so it shall be, instead of a sweet smell there will be dust; instead of a sash, a rope; instead of a golden ornament of the head, baldness; and for your deeds, instead of purple, you will have sackcloth. 25Your most handsome son, whom you love, shall fall by the sword, and your mighty shall fall by the sword.
26And your chests of adornments shall lament and mourn, and you shall be left to sit on the ground.

Isaiah 4

[1]Seven women shall take hold of one man, saying, “We will eat our own food and wear our own apparel, only let us be called by your name, to take away our disgrace.” [2]In that day, the Lord will shine in counsel and glory on the earth, to exalt and glorify those of Israel who remain. [3]And it shall come to pass that those who remain in Zion and in Jerusalem will be called holy—everyone who is recorded among the living in Jerusalem, [4]because the Lord shall wash away the filth of the sons and the daughters of Zion, and shall purge the blood of Jerusalem from their midst by the Spirit of judgment and the Spirit of burning. [5]He shall come and there shall be with regard to Mt.
Zion and everything round about, a cloud to overshadow it by day, and as it were smoke and light of fire burning at night, and it shall be covered altogether with glory. [6]It shall be for shade from the heat, for a place of shelter, and for a hiding-place from inclement weather and rain.

Isaiah 5

[1]“Now I will sing to My Beloved a song of My Beloved regarding My vineyard: There was a vineyard for My Beloved, a place in power and richness. [2]He placed a wall around it and fortified it. He planted it with the choicest vine. He built a tower in its midst and also made a winepress in it.
So I waited for it to bring forth grapes, but it produced thorn-plants. [3]And now, man of Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem, judge between Me and My vineyard. [4]What shall I yet do for My vineyard that I have not done for it?
For I waited for it to bring forth grapes, but it produced thorn-plants. [5]But now I will tell you what I shall do to My vineyard: I shall remove its wall and it shall be for booty. I shall break down its wall and it shall be trampled underfoot. [6]I will forsake My vineyard. It shall not be pruned or cultivated, but thorns shall sprout forth as in a barren land. I will also command the clouds not to rain on it.” [7]For the vineyard of the Lord of hosts is the house of Israel, and the man of Judah is His beloved plant. I waited for it to bring forth judgment, but it brought forth lawlessness, and not righteousness, but a cry.

[8]Woe to those who join house to house, who add field to field, to take something from their neighbor. Surely you will not dwell alone in the land.

9For these things reached the ears of the Lord of hosts, for though many large and beautiful houses should be built, they shall be desolate, for there shall be no one to live in them. 10For where ten yoke of oxen shall work, the land shall yield one jar, and whoever sows six homers shall receive three measures. 11Woe to those who rise early in the morning to follow intoxicating drink; to those who continue until night, for wine shall inflame them. 12For they drink wine with the harp, the strings, the tambourine and flute, but they do not look at the deeds of the Lord, nor consider the works of His hands!

13Therefore my people became captives, because they did not know the Lord; and a multitude died through hunger and thirst for water. 14Hades enlarged itself and opened its mouth continually. The glorious, the great, the wealthy, and the troublesome shall descend into it. 15A man shall be humiliated, and a man shall be dishonored; and the eyes of the lofty shall be humbled. 16But the Lord of hosts shall be exalted in judgment, and the Holy God shall be glorified in righteousness. 17Those plundered shall be fed as bulls, and lambs shall eat on the waste places of those taken away.

18Woe to those who draw sins to themselves as with a long rope and lawlessness as with the strap of a cow's yoke, 19who say, "Let Him speedily hasten what He will do that we may see it, and let the counsel of the Holy One of Israel come, that we may know it!" 20Woe to those who call evil good and good evil, who put darkness for light and light for darkness, who put bitter for sweet and sweet for bitter! 21Woe to those who are intelligent in their own eyes and expert in their own sight! 22Woe to your strong ones who drink wine and the mighty ones who mix intoxicating drink, 23who justify the ungodly for a bribe and take away justice from the righteous man!
24Therefore in the manner that stubble shall be burned by coals of fire and consumed by a violent flame, their root shall be like chaff and their flower shall go up like dust, for they did not will to do the law of the Lord of hosts, but despised the word of the Holy One of Israel. 25Thus the wrath of the Lord of hosts is furious against His people. He laid His hand on them and struck them. The mountains were provoked, and their carcasses were as refuse in the midst of the road. For all this His anger was not turned away, but His hand is still uplifted.

26Consequently He shall take up a banner to the nations from afar and will whistle to them from the ends of the earth. Behold, they are coming swiftly and with speed. [27]They shall not hunger or be weary. Neither shall they slumber nor sleep. Nor shall they loose the belts from their loins. Neither shall their sandal-straps be broken. [28]Their arrows are sharp, and their bows are bent. The hooves of their horses seem like flint and their chariot-wheels like a sudden blast of wind. [29]They rush like lions, and stand like a young lion that seizes his prey and roars like a wild animal, then carries it away; and there shall be no one to deliver them. [30]In that day, they will bellow against them like the sound of the roaring sea. They will look at the land and behold harsh darkness in their despair.

Isaiah 6

[1]In the year King Uzziah died, I saw the Lord sitting on a throne, high and lifted up. The house was full of His glory. [2]Around Him stood seraphim; each one had six wings: with two he covered his face, with two he covered his feet, and with two he flew. [3]And one cried to another and said, “Holy, holy, holy is the Lord of hosts; the whole earth is full of His glory.” [4]The lintel was lifted up by the voice of those who cried out, and the house was filled with smoke. [5]So I said, “Woe is me, because I am pierced to the heart, for being a man and having unclean lips, I dwell in the midst of a people with unclean lips; for I saw the King, the Lord of hosts, with my eyes!” [6]Then one of the seraphim was sent to me. He had a live coal in his hand, which he took with tongs from the altar. [7]He touched my mouth, and said, “Behold, this has touched your lips. Your lawlessness is taken away, and your sin is cleansed.” [8]I also heard the voice of the Lord, saying, “Whom shall I send, and who will go to this people?” Then I said, “Behold, here am I, send me.” [9]So He said, “Go, and tell this people, ‘You shall hear indeed, but not understand; and you shall see indeed, but not perceive.’ [10]For the heart of this people has become insensitive, and their ears hear with difficulty. They have closed their eyes, lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and return, and I should heal them.” [11]Then I said, “Lord, how long?” So He answered, “Until the cities are laid waste and without inhabitant, the houses are without people, and the land shall be left desolate. [12]After this God will remove the people far away, and those left in the land shall multiply. [13]Yet a tenth shall be left in it, and again it shall be for plundering, like a terebinth tree or like an acorn when it falls from its case.”

Isaiah 7

1And it came to pass in the days of Ahaz the son of Jotham, the son of Uzziah, king of Judah, there came up Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, against Jerusalem to war against it; but they could not conquer it. 2Then it was reported to the house of David, saying, “Syria’s forces made an agreement with Ephraim.” So his soul and the soul of his people was confounded, as a tree of the woods is shaken by the wind.
3Then the Lord said to Isaiah, “Go out now to meet Ahaz, you and Shear-Jashub your son, at the end of the aqueduct from the upper pool, on the highway to the Fuller’s Field, 4and say to him, ‘Guard yourself and be silent; do not fear, neither let your soul be disheartened because of these two stubs of smoking firebrands, for when My fierce anger is over, again I shall heal.
5The son of Syria and the son of Remaliah have plotted evil against you, saying, 6“Let us go up against Judah and talk with them, and let us turn them to our side, and let us make the son of Tabel king of it.” 7Thus says the Lord of hosts: “This counsel shall not continue, nor shall it come to pass. 8But the head of Syria is Damascus; nevertheless, in sixty-five years the kingdom of Ephraim will cease being a people. 9Also the head of Ephraim is Samaria, and the head of Samaria is Remaliah’s son, and if you do not believe this, neither will you understand it.” ’ ”

10Moreover the Lord added this to Ahaz, saying, 11“Ask a sign for yourself from the Lord your God; ask it either in the depth or in the height above.” 12But Ahaz said, “I will not ask, nor will I tempt the Lord.” 13Then Isaiah said, “Hear now, O house of David, is it a small thing for you to weary men, but will you weary the Lord also? 14Therefore the Lord Himself will give you a sign: behold, the virgin shall conceive and bear a Son, and you shall call His name Immanuel. 15Butter and honey He shall eat before He knows to prefer evil or choose the good, 16for before the Child knows good or evil, He refuses the evil to choose the good; and the land you fear because of the presence of the two kings will be abandoned. 17But God will bring the king of Assyria upon you, your people and your father’s house—days that have not yet come, from the days Ephraim took away from Judah the king of the Assyrians.” 18And it shall come to pass in that day, the Lord will whistle for the fly that rules over part of the river of Egypt, and for the bee in the land of Assyria. 19All of them will come and rest in the ravines of the country, in the clefts of the rocks, in the caves and every crevice and tree. [20]In that day, the Lord will shave—with a large and blood-drenched razor belonging to the king of Assyria beyond the river—the head and the hair of the legs, and will also remove the beard. [21]It shall be in that day, a man will rear a heifer and two sheep. [22]So it shall be, from the abundance of milk they give, everyone left in the land will eat butter and honey. [23]It shall happen in that day, wherever there could be a thousand vines worth a thousand shekels of silver, it will be a barren land with thorn-plants. [24]Men will enter there with bows and arrows, for all the land will be barren and with thorn-plants. [25]Every mountain shall certainly be plowed, and there shall be no fear there from barren land and thorn-plants, for it will be a pasture for sheep and a place for oxen to roam.

Isaiah 8

[1]Moreover the Lord said to me, “Take for yourself a large new book, and write on it with a man’s pen concerning making a swift plunder of spoils, for it is near at hand. [2]Then make witnesses for Me of faithful men: Uriah and Zechariah, the son of Berechiah.” [3]Then I went to the prophetess, and she conceived and bore a son, and the Lord said to me, “Call his name Quickly Despoil, Swiftly Plunder; [4]for before the child shall know how to call for his father and mother, one shall take the power of Damascus and the spoils of Samaria in the presence of the king of Assyria.” [5]The Lord also added this for me to speak as well, saying:

[6]“Because this people did not choose the water of Siloam that flows quietly, but chose Rezin and Remaliah’s son to be king over you; [7]therefore, behold, the Lord brings upon you the mighty and abundant water of the river, the king of the Assyrians, and his glory. He shall come up over every ravine of yours and walk over all your walls, [8]and take away from Judah every man able to raise his head or accomplish anything. His encampment will fill the breadth of Your land, O God with us. [9]Know this, O Gentiles, and be defeated. Give ear, all you to the very ends of the earth. Be defeated although you are strong, for even if you should be strong again, you will be defeated again. [10]Then too, whatever counsel you take, the Lord will scatter it abroad; and whatever word you shall speak, it will not continue among you, for the Lord God is with us.”

11 Thus says the Lord: “With a strong hand they rebel against the course of the way of this people, saying, 12 that you should not say, ‘It is hard,’ for whatever this people says is hard; but do not be afraid of their terror, nor be troubled. 13 Sanctify the Lord Himself, and He shall be your fear. 14 So if you trust in Him, He shall be as a sanctuary for you, and you shall not come against Him as a stumbling stone nor as a rock of disaster. But the house of Jacob lies in wait with a snare, and those in Jerusalem with a trap.
15 Therefore many among them shall be powerless and fall, and be broken, and men who are in safety shall draw near and be conquered.” 16 Then they who seal the law so as not to learn it themselves shall be evident. 17 But One will say, “I shall wait for God who turned His face away from the house of Jacob, and I will trust in Him, 18 behold, I and the children God gave me.” This will be for signs and wonders in the house of Israel from the Lord of hosts, who dwells in Mount Zion. 19 So if they should say to you, “Seek those who call from the earth and are ventriloquists, who speak from the belly,” should not a nation seek their God? Why do they seek the dead on behalf of the living? 20 He gave the law to help them, so as not to speak such a word as this, concerning which word there are no gifts to offer with it. 21 Thus a harsh famine will come upon you, and it shall be, when you are hungry, you will be grieved, and speak badly of your ruler and the idols. Then they shall look up to heaven above, 22 and on the earth below, and behold, tribulation, distress, and darkness. There will be severe despair and darkness, so dark one cannot see. 23 And the one who is in despair shall be perplexed, but only for a time.

Isaiah 9

1 Do this first and do it quickly: O country of Zebulun, land of Naphtali, by the way of the sea, and the rest dwelling along the seacoast and parts of Judea, and the land beyond the Jordan, Galilee of the Gentiles, a people who walk in darkness, behold a great light; and you who dwell in the country of the shadow of death, upon you a light will shine. 2 The multitude of the people, whom You brought down in Your joy, they shall also rejoice in Your presence, as those who rejoice in harvest, as men rejoice when they divide the spoils. 3 For the yoke lying upon them and the rod upon their neck is taken away, for the Lord broke the rod of the exactors as in the day of Midian. 4 For every robe and garment gathered by deceit, they shall repay with money, and they shall be willing to do this, even though they were burned with fire. [5]For unto us a Child is born, unto us a Son is given; and the government will be upon His shoulder. His name will be called the Angel of Great Counsel, for I shall bring peace upon the rulers, peace and health by Him. [6]Great shall be His government, and of His peace there is no end. His peace shall be upon the throne of David and over His kingdom, to order and establish it with righteousness and judgment, from that time forward and unto ages of ages. The zeal of the Lord of hosts shall perform this.

[7]The Lord sent death against Jacob, and it came on Israel. [8]All the people will know—Ephraim and the inhabitant of Samaria—who say in pride and arrogance of heart, [9]"The bricks fell, but let us hew stones; and let us cut down sycamores and cedars, and we shall build ourselves a tower." [10]But God shall overthrow those who rise up against them on Mt. Zion, and scatter their enemies: [11]the Syrians from the rising of the sun, the Greeks from the setting of the sun, and those who shall devour Israel with open mouth. For all this, His anger is not turned away, but His hand is still uplifted. [12]But the people did not turn until they were struck, yet they did not seek the Lord. [13]So the Lord took away head and tail from Israel, great and small, in one day. [14]The elder and those who admire persons, this is the head. The prophet who teaches lawlessness, this is the tail. [15]For those who bless this people lead them astray, and they lead them astray so as to destroy them. [16]Therefore God will have no joy in their young men, nor mercy on their orphans and widows. For all of them are lawless and evil. Every mouth speaks injustices. For all this His anger is not turned away, but His hand is still uplifted. [17]For lawlessness burns like fire, and like dry grass, it shall be consumed by fire and burn in the thickets of the forest. It shall devour all the hills round about. [18]Because of the Lord's wrath the entire land is burned up, and the people are as fuel for the fire. No man will have mercy on his brother. [19]But one shall turn aside to the right hand, for he shall be hungry; and he shall eat on the left hand and not be satisfied. Every man shall eat the flesh of his own arm. [20]Manasseh shall devour Ephraim and Ephraim Manasseh. Together they shall besiege Judah. For all this His anger is not turned away, but His hand is still uplifted.

Isaiah 10

[1]“Woe to those who write evil things, for when they write such things, [2]they turn aside judgment from the poor, and rob judgment from the needy of My people, that the widow may be their prey and the orphan a spoil. [3]What will they do in the day of visitation? For affliction will come to you from afar, and to whom will you flee for help? Where will you leave your glory, [4]so as not to fall into captivity?” For all this, His anger is not turned away, but His hand is still uplifted.

[5]“Woe to the Assyrians! The rod of My anger and wrath are in their hands. [6]I will send My wrath against a lawless nation; and I will order My people to seize spoils and plunder, to trample down their cities, and turn them into dust. [7]However, he does not think in the same way, nor does he consider the same thing in his soul; but his heart will change, so as to utterly destroy many nations. [8]If they should say to him, ‘You alone are ruler,’ [9]then he shall say, ‘Have not I taken the country above Babylon and Chalanne, where the tower was built, and taken Arabia, Damascus, and Samaria? [10]As I took these with my hand, so also shall I take all the kingdoms. Wail, O carved images in Jerusalem and Samaria! [11]For as I did to Samaria and the things made by human hands, so shall I do also to Jerusalem and her idols.’ ” [12]But it shall come to pass, when the Lord has completed all He will do on Mount Zion and in Jerusalem, He will go against the arrogant heart of the king of the Assyrians and the glory of his haughty looks. [13]For he said, “I shall act in my strength and by the wisdom of my understanding. I also shall remove the boundaries of the nations and plunder their strength. I shall shake their inhabited cities. [14]I shall overtake with my hand all the inhabited world as a nest, and take them as eggs that have been left. There is no one who can escape or oppose me.”

[15]Shall the ax glorify itself without him who chops with it? Or shall the saw exalt itself without him who saws with it? It is likewise if one should lift a rod or a piece of wood. [16]But it shall not be so, for the Lord of hosts will send dishonor against your honor; and He will kindle a burning fire against your glory. [17]So the Light of Israel will be as a fire, and He will sanctify him with burning fire; and it will devour the wood like grass on that day. [18]The mountains, the hills, and the forests will be consumed, and devour both soul and body, and he who flees will be like one fleeing from a burning flame. [19]Then the remnant will be few in number, and a child shall write them.

[20]It shall come to pass in that day that the remnant of Israel and those of Jacob who were saved will never again obey those who wronged them; but they will trust in God, the Holy One of Israel, in truth. [21]The remnant of Jacob shall trust in the Mighty God. [22]For though the people of Israel be as the sand of the sea, a remnant of them shall be saved; for He shall accomplish the word and cut it short in righteousness. [23]For God will accomplish the word and cut it short in all the world.

[24]Therefore, thus says the Lord of hosts: “O My people who dwell in Zion, do not be afraid of the Assyrian, because he shall strike you with a rod; for I am bringing a stroke upon you, that you may see the way of Egypt. [25]Yet in a very short while, the wrath will cease, but My anger shall be against their counsel.” [26]For God will stir up enemies against them, as it was in the stroke against Midian in that place of affliction; and His anger shall be by way of the sea, in the way that leads to Egypt. [27]Thus it shall come to pass in that day, his fear will be taken from you and his yoke from your shoulder, for the yoke shall be destroyed from off your shoulders. [28]For he shall come to the city of Aiath and pass on to Migron and place his property at Michmash. [29]He will pass along the valley and arrive at Aiath. Fear will seize Ramah, the city of Saul; the daughter of Gallim will flee, [30]Laish will hear; Anathoth will hear; [31]Madmenah was astounded, so too the inhabitants of Gebim. [32]Urge them today to remain in the way. Comfort with your hand the mountain, the daughter of Zion, and the hills in Jerusalem. [33]For behold, the Master, the Lord of hosts, will trouble the glorious ones with power, and the haughty in pride shall be crushed. The lofty will be humbled, [34]and the high and mighty shall fall by the sword, and Lebanon, with its high and mighty ones.

Isaiah 11

[1]There shall come forth a rod from the root of Jesse, and a flower shall grow out of his root. [2]The Spirit of God shall rest upon Him, the Spirit of wisdom and understanding, the Spirit of counsel and might, the Spirit of knowledge and godliness. [3]The Spirit of the fear of God shall fill Him. He shall not judge by reputation nor convict by common talk. [4]But He will judge the cause of the humble, and reprove the humble of the earth. He shall strike the earth with the word of His mouth, and with the breath of His lips He shall slay the ungodly. [5]He shall gird His loins with righteousness and cover his sides with truth.

[6]“The wolf shall feed with the lamb, the leopard shall lie down with the young goat, and the calf, the bull, and the lion shall feed together; and a little child shall lead them. 7The cow and the bear shall graze together, and their young ones shall lie down together. The lion and the ox shall eat straw together. 8The nursing child shall play by the hole of asps, and the weaned child shall put his hand in the den of asps. 9They shall not hurt nor be able to destroy anyone on My holy mountain, for the whole world shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord, as much water covers the seas.

10"It shall come to pass in that day that there shall be a Root of Jesse who shall arise to rule nations. The Gentiles shall hope in Him, and His resting place shall be honorable." 11It shall come to pass in that day that the Lord will show His hand again to be zealous for the remnant left of His people: left by the Assyrians and by Egypt, Babylon and Ethiopia, and by the Elamites, and from the rising of the sun, and out of Arabia. 12He shall set up a sign for the Gentiles and will assemble the lost ones of Israel. He shall gather together the dispersed of Judah, from the four corners of the earth. 13Also the envy of Ephraim shall depart, and the enemies of Judah shall be destroyed. Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not afflict Ephraim. 14But they shall spread sails on the ships of foreigners, and together they shall plunder the sea and the people of the East and Edom. They shall lay their hands first on Moab, but the sons of Ammon shall obey them first. 15The Lord shall make desolate the Sea of Egypt, and He will lay His hand on the river with a violent wind, and will strike the seven channels, that men might pass across it in sandals. 16"There shall be a highway for the remnant of My people in Egypt, and it will be for Israel as in the day he came out of the land of Egypt."

Isaiah 12

1And in that day, you will say, "I will bless You, O Lord. Although You were angry with me, You turned away Your anger and had mercy on me. 2Behold, God is my Savior and Lord. I will trust in Him and be saved by Him. I will not be afraid, for the Lord is my glory and my praise. He has become my salvation." 3You will draw water with gladness from the wells of salvation. 4In that day, you will say, "Praise the Lord; call upon His name. Declare His glorious things among the Gentiles and make mention that His name is exalted. 5Sing to the name of the Lord, for He has done great things. Declare this in all the earth. [6]Exult and be glad, O inhabitants of Zion, for the Holy One of Israel is exalted in her midst."

Isaiah 13

[2]"Lift up a sign on the mountain of the plain and raise your voice to them. Do not fear; comfort with your hand; open the gates, O you rulers. [3]I command and I lead them. They are sanctified, and I lead them. My mighty ones come to fulfill My anger—rejoicing and insulting at the same time." [4]The sound of many nations upon the mountains, like that of many nations, the voice of kings and nations gathered together—the Lord of hosts commanded a warring nation [5]to come from a far country, from the end of heaven, the Lord and His weapons, to destroy all the inhabited world. [6]Wail, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and destruction will come from God. [7]Therefore every hand will grow weary, and every man's soul will be fearful. [8]The elders will be troubled. Pangs will take hold of them, like a woman in childbirth, and they will wail at one another and be amazed; and their countenance shall change like a flame. [9]Behold, the day of the Lord is coming, a day that cannot be averted, a day of anger and wrath, to make all the inhabited world a desert, and to destroy the sinners from it. [10]For the stars of heaven and Orion and all the ornament of heaven will not give their light. It will be dark when the sun goes forth, and the moon will not give its light. [11]"I will command evils for all the inhabited world and the ungodly because of their sins, and I will destroy the insolence of the lawless and humble the haughtiness of the arrogant. [12]Those left behind will be more valuable than fine gold tried in the fire, and a man more precious than the stone of Ophir. [13]For heaven will be angry, and the earth will be shaken from its foundations because of the fierce anger of the Lord of hosts, in the day His anger comes. [14]Those who are left shall be as the fleeing gazelle and as a wandering sheep, and there shall be no one to gather them, that a man may return to his own people and a man may seek his own country. [15]For whoever is taken will be overcome, and those who are gathered together will fall by the sword. [16]Their children also will be dashed before their eyes. They shall plunder their houses and possess their wives. [17]Behold, I will stir up the Medes against you, who will not regard silver, neither do they have need of gold. [18]They will break in pieces the bows of the young, and show your children no mercy; nor will their eyes spare your children. [19]It shall be that Babylon, called glorious by the king of the Chaldeans, will be as when God destroyed Sodom and Gomorrah. [20]It shall never be inhabited, nor will any enter it for many generations. Neither shall the Arabians pass through it, nor will shepherds take their rest in it. [21]But wild animals of the desert will rest there, and their houses will be filled with noise. Sirens will rest there, and demons will dance there. [22]Donkey-centaurs will dwell there, and hedgehogs will make dens in their homes. It will come quickly and not delay."

Isaiah 14

[1]For the Lord will have mercy on Jacob and will yet choose Israel to take rest in their land. The sojourner will be added to them, and they will be added to the house of Jacob. [2]Then the Gentiles will take them and bring them to their place. They will inherit them, and they will multiply in God's land as male and female servants. Those who captured them shall be captives to them, and those who ruled over them shall be ruled by them. [3]Then it shall come to pass in that day that God will give you rest from your sorrow and anger and your hard slavery in which you served them.

[4]You shall take up this lamentation against the king of Babylon, and will say in that day, "How the exacter has ceased, and the compeller ceased! [5]God broke the yoke of sinners in pieces, the yoke of the rulers, and [6]in His anger He struck a nation with an incurable wound; and striking a nation with a plague of anger, which did not spare them, [7]He rested in confidence. All the earth cries aloud with gladness. [8]Indeed, the trees of Lebanon rejoice against you and the cedar of Lebanon, saying, 'From the time you fell asleep, no one has come up to cut us down.' [9]Hades from below was embittered to meet you. All the mighty who ruled over the earth rose up to meet you. Those who raised from their thrones all the kings of the nations, [10]all shall answer and say to you, 'You also were conquered, even as we, and are numbered among us. [11]Your glory and great gladness have come down to Hades. They will spread decay under you, and the worm will be your covering.' [12]How you are fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, who rose up in the morning! He who sends for all the nations is crushed to the earth. [13]For you said in your mind, 'I will ascend into heaven; I will place my throne above the stars of heaven. I will sit on a lofty mountain, on the lofty mountains toward the north. [14]I will ascend above the clouds; I will be like the Most High.' [15]But now you shall descend to Hades, to the foundations of the earth. [16]Those who see you will marvel at you, and they will say, 'This is the man who greatly upset the earth, who shook kingdoms, [17]and who made all the inhabited world a desert. He destroyed its cities, and did not set free those in captivity.' [18]All the kings of the nations sleep in honor, every man in his house. [19]But you shall be cast forth on the mountains like a loathsome dead person, with many dead pierced with swords who go down into Hades; and as a garment defiled in blood, you will not be clean. [20]So you will not be clean, because you destroyed My land and killed My people. You, an evil seed, will not endure forever. [21]Prepare your children for slaughter for the sins of their father, that they may not arise and inherit the earth, and fill it with wars."

[22]"For I will rise up against them," says the Lord of hosts, "and I will destroy their name, their remnant and their seed"—so says the Lord— [23]"and I will make Babylon a desert, that hedgehogs may dwell there; and it shall come to nothing; and I will make it a pit of clay for destruction." [24]Thus says the Lord of hosts: "As I said, so it shall come to pass. As I purposed, so it shall remain— [25]to destroy the Assyrians in My land and on My mountains. They shall be for trampling underfoot, and their yoke shall be taken away; and their renown shall be removed from their shoulders." [26]This is the purpose the Lord purposed upon all the inhabited world. His hand is lifted up over all the nations of the inhabited earth. [27]For who will reject what the holy God purposed? Who will turn away His uplifted hand?

[28]In the year King Ahaz died, this word came: [29]"Do not be glad, all you foreigners, for the yoke of him who struck you is broken to pieces. For from the seed of serpents shall come forth the young asps, and their offspring shall be flying serpents. [30]The poor will be fed by him, and poor men will rest in peace, but he shall destroy your seed with hunger, and he will destroy your remnant. [31]Wail, gates of the cities, cry out, troubled cities, even all the foreigners, for smoke is coming from the north, and you will be no more!" [32]What will the kings of the nations answer? For the Lord founded Zion, and the humble of His people shall be saved.

Isaiah 15

[1]The word against the land of Moab:

In the night the land of Moab shall be destroyed, for the wall of the land of Moab shall be destroyed in the night. [2]Lament for yourselves, for even Dibon, where your altar is, shall be destroyed. Go there to weep over Nebo in the land of Moab. Wail, for baldness shall be on every head, and all arms shall be mutilated. [3]In her streets, dress yourselves with sackcloth and strike yourselves on her housetops. All of you cry out with bitter wailing in her streets. [4]Heshbon and Elealeh cry out until their voice is heard as far as Jahaz; therefore, the loins of the land of Moab cry aloud, for its soul shall know this. [5]The heart of the land of Moab cries aloud in itself as far as Zoar, like a three-year-old heifer. On the ascent of Luhith, they shall go up to you with weeping by way of Horonaim. She cries, “Destruction and earthquake!” [6]The water of Nemerim shall be a desert, and its grass shall fail, for there will be no green grass. [7]“Even so, will Moab be saved? For I will bring the Arabs upon the valley, and they shall take it. [8]For the cry reaches the border of the land of Moab, even of Eglaim, and its wailing as far as the well of Elim. [9]For the water of Dimon shall be full of blood, for I will bring Arabs upon Dimon. I shall take away the seed of Moab, Ariel and the remnant of Adama.

Isaiah 16

[1]“I shall send them like reptiles upon the land, for is not Mount Zion a deserted rock? [2]O Daughter of Moab, you shall be like a young bird taken away from a bird that has flown. Then, O Arnon, [3]take more counsel and make for her a shelter of mourning continually. In the middle of the day they flee in darkness; they are amazed; do not be led away. [4]The outcasts of Moab will sojourn with you. They will shelter you from the face of the pursuer, for your alliance has been taken away, and the ruler who trampled the land underfoot has perished from the earth. [5]A throne will be established with mercy, and in the tabernacle of David, one will sit upon it in truth, judging, seeking justice, and hastening righteousness.”

[6]We heard of the insolence of Moab, exceedingly insolent. You drove away his arrogance. Your divination is not in this way, [7]no not in this way. Moab shall wail, for everyone shall wail in the land of Moab. For you will think about those who dwell in Deseth, and not be ashamed. [8]The plains of Heshbon and the vine of Sibmah swallow the nations and shall mourn.

Trample down her vines. Do not reach to Jazer. Wander in the desert. Those sent were left behind, for they passed through the desert. [9]Therefore I will weep for the vine of Sibmah with the weeping of Jazer. O Heshbon and Elealeh, he struck down your trees, for I shall trample on your harvest and vintage, and both shall fall. [10]Gladness is taken away, so too the joy from your vineyards, for in the vineyards there shall be no rejoicing; and no treaders will tread out wine in the wine vats, for the wine has ceased. [11]Therefore my belly will resound like a harp for Moab, and my inward parts like a wall you renewed. [12]Then it shall come to pass, when you are shamed (for Moab grows weary at his altars), that he will go in to pray to the things made with hands, but they will be unable to deliver him.

[13]This is the word the Lord spoke against Moab when He spoke. [14]"So now I say to you, within three years, as in the years of a hired man, the glory of Moab, with its great wealth, shall be dishonored, and he will be left few in number and not honored."

Isaiah 17

[1]The word against Damascus:

"Behold, Damascus will be taken away from among cities and will fall, [2]abandoned forever. It shall be a fold and resting-place for sheep. No one will pursue them. [3]There shall no longer be a strong place for Ephraim to flee to, and there shall no longer be a kingdom in Damascus and a remnant of Syrians; for you are no better than the sons of Israel and their glory," says the Lord of hosts.

[4]"In that day, there shall be an eclipse of the glory of Jacob, and the riches of his glory shall be shaken. [5]It will be as when one gathers a standing harvest and reaps ears of corn with his arm. It shall be as when one gathers heads of grain in a rich valley. [6]It shall be as when straw is left in it, or as when the berries of an olive tree, two or three on the uppermost bough, or as when four or five are left on their branches," says the Lord, the God of Israel. [7]In that day, a man will trust in Him who made him, and his eyes will look at the Holy One of Israel. [8]They will not trust in their altars, nor in the works of their hands, which their fingers made. They will not look to their trees, nor to their abominations. [9]In that day, your cities will be abandoned, as the Amorites and the Evites forsook theirs, because of the children of Israel.

They will be desolate, [10]because you forsook God your Savior, and have not been mindful of the Lord your helper. Therefore you will be a faithless plant and a faithless seed. [11]In the day you plant, you will be deceived; but if you sow in the morning, it will blossom into a harvest, in which you will receive an inheritance in that day; and as a man's father, you will obtain an inheritance for your sons.

[12]Woe to the multitude of many nations; as the swelling sea, so shall you be troubled; and the surging of many nations will sound like water, [13]many nations like much water, as when much water rushes violently; and he will curse him and pursue him afar, as when the dust of chaff scatters before the wind, and a sudden blast of wind whirls the dust of a wheel! [14]Toward evening there will be mourning, and before morning, he will be no more. This is the portion of those who plundered you, and the inheritance of those who robbed you of your inheritance.

Isaiah 18

[1]Woe, O farthest edge of the land of ships, beyond the rivers of Ethiopia! [2]He sends hostages by sea and paper letters over the water, for swift messengers will go to an exalted nation and a strange and violent people. Who is beyond it, a nation without hope and trampled underfoot? Now all the rivers of the land [3]shall be inhabited, like an inhabited country. Their country shall be like a sign raised by a mountain and an audible sound like a trumpet. [4]So the Lord said to me, "There will be security in My city, as the light of the midday heat, and as a cloud of dew in the day of harvest." [5]Before the time of harvest, when the flower has been completely formed, and the unripe grape has put forth its flower and produced sour grapes, then He shall take away the small clusters with sickles and the brushwood, and cut them off. [6]Then He shall leave them together for the birds of heaven and the wild animals of the earth; and the birds of heaven shall gather upon them, and all the wild animals of the earth will come upon him. [7]At that time gifts shall be brought to the Lord of hosts by a people afflicted and peeled, and by a people great from now on and forever, a nation hoping and trampled on, which is in a part of a river of his country, to the place, Mount Zion, where the name of the Lord of hosts is called upon.

Isaiah 19

[1]The vision of Egypt:

Behold, the Lord sits on a swift cloud and shall come to Egypt, and the things made by hands in Egypt shall be shaken by His presence, and their heart shall be overcome within them. [2]“Egyptians shall be stirred up against Egyptians, and a man shall fight against his brother, and a man against his neighbor, city against city and law against law. [3]The spirit of the Egyptians will be troubled within them, and I will reject their counsel, and they shall consult their gods and their statues, and those who speak from the earth and are ventriloquists. [4]And I will deliver Egypt into the hands of harsh lords and kings who will rule over them,” thus says the Lord of hosts. [5]And the Egyptians will drink water from the sea, for the river will run dry and have no water. [6]The streams and canals of the river will fail; and every reservoir shall dry up, as well as every marsh of reed and papyrus. [7]All the greenery around the river and everything sown alongside the river shall be blasted by the wind and dried up. [8]The fishermen will also groan, and all who cast a fishhook into the river will also lament, and those who cast dragnets and the anglers shall mourn. [9]Shame shall fall on those who work fine flax, and those who weave fine fabric will be ashamed. [10]Those who work these things will be in pain. All who make strong drink shall grieve and suffer in their souls. [11]The rulers of Tanis are fools. As for the king’s wise counselors, their counsel will be turned into foolishness. How will you say to the king, “We are sons of the wise, we are sons of kings of old”? [12]Where are your wise men now? Let them now tell you, and let them say what the Lord of hosts planned against Egypt. [13]The rulers of Tanis have failed, and the rulers of Memphis are exalted, and they shall lead Egypt astray according to tribes. [14]For the Lord prepared for them a spirit of error, and they led Egypt astray in all their works, like a drunken man who staggers and vomits. [15]There shall be no work for the Egyptians that will bring about employer and employee, and beginning and completion.

[16]In that day, the Egyptians shall be like women in fear and trembling because of the hand of the Lord of hosts, which He shall lay upon them. [17]The country of the Jews will be a terror to the Egyptians. If anyone mentions it to them, they will be in fear, because of the counsel the Lord purposed concerning it. [18]In that day, five cities in the land of Egypt will speak the language of Canaan and swear by the name of the Lord; one city will be called the City of Justice. [19]In that day, there will be an altar to the Lord in the midst of the country of Egypt and a pillar to the Lord at its border. [20]It will be a sign forever to the Lord in the country of Egypt, for they will cry to the Lord because of their oppressors, and the Lord will send them a Man who will save them. He will judge and save them. [21]Then the Lord will be known to the Egyptians, and in that day the Egyptians will know the Lord and offer sacrifices. Yes, they will make vows to the Lord and pay them. [22]The Lord shall strike the Egyptians with a great wound and completely heal them. They will return to the Lord, and He shall hear and heal them. [23]In that day there will be a road from Egypt to Assyria. The Assyrians will come into Egypt and the Egyptians into Assyria. The Egyptians will serve with the Assyrians. [24]In that day, Israel will be one of three with the Egyptians and Assyrians; a blessing in the land, [25]which the Lord of hosts blessed, saying, "Blessed are my people in Egypt, and in Assyria and Israel, My inheritance."

Isaiah 20

[1]In the year Tartan came to Azotus, when he was sent by Sargon the king of the Assyrians, and he fought Ashdod and took it, [2]then the Lord spoke to Isaiah, saying, "Go and remove the sackcloth from your loins, and take your sandals off your feet." Thus he did so, walking naked and barefoot. [3]Then the Lord said, "Just as My servant Isaiah walked naked and barefoot three years for a sign and a wonder against the Egyptians and Ethiopians, [4]so shall the king of the Assyrians lead the captivity of Egypt and the Ethiopians, young men and old, naked and barefoot, exposing the shame of Egypt. [5]The Egyptians being defeated shall be ashamed before the Ethiopians, in whom they trusted, for they were their glory. [6]Those also who dwell in this island shall say, 'Behold, we hoped to flee for help to those who were unable to save themselves from the king of the Assyrians. How then shall we be saved?' "

Isaiah 21

[1]The vision of the desert:

As though a whirlwind should pass through the desert, coming from a desert, from a fearful land, [2]so a fearful and harsh vision was declared to me. He who is treacherous deals treacherously; the lawless one deals lawlessly. The Elamites and the ambassador of the Persians come against me. Now I will groan and comfort myself. [3]Therefore my loins are filled with feebleness, and agony seizes me as a woman giving birth. I did wrong, so I cannot hear; I am so troubled, I cannot see. [4]My heart is led astray, and lawlessness permeates me. My soul is occupied with fear. [5]Prepare the table, eat and drink. Arise, you princes, and prepare your shields. [6]For thus the Lord said to me: “Go, set a watchman for yourself and declare whatever you see.” [7]So I saw two mounted horsemen, a rider on a donkey, and a rider on a camel. Listen with much attention, [8]and call Uriah to the lookout-place of the Lord. Then he said, “I stood continually during the day, and in the camp throughout the night. [9]Behold, he is coming, a rider on a chariot.” Then he answered and said, “Babylon is fallen, and all her statues and those made by hand are crushed to the ground.” [10]Listen, you who remain and are suffering pain, hear what things I heard from the Lord of hosts, which the God of Israel declared to us.

[11]The vision of Edom:

He calls to me from Seir, “Guard the battlements. [12]I guard in the morning and at night. If you will inquire, inquire, and dwell with me.” [13]In the forest on the road of Dedan you will lodge. [14]Bring water to meet him who is thirsty, you inhabitants of the land of Teman; meet those who are fleeing with bread, [15]because of the multitude who are fleeing and the multitude who are wandering, and because of the multitude of swords and bent bows, and the multitude of those fallen in war. [16]For thus the Lord said to me: “Within a year, according to the year of a hired servant, all the glory of the sons of Kedar shall fail. [17]The remainder of the archers and the mighty men of the sons of Kedar shall be few, for the Lord God of Israel has spoken.”

Isaiah 22

[1]The word concerning the valley of Zion:

What has happened to you, now that you have all gone up to worthless houses? [2]The city is full of loud crying. Your slain men are not slain with the sword, nor are your dead those who died in war. [3]All your rulers have fled, and your captives are tightly bound, and the mighty among you have fled.

4Therefore I said, “Let me alone; I will weep bitterly; do not labor to comfort me at the destruction of the daughter of my race.” 5For it is a day of trouble, destruction, trampling, and error from the Lord of hosts in the Valley of Zion.
They wander on the mountains, from the least to the greatest of them. 6And the Elamites took their quivers, and there were men mounted on horses, gathered for battle. 7It shall come to pass, your chosen valleys shall be full of chariots, and the horsemen shall block up your gates. 8They shall uncover the gates of Judah, and look in that day on the chosen houses of the city. 9They shall uncover the secret places of the houses of the citadel of David, and see they are many. They shall see they had turned back the waters of the old pool into the city, 10and had pulled down the houses of Jerusalem to fortify the wall for the city. 11You also made a reservoir for yourself between the two walls of the inner old pool. But you did not look to Him who made it from the beginning, nor did you perceive Him who created it. 12In that day the Lord of hosts called for weeping and mourning, for baldness and for girding with sackcloth. 13But instead, they celebrated in joy and gladness, slaying oxen and killing sheep, so as to eat and drink wine, saying, “Let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we die.” 14These things are revealed in the ears of the Lord of hosts, for this sin shall not be forgiven you until you die.

15Thus the Lord of hosts says, “Go into the chamber, to Shebna the steward, and say to him, 16‘What have you here, and what is this to you, that you have hewn a memorial here for yourself, and made yourself a memorial on high, and engraved a testimony for yourself in a rock? 17Indeed the Lord of hosts will cast out and destroy such a man, and take away your robe 18and glorious crown, and cast you into a large and unmeasured country. There you shall die, and there your beautiful chariot shall be brought to dishonor and your master’s house trampled. 19You will be taken from your stewardship and position. 20Then it shall be in that day, I will call My servant Eliakim the son of Hilkiah. 21I will clothe him with your robe and give your crown to him, and I will commit your power and your stewardship into his hands. He shall be like a father to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and Judah. 22I will give him the glory of David, and he shall rule, and no one will oppose him. 23I will establish him as a ruler in a trustworthy place, and he will become a glorious throne to his father’s house. 24Everyone glorious in his father’s house will trust in him, from small to great, and they will depend on him. 25In that day,’ says the Lord of hosts, ‘the man established in a trustworthy place will be removed and fall, and the glory that was on him will be taken away; for the Lord has spoken.' "

Isaiah 23

[1]The vision concerning Tyre:

Wail, you ships of Carthage, for Tyre has perished; and they no longer come from the land of the Citaeans, for Tyre is led captive! [2]To whom are the dwellers on the island likened—these merchants of Phoenicia, who cross over the sea [3]in great waters, the offspring of merchants? These merchants of the nations are like as when the harvest is gathered. [4]Be ashamed, O Sidon; for the sea has spoken, the strength of the sea has said, "I do not labor in birth, nor bear children; neither do I rear young men, nor raise virgins." [5]Moreover when the report reaches Egypt, sorrow will take hold of them concerning Tyre. [6]Cross over to Carthage; wail, you inhabitants on this island! [7]Was this not your arrogance from the beginning, before it was handed over? [8]Who purposed these things against Tyre? Is it inferior, or does it have no strength? Are not its merchants the glorious rulers of the earth? [9]The Lord of hosts purposed these things, to bring down all the arrogance of the glorious ones and to dishonor every glorious thing on the earth. [10]Cultivate your land, for ships are no longer coming from Carthage. [11]Your hand is no longer able at sea, the hand that provoked kings. The Lord of hosts has given a command concerning Canaan, to destroy its strength. [12]They will say, "No longer continue to insult and wrong the daughter of Sidon, and if you cross over to the Citians, neither will you be at rest there. [13]And if you depart for the land of the Chaldeans, this also was desolated by the Assyrians. Neither will you be at rest there, for its wall has fallen." [14]Wail, you ships of Carthage, for your stronghold is destroyed! [15]Then it shall come to pass in that day that Tyre will be abandoned for seventy years, as the time of a king, as the time of a man; and it shall be, after the seventy years, Tyre will be as the song of a prostitute. [16]Take a harp, wander about the city, you forgotten prostitute. Play well on the harp, sing many songs, that you may be remembered. [17]And it shall be, at the end of seventy years, that the Lord will visit Tyre. She will be restored again as of old, and will be a marketplace for all the kingdoms of the inhabited earth. [18]Her trade and her wages will be holy to the Lord. Her trade will not be gathered for them, but for those who dwell before the Lord, to eat, drink, and be filled, as a shared meal and a memorial before the Lord.

Isaiah 24

[1]Behold, the Lord is about to lay waste the inhabited earth, and He will make it desolate, lay bare its surface, and scatter those who dwell therein. [2]And it shall be that the people shall be as the priest, the servant as the lord, the maiden as the mistress, the buyer as the seller, the lender as the borrower, and the debtor as the creditor. [3]The earth shall be completely laid waste and utterly plundered, for the mouth of the Lord has spoken these things. [4]The earth mourns and the inhabited earth is ruined; the lofty of the earth mourn. [5]The earth acts lawlessly because of its inhabitants, for they transgressed the law and changed the ordinances, the everlasting covenant. [6]Therefore a curse shall devour the earth, because those who dwell in it sinned. Therefore the inhabitants of the earth shall be poor, and few people will be left. [7]The wine shall mourn, the vine shall mourn, and all the merry-hearted will groan. [8]The mirth of tambourines, the willfulness and wealth of the ungodly, and the sound of the harp have ceased. [9]They were ashamed; they did not drink wine; strong drink is bitter to those who drink it. [10]Every city was made desolate; every house is shut up, that none may go in. [11]Wail for wine everywhere; all gladness of the earth is gone! [12]Cities shall be left desolate, and abandoned houses will be destroyed. [13]All these things shall be in the earth in the midst of the nations, in the manner someone would glean an olive tree. Thus they shall glean them when the harvest is done. [14]They shall cry aloud, and those left behind on the earth shall be glad together in the glory of the Lord. The water of the sea shall be troubled. [15]Therefore the glory of the Lord will be in the islands of the sea; the name of the Lord, the God of Israel, will be glorious. [16]From the ends of the earth we heard wonderful things, and there is hope for the godly man. They will say, “Woe to the rejecters, who reject the law!” [17]Fear, a pit, and a snare are upon you who dwell on the earth. [18]It shall be that he who flees from the fear shall fall into the pit, and he who comes up from the midst of the pit shall be caught in the snare; for the windows of heaven are opened, and the foundations of the earth shall be shaken. [19]The earth shall be completely troubled, and the earth will be completely perplexed. [20]The earth bends and will be shaken like a hut, and like a drunkard overpowered with wine; and it shall fall and be unable to stand, for lawlessness is upon it. [21]Then God will bring His hand upon the host of heaven and upon the kings of the earth. [22]They will gather them and close them in a fortress and in a prison; and after many generations they shall be visited. [23]And the brick will melt and the wall shall fall, for the Lord will reign in Zion and in Jerusalem, and will be glorified before His elders.

Isaiah 25

[1]O Lord my God, I will glorify You; I will sing a hymn to Your name, for You have done wonderful things, an ancient and true counsel. So be it, O Lord. [2]For You made cities into a mound; You made the foundations of their strong cities fall. The city of the ungodly shall not be built forever. [3]Therefore the poor people will bless You, and the cities of wronged people will praise You. [4]For You were a helper to every humbled city, and a protection to those who were disheartened by reason of poverty. You will deliver them from evil men, and be a shelter of the thirsty and a breath of life to the wronged. [5]They will bless You as discouraged people, thirsting in Zion because of ungodly men to whom You delivered us. [6]Then the Lord of hosts shall do this to all the nations on this mountain. They shall drink in gladness; they shall drink wine; they shall anoint themselves with ointment [7]on this mountain. Deliver all these things to the nations, for this is the counsel for all the nations. [8]Death prevailed and swallowed them, but again God wiped away every tear from every face; He took away the disgrace of His people from all the earth; for the mouth of the Lord has spoken. [9]Then it will be said in that day, “Behold, this is our God, in whom we hoped and rejoiced exceedingly; and we shall be glad in His salvation.” [10]For on this mountain God will give them rest, and the Moabite shall be trampled down, in the manner the threshing floor is tread with wagons. [11]He will spread forth His hands so as to humble man, to destroy him; and He will humble his arrogance —arrogance on which he laid his hands. [12]The height of your refuge He will humble, and bring it down to the ground.

Isaiah 26

[1]In that day they shall sing this song in the land of Judah: “Behold, we have a strong city; He will make our salvation its surrounding wall. [2]Open the gates; let the people enter who keep righteousness and guard the truth, [3]and who lay hold of the truth and keep peace, [4]because they hope forever in You, O Lord, the great and eternal God, [5]who humbles and brings down those who dwell on high; the strong cities You will cast down; You will bring them down to the ground. [6]The feet of the gentle and the humble shall tread them underfoot. [7]The way of the godly is straight; and the way of the godly is prepared. [8]For the way of the Lord is judgment. We hope in Your name and in the remembrance of You, [9]which our soul desires at night. My spirit rises early in the morning to You, O God, for Your commands are a light upon the earth. Learn righteousness, you who dwell on the earth. [10]The ungodly man ceases; he will not learn righteousness on the earth; he will not do the truth; let the ungodly man be taken away, that he may not see the glory of the Lord. [11]O Lord, Your arm is exalted, but they did not know it. But when they know it, they shall be ashamed, for jealousy will seize an untaught people; and now fire will devour the adversaries. [12]O Lord our God, grant us peace, for You render everything to us. [13]O Lord our God, possess us; O Lord, we know no other besides You; we name Your name. [14]The dead will not see life; neither will physicians raise them. Therefore You brought evils upon them and destroyed them, and took away every male of theirs. [15]Bring more evils on them, O Lord, on the glorious of the earth. [16]O Lord, I remembered You in my hard circumstances. Your chastening to us was a small affliction. [17]As a woman with child is in pain and cries out in her pangs, when she draws near the time of her delivery, so we became Your beloved because of Your fear, O Lord. [18]We have been with child, we have been in pain, and we have given birth. We brought forth the spirit of Your salvation on the earth. But the inhabitants of the world shall fall. [19]The dead shall rise up; and those in the tombs shall arise. Those in the earth shall be glad, for your dew is a healing for them, but the land of the ungodly shall come to an end." [20]Come, my people, enter your closets and shut your door; hide yourself for a very short while, until the anger of the Lord is past. [21]For behold, the Lord is bringing wrath from His holy place upon the inhabitants of the earth, and the earth will uncover its blood and will not cover its slain.

Isaiah 27

[1]In that day, God will bring His holy, great, and strong sword upon the fleeing dragon serpent, the perverse dragon serpent that flees; and He shall destroy the dragon. [2]In that day, there shall be a beautiful vineyard, and a desire to begin a hymn against a city: [3]“I am a strong city, a besieged city; I water it in vain; for it shall be taken at night, and its wall shall fall by day. [4]There is no woman who has not taken hold of it. Who will appoint me to guard straw in a field? I rejected it because of this enemy. For that very reason therefore, the Lord God did all the things He ordered. I am burned down.” [5]Those who dwell in it will cry out, “Let us make peace with Him, let us make peace.” [6]Those who come are the children of Jacob. Israel shall bud and put forth flowers, and the inhabited earth shall be filled with its fruit. [7]As he struck, shall he not be thus struck? As he slew, shall he not be thus slain? [8]Fighting and denouncing he shall send them away. Did you not think with a harsh spirit about killing them in a spirit of anger? [9]Therefore the lawlessness of Jacob will be removed; and this is his blessing when I take away his sin, when they make all the stones of the altars beaten like fine dust. Their trees do not remain, and their idols shall be cut down like a distant forest. [10]The flock that dwelt there shall be left like an abandoned flock, and for a long time the field will be for pasture; and there flocks shall lie down to rest. [11]And after a time, there will be nothing green in it because of the withering. Come here, you women who come from that sight. For it is a people of no understanding; therefore He who made them will have no compassion on them, neither He who formed them; and He will show them no mercy. [12]And it shall come to pass in that day that the Lord will close it from the channel of the river to the Brook of Egypt. And you will gather the sons of Israel one by one. [13]So it shall be in that day that they shall blow the great trumpet, and the lost ones in the country of the Assyrians and in Egypt will come, and they shall worship the Lord on the holy mountain in Jerusalem.

Isaiah 28

[1]Woe to the crown of arrogance, the hirelings of Ephraim, the flower that fell from the glory on top of the fertile mountain, those who are drunk without wine. [2]Behold, the anger of the Lord is a strong and harsh thing, like a falling hail where there is no shelter, falling violently like a great force of water, sweeping away the country. He shall bring relief for the earth with His hands.

[3]The crown of arrogance, the hirelings of Ephraim, will be trampled underfoot. [4]But the flower that fell from the hope of the glory on the top of the high mountain shall be like the forerunner of the fig. He who sees it wishes to swallow it before he gets it in his hand. [5]In that day, the Lord of hosts shall be the crown of hope, woven of glory, to the remnant of My people. [6]They shall be left in a spirit of judgment upon judgment and for the strength of those who prevent slaying. [7]For these are led astray with wine and are deceived by strong drink. Priest and prophet are out of their minds by reason of wine; they stagger because of drunkenness; they go astray. This is delusion. [8]A curse will devour this counsel, for this counsel was for the sake of covetousness. [9]To whom have we reported evils and declared a message? Those weaned from milk and withdrawn from the breasts. [10]Expect affliction upon affliction, hope upon hope, yet a little, yet a little. [11]By reason of the contempt of lips and another tongue they will speak to this people, [12]saying to them, “This is the rest for the hungry, and this is the affliction,” but they would not listen. [13]The teaching of the Lord God will be for them affliction upon affliction, hope upon hope, yet a little, yet a little, so they may go and fall backward; and they will be in danger, crushed and conquered. [14]Therefore hear the word of the Lord, you afflicted men and rulers of this people in Jerusalem. [15]Because you said, “We made a covenant with Hades, and are in agreement with death, and if the rushing storm passes through, it will not come upon us, for we made falsehood our hope, and in falsehood we shall be protected”; [16]therefore, thus says the Lord: “Behold, I lay for the foundations of Zion a costly stone, a chosen and precious cornerstone for its foundations, and whoever believes in Him will not be put to shame. [17]I will also cause judgment to be for hope, and My mercy to be for a standard. The sudden blast of wind will not pass by you who trust vainly in falsehood, [18]except it also take away your covenant of death. Your hope in Hades will also not stand when the rushing storm passes through, for you will be beaten down by it. [19]When it passes through, it will take you; for morning by morning it will pass through by day, and by night there will be an evil hope.” Learn to listen, [20]you in difficult straits. We cannot fight, and we ourselves are too weak to gather ourselves together. [21]As the mountain of the ungodly will rise up and be in the valley of Gibeon, He will do His deeds in anger, a work of bitterness. His anger will behave strangely, and His bitterness will be strange. [22]So do not be glad, neither let your bands become strong; because I heard from the Lord of hosts the things He will perform upon all the earth.

[23]Give ear and hear my voice. Listen and hear my words. [24]Will the plowman plow all day? Or will he prepare the seed before he cultivates the ground? [25]When he levels its surface, does he not then sow the small black cummin, and afterward sow the wheat, the barley, and the one-seeded wheat in your borders? [26]So you will be chastised by the judgment of your God and be gladdened by it. [27]For the black cummin is not cleansed with harshness, nor will the wheel of a wagon roll over the cummin; but the black cummin is threshed with a stick, and the cummin [28]will be eaten with bread. For I will not be angry with you forever, nor will the voice of my bitterness trample you underfoot. [29]These signs came forth from the Lord of hosts. Take counsel; exalt vain comfort.

Isaiah 29

[1]Woe to the city of Ariel, against which David waged war! Gather fruits year by year, for you will eat with Moab. [2]For I will afflict Ariel, and her strength and wealth will be mine. [3]I will encircle you as David did, and I will put a barricade around you, and place towers around you. [4]Your words will be humbled to the earth, and your words will sink into the earth. Your speech shall be like those calling out of the ground, and your voice weakened to the ground. [5]Moreover the wealth of the ungodly shall be like the dust of a wheel and like dirt carried away. It shall be as though in an instant and suddenly [6]from the Lord of hosts; for there will be a visitation with thunder and earthquake and a great noise, and a sudden blast of wind and a devouring flame of fire. [7]The wealth of all the nations, as many as fought against Ariel, and all who wage war against Jerusalem, and all who gather against her and afflict her, shall be as one who dreams in the night. [8]They shall be like those who eat and drink in a dream, and when they awake their dream was useless, and as a thirsty man dreams, as if he is drinking but is still thirsty when he wakes, and his soul hoped in vain, so will be the wealth of all the nations that fought against Mount Zion. [9]Faint and be amazed; be overpowered, not with strong drink nor with wine, [10]for the Lord made you drink a spirit of deep sleep, and He shall close their eyes and the eyes of their prophets and rulers, who see secret things. [11]All these things shall be to you as the words of this sealed book, which if they should give to a learned man, saying, “Read this,” then he will say, “I cannot read this, for it is sealed.” [12]This book shall also be placed in the hands of an unlearned man, and one shall say to him, “Read this,” then he will say, “I do not understand writings.”

13So the Lord said, “These people draw near to Me and honor Me with their lips, but their heart is far from Me, and they worship Me in vain, teaching the commandments and doctrines of men. 14Therefore behold, I will proceed to remove this people, and I shall remove them. I shall destroy the wisdom of the wise and hide the understanding of the intelligent.” 15Woe to those who deepen their counsel, but not through the Lord! Woe to those who take counsel in secret and whose works are in darkness! They say, “Who sees us?” and, “Who knows us or what we do?” 16Shall you not be considered as the clay of the potter? Shall what is molded of clay say to him who molded it, “You did not create me”? Or shall the work say to him who made it, “You did not make me wisely”? 17Is it not yet a very little while until Lebanon shall be changed like Mount Carmel, and Mount Carmel be considered a forest? 18In that day, the deaf shall hear the words of the book, and the eyes of those in darkness and in a fog shall see. 19The poor also shall rejoice exceedingly in gladness because of the Lord, and the hopeless among men shall be filled with gladness. 20The lawless man has come to an end, and the arrogant man has perished. Those who act lawlessly in malice are utterly destroyed, 21as well as those who cause men to sin in word. They shall make all who condemn at the gates an offense, because they turned aside the righteous man with wrongdoing. 22Therefore the Lord says this concerning the house of Jacob, whom He set apart out of Abraham: “Now Jacob shall not be ashamed, nor shall Israel now change his countenance. 23But when their children see My works, they shall sanctify My name for My sake, and will sanctify the Holy One of Jacob, and fear the God of Israel. 24And those who erred in spirit shall know understanding, and those who complained will learn to obey, and the stammering tongues shall learn to speak peace.”

Isaiah 30

1“Woe to the apostate children,” says the Lord! “You made counsel, but not through Me, and covenants, but not of My Spirit, so as to add sins to sins. 2You proceeded to go down to Egypt, but did not ask Me, so as to be helped by Pharaoh and protected by the Egyptians. 3For the protection of Pharaoh shall be your shame, and there shall be disgrace for those who trust in Egypt.

4For there are rulers at Tanis, evil messengers. In vain shall they labor 5in seeking a people who will not profit, help or benefit them, but they shall be for them a shame and a disgrace.”

6The vision of the quadrupeds in the desert:

In affliction and distress they carry their wealth on the backs of donkeys and camels—amid lions and lion’s cubs, and vipers and the offspring of flying vipers—to a nation that will not profit or benefit them, but will be for them a shame and a disgrace. 7For the Egyptians shall help you utterly in vain. Tell them, “This consolation of yours is in vain.”

8Now therefore, sit and write these things on a tablet in a book, for these things shall be for the time to come, even forever. 9For this is a disobedient people, false children, children who are unwilling to hear the law of God. 10They say to the prophets, “Do not report to us”; and to those who see visions, “Do not speak to us, but speak and declare to us another deception. 11Turn us aside from this way; remove this path from us, and take away from us the Holy One of Israel.” 12Therefore thus says the Lord, the Holy One of Israel: “Because you disobeyed these words, and hoped in falsehood and grumbled and were confident in this respect; 13therefore, this sin shall be to you like a wall ready to fall when a strong city is taken, whose fall is immediately present. 14Its fall shall be like the breaking of a clay vessel, like that of a small jar, so as not to find among them even a fragment with which to take away fire, or draw a little water.” 15For thus says the Lord, the Holy One of Israel: “When you return and groan, then you will be saved and know where you were. When you trusted in vain things, vain was your strength, and you did not will to listen.” 16But you said, “We will flee on horses”—therefore you shall flee. You also said, “We will ride on swift horses”—therefore those who pursue you shall be swift. 17One thousand shall flee at the voice of one; at the voice of five, many shall flee, until you are left as a pole upon a mountain, and as one holding a banner on a hill. 18And again God will wait, that He may have compassion on you; and therefore He will be exalted, that He may have mercy on you, because the Lord our God is a judge, and where will you leave behind your glory? Blessed are all those who abide in Him.

19For a holy people shall dwell in Zion; and Jerusalem cried with wailing, “Have mercy on me.” He will have mercy on you at the sound of your cry. When He sees this, He will listen to you. 20The Lord will give you the bread of affliction and scant water; and those leading you astray will no longer approach you, but your eyes shall see those leading you astray. [21]Your ears shall hear words behind you leading you astray, saying, “This is the way; let us walk in it,” either to the right hand or to the left. [22]You will also remove your idols plaited with silver and covered with gold. You will grind them to powder and scatter them like the water of an indisposed woman, and thrust them away like dung. [23]Then there will be rain for the seed of your land, and the bread of produce of your land’s increase will be plenteous and rich. In that day your cattle will feed in rich and large pastures. [24]Your bulls and the oxen that work the ground will eat straw prepared with winnowed barley. [25]On every high mountain and on every high hill there will be streams in that day, when many perish and the towers fall. [26]In that day, the light of the moon will be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun will be sevenfold, when the Lord heals the wound of His people and the pain of your plague.

[27]Behold, the name of the Lord comes after a long time, a burning anger. The teaching of His lips is with glory, a revelation full of wrath, and the wrath of His anger shall devour like fire. [28]His breath, like an overflowing stream in a valley, shall reach up to the neck and be divided, to trouble the nations for their vain error; and error shall pursue and overtake them. [29]Must you always be glad, and go into My holy places continually, as those who keep a feast, and must you always go with a flute, as those who are glad when they go into the mountain of the Lord, to the God of Israel? [30]God will cause His glorious voice to be heard, and He will show the anger of His arm with anger and wrath, and the flame of a devouring fire. He shall strike violently with thunderbolts, and His wrath shall be as water and violent hail. [31]For through the voice of the Lord, the Assyrians will be defeated, as He strikes them with the rod. [32]And it shall happen to him on every side, that those from whom his hope of assistance was, and in whom he trusted, shall themselves, in turn, make war on him with flutes and harps. [33]For you will be required before many days: Was it prepared for you also to reign? No, God prepared for you a deep valley, wood laid down, fire and much wood. The anger of the Lord shall be as a valley burning with brimstone.

Isaiah 31

[1]Woe to those who go down to Egypt for help and rely on horses, who trust in chariots because they are many, and in horsemen because they are very strong, but who do not trust in the Holy One of Israel, nor seek God! 2So He wisely brings evils upon them, and His word cannot be set aside, for He will rise up against the houses of evil men and against their vain hope. 3Now an Egyptian is a man, and not God; and their horses are flesh, and not a help. The Lord shall bring His hand against them, and those who help them shall become weary. All will perish together. 4For thus the Lord said to me: “As a lion roars, and a young lion over his prey, which he took and cries out upon it until the mountains are filled with his sound, and the animals are awestruck and terrified at the fierceness of his anger, so the Lord of hosts will come down to fight for Mount Zion, even upon her mountains. 5Like birds flying about, so will the Lord defend Jerusalem. He will deliver, preserve, and save it.” 6Return, you who planned a deep and lawless counsel. 7For in that day, men shall renounce their idols of silver and gold, which their hands made. 8Then the Assyrian shall fall by a sword not of man, and a sword not of man shall devour him. He shall not flee from the sword, but his young men shall be overthrown. 9For they shall be surrounded by a rock as by a barricade, and he who flees shall be caught.

Isaiah 32

1The Lord says this: “Blessed is he who has a seed in Zion and kindred in Jerusalem. For behold, a righteous King shall reign, and rulers will govern with judgment. 2A Man will hide His words, and be hidden as from flowing water; and He will appear in Zion as a glorious river flowing in a thirsty land. 3And they will no longer trust in men, but their ears will incline to listen. 4The heart of the sick will pay attention to listen, and the tongues that stammer will learn quickly to speak peace.” 5Let them no longer tell a fool to rule, nor let Your servants say any longer, “Be silent.” 6For the fool will speak foolishness, and his heart will think vain things: to practice lawlessness, to speak error against the Lord, to scatter hungry souls, and to make thirsty souls empty. 7For the counsel of evil men plans lawlessness, to destroy the humble with unjust words, and to scatter the words of the humble with judgment. 8But the godly plan wise things, and this counsel remains.

9Rise up, you rich women, and hear my voice. You daughters with hope, listen to my words. 10In pain, yet with hope, remember that for a full year the harvest will be consumed and cease. It shall by no means come again. 11Be amazed, be grieved, you confident ones. Strip yourselves, and gird your loins with sackcloth. 12Beat upon your breasts because of the desirable fields and the fruit of the vine. 13On the land of my people, thorns and grass will come up, and gladness will be taken from every house. As for the rich city, 14the houses are deserted, and they will leave behind the wealth of the city and desirable houses. The villages will become caves forever, and the gladness of wild donkeys and pastures of shepherds— 15until the Spirit comes upon you from on high, and the desert becomes a fruitful field, and the fruitful field is counted as a forest. 16Then judgment will take rest in the desert, and righteousness shall dwell in Carmel. 17The works of righteousness will be peace, and righteousness shall ensure rest and confidence forever. 18His people will dwell in a city of peace, and will dwell in confidence, and they will rest with riches. 19Though hail should come down, it would not fall upon you, and those who dwell in the forests shall be as confident as those in the plain. 20Blessed are those who sow beside all waters, where the ox and the donkey tread.

Isaiah 33

1Woe to those who distress you, though no one is causing you distress, and he who deals treacherously with you, though no one is dealing treacherously with you! Those who deal treacherously will be conquered and handed over, and like a moth in a garment they will be defeated. 2O Lord, have mercy on us; for we trust in You. The seed of the disobedient was made for destruction, but our salvation is in a time of affliction. 3The peoples were dismayed through fear of You, because of Your fearsome voice, and the nations were scattered. 4So now the spoils of your small and great shall be gathered, as if someone might gather grasshoppers. Thus shall they make fun of you. 5The God who dwells in the heights is holy. Zion is filled with judgment and righteousness. 6They will be handed over to the law. Our salvation is in treasures wherein is wisdom, knowledge, and godliness toward the Lord— these are the treasures of righteousness. 7Behold therefore, they will fear you greatly, and those you feared will fear you. For messengers shall be sent entreating for peace, weeping bitterly as they ask for peace. 8For their ways will lie desolate. The fear of the nations has ceased, and the covenant with them is taken away, and you will not reckon them as a people. 9The earth mourns, and Lebanon is shamed. Sharon has become marshlands, and Galilee and Carmel are laid bare. 10“Now I will arise,” says the Lord; “now I will be glorified; now I will be exalted. 11Now you shall see, now you shall perceive; the strength of your spirit is vain; fire shall devour you. 12The nations shall be burned up, like thorns thrown in the field and burned up. 13Those afar off will hear what I have done; and those near will know My strength.” 14The lawless in Zion departed; trembling will seize the ungodly. Who will tell you a fire is burning? Who will tell you about the eternal place? 15He who walks in righteousness and speaks uprightly, he who hates lawlessness and wrongdoing, who gestures with his hands, refusing bribes, he who stops his ears from hearing the judgment of blood, and he who shuts his eyes from seeing wrongdoing. 16He will dwell in a high cave of a mighty rock. Bread will be given him, and his water will be plentiful. 17All of you will see a King with His glory, and your eyes will see a land from afar. 18Your soul will think about fear. Where are the scribes? Where are the advisors? Where is he who numbers those growing up, 19both a small and great people, with whom they did not consult, nor did he know a deep-voiced people, that a despised people should not hear, and there is no understanding to him who hears? 20Behold, there is Zion, the city of our salvation. Your eyes will see Jerusalem, a wealthy city, a tabernacle which will not be shaken. Neither shall one of the tent-pegs of its tabernacle be moved forever, nor its cords broken; 21for the name of the Lord is great to you. There will be a place for you—rivers and brooks, broad and spacious. You will not travel this way, nor will a boat with oars. 22For my God is great. The Lord our judge will not pass me by. The Lord is our ruler, the Lord is our king. He will save us. 23Your ropes broke apart, for the boat was not strong. Your mast could not hold, and the sails slackened. It will not raise a flag until it is taken for booty. Therefore many lame men will make it a spoil. 24And the people who dwell among them will not say, “I am weary,” for their sin shall be forgiven.

Isaiah 34

1Come near, you nations, and listen, you rulers. Let the earth hear and those in it, the inhabited earth and the people therein. 2For the anger of the Lord is against all the nations, and His wrath against all the number of them, to destroy them utterly and to deliver them over for slaughter. 3Their slain and their dead shall be thrown out; their stench shall rise from their dead bodies, and the mountains shall be drenched with their blood. [4]Heaven shall also be rolled up like a scroll, and all the stars shall fall like leaves from a vine, as leaves fall from a fig tree. [5]My sword in heaven is soaked with blood. Behold, it shall come down on Edom, and with judgment on the people of destruction. [6]The sword of the Lord is filled with blood. It is fattened with the fat of lambs, goats, and rams. For the Lord has a sacrifice in Bozrah and a great slaughter in Edom. [7]The mighty ones shall fall with them, and the rams and the bulls. Their land shall be soaked with blood and saturated with fatness. [8]For it is the day of the Lord's judgment and the year of recompense for the cause of Zion. [9]Its valleys shall be turned into pitch and its land into brimstone. Its land shall become burning pitch. [10]It shall never be quenched day or night, and its smoke shall rise up. It shall lie waste for all time and generations. [11]But birds and hedgehogs shall live in it, and also ibises and ravens. He shall stretch out over it the measuring line of a desert, and donkey-centaurs will dwell in it. [12]Its rulers shall be no more, for its kings, rulers, and great ones shall be destroyed. [13]Thorn-trees shall come up in its cities and fortresses; it shall be a habitation of sirens, a courtyard for ostriches. [14]Demons shall also meet with donkey-centaurs, and one will cry out to another. Donkey-centaurs shall also rest there, for they found themselves a place of rest. [15]There the hedgehog made its nest, and the earth preserved its children in safety. There the deer also gathered and saw one another's faces. [16]They passed by in numbers, and not one of them perished. Not one of them sought the other, for the Lord commanded them, and His Spirit gathered them. [17]He shall cast lots for them, and His hand divided it among them to graze upon. They shall inherit it for all time, and shall rest on it from generation to generation.

Isaiah 35

[1]Be glad, you thirsty desert, and rejoice exceedingly, and let the desert blossom as a lily. [2]The desert places of the Jordan shall blossom abundantly and rejoice exceedingly. The glory of Lebanon and the honor of Carmel shall be given to it, and My people shall see the glory of the Lord and the majesty of our God. [3]Be strong, you relaxed hands and feeble knees. [4]Be comforted, you fainthearted. Be strong, do not fear. Behold, our God renders judgment and will render it. He will come and save us. [5]Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall hear. [6]Then the lame shall leap like a deer, and the tongue of the dumb will speak clearly. For water shall burst forth in the desert, and a valley in the thirsty land. [7]The waterless desert shall become meadows, and the thirsty land springs of water. There will be the gladness of birds, a habitation of reeds and marshes. [8]A pure way shall be there, and it shall be called a holy way. No unclean man shall pass through there, neither shall there be an unclean way there. But those dispersed shall walk in it, and they shall not go astray. [9]No lion shall be there, nor shall any ravenous animals go up on it, nor at all be found there. But the redeemed shall walk in it, [10]and those gathered by the Lord shall return and come to Zion with gladness, and with everlasting gladness over their head. For praise and exceeding joy will be on their head, and gladness shall possess them. Pain, sorrow, and sighing fled away.

Isaiah 36

[1]Now it came to pass in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah that Sennacherib king of the Assyrians came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them. [2]Then the king of the Assyrians sent Rabshakeh with a great army from Lachish to King Hezekiah at Jerusalem, and he stood by the aqueduct of the upper pool, on the way of the fuller's field. [3]So Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, the steward, Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came out to him. [4]Then the Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of the Assyrians: "Why are you confident? [5]Is a war carried on by counsel or mere words? Now in whom do you trust, that you disobey me? [6]Behold, you are trusting in the staff of this broken reed, Egypt, on which if a man leans, it will puncture his hand. So is Pharaoh king of Egypt and all who trust in him. [7]But will you say, 'We trust in the Lord our God'?' " [8]Now therefore, make an agreement with my lord the king of the Assyrians, and I will give you two thousand horses—if you are able on your part to put riders on them. [9]How are you able to turn back the face of one governor? Those who trust in the Egyptians for horse and rider are our servants. [10]Have we now come up without the Lord to make war against this country?"

[11]Then Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah said to the Rabshakeh, "Speak to your servants in the Syrian language, for we understand it; and do not speak to us in Hebrew in the hearing of the men who are on the wall." 12But Rabshakeh said to them, "Has my lord sent me to your lord or to you to speak these words? Has he not sent me to speak to the men who sit on the wall, so they may eat their own dung, and drink their own urine with you?" 13Then the Rabshakeh stood and called out with a loud voice in Hebrew, and said, "Hear the words of the great king, the king of the Assyrians. 14Thus says the king: 'Do not let Hezekiah deceive you with words which will be unable to deliver you; 15nor let Hezekiah say to you, "God will deliver you, and this city will not be given into the hand of the king of the Assyrians.' " 16Do not listen to Hezekiah; for thus says the king of Assyria: 'If you wish to be blessed, come out to me, and each of you will eat from his own vine and his own fig tree, and all of you will drink the waters of your own cistern, 17until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of grain and wine, and of bread and vineyards.' 18Let not Hezekiah deceive you, saying, 'God will deliver us.' Has any one of the gods of the nations delivered its land from the hand of the king of the Assyrians? 19Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Have they delivered Samaria from my hand? 20Who among all the gods of these nations delivered his land from my hand, that God should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?" 21But they held their peace and answered him not a word, because of the king's commandment not to answer him.

22Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, the steward, Shebna the scribe of the army, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn and told him the words of the Rabshakeh.

Isaiah 37

1Thus it came to pass, when King Hezekiah heard this, he tore his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the Lord. 2Then he sent Eliakim the steward, Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz. 3So they said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah: 'This day is a day of affliction, disgrace, rebuke, and wrath; for the pangs of childbirth have come, but there is no strength to give birth. 4May the Lord your God hear the words of the Rabshakeh, whom the king of the Assyrians sent to denounce the living God, and to insult Him with words which the Lord your God heard. Therefore you shall pray to the Lord your God for the remnant that is left.' " 5So the servants of King Hezekiah came to Isaiah, 6and Isaiah said to them, "Thus shall you say to your lord: 'The Lord says this, "Do not be afraid of the words you heard, whereby the ambassadors of the king of the Assyrians denounced Me. 7Behold, I will send a spirit upon him, and he shall hear a rumor and return to his land. Then he will fall by the sword in his own land." ' "

8So Rabshakeh returned and found the king warring against Libnah. Then the king of the Assyrians heard that 9Tirhakah king of the Ethiopians had come out to make war against him. So when he heard it, he returned and sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, 10"Thus you shall speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, 'Do not let your God in whom you trust deceive you, saying, "Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of the Assyrians." 11You heard what the kings of the Assyrians did to all lands by destroying them. 12Did the gods of the nations deliver those my fathers destroyed—Gozan and Haran and Rezeph in the country of Telassar? 13Where are the kings of Hamath and Arpad, and the kings of the city of Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?' " 14So Hezekiah received the scroll from the messengers and opened it before the Lord. 15Then Hezekiah prayed to the Lord, saying, 16"O Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, the One who sits between the cherubim, You alone are the God of all the kingdoms of the world. You made heaven and earth. 17Hear, O Lord, and open Your eyes, O Lord, and see the words Sennacherib sent to denounce the living God. 18For it is true, the kings of the Assyrians laid waste the inhabited earth and their countries, 19and cast their idols into the fire; for they were not gods, but works of men's hands—wood and stone. Therefore they destroyed them. 20But now, O Lord our God, save us from their hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know You alone are God."

21Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah and said to him, "The Lord God of Israel says this: 'I heard what you prayed to Me against Sennacherib king of the Assyrians. 22This is the word God has spoken concerning him: "The virgin daughter of Zion has despised and laughed you to scorn. The daughter of Jerusalem has shaken her head at you. 23Whom have you denounced and provoked? Or against whom have you raised your voice? You have lifted your eyes on high against the Holy One of Israel. 24By your messengers, you have insulted the Lord, for you said, 'By the multitude of my chariots I came to the height of the mountains, to the limits of Lebanon. I cut down its tall cedars and its choice cypress trees, and entered the height of its forest region. 25I built a bridge, and dried up the waters and every pool of water.’ 26Did you not hear long ago the things I did? From ancient times I appointed them, but now have manifested my purpose to desolate nations in their strongholds and those who dwell in strong cities. 27I weakened their hands, and they withered; and they became like dry grass on the housetops and like weeds. 28Now then, I know your resting place, your going out and your coming in. 29Your great rage and bitterness has come up to Me. Therefore I will put a hook in your nose and a bridle in your lips, and I will turn you back by the way you came.’ ” 30This shall be a sign to you: You shall eat this year what you sowed, and the second year what is left over; also in the third year sow and reap; plant vineyards and eat the fruit of them. 31So the remnant in the house of Judah shall again take root downward and bear fruit upward. 32For out of Jerusalem a remnant shall go forth, and those saved from Mount Zion. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will perform these things. 33Therefore, thus says the Lord concerning the king of the Assyrians: ‘He shall not come into this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor come before it with shield, nor build a siege mound against it. 34By the way he came, by the same shall he return,’ says the Lord. 35‘I will protect this city, to save it for My own sake and for My servant David’s sake.’ ”

36Then the Angel of the Lord went out and killed in the camp of the Assyrians one hundred and eighty-five thousand; and when people arose early in the morning, they discovered all the dead bodies. 37Then Sennacherib king of the Assyrians departed and returned to Nineveh, and dwelt there. 38Now it came to pass, as he was worshiping in the house of Nisroch his god, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword, then escaped into the land of Ararat; and Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place.

Isaiah 38

1In those days Hezekiah was sick and near death. Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, went to him and said, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Set your house in order, for you shall die and not live.’ ” 2Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall, and prayed to the Lord, 3and said, “Remember now, O Lord, I pray, how I have walked before You in truth and with a true heart, and did what is pleasing in Your sight.” So Hezekiah wept loudly. 4Then the word of the Lord came to Isaiah, saying, 5"Go and tell Hezekiah, 'Thus says the Lord, the God of David your father: "I heard your prayer, I see your tears. Behold, I will add fifteen years to your life. 6I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of the Assyrians, and I will protect this city. 7Now this shall be the sign to you from the Lord, that God will do this thing: 8I will turn back the shadow on the ten steps of your father's house—the steps on which the sun goes down." ' " So the sun's shadow that went down on the ten steps turned back.

9The prayer of Hezekiah king of Judah when he was sick and recovered from his sickness: 10"I said at the end of my days near the gates of Hades, 'I shall leave behind the remainder of my years.' 11I said, 'I shall no longer see the salvation of my God upon the earth; I shall no longer see a man among my kindred.' 12I left behind what remained of my life. It went away and departed from me like one who takes down a tent. My breath became in me like the web of a weaver when she draws near to cut it. 13On that day I was given as to a lion until morning. So He broke my bones, for from day until night I was given over. 14Like a swallow, so shall I cry; I will mourn like a dove. My eyes fail from looking to the height of heaven toward the Lord, who delivered me 15and removed the pain of my soul. 16O Lord, it was told You concerning this, and You revived my breath; and I was comforted and lived. 17For You chose my soul that it should not perish, and You cast all my sins behind me. 18For those in Hades shall not praise You, neither will the dead bless You; nor shall those in Hades hope for Your mercy. 19The living shall praise You as I do. For from this day forward, I shall cause children to declare Your righteousness, O Lord of my salvation, 20and I shall not cease to bless You with the psaltery all the days of my life before the house of God."

21Now Isaiah said to Hezekiah, "Take a cake of figs, mash them, and apply them as a plaster, and you shall recover." 22Then Hezekiah said, "This is the sign that I shall go up to the house of the Lord God."

Isaiah 39

1At that time, Merodach the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters, ambassadors, and gifts to Hezekiah, for he heard he was sick and almost died, but had recovered. 2Hezekiah was very glad they came, and he showed them the house of his treasures—the oil of myrrh, the fragrant incense, the ointment, the silver and the gold—and all the treasure houses with their vessels, and everything found among his treasures. There was nothing in his house he did not show them. 3Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah, and said to him, “What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?” So Hezekiah said, “They came to me from a far country, from Babylon.” 4Then he said, “What did they see in your house?” So Hezekiah answered, “They saw everything in my house; there is nothing in my house they did not see, even among my treasures.” 5Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, “Hear the word of the Lord of hosts: 6‘Behold, the days are coming,’ says the Lord, ‘when everything in your house and everything your fathers accumulated until this day shall be carried to Babylon; nothing shall be left.’ 7God also said they shall take away some of your sons whom you begot, and make them eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.” 8So Hezekiah said to Isaiah, “The Lord’s word you spoke is good. Let there indeed be peace and righteousness in my days.”

Isaiah 40

1“Comfort, yes, comfort My people,” says God. 2“O priests, speak to the heart of Jerusalem, comfort her, for her humiliation is ended, her sin is pardoned; for she received from the Lord’s hand double for her sins.” 3The voice of one crying in the wilderness: “Prepare the way of the Lord; make straight the paths of our God. 4Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill humbled; the crooked places shall be made straight, and the rough places into plains. 5The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see the salvation of God; for the Lord has spoken.” 6The voice said, “Cry out.” So I said, “What shall I cry?” “All flesh is grass, and all man’s glory is like the flower of the field. 7The grass withers, the flower fades, 8but the word of our God abides forever.’ 9O you who bring good tidings to Zion, go into the high mountain; O you who bring good tidings to Jerusalem, lift up your voice with strength; lift it up, be not afraid. Say to the cities of Judah, “Behold your God.” 10Behold, the Lord is coming with strength, and His arm is with authority. Behold, His reward is with Him, and His work before Him. 11He will feed His flock like a shepherd and gather the lambs with His arm; and He will comfort those with young.

12Who measured the water in His hand, and heaven with a span, and all the earth with a handful? Who weighed the mountains in scales and the vales in a balance? [13]Who knows the Lord's mind, and who was His counselor; who advises Him? [14]Or with whom does He take counsel, who instructs Him, and who teaches Him judgment and shows Him the way of understanding? [15]The nations are as a drop in a bucket and are counted as the balance of a scale; and they are counted as spittle. [16]Lebanon is not sufficient to burn, nor its four-footed animals sufficient for a whole burnt offering. [17]All nations are as nothing and are counted as nothing. [18]To whom then will you liken the Lord, and to what likeness will you compare Him? [19]Has the workman made an image, or has the goldsmith overspread it with gold, gilding it, making a likeness of Him? [20]For the workman chooses wood that will not rot, and skillfully seeks to prepare a carved image that will not totter. [21]Will you not know? Will you not hear? Has it not been told you from the beginning? Do you not know the foundations of the earth? [22]It is He who possesses the circle of the earth, and its inhabitants are like grasshoppers. It is He who stretches out heaven like a vault, and spreads them out like a tent to dwell in. [23]He makes the rulers He establishes to rule to be as nothing; He makes the earth as nothing. [24]Scarcely shall they be planted, scarcely shall they be sown, scarcely shall their stock take root in the earth, when He shall also blow on them and they will wither, and the whirlwind will take them away like stubble. [25]"Now then, to whom will you liken Me, that I should be exalted?" says the Holy One. [26]Lift up your eyes on high, and see. Who displayed these things? He who brings forth their host by number; He who calls them all by name. From the greatness of His glory to the strength of His might, nothing escapes Your notice.

[27]For why do you say, O Jacob, and speak, O Israel, saying, "My way is hidden from God, and my God took away my judgment and departed"? [28]So then, have you not known? Have you not heard? The everlasting God, the God who created the ends of the earth, neither hungers nor is weary. His understanding is unsearchable. [29]He gives strength to the hungry, and sorrow to those who do not grieve. [30]Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the elect shall be without strength. [31]But those who wait on God shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings like eagles; they shall run and not be weary; they shall walk and not hunger.

Isaiah 41

[1]“Be renewed before Me, O coastlands, for the rulers will gain their strength.
Let them come near and speak together, then let them declare judgment.
[2]Who raised up righteousness from the east, and called it to his feet, that it should go forth? He will establish it before the Gentiles and amaze kings. He shall bury their swords in the earth and cast away their bows as sticks. [3]He will pursue them, and the way of His feet will pass through in peace. [4]Who worked and performed these things? He called righteousness, He who calls it from generations of old. I, God, am the first, and into the future I Am. [5]The Gentiles saw His righteousness and feared. The ends of the earth drew near and came together, [6]each one judging for his neighbor, that he might help his brother. One will say, [7]‘The craftsman is strong, as is the metalworker who strikes with the hammer and forges at the same time.’ Sometimes one will say, ‘It is put together well, and they fastened it with nails. They arranged them, and they shall not be moved.’

[8]“But you, O Israel, are My servant, and Jacob, whom I chose, the seed of Abraham, whom I loved. [9]I took you from the ends of the earth, and called you from its height. I said to you, ‘You are My servant. I chose you, and have not forsaken you. [10]Fear not, for I am with you. Do not go astray, for I am your God who strengthens you; and I will help and secure you with My righteous right hand.’ [11]Behold, all your adversaries shall be put to shame and disgraced. For they shall be as though they did not exist, and all who oppose you shall perish. [12]You shall seek but not find the men who rage against you, for those who war against you shall be as though they did not exist. [13]For I am your God who holds your right hand, saying to you, ‘Fear not.’ [14]O Jacob, O Israel, few in number, I will help you, and I will redeem you, O Israel,” says God. [15]“Behold, I will make you like new saw-shaped threshing wheels of a wagon, and you shall thresh the mountains and beat the hills to powder, and make them like chaff. [16]You shall crush them, and the wind shall carry them away; and the whirlwind will scatter them; but you shall be glad among the saints, O Israel. [17]The poor and needy shall rejoice exceedingly, for when they shall seek water, but there is none, and their tongues are parched with thirst, I, the Lord God, will hear them; I, the God of Israel, will not forsake them. [18]But I will open rivers in the mountain and fountains in the midst of the plains. I will make the desert into marsh-meadows, and the dry land into aqueducts. [19]I will plant the cedar, the box-tree, the myrtle, the cypress, and the white poplar in the waterless ground, [20]so they may see, know, consider, and understand together that the Lord’s hand did all these things; and the Holy One of Israel created them.

[21]"Your judgment draws near," says the Lord God. "Your counsels draw near," says the King of Jacob. [22]"Let them draw near, and tell you what will happen; or tell you about the former things, what they were; and we shall be able to understand and know them, and know what are the last things; and tell us about the future. [23]Declare to us things coming at the end of time, and we will know you are gods. Do good and evil, and we shall marvel and see it together. [24]Where do you come from? Where does your work come from? They chose you, an abomination out of the earth. [25]I raised up one from the north and from the rising of the sun, and they shall be called by My name. Let the rulers come, and you will be trampled down, as potter's clay and as a potter tramples down the clay. [26]For who will declare the things from the beginning, that we may also know the former things and say they are true? There is no one who foretells or hears your words. [27]I will give Zion the power to rule, and I shall comfort Jerusalem in the way. [28]For I looked, and there was no one from the nations or from their idols to declare it to me. If I should ask them where they are from, they would not answer me. [29]For they are the ones who made you, so you think, and in vain they are leading you astray.

Isaiah 42

[1]"Jacob is My Servant; I will help Him. Israel is My chosen; My soul accepts Him. I put My Spirit upon Him; He will bring forth judgment to the Gentiles. [2]He will not cry out, nor raise His voice, nor cause His voice to be heard outside. [3]A bruised reed He will not break, and smoking flax He will not quench; but He will bring forth judgment in truth. [4]He will shine forth and not be broken until He establishes judgment in the earth; and in his name the Gentiles will hope." [5]Thus says the Lord God, who made heaven and established it, who made firm the earth and the things in it, and who gives breath to the people in it, and spirit to those who walk on it: [6]"I, the Lord God, called You in righteousness, and will hold Your hand. I will strengthen You, and give You as the covenant of a race, as the light of the Gentiles, [7]to open the eyes of the blind, to bring out prisoners who are bound, and those who sit in darkness from the prison house. [8]I am the Lord God; this is My name. I will not give My glory to another, nor My praise to carved images.

9Behold, things from of old came to pass, and new things I will declare.
Before they spring forth, I will tell you of them."

10Sing to the Lord a new song, you His realm. Glorify His name from the ends of the earth, you who go down to the sea and sail on it, you coastlands and you who inhabit them. 11Be glad, O desert and its villages, the homesteads and those inhabiting Kedar. Those who dwell in Petra shall be glad; they shall shout from the tops of the mountains. 12They will give glory to God and declare His virtues in the coastlands. 13The Lord God of powers shall go forth and crush war. He shall stir up His zeal, and cry out against His enemies with strength. 14I held My peace, and I will not always be silent and restrain Myself. Now I will be steadfast, like a woman in labor. I shall amaze and dry up together. 15I will make the rivers into coastlands and dry up marsh-meadows. 16I will bring the blind by a way they did not know, and will cause them to tread paths they have not known. I will turn darkness into light for them, and make crooked places straight. These things I will do for them, and not forsake them. 17But they turned back. You be greatly ashamed who trust in carved images, who say to the molded images, "You are our gods."

18Hear, you deaf; and look up, you blind, that you may see. 19Who is blind but My servants, or deaf but those who rule over them? The servants of God are blind. 20You often see, but do not take heed. Your ears were opened, but you do not listen. 21The Lord God wished to show His righteousness and to magnify His praise. 22But I saw the people robbed and plundered, for there was a snare in the secret chambers everywhere, and in the houses at the same time, where they hid them. They became as plunder, and there was no one to rescue the prey, and no one who said, "Restore them." 23Who among you will give ear to these things? Who will listen and hear what is coming? 24Who gave Jacob for plunder, and Israel to those who plunder him? Was it not God, against whom they sinned? For they would not walk in His ways nor heed His law. 25So He brought upon them the fury of His wrath, and war overpowered them. They set them on fire all around, yet none of them knew or took it to heart.

Isaiah 43

1And now, thus says the Lord God who made you, O Jacob, and who formed you, O Israel: "Fear not, for I redeemed you. I called you by your name, for you are Mine. 2If you pass through water, I am with you; and the rivers shall not overflow you. If you pass through fire, you shall not be burned up, nor shall the flame consume you. 3For I am the Lord your God, the Holy One of Israel, who saves you. I made Egypt and Ethiopia your ransom and gave Seba on your behalf. 4Since you were precious in My sight, you became glorious, and I love you. I will give many men for you and rulers to lead you. 5Fear not, for I am with you; I will bring your seed from the east, and gather you from the west. 6I will say to the north, 'Bring them,' and to the south, 'Do not keep them back. Bring My sons from afar and My daughters from the ends of the earth—everyone called by My name.' 7For in my glory I prepared him, and formed and made him. 8I brought forth the blind people, and their eyes are alike blind, and their ears deaf." 9All the nations are gathered together, and the rulers shall be assembled from among them. Who will declare these things or tell us things from the beginning? Let them bring forth their witnesses, and be proven right; and let them speak the truth. 10"You are My witnesses, and I am a witness," says the Lord God, "and My Servant whom I chose, that you may know and believe, and understand that I am He. Before Me there was no other God, nor shall there be after Me. 11I am God, and besides Me there is no one who saves. 12I proclaimed, and I saved. I denounced foreign gods so there were none among you. You are My witnesses, and I am a witness," says the Lord God. 13"Even from the beginning, there is no one who can deliver out of My hands; I will work, and who will reverse it?"

14Thus says the Lord God who redeems you, the Holy One of Israel: "For your sake I will send to Babylon and arouse all who flee, and the Chaldeans shall be bound in ships. 15I am the Lord God, your Holy One, who made known your King, O Israel." 16Thus says the Lord, who makes a way in the sea and a path in the mighty water, 17who brings forth chariot and horse, and a mighty host. But they fell asleep, and shall not arise. They are extinguished, like a quenched lamp-wick: 18"Do not remember the former things, nor reason about the things of old. 19Behold, I will do new things, which shall now spring forth, and you shall know them; and l will make a road in the desert and rivers in the waterless places. 20The wild animals of the field will bless Me, the sirens and the daughters of sparrows, because I gave water in the wilderness and rivers in the waterless place, to give drink to My race, My chosen, 21My people whom I preserved to declare My virtues. 22I have not called on you now, O Jacob, neither have I made you grow weary, O Israel.

[23]You have not brought Me sheep for your whole burnt offerings, neither have you glorified Me with your sacrifices, nor have I wearied you with frankincense. [24]Neither have you purchased sweet incense for Me with money, nor have I desired the fat of your sacrifices; but I set before you your sins and wrongdoings. [25]I, even I, am He who blots out your lawlessness, and I will not remember them. [26]But remember, and let us judge; tell your lawless first, that you may be made righteous. [27]Your fathers first, and their rulers after them, acted lawlessly against Me. [28]Your rulers defiled My holy things; thus I gave Jacob to destruction and Israel for reproach."

Isaiah 44

[1]Yet hear now, O Jacob My servant, and Israel, whom I chose. [2]Thus says the Lord God who made you, and formed you from the womb: "You will yet be helped; fear not, Jacob My servant, and Israel, My beloved, whom I chose. [3]For I will give water to the thirsty who walk in a waterless place. I will put My Spirit upon your seed and My blessings upon your children. [4]They will spring up like grass in the midst of the water and like willows by the flowing water. [5]One will say, 'I am God's,' and will call himself by the name of Jacob. Another will write, 'I am God's,' and call himself by the name of Israel."

[6]Thus says God, the King of Israel who delivers him, the God of hosts: "I am the first and the last; besides Me there is no God. [7]Who is just as I am? Then let him stand, let him call and prepare for Me that from which I made man forever, and let them declare to you the things that are coming before they come. [8]Do not hide yourselves. Have you not paid attention from the beginning, and have I not declared it to you? You are My witnesses, if there is a God besides Me? Indeed there was none. [9]All who form and carve gods are useless, and they desire things which shall not profit them; but they will be ashamed. [10]They all create a god and carve unprofitable things. [11]All by whom they were made are withered, and let all the deaf among men be gathered together. Let them stand together, and be ashamed and dishonored together. [12]For the craftsman sharpens his iron tool, and fashions the idol with his axe, and pierces it with the awl. He works it with the strength of his arm, and will hunger and grow weak, and will not drink water. [13]The craftsman selects his wood and stretches out his rule, and fits it with glue. He makes it like the form of a man and according to the bloom of youth, to set it up in the house. 14The wood he cut from the forest which the Lord planted, and the rain made it grow, 15so as to be for men to burn and to take some of it to warm himself. They kindle it, and bake bread for themselves; but he works into gods what is left and worships them. 16They burn half of it in the fire, and with the other half they bake bread for themselves. They roast meat on it, eat and are satisfied. He even warms himself and says, ‘I am comfortable, because I am warm, and have seen the fire.’ 17And the rest of it he makes into a carved god, and worships it and prays to it, and says, ‘Deliver me, for you are my god.’ 18They do not know how to discern because they shut their eyes, so as not to see with their eyes or understand with their heart. 19No one considered in his heart, neither pondered in his soul, nor knew in his discernment, that he burned half of it in the fire, baked bread on its coals, roasted meat and ate, and then made the rest of it an abomination; and they worship it. 20Know this: their heart is ashes; they go astray, and no one can deliver his soul. See, you will not say, ‘There is a lie in my right hand.’

21“Remember these things, O Jacob and Israel, for you are My servant; I formed you to be My servant; therefore, you, O Israel, do not forget Me. 22For behold, I blotted out your lawlessness like a cloud and your sins like darkness. Return to Me, and I will redeem you. 23Be glad, O heavens, for the Lord had mercy on Israel. Sound the trumpet, you foundations of the earth; shout with gladness, you mountains and hills and every tree on them. For God redeemed Jacob, and Israel will be glorified.”

24Thus says the Lord, who redeems you and forms you from the womb: “I am the Lord, who accomplishes all things, who alone stretched out the heavens and established the earth. 25Who else will scatter abroad the sign of ventriloquists and the divinations from their heart, turning their shrewd men backward and making their counsel foolishness? 26Who else establishes the word of His servant, proving the counsel of His messengers to be true? Who else says to Jerusalem, ‘You shall be inhabited,’ and to the cities of Judah, ‘You shall be built, and the desert places shall spring forth’? 27Who else says to the deep, ‘You shall be dried up, and I will dry up your rivers’? 28Who else tells Cyrus to be wise, and do all My will, and says to Jerusalem, ‘You will be built, and I shall lay the foundation of My holy house’?”

Isaiah 45

[1]Thus says the Lord God to Cyrus, My anointed, whose right hand I hold that nations might be obedient before him, and I will break the strength of kings: I will open doors before him, and the cities will not be closed. [2]“I will go before you and level mountains; I will break in pieces the gates of bronze and shatter the bars of iron. [3]I will give you the treasures of darkness, and I shall open unseen secret things to you, so you may know I, the Lord God, who call you by your name, am the God of Israel. [4]For Jacob My servant’s sake, and Israel My elect, I will call you by your name; I will accept you, though you have not known Me. [5]For I am the Lord God. There is no God besides Me, and you have not known Me. [6]I will call you by name and accept you, so those who come from the east and the west may know there is none besides Me. I am the Lord God, and there is no other. [7]I am He who prepared light and made darkness, who makes peace and creates troublesome things. I am the Lord God who does all these things. [8]Let heaven above be glad, and let the clouds sprinkle righteousness. Let the earth bring forth mercy and righteousness together. I am the Lord who created you.

[9]“As the clay of a potter, what better thing have I created? Will the one plowing plow all day? Shall the clay say to the potter who forms it, ‘What are you making, for you neither work nor have hands?’ [10]As though one should say to his father, ‘What will you beget?’ Or to his mother, ‘What will you bring forth?’ ” [11]Thus says the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel, who made the things that are to come: “Ask Me concerning My sons and daughters; and command Me concerning the works of My hands. [12]I made the earth and mankind upon it. With My hand I established heaven and commanded all the stars. [13]I raised him up to be a king with righteousness, and all his ways are right. He shall build My city and return the captivity of My people, not with ransoms or gifts,” says the Lord of hosts.

[14]Thus says the Lord of hosts: “Egypt labored for you, and the merchandise of the Ethiopians and of the Sabeans, men of stature, shall pass over to you. They shall be your servants and follow behind you, bound with handcuffs. They shall bow down and make supplication to you, because God is with you; and they shall say, ‘There is no God besides You. [15]For You are God, the God of Israel, the Savior, yet we knew it not.’ [16]All who oppose him shall be ashamed and disgraced and shall walk in shame. Be restored to Me, O coastlands. [17]Israel is saved by the Lord with an everlasting salvation.
They will not be ashamed or disgraced forever.”

[18]For thus says the Lord, who made heaven—this is the God who formed the earth and made it. He established it, and did not make it in vain, but formed it to be inhabited—"I Am, and there is no other. [19]I have not spoken in secret, nor in a dark place of the earth. I did not say to the seed of Jacob, 'Seek Me in vain.' I Am, I am the Lord who speaks righteousness and declares the truth. [20]Assemble yourselves and come. Take counsel together, you who are saved from among the nations. Those who set up the wood of their carved image have no knowledge, and pray to gods who do not save. [21]If they will declare, let them draw near, so as to know together who caused these things to be heard from the beginning. At that time it was told you, 'I am God, and there is no other besides Me; there is no righteous God and Savior in addition to Me.' [22]Return to Me, and you shall be saved, you who are from the ends of the earth. For I am God, and there is no other. [23]I swore by Myself: righteousness will truly proceed from my mouth; My words shall not be turned away, that to Me every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall confess to God, [24]saying, 'Righteousness and glory shall come to Him, and all who separate themselves from Him shall be put to shame.' [25]All the seed of the children of Israel shall be made righteous by the Lord, and glorified in God."

Isaiah 46

[1]Bel bowed down; Dagon is crushed; their carved stones are for the wild animals and cattle. Take them bound as a burden to the weary, [2]to the hungry, the exhausted and those who have no strength together, who shall not be able to save themselves from war, but who themselves are led away as captives.

[3]"Listen to Me, O house of Jacob and all the remnant of Israel, both those taken from the womb and those instructed from childhood, [4]even to your old age: I Am, and even to your gray hairs, I Am. I bear you; I made you and will forgive you. I will take you up and save you. [5]To whom will you liken Me? Look what you contrived, you who went astray. [6]Those who contribute gold from a purse and silver on a scale, and count them out by weight, and who hire a goldsmith, they make things with their hands, and bowing down, they worship them. [7]They bear it on their shoulders and go; and if they set it somewhere, it remains there and never moves. Though one cries out to it, yet it cannot answer, nor save him from his troubles. [8]Remember these things and groan. Repent, you who go astray; return in your heart. [9]Remember the former things of old, for I am God, and there is no other besides Me, 10 declaring beforehand the latter events before they come to pass and are accomplished together. I say, ‘All My counsel shall stand, and I will do whatever I will to do, 11 calling a bird from the east and from a land afar off.’

For what I purpose to do, I speak and bring it about, and create and do it.
Thus I brought him and proposed his way. 12 Listen to Me, you stubborn-hearted who are far from righteousness. 13 I bring My righteousness near, and My salvation shall not delay. I give salvation in Zion and to Israel for glory.

Isaiah 47

1 “Come down and sit on the ground, O virgin daughter of Babylon; enter the darkness, O daughter of the Chaldeans, for you shall be prosperous no more, so as to be called comfortable and luxurious. 2 Take a millstone and grind meal. Remove your veil, show your gray hair, uncover the shins, and pass through the rivers. 3 Your shame will be uncovered, and your disgrace will be seen. I will take your standard of living from you, and no longer deliver people to you. 4 He who delivers you has spoken; the Lord of hosts is His name, the Holy One of Israel. 5 Sit down, you who are pierced to the heart; enter into darkness, O daughter of the Chaldeans; for you shall no longer be called the strength of a kingdom. 6 I was provoked at My people; you profaned My inheritance; I gave them into your hand. You showed them no mercy; you laid your yoke very heavy on the elderly. 7 You said, ‘I shall be a princess forever,’ but you did not understand these things in your heart, nor remember the latter end. 8 Therefore hear this now, you who are given to pleasures, who sit in confidence, who says in her heart, ‘I am, and there is no other; I shall not sit as a widow, nor shall I know bereavement.’ 9 But now these two things shall come upon you in a moment, in one day: widowhood and the loss of children. They shall come upon you in a moment because of your sorcery, the great abundance of your enchanters, 10 and your hope of evil. For you said, ‘I am, and there is no other.’ Know that your understanding of these things and your fornication will be your shame, for you said in your heart, ‘I am, and there is no other.’ 11 Therefore destruction shall come upon you, and you shall not know the pit into which you will fall.
Trouble shall come upon you, and you will be unable to be clear of it.
Destruction shall come upon you suddenly, but you will not know it. 12 Stand now with your enchantments and the multitude of your sorceries which you learned from your youth, if you will be able to profit from this. 13You are wearied in your counsels. Let the astrologers, the stargazers, and the monthly prognosticators stand up and save you from what shall come upon you. 14Behold, all these shall be burned like sticks in a fire, and they shall not deliver their soul from the flame. For you have coals of fire to sit on, and these shall be your help. 15You grew weary in your traffic from youth, and each man led himself astray, but there shall be no salvation for you.

Isaiah 48

1"Hear this, O house of Jacob, who are called by the name of Israel and have come forth from Judah, who swear by the name of the Lord God of Israel, mentioning it, but not with truth nor with righteousness, 2and who are devoted to the name of the holy city, and lean on the God of Israel for support —the Lord of hosts is His name. 3I still declare the former things that went forth from My mouth, and they became well known. Suddenly I did them, and they came to pass. 4I know you are stubborn, and your neck is an iron nerve; and your forehead is made of bronze. 5Yet I told you long ago, before it came to pass. I made it well known to you, lest you should say, 'My idols did them'; and lest you should say, 'My carved images and my molten images commanded them for me.' 6You heard all this, yet you knew not what you heard. But I also made new things known to you, things about to happen from that present time; yet you said not so. 7Now they come to pass, and not long ago, but you did not listen to these things in former days. You do not say, 'Yes, I know this.' 8You neither know nor understand, nor have I opened your ears from the beginning. For I knew you would deal treacherously and reject them, and would be called lawless from the womb. 9For My name's sake, I will show you My anger, and I will bring before you my glorious acts, so as not to utterly destroy you. 10Behold, I sold you, but not for silver; and I delivered you from the furnace of poverty. 11For My own sake, I will do this for you, because My name is profaned; and I will not give My glory to another. 12Listen to Me, O Jacob and Israel, whom I call: I am the first, and I am forever. 13My hand also laid the foundation of the earth, and My right hand established heaven. I shall call them, and they will stand together. 14All shall be gathered and hear: Who declared these things to them? Because I love you, I did your will against Babylon, to slay the seed of the Chaldeans. [15]I have spoken, I have called him, I have brought him, and made his way prosper. [16]Come near to Me, hear this: I have not spoken in secret from the beginning, nor did I speak in a dark place of the earth. When it took place, I was there, and now the Lord and His Spirit have sent Me." [17]Thus says the Lord who delivers you, the Holy One of Israel: "I am your God, who showed you how to find the way wherein you should walk. [18]If only you had heeded My commandments, then your peace would be like a river, and your righteousness as a wave of the sea. [19]Your seed would also be like the sand, and the offspring of your womb like the dust of the ground. Neither would you be utterly destroyed now, nor would your name perish before Me."

[20]Go forth from Babylon, you who are fleeing from the Chaldeans. Proclaim a voice of gladness and let it become well known. Proclaim it to the end of the earth, and say, "The Lord delivered His servant Jacob." [21]If they shall thirst, He will lead them through the desert, and water shall flow from the rock for them. He will split the rock, the water shall flow, and My people will drink. [22]"There is no rejoicing," says the Lord, "for the ungodly."

Isaiah 49

[1]"Listen to Me, O coastlands, and take heed, you Gentiles. It will stand for a long time," says the Lord. "He called My name from My mother's womb. [2]He made My mouth like a sharp sword, and hid Me under the shadow of His hand. He made Me as a chosen arrow and covered Me in His quiver. [3]He said to me, 'You are My servant, O Israel, in whom I will be glorified.' [4]Then I said, 'I have labored in vain and spent My strength for nothing. Therefore My judgment is from the Lord, and my labor is before My God.' [5]Now thus says the Lord—who formed Me from the womb to be His Servant, and to bring Jacob and Israel back to Him (for I shall gather and glorify them before the Lord, and My God shall be My strength)— [6]indeed He says, 'It is a great thing for You to be called My Servant, to establish the tribes of Jacob, and to restore the dispersion of Israel. Behold, I give You as the covenant of a race and as the light of the Gentiles, that You should be the salvation to the ends of the earth.' "

[7]Thus says the Lord, who delivers You, the God of Israel: "Sanctify Him who despises His life, who is abhorred by the nations and by the servants of rulers. Kings shall see Him and rise, and rulers also shall worship Him for the Lord's sake. For the Holy One of Israel is faithful, and He chose You." [8]Thus says the Lord: "In an acceptable time I heard You, and in the day of salvation I helped You. I give You as a covenant to the Gentiles, to establish the earth and to inherit the inheritance of the desert; [9]saying to those in bonds, 'Go forth,' and to those in darkness, 'Reveal yourselves.' They shall feed along all their roads, and their pasture shall be along all the paths. [10]They shall not hunger, neither shall they thirst, nor shall the burning heat of the sun strike them; but He who has mercy on them will comfort them; and He shall lead them by the fountains of waters. [11]I will make every mountains as a road, and every path as a pasture for them. [12]Behold, these come from afar, these from the north and these from the sea, and the others from the land of the Persians." [13]Be glad, O heavens, and rejoice exceedingly, O earth. Let the mountains break out in gladness, and the hills in righteousness. For the Lord had mercy on His people, and comforted the humble of His people.

[14]But Zion said, "The Lord forsook me, and the Lord forgot me." [15]"Will a woman forget her child, so as not to have mercy on the offspring of her womb? But even if a woman should forget these things, nevertheless, I shall not forget you," says the Lord. [16]"Behold, I painted your walls on My hands, and you are continually before Me. [17]It will be rebuilt quickly by your destroyers, and those who laid you waste shall go away from you. [18]Lift up your eyes round about, and look on them. Behold, they gather together and come to you. As I live," says the Lord, "you shall clothe yourselves with them, and put them on as a bride's attire. [19]For your deserts and your ruined and fallen places will now be too confined because of the inhabitants; and those who swallowed you up will go far away. [20]For your children, whom you lost, will say in your ears, 'The place is too narrow for me. Make me a place where I may dwell.' [21]Then you will say in your heart, 'Who has begotten these for me? For I am childless and a widow, but who reared these for me? I was left alone, but these, where are they from?' "

[22]Thus says the Lord: "Behold, I lift My hand to the Gentiles, and I will set up My signal to the islands. They shall bring your sons in their bosom, and your daughters shall be carried on their shoulders. [23]Kings shall be your foster fathers, and their queens your nursing mothers. They shall bow down to you upon the face of the earth, and lick up the dust of your feet. Then you will know I am the Lord, and you will not be ashamed. [24]Will someone take spoils from a mighty man? If anyone should take someone captive unjustly, will that one be saved?” 25Thus says the Lord: “If someone should take a mighty man captive, he will also take his spoils; and he will also save the one taken captive by that strong man. For I will plead your cause and deliver your children. 26Those who oppressed you will eat their own flesh and drink their own blood as new wine; and all flesh shall perceive that I am the Lord, who delivers you and supports the strength of Jacob.”

Isaiah 50

1Thus says the Lord: “Of what quality is your mother’s certificate of divorce, by which I put her away? Or to which debtor have I sold you? Behold, you are sold for your sins, and for your lawlessness I put away your mother. 2Why, when I came, was there no man? Why, when I called, was there none to obey? Is My hand unable to deliver? Or have I no strength to deliver? Behold, with My rebuke I dry up the sea, and I turn rivers into deserts; and because there is no water, their fish dry up and die of thirst. 3I clothe heaven with darkness and make its covering like sackcloth.”

4“The Lord gives Me the tongue of the learned, so as to know when to speak a word at a fitting time; and He causes My ear to listen each morning. 5The Lord’s instruction opens My ears, and I am not disobedient, nor do I contradict Him.

6“I gave My back to whips, and My cheeks to blows; and I turned not away My face from the shame of spitting. 7The Lord became My helper; therefore, I was not disgraced. But I made My face like a solid rock and knew I would not be ashamed. 8For He who pronounces Me righteous draws near. Who is he who judges Me? Let him oppose Me at the same time. Who is he who judges Me? Let him come near Me. 9Behold, the Lord will help Me. Who will harm Me? Behold, all of you will grow old like a garment, and old age will devour you, as a moth does a garment.

10“Who among you fears the Lord? Let him listen to the voice of His Servant. You who walk in darkness and have no light, trust in the name of the Lord and rely upon God. 11Behold, all of you kindle a fire and feed a flame. Walk in the light of your fire and the flame you kindled. This happened to you for My sake, and you shall lie down in sorrow.

Isaiah 51

[1]“Listen to Me, you who pursue righteousness and seek the Lord. Look to the solid rock which you hewed, and to the hole of the pit which you dug. [2]Look to Abraham our father and to Sarah who bore you, for he was first, and I called and blessed him, and loved and multiplied him. [3]And now I will comfort you, O Zion, and I comforted all her desert places; and I shall make her desert places like the Garden of the Lord. In it they shall find gladness and exceeding joy, and thanksgiving and the voice of praise. [4]Listen to Me, listen, O My people and kings, give ear to Me, for law shall proceed from Me, and My judgment as the light of the Gentiles. [5]My righteousness draws near quickly, and My salvation will go forth as light, and the Gentiles will hope in My arm, and the coastlands shall wait for Me and hope in My arm.
[6]Lift up your eyes to heaven, and look to the earth below, for heaven is solid as smoke, and the earth will grow old like a garment; and the inhabitants of the earth shall die, as do these things. But My salvation shall be forever, and My righteousness will not fail. [7]Listen to Me, My people who know judgment, in whose heart is My law. Do not fear the reproach of men, nor be overcome by their contempt. [8]For as a garment will be devoured by time, and as wool will be devoured by a moth, so shall they be devoured. But My righteousness shall be forever, and My salvation from generation to generation.”

[9]Awake, awake, O Jerusalem, and put on the strength of your arm. Awake as in the beginning of days, as in the generations of old. [10]Are You not He who dried up the sea, the abundant water of the deep, and made the depths of the sea a road of passage for those who were delivered and redeemed? [11]For with the Lord’s help, they shall return and come to Zion with gladness and everlasting joy; for exceeding joy. Praise and gladness shall come on them, and pain, grief, and sighing shall depart from them. [12]“I Am, I am the Lord who comforts you. Know who it is you feared, for you were fearful of mortal man and the son of man, those who wither like grass. [13]You forgot the God who made you, who made heaven and laid the foundations of the earth, but all your days you feared the angry face of him who oppressed you. For he plotted to take you away, but now where is the anger of him who oppressed you? [14]For when you are saved, he will not stand still nor tarry. [15]For I am your God who troubles the sea and causes the waves to roar. The Lord of hosts is My name. [16]I will put My words in your mouth, and protect you under the shadow of My hand, with which I established heaven, and laid the foundation of the earth. I will say to Zion, ‘You are My people.’

17 Awake, awake, rise up, O Jerusalem, who drank the cup of anger from the Lord’s hand, for you drank the cup of destruction, the drinking-vessel of My anger, and emptied it out. 18 There was no one to comfort you from all the children you bore, and there was no one to take hold of your hand, not even from among all the children you reared. 19 These two things are against you.
Who will sympathize with you in your grief? Misfortune and affliction, famine and sword! Who will comfort you? 20 Your sons are at a loss, and they lie asleep at the end of every street like a half-boiled beet, full of the Lord’s anger and forsaken because of the Lord God. 21 Therefore listen, you who are humbled and drunk, but not from wine. 22 Thus says the Lord God who judges His people: “Behold, I took the cup of destruction, the cup of My anger, from your hand, and it shall no longer be imposed on you to drink from it. 23 I will put it into the hands of those who wronged and humbled you, those who said to your soul, ‘Bow down as we pass by.’ So you put your back parallel with the ground to those who passed by.”

Isaiah 52

1 Awake, awake, O Zion; put on your strength, O Zion, and put on your glory, O Jerusalem, the holy city. The uncircumcised and the unclean shall no longer continue to pass through you. 2 Shake off the dust and rise up. Sit down, O Jerusalem; put off the band from your neck, O captive daughter of Zion. 3 For thus says the Lord: “You were sold for nothing, and you shall be redeemed without money.” 4 Thus says the Lord: “My people went down to Egypt in former times to sojourn there, and they were taken to the Assyrians by force.” 5 So now, why are you here? The Lord says this: “Because My people were taken for nothing, marvel and lament.” The Lord says this:
“Because of you, My name is blasphemed continually among the Gentiles.
6 Therefore My people shall know My name in that day, for I am He who speaks. 7 I am present like springtime in the mountains, like the feet of one who announces a good report of peace, like one who preaches good things, for I will cause Your salvation to be heard, saying, ‘O Zion, your God reigns.’ ” 8 For the voice of those who guard you is raised upward, and with their voice they shall be glad together; for their eyes shall be on watch together when the Lord has mercy on Zion. 9 Break forth in gladness together, O desert places of Jerusalem, for the Lord had mercy on her, and has delivered Jerusalem. [10]The Lord will reveal His holy arm before all the Gentiles, and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of God. [11]Depart, depart, go out from there, and do not touch an unclean thing. Separate yourselves, you who carry the vessels of the Lord, [12]because you shall not go forth with tumult, nor will you go by flight. For the Lord will go before you, and the Lord God of Israel shall gather you.

[13]Behold, My Servant shall have wisdom, and He shall be exalted and glorified exceedingly. [14]Just as many shall be astonished at You, so Your form and glory shall be dishonored by men. [15]Thus many nations shall marvel at Him, and kings shall shut their mouth, because they to whom no report was brought concerning Him shall see; and they who did not hear shall understand.

Isaiah 53

[1]O Lord, who has believed our report, and to whom was the arm of the Lord revealed? [2]We proclaimed His presence as a Child, as a Root in a thirsty land. He had no form or glory, and we saw Him; and He had no form or beauty. [3]But in comparison to all men, His form was lacking in honor. He was a man in suffering and knew how to bear sickness. His face was turned away, and He was dishonored and not esteemed. [4]He bears our sins and suffers for us, yet we considered Him to be in pain, suffering, and ill-treatment. [5]But He was wounded because of our lawlessness, and became sick because of our sins. The chastisement of our peace was upon Him, and by His bruise we are healed. [6]All we like sheep have gone astray. Man has gone astray in his way, and the Lord delivered Him over for our sins. [7]Although He was ill-treated, He opened not His mouth. He was led as a sheep to the slaughter, and as a lamb is silent before his shearers, so He opens not His mouth. [8]In His humiliation His judgment was taken away, and who will declare His generation? For His life is taken from the earth, and because of the lawlessness of My people He was led to death. [9]I will appoint evil men for His burial and rich men for His death, because He committed no lawlessness, nor was deceit found in His mouth. [10]The Lord wishes to cleanse Him of His wound, and if You give an offering for sin, Your soul shall see a long-lived seed. [11]The Lord wishes to take away the pain of His soul, to show Him light, to form Him with understanding, and to pronounce righteous the Righteous

One who serves many well; and He shall bear their sins. [12]Therefore He shall inherit many, and will divide the spoil with the strong, because His soul was delivered over to death. He was considered among the lawless, and He bore the sins of many, and was delivered over because of their sins.

Isaiah 54

[1]“Be glad, O barren woman who does not bear; break forth and cry out, you who are not in travail, for more are the children of the desolate than the children of the married woman,” says the Lord. [2]“Enlarge the place of your tent and courtyard; set it up; do not avoid it; lengthen your ropes and strengthen your pegs. [3]Spread out further to the right and the left, and your seed shall inherit the Gentiles. You shall cause the desolate cities to be inhabited. [4]Fear not that you were shamed, neither be confounded and disgraced; for you will forget your former shame and will not remember the disgrace of your widowhood. [5]For it is the Lord who is your Maker; the Lord of hosts is His name. He is your Deliverer, and He shall be called the God of Israel by all the earth. [6]The Lord has not called you like a woman forsaken and fainthearted, nor like a wife hated from her youth,” says your God. [7]“I forsook you for a short while, but with great compassion I will have mercy on you. [8]In a little anger I turned away My face from you, but in everlasting compassion I will have mercy on you,” says the Lord who delivered you. [9]“This little anger is to Me as it was at the time of Noah’s Flood, when I swore to him regarding the earth, that I would no longer be angry with it, neither would I again threaten to remove its mountains nor move its hills. [10]So neither shall My compassion fail you, nor shall your covenant of peace be removed; for the Lord who is merciful to you has spoken.

[11]“Servile and unstable, you were not comforted. Behold, I am preparing you carbuncle for your stone and sapphire for your foundations, [12]and I will make your battlements jasper and your gates crystal stones, and the enclosing wall of your temple choice stones. [13]I will cause all your children to be taught by God, and your children to be in great peace. [14]You shall be built in righteousness. Keep away from wrongdoing, and you will not be afraid, and trembling shall not come near you. [15]Behold, resident aliens shall come to you because of Me, and they shall flee to you. [16]Behold, I created you, not as a metalworker who blows coals in the fire and brings out a vessel fit for work; and I created you, not for ruin so as to destroy you. [17]I will not prosper any instrument of destruction used against you, and every voice raised against you in judgment, you shall overcome them all; and your adversaries shall be judged guilty. This is the inheritance for those who serve the Lord, and you shall be my righteous ones," says the Lord.

Isaiah 55

[1]"You who are thirsty, go to the water, and all who have no money, go and buy wine and fat, and eat and drink without money and price. [2]Why do you value at the price of money, and give your toil for what does not satisfy? Listen to Me and eat good things, and your soul will delight in good things. [3]Incline your ears and follow my ways. Listen to Me, and your soul shall live in good things; and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, the holy and faithful things of David. [4]Behold, I made him a witness among the Gentiles, a ruler and commander to the Gentiles. [5]The Gentiles, which did not know you, shall call upon you, and the peoples who did not understand you shall take refuge in you, because of your God, the Holy One of Israel; for He glorified you."

[6]Seek God, and when you find Him, call upon Him when He draws near to you. [7]Let the ungodly man abandon his ways, and the lawless man his counsels; and let him return to the Lord, and He will have mercy on him; for He shall forgive your sins abundantly. [8]"For My counsels are not as your counsels, neither are your ways My ways," says the Lord. [9]"But as heaven is distant from earth, so is My way distant from your ways, and your thoughts from My mind. [10]For as rain comes down, or snow from heaven, and does not return until it saturates the earth, and it brings forth and produces, and gives seed to the sower and bread for food, [11]so shall My word be, whatever proceeds from My mouth. It shall not return until it accomplishes whatever I willed, and I shall prosper your ways and My commandments. [12]For you shall go forth with gladness and shall be taught with joy, for the mountains and hills shall exult to receive you with joy; and all the trees of the field shall applaud with their branches. [13]Instead of the broom-tree shall come up the cypress, and instead of the nettle shall come up the myrtle; and the Lord shall be for a name and for an everlasting sign, and He shall not fail."

Isaiah 56

[1]The Lord says this: “Guard judgment and do righteousness, for My salvation draws near, and My mercy shall be revealed. [2]Blessed is the man who does these things, and the man who lays hold on them; and who keeps the Sabbaths, so as not to profane them, and keeps his hand free from wrongdoing.” [3]Let not the foreigner who is devoted to the Lord say, “The Lord therefore will separate me from His people,” and let not the eunuch say, “I am a withered tree.” [4]The Lord says this to the eunuchs: “As many as keep My Sabbaths, and choose the things I will, and lay hold of My covenant, [5]I will give them a notable place in My house and within My wall, a place better than that of sons and daughters. I will give them an eternal name, and it shall not fail. [6]I will also give an eternal name to the foreigners who devote themselves to the Lord, to serve Him and to love His name, to be His male and female servants, and to all who keep My Sabbaths so as not to profane them, and who hold fast to My covenant. [7]I will lead them to My holy mountain and gladden them in My house of prayer. Their whole burnt offerings and sacrifices shall be accepted upon My altar, for My house shall be called House of Prayer for All Nations,” [8]says the Lord who gathers the dispersed of Israel; “for I will gather together a congregation to Him.”

[9]All you wild animals of the fields and all you wild animals of the thicket, come and eat. [10]See, all are blinded; they do not know how to be discerning; all are dumb dogs unable to bark; dozing on a bed, loving to sleep. [11]They are shameless dogs in their soul and do not know satisfaction. They are evil and have no understanding. All follow their own ways, each according to his own will.

Isaiah 57

[1]See how the righteous man perishes, and no one takes it to heart. Righteous men are taken away, and no one notices it; and the righteous man is taken away from the presence of wrongdoing. [2]His burial shall be in peace, for he was taken from the midst of it. [3]“But come here, you lawless sons, a seed of adulterers and of a prostitute. [4]In whom did you delight? And against whom did you open your mouth? Against whom did you loosen your tongue? Are you not the children of destruction, a lawless seed? [5]You are those who call upon their idols under leafy trees and slay their children in the midst of the rocks. [6]That is your portion, this is your lot, for you poured out drink offerings to them, and to them you offered up sacrifices; therefore, shall I not be angry for these things? [7]On a high and lofty mountain, there was your bed, and there you carried up your sacrifices. [8]Also behind the posts of your door, you put your memorials. You supposed if you departed from Me, it would be a better thing. You loved those who slept with you, [9]and multiplied your fornication with them. You increased their number far away from you, and sent ambassadors beyond your borders. You turned aside and humbled yourselves, even to Hades. [10]You grew weary with many ways, but you did not say, ‘I will cease strengthening myself,’ for you practiced these things; therefore, you did not supplicate Me. [11]Whom did you respect and fear, so as to lie to Me, and not remember Me, nor take Me into your heart and mind? So when I see you, I disregard you, for you do not fear Me. [12]And I will declare My righteousness, and your evils, which will not profit you. [13]When you cry out, let them deliver you in your tribulation, for wind and storm will take them and carry them all away. But those who hold fast to Me shall possess the land and inherit My holy mountain. [14]They shall say, ‘Cleanse the ways before His face, and take away the obstacles from the way of My people.’ ”

[15]The Lord, the Most High who dwells on high forever, the Holy One among His saints, whose name is the Lord Most High, who rests among His saints, and who gives patience to the fainthearted and life to the broken-hearted, says this: [16]“I will not punish you forever, nor will I always be angry with you, for My Spirit shall go forth from Me, and I made every breath. [17]Because of sin for a time I grieved him, and struck him, and turned away

My face from him; and he was grieved, and he went on sorrowful in his ways. 18I saw his ways, and healed him; and I comforted him, and gave him true comfort. 19There is peace upon peace to those far off and those near; and the Lord says, ‘I will heal them.’ 20But wrongdoers shall be tossed here and there by waves, and be unable to rest. 21There is no joy to the ungodly,” says the Lord God.

Isaiah 58

1“Cry aloud with strength, and spare not; lift up your voice like a trumpet, and declare to My people their sins, and to the house of Jacob their lawlessness. 2They seek Me day by day, and desire to know My ways. As a people who did righteousness, and did not forsake the judgment of their God, they now ask Me about righteous judgment, and desire to draw near to God, 3saying, ‘Why have we fasted, but You did not see it? Why have we humbled our souls, but You did not know it?’ Because in the days of your fasts, you seek your own wills, and mistreat those under your authority. 4If you fast for condemnations and quarrels, and strike a humble man with your fists, why do you fast to Me as you do today, so your voice may be heard in crying? 5I did not choose this fast, and such a day for a man to humble his soul; nor if you should bow your neck like a ring and spread sackcloth and ashes under yourself, could you thus call such a fast acceptable. 6I did not choose such a fast,” says the Lord; “rather, loose every bond of wrongdoing; untie the knots of violent dealings; cancel the debts of the oppressed; and tear apart every unjust contract. 7Break your bread for the hungry, and bring the homeless poor into your house. If you see a naked man, clothe him, nor shall you disregard your offspring in your own household. 8Then your light shall break forth as the morning, and your healing shall spring forth quickly. Your righteousness shall go before you, and the glory of God shall cover you. 9Then you shall cry out, and God will hear you. While you are still speaking, He will say, ‘Behold, I am here.’ If you take away your fetter and the pointing of the finger, and the word of grumbling, 10and if you give bread to the hungry from your soul, and satisfy the humble soul, then your light shall rise up in the darkness, and your darkness shall be as midday. 11God shall be with you continually, and you shall be satisfied as your soul desires. Your bones shall be enriched, and you shall be like a well-watered garden and like a spring of water that does not fail. Your bones will arise and be enriched like a green plant, and they shall inherit generations of generations. [12]Your ancient deserts shall be built, and your ancient foundations shall be from generation to generation. You shall be called Builder of Walls, and will rest on the paths within them. [13]If you turn away your foot from work because of the Sabbath, so as not to do your desires on the holy day, and if you shall call the Sabbath joyful, holy to your God, and not take away your foot for work, nor speak a word in wrath from your mouth, [14]then you shall trust in the Lord; and He will bring you to the good things of the land, and feed you with the inheritance of Jacob your father, for the mouth of the Lord has spoken these things."

Isaiah 59

[1]Is the Lord's hand unable to save? Is His ear heavy so as not to hear? [2]But your sins stand between you and your God, and He turned His face from you because of your sins, so as not to have mercy. [3]For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with sins; and your lips speak lawlessness, and your tongue plots wrongdoing. [4]No one speaks righteous things, nor is there true judgment. They trust in worthless things and speak vain things; for they conceive trouble and give birth to lawlessness. [5]They hatch the eggs of asps, and weave a spider's web. He who is about to eat of their eggs finds a sterile and broken egg, and in it a basilisk. [6]Their web shall not become a garment, nor will they clothe themselves with their works; for their works are works of lawlessness. [7]Their feet run swiftly to evil to shed blood. Their thoughts are the thoughts of undiscerning men, and destruction and misery are in their ways. [8]They do not know the way of peace, and there is no judgment in their ways; for the paths they travel are corrupt, and they do not know peace. [9]Therefore judgment departed from them, and righteousness does not lay hold of them. While they waited for light, darkness came upon them, and while they waited for the dawn, they walked in darkness. [10]They groped around for a wall like blind men, and like men who have no eyes they groped around. They shall fall at midday as though it were midnight, and shall groan like dying men. [11]They shall proceed together like a bear and a dove: We waited for judgment, but there is none, and salvation departed far away from us. [12]For our lawlessness is great before You, and our sins oppose us; for our lawlessness is with us, and we know our unrighteous deeds. 13We acted in an ungodly manner, and we lied and departed backwards from our God. We spoke unjustly, and were disobedient; and we conceived and meditated on unrighteous words from our heart. 14We departed backwards from judgment, and righteousness stands far off. For the truth is consumed in their ways, and they could not pass by a straight path. 15Truth was taken away, and they turned away their mind so as not to understand. But the Lord saw this and was not pleased, because there was no judgment. 16He also saw there was no man, and He observed, but there was no one to help. He defended them with His arm and established them with His mercy. 17He put on righteousness as a breastplate and placed the helmet of salvation on His head. He clothed Himself with the garment and covering of vengeance, 18as a recompense of recompenses, even a rebuke to His adversaries. 19Those from the west shall fear the name of the Lord, and those from the east, His glorious name; for the wrath of the Lord shall come like a violent river; it shall come with anger. 20He who delivers shall come for Zion's sake, and He shall turn back ungodliness from Jacob. 21"This shall be My covenant with them," says the Lord. "My Spirit who is upon you, and My words I caused to be in your mouth shall not fail from the mouth of your seed; for the Lord has spoken it, from now and forever.

Isaiah 60

1"Shine, shine, O Jerusalem, for your light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon you. 2Behold, darkness and gloom shall cover the earth upon the nations, but the Lord will shine on you; and His glory shall be seen upon you. 3Kings shall come to your light, and the Gentiles to your brightness. 4Lift up your eyes all around, and see your children gathered together. Behold, all your sons come from afar, and your daughters shall be lifted upon their shoulders. 5Then you will see, fear and be amazed in your heart, because the wealth of the sea and of nations and peoples shall change their course and turn to you. 6Herds of camels shall come to you, and the camels of Midian and Ephah shall cover you. All those from Sheba shall come bearing gold, and they shall bring frankincense and proclaim the good news of the Lord's salvation. 7All the sheep of Kedar shall be gathered together to you, and the rams of Nebaioth shall come to you. They shall offer acceptable sacrifices upon My altar, and My house of prayer shall be glorified. [8]Who are these who fly like clouds and like doves with young? [9]The coastlands waited for Me, and the ships of Tarshish among the first, to bring your children from afar, and silver and gold with them for the sake of the Lord's name, and because the Holy One of Israel is glorified. [10]Foreigners shall build your walls, and their kings shall defend you; for I struck you because of My wrath, and I loved you because of My mercy. [11]Your gates shall be opened continually, and they shall not be shut day or night, to bring you the power of the Gentiles, and their kings leading them. [12]For the nations and their kings who will not serve you shall perish, and those nations will be utterly desolate. [13]The glory of Lebanon shall come to you, with the cypress, the pine, and the cedar together, to glorify My holy place. [14]The sons of those who humbled and provoked you shall go to you in fear, and you shall be called City of the Lord, Zion of the Holy One of Israel. [15]Because you were forsaken and hated, and there was no one to help you, therefore I will make you an eternal joy, the gladness of generations to generations. [16]You shall drink the milk of the Gentiles and eat the wealth of kings. You shall know I am the Lord who saves you and the God of Israel who delivers you. [17]Instead of bronze, I will bring you gold, and instead of iron, I will bring you silver, and instead of wood, I will bring you bronze, and instead of stones, iron. I will establish your rulers in peace and your bishops in righteousness. [18]Unrighteousness shall no longer be heard in your land, neither destruction nor distress within your boundaries, but your walls shall be called Salvation, and your gates Sculptured Work. [19]The sun shall no longer be your light by day, nor shall the rising of the moon shine on you at night, but the Lord shall be your everlasting light, and God, your glory. [20]For your sun shall no longer set, nor shall your moon be eclipsed, for the Lord shall be your everlasting light, and the days of your mourning shall be fulfilled. [21]Also your people shall all be righteous, and they shall inherit the land forever, guarding what they planted, the works of their hands, for glory. [22]The few in number shall become thousands, and the lesser shall become a great nation. I the Lord will gather them together at the appointed time.

Isaiah 61

[1]"The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me, because of which He anointed Me. He sent Me to proclaim good news to the poor, to heal the brokenhearted, to preach liberty to the captives and recovery of sight to the blind; [2]to declare the acceptable year of the Lord, the day of recompense, and to comfort all who mourn; [3]to give those who mourn in Zion glory instead of ashes, the oil of gladness to those who mourn; the garment of glory instead of a spirit of indifference. They shall be called generations of righteousness, the planting of the Lord for glory. [4]They shall build the ancient deserts, raise up those formerly abandoned, and renew the desert cities that laid waste for generations. [5]Foreigners shall come and shepherd your sheep, and aliens shall be your plowmen and vinedressers; [6]but you shall be called priests of the Lord and the ministers of God. You shall eat the strength of nations and be admired because of their wealth. [7]So they shall inherit the land a second time, and eternal gladness shall be upon their head. [8]For I am the Lord, who loves righteousness and hates robberies of wrongdoing. I will give their labor to the righteous and will make with them an everlasting covenant. [9]Their seed and their offspring shall be known among the Gentiles. All who see them shall know these are the seed blessed by God; [10]and they shall have exceeding gladness in the Lord."

Let my soul rejoice exceedingly in the Lord, for He clothed me with the garment of salvation and the tunic of gladness. He put a miter around me like a bridegroom and adorned me with ornaments like a bride. [11]As the earth causes its flower to grow, and as a garden its seeds, so shall the Lord cause righteousness to rise up, and exceeding joy before all the Gentiles.

Isaiah 62

[1]For Zion's sake I will not be silent, and for Jerusalem's sake I will not rest, until My righteousness goes forth as light, and My salvation burns like a lamp. [2]The Gentiles will see your righteousness, and kings your glory; and one will call you by your new name, which the Lord shall name. [3]You shall also be a crown of beauty in the Lord's hand, and the diadem of a kingdom in the hand of your God. [4]You shall no longer be called Forsaken, and your land shall not be called Desert; for you shall be called My Will, and in your land, the Inhabited Earth. [5]As a young man lives in wedlock with a virgin, so shall your sons dwell with you, and as a bridegroom rejoices over his bride, so the Lord shall rejoice over you. [6]I will place guards on your walls all day and all night, O Jerusalem, who shall never keep silent in the remembrance of the Lord. [7]For there shall be no one like you, O Jerusalem, when He amends and makes you the pride of the earth. [8]The Lord swore by His right hand and by the strength of His arm, “I will not give your grain and your food to your enemies, and the sons of foreigners shall not drink your wine for which you labored; [9]but rather, those who gather the food shall eat it and praise the Lord, and those who gather the grapes shall drink their wine in My holy courts. [10]Go through My gates, make a way for My people, throw the stones off the road, and lift up a standard for the Gentiles.” [11]For behold, the Lord caused this to be heard to the ends of the earth: “Say to the daughter of Zion, ‘Behold, your Savior is come, and has His reward, and His work before His face.’ ” [12]One shall call them a holy people, the redeemed of the Lord, and you shall be called a City Sought for and Not Forsaken.

Isaiah 63

[1]Who is this who comes from Edom with red garments from Bozrah, so beautiful in His apparel, with force of strength? “I speak of righteousness and saving judgment.” [2]Why are Your garments red and Your apparel as one who treads in a winepress? [3]“I am full of the treading of grapes, and there is no man with Me among the nations. I trampled them in My anger, and crushed them like earth, and brought down their blood to the ground. [4]For the day of recompense has come upon them, and the year of redemption has arrived. [5]I looked, but there was no helper; and I observed, but there was no one to help; therefore, My arm delivered them, and My anger was suddenly present. [6]So I trampled them in My wrath and brought their blood down to the ground.”

[7]I remembered the Lord’s mercy, the praises of the Lord in all things in which the Lord recompenses us. The Lord is a good judge to the house of Israel, and He deals with us according to His mercy, and according to the multitude of His righteousness. [8]He said, “Surely My people, My children, have not rejected Me?” So He became their salvation. [9]Not an elder or an angel, but the Lord Himself saved them from all their tribulation, because He loved them and spared them. He redeemed and took them up, and lifted them up all the days of old. [10]Yet they disobeyed Him and grieved His Holy Spirit. So He turned against them with hostility and waged war on them. [11]Then He remembered the days of old, He who brought up the shepherd of His sheep from the land. Where is He who put His Holy Spirit in them? [12]Where is He who led Moses with His right hand, the arm of His glory? He overpowered the water by His presence to make for Himself an everlasting name. [13]He brought them through the deep, like a horse through the desert, yet they did not grow weary. [14]Like cattle through the plain, the Spirit came down from the Lord and guided them. Thus You led Your people, to make Yourself a glorious name.

[15]Return from heaven, and look from Your holy and glorious dwelling-place. Where are Your zeal and Your strength; where is the multitude of Your mercy and Your compassion, so as to be patient with us? [16]You are our Father, although Abraham did not know us, and Israel did not acknowledge us; but You, O Lord, are our Father. You delivered us, and from the beginning Your name was upon us. [17]Why have you led us astray, O Lord, from Your path, and hardened our hearts so as not to fear You? Return for the sake of Your servants, for the sake of the tribes of Your inheritance, [18]that we may inherit a small portion of Your holy mountain. [19]For our adversaries trampled down Your sanctuary, and we have become as we were from the beginning, when You did not rule us, neither did we call upon Your name. [20]If You open heaven, trembling shall take hold of the mountains before You, and they shall melt as wax melts before the fire.

Isaiah 64

[1]The fire shall burn up the adversaries, and the Lord’s name shall be manifest among the adversaries; and the nations shall be troubled by Your presence. [2]When You do glorious things, trembling shall take hold of the mountains because of You. [3]From of old we have not heard, nor have our eyes seen any God but You, and Your works which You shall do for those who wait for Your mercy. [4]For mercy shall meet with those who do righteousness, and they shall remember your ways. Behold, You were angry, for we sinned; therefore, we went astray. [5]We all are become as unclean, and all our righteousness is like a filthy rag. We fall off like leaves because of our wrongdoings; thus the wind will carry us away. [6]There is no one who calls upon Your name and who remembers to take hold of You; for You turned away Your face from us, and delivered us over because of our sins. [7]And now, O Lord, You are our Father, and all we are clay, the work of Your hands. [8]Do not be exceedingly angry with us, and do not remember our sins in an opportune time. And now look upon us, for we are all Your people. [9]The city of Your holy place has become a desert. Zion is like a desert, and Jerusalem is for a curse. [10]The house, our holy place and the glory our father blessed, has been burnt with fire, and all our glorious things have become extinct. [11]You tolerated all this, O Lord, and were silent; and You humbled us exceedingly.

Isaiah 65

[1]"I was manifest to those who did not seek Me; I was found by those who did not ask for Me. I said, 'Behold, I am here,' to a nation that did not call on My name. [2]I stretched out My hands the whole day long to a people who disobeyed and contradicted Me, who did not walk in the true way, but after their sins. [3]This is a people who provoke Me continually to My face. They sacrifice in gardens and burn incense on bricks to the demons, which do not exist; [4]and they sleep in graves and caves for the sake of dreams, they who eat swine's flesh and the sauce of their sacrifices, which defiles all their vessels; [5]who say, 'Stay away from me; do not come near me, for I am clean.' This is the smoke of My anger; a fire burns in it all day long. [6]Behold, it is written before Me: I will not be silent," says the Lord, "until I repay into their bosom their sins and the sins of their fathers, [7]who burned incense on the mountains and reproached Me on the hills. I will repay their works into their bosom."

[8]Thus says the Lord: "As the grape shall be found in a cluster, and they shall say, 'Do not destroy it, for there is a blessing from the Lord in it,' so shall I do for the sake of him who serves Me. For his sake I will not destroy them all. [9]I will bring forth the seed of Jacob and the seed of Judah, and they shall inherit My holy mountain. My elect shall inherit it, and My servants shall dwell there. [10]There shall be in the forest a fold of flocks, and the valley of Achor shall be for the resting place of herds for My people who sought Me. [11]But you are those who forsook Me, and forget My holy mountain, and prepare a table for the devil, and fill a drink-offering to Fortune. [12]I will deliver you to the sword, and all of you shall fall in the slaughter; because I called you, but you did not obey; I spoke, but you refused to listen. You did evil in My sight, and did not choose the things I willed."

13Therefore, thus says the Lord: “Behold, My servants shall eat, but you shall hunger. Behold, My servants shall drink, but you shall thirst. Behold, My servants shall be glad, but you shall be ashamed. 14Behold, My servants shall rejoice exceedingly in gladness, but you shall cry out because of the pain in your heart; and you shall wail from the crushing of your spirit. 15For you shall leave your name as an example of excess to My elect, and the Lord shall destroy you. But those who serve Him shall be called by a new name, 16which shall be blessed upon the earth. For they shall bless the true God, and those who swear upon the earth shall swear by the true God; for they shall forget their former tribulation, and it shall not come into their heart.
17“For there shall be a new heaven and a new earth, and they shall not remember the former things, nor shall these things come into their heart.
18But they shall find gladness and exceeding joy in her, for behold, I will make Jerusalem an exceeding joy, and My people gladness. 19I will rejoice exceedingly in Jerusalem, and I will be glad in My people. There shall no longer be heard in her a voice of weeping, nor a voice of crying. 20There shall not be the untimely death of a child there, nor shall there be an old man who does not fulfill his time. For a young man shall be a hundred years old, but a sinner who dies at a hundred years old shall be cursed. 21They shall build houses and dwell in them; and they shall plant vineyards and eat their produce. 22But they shall not build, and others inhabit; and they shall not plant, and others eat. For according to the days of the tree of life, so shall be the days of My people, and the works of their labors shall not grow old. 23My elect shall not labor in vain, nor shall they bear children to be a curse; for they are a seed blessed by God; and their offspring shall be with them. 24It shall be, before they cry out, I will listen to them; while they are still speaking, I will say, ‘What is it?’ 25The wolves and lambs shall feed together, and the lion, like the ox, shall eat chaff; and the serpent, the ground as bread.
They shall not injure, neither destroy in My holy mountain,” says the Lord.

Isaiah 66

1Thus says the Lord: “Heaven is My throne, and earth is the footstool of My feet. What kind of house will you build for Me? Or what kind is the place of My rest? 2For My hand made all these things, and all these things are Mine,” says the Lord; “and upon whom will I show respect, but to the humble and the peaceful and to him who trembles at My words. 3But the lawless man who sacrifices a calf is as he who kills a dog; and he who offers a grain offering, as he who offers the blood of a pig; and he who offers incense for a memorial, as he who is a blasphemer. These chose their ways and their abominations, which their soul willed. 4But I will choose their mockeries, and I will repay them; because I called, but they did not obey Me; I spoke, but they did not listen; but they did evil in My sight, and things I did not will, they chose."

5Hear the word of the Lord, you who tremble at His word. Speak, our brethren, to those who hate us and detest us, that the Lord's name may be glorified and seen in their gladness, so they may be ashamed. 6A voice of crying from the city, a voice from the temple, the voice of the Lord is fully repaying His enemies. 7"Before she travails in labor to give birth, before the pain of birth pangs comes on, she escapes it and bears a male. 8Who has heard such a thing, and who has seen anything like this? Has the earth travailed in one day, or has a nation given birth at once? For Zion travailed and gave birth to her children. 9But I raised this expectation, yet you did not remember Me," says the Lord. "Behold, do I not cause one woman to beget, but another to be sterile?" says God. 10"Be glad, O Jerusalem, and celebrate holy days in her. All you who love her, rejoice exceedingly, and all you who mourn over her; 11that you may nurse and be satisfied by the breast of her consolation; that you may take pleasure in nursing because of the entrance of her glory." 12For thus says the Lord: "Behold, I will turn to them like a river of peace and like a brook, to flood them with the glory of the Gentiles. Their children shall be taken up on shoulders and comforted on knees. 13Like someone a mother comforts, so also will I comfort you, and you shall be comforted in Jerusalem." 14You shall see, and your heart will rejoice. Your bones shall rise up like a pasture, and the Lord's hand shall be known by those who fear Him; but He shall threaten the disobedient.

15For behold, the Lord shall come like a fire, and His chariots like a sudden blast of wind, to render His vengeance with anger and His renunciation with a flame of fire. 16For all the earth shall be judged in the fire of the Lord, and all flesh with His sword; and many shall be wounded by the Lord. 17"Those who purify and cleanse themselves in the gardens and porches, who eat the meat of a pig or any abomination, they shall be destroyed together at the same time," says the Lord; 18"and I know their works and their reasoning. I am coming to gather all the nations and tongues, and they shall come and see

My glory. [19]And I will leave signs upon them, and those among them who are saved, I will send forth to the Gentiles: to Tarshish, and Pul and Lud and Tubal, and to Greece and to the coastlands far off, to those who have not heard My name, nor seen My glory; and they shall declare My glory among the Gentiles. [20]They shall bring your brethren from among all the Gentiles as a gift to the Lord, with horses and chariots, in litters drawn by mules and covered with sunshades, to the holy city of Jerusalem," says the Lord, "just as the children of Israel would bring Me their sacrifices with psalms into the house of the Lord. [21]I shall take some of them to be My priests and Levites," says the Lord. [22]"For just as the new heaven and the new earth which I make shall remain before Me," says the Lord, "so shall your seed and your name remain. [23]It shall come to pass from month to month and from Sabbath to Sabbath, all flesh shall worship before Me in Jerusalem," says the Lord.
[24]"They shall go forth and see the dead bodies of the men who transgressed against Me, for their worm shall not die, and their fire shall not be extinguished; and they shall be a vision to all flesh."

Annotations for Isaiah

1:1 Isaiah in Hebrew means “Yahweh saves” or “Yahweh is salvation.”

1:4–6 The image of Israel is that of an entire body covered with wounds and sores—a body that not only refuses treatment, but will not even recognize that it is sick.

1:9 God will not allow His people to be completely wiped out. One good seed will still yield much fruit, and a few will listen to the words of the prophet.

1:11–15 God will not forgive (v. 14) false religious piety, but He will accept the sacrifice of “a broken spirit, / A broken and humbled heart” (Ps 50:19).

🕮 1:16–20 This passage is read on January 5, the Eve of the Feast of Theophany.

1:21 Righteousness is God’s presence, which lodged in Zion, but the people forsook Him.

1:22 Silver is worthless: the words of the prophets have been corrupted with bad interpretations. They mix wine with water: correct doctrine has been watered down by human reason.

1:23 The people are orphans because they have become disobedient to their heavenly Father. The widow has rejected the Bridegroom.

1:24–31 God’s judgment, tempered by His mercy, will humble and establish order as it was at the beginning for those who repent.

🕮 2:1–3 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Ascension of the Lord.

2:2, 3 The mountain is a symbol of the Church, which will proclaim God’s way to all the Gentiles (see Mic 4:1–4).

3:10 Their sin is made worse because they hand over those who are righteous.

3:16 Daughters of Zion are the wealthy women of Jerusalem who lived near the royal palace and the temple during Isaiah’s time. Their humiliation is a metaphor for the coming humiliation of Jerusalem.

4:4 The Spirit of judgment: God will send a flood of affliction on the people to wash away their sin, and the Spirit of burning will be like a purifying fire to purge them of their guilt. These two images of water and fire also prefigure the washing of regeneration in baptism.

5:1 The song of the vineyard is similar to Jewish harvest songs used on feast days. In Jn 15:1–6, Christ calls Himself “the true vine”; His Father “the vinedresser”; and those who are grafted, “the branches.”

5:8–25 The prophet Isaiah describes their sins: greed (v. 8); love of pleasure (v. 11); indifference to God (v. 12); intentional evil acts (v. 18); mocking God (v. 19); perversion of truth (v. 20); vanity and conceit (v. 21); dishonesty (v. 23); and finally, rejecting God’s law and despising His word (v. 24).

5:26–30 These verses describe the historical consequences of the sins laid out in vv. 8–23.

6:1 The year King Uzziah died: Certain biblical scholars date this event at 734 BC. The Fathers teach that the sins of the king caused prophecy to cease for a time (see 2Ch 26:18ff).

🕮 6:1–12 This passage is read on Thursday of the second week of Great Lent and on February 2, the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord in the Temple.

6:6, 7 A live coal touching the mouth: Isaiah experiences a symbol of the Eucharist, which is taken from the altar to be served to the faithful. In fact, after an Orthodox priest receives communion, he quietly quotes the seraphim’s proclamation (v. 7).

6:1–6 Isaiah’s vision has strongly influenced the development of Orthodox Christian worship. For the Church, like heaven, has an altar, a throne, smoke from the incense, and believers singing “Holy, holy, holy,” the Thrice-Holy Hymn.

6:9–13 People sin by choice, not by nature, volitionally stopping their ears and closing their eyes.

7:3, 4 The Hebrew phrase Shear-Jashub means, “A remnant shall return.” Thus, Isaiah’s son is a symbolic confirmation to King Ahaz of the Lord’s promise to heal and save a remnant. The firebrands are an expression of contempt for the kings of Israel and Syria, but they will do no permanent damage.

🕮 7:10–16 This passage is read on the Eve of Feast of the Nativity of the Lord.

7:13–16 The sign was not given to Ahaz, who had doubted the earlier prophecy, but to all the Hebrew people (JohnChr). This messianic prophecy is fulfilled when the virgin Mary gives birth to Christ. The Hebrew word almah, “unmarried woman,” designates “a hidden virgin, shut off from the occasional sight of men" (Jerome). The Greek word used in the LXX is parthenos, which means "virgin." Immanuel, meaning "God with us," refers to Christ's divine nature. Messiah coming as a Child (v. 16) refers to His human nature.

7:23–25 The Jews should have been rich and fruitful, but in their rebellion and disobedience they became barren. Nevertheless, after God has chastised them, He will restore them to good pasture.

8:1 Here God uses three different methods to declare His prophetic warning to the people: the book, the two witnesses, and Isaiah's son. The prophetess is Isaiah's wife.

📖 8:1–4, 8–10 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Nativity of the Lord.

8:11–15 Those who fear God will not know Christ as a stumbling stone when He comes, but those who succumb to the enemy will fall and be broken against Christ, the "precious cornerstone" (see 28:16; Rom 9:33).

8:16 The law given to Moses will be closed with the teachings of the apostles.

8:17, 18 The children are interpreted as Christ's apostles and disciples, who performed many signs and wonders.

8:19 Compare the prophet's question, Why do they seek the dead on behalf of the living? to the angel's triumphant statement to the myrrhbearing women in Lk 24:5: "Why do you seek the living among the dead?"

8:20–22 God gave men and women a natural law within them—the ability to choose the good and avoid the evil—but they chose selfishness. Then God gave the law of Moses, and it too was broken. Great darkness falls upon the soul that is without the light of the commandments.

9:3 The day of Midian refers to the defeat of the Midianites by Gideon and his men without the use of weapons (see Jdg 7:9–25). These men prefigure the apostles, who spread the gospel throughout the world with only "the weapons of peace," the preaching of the Cross.

9:5 A Child is born speaks of Christ's human nature; and a Son is given unites His two natures in one Person. The Son of God is also the Son of the Virgin.

9:8—10:4 The prophet warns of God's judgment against Israel's pride and arrogance (9:8); its elder and prophet who teaches lawlessness (9:14, 15); its self-destruction through civil conflicts (9:18–20); and its judicial leaders (10:1, 2). This section is laid out in four stanzas separated by the refrain repeated in 9:11, 16, 20, and 10:4: "His anger is not turned away."

10:5–20 Isaiah predicts the coming attack by the Assyrians and their defeat during the siege on Jerusalem. He also reminds the people that God, not Assyria, controls history (v. 14). The Light of Israel (v. 17) that will sanctify God's people speaks poetically of the Holy Spirit.

10:24–27 The Assyrian king attempted to attack Egypt by way of the coastline and failed. In this way, the yoke that was threatening Jerusalem was destroyed.

📖 11:1–10 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Nativity of the Lord.

11:2–5 At the Baptism of Christ, the Holy Spirit . . . shall rest upon Him (see Mt 3:16). The righteous and faithful Messiah will judge people by what is in their hearts; His teachings shall strike the earth; and His breath—a metaphor for the Holy Spirit—will destroy the ungodly.

11:6–9 The uncreated Son of God will assume created human flesh, restoring the relationship with Him that mankind lost as a result of the Fall (see Rom 8:19–23). The whole world shall be filled with the knowledge of the Lord.

11:10 His resting place is interpreted by some of the Fathers to be the tomb of Christ, an honorable place of veneration. It is also true that Christ finds His "rest" in His saints, in whom He dwells.

11:11, 12 Salvation will come first to the Jewish remnant, and then to Gentiles . . . from the four corners of the earth (see Acts 1:8; Rom 1:16). The teaching of the apostles will spread like a mighty wind, destroying idols and correcting error, even into Egypt. The Cross is the sign. Our Lord said, "And I, if I am lifted up from the earth, will draw all peoples to Myself" (Jn 12:32).

11:16 The highway that once led Israel out of captivity in Egypt will later be opened for Mary and Joseph to bring the Child there for protection from Herod, and for the apostles to return there with the Gospel of Christ.

📖 12:3–6 This passage is read on January 5, the Eve of the Feast of Theophany and on the Feast Day, January 6.

12:4–6 Compare this song of praise to the Song of Mary in Lk 1:45–55.

13:1–22 This passage has several layers of meaning: (1) It prophesies the ultimate downfall of Babylon; (2) it prophesies Christ's Passion and Resurrection, when Christ will be lifted up on the cross and the hosts of heaven will gather to battle the powers of darkness (compare vv. 9–13 to Mt 27:51–54; Lk 23:44, 45); (3) it describes the anger of Christ at the Last Judgment.

13:19–22 Babylon was a glorious city which will be utterly destroyed. It is also a metaphor for sin. Demons who will dance in the desert present a stark image of hell, the ultimate place of rebellion. (See also 14:23; 34:14; Rev 18:2.) The donkey-centaurs, from Greek mythology, are from the waist up a man, from the waist down a horse, and they often function as symbols of rebellion against divine order and hostility to civilization. The phrase is usually translated "wild beast" and is likely a symbol for demons.

14:1, 2 In 586 BC, Cyrus of Persia allowed Israel to return home in their land and rebuild the temple in Jerusalem. The sojourner—the Gentiles—will be added to Israel, the Jews, when the Church is established (see Rom 11:23).

14:4 The king of Babylon is compared to Lucifer (v. 12) or Satan.

14:12–14 Note the five times Lucifer says I will in this passage. In this five-step process, he fully intends to take the place of the One True God! Likely the mountains toward the north are those to the north and east of Jerusalem.

14:32 God accomplishes these things in history to show the nations that Zion, symbolic of the Church, has been established by the God of Israel as a place of refuge where the humble of His people shall be saved.

15:1 The night is a metaphor for spiritual blindness, and Moab is a metaphor for souls lost in a land of darkness.

16:1, 2 The idolaters of Moab who mocked the God of Israel have now been taken away, while Mount Zion is a protected rock.

16:4, 5 The Moabite outcasts are a type of the Gentiles who will abandon their idols to worship Christ. Eusebius interprets the tabernacle of David as the Church of Christ established in Moab, which is modern-day Jordan.

17:1–3 Tiglath-Pileser III of Assyria conquered Damascus in 732 BC (see 4Kg 16).

17:8 Their trees is a reference to the cult of Asherim, which worshiped wooden poles.

17:9 The Amorites and the Evites were the indigenous peoples of Palestine who lost their land when the Hebrews came up out of Egypt.

18:1–3 The king of Damascus sent ships with messengers to Egypt and Ethiopia to appeal for help against the Assyrians. A Christological interpretation may be applied: The first messengers to bring Christ to this region were the Holy Family (see Mt 2:13–15). Tradition holds that the Evangelist Mark established churches there.

18:5 Before the . . . harvest, God will use the Assyrians as sickles to force the vine to produce grapes. The branches that are cut off will be discarded (see Jn 15:1–8).

🕮 19:1–5, 12, 16, 19–21 This passage is read on February 2, the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord in the Temple.

19:2–15 This prophecy was fulfilled historically a few years later in 714 BC, when Piankhi's 25th Dynasty rose to power, causing widespread domestic strife in Egypt.

20:1 Tartan was the official title of the leader of the armies of Assyria. Sargon captured Ashdod in 711 BC.

20:2–4 Isaiah's shame is a sign of the greater shame that will befall Egypt and Ethiopia, and it also prefigures the Messiah to come. The Son of God, taking the form of a servant, humbled Himself, becoming obedient to the point of death (see Php 2:8). Christ ministered on earth three years and fulfilled all by hanging naked on the Cross—the shameful death that put death to shame.

21:6–12 A watchman is appointed to guard a city. Similarly, a Christian must remain ever vigilant to guard the soul against the onslaught of sin.

21:9 When the Assyrians conquered Babylon in 689 BC, they smashed the idols of the Babylonians. This verse can be interpreted to mean that God uses even adversity to destroy sin.

22:1–5 A prophetic scene of anarchy unfolds: the people wander in the Valley of Zion (v. 5). Panic, fear, cowardice, and chaos overtake them. They refuse to seek refuge in Mount Zion and run to worthless houses instead (v. 1). Jerusalem fell to the Assyrians, and the people were taken captive into Babylon in 587 BC.

22:12, 13 The enemy is at Jerusalem's gates, yet the people answer the call of the Lord of hosts for repentance by throwing a drunken feast. "For the kingdom of God is not eating and drinking, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit" (Rom 14:17).

22:15 Shebna was likely a Hebrew priest who had neglected his priestly duties because of his pride.

22:20 Eliakim replaced Shebna before the attack on Jerusalem. Yet, by the end of his administration, Eliakim too would fall (v. 25).

23:1–4 Tyre and Sidon were the leading coastal cities of Phoenicia (modern Lebanon). Carthage, a city in North Africa, was founded by Tyre and maintained commercial relations with them and with the Citaeans (Cyprus).

23:7–9 The Lord will judge Tyre and Sidon (v. 4) because of their arrogance. Eventually, the Light of Christ will come to Tyre and Sidon, and multitudes from there will follow Him (see Mk 3:8).

23:17, 18 Seventy years: Even though the people of Tyre had been sinning against God for "a multitude of generations," God, in His mercy, will limit His chastisement to one man's lifetime (Theod). This prophecy was fulfilled in full when the Church was established in Tyre (see Acts 21:3–5).

24:1–6 The Fathers associate this chapter with the end of this present age. At the Last Judgment, the inhabited earth in its desolate state will, in effect, be turned right side up, for "the last will be first, and the first last" (Mt 20:16). The curse has alienated all of creation from the Creator. God intended for man to offer up creation to Him, but instead, man has plundered the world (v. 3; see also Rom 8:18–22).

24:14–17 This passage is also a picture of the Book of Acts, where the apostles will cry aloud, proclaiming the name of the Lord wherever they go. The islands are the churches that will be established in the midst of the sea of lost humanity, rejecters of the natural law written on their hearts (see Rom 2:14, 15).

24:18 God will shake the heavens and the earth "that the things which cannot be shaken may remain" (Heb 12:26, 27).

24:21–23 At the end of the age, God will bring His hand upon those who will not be humbled of their own free will.

25:1 An ancient and true counsel: Isaiah praises God for "the mystery which has been hidden from ages" (Col 1:26)—a mystery that the prophet knows will someday be revealed in full, which is Christ in His saints, the Church. And Isaiah responds with total obedience: So be it, O Lord.

25:2, 3 God stops the ungodly not simply to punish sinners but to bring them to repentance. The poor and wronged, not the strong and proud, will bless and praise Him.

25:8 Humanity's rebellion against God has given death the power to prevail, but Christ will destroy death and then wipe away every tear (see Rev 21:4).

25:9 This is our God: The Apostle Thomas fulfills this prophecy when he sees the resurrected Christ and cries out, "My Lord and my God!" (Jn 20:28).

25:10–12 The King of Glory will spread forth His hands upon the cross in order to humble the arrogance of all men.

26:5, 6 Compare with what Virgin Mary sings in her hymn: "He has put down the mighty from their thrones, / And exalted the lowly" (Lk 1:52).

26:7, 8 The godly are being prepared to follow Christ when He comes. Compare to Christ's parable of the virgins (see Mt 25:1–13).

26:16 Hard circumstances are seen by the righteous as a reason to remember the Lord. The holy prophet calls them a small affliction; or as St. Paul writes, "our light affliction, which . . . is working for us a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory" (2Co 4:17).

26:19 The dead shall rise up: "Christ is risen from the dead, trampling down death by death, and upon those in the tombs, bestowing life" (Paschal Troparion; see also 1Co 15).

26:20, 21 Isaiah is a powerful "prophet of doom," but he is also a good shepherd to his people. After spending the night in prayer, he consoles them with these words.
27:1 The sword is Christ, the Incarnate God, who will slay the dragon, Satan. "He who follows the serpent shows that his life is crooked, uneven, and filled with contrariness; but he who follows after the Lord makes his paths straight and his footprints right" (BasilG).
27:6 Those who are left will bud and bear fruit. These are the true children of Jacob.
27:9 King Hezekiah destroyed the idols in Jerusalem temporarily (see 2Ch 31:1; 4Kg 18:4); but Christ will permanently destroy the idolatry of sin for all mankind.
27:10, 11 This prophecy concerns Jerusalem's captivity.
27:12, 13 The sons of Israel are symbolic of the apostles, who will blow the great trumpet of truth, gathering Christ's scattered sheep together in a single flock on the holy mountain, the Church.
28:1 This passage is interpreted by Eusebius and Cyril as relating to the downfall of the Pharisees and chief priests, who are the crown of arrogance, and to the specific treachery of Judas, who was descended from the tribe of Ephraim.
28:4–6 Just as the the fig replaces the fading flower, Christ will supersede the fading law and become the crown of hope, woven of glory.
28:16 As a cornerstone unites two walls, Christ will unite Jew and Gentile believers (see 1Pt 2:6).
28:21 The reference is to the battle of Joshua against the Gibeonites, during which God destroyed the enemy with large hailstones (see Jos 10).
29:1 Ariel, which means "Lion of God," is Jerusalem. After David was anointed king over Israel, he besieged Jerusalem and took it (see 2Kg 5:3–7).
29:13 A right heart before God in prayer is even more important than right words, for God hears our "groanings which cannot be uttered" (Rom 8:26; see also Mk 7:6, 7).
29:15 The wisdom and counsel of the proud is but foolishness in God's eyes.
29:23 Godly works will help identify the Messiah when He comes.
30:2–5 Those who trust in Egypt or in any human government will labor in vain. "It is good to trust in the Lord / Rather than to trust in man" (Ps 117:8).
30:6 Jerusalem is the desert, which will be devastated by the nation of Nebuchadnezzar. The quadrupeds are the foolish and rebellious people.
30:9–11 When God's children refuse to listen to the prophets, they are attempting to stop the very mouth of the Holy One of Israel, Christ Himself.
30:15 Return and groan: After warning them of their imminent destruction, the Lord exhorts the people to repent and be saved. Still, they did not will to listen.
30:18 God will wait for His people, testing their hearts, and giving immediate grace and mercy to those who abide in Him.
30:20–23 Affliction is given by the Lord, the Physician of souls, to open blind eyes and deaf ears to the truth.
30:31–33 The king of the Assyrians thought he would reign over Jerusalem, but because of Hezekiah's prayers the angel of the Lord slew Sennacherib's army (ch. 37).
31:1, 2 The people continue to trust in horses and chariots rather than in God. The prophet Isaiah says He wisely sends evil to them (see Pr 3:11, 12).
31:4 God watches over His people as a young lion watches over his prey.
31:8 God will deal an invisible blow against the Assyrian army when it is overthrown by an angel of the Lord (37:36).
32:1 According to the Fathers, a righteous King prefigures Christ, and rulers prefigure the apostles.
32:2 Christ will hide His words by speaking in parables to the multitudes, but will explain Himself in private to His disciples, for out of their hearts will flow a glorious river of living water (see Jn 7:38).
32:15 After Christ ascends to heaven, the Holy Spirit will come upon the believers at Pentecost, and the Church, a fruitful field, will be established.
32:20 Those who sow are those who teach salvation. All waters prefigure holy baptism. The Church will be formed from both Jew (the ox) and Gentile (the donkey).
33:1 The enemy may distress the believer physically, but not finally. In Christ the enemy will be conquered by his own treachery.

33:2 The faithful offer a prayer of thanksgiving for what the Lord has done, for through affliction they have learned to put their trust in God.

33:5 According to the Fathers, the saints, who dwell with God in the heights, have also become the dwelling place of God (1Co 3:16). Zion here represents the Church.

33:14 Who will tell you a fire is burning?: Christ Himself will tell His people about the eternal place of torment for the lawless and ungodly.

33:16 The mighty rock is a symbol of the Church, which will offer Christ, the bread of life, to the believers. And in the Church, the water of baptism into Christ will be plentiful.

33:17 Eyes set on the kingdom of heaven will behold Christ in His glory (Mt 24:30).

33:22 A marvelous summary of how God reveals Himself to His people.

34:1–4 These verses are echoed in Christ's teaching about the end times (see Mt 24:7–29).

34:11 Reference to the measuring line is also found in Lk 6:38: "With the same measure that you use, it will be measured back to you."

📖 35:1–10 This passage is read on January 5, the Eve of the Feast of Theophany and on the Feast Day, January 6.

35:8, 9 The dispersed will walk the holy way—a highway of holiness, carrying the Light of Christ to the world.

36:1 An ancient Assyrian account of the events surrounding the siege of Jerusalem affirms that forty-six fortified cities in Judah had already been taken by Sennacherib.

36:3 Shebna and Eliakim are mentioned in ch. 22.

36:4 The Rabshakeh was a chief officer in the Assyrian army.

36:4–6 The Rabshakeh warns that the time for diplomacy has passed, and that Egypt, weak as a broken reed, will be more likely to hurt than help Judah. The situation for Jerusalem seems hopeless. But Assyria's pride in its own power, mockery against God's people, and blasphemy against God will be met with a punishment equal to the sin (37:36–38).

36:21 Just as Christ remained silent before His accusers, Eliakim, Shebna, and Joah made no reply to the Rabshakeh's blasphemous claims against God.

37:1–4 When King Hezekiah went into the Temple, he did not pray for deliverance, despite his distress. Instead, he asked Isaiah to pray that God rebuke the enemy's blasphemy, and to pray for the remnant in Jerusalem.

37:8, 9 Isaiah's prayers are answered when, for the time being, the king of Assyria halts the siege on Jerusalem in order to deal with the threat from the Ethiopians.

37:10–20 Even from a distance, the enemy continues to blaspheme the God of Israel. But note how Hezekiah's attitude has changed. This time (in contrast to 37:1–4), he prays directly before the Lord, asking Him to secure Jerusalem so that all the kingdoms will see and know that the God of Israel is Lord of all (v. 20).

37:22 The mighty King of Assyria will be laughed . . . to scorn by vulnerable Jerusalem, because she is God's daughter.

37:36–38 The Angel of the Lord steps in. God will utterly annihilate the enemy without a weapon, and the king will die at the hands of his own sons.

38:1–6 At the time of his physical affliction, Hezekiah had also become afflicted with pride (see 2Ch 32:25, 26). By telling him of his imminent death, the Lord revealed Himself to Hezekiah, who wept loudly. He humbled himself and prayed, and immediately, Isaiah was given a new word for the king: healing and another fifteen years of life.

38:7, 8 This miracle of the sun moving back . . . ten steps is a sign for Hezekiah of God's faithfulness. But it also prefigures Christ, the Sun of Righteousness. He will turn shadow into day and darkness into light, for the turning back of the human heart from death to life is His greatest miracle of all (see vv. 16, 17).

39:1–4 Hezekiah put his entire nation at risk by parading all the treasures and wealth of his house before the foreign king.

39:5–8 Showing no apparent concern for his people and their posterity, King Hezekiah seems concerned only for peace and righteousness during his own times.

36:1—39:8 The Fathers agree that the prophet adds these narratives (which are almost identical to 4Kg 18:13–20:19) in order to emphasize that his prophecies are from God, as evidenced by their fulfillment in history.

40:1, 2 God raises up priests to comfort and strengthen the people, whose hearts are weighed down by sin, which is pardoned.

40:3–5 This passage is a prophecy of John the Baptist, who will be the voice proclaiming the coming of salvation through baptism into Christ our God (see Jn 1:23).

40:9 You who bring good tidings prophesies the preaching of Christ and His Apostles.

40:10 This prophecy is fulfilled in Christ: "For the Son of Man will come in the glory of His Father with His angels, and then He will reward each according to his works" (Mt 16:27).

40:11 Christ's own words bear witness to the fulfillment of this prophecy in Himself: "I am the good shepherd; and I know my sheep, and am known by My own" (Jn 10:14).

40:22 Over 2000 years before science proclaimed the earth was round and revolved around the sun, Isaiah spoke of the circle of the earth.

41:2–7 This is a messianic prophecy, but it also may refer to Cyrus of Persia, who will conquer Babylon in 539 BC, allowing the captive Jews to return and rebuild the temple. Cyrus is named in 44:28 and 45:1.

41:4 I Am, repeated twenty-seven times in chs. 41–49, means "I am the existing One." This phrase is traditionally written in Greek in Christ's halo on Orthodox icons (OΩN). This is how the Son and Word of God revealed Himself to Moses (Ex 3:14).

41:5–7 When I Am becomes incarnate in Christ, the Gentiles will recognize the truth, and they shall not be moved. The Church will be put together well, for "unless the Lord builds the house, / Those who build it labor in vain" (Ps 126:1).

41:8–20 This prophecy will be fulfilled not only at the fall of Babylon and the return of the Jews from exile, but also through the Apostles and the Church, which will prevail against every type of persecution.

41:14–16 Israel, few in number: This also looks ahead to the Church, established at Pentecost with just twelve apostles.

41:20 The Lord's hand (or "arm") is Christ Himself (see 26:11; 52:10; 53:1; 59:1; 66:1, 2).

42:1 I put My Spirit upon Him mentions all three Persons of the Holy Trinity. "I" and "My" speak of the Father; "Him" is the Son; "Spirit" is the Holy Spirit.

42:8 Christ does not share His glory with another, whether it be carved images or people who take personal credit for things God has done.

42:10–12 In Christ, the glorified Church will sing . . . a new song (see Rev 5:9).

42:13–17 This passage prophesies Christ's mighty acts of vengeance against His enemies at the Judgment. He will turn darkness into light (v. 16) for the faithful.

42:25 Fire all around: This prophecy was fulfilled historically when the Romans sacked Jerusalem and destroyed the temple in AD 70.

43:1–4 The Lord names His people you are Mine because He, together with His Father and the Holy Spirit, created man and will assume human nature. Christ will pass through every affliction with us: taking sin, suffering, and death on Himself; overthrowing our adversaries; and offering us His salvation.

43:5–15 God will gather His Church from all nations. Christ is the Servant (v. 10), chosen by the Father to bear witness to all mankind (Jn 8:18).

44:3 God promises to put My Spirit on Israel's seed, the Apostles, at Pentecost (see Acts 2:17).

44:6 Christ declares in the Book of Revelation, "I am the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End" (Rev 1:8).

44:7–17 St. Paul writes that God has declared Himself since creation. But men hide themselves from God, making and worshiping idols, changing "the glory of the incorruptible God into an image made like corruptible man—and birds and four-footed animals and creeping things" (Rom 1:22, 23).

44:21–23 Here again is the message of salvation: God formed man in His own image, but we strayed from Him. Christ blotted out our sins, that we might return to Him. His promise to us is, I will redeem you. And thus we, His people, will be glorified.

44:28 Around 539 BC, Cyrus will conquer Babylon and send the Jews back to Jerusalem, where they will rebuild God's holy house, the temple.

45:1, 2 Cyrus's work will be temporary; Christ's will be eternal.

45:6 Christ Himself echoes this promise in His High Priestly Prayer: "And this is eternal life, that they may know You, the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom You have sent" (Jn 17:3).

45:9, 10 What are you making: The lesson here is clear: like clay which is molded by the potter, we do not demand an accounting from our Creator.

45:25 The children are the blood descendants of Israel, but the apostles and the Church are their seed. It is the seed who shall be made righteous and glorified. Interestingly, the Masoretic Text omits the phrase "the seed of."

46:3, 4 An encouraging promise to believers in old age, reminiscent of Ps 70:17, 18.

46:10 There is no greater prayer than "Thy will be done," for God does all things for our good (Rom 8:28), and His counsel (or will) shall stand.

47:1 The virgin daughter of Babylon is an image of a nice person without God: comfortable and prosperous on the outside, empty on the inside, and full of shame.

48:1, 2 The people, called by the name of Israel, "having a form of godliness but denying its power" (2Ti 3:5), cannot lay claim to a true inheritance of truth or righteousness. This is also a warning to the Church never to be Christians in name only.

48:5 Not only did God make it well known the people must not worship idols, He also warned the people against blaming the idols when things went wrong, saying, My idols did them.

48:15 I have spoken: In Christ, the Word is made man.

48:16 The Lord and His Spirit have sent Me: A reference to all three Persons of the Holy Trinity, in which the Son reaffirms the prophecy made in 9:5, naming Him "the Angel of Great Counsel."

48:17, 18 The way in which the people were called to walk is the law, God's commandments. To do so brings peace . . . like a river.

49:1 The promise of the coming of the Messiah will stand for a long time, until it is fulfilled when He is revealed from His mother's womb in the Incarnation. For the angel Gabriel said to the Virgin, "You will conceive in your womb and bring forth a Son, and shall call His name JESUS" (Lk 1:31).

49:2 Christ will come, not to "bring peace, but a sword" (Mt 10:34). In some patristic writings, the chosen arrow is a metaphor for the divinity of Christ, and the quiver a metaphor for His humanity.

49:3–6 In Christ's divinity, the Father will be glorified on earth (v. 3); and in Christ's humanity, those who are brought back to Him will be joined to Him and know His strength. In this way, creation will be reconciled to God.

🕮 49:8–15 This passage is read on January 5, the Eve of the Feast of Theophany.

49:16–18 The walls of the earthly Zion, the Jewish nation, will be laid . . . waste, but the heavenly Zion, the Bride of Christ, will be rebuilt quickly by both Jewish and Gentile believers on Zion's desolate foundation.

49:22 The message of the cross will be set up as the signal of salvation.

🕮 50:4–11 This passage is read on Holy Thursday and Holy Friday, the Thursday and Friday before Pascha (Easter).

50:6, 7 The Word became flesh and gave Himself over to violent suffering so that He might take our suffering and destroy it. This remarkably detailed prophecy was written over 700 years before the Crucifixion.

51:1, 2 The promise given to Abraham and Sarah will be fulfilled when the resurrected Christ bursts out of the tomb hewed from a rock.

51:3–5 The prophecy of comfort for God's people promises that salvation will go forth from God through His Incarnate Son, who is the Messiah of Israel and the light of the Gentiles.

51:5 Christ is often referred to in Scripture as the arm of the Father.

51:6–8 This promise is echoed in Christ's teaching found in Mt 24:35: "Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away."

51:12–16 The people are fearful of mortal man, but forgot the God who made them.

51:17–23 Christ said, “I did not come to judge the world but to save the world” (Jn 12:47). God judges sin and shows mercy to those who repent. The cup of destruction is God’s chastisement.

52:1–3 The people are called for the third time to awake (see 51:9, 17). Note the progression: (1) awake and remember God’s faithfulness (51:9–16); (2) awake, for you have been forgiven (51:17–22); (3) awake, for you shall be redeemed (52:1–3). Only Christ is able to redeem the soul. Christ will offer Himself as a sacrifice, paying the price, so to speak, to “reality itself” (GrgTheo).

52:3 “It is due to their sins that they have been sold, but it is by the benevolence of God that they have obtained deliverance” (Theod).

📖 52:13—54:1 This passage is read on Holy Friday, the Friday before Pascha (Easter).

53:2 He had no form or beauty: “He sat upon the foal of an ass; He was despised among the people and humbled Himself even unto death” (Iren).

53:3, 4 God became dishonored, for Christ assumed a true human nature. “O marvel at the loving kindness of the Word, that for our sakes He is dishonored, that we may be brought to honor” (AthanG).

53:5 Christ, who was free from sin, took our chastisement and gave us peace. By His bruise we are saved from an eternity of suffering and estrangement from God.

53:6 The Lord, God the Father, delivered Him, God the Son, to die for our sins. This is the message St. Paul proclaims in 2Co 5:21.

53:7 “The shepherd of Israel, and now of the whole world also” (GrgNa) became “the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world” (Jn 1:29).

53:8 Christ was led to death, yet death could not hold His perfect, sinless body (see Acts 2:24).

53:9 He committed no lawlessness: See Heb 4:15.

53:10 The Lord, God the Father, cleansed Him, God the Son, of His wound because His body could not remain subject to corruption and death. The offering made by Christ enables man to receive the same healing and eternal life.

53:12 He was considered among the lawless is a reference to “the robbers who were crucified with Him. . . . Both of them were before this transgressors, but one was so no longer” (CyrJer).

54:1 The Gentiles were once barren and desolate, but the Church of the Gentiles will give birth in the Spirit to many more . . . children than Israel has in the flesh.

54:2, 3 Enlarge and spread out further suggests that the Church of the Gentiles will be much greater and larger than the tabernacle constructed by Moses.

54:9, 10 God’s covenant with Noah was made on behalf of the whole world, and God will no longer be angry so as to cause another flood. Noah’s Flood prefigures the waters of baptism, and the ark, not mentioned here, is a type of the Church.

54:11–15 According to some of the Fathers, choice stones represent those who lead holy lives filled with virtuous deeds. The foundations are the prophets, apostles, and evangelists.

55:1 Eat and drink without money: “Christ does not ask money, but faith—which is more valuable than money” (AmbM; see also Rev 21:6, 7).

📖 55:1–13 This passage is read on the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

55:8, 9 Neither are your ways My ways: See 40:13 and 1Co 16. Reason alone will never bring us to God. Rather, we confess that we are finite; He is infinite. Thus we come to Him by faith.

55:10, 11 My word is the gospel of Jesus Christ, which will accomplish God’s will. There are times the preaching of the Gospel seems to bear no fruit, but God is at work whether or not we see visible results.

56:1, 2 My mercy shall be revealed: God’s word to the prophet reveals the future, but also interprets the past.

56:4, 5 The righteous eunuchs will have an eternal name in heaven (v. 5), better than an earthly family. “They will pass from the old shadows of time into the new lights of eternity” (Aug).

56:6, 7 The foreigners are the Gentiles, who are welcome at God’s holy mountain, the Church.

57:1, 2 The righteous is Christ (Cyr, Theod).

57:3 The lawless people are no longer considered children of Abraham, but of the prostitute (see 1:21).

57:14 This prophecy is fulfilled in John the Baptist (see 40:3).

57:15 God is at once the Lord Most High, inconceivable and unknowable, and the Holy One who dwells among His saints and strengthens the fainthearted.

58:1 God calls Isaiah to rebuke the people loudly, like the trumpet that was traditionally blown when a fast was called (Joel 2:15). The people display an outward religious piety that hides the wickedness in their hearts.

58:2–5 Fasting and other ascetic acts do not necessarily indicate virtue. Blessed Augustine reminds us that even heretics fast! God will not see these actions if we mistreat others. God chooses rather that we humble our own soul. "A sacrifice to God is a broken spirit" (Ps 50:19).

58:7, 8 The gospel is both social and redemptive. First, the physical needs must be met, and then the spiritual needs can be satisfied.

58:9 I am here: God is instantaneous in answering the prayers of the righteous. Sometimes He will reveal His presence through circumstances, and sometimes with a still, small voice, but always He will help us to know He dwells with us.

58:11 Generations of generations: The inheritance of the faithful will never be cut off.

58:12 Just as Israel was called to be built on unchanging ancient foundations, so is the Church. What makes the Orthodox Church orthodox is its commitment to remain faithful and unaltered from generation to generation.

59:1, 2 God is able to save, but He will not have mercy where there is no repentance. "Remember God at all times, and He will remember you whenever you fall into evils" (IsaacS).

59:3, 4 "For persevering with delight in wicked actions, they hasten thereto without turning back, even treading under foot the commandment with regard to neighbors, and instead of loving them, desire evil against them" (AthanG).

59:12, 13 This passage offers the words that can be spoken to show repentance and receive forgiveness from God (Theod).

59:17 Paul uses this verse in his passages on spiritual warfare (Eph 6:13–17; 1Th 5:8).

59:20, 21 Christ who delivers will come to Zion, "the lost sheep of the house of Israel" (Mt 15:24). Turn back ungodliness: Then the Holy Spirit will be given to the Church at Pentecost, and the proclamation of the Gospel will be established forever. "Since we too delight in this grace, let us therefore celebrate in our hymns Him who is the dispenser" (Theod).

60:1 This is the hymn we sing at Pascha (Easter) in the liturgical services. "On this day, the whole creation rejoices and exults, for Christ is risen and Hades despoiled" (JohnDm).

🕮 60:1–16 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

60:4 For St. Cyril, this passage refers not only to the return of the Jews from exile, but also to the assembling of the Church from all nations.

60:6–9 Midian, Kedar, and Ephah are nations of nomads descended from Ishmael, and Sheba is an Ethiopian tribe. Eusebius sees these nations, along with their camels, sheep, rams, and wealth, as metaphors for the spiritual gifts and sacrifices which will be offered on God's altar. In this way, His house of prayer, Christ's Church, will be glorified. Gregory of Nyssa comments that "virtue is a light and buoyant thing," and those who live virtuous lives fly like clouds (v. 8).

🕮 60:11–16 This passage is read on September 13 at Vespers for the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross.

61:1, 2 It is this passage to which Jesus referred in Lk 4:16–21 when He stood in the synagogue and read from the prophet Isaiah. He told the people, "Today this Scripture is fulfilled in your hearing." Jesus made it very clear that He is the Lord God of whom Isaiah wrote. "Christ said: 'The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me.' And rightly did He say 'upon Me,' because He was speaking as the Son of Man. For as the Son of Man, He was anointed and sent to preach the Gospel" (AmbM).

🕮 61:1–9 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

61:3 Many in Zion awaited the Messiah, glory instead of ashes. One thinks of the aged Simeon (Lk 2:22–35), who was "waiting for the Consolation of Israel," and the prophetess Anna (Lk 2:36–38), "who looked for redemption in Jerusalem."

61:7 Eternal gladness or joy is one of the fruits of the Spirit (Gal 5:22, 23). The "seal of the gift of the Holy Spirit" is given to the believer at chrismation, which is also called the "oil of gladness" (v. 3).

61:10, 11 St. John Chrysostom teaches that the garment of salvation is Christ Himself, as do others of the Fathers. This explains why St. Paul wrote that in baptism we "put on Christ" (Gal 3:27).

📖 61:10—62:5 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

62:3–5 Christ's crown of beauty is those who keep themselves pure, like the wise virgins waiting for the bridegroom (Mt 25:1–13). Christ rejoices over His bride, the Church (see Eph 5:22–33).

62:6 The guards, according to some Fathers, are the priests. Others see them as angels who continually guard and watch over the Church.

62:7 The prophecy refers to the Incarnation, when the Son of God takes on human flesh, becoming like us. Similar passages are Ex 15:11; Ps 85:8; Jer 10:6, 7.

62:8, 9 Grain and wine are the fruits of righteousness, given to the faithful—both righteous Jews and foreigners—in the Holy Eucharist.

62:10–12 The standard for the Gentiles is the Cross, the Savior is Christ, and the redeemed of the Lord are the Church.

📖 62:10—63:9 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Ascension of the Lord.

63:2, 3 Christ is clothed in the flesh of His humanity and stained with the blood of His Passion. Having been crushed by His enemies in His death, He in turn has crushed them under His feet.

63:7–10 Judgment and mercy are bound together, but by God's grace, "mercy triumphs over judgment" (Jam 2:13). God so loved the world that the Lord Himself saved them. But note how their rebellion grieved His Holy Spirit, causing Him to turn against them.

63:11 Note how this verse parallels Heb 13:20: "Now may the God of peace who brought up our Lord Jesus from the dead, that great Shepherd of the sheep . . ."

📖 63:11—64:5 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

63:12–14 Moses prefigures Christ, for just as Moses was raised up to lead the people through the Red Sea, Christ passed through death and was raised up into life, that He might lead all His people from death to life.

63:15 Isaiah begins his prayer for God to remember the inheritance (v. 17) promised to His people long ago with the word return, which is echoed in the final words of Revelation: "Even so, come, Lord Jesus" (Rev 22:20).

63:17 God hardened their hearts with His patience. He allowed them to continue in their disobedience. Thus, when the chastisement comes, it will be fully justified.

64:1–3 If God's presence causes His adversaries to be troubled, how much more will His mercy help those who wait for Him? (See also 1Co 2:9.)

64:4 God is angry because sin has caused us to go astray. He will meet with mercy those who do true righteousness and remember Him (v. 4).

64:5 The filthy rag is a woman's soiled menstrual cloth. And note it is representative not of our unrighteousness, but of our righteousness! (See also Rom 3:10 and Tts 3:57.)

65:2 I stretched out My hands: This phrase points to "the salvific Passion on the Cross on which He extended His hands" (Theod).

65:3–8 The people violate the law deliberately and continually, and therefore deserve God's anger (v. 5); yet because of the intercession of even one, God declares that He will not destroy them all (v. 8). "If, within the cluster, a single mature seed is found, it is a cause for saving the entire cluster for the purpose of offering the first fruits to God" (Theod).

65:16 Orthodox faithful bless themselves with the sign of the cross of Christ, in the name of the true God: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

65:17–25 This prophecy is partially fulfilled in this age, where those who have been united to Christ are a "new creation" (2Co 5:17); but it will be fulfilled completely in the age to come, when Christ comes again with a new heaven and a new earth (see Rev 21:1–4).

66:1 "God, then, being immaterial and uncircumscribed, has no place. For He is His own place, filling all things" (JohnDm; see also Jn 4:20–24).

66:5, 6 Believers are reminded that even those who hate them are still brethren, for God alone repays His enemies with justice.

66:7 According to the Fathers, this prophecy is fulfilled first in the Virgin Mary, and also in the Church. "He who was of the Father, yet without mother, was born of a woman without a father's cooperation. . . . For, as pleasure did not precede it, pain did not follow it" (JohnDm).

66:8, 9 The Church will indeed be born in one day, at Pentecost (see Acts 2:41; 4:4), and she will in turn give birth to a nation, whereas the old covenant of the law will be sterile.

66:10–14 Christ the Bridegroom is describing the glorious union of Himself with His Bride, the Church. Regarding verse 12, St. Ambrose says, "The Holy Spirit is the river."

66:15, 16 Here the Second Coming of the Lord and the Last Judgment are depicted.

66:17, 18, 24 All hypocrisy, idolatry, and mockery of God will be destroyed together, and those who refuse to repent will nevertheless be made to see the truth in the light of God's glory. These are the dead bodies who will never escape the fire of God's chastisement.

66:19 The cross is the sign of salvation which the apostles shall declare . . . among the Gentiles (see Mt 8:19).

66:20, 21 Worship, sacrifices with psalms, will be open to both Gentiles and Jews, and Christ will choose priests to serve His Church from the Gentile believers.

The Book of Jeremiah

Author

Jeremiah, “the one whom God appoints or exalts.”

Date

Jeremiah prophesied from about 627 to 582 BC.

Major Themes

Destruction and captivity. Jeremiah prophesied the persecutions and destruction of Jerusalem and the temple; he also foretold the captivity of the Jews in Babylon. He exhorted the people to repent, promising hope for those who remain faithful to the Lord. He prophesied there would come a “new covenant” (38:31–34) to be inscribed in every believer’s heart, inaugurated and fulfilled through Christ God, the Messiah of Israel.

Background

Jeremiah was called the “weeping prophet.” He shed many tears during the dark and despairing time of the Babylonian captivity. He began prophesying during King Josiah’s reign (640–609 BC). Jeremiah was also known as “the prophet of the interior life” because he preached a personal knowledge of God and the forgiveness of sins (38:31–34). The bulk of his message was such a heavy burden to him that it broke even his own heart (8:19–21).

Jeremiah 1

[1]The word of God came to Jeremiah the son of Hilkiah of the priests, who lived in Anathoth in the land of Benjamin. [2]The word of God came to him in the days of Josiah the son of Amon, king of Judah, in the thirteenth year of his reign. [3]The word also came in the days of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the eleventh year of Zedekiah the son of Josiah, king of Judah, until the captivity of Jerusalem in the fifth month.

The Prophet Is Chosen

[4]Thus the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [5]"Before I formed you in the womb, I knew you, and before you were born, I sanctified you. I established you a prophet to the nations." [6]Then I said, "O Lord and Master, behold, I do not know how to speak, for I am a youth." [7]But the Lord said to me, "Do not say, 'I am a youth,' for you shall go to all to whom I send you, and whatever I command, you shall speak. [8]Do not be afraid of their faces, for I am with you to deliver you," says the Lord. [9]Then the Lord put forth His hand to me and touched my mouth; and the Lord said to me, "Behold, I have put My words in your mouth. [10]Behold, this day I am setting you over the nations and kingdoms, to root out and to pull down, to destroy, to rebuild, and to plant."

[11]The word of the Lord came to me, saying, "Jeremiah, what do you see?" So I replied, "I see a staff made from an almond tree." [12]Then the Lord said to me, "You see well, for I keep watch to perform the works of my words."

[13]Again the word of the Lord came to me a second time, saying, "What do you see?" Then I said, "A boiling pot, and it is facing away from the north." [14]The Lord said to me, "From the north, evil things will inflame all who inhabit the land. [15]For behold, I will call together all the kingdoms of the land of the north," says the Lord, "and they shall come; and each shall set his throne at the entrance of the gates of Jerusalem, against all the walls surrounding her, and against all the cities of Judah. [16]I will speak to them with judgments concerning all their vices, because they forsook Me, burned incense to foreign gods, and worshiped the works of their hands. [17]As for you, gird your loins and arise, and speak to all whatever I command you. Do not be afraid of their faces nor tremble before them, for I am with you to deliver you," says the Lord. [18]"For behold, on this day I have established you as a fortified city and as a fortified bronze wall against all the kings of Judah, against its rulers, and against the people of the land. [19]They will fight against you, but they shall not prevail over you, for I am with you to deliver you," says the Lord. The Prophets

God's Charges against Israel

[1]Again the Lord said, "Thus says the Lord: [2]'I remember your compassion and youth and your love and maturity, so as to follow the Holy One of Israel,' says the Lord. [3]'Israel, the beginning of His harvest, was holy to the Lord. All who devour him shall transgress, and evils will come upon them,' " says the Lord.

The Worship of Baal

[4]Hear the word of the Lord, O house of Jacob, and all families of the house of Israel. [5]Thus says the Lord: "What transgression have your fathers found in Me, so as to go far from Me, to follow after vain and worthless things? [6]They did not say, 'Where is the Lord, who led us out of the land of Egypt, who guided us in the wilderness, in an unknown and untrodden land, a land that was waterless and barren, in which no one traversed and where no son of man dwelt?' [7]I brought you into Carmel to eat its fruit and its good things, but you entered and defiled My land, and made My heritage an abomination. [8]The priests did not say, 'Where is the Lord?' But those who handle the law did not trust Me, and the shepherds acted profanely toward Me. The prophets prophesied by Baal and walked after unprofitable things.

[9]"Therefore I will yet bring charges against you," says the Lord, "and I will bring charges against the sons of your sons. [10]For pass by the islands of Chettim and see. Send to Kedar and consider diligently. See if such things happened, [11]whether nations will change their gods; though they are not gods. But My people changed their glory to a glory from which they will not profit. [12]Heaven was amazed at this and was exceedingly horror-struck," says the Lord. [13]"For My people have committed two evils: They forsook Me, the fountain of living water, and hewed for themselves broken cisterns, unable to hold water.

Forsaking the Lord

14 “Is not Israel a slave or household servant? 15 The young lions roared at him with their growl and made his land desolate, and her cities were demolished, no longer livable. 16 Also the sons of Memphis and Tahpanhes know you and mock you. 17 By forsaking Me, did you not bring these things upon yourself?” says the Lord your God. 18 “Now, what concern of yours is the road to Egypt, or drinking the waters of the Nile? Why concern yourself about the road to Assyria, or drinking the water of his rivers? 19 Your own rebellion will chastise you, and your vices will convict you. You will know and experience the bitterness of your forsaking Me,” says the Lord your God.

“But I have taken no joy in you,” says the Lord your God, 20 “for from of old you have splintered your yoke and have broken your chain to pieces. You have said, ‘I will not serve You, but I will go to every high hill and under every shade tree to indulge in my fornication.’ 21 I planted a fruitful vine for you, one most healthy and sweet, yet you turned it into a vine unknown to Me, with a taste of bitterness. 22 Though you wash in soap and evermore use lye on yourself, still you remain defiled in your wrongdoings before Me,” says the Lord. 23 “In what way will you say, ‘I was not a disciple of Baal, nor am I defiled’? Consider your ways, which lead you to the common burial place. Know what you have done, for Baal’s voice cries out late in the day.
24 He extends his ways over the waters of the desert, for he is borne along as by the wind in the desires of his soul. He is given over to them. Who will turn him back? All who seek him will not grow weary, but they will find him in his humiliation. 25 Therefore, turn your feet away from this uneven path and from the thirst in your mouth, for he says, ‘I will act like a man,’ because he loves strangers and goes after them.

26 “The sons of Israel, their kings and rulers, their priests and even their prophets shall be ashamed, like the shame of a thief when he is caught. 27 For they said to a tree, ‘You are my father,’ and to the stone, ‘You have begotten me.’ They have turned their backs to Me, and not their faces; yet in the time of their evils, they will say, ‘Arise and save us.’ 28 But where are the gods you made for yourself? Will they arise and save you when you are in oppression?
For in the same number as you have cities, O Judah, you have gods, and according to the number of thoroughfares in Jerusalem, they sacrifice to Baal.

Denial of Sin

29 “Why do you speak to Me? All of you have been ungodly, and all of you have acted lawlessly against Me," says the Lord. [30]"In vain I struck your children, for you accepted no chastisement. Like a destroying lion, a sword devoured your prophets, but you did not fear." [31]Hear the word of the Lord. Thus says the Lord: "Was I really a desert to Israel, or a barren land? Then why did My people say, 'We will not be dominated, and no more will we come to You'? [32]Can a bride forget her ornaments, or a virgin her breast-band? Yet for days without number My people forget Me. [33]Yet what good will you practice in your ways so as to seek love? None. But you also did evil so as to defile your ways. [34]The death of innocent souls was found at your hands. I did not find them by digging in the earth, but under every oak tree. [35]Yet you said, 'But I am innocent, so let Your anger turn from me.' Behold, I pass judgment against you because you say, 'I have not sinned.' [36]Why did you deal so very contemptuously so as to repeat your ways? But you will be ashamed of Egypt as you were of Assyria. [37]For you will go out henceforth with your hands on your head, because the Lord rejected your hope; and you will not prosper in it.

Jeremiah 3

Israel Is Defiled

[1]"If a man divorces his wife, and she goes from him to become another man's, may she turn back and return to him again? Would not such a woman be greatly defiled? But you committed fornication with many shepherds and have returned to Me," says the Lord. [2]"Lift up your eyes straight ahead and see. Where have you not been defiled? You sat for them along the roads like a deserted crow, and defiled the land with your fornications and vices. [3]Yes, you have many shepherds as an occasion of stumbling for yourself. The appearance of a prostitute has come upon you, but you shamelessly deny all this. [4]Have you not called Me, as it were, a home, a father, and a founder of your virginity? [5]Will this appearance continue forever, or be maintained to the end? Behold, you said and did these evil things as you were able."

A Call to Return

[6]Again the Lord said to me in the days of Josiah the king, "You saw what the habitation of Israel did to Me? They went up on every high mountain and under every shady tree to commit fornication there. [7]Yet after Israel committed all these acts of fornication, I said, ‘Return to Me,’ but she did not return. Faithless Judah also saw Israel’s faithlessness. 8I also saw it, and because of all the things in which the habitation of Israel committed adultery and was overtaken in it, therefore I put her away and placed in her hands a certificate of divorce. Yet even after this, faithless Judah did not fear, but she, too, proceeded to commit fornication. 9Her fornication was good for nothing, for she committed adultery with wood and stone. 10In all of this, faithless Judah did not turn to Me with her whole heart, but falsely.”

11Again the Lord said to me, “Israel justified herself more than faithless Judah. 12Go and read these words toward the north, and you shall say, ‘Return to Me, O habitation of Israel,’ says the Lord, ‘and I will not set My face against you. I am merciful,’ says the Lord, ‘and I will not be wrathful forever. 13However, realize your wrongdoing, for you behaved in an ungodly way against the Lord your God; and you passed on your evil ways to foreigners under every shady tree, because you did not obey My voice.

14“Return, O sons who have turned away,” says the Lord, “for I will rule over you and receive you—one from a city and two from a family—and I will lead you to Zion. 15I will give you shepherds according to My heart, and they will thoroughly shepherd you with knowledge. 16It shall come to pass that if you multiply and increase in the land in those days,” says the Lord, “they will no longer say, ‘The ark of the covenant of the Holy One of Israel.’ It will not enter their heart, nor be named or visited; neither will this be done any more. 17In those days and at that time, they shall call Jerusalem the Throne of the Lord, and all the Gentiles shall be gathered to it. They shall no longer walk after the reasoning of their evil heart. 18In those days, the house of Judah shall walk with the house of Israel, and they shall come together out of the land of the north, and from all the countries to the land I gave as an inheritance to their fathers.

19“I declare” (may it be, O Lord!) “that I will set you among children and give you a choice land, the inheritance of the Almighty God of the Gentiles; and I declare that you shall call Me Father, and you shall not turn away from Me. 20Nevertheless, as a wife rejects her husband, so the house of Israel has rejected Me,” says the Lord. 21“For a sound from lips was heard, even bitter crying and the entreaty of the sons of Israel; because they did wrong in their ways and forgot their holy God. 22Return, O sons, return, and I will heal your ruin.”

23“Behold, we will be Your servants, for You are the Lord our God.

Indeed, the hills and the power of the mountains were as a lie, for our salvation is only through the Lord our God. [24]But from our youth, shame devoured the labors of our fathers: their sheep, their cattle, their sons and their daughters. [25]We fall asleep in our shame and dishonor covers us, because we sinned against the Lord our God. From our youth even to this day, we and our fathers did not obey the voice of the Lord our God."

Jeremiah 4

[1]"If Israel returns to Me," says the Lord, "he shall return. If he puts away abominations from his mouth, and fears My presence, [2]and swears that the Lord lives with truth, judgment, and righteousness, then the Gentiles shall bless in Him, and in Him they shall praise God in Jerusalem." [3]For thus says the Lord to the men of Judah and those dwelling in Jerusalem: "Plow for yourselves the untilled fields, and do not sow among thorns. [4]Circumcise yourselves to God, all you men of Judah and those dwelling in Jerusalem, and circumcise the hardness of your heart, lest My anger come forth like fire and burn; and there shall be no one who quenches it, because of the presence of your evil practices."

Warning of Disaster

[5]Declare in Judah and let it be heard in Jerusalem, and say, "Blow the trumpet in the land, and cry out loudly, saying, 'Assemble yourselves, and let us go into the fortified cities.' [6]Pick up and flee toward Zion. Hurry. Do not stop! For I bring disaster from the north and great destruction." [7]The lion has come up from his den, and the destroyer of nations has arisen. He has come forth from his place to make the land desolate, and the cities will be laid waste, no longer livable. [8]For this, clothe yourself with sackcloth, lament and wail, saying, "The anger of the Lord has not turned back from us."

[9]"In that day it shall come to pass," says the Lord, "that the heart of the king and the heart of the rulers shall perish. The priests shall be amazed and the prophets shall wonder." [10]Then I said, "O Lord and Master, surely You deceived this people and Jerusalem when You said, 'You shall have peace,' but behold, the sword reaches to their soul."

[11]At that time, they will say to this people and to Jerusalem, "There is a spirit of wandering in the desert, for the way of the daughter of My people is not clean nor holy. [12]A spirit of completion will come to Me now, for I speak judgments against them. [13]Behold, he shall come up like a cloud, and his chariots like a whirlwind, for his horses are swifter than eagles. They will say, ‘Woe to us, for we are in ruin!’ ”

[14]O Jerusalem, wash the vices from your heart that you may be saved. How long shall your painful thoughts be within you? [15]For the voice of one declaring from Dan will come, and anguish will be heard from Mount Ephraim: [16]“Remind the nations, for they have come. Announce to those in Jerusalem the gatherings of those from afar, for they uttered their voice against the cities of Judah. [17]They completely surrounded her, like those who guard a field, for you rejected Me,” says the Lord. [18]“Your ways and practices have brought these things upon you. This evil is your own, for it is bitter, because it took hold of your heart.”

Jeremiah’s Sorrow for Israel

[19]I am pained to the depth of my belly and in the senses of my heart. My soul is in great commotion, and my heart is torn asunder. I will not be silent, for my soul hears the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war. [20]It calls for a ruinous crushing, for the whole land is in ruin. Suddenly the tabernacle is in ruin, and my coverings are torn apart. [21]How long will I see people fleeing and hear the sound of trumpets? [22]“For the leaders of My people do not know Me. They are foolish and unwise sons. They are wise to do evil, but do not know how to do good.”

[23]I looked upon the earth, and behold, it was nothing, and into the sky, and there were no stars in it. [24]I saw the mountains, and they were trembling; and I saw all the hills, and they were shaking. [25]I looked, and behold, there was no man, and all the birds of the heavens were alarmed. [26]I saw, and behold, Carmel was deserted, and all the cities were burnt with fire at the presence of the Lord, and because of His fierce anger they were destroyed.

[27]Thus says the Lord: “The whole land shall be desolate, yet I will not destroy it completely. [28]Let the earth mourn for these things, and let the sky above grow dark, for I have spoken and will not repent. I have sworn and will not turn back from it. [29]From the sound of the horse and the bow strung with an arrow, the whole land retreated. They crawled into caves, hid in the groves, and climbed up on the rocks. Every city is forsaken, and not a man dwells in them. [30]As for you, what will you do, though you clothe yourself with crimson and adorn yourself with ornaments of gold, though you daub your eyes with myrrh? Your adornment is in vain. Your lovers rejected you, and they seek your life. 31For I heard your voice groaning, like the sound of a woman giving birth, like the voice of the daughter of Zion whose anguish is like that of one who gives birth the first time, who grows weary and whose hands lose their strength; and she says, 'Woe is me, for my soul faints because of those killed!'

Jeremiah 5

God's Judgment Is Just

1"Run to and fro through the streets of Jerusalem, and you will see and know; and seek in her streets if you can find a man, if there is anyone who does judgment and seeks faithfulness; and I shall be merciful to them," says the Lord. 2"Though they say, 'As the Lord lives,' therefore, do they not make an oath with lies?" 3O Lord, Your eyes are on faithfulness. You chastised them, but they have not grieved. You consumed them, but they were unwilling to receive correction. They set their faces harder than a rock and did not will to return.

4Therefore I said, "Perhaps they are poor, because they are weak and do not know the way of the Lord, nor the judgment of God. 5I will go to the great men and speak to them, for they do not know the way of the Lord and the judgment of God." But behold, they altogether crushed the yoke and broke the bonds. 6Therefore a lion from the thicket struck them, and a wolf destroyed them, even to their houses; and a leopard kept watch against their cities. Everyone who goes out from them shall be hunted, because they multiplied their ungodliness and grew strong in their turning away.

7"In what way shall I be merciful to you? Your sons forsook Me and swore by those who are not gods. I pastured them, but they committed adultery and lodged in the houses of prostitutes. 8They were lusty horses. Each one neighed after his neighbor's wife. 9Shall I not visit them for these things?"
says the Lord. "Shall not My soul take vengeance on such a nation as this?

10"Go upon her outer fortifications and tear them down, but do not ruin them completely. Leave the support foundations, for they belong to the Lord.
11The house of Israel and the house of Judah dealt very treacherously with Me," says the Lord. 12They lied to their own Lord, and said, "These things are not so. Evil will not come upon us, nor shall we see sword or famine.

13 Our prophets were as wind, and the word of the Lord did not exist in them.”

14 Therefore, thus says the Lord Almighty: “Because you prophets spoke this word, behold, I will cause My words to be fire in your mouth, and this people to be wood, and the fire shall devour them. 15 Behold, O house of Israel,” says the Lord, “I will bring a nation against you from afar. It is a nation whose spoken language you shall not understand. 16 They are all mighty men. 17 They shall eat up your harvest and your bread, and they shall devour your sons and daughters, along with your sheep and cattle, and your vines, fig trees, and olive groves. With a sword they shall destroy your fortified cities in which you trust.

18 “Nevertheless, it shall come to pass in those days,” says the Lord your God, “that I will not make a complete end of you. 19 It will be that when you say, ‘Why did the Lord our God do all these things to us?’ then you shall answer them, ‘Because you served foreign gods in your land, so you shall serve foreigners in a land not yours.’

20 “Declare this in the house of Jacob, and let it be heard in Judah. 21 Hear these things now, O people, foolish and heartless. They have eyes that see not, they have ears that hear not. 22 Do you not fear Me?” asks the Lord. “Have you no fear before My presence, I who placed the sand as the bound of the sea, a perpetual decree, so it shall not pass beyond? Though it be in a constant uproar, yet it shall not prevail; and though its waves toss, yet they shall not pass over it. 23 But this people has an inattentive and disobedient heart. They turned aside and departed. 24 They did not say in their heart, ‘Let us now fear the Lord our God, who gives us both the early and the late rain, according to the fullness of the season, and preserves the harvest He ordained for us.’ 25 Your lawlessness turned these things away, and your sins withdrew the good things from you. 26 For the ungodly were found among My people. They set traps to destroy men, and they caught them. 27 As a trap set for birds is full, so their houses are full of deceit; therefore, they became great and grew rich. 28 They transgressed judgment and do not plead the cause of the orphan, nor the cause of the widow. 29 Shall I not visit them for these things?” says the Lord. “Shall not My soul take vengeance on such a nation as this?

30 “Bewilderment and horrible things have come upon the land. 31 The prophets prophesy unrighteous things, and the priests applaud with their hands. My people also love to have it so. But what will you do after these things?”

Jeremiah 6

Destruction Is Coming from the North

[1]Be strong, O sons of Benjamin, in the midst of Jerusalem. Blow the trumpet in Tekoa, and for the sake of Beth Haccerem, set up a signal; because evil looms from the north, and great destruction is coming. [2]Your crown will be taken away, O daughter of Zion. [3]Shepherds and their flocks will come to her, and they shall pitch their tents against her all around; and they shall feed their flocks, each with his hand. [4]Get ready to war against her, to rise up against her in battle at noon. Woe to us! Because the day draws to a close, and the shadows of evening come to an end. [5]Arise and go up in the night, and utterly destroy her foundations.

[6]For thus says the Lord: “Cut down her trees; pour out your power against Jerusalem, O false city. There is oppression in her entirely. [7]As a reservoir chills down water, so evil causes her to grow cold. Ungodliness and misery will be heard in her presence continually. [8]Be instructed, O Jerusalem, by pain and affliction, lest My soul depart from you; lest I make you a land not to be trodden, where no one shall dwell.” [9]For thus says the Lord: “Glean, glean as a vine the remnant of Israel; return them as one who gathers for his basket.”

[10]To whom shall I speak and testify? Will it be heard? Behold, their ears are uncircumcised, and they cannot hear. Behold, the word of the Lord was an insult to them, and they do not wish to hear it. [11]“I was filled with my anger, but held fast and did not end their lives. I will pour it out against the children from the outside, against the youth of the assembly; and the husband and wife will be taken together, the elder full of days. [12]Their houses shall be turned over to others, together with their wives and fields. For I will stretch out My hand against the inhabitants of this land,” says the Lord. [13]“Because from the least of them even to the greatest, everyone accomplished lawlessness. From the priest even to the false prophet, everyone acted falsely. [14]With contempt they healed the calamity of My people incompletely, saying, ‘Peace, peace.’ But where is peace? [15]They were ashamed because they failed; but they were not ashamed as those truly ashamed, for they did not recognize their dishonor. Therefore, they shall utterly fall when they do fall, and at the time of their visitation they shall perish,” says the Lord.

[16]Thus says the Lord: “Stand in the ways and see, and ask about the eternal pathways of the Lord. See what the good way is and walk in it. Here you will find purification for your souls. But they said, ‘We will not walk in it.’ [17]I set watchmen over you. Listen to the sound of their trumpet. But they said, ‘We will not listen.’ [18]Therefore the Gentiles heard, and those who shepherd their flocks. [19]Hear, O earth. Behold, I will bring evils upon this people, the fruit of their turning away, because they did not heed My words, but rejected My law. [20]Why do you bring frankincense to Me from Sheba and cinnamon from a far country? Your whole burnt offerings are not acceptable, and your sacrifices are not sweet to Me.” [21]Therefore thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will bring weakness upon this people, and the fathers and the sons together shall be weak. The neighbor and his friend shall perish.”

[22]Thus says the Lord: “Behold, a people will come from the north, and a nation will be raised from the farthest parts of the earth. [23]They will take hold of bow and spear; and they are reckless and will show no mercy. Their voice is like the roaring sea, and they are deployed on horses and chariots. They shall draw up in battle order as a fire for war against you, O daughter of Zion.”

[24]You will say, “We heard the report of them, and our hands became feeble. Distress takes hold of us as pains of a woman in labor.” [25]Do not go out into the field nor walk along the ways, for the swords of enemies linger on every side. [26]O daughter of my people, dress yourself in sackcloth and sprinkle yourself with ashes. Make for yourself a bitter lamentation as if for a beloved son, because suddenly misery will come upon you.

[27]“I gave you an assayer to prove you among the peoples, and you shall know Me when I test their way. [28]They all are inattentive and walk perversely. They are bronze and iron, and all have corrupted themselves. [29]The blowpipe and the lead failed because the fire gave out. The silversmith coins money in vain, and their evils have not melted away. [30]Call them rejected silver, because the Lord rejected them.”

Jeremiah 7

Trust Not in Lying Words

[1]Hear the word of the Lord, all you of Judah. [2]Thus says the Lord God of Israel: “Amend your ways and your practices, and I will cause you to dwell in this place. [3]Do not entrust yourselves to lying words, for they will not profit you when you say, ‘It is the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord.’ 4For if you thoroughly amend your ways and your practices, if you thoroughly bring about judgment between a man and his neighbor, 5and do not oppress the resident alien, the orphan, and the widow, and do not shed innocent blood in this place or walk after foreign gods to your hurt, 6then I will cause you to dwell in this place, in the land I gave to your fathers of old and forever.

7“But if you trust in lying words from which you cannot profit, 8and you murder, commit adultery, steal, swear to do wrong, burn incense to Baal, and walk after foreign gods you do not know so as to do evil, 9and come and stand before Me in the house wherein My name is called and say, ‘We have not abstained from doing all these abominations,’ 10then is this house, called by My name, a den of robbers in your eyes? Behold, I have seen it.

11“But go to My place in Shiloh, where I caused My name to dwell before, and see what I did to it because of the vices of My people Israel,” says the Lord. 12“Now then, because you did all these works, and I spoke to you but you did not hear Me, and I called you but you did not answer, 13therefore, I will also do to this house, called by My name in which you trust, and the place I gave you and your fathers, as I did to Shiloh. 14I will cast you out of My sight as I cast out your brethren—all the seed of Ephraim.

15“Therefore, do not pray for this people, nor consider them worthy to be shown mercy. Do not pray nor come to Me about them. I will not hear you. 16Do you not see what they do in the cities of Judah and in the streets of Jerusalem? 17Their sons gather wood, and their fathers kindle the fire, while their women knead cake dough for the host of heaven; and they pour out drink offerings to foreign gods to provoke Me to anger. 18Do they provoke Me to wrath?” says the Lord. “Do they not provoke themselves to the shame of their own faces?” 19Therefore, thus says the Lord: “Behold, My wrath and anger is poured out on this place, on men and cattle, on every tree of their field, and on all the fruits of the land. It will burn and not be quenched. 20Gather your whole burnt offerings with your sacrifices, and eat meat.”

21Thus says the Lord: “For I did not speak to your fathers, nor command them concerning whole burnt offerings and sacrifices in the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt. 22But I commanded them this word, saying, ‘Listen to My voice, and I will be to you as God, and you shall be to Me as a people. Walk in all My ways I commanded you, that it may be well with you.’ 23Yet they did not hear Me and did not attend their ear. Instead, they walked in the devices of their heart and went backward, not forward. 24From the day their fathers came out of the land of Egypt until this day, I sent you all My servants, the prophets. I sent them by day and early in the morning. Yes, I sent them. [25]But they did not hear Me, nor did their ear attend. Instead, they stiffened their neck even more than their fathers.

False Worship Will Be Judged

[26]"Therefore, you shall speak this word to them: [27]'This is the nation that heard not the voice of the Lord, nor received correction. Faith has perished from their mouth. [28]Cut off your hair and cast it away. Take up a lamentation on your lips, for the Lord has rejected and repudiated the generation that does these things.' [29]For the sons of Judah did the evil thing in My sight," says the Lord. "They set their abominations in the house called by My name, to defile it. [30]They also built the altar of Tophet in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire, which I did not command them, nor consider in My heart. [31]Behold, the days are coming," says the Lord, "when they will no longer say, 'the Altar of Tophet,' or, 'the Valley of the Son of Hinnom,' but instead, 'the Valley of the Slain'; and they will be buried in Tophet, for there is no other place. [32]The dead of this people will also be food for the birds of heaven and the wild beasts of the land. No one will scare them away. [33]I shall cause to cease the glad and joyful voice, the voice of the bridegroom and the bride, from the cities of Judah and the thoroughfares of Jerusalem. For the whole land shall be desolate.

Jeremiah 8

The Relics Are an Example

[1]"At that time," says the Lord, "they shall bring out of their graves the bones of the kings of Judah and its rulers, the bones of the priests and the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [2]They shall dry them before the sun and the moon, and before all the stars and the hosts of heaven, which they loved and served, and after which they walked, devoted themselves, and worshiped. They are not to be mourned nor buried; but they are to be an example on the face of the earth, [3]because they chose death rather than life. They are also to be an example to all the remnant left from that generation, in every place wherever I banish them."

False Teaching Will Be Judged

4For thus says the Lord: “Will not he who falls arise? Or he who turns away, will he not return? 5Why therefore has this My people turned away from Me in a shameful way, strengthened themselves in their choice, and were not willing to return? 6Indeed, give ear and listen. Will they not speak thus: ‘There is no man who repents of his vices, saying, “What have I done?’
” The runner ceases to run his race, as a sweating horse ceases to run when he is tired. 7Even the stork in the sky knows her appointed time, as do the turtledove and the swallow of the field. The sparrows watch for the times of their coming. But My people do not know the judgments of the Lord.

8“How can you say, ‘We are wise, and the law of the Lord is with us’? The lying pen becomes vanity for the scribes. 9Wise men are put to shame and convicted, for they rejected the word of the Lord. What wisdom is in them?
10I will give their wives and fields to others as an inheritance. 11They will gather together their fruits. There are no grapes on the vines, nor figs on the fig trees, and the leaves have fallen off. 12They will say, ‘Why do we sit still?
Assemble yourselves, and let us enter the strong cities. Let us be rejected, for God has cast us out and given us gall to drink, because we sinned against Him. 13Let us come together for peace, but there was nothing good, and for a time of healing, but behold, trouble. 14We will hear the swift sound of His horses coming from Dan. The whole land quakes from the neighing of His horse-drawn chariots. He will come and devour the land and its fullness, the city and those who dwell in it.’ 15For behold, I send forth lethal serpents among you, for which there are no charms. 16They shall bite you mortally with the pain of your disturbed heart.”

Jeremiah Weeps for His People

17Behold, the voice of the daughter of my people cries out from a far land, “Is not the Lord in Zion? Is her King not there?” “No, because they provoked Me to anger with their carved images and foreign vanities.” 18They will say,
“The summer is gone, the harvest is past, and we are not saved.”

19I am saddened because of the ruin of the daughter of my people. Pains have seized me as one who gives birth. 20Is there no balm in Gilead? Is there no physician? Why is no healing taking place for the daughter of my people?
21Who will give water to my head and a fountain of tears to my eyes, that I might weep day and night for this people of mine, for the wounded of the daughter of my people?

Jeremiah 9

[1]Who will give me lodging in a deserted place, that I might leave my people and depart from them? For they are all adulterers, an assembly of treacherous men.
[2]"They bent their tongues like a bow. Falsehood, not faith, prevails in the land. For they went from evil to evil, and have not known Me. [3]Let each take heed to his neighbor, and not trust their brothers, for every brother will utterly deceive, and every friend will walk treacherously. [4]Each will mock at his friend and not speak the truth. Their tongue learns to speak lies, and they do wrong. They do not pause to turn back. [5]There is usury upon usury, deceit upon deceit. They are unwilling to know Me." [6]Therefore thus says the Lord: "Behold, I will set them on fire and test them; I shall do so because of the evil of the daughter of My people. [7]Their tongue is a wounding arrow, and the words of their mouth are deceitful. One speaks peaceably to his neighbor, but has hatred in his heart. [8]Shall I not visit them for these things?" says the Lord. "Shall not My soul take vengeance on such a people as this? [9]Take up a wailing on the mountains and a lamentation on the paths of the desert; for they cease from being a people. They do not hear the sound of existence from the birds of the sky, nor even from cattle.
They were astonished; they were gone. [10]I will put Jerusalem into captivity, and it will become a dwelling place of serpents. I will make the cities of Judah desolate, beyond habitation." [11]Who is a wise man? Let him understand this. Let him declare to you by the word of the Lord to him why the land was ravaged by fire, and became like a desert no one could pass through. [12]The Lord answered me, "Because they forsook My law which I set before their face, and they did not hear My voice. [13]Instead, they walked after what pleased their evil heart, and after the idols their fathers taught them." [14]Therefore, thus says the Lord God of Israel: "Behold, I will feed them as a matter of necessity, and give them the water of bitterness to drink. [15]I will also scatter them among the Gentiles, amongst whom neither they nor their fathers are known. I shall send a sword after them until I consume them with it."

The People Weep in Shame

16Thus says the Lord: “Call for the mourning women and let them come.
Send for the wise women and let them give utterance. 17Let them take up a lamentation over you. Let your eyes run with tears, and your eyelids flow with water. 18For a voice of wailing is heard from Zion, ‘How we have been afflicted and greatly ashamed, because we forsook the land and were cast out of our dwellings.’ ” 19Indeed, O women, hear the word of God, and let your ear receive the words of His mouth. Teach your daughters wailing, and a woman a lamentation to all her neighbors. 20For death will come through your windows and enter your land, to destroy the children from outside and the youth from the streets. 21The dead men shall be as an example in the open country of your land, like grass after it is mowed, when there shall be none to gather it.

22Thus says the Lord: “Let not the wise man boast in his wisdom, nor let the mighty man boast in his might, nor let the rich man boast in his riches.”
23Instead, let him who boasts boast in this, that he understands and knows that I am the Lord, who shows mercy, judgment, and righteousness on earth, for in these is My will,” says the Lord. 24“Behold, the days are coming, says the Lord, “that I will visit upon all the circumcised their uncircumcision. 25I will visit Egypt, Judea, Edom, the sons of Ammon and the sons of Moab, and all who dwell in the desert—all who shave their face. For all these nations are uncircumcised in the flesh, but all the house of Israel are uncircumcised in their heart.”

Jeremiah 10

Let the Idols Perish

1O house of Israel, hear the word of the Lord, for He has spoken to you.
2Thus says the Lord: “Do not learn the ways of the Gentiles, and do not be afraid because of signs from the sky, for they themselves reverence these.
3For the customs of the peoples are vain. This vanity is a tree cut from the forest, the work of a craftsman, or it is a molten image. 4They are embellished with silver and gold with a hammer, and they strengthen them with nails so they will not move. 5They will be taken up and carried, for they cannot walk by themselves. Do not be afraid of them, because they cannot do evil, nor is there any good thing in them. 6The silver is worked in relief, and they cannot travel anywhere. The silver overlays come from Tarshish, the gold from Uphaz. All handiwork is the work of goldsmiths and craftsmen, and they will dress them in hyacinth and purple.”

[7]Thus you shall say to them, “Let the gods that did not make heaven and earth perish from the earth and from under this heaven.”

[8]The Lord—who made the earth in His strength, who restores the inhabited world in His wisdom and discernment—stretched out heaven, [9]and the abundance of water in heaven; and He brings up clouds from the ends of the earth. He made lightning for the rain, and brings light out of His storehouses. [10]Every man is made foolish because of this knowledge, and every goldsmith is put to shame by his carved images; because they cast false gods that have no spirit in them. [11]They are vain works that are ridiculed, and in the time of His visitation they shall be destroyed. [12]Such is not the portion for Jacob, for He who formed all things is Jacob’s inheritance. The Lord is His name.

Desolation Is Coming to Judah

[13]This inheritance resides in the elect and gathers together your existence outside the land. [14]For thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will overthrow those who reside in this land with affliction, that your wound might be discovered.” [15]Alas for your ruin! Your wound is painful, and I say, “Indeed, this is my wound, and it overtakes me. [16]My tabernacle endures hardship and is ruined, and all my skin coverings are torn apart. My sons and my sheep are no more, and there is no place left for my tent, nor for my curtains. [17]For the shepherds act foolishly and no longer seek out the Lord. Therefore, the whole pasture does not understand, thus the sheep are scattered. [18]Behold, there is a sound of news, and an earthquake comes from the land of the north to cause the cities of Judah to disappear, making them the nesting place of sparrows.

[19]I know, O Lord, that man’s way is not his own, nor will a man go and prosper in his own pursuit. [20]Chastise us, O Lord, but with judgment and not in anger, lest You make our numbers few. [21]Pour out Your anger on the Gentiles who do not know You, and on the generations who did not call on Your name; because they devoured Jacob and utterly destroyed him, and they laid waste his pasture.

Jeremiah 11

God’s Covenant Is Ignored

[1]The word came from the Lord to Jeremiah, saying, [2]“Hear the words of this covenant, and you shall speak to the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [3]You shall say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord God of Israel: “Cursed is the man who will not hear the words of this covenant, [4]which I commanded your fathers in the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt, from the iron furnace, saying, ‘Hear My voice, and do all I command you, so you shall be to Me as a people and I will be to you as God, [5]that I may confirm the oath I swore to your fathers, to give to them a land flowing with milk and honey, as it is today.’ ” ’ ” Then I answered and said, “O Lord, may it be so.”

[6]Then the Lord said to me, “Read aloud these words in the cities of Judah and outside Jerusalem, saying, ‘Hear the words of this covenant and do them.’ ” [7]But they did not. [8]Again the Lord said to me, “A conspiracy was found among the men of Judah and among the inhabitants of Jerusalem.
[9]They turned back to the wrongdoings of their forefathers who were unwilling to hear My words. Behold, they go after foreign gods to serve them. Both the house of Israel and the house of Judah rejected My covenant which I made with their fathers.”

[10]Therefore, thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will bring calamities on this people from which they cannot escape; and they shall cry out to Me, but I will not listen. [11]Then the cities of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem will go and cry out to the gods to whom they offer incense. But will they save them in the time of their calamities? [12]O Judah, your gods were based on the number of your cities, and according to the number of streets in Jerusalem, you appointed altars to burn incense to Baal.

[13]“Do not pray for this people, and do not consider them worthy in petition; for I will not hear their prayer in the time they cry out to Me or in the time of their distress. [14]Why has My beloved done a detestable thing in My house? Will prayers and holy offerings remove your vices from you?
Will you escape by means of these? [15]The Lord called your name a pleasant olive tree, a good shade tree in appearance. At the sound of its pruning, a fire was kindled against it. Great is the affliction coming upon you. Its branches have become worthless. [16]For the Lord who planted you has proclaimed troubles against you in return for the evil the house of Israel and the house of Judah did against themselves when they offered incense to Baal and provoked My wrath.”

A Plot against Jeremiah

17 O Lord, teach me, and I will know. Then I saw their purpose. 18 For I did not know I was like an innocent lamb led to be sacrificed. They plotted an evil device against me, saying, “Come, let us put wood in his bread, and destroy him root and branch from the land of the living, so his name might not be remembered any longer.” 19 But, O Lord, You who judge righteously, who tests minds and hearts, let me see Your vengeance on them, for I have revealed my righteous plea to You.
20 Therefore thus says the Lord against the men of Anathoth, against those who seek my life, and who say, “Do not prophesy in the name of the Lord, lest you die by our hands”— 21 “Behold, I will visit them. The young men shall die by the sword, and their sons and daughters shall die by famine.
22 There shall be no remnant of them, for I will bring calamities on the inhabitants of Anathoth in the year of their visitation.”

Jeremiah 12

Jeremiah Pleads His Case

1 O Lord, You are righteous, that I may plead my case with You, to speak to You concerning judgments. Why does the way of the ungodly prosper, and all who deal treacherously flourish? 2 You planted them, and they took root.
They bear children and are fruitful. You are near in their mouth, but far from their mind. 3 But You, O Lord, know me. You have proven my heart before You. Set them apart for the day of slaughter. 4 How long will the land mourn and the grass of the field wither, because of the vices of those who dwell in it? The cattle and the birds are destroyed, because they said, “God will not see our ways.”

The Lord Answers Him

5 “Your feet run and grow weary. How then will you prepare yourself to run with horses? You are confident when the land is peaceful, but what will you do when the Jordan floods the land? 6 But even your brothers and the house of your father dealt treacherously with you. They cried out and gathered together in pursuit of you. Do not trust them because they will speak fair words to you.
7 “I forsook My house and left My inheritance. I gave My beloved inheritance into the hands of its enemies. 8 For My inheritance became to Me like a lion in the forest. It raised its voice against Me; therefore, I hated it. [9]Is not My inheritance the cave of a hyena to Me, or a cave it walks around? Gather together all the wild beasts of the field and let them come to devour her. [10]Many shepherds destroyed My vineyard and defiled My portion. They turned My pleasant portion into an impassable desert. [11]It was made a complete ruin. The whole land was utterly destroyed for My sake, because there was no man who took it to heart. [12]The tormentors come to every passage in the desert, because the sword of the Lord will devour from one end of the land to the other. No flesh has any peace. [13]Sow fires and reap thorns. Their portions will not profit them. Be ashamed of your boasting because of your disgrace before the Lord."

[14]For thus says the Lord: "Concerning all the evil neighbors who touch My inheritance, which I divided to My people Israel—behold, I shall draw them away from their land and will cast out Judah from their midst. [15]Then it shall come to pass, after I cast them out, that I will return them and have mercy on them. I will settle them, each in his inheritance and each in his land. [16]It shall be that if they carefully learn the way of My people, to swear by My name, saying, 'The Lord lives,' as they taught My people to swear by Baal, so they shall be built as a nation in the midst of My people. [17]But if they do not return, I will remove that nation by destruction and ruin."

Jeremiah 13

The Sash: A Symbol of Israel

[1]Thus says the Lord: "Go and get yourself a linen sash and put it around your waist, but let it not pass through the water." [2]So I got the sash according to the word of the Lord, and put it around my waist.

[3]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [4]"Take the sash from around your waist. Arise and go to the Euphrates, and hide it there in a hole in the rock." [5]So I went and hid it by the Euphrates as the Lord commanded me. [6]Again it came to pass that after many days the Lord also said to me, "Arise and go to the Euphrates, and take from there the sash I commanded you to hide there." [7]Then I went to the Euphrates River and dug, and took the sash from the place where I buried it. Behold, it was rotted and good for nothing.

[8]Then the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [9]"Thus says the Lord: 'In this manner I will destroy the insolence of Judah and that of Jerusalem. [10]The great insolence of those who are unwilling to obey My words, and who walk after foreign gods to serve and worship them, they shall be like this sash—good for nothing. [11]For as a sash clings to the waist of a man, so I caused the house of Israel and the whole house of Judah to cling to Me, so as to become a notable people to Me, as a boast and a glory; but they would not listen to Me.'

Wine Bottles: A Warning to Israel

[12]"Thus you shall say to this people: 'Every bottle shall be filled with wine.' But if they say to you, 'Do we not know for certain every bottle will be filled with wine?' [13]Then you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord: "Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land with intoxicating drink: their kings, the sons of David who sit on his throne, their priests, their prophets, and Judah and all the inhabitants of Jerusalem. [14]I will scatter them, a man and his brother, together with their fathers and their sons. I will not desire them," says the Lord, "nor spare them, nor have compassion on them in their destruction." ' "

How Long, O Jerusalem?

[15]Listen and give ear. Do not exalt yourselves, for the Lord has spoken. [16]Give glory to the Lord your God before it grows dark, and causes your feet to stumble on the dark mountains. You shall wait in anticipation of the light, but the shadow of death will be there; and they shall bring you into darkness. [17]Now if you will not hear, your soul will weep secretly because of your insolent countenance, and your eyes will bring forth tears, for the Lord's flock is broken apart. [18]Say to the king and to the nobles, "Humble yourself and sit down, for your crown of glory is removed from your head." [19]The cities to the south were shut, and there was no one to open them. Judah is sent away completely as a settlement.

[20]Lift up your eyes, O Jerusalem, and see those who come from the north. Where is the flock given to you, the sheep of your glory? [21]What will you say when they visit you? For you taught them lessons in the beginning against yourself. Shall not pains of agony seize you, like a woman who gives birth? [22]But if you say in your heart, "Why have these things happened to me?" Because of the multitude of your wrongdoings, your backside was uncovered so your heels might be exposed. [23]If an Ethiopian could change his skin or a leopard its spots, so you who learned evil might also be able to do good.

24"Therefore I scattered them like sticks, carried by the wind into the desert. 25This is your lot and your portion for your disobedience against Me," says the Lord, "because you forgot Me and trusted in falsehoods. 26I will uncover your backside to your face, and your dishonor will be seen. 27For I have seen your adultery and neighing, and the alienation of your fornication, the abomination of your fornication on the hills and in the fields. Woe to you, O Jerusalem! For you were not cleansed so as to follow Me. How long will it still be?"

Jeremiah 14

Sword, Famine, and Death

1The word of the Lord came to Jeremiah concerning the drought, saying, 2"Judah mourns, and her gates are empty. They are darkened in the land, and the cry of Jerusalem goes up. 3Her nobles sent their young ones for water, but they found no water in the wells. So they returned with their water containers empty. 4The works of the land failed, for there was no rain. The farmers were ashamed and covered their heads. 5The deer also gave birth in the field, but left because there was no grass. 6The wild donkeys stood in the wooded glens and sniffed the wind. Their eyes failed, for there was no grass because of the wrongdoing of the people."

7Our sins rise up against us, O Lord. Do to us for Your sake, because our sins are many before You; for we sinned against You. 8O Lord, the steadfast endurance of Israel, You deliver us in the time of evils. Why have You become as a sojourner in the land, and like a native of the land who turns elsewhere to lodge? 9Will You be like a man who sleeps, or as a man who is unable to save? But You are in our midst, O Lord, and we are called by Your name. Do not forget us.

10Thus says the Lord to this people: "They love to wander and have not refrained from it; therefore, God is not pleased with them. Now He will remember their wrongdoings."

11Again the Lord said to me, "Do not pray about this people for their good. 12When they fast, I will not hear their petition, and when they present whole burnt offerings and sacrifices, I will not take pleasure in them. For I will consume them by the sword, by the famine, and by death."

13Then I said, “O Lord, behold their prophets prophesying, and say, ‘You shall not see the sword, nor shall there be famine among you; for I will give you truth and peace in the land and in this place.’ ” 14Then the Lord said to me, “The prophets prophesy lies in My name. I have not sent them, nor commanded them; nor have I spoken to them. Because of false visions, divinations, prophesying by the way of birds, and by the purposes of their hearts, they prophesy to you. 15Therefore thus says the Lord concerning the prophets who prophesy lies in My name: ‘I did not send them.’ They say, ‘Sword and famine shall not be upon this land.’ They shall die in the deathbed of sickness, for the prophets shall die in famine. 16The people to whom they prophesy shall be cast into the thoroughfares of Jerusalem because of the edge of the sword and famine. There shall be no one to bury them, for even their wives, sons, and daughters shall so die. I will pour out their evils upon them.

17“So you shall speak this word to them: ‘Let your eyes flow with tears night and day. Let them not cease; for in ruin, the daughter of My people was crushed to pieces, and her wound was very painful. 18If I go out into the plain, then behold, there are the soldiers wounded by the sword. If I enter into the city, then behold, there is the pain of famine, for priest and prophet have traveled to a land they do not know.’ ”

19Have You utterly rejected Judah? Has Your soul departed from Zion?
Why did You strike us, and there is no healing for us? We waited for peace, but there was no good thing; for a time of healing, but behold, there was trouble. 20We know, O Lord, our sins and the wrongdoings of our fathers, for we sinned against You. 21Stop for Your name’s sake. Do not destroy the throne of Your glory. Remember, and do not break Your covenant with us.
22Is there anyone among the idols of the Gentiles able to cause rain? Or will the sky yield its fullness at their request? Are You not He? Therefore, since You made all these things, we will wait for You.

Jeremiah 15

The Lord Will Not Give In

1Then the Lord said to me, “Even if Moses and Samuel stood before Me, My soul would not be favorable toward them. Send away this people, and let them depart. 2It shall be, that if they say to you, ‘Where should we depart?’

you shall say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord: “As many as are for death, to death, and as many as are for the sword, to the sword, and as many as are for famine, to famine, and as many as are for captivity, to captivity.’ ” [3]I will punish them in four ways,” says the Lord, “the sword for slaughter, the dogs for tearing in pieces, the wild beasts of the earth and the birds of the sky for eating and destruction. [4]I will deliver them into distress to all the kingdoms of the earth, because of Manasseh son of Hezekiah, the king of Judah, for all he did in Jerusalem.

[5]“Who will spare you, O Jerusalem? Who will fear for you? Who will turn back to ask peace for you? [6]You turned away from Me,” says the Lord. “You will go backward, and I will stretch out My hand and destroy you. I will no longer leave them unpunished. [7]I will scatter them in a dispersion. In the gates of My people, they are deprived of children. They destroyed My people because of their vices. [8]Their widows multiply more than the sand of the sea. I brought upon the mother of a young son misery at midday. I suddenly cast upon her trembling and anxiety. [9]She who gave birth to seven has been left empty, and her soul has succumbed to misfortune. The sun set for her when it was still noonday. She was put to shame and insulted. I will give their remnant to the sword in the presence of their enemies.”

Jeremiah Senses Failure

[10]Woe is me, my mother! You gave birth to me as a man who is condemned and at variance with the whole earth. I have neither helped anyone, nor has anyone helped me. My strength has failed among those who curse me. [11]O Master, may this be the time of their prosperity. Surely I stood before You in the time of their calamities and in the time of their affliction for their good against the enemy. [12]The Lord says, “Will iron be known? But your strength is a bronze covering. [13]I will give your treasures as plunder in all your boundaries, in exchange for all your sins. [14]For I will enslave you to your surrounding enemies in a land you have not known. For a fire has been kindled from My anger, and it shall burn upon you.”

[15]O Lord, remember me and visit me. Let me go unpunished because of those who persecute me. Do not bear long with them. Know how I have met with disgrace for Your sake at the hands of those who reject Your words. [16]Make an end to them, and Your word shall be the gladness and joy of my heart; for I am called by Your name, O Lord, the Almighty. [17]I did not sit in their council while they mocked, but I feared because of Your power. I sat alone, for I was filled with bitterness. [18]Why do those who grieve me prevail against me? My wound is severe, but from where will I be healed? It has indeed become to me as deceitful water that has no faithfulness.

The Lord Restores Jeremiah

[19]Therefore thus says the Lord: “If you return, I will restore you, and you shall stand before My face. If you bring forth what is honorable from what is unworthy, you shall be as My mouth. They shall return to you, but you shall not return to them. [20]I will cause you to be like a strong brazen wall to this people. They will fight against you, but not prevail, because I am with you to save you, [21]to deliver you from the hand of evil men, and to set you free from the hand of pestilent men.”

Jeremiah 16

Jeremiah’s Conduct and Message

[1]The Lord God of Israel says, “Do not take a wife, [2]nor shall you beget either a son or a daughter in this place.” [3]For thus says the Lord concerning the sons and daughters begotten in this place, and their mothers who gave birth to them, and their fathers who beget them in this land: [4]“They shall die by a death caused by disease, and shall not be lamented or buried; for they shall be as an example on the face of the land. They shall be for the wild beasts of the earth and the birds of heaven; and they shall fall by the sword and die of hunger.”

[5]Thus says the Lord: “Do not enter their mourning feast, nor go to lament and grieve with them; for I have removed My peace from this people. [6]They must not mourn, nor cut themselves; and they shall not shave themselves. [7]Bread shall not be broken in mourning for them as a consolation for the dead, nor shall they give one a cup to drink as a consolation for his father and mother. [8]You shall not enter their banquet-house to sit with them or to eat and drink.” [9]For thus says the Lord God of Israel: “Behold, before your eyes and in your days, I will bring to an end from this place the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride.

[10]“It shall come to pass that when you shall announce all these words to this people and they say to you, ‘Why has the Lord pronounced all these evils against us? What is our wrongdoing, and what sin did we commit before the Lord our God?’ 11Then you shall say to them, ‘Because your fathers forsook Me,’ says the Lord, ‘for they went after foreign gods; and they served and worshiped them. They forsook Me, and did not keep My law. 12But you acted in ways more evil than your fathers; for behold, you, each one of you, walk after the evil pleasures of your heart and do not obey Me. 13Therefore I will cast you out of this land and into a land neither you nor your fathers know; and there you shall serve other gods, who will show you no mercy.’

God’s Promise to Jew and Gentile

14“Therefore behold, days are coming,” says the Lord, “when no more will they say, ‘The Lord lives who brought up the children of Israel from the land of Egypt,’ 15but, ‘The Lord lives who brought up the house of Israel from the land of the north, and from all the countries where they were driven out.’ For I will restore to them their land which I gave to their fathers.

16“Behold, I will send many fishermen, and they will fish them. After this, I will send many hunters, and they will hunt them upon every mountain, upon every hill, and out of the holes of the rocks. 17For My eyes are on all their ways, and their wrongdoings are not concealed from My eyes. 18For I will repay double for their evil and their wrongdoings, whereby they desecrated My land with the carcasses of their abominations and filled My inheritance with their lawlessness.”

19O Lord, my strength, my help, and my refuge in the day of evils, to You the Gentiles shall come from the ends of the earth and say, “How false were the idols our fathers acquired for themselves, and there is nothing beneficial in them.”

20“If a man will create gods for himself,” says the Lord, “even so, they are not gods. 21Because of this, behold, I will show them My hand at this time and make known to them My power; and they will come to know that My name is the Lord.

Jeremiah 17

The Agony of Apostasy

1“Cursed is the man who puts his hope in man, and who will strengthen the flesh of his arm in him, and withdraws in his heart from the Lord. 2For he shall be like a shrub in the desert. He shall not see when good things come, but shall dwell in salt lands along the sea and in the desert, in a salt land where no one dwells. 3But blessed is the man who puts his trust in the Lord, for the Lord shall be his hope. 4He shall be like a flourishing tree alongside the waters which spreads its roots toward the moisture. He will not fear when the burning heat comes, for He shall be like the root in a grove in the year of drought. He shall not fear, for he shall be like a tree that does not cease yielding its fruit.

5"The heart is deep beyond all things, and it is the man. Even so, who can know him? 6I, the Lord, examine hearts and test minds, to give each man according to his ways and the fruits of his practices. 7A partridge coos and collects eggs she did not lay. So is a man who obtains his wealth, but not with judgment. In the midst of his days his riches will forsake him, and at the time of his end he will be foolish."

8An exalted throne of glory is our sanctuary. 9O Lord, the patient endurance of Israel, let all who forsake You be ashamed. "Let those who fall away from Me in apostasy be written in the earth, that they forsook the Lord, the fountain of life."

Jeremiah's Prayer for Protection

10Heal me, O Lord, and I shall be healed. Save me, and I shall be saved, for You are my boast. 11Behold, they say to me, "Where is the word of the Lord? Let it come." 12But I have not become weary in following after You, nor have I desired the day of man. You know the words that proceed from my lips are before Your face. 13Do not be as a stranger to me, and spare me in the evil day. 14Let those who persecute me be put to shame, but may I not be ashamed. May they, but not I, be terrified. Bring upon them an evil day and crush them with a double destruction.

Sanctify the Sabbath

15Thus says the Lord: "Go and stand in the gates of the sons of your people through which the kings of Judah come in and go out, and in all the gates of Jerusalem. 16You shall say to them, 'Hear the word of the Lord, you kings of Judah and all Judea, and all of Jerusalem, who enter by these gates. 17Thus says the Lord: "Guard your souls, and take up no burdens on the Sabbath days, neither go out through the gates of Jerusalem. 18On the Sabbath days, carry no burdens with you from your houses, nor do any work. Instead, sanctify the Sabbath days, as I commanded your fathers. But they did not hear, and did not incline their ears. [19]They stiffened their neck more than their fathers, so as not to hear Me or receive instruction.

[20]"Thus it shall come to pass that if you hear Me," says the Lord, "so as not to carry burdens through the gates of this city on the Sabbath days, but to sanctify the Sabbath days and do no work therein, [21]then there shall enter through the gates of this city kings and rulers, sitting on the throne of David and riding in their chariots and on their horses, they and their rulers, men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem. This city itself shall be inhabited forever. [22]They shall come from the cities of Judah, and from around Jerusalem and the land of Benjamin, and from the lowlands and the mountains, and from the south, bringing whole burnt offerings and a sacrifice, and incense, manna, and frankincense. They will bring praise to the house of the Lord.

[23]"But it shall come to pass that if you will not hear Me so as to sanctify the Sabbath days, and bear no burdens, nor enter the gates of Jerusalem on the Sabbath days, then I will kindle a fire in her gates. It will consume the streets of Jerusalem and will not be quenched." ' "

Jeremiah 18

Potter and Clay

[1]The word that came from the Lord to Jeremiah, saying, [2]"Arise and go down to the potter's house. There you shall hear My words." [3]Then I went down to the potter's house, and behold, he was forming something of wet clay upon the stones. [4]The vessel he formed in his hands failed. So he again made himself another vessel as it pleased him to do.

[5]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [6]"Surely as this potter, am I not able to form you, O house of Israel? Behold, you are as the clay of the potter in My hands. [7]I shall declare a decree concerning a nation or a kingdom, to remove and destroy them. [8]But if this nation turns away from all their evils, then I will repent concerning the calamities I considered to do to them. [9]If I shall declare a decree concerning a nation or a kingdom to rebuild and to plant it, [10]but they do evils in My sight so as not to hear My voice, then I will repent concerning the good I spoke to do for them.

[11]"Therefore now, speak to the men of Judah and those inhabiting Jerusalem for Me, saying, 'Behold, I form calamities and devise a plan against you. Therefore, let each turn away from his way of evil and do good in your practices.' "

God's Warning Is Spurned

12But they said, "We will act like men and walk after our inclinations, and each one of us will do the evils pleasing to his heart."

13Therefore thus says the Lord: "Ask now of the Gentiles, 'Who has heard of such exceedingly horrible things as what the virgin of Israel did?' 14Will nourishing streams of water not flow from rocks or snow from Lebanon? Will water turn aside when violently pushed by the wind? 15For My people have forgotten Me. They offer incense in vain and are sick in their ways, leaving the ancient ways to embark on impassable paths, 16so as to appoint their land for destruction and a perpetual hissing. All who pass through it shall be amazed and shake their head. 17I will scatter them like a burning wind before the face of their enemies. I will show them the day of their destruction."

Jeremiah Is Ridiculed

18Then they said, "Come and let us devise a plan against Jeremiah, for the law shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the intelligent, nor a word from the prophet. Come and let us strike him down with the tongue, and we will hear all his words."

19O Lord, hear me, and give ear to the voice of my plea for what is right. 20Surely evil things are repaid for good things; for they spoke words against my soul and concealed punishment meant for me. But remember, I stood before You to speak good things for them, so as to turn away Your wrath from them. 21Therefore give their sons to the famine and gather them to the power of the sword. Let their wives become childless and widowed, and let their men be put to death. In war, let their young men fall by the sword. 22Let a cry be heard in their houses, for You shall bring robbers upon them suddenly, because they formed a plan to take me and hid snares against me. 23O Lord, You know all their counsel against me so as to put me to death. Do not let their wrongdoings go unpunished, nor blot out their sins from before Your face. Let their weakness come before You, and in the time of Your anger deal with them.

Jeremiah 19

Broken Jar, Broken City

1 Then the Lord said to me, “Go and obtain an earthen-baked wine-jar, and you shall lead some of the elders of the people and some of their elder priests 2 out to the graveyard of the sons of their children, by the entry of the Gate of Charsith. There you shall read all the words I will speak to you. 3 You shall say, ‘Hear the word of the Lord, O kings and men of Judah, you inhabitants of Jerusalem and all entering by these gates. Thus says the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel: “Behold, I bring calamities upon this place, that whoever hears of it, both his ears will ring.

4 “Because they forsook Me, and alienated this place, and offered incense in it to foreign gods, which neither they nor their fathers knew, and because the kings of Judah filled this place with the blood of the innocent 5 and built high places for Baal so as to burn up their sons in the fire, which things I did not command or speak, nor consider in My heart. 6 Therefore behold, days are coming,” says the Lord, “when this place shall no longer be called the Fall, or the Graveyard of the Son of Hinnom, but the Graveyard of Slaughter. 7 For I shall destroy the counsel of Judah and the counsel of Jerusalem in this place.
I shall cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies and by the hands of those who seek their lives. I will give their dead as food for the birds of heaven and for the wild animals of the earth. 8 I will appoint this city for desolation and for hissing. Everyone passing by it will scowl and hiss because of all her misfortune. 9 They shall eat the flesh of their sons and daughters, and each shall eat the flesh of those in the passage who are his neighbors in the blockade, and in the siege in which their enemies shall besiege them.’ ”

10 “Then you shall break the wine-jar in the sight of the men who come out with you, 11 and you shall say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord: “In this way I will break this people and this city, as one breaks an earthen vessel which cannot be made whole again.

12 Thus I will do to this place,” says the Lord, “and to those who dwell in it, so this city may be given as one that crumbles in pieces. 13 Therefore the houses of Jerusalem and the houses of the kings of Judah shall be as a place that crumbles because of the uncleanness in all their houses, where they burnt incense upon their housetops to all the host of heaven and poured drink offerings to foreign gods.” ’ ”

14Then Jeremiah came from the place of the Fall, where the Lord sent him to prophesy. He stood in the court of the Lord’s house and said to all the people, 15“Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I bring upon this city, and on all the cities and villages belonging to it, all the calamities I declared against it, because they hardened their neck so as not to obey My words.’ ”

Jeremiah 20

God’s Warning to Pashhur

1Now Pashhur the son of Immer, the priest who was also appointed governor in the house of the Lord, heard Jeremiah prophesying these words. 2He struck him and cast him into the stockade by the gate of the house set apart near the house of the Lord. 3Later Pashhur brought Jeremiah out of the stockade, and Jeremiah said to him, “The Lord does not call your name Pashhur, but Emigrant.

4“For thus says the Lord, ‘Behold, I will give you and all your friends as an emigrant in a foreign land. They shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and your eyes shall see it. I will give you and all Judah into the hands of the king of Babylon. They shall deport them as immigrants and cut them with their swords. 5For I shall give all the strength of this city, all its labors and its treasures of the kings of Judah, into the hands of its enemies. They will carry them to Babylon. 6You, and all who dwell in your house, shall go in captivity to Babylon. There you shall die and be buried—you and all your friends to whom you prophesied lies.’ ”

Jeremiah Is Despised

7O Lord, you deceived me, and I was deceived. You seized me and prevailed. I am a laughingstock, for every day I am mocked continually.
8Since I laugh with my bitter word, I will call upon faithlessness and misery, for the word of the Lord has become a disgrace to me and a joke each of my days. 9Then I said, “I will not name the name of the Lord, nor speak anymore in His name.” But His word was like a burning fire in my bones. I am weakened on all sides and no longer able to bear it. 10For I heard the censure of many who gathered round, saying, “Let us and all the men who are his friends confront and conspire against him. Let us observe his intention and see if he can be deceived, for we will prevail against him and be avenged on him."

[11]But the Lord was with me as a mighty warrior. Therefore they persecuted me, but were unable to discern anything they could use against me. They were greatly ashamed, for they did not understand their dishonor, which will never be forgotten. [12]O Lord, You who approve righteous acts, who understand the minds and hearts, may I see Your vengeance upon them, for I revealed my defense before You.

[13]Sing to the Lord, sing praises to Him, for He delivers the soul of the poor from the hand of those who are evil.

[14]Cursed be the day I was born, the day my mother bore me. Let it not be longed for. [15]Cursed be the man who brought the good news to my father, saying, "A boy has been born to you." [16]Let that man be as these cities the Lord destroyed in anger, and did not regret it. Let them hear crying in early morning and lamentation at noon, [17]because He did not kill me in the womb of my mother, and because my mother did not become my tomb, and her womb an unending conception. [18]Why is it I came forth from her womb, to look upon hardships and sufferings and to remain in shame all my days?

Jeremiah 21

God Spurns Jerusalem

[1]The word came from the Lord to Jeremiah, when King Zedekiah sent to him Pashhur the son of Melchiah and Zephaniah the son of Maaseiah, the priest. [2]They said to him, "Inquire of the Lord for us—for the king of Babylon besieges us—if the Lord will act according to all His wonderful works, and the king will depart from us."

[3]Jeremiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to Zedekiah, king of Judah, [4]'Thus says the Lord: "Behold, I turn back your weapons of war to gather them in the midst of this city, weapons with which you wage war against the Chaldeans, who shut you in from outside the wall. [5]For I will fight against you with an outstretched hand and a powerful arm, with anger and wrath and with great provocation. [6]I will strike all the inhabitants of this city, men and cattle, with a great death. Indeed they shall die. [7]After this," says the Lord, "I will deliver Zedekiah king of Judah, his servants, and the people left in this city from death and from famine and sword, into the hands of their enemies who seek their lives. They shall cut them down with the edge of the sword. I shall not spare them nor have compassion upon them.’ ”

[8]“Now you shall say to this people, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I set before you the way of life and the way of death. [9]He who remains in this city shall die by sword and famine, but he who goes out to the Chaldeans who shut you in, he shall live. His life shall be as booty to him, and he shall live. [10]For I have set My face against this city for calamities and not for good things. It shall be given into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he shall burn it with fire.’ ”

A Word to the House of David

[11]“O house of the king of Judah, hear the word of the Lord: [12]‘O house of David, thus says the Lord: “Bring about judgment early in the morning, and act uprightly, and deliver him who is plundered from the hand of the one who wrongs him, lest My wrath be kindled like fire that shall burn with no one to quench it. [13]Behold, I am against you who dwell in the valley of Sor, in the plain, who say, ‘Who will terrify us?’ Or, ‘Who shall enter our dwelling?’ [14]For I will kindle a fire in its woods and it shall devour all things round about it.” ’ ”

Jeremiah 22

[1]Thus says the Lord: “Go down to the house of the king of Judah, and there you shall speak this word, [2]and you shall say, ‘Hear the word of the Lord, O king of Judah, you who sit on the throne of David, you and your house and your people, and those who enter these gates! [3]Thus says the Lord: “Bring about judgment and righteousness, and rescue the plundered from the hand of the one who wrongs him. Do not oppress and act ungodly toward the resident alien, the orphan, or the widow. Do not shed innocent blood in this place. [4]For if you will indeed perform this word, there shall enter through the gates of this house kings who sit on the throne of David. They shall ride on horses and in chariots—they, their servants, and their people. [5]But if you do not perform these words I Myself have sworn,” says the Lord, “this house shall become a desolation.” ’ ”

[6]For thus says the Lord concerning the house of the king of Judah: “You are Gilead to Me, the head of Lebanon. Yet I will surely make you as a wilderness, and your cities shall not be inhabited. 7I will bring against you a man who destroys with his two-edged ax; and they shall cut down your choice cedars and cast them into the fire. 8Then nations will pass through this city, and each will say to his neighbor, ‘Why has the Lord done so to this great city?’ 9They will answer, ‘Because they forsook the covenant of the Lord their God, and worshiped foreign gods and served them.’ ”

10Weep not for the dead, neither lament. Weep bitterly for him who goes away, for he shall return no more to see his native land.

A Word to the Sons of Josiah

11For thus says the Lord concerning Shallum the son of Josiah, who reigned in the place of Josiah his father, who left this place: “He shall not return here anymore, 12but he shall die in the place where I have exiled him. He shall see this land no more.

13“Woe to him who builds his house without righteousness and his rooms upstairs without judgment, who employs his neighbor for nothing and will not give him his pay! 14You built for yourself a well-proportioned house with breezy rooms upstairs, lined with windows, cedar panels, and painted with vermilion. 15Shall you reign, for you provoked Me as did your father Ahaz? They shall not eat and drink. It is better for you to bring about good judgment and righteousness. 16They did not understand and judge the cause of a lowly or poor man. Is this your not knowing Me?” says the Lord. 17“Behold, neither your eyes nor your heart are good for anything except for covetousness and the shedding of innocent blood, and for committing wrongdoing and murder.”

18Therefore thus says the Lord to Jehoiakim the king of Judah, the son of Josiah: “Woe to this man. They shall not mourn for him, saying, ‘Oh brother!’ Neither shall they weep for him, saying, ‘Alas, master!’ 19But he shall be buried with the burial of a donkey, and they will drag him out to be discarded beyond the gates of Jerusalem.

20“Go up to Lebanon and cry out, and lift up your voice in Bashan. Shout to the faraway places of the sea that all your lovers are crushed. 21For I spoke to you concerning your transgression, but you said, ‘I will not hear.’ This has been your way from your youth. You do not hear My voice. 22The wind shall tend all your shepherds, and your lovers shall go into captivity, for then you will be shamed and treated with dishonor because of all your lovers. 23Those who dwell in Lebanon and who make their nest in the cedar trees, you shall groan when pangs come upon you, as those of a woman giving birth.

A Word to Jeconiah

24"As I live," says the Lord, "though Jeconiah king of Judah, the son of Jehoiakim, were the signet on My right hand, still I would drag off all of you.
25I will give you into the hands of those who seek your life, into the hands of the Chaldeans, before whose face you are afraid. 26So I will cast all of you, and your mother who bore you, into a country where you were not born.
There you shall die. 27But they shall not return to the land they long for in their souls. 28Jeconiah is dishonored like a worthless vessel, for he is cast forth and driven out into a land he did not know.
29"O land, land, hear the word of the Lord: 30'Write this man as a banished man, for none at all from his seed shall be raised to sit on the throne of David, or still as a ruler in Judah.' "

Jeremiah 23

The Righteous Orient

1"Woe to the shepherds who scatter and destroy the sheep of My pasture!" 2Therefore thus says the Lord against those who tend My people: "You have scattered My sheep and driven them out. You did not care for them. Behold, I shall punish you according to your evil practices. 3I will receive the remnant of My people from every land where I have driven them. I will establish them in their pasture, and they shall increase and be multiplied. 4I will set up shepherds over them who will feed them. They shall fear no more, nor be terrified," says the Lord.
5"Behold, days are coming," says the Lord, "when I will raise up for David the Righteous Orient, and a King shall reign. He will understand and bring about judgment and righteousness on the earth. 6In His days Judah will be saved, and Israel shall dwell in confidence. This is His name by which the Lord will call him: 'The Lord Our Righteousness.' " 7The Lord says, "Therefore behold, days are coming when they shall no longer say, 'As the Lord lives who brought up the house of Israel from the land of Egypt,' 8but they will say, 'The Lord lives who gathered all the descendants of Israel from the north country, from all the countries where He drove them, and restored them into their land.' "

False Prophets and Priests

9 Among the prophets, my heart is broken within me, and all my bones are shaken. I am as a broken-down man overcome with wine, because of the Lord's presence and the excellence of His glory. 10 Because of these things, the land mourns and the pastures of the desert are dried up. Their way of life has become evil, and so has their strength.

11 "For both prophet and priest are defiled, and I see their evils within My house," says the Lord. 12 "Therefore let their way be to them as a fall into darkness; and they shall be tripped up and fall therein, because in the year of their visitation I will bring calamities upon them. 13 In the prophets of Samaria I have seen lawless actions. They prophesy through Baal and lead astray My people Israel. 14 Also in the prophets of Jerusalem I have seen horrible things. They commit adultery and walk in lies. They strengthen the hands of evil men, so they might not turn back each from his evil path. They are to me like Sodom, and her inhabitants like Gomorrah." 15 Therefore thus says the Lord: "Behold, I will feed them pain and give them bitter water to drink, because from the prophets of Jerusalem defilement goes out into all the land."

16 Thus says the Lord Almighty: "Do not listen to the words of the prophets, for they invent a futile vision for themselves. They speak from their own heart, and not from the mouth of the Lord. 17 They say to those who reject the word of the Lord, 'You shall have peace.' To those who walk according to their own wishes, and to everyone who walks in the error of his heart, they say, 'No evil shall come upon you.' 18 For who stands in the camp of the Lord and sees His word? Who gives ear to His word and hears it?
19 Behold, there is an earthquake from the Lord, and wrath goes forth as an earthquake. It shall come violently on the ungodly. 20 The anger of the Lord shall not turn away until He establishes it, because of the undertaking of His heart. They shall understand this in the last days. 21 I did not send these prophets, but they went forth. I did not speak to them, but they prophesied.
22 If they had stood in My counsel and heard My words, then they would have turned my people away from their evil practices.

23 "I am a God who is near," says the Lord, "and not a God afar off. 24 Can a man hide in secret, and I not see him? Do I not fill heaven and earth?" says the Lord. 25 "I heard what the prophets said, and what lies they prophesied in My name, saying falsely, 'I have dreamed a dream.' 26 How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets who prophesy lies, when they prophesy the wishes of their heart? [27]They reason by their dreams so men will forget My law. Each prophet tells his neighbor to forget Me, as their fathers forgot My name in their worship of Baal. [28]The prophet in whom there is a dream, let him tell his dream; and the prophet in whom there is My word, let him tell it truthfully. What is chaff in comparison to wheat? So are My words," says the Lord. [29]"Are not My words like a blazing fire?" says the Lord. "Are they not like an ax striking a rock?

[30]"Behold therefore, I am against the prophets," says the Lord God, "who steal My words, each prophet from his neighbor. [31]Behold, I am against the prophets who are drowsy and put forth prophecies as mere words. [32]Behold, I am against the prophets who prophesy false dreams, and they relate them. They lead My people astray with their lies and in their deceits. Yet I did not send them or command them. Therefore, they shall not profit this people at all."

[33]The Lord says, "So if these people, or a prophet, or a priest, ask you, saying, 'What is the burden of the Lord?' you shall then say to them, 'You are the burden, and I will strike you down.' [34]As for the prophet and the priest and the people who say, 'The burden of the Lord,' then I will take vengeance on that man and his house. [35]Thus each shall say to his neighbor, and each to his brother, 'What has the Lord answered? What has the Lord spoken?' [36]Do not mention the burden of the Lord anymore, for the burden on a man shall be his word. [37]'But why,' you say, 'has the Lord our God spoken?' [38]Therefore thus says the Lord God: 'Because you spoke this word: "The burden of the Lord"; therefore I instructed you, saying, "You shall not say, 'The burden of the Lord.' " [39]Therefore behold, I take and strike you, and the city I gave to you and to your fathers. [40]I will bring everlasting disgrace upon you, and a perpetual dishonor which shall not be forgotten.'

[41]"Therefore behold, days are coming," says the Lord, "when they will no longer say, 'The Lord lives who brought the house of Israel out of the land of Egypt,' [42]but, 'The Lord lives who brought all the seed of Israel from the north, and from all the countries where He banished them, and restored them to this land.' "

Jeremiah 24

Two Baskets of Figs

[1]The Lord showed me two baskets of figs set before the temple of the Lord, after Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon carried away captive Jeconiah king of Judah, the son of Jehoiakim, and the rulers, the craftsmen, the prisoners, and the wealthy men from Jerusalem, and brought them to Babylon. [2]One basket was full of very good figs, like the first figs that ripened. The other basket was full of very bad figs which no one could eat, because they were rotten. [3]Then the Lord said to me, "What do you see, Jeremiah?" I replied, "Good figs, very good figs, and also bad figs, figs too rotten to eat."

[4]The word of the Lord came to me, saying, [5]"Thus says the Lord God of Israel: 'As these good figs, so will I acknowledge that for good things I settled the tribe of Judah in a far land, whom I sent from this place into the land of Chaldea. [6]For I will set My eyes on them for good things, and restore them to this land for good things. I will build them up, and not tear them down. I will plant them, and not pluck them up. [7]Then I will give them a heart to know Me, that I am the Lord, and they shall be to Me as a people, and I will be to them as God. They shall return to Me with their whole heart.

[8]'As for the bad figs, too rotten to eat'—surely thus says the Lord—'I shall deliver them to Zedekiah the king of Judah, his nobles, and the remnant of Jerusalem, those left in this land, and those dwelling in Egypt. [9]I will cause them to be dispersed into all the kingdoms of the earth, and they will be for a disgrace, for a parable, for a hatred, and for a curse in every place where I drive them. [10]I will send famine, death, and the sword to them, until they come to an end in the land I gave to them.' "

Jeremiah 25

Seventy Years of Disgrace

[1]In the fourth year of Jehoiakim king of Judah, the son of Josiah, the word came to Jeremiah concerning all the people of Judah, [2]which he spoke to all the people of Judah and all inhabitants of Jerusalem, saying, [3]"In the thirteenth year of Josiah king of Judah, the son of Amos, even to this day, in the twenty-third year, I spoke to you early in the morning, saying, [4]'I sent My servants the prophets to you, sending them early in the morning (but you did not listen, nor did you incline your ear to hear), saying, [5]"Let each of you turn away from his evil way and evil practices, and dwell in the land I gave to you and your fathers from ages past and forever. [6]Do not go after foreign gods to serve and worship them, so you may not provoke Me with the works of your hands, to harm you.” 7Yet you have not listened to Me.’ ”

8Therefore thus says the Lord: “Because you have not believed My words, 9behold, I shall even send a family from the north and lead them against this land, and against those living in it, and against all the nations round about her. I will make it desolate and give it up to destruction. I will render it a hissing and a perpetual disgrace. 10I will destroy from them the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, and the fragrance of ointment and the light of the lamp. 11All the land shall be for desolation, and for seventy years they shall serve among the Gentiles. 12When the seventy years are fulfilled, I will take vengeance on that nation, and I will appoint them for perpetual destruction. 13I will bring upon that land all My words I pronounced against it, and all things written in this book.”

14What Jeremiah prophesied against the nations of Elam:

15Thus says the Lord: “Let the bow of Elam, the beginning of their power, be broken. 16For I shall bring against Elam the four winds from the four extremities of heaven, and I will scatter them by all these winds. There will not be a nation that will not come there to drive out Elam. 17I will terrify them before the enemies who seek their life. I will bring calamities upon them according to the wrath of My anger, and send My sword after them until I have utterly destroyed them. 18Then I will set My throne in Elam, and from there send forth the king and his nobles. 19It shall come to pass in the last days that I will bring back the captivity of Elam,” says the Lord. 20This word concerning Elam came in the beginning of King Zedekiah’s reign.

Jeremiah 26

1Concerning Egypt, against the army of Pharaoh Necho, king of Egypt, who was by the River Euphrates in Carchemish and whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon defeated in the fourth year of Jehoiakim, king of Judah.

2“Take up weapons and shields, and draw near for war. 3Saddle the horses and mount up, you horsemen. Stand ready with your helmets, advance the spears, and put on your breastplates. 4Why are they terrified and turn back? Because their mighty ones, surrounded on all sides, will be struck as they flee in panic, and not live,” says the Lord.

5 “Let not the swift flee. Let not the mighty man escape to the north. The forces alongside the Euphrates grow weak and fall. 6 Who is this that shall come up like a river, and like rivers flood their waters? 7 The waters of Egypt will come up like a river, for he said, ‘I will go up and cover the earth, and will destroy its inhabitants.’ 8 Mount the horses and prepare the chariots.
Come forth, you warriors of Ethiopia, and you of Libya armed with weapons, and you Lydians, arise and bend the bow. 9 That shall be the day of the Lord our God, the day of vengeance to avenge His enemies. The sword of the Lord shall devour and be fully satisfied, drunken with their blood; for the Lord of Hosts has a sacrifice from the land of the north at the Euphrates. 10 Go up, Gilead, and take balm for the virgin daughter of Egypt. In vain you multiply your medicines, but they are of no benefit to you. 11 The nations heard your voice, and the land is filled with your cry; for warrior to warrior grows weak, and both fall together.”

12 What the Lord spoke by the hand of Jeremiah concerning the coming of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon to strike the land of Egypt.

13 “Declare in Migdol and proclaim in Memphis, and say, ‘Stand up and prepare yourselves, for the sword devours your bow.’ 14 Why did Apis flee from you? Your chosen calf did not remain, because the Lord utterly weakened him. 15 Your multitude grew weak and fell. Each said to his neighbor, ‘Let us arise and return to our people and to the land of our nativity, from the presence of the Greek sword.’ 16 They cried there, ‘Pharaoh is but a noise. He has passed by the appointed time.’ 17 As I live,” says the Lord God, “Tabor is among the mountains and Carmel is by the sea, he shall come. 18 O daughter of Egypt who dwell at home, prepare for yourself goods for captivity, for Memphis shall be for destruction, and be called, ‘Woe!’
because no one will dwell in it.

19 “Egypt is a heifer made beautiful; a rage from the north comes against her. 20 Her mercenaries in her midst are as fatted calves, well fed by her, because with one accord they also turned and fled. They did not stand, for the day of destruction and the time of their retribution came upon them. 21 Their voice is like that of a hissing serpent, for they will proceed upon the sand.
They shall come against her with axes, as if cutting wood. 22 They shall cut down her oak groves,” says the Lord God, “for their number cannot at all be conjectured, since they abound more than locust trees.

23 “The daughter of Egypt is put to shame. She is delivered into the hands of people from the north. 24 Behold, I will avenge Ammon her son against Pharaoh and those who trust in him. 25But do not fear, My servant Jacob, neither be terrified, O Israel; for behold, I will save you from afar and your seed from the land of their captivity. Jacob shall return, and be at ease, and sleep; for there will be no one to trouble him. 26Do not fear, O Jacob, My servant," says the Lord, "for I am with you. I will bring an end to every nation where I drove you, but I will not cause you to cease. However, I will chasten you in the way of judgment, and not leave you wholly unpunished."

Jeremiah 27

1The word of the Lord He spoke against Babylon.

2"Declare among the Gentiles and cause it to be heard. Do not conceal what is spoken. Say, 'Babylon is conquered; Bel the fearless one has been put to shame; Merodach the luxurious one is handed over.' 3For a nation comes against her from the north. He shall destine her land for destruction, and nothing from man to animal shall dwell in it. 4In those days and at that time, the children of Israel shall come, they and the children of Judah together. They shall proceed, walking and weeping and seeking the Lord their God. 5They shall ask the way until they come to Zion, for they shall set their face toward this place. They shall come and flee for refuge to the Lord their God, for the everlasting covenant shall not be forgotten.

6"My people have been lost sheep. Their shepherds drove them out to wander on the mountains. They went from mountain to hill and forgot their marriage bed. 7All who found them devoured them. Their adversaries said, 'Let us not leave them alone, because they sinned against the Lord, who gathered together their fathers in a pasture of righteousness.'

8"Be alienated from the midst of Babylon and from the land of the Chaldeans. Be like serpents in the presence of sheep. 9For behold, I raise up assemblies of nations against Babylon from the land of the north. They will array themselves against her, and from there she shall be conquered, as the javelin of an expert warrior shall not be returned empty. 10Chaldea shall be for plundering, and all who plunder her shall be satisfied, 11because you celebrated and exulted while plundering My inheritance, and because you skipped like calves in pasture and butted horns like bulls.

12"Your mother is very ashamed, she who bore you for good things. She is the last of the nations, and a desert. 13Because of the Lord's wrath, she will not be inhabited, but shall be for destruction. All who travel through Babylon shall be sullen, and they shall hiss at all her calamity. 14All you who bend the bow, set yourselves in array against Babylon round about, and shoot at her. Do not spare your arrows. 15Applaud excessively, for her hands are paralyzed. Her means of defense has fallen, and her wall is demolished; for it is vengeance from God. Take vengeance on her, for as she did, so do to her. 16Utterly destroy the seed of Babylon, and hold fast the sickle in the time of harvest. Because of the Greek sword, each shall return to his people, and each shall flee to his land.

17"Israel is a wandering sheep, for the lions drove him out. First, the king of Assyria devoured him, then the king of Babylon devoured his bones." 18Therefore thus says the Lord: "Behold, I will take vengeance on the king of Babylon and upon his land, as I took vengeance upon the king of Assyria. 19But I shall restore Israel to his pasture, and he will graze on Carmel, on Mount Ephraim and in Gilead. His soul shall be satisfied. 20In those days and at that time, they will seek for the wrongdoing of Israel, but it shall not exist; and they will look for the sins of Judah, but these shall not be found; for I shall be merciful to those left in the land," says the Lord.

21"Embark against this land bitterly, and against those who dwell therein. Avenge with the sword and destroy it," says the Lord, "and do according to all I command you. 22A sound of war and great destruction is in the land of the Chaldeans. 23How was the hammer of all the earth broken and crushed? How did Babylon become a desolation among the nations? 24They will attack you, and you will be conquered, O Babylon. You will not even know you are found and taken, because you opposed the Lord. 25The Lord opened His treasure and brought out the vessels of His wrath, because the work of the Lord God is in the land of the Chaldeans. 26For her time has come. Open her storehouses, search her like a cave, and utterly destroy her. Let nothing of her remain. 27Dry up all her fruits and let them go down to the slaughter. Woe to them! For their day has come, and the time of their retribution.

28"The voice of those who flee and escape from the land of Babylon declares in Zion the vengeance of the Lord our God. 29Summon many against Babylon, even all who bend the bow. Encamp against it round about; let no one be saved from her. Repay her according to her works, and whatever she did, so do to her, for she opposed the Lord, the Holy God of Israel. 30Her young men shall fall in the streets, and all her men of war shall be cast down," says the Lord. 31"Behold, I am against you, the haughty one," says the Lord, “because the day and the time of your retribution has come. 32Your insolence shall fail, and you will fall. There shall be no one to cause it to arise. I will kindle a fire in its thicket, and it shall devour everything around her.”

33Thus says the Lord: “The sons of Israel have been oppressed along with the sons of Judah, for all who took them captive oppressed them. They were unwilling to let them go. 34He who redeemed them is strong; the Lord Almighty is His name. He shall enter into judgment against His adversaries so as to take away their land and to provoke those who dwell in Babylon. 35He will bring a sword against the Chaldeans and those inhabiting Babylon, and against her nobles and wise men, 36and against her warriors; and they shall be weakened. 37He will bring a sword against their horses and chariots, and against the warriors and irregular troops in her midst. They shall be like women. He will also bring a sword against its treasures, and they will be scattered over the water she trusted. 38They will be put to shame in the islands in which they boasted, for it is a land of graven images.

39“Therefore apparitions shall dwell in the islands, and the daughters of sirens shall dwell therein. It shall not be inhabited anymore forever. 40As God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities bordering them,” says the Lord, “no man shall dwell there, and no son of man will sojourn there. 41Behold, a people comes from the north, and a great nation and many kings shall be raised up from the ends of the earth, holding bow and dagger. 42He is reckless and will show no mercy at all. Their voice shall roar like the sea on the horses they ride, prepared for war like fire against you, O daughter of Babylon.

43“The king of Babylon heard their sound, and his hands grew feeble. Anguish took hold of him, like the pangs of a woman in childbirth. 44Behold, he shall go up like a lion from the Jordan River into the place of Aitham; for I will banish them quickly from it and set every young man against it. For who is like Me? Who opposes Me? Who is this shepherd who will stand against My presence?”

45Therefore hear the counsel of the Lord which He has resolved against Babylon, and the thoughts which He has reckoned against those inhabiting Chaldea. Surely the lambs of their sheep are utterly destroyed; surely the pasture is cut off from them; 46for at the sound of the capturing of Babylon, the earth shall quake, and clamor will be heard among the nations.

Jeremiah 28

[1]Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I raise up against Babylon and the inhabitants of the Chaldeans a scorching heat, a wind to destroy utterly. [2]I will send violent men into Babylon, and they shall insult and ravage her land. Woe to Babylon all round in the day of her calamity. [3]Against her let the archer bend his bow, and let him who has armor put it on. Do not spare her young men; utterly destroy all her power. [4]The wounded men shall fall in the land of the Chaldeans, and those pierced through shall fall outside her. [5]For Israel and Judah were not bereaved of their God, the Lord Almighty, for the land was filled with their wrongdoings against the holy things of Israel.”

[6]Flee from the midst of Babylon, and everyone save his life. Do not be made to perish in her wrongdoing. For it is the time of her retribution from the Lord. He shall render repayment to her. [7]Babylon was a golden cup in the Lord’s hand, causing all the earth to be drunk. The nations drank from her wine; therefore, they were shaken. [8]Babylon fell suddenly and was broken in pieces. Sing a dirge for her; take resin for her corruption, if somehow she may be healed. [9]We treated Babylon medically, but she would not heal. Let us forsake her, and let each move to his country. For her judgment draws near to heaven and is taken to the stars.

[10]The Lord brought forth His judgment. Come and let us declare in Zion the works of the Lord our God. [11]Prepare the arrows; fill the quivers. The Lord has raised up the spirit of the king of the Medes. For His wrath is against Babylon to destroy it utterly, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, the vengeance of His people. [12]Lift up a banner on the walls of Babylon, prepare the quivers, rouse guards, and prepare the weapons. For the Lord has taken in hand and will do what He spoke against the inhabitants of Babylon, [13]who dwell near many waters, and amidst the abundance of her treasures.

The Arm of the Lord

Truly, your end is come into your bowels. [14]For the Lord has sworn by His arm, saying, “Therefore I will fill you with men as with locusts, and they will go down and speak against you.” [15]He made the land by His might, prepared the inhabited world by His wisdom, and by His understanding He stretched out heaven. [16]By His voice, He makes the sound of water in the sky and brings up the clouds from the end of the earth. He makes lightnings for rain and brings light out of His storehouses. [17]Every man is made foolish without knowledge, and every goldsmith is dishonored by his carved images; because they cast false gods, but there is no spirit of life in them. [18]It is a worthless work to be ridiculed, and in their time of visitation they shall perish.

[19]Jacob's portion is not such, because He who created all things is his inheritance. The Lord is His name. [20]"You scatter the weapons of war by Me, and by you I will scatter nations and drive away kings from you. [21]By you I will scatter the horse and its rider, and by you I will scatter the chariots and their mounted riders. [22]By you I will scatter young man and virgin, and by you I will scatter man and woman. [23]By you I will scatter the shepherd and his flock, and by you I will scatter the farmer and his farming. By you I will scatter rulers and commanders. [24]I will make Babylon and all the inhabitants of Chaldea pay for all their vices performed against Zion, according to what you saw," says the Lord.

[25]"Behold, I am against you, the corrupted mountain that corrupts everything in the land. I will stretch forth My hand against you and roll you down from the rocks. I will cause you to be a burnt mountain. [26]They will not take a stone from you for a corner or for a foundation. For you shall be a place of desolation forever," says the Lord.

[27]"Lift up a banner in the land; sound a trumpet among the nations; set apart the nations against her; direct against her from Me the kingdoms of Ararat and the people of Ashkenaz to stand against her. Set siege engines against her, and bring horses like a multitude of locusts. [28]Set apart the nations against her, the king of the Medes, and all of the land, its governors, and all its generals.

[29]"The earth shook and suffered toil, for the purpose of the Lord is risen up against Babylon, to make the land of Babylon a desolation and uninhabitable. [30]The warriors of Babylon ceased to wage war. They shall sit there in the siege. Their might has been broken, and they became like women. Her tents are burnt, and the bars of their gates are shattered into pieces. [31]One will pursue to meet another pursuer, one messenger to meet another messenger, to bring word to the king of Babylon that his city is taken. [32]At the end of the crossing point they were taken, their garrisons were burned with fire, and their warriors ran away."

[33]For thus says the Lord: "The houses of the king of Babylon shall be like a threshing floor in the season for threshing. In a short while her harvest will come. [34]King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon devoured me. He divided and overtook me, a small vessel. He swallowed me up, like a dragon who filled his belly with my delicacies, and drove me out. [35]She that dwells in Zion shall say, ‘My hardships and my miseries banished me to Babylon.’ Jerusalem shall say, ‘My blood shall be upon those inhabiting Chaldea.’ ”

[36]Therefore, thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will judge your adversary and exact vengeance for you. I shall lay waste her sea and dry up her springs. [37]Babylon shall be as a desolation, and it shall not be inhabited. [38]For they rose up together as lions and as cubs of lions. [39]In their heat, I shall give them a wine-cup. I will make them drunk so they may be intoxicated, and sleep an unending sleep, and not wake up,” says the Lord.

[40]“I will bring them down like lambs for slaughter, like rams with young. [41]How has the boast of the whole earth been caught and captured? How has Babylon become as a desolation among the nations? [42]The sea came up against Babylon with the sound of her waves, and she was covered. [43]Her cities became a waterless and impassable land. Not even one man shall dwell in it, nor shall a son of man lodge in it. [44]I will take vengeance on Babylon, and bring out from her mouth what she swallowed. The nations will no longer be gathered to her. [45]In Babylon, all the wounded men of the earth shall fall. [46]You who escape, go from the land, and do not stay. You who are afar off, remember the Lord, and let Jerusalem enter your heart.”

[47]We are ashamed because we heard our disgrace. Dishonor covers our face, for strangers entered the house of the Lord among our holy things. [48]“Therefore, behold the days are coming,” says the Lord, “when I will take vengeance upon her carved images, and wounded men shall fall in all her land. [49]For even if Babylon ascended like heaven and she fortified the strength of her walls, yet from Me the plunderers shall come to destroy her,” says the Lord.

[50]“There is the sound of a cry in Babylon, and great destruction is in the land of the Chaldeans; [51]for the Lord utterly cut off Babylon, and destroyed from her the great voice ringing out as many waters. He appointed her voice for ruin, for misery came against Babylon. [52]Her warriors are conquered, and their bow is useless; for God repays them. The Lord renders repayment to her. [53]He will make her princes, her wise men, and her commanders completely drunk,” says the King. “The Lord Almighty is His name.” [54]Thus says the Lord: “The wall of Babylon was made broad, but it shall be utterly broken, and her high gates shall burn with fire. The peoples shall not labor in vain, nor will the nations fail in their rule.”

55 This is the word the Lord commanded Jeremiah the prophet to say to Seraiah the son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah to Babylon in the fourth year of his reign. Now Seraiah was the quartermaster. 56 So Jeremiah wrote in one book all the calamities that would come upon Babylon. Indeed he wrote all these words against Babylon.
57 Then Jeremiah said to Seraiah, “When you arrive in Babylon and see it, you shall read all these words. 58 You shall say, ‘O Lord and Master, You spoke against this place to destroy it, and so none should dwell in it, neither man nor animal, because it shall be desolate forever.’ 59 Then it shall come to pass, when you finish reading this book, you shall tie a stone to it and throw it into the middle of the Euphrates. 60 After this, you shall say, ‘Thus Babylon shall sink and not rise, because of the calamities I bring upon her.’ ”

Jeremiah 29

1 Against the Philistines:

2 Thus says the Lord: “Behold, waters come up from the north and shall be a flooding torrent, which will flood the land, the entire city, and those dwelling in it. The men will cry out, and all those inhabiting the land will wail loudly, 3 because of the sound of his attack, the hoofs of his horses, and the rumblings of his chariots, at the noise of his wheels. Because of the weakness of their hands, the fathers did not return to their sons, 4 to destroy all the Philistines in the day to come. I shall utterly destroy Tyre and Sidon and all the rest of their allies, because the Lord will put to death the remaining people of the islands. 5 Baldness is come upon Gaza, and Ashkelon is cast out, along with the rest of the Enakim. 6 How long will you strike, O sword of the Lord? How long will it be until you rest? Return to your sheath, rest and be exalted. 7 How shall it be quiet, for the Lord has given it a commission against Ashkelon and the regions of the seacoast, to be stirred up against the remaining countries?”

Jeremiah 30

1 Against Edom:

Thus says the Lord: “Wisdom is no longer in Teman. Counsel perished from the intelligent; their wisdom is gone. 2 Their place is deceived. Those dwelling in Dedan dig deep for a place to dwell, for you caused troubles. So I brought troubles upon him in the time I visited him. [3]For those who gather grapes shall come to you, and they will not leave you a remnant. Like thieves by night, they will lay their hands upon your possessions. [4]For I pulled down Esau and uncovered their secret places. They shall be unable to hide themselves. They perished, each by the hand of his brother and his neighbor, [5]and it is not possible for the orphan to remain alive; but I shall live, and the widows will trust in Me."

[6]For thus says the Lord: "Those not appointed to drink the cup drank it, and you shall not remain unpunished, nor without blame, for you will certainly drink it." [7]For the Lord says, "I swore by Myself that you shall become impassable and a disgrace, and you shall become a curse in her midst. All her cities shall be a perpetual desert." [8]I heard a report from the Lord, and He sent messengers to the nations, saying, "Assemble yourselves and come against her. Rise up for war. [9]I made you small among nations, contemptible among men. [10]Your insolence has risen up against you. The rashness of your heart has broken up the holes of the rocks, and has seized the strength of the lofty hill. For like an eagle he has set his nest on high, but from there I will bring you down. [11]Edom shall be inaccessible, and everyone who passes by will hiss at it.

[12]"As Sodom and Gomorrah were overthrown, along with their sojourners," says the Lord Almighty, "so no man shall sit there, nor shall any son of man dwell there. [13]Behold, one will come up like a lion from the midst of the Jordan to the place of Aitham, for I will quickly drive them out from it. Do you set young men against her? For who is like Me? Who will oppose Me? Who is this shepherd who will stand against Me?"

[14]Therefore hear the counsel of the Lord which He purposed against Edom, and His plan which He calculated against the inhabitants of Teman. Surely the least of the sheep are swept away; surely their dwelling place shall be laid waste for them. [15]For at the sound of their fall the earth shook, and your outcry was heard in the sea. [16]Behold, He shall look upon her as an eagle, and spread forth His wings over her stronghold. In that day, the heart of the strong men of Edom shall be as the heart of a woman with pains of childbirth.

[17]Against the sons of Ammon:

Thus says the Lord: "Are there no sons in Israel? Or have they no one to succeed them? Why then did Malcom receive Gad, and why will their people dwell in their cities? [18]Therefore behold, the days are coming," says the Lord,

“when I will cause an uproar of war to be heard in Rabbah. They shall be impassable and in utter ruin. Her altars shall burn with fire. Then Israel shall take possession of his dominion. [19]Wail loudly, O Heshbon, for Gai has perished. Cry out, you daughters of Rabbah, and gird yourselves with sackcloth. Be frenzied and lament over Malcom, for he shall go into captivity, together with his priests and rulers. [20]Why, O haughty daughter, do you rejoice exceedingly in the plains of Enakim? You who trusted in your own treasures, saying, ‘Who shall come against me?’ [21]Behold, I will bring fear upon you from all who live around you. Each of you shall be scattered before his face, and there will be no one to gather you.”

[22]Against Kedar, queen of the court, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon struck:

Thus says the Lord: “Arise, go up to Kedar, and fill the sons of Kedem. [23]They will seize their tents and their sheep. They shall take their garments, all their vessels, and their camels for themselves. Summon destruction against them from every side. [24]Flee! Dig very deep for a dwelling place, you who sit in the court, for the king of Babylon counsels against you and prepares a plan against you.

[25]“Rise up and go against a nation settled and dwelling at ease, who have neither gates, nor pins and bars, and who dwell alone. [26]Their camels shall be for booty, and the multitude of their cattle for destruction. I will scatter them as chaff with every wind, having their hair cut about their foreheads. I will bring their overthrow from every side. [27]The court shall be a resting place for sparrows and untrodden forever. No man shall settle there, nor shall a son of man dwell in it,” says the Lord.

[28]Against Damascus:

“Hamath and Arpad are put to shame, for they heard the evil report. They are surprised. They are so angry they are unable to rest. [29]Damascus is utterly weakened. She is put to flight. Trembling has seized her. [30]How has she not abandoned My city in their love for the village? [31]Therefore the young men shall fall in your streets, and all your warriors shall fall. [32]For I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, and it shall engulf the streets of Ben-Hadad,” says the Lord.

Jeremiah 31

[1]Against Moab:

Thus says the Lord: “Woe to Nebo, for they are undone. Kirjathaim is taken. Amath is dishonored in its shame and defeated. [2]There is no longer any healing for Moab, nor insolence in Heshbon. He has planned evils against her. We cut her off from being a nation, and she will cease completely. A sword will go after you, [3]for a voice cries out of Horonaim, death and great destruction. [4]Moab is crushed; proclaim the destruction to Zogora. [5]For Luhith is filled with weeping. One will go up weeping on the road of Horonaim. You have heard a cry of destruction.

[6]“Flee and save your lives, for you shall be like a wild donkey in the desert! [7]Since you trusted in your strongholds, therefore you will be taken, and Chemosh shall go forth into captivity, together with his priests and rulers. [8]Destruction shall come upon every city, and no city shall escape. The valley also shall perish, and the plain shall be utterly destroyed, as the Lord said. [9]Set a sign on Moab, for she shall be set ablaze; and all her cities shall be inaccessible. From what place shall they come to inhabit her?

[10]“Cursed is the man who does the work of the Lord carelessly, keeping back his sword from blood. [11]Moab has been at ease from his youth and trusted in his glory. He has not been poured out from vessel to vessel, nor has he gone into exile. Therefore his taste is established within himself, and the smell of it does not cease.

[12]“Therefore behold, days are coming,” says the Lord, “when I will send him those who put others to flight, and they will put him to flight. They shall thrash his possessions and cut up his horns. [13]Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of Bethel their hope, having trusted in them. [14]How will you say, ‘We are strong, a people skilled in war’? [15]Moab, his city, is ruined, and his choice young men have gone down to the slaughter. [16]The day of Moab is near at hand, and the evil he did moves swiftly to judgment. [17]All you who surround him, move against him. All you who know his name, say, ‘How is the renowned staff broken, the rod of might?’

[18]“Come down from your glory, and sit down in a damp place. Be utterly destroyed, O Dibon, because Moab is ruined. One has gone up against you to ravage your stronghold. [19]You that sit in Aroer, stand by the road and look. Ask him who flees and the one who escapes, and say, ‘What happened?’ [20]Moab is put to shame, for he is broken. Wail and cry! Proclaim in Arnon that Moab is ruined. [21]Judgment comes upon the land of Misor, and upon

Holon, Jahzah and Mephaath, [22]and upon Dibon, Nebo and the house of Diblathaim, [23]and upon Kirjathaim and the houses of Gamul and Meon, [24]and upon Kerioth and Bozrah, and the houses of Moab, those far and near.

[25]"The horn of Moab is crushed, and his arm is broken. [26]Make him drunk, for he exalted himself against the Lord. Moab shall clap with his hand, but he himself will be a laughingstock. [27]For surely, was not Israel a laughingstock to you? Was he not found to be one of your stolen things, because you fought against him? [28]The inhabitants of Moab have abandoned their cities and now dwell in the rocks. They have become like doves nestling in the rocks at the mouth of a cave. [29]I heard about the insolence of Moab, how he greatly increased his insolence and arrogance, and exalted his heart. [30]But I know his works, how they are not yet sufficient for him, to satisfy his haughtiness.

[31]"Therefore, cry aloud on all sides against Moab. Cry out against the men of Kirheres, a dried-up place. [32]I mourn deeply for you, O vine of Sibmah, as with the weeping of Jazer. Your branches reached across the sea and touched Jazer. Destruction came upon your fruit and upon those who gather your grapes. [33]Joyfulness and gladness are swept away from the land of Moab, for there is no wine in your winepresses. In the morning, there are none to trample the grapes, neither in the evening any to shout at the joy of harvest. [34]From the crying of Heshbon even to Elealeh, and from Zogor as far as Horonaim and Aglath-Salisia, their cities uttered their voice, for the water of Nimrim shall be dried up.

[35]"I will destroy Moab," says the Lord, "as he comes up to the altar and burns incense to his gods. [36]Therefore, the heart of Moab shall make a humming noise like flutes. My heart will hum like a flute for the men of Kirheres, for whatever each man has gained has perished from him. [37]They will shave every head in every place, and every beard will be shaved. All hands will beat their chests, and sackcloth shall be over every back. [38]There will be mourning in all the houses of Moab and on his streets, for I have broken Moab in pieces," says the Lord, "like a useless vessel. [39]How did Moab change? How did he turn about? Moab is put to shame, and he became a laughingstock and an object of anger to all round about him."

[40]For thus says the Lord: [41]"Kerioth is taken, and the strongholds are seized. [42]Moab shall perish from being a multitude, because he exalted himself against the Lord. [43]A snare, fear, and a pit are upon you, O inhabitant of Moab. [44]He who flees before the fear shall fall into the pit, and he who gets out of the pit shall be caught in the snare. For I will bring these things upon Moab in the year of his visitation.”

Jeremiah 32

[1]What Jeremiah prophesied against all the nations.

[2]Thus says the Lord God of Israel: “Take a cup of the unmixed wine from My hand, and you shall cause all the nations to whom I send you to drink it. [3]They will drink, vomit, and be insane because of the presence of the sword I send among them.”

[4]So I took the cup from the hand of the Lord and caused the nations to whom the Lord sent me to drink it: [5]Jerusalem and the cities of Judah, the kings of Judah and its rulers, to put them into desolation, to make them an untrodden place and a hissing; [6]and Pharaoh king of Egypt, his servants, his nobles, and all his people; [7]all the mixed multitude and all the kings of the Philistines, and Ashkelon, Gaza, Ekron, and the remnant of Ashdod; [8]and Edom, Moab, and the sons of Ammon; [9]and all the kings of Tyre, the kings of Sidon, and the kings in the seas beyond; [10]and Dedan, Teman, and Buz, and everyone who shaves round about his face; [11]and all the mixed multitude who dwell in the desert; [12]and all the kings of Elam, and all the kings of the Persians; [13]and all the kings from the faraway East, each one with his brother; and all the kingdoms on the face of the earth.

[14]“You shall say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord Almighty: “Drink and become drunk, and you shall vomit, fall, and not rise because of the presence of the sword I send among you.’ ” [15]It shall come to pass, when they refuse to take the cup from your hand to drink it, you shall say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “You shall surely drink it. [16]For I will begin to afflict the city upon which My name is called, and you will not be guiltless; because I will call a sword upon all who dwell upon the earth.’ ”

[17]“You shall prophesy against them these words, and say, ‘The Lord shall speak from on high, to instruct from His sanctuary. He will utter His voice, and declare a word against His place.’ They will answer like men who gather grapes and shout in harvest; [18]and destruction is coming upon those who dwell on earth—to the ends of the earth. For the Lord has a controversy with the nations. He is pleading with all flesh, and the ungodly are given to the sword.”

[19]Thus says the Lord: “Behold, evils go from nation to nation, and a great storm proceeds from the ends of the earth. [20]In the day of the Lord, the slain of the Lord shall be from one end of the earth to the other. They shall not be buried, but will be as manure on the face of the earth. [21]Wail loudly, you shepherds, and cry aloud. Strike yourselves, you rams of the sheep, for your days are filled for slaughter, and you shall fall like choice rams. [22]Flight shall vanish from the shepherds and safety from the rams of the flock. [23]There shall be a voice of outcry from the shepherds, and the loud wailing of sheep and rams shall be heard, for the Lord destroyed their pasture. [24]The remnants of the peace will end because of the fierceness of My wrath. [25]Like a lion, he forsook his lair, for their land became impassable because of the presence of the great sword."

Jeremiah 33

Jeremiah Spared from Death

[1]In the beginning of the reign of King Jehoiakim, the son of Josiah, this word came from the Lord. [2]Thus says the Lord: "Stand in the court of the house of the Lord, and you shall declare to all Judeans, and all who come to worship in the house of the Lord, all the words I command you to reveal to them. Do not omit a word. [3]Perhaps each will hear and turn away from his evil ways. Then I will cease from the calamities I consider doing to them because of their evil practices. [4]You shall say, 'Thus says the Lord: "If you will not hear Me, to walk in My laws I set before you, [5]to heed the words of My servants the prophets, whom I send to you early in the morning—yes, I sent them, but you did not heed Me— [6]then I will make this house like Shiloh, and the city into a curse to all the nations of all the earth." ' "

[7]So the priests, the false prophets, and all the people heard Jeremiah speaking these words in the house of the Lord. [8]Then it came to pass, when Jeremiah finished speaking to all the people the things the Lord commanded him, the priests, the false prophets, and all the people seized him, saying, "You will surely die, [9]for you prophesied in the name of the Lord, saying, 'This house shall be like Shiloh, and this city shall be desolate of inhabitants.' " So all the people summoned an assembly against Jeremiah in the house of the Lord.

[10]The rulers of Judah also heard this word. So they went up from the house of the king to the house of the Lord and sat in the entrance of the new gate of the Lord. 11Then the priests and the false prophets said to the rulers and all the people, “The judgment of death is due this man because he prophesied against this city, as you heard with your ears.”

12Then Jeremiah replied to the rulers and all the people, saying, “The Lord sent me to prophesy against this house and this city all the words you heard. 13Now then, amend your ways and your works. Hear the voice of the Lord, and the Lord will cease from the calamities He spoke against you. 14Behold, I am in your hand. Do with me as seems useful and best for you. 15But know for certain, if you put me to death, you will bring innocent blood upon yourselves, on this city, and on those living there. For in truth, the Lord sent me to you, to speak all these words in your ears.”

16Then the rulers and all the people said to the priests and the false prophets, “The judgment of death is not due this man, for he spoke to us in the name of the Lord our God.” 17After this, men from the elders of the land rose up and spoke to all the assembly of the people: 18“Micah the Morasthite lived in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah and said to all the people of Judah, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Zion shall be plowed like a field, Jerusalem shall be impassable, and the mountain of the house shall be a thicket of trees.’ ” 19Now did Hezekiah and all Judah by any means put him to death? Instead, did they not fear the Lord and make supplication before the Lord; and the Lord ceased from the calamities He spoke against them? But we have done great evils against our souls.”

20After this, there was a man who prophesied in the Lord’s name, Urijah the son of Shemaiah of Kirjath-jearim, and he prophesied concerning this land according to all the words of Jeremiah. 21Jehoiakim the king with all the rulers heard all his words, and they sought to put him to death; but Urijah heard this and went to Egypt. 22So the king sent men to Egypt, 23and they brought him from there to the king. Then he killed him with the sword and cast him into the grave of the children of his people. 24Nevertheless, the hand of Ahikam the son of Shaphan was with Jeremiah to prevent his being delivered into the hands of the people to be put to death.

Jeremiah 34

Bonds and Yokes

1Thus says the Lord: “Make bonds and wooden yokes and put them on your neck, [2]and you shall send them to the king of Edom, the king of Moab, the king of the sons of Ammon, the king of Tyre, and the king of Sidon by the hand of the same messengers who met them in Jerusalem with Zedekiah king of Judah. [3]You shall instruct them with regard to their masters to speak thus: ‘Thus says the Lord God of Israel to your masters: [4]“I made the earth by My great strength and with My high arm, and I will give it to whomsoever it may seem good in My eyes. [5]I gave the earth to Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon to serve him; and I gave the wild beasts of the field to him to work for him. [6]But the nation and kingdom, whoever will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon, I will visit them with the sword and the famine,” says the Lord, “until they come to an end by his hand. [7]So do not give heed to your false prophets, diviners, dreamers, soothsayers, or sorcerers, who say, ‘You shall not work for the king of Babylon.’ [8]For they prophesy lies to you to remove you far from your land. [9]But the nation that brings its neck under the yoke of the king of Babylon to work for him, I shall leave it on its own land; and he shall work it for him and dwell in it.” ’ ”

[10]I also spoke to Zedekiah king of Judah according to all these words, saying, “The Lord says, ‘Place your neck under the yoke and work for the king of Babylon, for they prophesy wrongdoings to you, but I did not send them. [11]Yet they prophesy wrongfully in My name, that I might destroy you, and you should perish, and these prophets of yours, who wrongfully prophesy lies to you.’ ”

[12]Again I spoke to him, to all this people and to the priests, saying, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Do not heed the words of the prophets who prophesy to you, saying, “Behold, the vessels of the Lord’s house will return from Babylon,” for they prophesy wrongfully to you; but I did not send them.’ ”

[13]Thus if they are prophets, and the word of the Lord is in them, let them meet me, for thus the Lord said. [14]Now concerning the remainder of the vessels the king of Babylon did not take when he carried away captive Jeconiah from Jerusalem, the Lord says, “They will go to Babylon.”

Jeremiah 35

The False Prophet Hananiah

[1]Now it came to pass in the fourth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the fifth month, that Hananiah, the false prophet from Gibeon, and the son of Azur spoke to me in the house of the Lord in the presence of the priests and all the people, saying, 2"Thus says the Lord: 'I broke into pieces the yoke of the king of Babylon. 3Yet two full years, and I will return the vessels of the Lord's house to this place, 4along with Jeconiah and all the captives of Judah, for I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon.' "

5Then Jeremiah spoke to Hananiah in the presence of all the people, and in the presence of the priests who stood in the house of the Lord. 6Thus Jeremiah said, "Truly, may the Lord do so indeed, and establish the word you prophesy, to return the vessels of the Lord's house and all those carried away captive from Babylon to this place. 7Nevertheless, hear the word of the Lord I speak in your ears and the ears of all the people. 8The prophets who were before me and before you of old, they prophesied concerning war against many countries and great kingdoms. 9As for this prophet who prophesied regarding peace to come, when his word comes to pass, they shall know the prophet the Lord sent to them in good faith."

10Then in the sight of all the people, Hananiah took the yokes from the neck of Jeremiah and broke them to pieces. 11Hananiah then spoke in the presence of all the people, saying, "Thus says the Lord: 'Thus I will break the yoke of the king of Babylon from the necks of all nations.' " After this, Jeremiah went his way.

12Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah after Hananiah broke the yokes from his neck, saying, 13"Go and tell Hananiah, saying, 'Thus says the Lord: "You have broken the yokes of wood, but I will make yokes of iron in their place." 14For thus says the Lord: "I have put a yoke of iron on the neck of all the nations, so they may serve the king of Babylon." ' " 15Jeremiah also said to Hananiah, "The Lord has not sent you, but you have caused this people to be persuaded wrongfully. 16Therefore thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I will cast you from the face of the earth, and you shall die this year.' " 17So he died in the seventh month.

Jeremiah's Letter to the Captives

1These are the words of the letter Jeremiah the prophet sent from Jerusalem to the elders of the captivity, and to the priests and false prophets. 2(He sent it to Babylon for the captivity and for all the people, after the departure from Jerusalem of Jeconiah the king, the queen mother, the eunuchs, and every freeman, bondman, and craftsman.) [3]Jeremiah sent the letter to Babylon by the hand of Elasah the son of Shaphan, and Gemariah the son of Hilkiah (whom Zedekiah king of Judah sent to Babylon, to the king of Babylon), saying,

[4]Thus says the Lord God of Israel concerning the captivity which I caused to be carried away from Jerusalem: [5]Build houses and dwell in them. Plant gardens and eat their fruit. [6]Take wives and beget sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands; and be multiplied and not diminished. [7]Seek the peace of the land into which I carried you captive. Pray to the Lord for them, for in its peace you shall have peace. [8]For thus says the Lord: Do not let the false prophets in your midst deceive you; and do not let your diviners persuade you, nor heed the dreams you dream. [9]For they prophesy wrongfully to you in My name, but I did not send them.

[10]For thus says the Lord: When seventy years are about to be fulfilled in Babylon, I will visit you and confirm My words to you, to return your people to this place. [11]For I shall consider a plan of peace for you, to give you good things and not calamities. [12]Therefore, pray to Me, and I will hear you. [13]Seek Me, and you will find Me, because you seek Me with all your heart. [14]I will appear to you, [15]for you said, “The Lord established prophets for us in Babylon.”

[16]Thus says the Lord against Achiab and Zedekiah: Behold, I will deliver them into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he shall smite them in your sight. [17]They shall make of them a curse among all the captivity of Judah in Babylon, saying, “May the Lord do to you as He did to Zedekiah and as He did to Achiab, whom the king of Babylon roasted in the fire,” [18]because they committed lawlessness in Israel, committed adultery with the wives of their fellow-citizens, and spoke a word in My name which I did not command them; and I am a witness, says the Lord.

[19]To Shemaiah the Nehelamite, you shall say, [20]“I did not send you in My name,” and to Zephaniah the priest, the son of Maaseiah, saying,

[21]“The Lord made you priest in the place of Jehoiada the priest, to be an overseer in the house of the Lord over every prophet and every man who is insane, and you shall put them in prison or into the dungeon. [22]Now therefore, why have you joined in mocking Jeremiah of Anathoth, who prophesied to you? [23]Did he not send you into Babylon for this purpose, saying, ‘It is far off. Build a house and dwell in it, and plant a garden and eat its fruit.’ ” [24]Thus Zephaniah read this letter in the ears of Jeremiah. [25]Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying, [26]“Send to the captivity, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord concerning Shemaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shemaiah prophesied to you, although I did not send him, and causes you to trust in wrongdoings; [27]therefore, thus says the Lord: Behold, I will visit Shemaiah and his family. There shall not be a man of them in your midst to see the good things I will do for you. They shall not see it.’ ”

Israel and Judah Will Be Reduced

[1]The word came to Jeremiah from the Lord, saying, [2]“Thus says the Lord God of Israel: ‘Write in a book all the words I have spoken to you. [3]For behold, the days will come,’ says the Lord, ‘when I will return the captives of My people Israel and Judah,’ says the Lord, ‘and I shall return them to the land I gave to their fathers, and they shall have dominion over it.’ ”

[4]Now these are the words the Lord spoke concerning Israel and Judah, saying, [5]“Thus says the Lord: ‘You shall hear a sound of fear. There is fear, and there is not peace. [6]Ask and see if a male gives birth, and ask concerning fear in which they shall hold fast their loins and look for safety; for I see every man, and his hands are on his loins. Their faces have turned to paleness. [7]For that day is great, and there is no other like it. There is little time for Jacob, and because of this, he will be saved. [8]In that day,’ says the Lord, ‘I will break the yoke from their neck and break their chains; and they shall no longer work for foreigners. [9]But they shall work for the Lord their God, and I will raise up for them David their king.’

[10]“Thus says the Lord: ‘I brought about your destruction. Your blow was painful. [11]There was no one to judge your cause. You were painfully treated for healing, but this was no benefit to you. [12]All your friends forgot you. They do not ask about you, for I struck you with the blow of your enemy, even firm correction. Your sins have multiplied because of all your wrongdoing. [13]Therefore, all who devour you shall be consumed, for all your enemies shall devour themselves. Your sins multiplied because of the abundance of your wrongdoings, thus they did these things to you. But those who tore you to pieces shall be as prey, and I will give all who plundered you as plunder. [14]For I will bring about your healing from a painful wound. I will heal you,’ says the Lord. ‘For you were called Dispersed, for they said, “She is your prey, because no one seeks her.’ ”

[15]“Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I will turn back the captivity of Jacob and have mercy upon his captives. The city shall be built upon her summit, and the temple shall remain according to His judgment. [16]Singers shall go forth from them. I will multiply them, and they shall not be diminished. [17]Their children shall enter as before, and their testimonies shall be established before Me. I will visit those who afflict them. [18]His mighty ones shall be over them, and his ruler shall go forth of himself, and I will gather them. They shall return to Me, for who is this who sets his heart to return to Me?’ says the Lord. [19]‘For the wrath of the Lord goes out; a whirlwind of anger goes forth. It shall come against the ungodly. [20]The fierce wrath of the Lord will not turn away until He executes it, and until He establishes the undertaking of His heart. In the last days, you will come to know these things.’ ”

A Father for Israel

[1]“At that time,” says the Lord, “I will be as God to the family of Israel, and they shall be as My people.”

[2]Thus says the Lord: “I found him alive in the desert with those slain by the sword. Go and do not destroy Israel.” [3]The Lord appeared to him from afar, saying, “I have loved you with an everlasting love; therefore, I drew you in compassion. [4]O virgin of Israel, I shall build you, and you will be restored. You shall again take your tambourine and go forth with the assembly of those who rejoice. [5]Moreover, plant a vineyard on the mountains of Samaria. Plant and praise, [6]for it is a day of calling, when those who defend you on the mountains of Ephraim will say, ‘Arise and go up to Zion to the Lord our God.’ ”

[7]For thus says the Lord to Jacob: “Rejoice and exult in the Head of the nations. Make a proclamation and praise Him. Say, ‘The Lord saved His people, the remnant of Israel.’ [8]Behold, I will bring them from the north, and gather them from the ends of the earth to the feast of Passover. You shall beget a great multitude, and they shall return here. [9]They went forth with weeping, but I will gather them with consolation. I will cause them to lodge by the channels of waters in an upright way, and they will not be led astray; for I have become as a Father to Israel, and Ephraim is My firstborn.

10"Hear the word of the Lord, you nations. Proclaim it to the islands far distant and say, 'He who scattered Israel will also gather and protect him, as one who feeds his flock.' 11For the Lord redeemed Jacob. He redeemed him from the hand of those stronger than he. 12They shall come and be glad in the mountain of Zion, and they shall come to the goodness of the Lord; to the land of wheat, wine, and fruit, and of cattle and sheep. Their soul shall be like a fruitful tree, and they shall hunger no more. 13Then shall the virgins rejoice in the assembly of young men, and the old men shall rejoice. I will turn their mourning into joy, and I will make them glad. 14I will magnify and cheer with wine the soul of these priests, the sons of Levi, and My people shall be satisfied with My good things."

Mercy for Ephraim

15Thus says the Lord: "A voice of lamentation, weeping, and mourning was heard in Ramah. Rachel does not wish to cease mourning deeply over her children, because they are no more." 16Thus says the Lord: "Let your voice cease from its bitter weeping and your eyes from tears, for there is a reward for your works, and they shall return from the land of their enemies. 17There shall be an abiding home for your children.

18"I heard the news of Ephraim, lamenting, 'You chastised me, and I was chastised. Like a calf, I was not taught, but turn me back, and I shall return; for You are the Lord my God. 19For after my captivity I repented, and after I knew, I groaned because of the day of shame, and showed You that I bore the reproach of my youth.' 20Ephraim is a beloved son and a child who is a delight to Me, because My words are in him. I will surely remember him; therefore I hastened to help him. I will surely have mercy upon him," says the Lord.

21"Rouse yourself, O Zion, and bring about vengeance. Be strong in your heart and return by the way you went, O virgin of Israel. Return to your cities and mourn. 22How long, O dishonored daughter, will you turn away? For the Lord has created safety by a new planting. Men will travel about in security."

23Thus says the Lord: "They will say this word in the land of Judah and its cities when I bring back the host of captives: 'Blessed is the Lord on His righteous and holy mountain.' 24There shall be those who dwell in the cities of Judah and in all its land, together with the farmer, and the shepherd shall go forth with his flock. [25]For I have satiated every thirsty soul and filled every hungry soul." [26]Therefore, I awoke and beheld, and my sleep was pleasant to me.

[27]"Therefore, behold, days are coming," says the Lord, "when I will sow Israel and Judah with the seed of man and the seed of cattle. [28]It shall come to pass, as I watched over them to overthrow and afflict, so too, I will watch over them to build and plant," says the Lord. [29]"In those days, they shall not say, 'The fathers ate sour grapes, and the children's teeth were set on edge.' [30]But rather, each shall die in his own sin, and the teeth of him who eats the sour grapes shall be set on edge.

The New Covenant

[31]"Behold, days are coming," says the Lord, "when I shall make a new covenant with the house of Israel and the house of Judah, [32]not according to the covenant I made with their fathers in the day I took hold of their hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt; for they did not abide in My covenant, and I disregarded them," says the Lord. [33]"For this is the covenant I will make with the house of Israel after those days," says the Lord. "I will surely put My laws into their mind and write them on their hearts. I will be as God to them, and they shall be as My people. [34]Each shall not teach his neighbor and each his brother, saying, 'Know the Lord,' for all shall know Me, from the least of them to the greatest of them. For I will be merciful to their wrongdoings, and I will no longer remember their sins.

[35]"Though the sky should be raised to a greater height," says the Lord, "and though the ground of the earth should be sunk lower beneath, yet I would not reject the family of Israel," says the Lord, "for all they have done." [36]Thus says the Lord, who gives the sun as a light by day, and the moon and the stars as a light by night; and who makes the sea roar so its waves make a crashing sound. The Lord Almighty is His name. [37]"If these laws cease from before Me," says the Lord, "the family of Israel shall also cease to be a nation before Me forever.

[38]"Behold, days are coming," says the Lord, "when the city shall be built for the Lord from the Tower of Hananel to the Corner Gate. [39]The measure of the city shall proceed in front of them as far as the hills of Gareb, and it shall be encircled round about by choice stones. [40]All Hasaremoth as far as the Kidron River, to the corner of the Horse Gate eastward, shall be a sanctuary to the Lord. It shall not fail or be destroyed anymore forever."

Jeremiah 39

Jeremiah Buys a Field

[1]The word came from the Lord to Jeremiah in the tenth year of King Zedekiah of Judah. This was the eighteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon. [2]The forces of the king of Babylon's army made a fortification against Jerusalem, and Jeremiah was kept in the court of the prison which was in the king's house, [3]in which King Zedekiah shut him up, saying, "Why do you prophesy, saying, 'Thus says the Lord: "Behold, I give this city into the hand of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it. [4]Zedekiah shall not escape from the hand of the Chaldeans, for he shall surely be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon. He shall speak with him face to face and see him eye to eye. [5]Then Zedekiah shall go to Babylon and dwell there." ' "

[6]Again the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying, [7]"Behold, Hanamel the son of Shallum, your father's brother, will come to you, saying, 'Buy yourself my field in Anathoth, for you have the right to receive it as a possession.' " [8]So Hanamel the son of Shallum, my father's brother, came to me in the court of the prison and said to me, "Buy my field in Anathoth, which is in the land of Benjamin. The right to buy it is yours and you are the elder." So I knew this was the word of the Lord. [9]Thus I bought the field from Hanamel, the son of my father's brother, and weighed him seventeen shekels of silver. [10]I wrote it in a book, sealed it, took the testimony of witnesses, and weighed the money on the scales. [11]Then I took the book of the purchase that was sealed [12]and gave it to Baruch the son of Neriah, son of Mahseiah, in the sight of Hanamel, the son of my father's brother, and in the sight of the men who stood by and who signed the purchase deed, and in the sight of those Jews in the court of the prison.

[13]Then I charged Baruch in their sight, saying, [14]"Thus says the Lord Almighty: 'Take this purchase deed and the deed that was read aloud and put it in an earthen vessel, that it may remain many days.' [15]For thus says the Lord: 'Even fields, houses, and vineyards shall be possessed in this land.' "

Jeremiah's Prayer Acknowledges God's Faithfulness

[16]After I gave the book of the purchase to Baruch the son of Neriah, I prayed to the Lord, saying, [17]"O Lord, You made heaven and earth by Your great strength and by Your high and uplifted arm. There is nothing hidden from You. [18]You grant mercy to thousands, and repay the sins of the fathers into the bosoms of their children after them, the Great and Mighty God, [19]the Lord of great counsel and powerful in deeds, the Great God, the Almighty and the Lord of great name. Your eyes are upon the ways of the sons of men, to give everyone according to his way. [20]You did signs and wonders in the land of Egypt, even to this day, and in Israel and among the inhabitants of the earth. You made Yourself a name, as it is this day. [21]You brought Your people Israel out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders, with a strong hand and a high arm, and with great visions. [22]You gave them this land, which You swore to their fathers, a land flowing with milk and honey. [23]They went in and took it; but they did not listen to Your voice or walk in Your commandments. They did none of the things You commanded them to do, and it caused all of these calamities to happen to them. [24]Behold, a multitude comes against this city, and the city is given into the hands of the Chaldeans who wage war against it, with the power of sword and famine. As You have spoken, thus it has happened. [25]You did say to me, 'Buy for yourself the field for silver.' So I wrote the book, sealed it, and took the testimony of witnesses. Yet the city has been given into the hand of the Chaldeans."

Jerusalem Will Fall

[26]The word of the Lord came to me, saying, [27]"I am the Lord, the God of all flesh. Shall anything be hidden from Me? [28]Therefore thus says the Lord God of Israel: 'This city shall certainly be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon, and he shall take it. [29]For the Chaldeans shall come and wage war against this city. They shall burn this city with fire, and burn up the houses in which they burnt incense to Baal on their housetops, and poured drink offerings to other gods to provoke Me. [30]For the children of Israel and the children of Judah alone did evil in My sight from their youth. [31]For this city provoked My wrath and anger from the day they built it even to this day, so I removed it from My presence, [32]because of all the evils of the children of Israel and Judah which they did to provoke Me—they and their kings, and their rulers, priests and prophets, and the men of Judah and those living in Jerusalem. [33]They turned their back to Me and not their face. I taught them early in the morning, yes I taught them, but they did not listen to take hold of the instruction. [34]Instead, they put their unclean defilements in the house in which My name is called. [35]They built altars to Baal in the valley of the son of Hinnom, to offer their sons and daughters to King Molech, which things I did not command; nor did such things come into My heart, for them to do this abomination to cause Judah to sin.'

God Reaffirms His Covenant

[36]"Now thus says the Lord God of Israel against this city of which you say, 'It shall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon by sword, famine, and banishment': [37]'Behold, I will gather them out of every land where I scattered them in My wrath and anger and in great provocation. I will bring them back to this place and will cause them to dwell in confidence. [38]They shall be to Me as a people, and I shall be as God to them. [39]I will give them another way and a different heart, to fear Me all their days, for their good and for the good of their children after them. [40]I will make an everlasting covenant with them, by which I will not turn away from them. I will put My fear into their heart so they may not depart from Me. [41]I will visit them to do good to them, and I will plant them in this land in faithfulness, and with all My heart and soul.'

[42]"For thus says the Lord: 'As I have brought all these great calamities upon this people, so I will bring upon them all the good things I have spoken. [43]Fields will yet be bought in the land of which you say, "It is impassable for men and cattle, for they were delivered into the hands of the Chaldeans." [44]But they shall buy fields with money, and you will write a book, seal it, and take the testimony of witnesses in the land of Benjamin and round about Jerusalem, and in the cities of Judah and the mountains, and in the cities of the lowland, and the south; for I will turn back their captivity.' "

Jeremiah 40

The Nation Will Be Restored

[1]The word of the Lord came to Jeremiah a second time when he was yet bound in the court of the prison, saying, [2]"Thus says the Lord, He who made the earth and formed it to establish it—the Lord is His name: [3]'Cry out to Me, and I will answer you. I will proclaim to you great and mighty things which you do not know.'

[4]"For thus says the Lord God of Israel concerning the houses of this city and the houses of the king of Judah, which were pulled down and made into entrenchments and outer fortifications, [5]to fight against the Chaldeans and to fill the city with dead men, whom I struck in My wrath and anger, and I turned away My face from them because of all their evils: [6]‘Behold, I bring her health and healing for her wounds, and I will show them how to obey. Yes, I will heal this city and bring about peace and faithfulness. [7]I shall return the captives of Judah and Israel and will restore them, even as before. [8]I will cleanse them from all their wrongdoings by which they sinned against Me. I will not remember their sins by which they sinned against Me and withdrew from Me. [9]This shall be for the gladness, praise, and majesty of all the people of the earth, who shall hear all the good things I will do. They shall fear and be provoked concerning all the good things and the peace I shall bring upon them.’

[10]“Thus says the Lord: ‘There shall yet be heard in this place, in which you say, “It is destitute of people and cattle,” in the cities of Judah and outside of Jerusalem, in the places made desolate, without man and cattle, [11]the voice of gladness and joyfulness, the voice of the bridegroom and the bride, the voice of those saying, “Give thanks to the Lord Almighty, for the Lord is good, for His mercy endures forever.” They will bring gifts into the house of the Lord, for I shall bring back all the captives of that land as it was before,’ says the Lord.

[12]“Thus says the Lord of hosts: ‘There shall yet be in this place of desolation without man and cattle, and in all its cities, resting places for the shepherds to bed down their sheep. [13]In the cities of the hill country and the valley, and in the cities of the south and the land of Benjamin, and in the cities around Jerusalem and Judah, sheep shall again pass under the hand of him who counts them,’ says the Lord.”

Jeremiah 41

God Warns Zedekiah

[1]The word came to Jeremiah from the Lord, when Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army and every land of his dominion warred against Jerusalem and all the cities of Judah, saying, [2]“Thus says the Lord: ‘Go to Zedekiah king of Judah, and you shall tell him, “Thus says the Lord: ‘This city shall certainly be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon; and he shall take it and burn it with fire. 3You shall not escape from his hand, but shall certainly be taken and delivered into his hands. Your eyes shall see his eyes, and you will speak with him face to face. You shall enter Babylon.’ 4But hear the word of the Lord, O Zedekiah king of Judah. Thus says the Lord: 5‘You shall die in peace, and as they wept for your fathers who reigned before you, they shall also weep for you, saying, “Alas, lord!” They shall mourn for you, for I spoke the word,’ says the Lord.” ’ ”

6So Jeremiah spoke all these words to King Zedekiah in Jerusalem. 7Then the army of the king of Babylon waged war against Jerusalem and against the cities of Judah, and against Lachish and Azekah, for these strong cities were left among the cities of Judah.

Failure to Free the Slaves

8The word came from the Lord to Jeremiah, after King Zedekiah concluded a covenant with all the people, to proclaim a remission: 9that every man should set his servant free—each male and female servant of his, the Hebrew man and the Hebrew woman—that no man of Judah should be a servant. 10Then all the princes and all the people who entered into the covenant to set free each male and female servant of his, 11again forced them to be male and female servants.

12Therefore the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah, saying, 13“Thus says the Lord God of Israel: ‘I made a covenant with your fathers in the day I brought them out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage, saying, 14“When six years are complete, you shall set free your Hebrew brother who will be sold to you, for he shall serve you six years, then you will send him forth a free man.” But they did not listen to Me, nor inclined their ear. 15Even today, they turned to do what is right in My sight, to proclaim remission to each neighbor of his. So they concluded a covenant before Me in the house called by My name. 16But you turned away and profaned My name to bring back each male and female servant of his, whom you set free in their soul, to be once again your male and female servants.’

17“Therefore thus says the Lord: ‘You did not listen to Me to proclaim remission to each neighbor of his. Behold, I proclaim a remission to you for the sword, and for death and famine. I will deliver you as a dispersion among all the kingdoms of the land. 18I will deliver the men who transgressed My covenant, who did not keep My covenant they made before Me, with the young bull they offered as a sacrifice: 19the rulers of Judah and the mighty men, and the priests and the people, [20]I will deliver them to their enemies, and their dead bodies shall be food for the birds of the sky and the wild animals of the earth. [21]I will deliver Zedekiah the king of Judah and their rulers into the hands of their enemies, and the army of the king of Babylon shall chase those who run away from them. [22]Behold, I shall command them,' says the Lord, 'and I will turn them to this land, and they will fight against it. They shall take it and burn it with fire, even the cities of Judah, which I will cause to be desolate and without inhabitant.' "

Jeremiah 42

The Obedient Rechabites

1The word came to Jeremiah from the Lord in the days of Jehoiakim king of Judah, saying, 2"Go to the house of the Rechabites; and you shall bring them to the house of the Lord, into one of the courts, and give them wine to drink." 3So I brought out Jaazaniah the son of Jeremiah, the son of Habazziniah, and his brothers and his sons, and all the house of the Rechabites, 4and I brought them into the house of the Lord, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Igdaliah, a man of God, which was near the house of the ruler who was over the house of Maaseiah the son of Shallum, who kept the court. 5I set before them a pitcher of wine and cups, and said, "Drink wine."

6But they said, "We will drink no wine, for our father, Jonadab the son of Rechab, commanded us, saying, 'Drink no wine, neither you nor your sons forever; 7nor shall you build a house, nor sow any seed, nor shall you have a vineyard; for you shall dwell in tents all your days, so you may live many days in the land where you are sojourners.' 8So we obeyed the voice of Jonadab our father so as to drink no wine all our days, we and our wives, and our sons and daughters, 9and so as to build no houses to dwell in. Thus, we have no vineyard, field, or seed, 10for we dwell in tents; because we obeyed everything Jonadab our father commanded us. 11Then it came to pass, when Nebuchadnezzar came up against the land, we said, 'Let us go and enter Jerusalem because of the presence of the army of the Chaldeans and the army of the Assyrians.' So we dwelt there."

12Then the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 13"Thus says the Lord:
'Go and tell the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, "Will you not receive correction to obey My words? 14The sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab kept the word he commanded his children so as to drink no wine, and they did not drink it. But I spoke to you early. I spoke, but you did not obey.
15I also sent to you My servants the prophets, saying, 'Let each of you turn from his evil way, and amend your doings. Do not go after other gods to serve them, and you will dwell in the land I gave you and your fathers.' But you did not incline your ear, nor did you obey. 16Yet the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab kept the commandment of their father, but this people did not obey Me.' " 17Therefore, thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I will bring on Judah and on the inhabitants of Jerusalem all the evils I pronounced against them.’

18“Therefore, thus says the Lord: ‘Since the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab obeyed the commandment of their father to do as their father commanded them, 19there shall never be wanting a man of the sons of Jonadab the son of Rechab to stand before My face while the earth remains.’ ”

Jeremiah 43

The Scroll Is Read in the Temple

1Now in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2“Take for yourself the scroll of a book, and write on it all the words I instructed you against Jerusalem, and against Judah, and against all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Josiah king of Judah even to this day. 3Perhaps the house of Judah will hear all the calamities I purpose to bring upon them, so as to turn them from their evil way; and I shall be merciful to their wrongdoings and sins.”

4So Jeremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah, and he wrote on a scroll all the words of the Lord from the mouth of Jeremiah, which he spoke to him. 5Thus Jeremiah commanded Baruch, saying, “I am under guard and unable to go into the house of the Lord, 6so you shall read from this scroll in the ears of the people in the house of the Lord on the day of fasting, and in the hearing of Judah, who come from their city. You shall read to them. 7Perhaps their supplication will come before the face of the Lord, and they will turn from their evil way; for great is the anger and wrath of the Lord which He pronounced against this people.” 8So Baruch did according to all Jeremiah commanded him, to read from the book the words of the Lord in the house of the Lord.

9Then it came to pass in the eighth year of King Jehoiakim, in the ninth month, all the people in Jerusalem and in the house of Judah proclaimed a fast before the Lord. 10Baruch read from the book the words of Jeremiah in the house of the Lord, in the house of Gemariah the son of Shaphan the scribe, and in the upper court at the entry of the new gate of the Lord’s house, in the hearing of all the people.

The Scroll Is Read to the Rulers and People

[11]Now Michaiah the son of Gemariah, the son of Shaphan, heard all the words of the Lord from the book. [12]He then went down to the house of the king, into the home of the scribe, and behold, there were sitting all the rulers: Elishama the scribe, Delaiah the son of Shemaiah, Elnathan the son of Achbor, Gemariah the son of Shaphan, Zedekiah the son of Hananiah, and all the rulers. [13]So Michaiah declared to them all the words he heard Baruch read in the ears of the people. [14]Then all the rulers sent Jehudi the son of Nethaniah, the son of Shelemiah, the son of Cushi, to Baruch the son of Neriah, saying, “Take in your hand the scroll to read in the hearing of the people and come.” So Baruch took the scroll and went down to them. [15]Then they said to him, “Read it again in our ears.” So Baruch read it. [16]Now it came to pass, when they heard all the words, they took counsel each with his neighbor, and said, “Let us report all these words to the king.” [17]So they asked Baruch, saying, “How did you come to write all these words?” [18]Baruch replied, “Jeremiah proclaimed all these words to me from his mouth, and I wrote them in the book.” [19]Then they said to Baruch, “Go and hide, you and the man Jeremiah. Let no one know where you are.”

The King Burns the Scroll

[20]So they went to the king, into the court, but gave the scroll for safekeeping in the house of Elishama; and they reported to the king all these words. [21]The king then sent Jehudi to fetch the scroll, and he took it from the house of Elishama. Jehudi then read it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the rulers who stood around the king. [22]Now the king was sitting in the winter house, and a hearth with a burning fire was before him. [23]Then it came to pass, as Jehudi was reading the third or fourth page, he cut them off with the scribe’s knife and cast them into the fire of the hearth, until all of the scroll was consumed by the fire of the hearth. [24]But the king and his servants who heard all these words did not seek the Lord, neither did they tear their garments. [25]But Elnathan, Delaiah, and Gemariah pointed out to the king that he should not burn up the scroll. [26]The king then commanded Jerahmeel the king’s son and Seraiah the son of Azriel to seize Baruch and Jeremiah, but they were hidden.

Jeremiah Rewrites the Scroll

[27]The word of the Lord came to Jeremiah after the king burned the scroll containing all the words Baruch wrote from the mouth of Jeremiah, saying,

28“Take again another scroll, and write on the scroll all the words which King Jehoiakim burned. 29Then you shall say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “You burned this scroll, saying, ‘Why did you write in it, saying, “The king of Babylon will certainly come in and utterly destroy this land; and man and cattle will cease from it”?’ ” 30Therefore thus says the Lord against Jehoiakim king of Judah: “He shall have no one to sit on the throne of David, and his dead body shall be cast out into the heat of the day and the frost of the night. 31So I will visit him, his family, and his servants. I will bring upon them and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and upon the land of Judah, all the calamities I spoke regarding them, for they did not heed them.” ’ ” 32Then Baruch took another scroll, and he wrote on it all the words of the book from the mouth of Jeremiah which Jehoiakim burned. There were yet more words added to it like the former.

Jeremiah 44

Zedekiah Becomes King

1Then Zedekiah the son of Josiah reigned instead of Jehoiakim, whom Nebuchadnezzar appointed to reign over Judah. 2But neither he nor his servants nor the people of the land gave heed to the words of the Lord which He spoke by the hand of Jeremiah. 3Then Zedekiah the king sent Jehucal the son of Shelemiah and Zephaniah the priest, son of Maaseiah, to Jeremiah, saying, “Indeed, pray to the Lord for us.” 4Now Jeremiah came and passed through the midst of the city, and they did not put him in the prison. 5Then the army of Pharaoh came up from Egypt; and the Chaldeans heard the report concerning them, and they departed from Jerusalem.

6The word of the Lord then came to Jeremiah, saying, 7“Thus says the Lord: ‘In this way you shall speak to the king of Judah who sent you to seek Me: “Behold, the army of Pharaoh which came up to help you, they shall return to the land of Egypt, 8and the Chaldeans shall return again to fight against this city. They shall take it and burn it with fire.’ ” 9Thus says the Lord: ‘Do not suppose in your souls, saying, “The Chaldeans will surely depart from us,” yet they will not depart. 10For though you should smite the whole army of the Chaldeans who wage war against you, and they left certain wounded men, these men would rise up and burn this city with fire.’ ”

Jeremiah Is Imprisoned

11 Then it came to pass, when the army of the Chaldeans left Jerusalem because of the presence of Pharaoh's army, 12 Jeremiah left Jerusalem to go into the land of Benjamin to buy goods from among the people. 13 He came to the Gate of Benjamin, and there was a man in that place with whom he lodged, Irijah the son of Shelemiah, the son of Hananiah; and he seized Jeremiah, saying, "You are fleeing to the Chaldeans!" 14 But he said, "That is a lie! I am not fleeing to the Chaldeans." Yet he did not listen to him. So Irijah seized Jeremiah and brought him to the rulers. 15 The rulers were embittered against Jeremiah; and they struck him and sent him to the house of Jonathan the scribe; for they made this into a prison. 16 So Jeremiah entered the dungeon and the cells and sat there many days.

17 Then Zedekiah sent and called for him. The king secretly asked him, saying, "Is there a word from the Lord?" He replied, "There is. You shall be delivered into the hands of the king of Babylon." 18 Then Jeremiah said to the king, "What offense have I committed against you, your servants, or this people, that you have put me in the prison? 19 Where are your prophets who prophesied to you, saying, 'The king of Babylon will not come against the land'? 20 Now, O lord the king, let my supplication come before your face.
For why do you return me to the house of Jonathan the scribe? Do not let me die there." 21 Then the king gave the command, and they cast him into the prison. They gave him one loaf of bread daily from their bakery until the bread in the city failed. So Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

Jeremiah in the Muddy Pit

1 Shephatiah the son of Mattan, Gedaliah the son of Pashhur, and Jucal the son of Shelemiah heard the words Jeremiah spoke to the people, saying, 2 "Thus says the Lord: 'He who dwells in this city shall die by the sword and famine, but he who goes out to the Chaldeans shall live. His life shall be as finding a treasure, for he shall live.' 3 For thus says the Lord: 'This city shall most assuredly be given into the hands of the army of the king of Babylon, and they shall take it.' " 4 Therefore they said to the king, "Indeed, let that man be put to death, for by speaking to them such words, he weakens the hands of the fighting men left in the city and the hands of all the people. This man does not prophesy peace for this people, but evil." [5]Then the king replied, "Behold, he is in your hands," for the king could not resist them. [6]So they cast him into the pit of Malchiah the king's son, who was in the court of the prison. They let Jeremiah down into the pit where there was no water, except for mud; thus he was in the mud.

[7]Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian was in the household of the king; and he heard they put Jeremiah into the pit, and that the king was at the Gate of Benjamin. [8]So he went out to the king and spoke to him, saying, [9]"You did evil in what you did, to kill this man by hunger, for there is no more bread in the city." [10]Then the king commanded Ebed-Melech, saying, "Take with you thirty men from here and lift him out of the pit, lest he die." [11]So Ebed-Melech took the men and entered into the underground area of the king's house. From there, they took old rags and old ropes and threw them down into the pit to Jeremiah. [12]Then he said, "Put these under the ropes," and Jeremiah did so. [13]So they pulled Jeremiah up with the ropes and lifted him out of the pit. But Jeremiah remained in the court of the prison.

Zedekiah Converses with Jeremiah

[14]Then the king sent and summoned Jeremiah to himself at the third entrance of the Lord's house. The king said to him, "I will ask you a question, and indeed do not hide anything from me." [15]Jeremiah replied to the king, "If I tell you, will you not surely put me to death? But if I advise you, you will not heed me." [16]So the king swore to him, saying, "As the Lord lives who made this soul in us, surely I will not put you to death, nor will I give you into the hands of these men."

[17]Jeremiah then said to him, "Thus says the Lord: 'If you will indeed go out to the leaders of the king of Babylon, your soul shall live, and this city shall not be burned with fire; and you and your house will live. [18]But if you do not go out, this city shall be delivered into the hands of the Chaldeans. They shall burn it with fire, and you will not escape.' " [19]The king said to Jeremiah, "I am afraid of the Judeans who fled to the Chaldeans, lest they deliver me into their hands, and they mock me." [20]But Jeremiah said, "They will not deliver you. Hear the word of the Lord I speak to you, and it will be good for you; and your soul will live. [21]But if you refuse to go out, this is the word the Lord showed me: [22]'Behold, all the women who were left behind in the house of the king of Judah and were led out to the rulers of the king of Babylon said, "Your peace-loving men deceived you and will prevail against you. They will cause your feet to slide and fail, and will turn away from you.” [23]They will also lead out your wives and children to the Chaldeans, and you shall not escape; for you will be taken by the hand of the king of Babylon, and this city shall be burned.’ ”

[24]Then the king said to him, “Let no man know of these words, and you shall not die. [25]But if the rulers hear that I talked with you, and they come to you and say, ‘Tell us, what did the king say to you? Do not hide it from us, and we will not put you to death. So what did the king say to you?’ [26]Then you shall say to them, ‘I brought my supplications before the presence of the king, that he would not send me back to the house of Jonathan to die there.’ ” [27]Then all the rulers came to Jeremiah and asked him, and he told them all these words the king commanded him. So they were silent, for the word of the Lord was not to be heard. [28]Jeremiah then remained in the court of the prison until the time Jerusalem was taken.

The Fall of Jerusalem

[1]Now it came to pass in the ninth year of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem and besieged it. [2]Then in the eleventh year of Zedekiah, in the fourth month, on the ninth day of the month, the city was broken apart. [3]All the leaders of the king of Babylon went in and sat in the middle gate: Nergal-Sharezer, Samgar-Nebo, Sarsechim, Rabsaris, Nergal-Sarezer, and Rabmag, with the rest of the rulers of the king of Babylon.

Jeremiah Is Released to Gedaliah

[4]They sent and took Jeremiah from the court of the prison, and committed him to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan; then they brought him out and sat him in the midst of the people.

[5]The word of the Lord then came to Jeremiah in the court of the prison, saying, [6]“Go and say to Ebed-Melech the Ethiopian, ‘Thus says the Lord God of Israel: “Behold, I will bring My words upon this city for calamities and not for good. [7]But I shall deliver you in that day, and I shall not give you into the hands of the men before whose presence you are afraid. [8]For I shall surely deliver you, and you shall not fall by the sword. Instead, your life shall be as finding a treasure, because you trusted in Me," says the Lord.' "

Jeremiah 47

Jeremiah with the Governor of Judah

[1]The word came from the Lord to Jeremiah after Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard released him from Ramah, when he took him in manacles in the midst of the captivity of Judah, those being led into Babylon. [2]The captain of the guard took him and said to him, "The Lord your God pronounced all these calamities upon this place, [3]and the Lord did this because you did not heed His voice. [4]Behold, I have freed you from the manacles placed on your hands. If it seems good to you to come with me to Babylon, come, and I will look after you. [5]But if not, run hard and return to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babylon appointed over the land of Judah, and dwell with him among the people in the land of Judah. Go wherever in your eyes it seems best to go." Then the chief of the guard gave him rations and a gift and sent him away. [6]So Jeremiah came to Gedaliah at Mizpah and remained among the people who were left in the land.

[7]Now all the leaders of the army in the field, they and their men, heard the king of Babylon had appointed Gedaliah to govern over the land, and that he entrusted to him their men and women whom he had not carried away captive to Babylon. [8]Then Ishmael the son of Nethaniah came to Gedaliah at Mizpah, along with Johanan the son of Kareah, Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth, the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the son of Mechati, they and their men. [9]Gedaliah swore an oath to them and their men, saying, "Do not be afraid in the presence of the servants of the Chaldeans. Dwell in the land and work for the king of Babylon; for it shall be beneficial for you. [10]Behold, I sit in your presence at Mizpah to stand before the Chaldeans who come against us. Gather together wine and fruit, together with olive oil, and put them in your containers. Dwell in the cities you possess." [11]Then all the Jews in Moab, and those among the children of Ammon, and those in Edom, and those in all the land heard the king of Babylon had granted a remnant in Judah and set over them Gedaliah the son of Ahikam. [12]So they came to Gedaliah in the land of Judah at Mizpah, and gathered together a great abundance of wine, fruit, and olive oil.

[13]Then Johanan the son of Kareah and all the field leaders of the army came to Gedaliah at Mizpah. 14They said to him, “Do you indeed know that king Baalis of the sons of Ammon has sent Ishmael to slay you?” But Gedaliah did not believe them. 15Then Johanan spoke secretly to Gedaliah at Mizpah, “Indeed, I shall go and smite Ishmael, but let no one know it, lest he take your life, and all Judah gathered to you be scattered by him, and the remnant in Judah perish.” 16But Gedaliah said to Johanan, “Do not do this deed, for you speak lies concerning Ishmael.”

Jeremiah 48

Uprising against Gedaliah

1Now it came to pass in the seventh month that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the royal family, came with ten men to Gedaliah at Mizpah. There they ate bread together. 2Then Ishmael and the ten men with him arose and struck Gedaliah, whom the king of Babylon appointed over the land, 3and all the Jews with him at Mizpah, and all the Chaldeans found there.

4It came to pass on the second day after he struck Gedaliah, while no one yet knew, 5that eighty men came from Shechem, Salem, and Samaria with beards shaved, tearing their clothes and beating their breasts. In their hands were manna and frankincense to bring into the house of the Lord. 6Now Ishmael went out to meet with them, and they walked and wept. He said to them, “Come to Gedaliah.” 7Then it came to pass that when they entered into the midst of the city, he killed them at the well. 8But ten men were found there among them, and they said to Ishmael, “Do not kill us, for we have treasures of wheat, barley, honey, and oil in the field.” So he passed by and did not kill them in the midst of their brethren. 9Now the well into which Ishmael cast all whom he killed is the great well King Asa made for fear of Baasha king of Israel. Thus Ishmael filled this with the slain. 10After this, Ishmael brought back all the people left in Mizpah, including the daughter of the king whom the captain of the guard committed to Gedaliah the son of Ahikam; then he went away beyond the sons of Ammon.

11But Johanan the son of Kareah and all the leaders of the army with him heard of all the evil things Ishmael did, 12and they brought their entire army to wage war against him. They found him near the great pool in Gibeon. 13So it came to pass, when all the people with Ishmael saw Johanan and the leaders of the army with him, [14]they returned to Johanan. [15]But Ishmael escaped with eight men and went to the sons of Ammon. [16]Then Johanan and all the leaders of the army with him brought back all of the remaining people whom he took from Ishmael: the mighty men of war, all the women and the rest, and the eunuchs, whom they brought back from Gibeon. [17]They departed and encamped in Gaberoth-Chimham towards Bethlehem to go into Egypt, [18]away from the presence of the Chaldeans; for they were afraid of them because Ishmael killed Gedaliah, whom the king of Babylon appointed over the land.

Do Not Go to Egypt

[1]All the leaders of the army, Johanan and Azariah the son of Mahseiah, and all the people, from the least to the greatest, [2]came to Jeremiah the prophet and said to him, “Let our supplication now come before your face, and pray to the Lord your God concerning those who remain, for we few are left out of the many, as your eyes see. [3]Let the Lord your God proclaim to us the way wherein we should walk and the thing we should do.” [4]Then Jeremiah said to them, “I hear you. Behold, I will pray to the Lord our God according to your words, and it shall come to pass, whatever word the Lord shall answer I will declare to you. I will not conceal any word from you.” [5]They said to Jeremiah, “Let the Lord be between us as a righteous and faithful witness, if we will do every word the Lord sends us, [6]and whether it be good or evil, we will heed the voice of the Lord our God to whom we send you, that it may be beneficial for us; for we will heed the voice of the Lord our God.”

[7]So it came to pass that the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah after ten days. [8]Thus he called Johanan, and all the leaders of the army, and all the people, from the least even to the greatest, [9]and said to them, “Thus says the Lord: [10]‘If you will indeed stay in this land, I will build you up and not pull you down. I will plant you and not pluck you up; for I will put an end to the calamities I did to you. [11]Do not be afraid of the king of Babylon, whom you fear. Do not be afraid of him,’ says the Lord, ‘because I am with you to deliver you, and to save you from his hand. [12]I will show you compassion and have mercy on you. I will return you to your land.’

[13]“But if you say, ‘We will not stay in this land, so as not to heed the voice of the Lord; [14]for we shall go into the land of Egypt, where we will not see war, nor hear the sound of the trumpet, nor be hungry for bread, and there we will dwell’; [15]then hear the word of the Lord: Thus says the Lord: ‘If you have set your face to Egypt to enter and dwell there, [16]then it shall be that the sword you feared shall find you in the land of Egypt, and the famine of which you have regard shall overtake you in Egypt; and there you shall die. [17]So all the men and all the foreigners who set their faces to the land of Egypt to dwell there, they shall die by the sword and famine. Not one of them shall escape from the evils I will bring upon them.’

[18]“For thus says the Lord: ‘As My anger fell upon the inhabitants of Jerusalem, so shall My anger fall upon you when you enter Egypt. You shall be as an impassable land and under the authority of others. You shall be as a curse and a disgrace, and you shall see this place no more.’ [19]These are the words the Lord said concerning you, O remnant of Judah: ‘Do not go to Egypt.’ So now, know this as a certainty, [20]that you did evil in your souls when you sent to me, saying, ‘Pray for us to the Lord, and according to all the Lord speaks to you we will do.’ [21]But you did not heed the voice of the Lord which He sent me for you. [22]So now you shall die by the sword and by famine in the place you desire to go and dwell.”

Jeremiah Brought to Egypt

[1]Then it came to pass, as Jeremiah ceased speaking to the people all the words of the Lord for which the Lord sent him to them, even all these words, [2]that Azariah the son of Mahseiah, Johanan the son of Kareah, and all the men who spoke to Jeremiah said, “That is a lie. The Lord did not send you to us, saying, ‘Do not enter Egypt to dwell there.’ [3]But Baruch the son of Neriah set you against us that you might deliver us into the hands of the Chaldeans, to kill us or to send us as captives to Babylon.” [4]So Johanan, all the leaders of the army, and all the people refused to heed the voice of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Judah. [5]Thus Johanan and all the leaders of the army took the entire remnant of Judah who returned to dwell in the land: [6]the mighty men, the women and children, the daughters of the king, and the souls Nebuzaradan left with Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, together with Jeremiah the prophet and Baruch the son of Neriah. [7]They entered Egypt; for they did not heed the voice of the Lord, but entered Tahpanhes.

8Then the word of the Lord came to Jeremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, 9"Take for yourself large stones and hide them in the entrance, at the gate to the house of Pharaoh in Tahpanhes, in the sight of the men of Judah. 10Then you shall say, 'Thus says the Lord: "Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon. He will set his throne upon these stones you hid and spread his weapons upon them. 11He shall enter in and strike the land of Egypt. He shall deliver some for death, and those for captivity to captivity, and those for the sword to the sword. 12He shall kindle a fire in the houses of their gods and shall burn them. He will carry them away captive, and search the land of Egypt as a shepherd searches his garment for lice; then he shall go from there in peace. 13He shall break into pieces the pillars of the sun in On, and he shall burn their houses with fire." '

Jeremiah 51

The Disobedient Jews Are Judged in Egypt

1The word came to Jeremiah for all the Jews dwelling in the land of Egypt and staying in Migdol, and in Tahpanhes, and in the land of Pathros, saying, 2"Thus says the Lord God of Israel: 'You saw all the calamities I brought upon Jerusalem and the cities of Judah. Behold, they are desolate without inhabitants because of their evils 3which they committed to provoke Me, by burning incense to other gods they did not know. 4Yet early in the morning, I sent you My servants the prophets. I sent them, saying, "Do not do this deed of defilement which I hate." 5But they did not listen to Me, nor did they incline their ear to turn from their evils of burning incense to other gods. 6So My wrath and anger fell upon them and was kindled in the cities of Judah and outside Jerusalem. They became as a desolation and impassable, as it is this day.'

7"So now, thus says the Lord Almighty: 'Why do you commit great evils against your souls, to cut off your man and woman, and your child and infant, from the midst of Judah? Your evils did not leave one of you as a remnant, 8because you provoked Me with the works of your hands by burning incense to other gods in the land of Egypt, in which you entered to dwell. You cut yourself off so as to become a curse and a disgrace among all the nations of the earth. [9]Have you forgotten the evils of your fathers, the evils of the kings of Judah, the evils of your rulers, and the evils of your wives, which they committed in the land of Judah and outside Jerusalem? [10]They have not ceased even to this day, nor have they cleaved to My statutes, which I gave in the presence of their fathers.'

[11]"Therefore, thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I set My face against you [12]to destroy all the remnant in Egypt. They shall fall by the sword and by famine; and they shall die, from the least to the greatest. They shall be as a disgrace, a destruction, and a curse. [13]I shall visit those who dwell in the land of Egypt as I visited Jerusalem with the sword, famine, and death. [14]Of those left in Judah and who dwell in the land of Egypt, there shall not be any of them who shall return to the land of Judah, to which they hope in their hearts to return; but only those who escape shall return.' "

[15]Then all the men who knew their wives burned incense to other gods, and all the great assembly of women, and all the people who stayed in the land of Egypt, in Pathros, answered Jeremiah, saying, [16]"As for the word you spoke to us in the name of the Lord, we will not listen to you. [17]For we will certainly do every word which proceeds from our mouth, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and to pour out drink-offerings to her, as we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, have done in the cities of Judah and outside Jerusalem. For we were full of bread; and we were well-off and saw no calamities. [18]But since we stopped burning incense to the queen of heaven, we are all diminished and have died by sword and famine. [19]But while we burned incense to the queen of heaven and poured out drink offerings to her, did we make cakes to her and pour out drink-offerings to her without our husbands?"

[20]Then Jeremiah spoke to all the people: the mighty men, the women, and all the people conversing with him, saying, [21]"Did not the Lord remember the incense you burned in the cities of Judah and outside Jerusalem, you and your fathers, your kings and rulers, and the people of the land, and did it not come into His heart? [22]The Lord could no longer bear with your evil deeds and with the abominations you committed. Thus your land became as a desolation, as impassable, and as a curse, as it is this day. [23]Because you burned incense and sinned against the Lord, and did not heed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in His ordinances, His law, and His testimonies—therefore, these calamities came upon you."

[24]Jeremiah also said to the people and to the women, "Hear the word of the Lord. 25Thus says the Lord God of Israel: ‘You wives spoke with your mouth and fulfilled with your hands, saying, “We will surely keep the confessions we made, to burn incense to the queen of heaven and to pour out drink offerings to her.” You certainly stood fast and performed your confessions.’ 26Therefore hear the word of the Lord, all Judah who dwell in the land of Egypt: ‘Behold, I swore by My great name,’ says the Lord, ‘that My name shall no more be in the mouth of everyone of Judah, to say, “The Lord and Master lives in all the land of Egypt.” 27For behold, I have watched over them to harm them, and not to do them good. For all the men of Judah who dwell in the land of Egypt shall die by sword and famine, until they cease to be. 28Yet those few in number who escape the sword shall return to the land of Judah. But the remnant of Judah who stayed in the land of Egypt to dwell there shall know whose word will remain steadfast. 29This shall be a sign for you that I will visit you for evil.’ 30Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I will give Hophra king of Egypt into the hands of his enemy and into the hands of those who seek his life, as I gave Zedekiah king of Judah into the hands of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, his enemy who sought his life.’ ”

A Promise to Baruch

31The word Jeremiah the prophet spoke to Baruch the son of Neriah when he wrote these words in the book from the mouth of Jeremiah, in the fourth year of Jehoiakim the son of Josiah, king of Judah, saying, 32“Thus the Lord spoke to you, O Baruch: 33‘Because you said, “Alas! alas! for the Lord added pain upon pain to me. I laid down in groaning, but found no rest.’ ” 34Thus you shall say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I pull down those whom I built up, and I pluck up those whom I planted. 35So will you seek great things for yourself? Do not seek them, for behold, I will bring calamities upon all flesh,” says the Lord. “But I will give you life, as finding a treasure in every place, wherever you go.” ’ ”

Jeremiah 52

The Death of Zedekiah

1Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 2Then it came to pass in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, that Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came with all his army against Jerusalem. They surrounded it with a fortress and encircled it with stones. [3]The city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah, [4]on the ninth day of the month. The famine became severe in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the land.

[5]Then the city was broken through, and all the men of war went out at night by way of the gate, between the wall and the outwork, next to the garden of the king; for at the time the Chaldeans surrounded the entire city. They went by the road to Arabah. [6]But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king and overtook him in the country beyond Jericho; and all his servants were scattered from him. [7]They took the king and brought him to the king of Babylon at Riblah; and he pronounced judgment against him. [8]In Riblah, the king of Babylon slaughtered the sons of Zedekiah and all the rulers of Judah before his eyes. [9]He blinded the eyes of Zedekiah and bound him in shackles; and the king of Babylon brought him to Babylon, and placed him in the mill house until he died.

Destruction of Jerusalem Reviewed

[10]Now in the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month, Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, who served before the king of Babylon, came to Jerusalem. [11]He burned the house of the Lord and the king’s house, and all the houses of the city. Every great house he burned with fire. [12]Then the army of the Chaldeans, with the captain of the guard, pulled down every wall round about Jerusalem. [13]But the captain of the guard left the remnant of the people to be vinedressers and farmers.

[14]The Chaldeans also broke in pieces the bronze pillars of the house of the Lord, and the pedestals and the bronze Sea in the house of the Lord, and they carried all their bronze to Babylon. [15]The captain of the guard also took away the rim, the bowl, the meat-hooks, and all the brazen vessels in which they ministered, [16]and the basins, the snuffers, the oil-funnels, the candlesticks, the censers, the golden cups, and the silver cups, [17]and two pillars, the one Sea, and the twelve bronzed calves under the Sea, which King Solomon made for the house of the Lord, and the bronze artifacts which were beyond measure.

[18]As for the pillars, the height of one pillar was thirty-five cubits, and a line of twelve cubits measured the circumference. It was four fingers in thickness. [19]And a bronze border was upon them, and the length was five cubits, the height of one border. Around the capital was a network and pomegranates, all made of bronze. Similarly, the second pillar had eight pomegranates for each of the twelve cubits. [20]There were ninety-six pomegranates on each side, and all the pomegranates all around on the network were one hundred.

The Captives Are Brought to Babylon

[21]The captain of the guard took the chief priest, the second priest, and the three who kept the door, [22]and one eunuch who was over the men of war, and seven men found in the city who were renowned before the presence of the king, the scribe of the armies who communicated to the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land found in the midst of the city. [23]So Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them and brought them to the king of Babylon at Riblah. [24]Then the king of Babylon put them to death at Riblah, in the land of Hamath.

Jehoiachin Freed from Prison

[25]Now it came to pass that in the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-fourth day of the month, Evil-Merodach king of Babylon, in the year which he reigned, lifted up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah and brought him out from the house where he was imprisoned. [26]He spoke kindly to him and set his throne above the thrones of the kings who were with him in Babylon. [27]He also changed his prison garment, and Jehoiachin ate his food in the presence of the king all the days of his life. [28]His appointed portion was always given to him by the king of Babylon, from day to day until his death.

The Prophets

The holy Prophets of Israel played a unique and critical role in their society. They repeatedly called the people back to their commitment to obey and worship only the one true God; they warned of foreign invasions; they protested against social and economic injustice; and they even rebuked kings face to face for their sinfulness (2Kg 12:1–15; 3Kg 18:17, 18; 20:1–29; 2Ch 12:1–8; 16:7–10). In times of crisis they were consulted by kings to discern the Lord's will (4Kg 3:5–20; 8:7–15; 22:8–20; Jer 21:1–14). Yet their most significant task was prophesying about the coming of the Messiah, the King of Kings.

Through prayer, asceticism, repentance, and the practice of virtue, the Prophets were particularly receptive to the Holy Spirit—He "Who spoke by the Prophets," as the Nicene Creed declares. St. Basil the Great writes, "In souls pure and cleansed from all defilement, the prophetic gift shines clear." Most unique was the preparation received by St. John the Baptist, the greatest of the Prophets (Mt 11:7–14), who was "filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother's womb" (Lk 1:15).

The backgrounds of the Prophets were varied. Amos was a shepherd (Am 1:1; 7:14, 15), Ezekiel a priest (Ezk 1:1–3), Daniel a young nobleman reared in captivity at the royal court in Babylon (Dan 1:3–6), Deborah a judge and military leader (Jdg 4:1–5:31), and Huldah was the wife of the keeper of the king's wardrobe (4Kg 22:14). Also varied were their responses to the Lord's call. For example, Moses and Jeremiah protested (Ex 3:7–4:17; Jer 1:4–6), and Jonah immediately tried to flee from the Lord (Jon 1:1–3). Isaiah, on the other hand, though acutely aware of his own sinfulness said, "Here am I, send me" (6:8). Moses, Jeremiah (Jer 1:7–2:2), and Ezekiel (Ezk 2:1–3:14) all received repeated reassurances from the Lord that He would be with them to strengthen them in fulfilling their prophetic calling.

The Prophets vividly demonstrated their willingness to obey the Lord when asked to do unusual things in dramatized prophecies. Ezekiel drew a picture of Jerusalem on a clay tablet and pretended to besiege it (Ezk 4:1–3); he was also asked to take a sword and cut off his hair and beard and burn part of it (5:1–13; see 12:1–15). Jeremiah buried a linen sash by the Euphrates River (Jer 13:1–11); Isaiah walked naked and barefoot for three years (Is 20:1–6); Hosea was commanded to marry a harlot (Hos 1:1–3).

Sometimes the Prophets experienced fierce opposition from the authorities—kings, priests, and even other prophets—who resented the condemnatory messages being delivered. Micaiah was slapped and imprisoned for being the only one of about four hundred prophets who dared to tell King Ahab of Israel the true word of the Lord (3Kg 22:2–38). Jeremiah was threatened with death by his fellow citizens of Anathoth (Jer 11:19–23) and later by the priests and the false prophets (33:1–19); and he was imprisoned under King Zedekiah (44:1–21; see 20:1, 2). The priest of Bethel tried to expel Amos out of Israel (Am 7:10–13). According to tradition, Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Amos all were executed, as was St. John the Baptist (Mt 14:1–12; see Lk 11:47–51; Mt 23:29–37; 2Ch 24:17–22; Jer 33:20–23; Heb 11:32–38).

At times certain Prophets even wanted to die, such as Elijah (3Kg 19:1–4) and Jonah (Jon 4:1–3). But the Prophets always reaffirmed their reliance upon God's will and their hope in His mercy (Lam 3:21–41). In this, as well as in their sufferings for our Lord's sake, the holy Prophets serve as important examples for us who have received, at our Baptism and Chrismation, the gift of the same Holy Spirit who came upon them.

2:2, 3 This is ironic, since Israel never was committed entirely to the Lord. Yet in the faithfulness of the patriarchs and prophets, Israel can be said to have been faithful. Ultimately, however, the passage depicts God's relationship with all nations. Although they were taken over by enemies, God redeemed them through the Holy One of Israel, who is Christ.

2:10 Chettim is Cyprus and other Greek islands; Kedar is a region in northern Arabia.

2:13 In both the old covenant and the new, the problem is the same: people forsake God, the living water, and damage the cisterns or containers, the places of God's dwelling. As Orthodox believers, therefore, we adhere both to Christ and His Church.

2:23 Baal was the idol-god of neighboring nations, and the unfaithful Jews became his disciples. Following this or any false god leads to death, a common burial place.

2:36 Repeat your ways is literally "redouble your path." When we sin, we usually do the same things over and over again.

3:6–10 Israel's apostasy from God is described as fornication (v. 7), adultery (v. 8), and being faithless (v. 10). These words are those of the Lord (v. 6). This is not only bodily sin, "but any sin you have committed" (GrgNa).

3:15–18 This is the first great messianic prophecy of Jeremiah. It finds its fulfillment in: (1) faithful shepherds (v. 15), the apostles; (2) the Holy One of Israel (v. 16), our Lord Jesus Christ; (3) Jerusalem the Throne of the Lord (v. 17), which looks ahead to the eternal Kingdom (Rev 21:2; 22:1); and (4) the inclusion of the Gentiles (v. 17), which speaks of the Church.

3:19 The God of Israel is here prophetically called God of the Gentiles, who is the Father. Thus, when the disciples ask Jesus how to pray, His answer begins with "Our Father" (Lk 11:1, 2).

4:4 Circumcise . . . your heart: St. Cyprian tells us "the first circumcision of the flesh is made void, and the second circumcision of the spirit is promised instead" (see Col 2:11). He further notes, "Then, because that sign did not avail women, but all are sealed by the sign of the Lord" (that is, Holy Baptism).

4:14 Wash the vices from your heart: "It is not the filth of the body, but the impurity of the soul, to which God is averse" (JohnChr).

4:22 The Lord specifies that those most responsible for Israel's apostasy are her leaders. What is wrong? They do not know Me. Throughout Christian history there have been many secular and religious leaders open to the same charge. St. Paul advises, "from such people turn away!" (2Ti 3:5).

5:1 The implication is, there are none to be found in Jerusalem seeking faithfulness to whom the Lord can be merciful.

5:4 Poor . . . do not know the way of the Lord: "The poor man is . . . he who lacks the great doctrines, as is the view also of the prophet" (BasilG).

5:10 The foundations . . . belong to the Lord: Despite her faithlessness, still the foundations of the city are established by God.

5:13 Our prophets were as wind: In modern idiom, they were full of hot air! St. Jude called them

"clouds without water" and "autumn trees without fruit" (Jude 12).

5:19 Foreign gods: The Greek word used to describe false gods suggests "strangeness" or "an alien disposition." Here, the Lord uses that meaning to promise Judah that the kinds of gods they worship will determine the kind of life they live. This is true for all people, not just Judah.

5:23–28 When God's people have an inattentive and disobedient heart (v. 23), they not only miss the good things He offers (v. 25), they neglect the orphan and the widow (v. 28). When dedication to the Lord is compromised, social justice is not to be found.

6:1 Beth Haccerem: St. Jerome taught this was located between Tekoa, Amos' birthplace, and Jerusalem.

6:5 Destroy her foundations: The ancient method of leveling a city was to uproot its very foundations.

6:9 See Lam 1:22. To glean a vine is to strip it of all its fruit, leaving it desolate, as is promised with the coming attack on Israel.

6:10 As in 4:4, circumcision was always understood to be a spiritual act. Without a circumcised heart, circumcision is in vain—just as an unbaptized heart pollutes our baptism.

6:16 St. Athanasius connects this passage with Jn 14:6, where Jesus says, "I am the way, the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me."

6:17 The watchmen are the prophets, as distinguished from the shepherds who led the communities.

6:18 Ironically, the call to holiness is heard outside Israel, pointing to the opening of Israel to the Gentiles.

6:20 Although sacrifice to God was still practiced in Israel, it was compromised by their idolatry, just as our worship is polluted if we participate in the liturgy, yet habitually do what it forbids. "For it was not because He was angry, like a man, as many venture to say, that He rejected their sacrifices; but out of compassion to their blindness" (Iren).

7:2 The captivity of Judah was not fated, but was God's appropriate response to the freely made decisions of a disobedient people.

7:10 Jesus cited this verse when cleansing the temple (Mt 21:13), suggesting that while in Jeremiah's day the question of the temple being a den of robbers was preposterous, by Christ's time it was a sad fact.

7:17 Cake dough: the Hebrew word chavon is transliterated into Greek. These were sweet breads dedicated to pagan gods, the host of heaven.

7:21, 22 The Lord highlights their obedience as more important than adhering to the letter of the command.

7:30 Tophet: The place where children were being sacrificed to Molech (4Kg 23:10). The sad end of this child sacrifice will be cannibalism, effected during the siege of Jerusalem (Bar 2:3).

7:32 The places of pagan sacrifice are prophesied to become a killing field.

8:1, 2 This desecration of the graves of the patriarchs and kings was executed by the Babylonians. The drying here refers to the heat of the sun. Although the saints whose bones were exposed were in no way to be worshiped, God desired that their exposure to the elements would finally convince Israel of her error.

8:8 These are apparently popular sayings, widespread among the people.

8:12 Gall to drink: Unsanitary water, the only kind to be had then in the city. While this was a proper corrective response to Israel's sin, they went far beyond this, later in time, by giving Christ, who knew no sin, "wine mingled with gall" (Mt 27:34).

8:17 Vanities is another term for idols.

8:18 The seasons of the siege, carried through the summer, not only match well the chronology of the Babylonian invasion (probably that of 597) but highlight how devastating a siege can be. No crops could be grown and harvested that year, while all the inhabitants of the greater territory crowded into the city walls to be saved from the terror.

8:20 Balm: A resin of mastix or terebinth, used for perfumes, medicines, and ointments. Gilead is sometimes a symbol for Israel, an area east of the Jordan River bordered by desert.

8:21 Jeremiah's tears remind us that God's punishments were not without purpose. God deeply cares for all whom He disciplines (Heb 12:5, 6), and He sends His rebuke to correct and transform us.

9:1 Jeremiah seeks to withdraw from his people since he is exasperated by their disobedience. "Thus, for wickedness and falsehood, and for deeds, in which they [proceed] from iniquity to iniquity, he reproves their practices; but, because they knew not the Lord, and were faithless, he charges them with unrighteousness" (AthanG).

9:10 Dwelling place of serpents: An especially diabolical image, given the habit of dragons or serpents to persecute the saints (Rev 12:7–9).

9:22 Boasting in oneself and one's capabilities is here forbidden. In our devotion to God, we are called to boast only in the glory of God or, in the words of the Apostle Paul, "Christ . . . crucified" (1Co 2:2).

9:25 "And to show how those from among the Gentiles were foretold as more true and more believing, we will cite what was said by [Jeremiah] the prophet; for he spoke as follows: 'Israel is uncircumcised in heart, but the Gentiles are uncircumcised in the flesh'" (Justin).

10:7 The gods that did not make heaven: "For 'by Him were all things made, and without Him was not anything made that was made,' which His Father also everywhere by the Prophets declares to be especially characteristic of His own Essence. And the Prophets are continually busy on this kind of demonstration, not only of itself, but when they contend against the honor shown to idols; 'Let the gods perish,' says one, 'who have not made heaven and earth'" (JohnChr).

10:8 The inhabited world: The Greek term oikoumene refers to the extent of the world that was civilized, not necessarily everywhere people lived. God is therefore the One who makes possible political stability, education, and other blessings of life.

10:16, 17 My tabernacle . . . is ruined: Mourning the loss of right worship, the Lord depicts His house in terms of the ancient tabernacle instead of Solomon's temple, which is about to be destroyed. Led by foolish shepherds who no longer seek Him, the people had shunned the pattern of worship that God had given to Moses on the mountain long ago (Ex 25:40). Those who would worship God "in spirit and truth" (Jn 4:24) must not neglect the gift of Holy Tradition handed down in the Scriptures and the Church, lest we be led astray and scattered.

10:20, 21 This prayer of Jeremiah is ultimately to be answered at the Judgment. But for now, Jews and Gentiles alike are invited to call upon the name of the Lord.

11:13 "Wherefore to Jeremiah also He said, 'Pray not for this people, for I will not hear thee,' not as wishing to stop his praying (for He earnestly longs for our salvation), but to terrify them: and this the prophet also seeing did not cease praying" (JohnChr).

📖 11:17–12:5, 9–11, 14, 15 This passage is read on Holy Thursday and Holy Friday.

11:18 Jeremiah here, as elsewhere, serves as a foreshadowing of Christ, the truly innocent lamb who was sacrificed by those who planned to exterminate His entire legacy.

11:20 Anathoth: See 1:1. This explains, in part, Christ's saying regarding the rejection of a prophet in his hometown (Lk. 4:24).

12:1 Here Jeremiah takes up a theme dealt with far more extensively in Job (see, for example, Job 12:6).

12:5 If we grow weary in the trials of ordinary life, how do we expect to handle swift horses or floods? The answer is, through Christ.

12:7, 8 The suffering of the Incarnate God. "Look with awe then at the Lord who was judged. He suffered Himself to be led and carried by soldiers. Pilate sat in judgment, and He who sits on the right hand of the Father, stood and was judged" (CyrJer).

12:14–16 Jeremiah quickly changes his audience to the Gentiles, promising them inclusion among the people of God should they learn to worship Him. The full reality of this was not encountered until the coming of Christ.

13:1 A linen sash was used as a loincloth.

13:4 The Euphrates: Although residing in Judah, Jeremiah is commanded to go to Babylon to hide the sash, then return later to uncover it. Although it is feasible Jeremiah took such a trip before the destruction of the city, it is more likely that God transported him. Whether this happened in the body or in the spirit is unclear.

13:7 Behold: The surprise is ironic. Jeremiah knew very well the cloth would be rotted, just as he knew Judah would be ruined by her pride. The rotten sash is a picture of Judah (vv. 10, 11).

13:17 This passage may be alternately translated, "If you will not hear it secretly, your soul will weep for your pride." That is, if you do not read the Law and the covenants spiritually, your soul will be left barren.

13:19 This verse suggests that Judah was so completely conquered, she provided a classic example of how a country would be deported from that time on.

13:26 I will uncover your backside to your face: Physically speaking, this is an impossibility—and therefore we must take it as a spiritual warning. Our backside is uncovered to our face when we become aware that our sins and faults are seen by the whole world!

14:1–10 The prophecy of a drought can refer to either a period without rain (v. 4) or the judgment of God (v. 10), or both.

14:13 Their prophets: Jeremiah identifies here a group of prophets who generally told the ruling class what they wanted to hear. Their prophets, not "our" prophets, suggests distance between them and the Lord.

14:22 Returning to the theme of the drought, Jeremiah identifies God with the coming of the rain, which He made.

15:1 God refuses Jeremiah's intercession, but this is not to suggest His punishment was irreversible, since Judah herself, by obeying the Lord, could have averted her own destruction.

15:3 Four ways: See Ezk 14:21. The inclusion of beasts highlights the fact that when the Creator is incensed against sinners, not even creation itself can hold back from rising against them.

15:9 The sun set . . . at noonday: ". . . plainly announced that obscuration of the sun which at the time of [Christ's] crucifixion took place from the sixth hour onwards, and that after this event, those days which were their festivals according to the law, and their songs, should be changed into grief and lamentation when they were handed over to the Gentiles" (Iren).

15:18 Deceitful water: St. Cyprian calls this "the resemblance of baptism," done under "a shadowy pretense." Presumably, this is a reference to baptisms performed by those who stand outside of communion with the Church.

15:19–21 God answers Jeremiah's prayer (vv. 15–18) for protection from his persecutors very graciously: I am with you to save you (v. 20).

16:1 Here Jeremiah serves as a model for virginity, a virtue to be fully enshrined in Christ and His Mother. While in the case of Jeremiah, the virginity undertaken highlights the imminence of captivity, in Christ's time it revealed the imminence of salvation.

16:5–7 Mourning and consolation are forbidden to Jeremiah. But whereas this was commanded to Jeremiah because of the disgrace of the nation, in Christ we will cease to mourn because of the glory of the Resurrection.

16:7 It is in light of the glory of the Resurrection that we Christians mourn the dead in Christ with the bread and cup of the Eucharist.

16:15 The Lord promises a restoration to the house of Israel that would eclipse the Exodus from Egypt. In like manner, our delivery from sin by the work of Christ eclipses both!

16:16 The fishermen and the hunters are the Babylonians and the Romans.

16:19–21 The repentance of the Gentiles is here foretold, a constant theme in the Book of Jeremiah.

17:1, 2 The shrub here is the tamarisk. St. Basil the Great notes, "it is an aquatic plant [it needs water], and yet it covers the desert. Thus Jeremiah compares it to the worst of characters—the double character." Later, St. James would write, "a double-minded man [is] unstable in all his ways" (Jam 1:8).

17:5 The heart is deep beyond all things: St. John Chrysostom labors the point that only God can know men's hearts, citing Ps 7:9; 1Kg 16:7; 2Chr 6:30; and Mt 9:3, 4.

17:15–23 Jeremiah delivers the word of the Lord that Israel should stop violating the Sabbath. The reward for obedience is a gathering of the nations into Jerusalem to offer sacrifice (vv. 21, 22). Although this was done after the exile, it was not completely fulfilled until the Gentiles joined the procession on the Day of Pentecost.

18:1–10 This is the passage referred to by St. Paul in Rom 9:21, and it highlights the Apostle's intention. The ability of the potter to do what he wants with his pots is always present. But God, as the good potter, does with His vessels according to the obedience or disobedience of the vessels. He makes good vessels, but vessels can choose evil and crumble in His hands without His intervention. But out of the rubble, the potter is able to recreate something beautiful.

18:18 As the Jews sought to devise a plan against Jeremiah to strike him down, so they also plotted against Christ, to destroy Him (Mk 3:6).

19:2 Graveyard: So called because the Israelites had offered their children to Baal and Molech there (vv. 4, 5). Also, this is the place where the people of Judah were to be buried after the siege.

19:9 The sin of cannibalism was later confessed by the people of Judah (7:31; Bar 2:3).

20:1 Pashhur: A priest and the first civil authority to try to coerce Jeremiah into giving false prophecy.

20:7–18 This is the song of complaint that Jeremiah offers to God from prison. Although tempted to neglect his call as a prophet, Jeremiah cannot help but act on it (v. 9).

20:13 A burst of exaltation in the midst of depression. Jeremiah exemplifies the attitude of hope found among martyrs. In facing evil persecution, the saints were always aware of the overwhelming power and authority of God.

20:15 Who brought the good news: This is the same concept as expressed in the NT when a boy was born, that is, the gospel.

20:17 Unending conception: Jeremiah wishes that his mother had simply carried his fetus with her to the grave.

21:1 Pashhur: A priest; a different Pashhur from the one mentioned in 20:1.

21:2 King of Babylon: Although rarely named in the LXX, Nebuchadnezzar is the one referred to.

21:8 The declaration of two paths of life and death was to remind Israel they had abandoned the Law, which also set forth these two ways for the people of Israel (Dt 30:15).

21:13 Sor: The same people who were the recipients of Ezekiel's prophecy in Ezk 26.

22:6 Gilead/Lebanon: The former was famous for its spices (8:20); the latter was renowned for its fine cedars.

22:11 Shallum: An alternative name for Jehoahaz. The custom of calling one person by different names is found throughout Scripture.

22:12 In the place: Egypt (4Kg 12:31–34; 2Chr 36:1–4).

22:15 They: Not only Ahaz, but all the deceased kings.

22:19 The type of death he incurred is recounted in 2Chr 36:6.

22:30 Zedekiah, the successor to Jeconiah, was his kinsman (2Chr 36:10).

23:3 God promises the increase of His flock without the assistance of the negligent shepherds.

23:4 This verse was fulfilled only in Christ, who puts an end to all fear and terror. He is love, and in perfect love there is no fear (1Jn 4:18).

23:5 Behold, days are coming: This phrase indicates the next prophecy deals with a great future event. Raise up for David the Righteous Orient: Christ is the Orient, the perfect light from the East whose Incarnation, death, descent, Resurrection, and Ascension rises to David. We sing of Christ at the sacraments of marriage and ordination, "Orient is His name."

23:6 The Lord our Righteousness is Jesus Christ, who will come that Judah and all people will be saved.

23:7, 8 See note on 16:15.

23:16 Speak from their own heart: The ultimate hallmark of a false prophet is that he is the source of his own "divine teaching," just as heretics are the human inventors of their own novelties.

23:17 Error of his heart is literally, "things they want," emphasizing that the fault lies in the decisions of the false prophets, not in some outside, compulsory force.

24:1–10 By distinguishing two baskets of figs, the Lord makes it clear that not every single person in the land was to be taken away into captivity, but only the worst. In fact, it seems that as some were to be deported, others of those already exiled were brought back. It may have been in light of this passage that our Lord Jesus Christ commanded us to judge a tree by its fruit (Mt 7:16–20).

25:1 Fourth year: 606/605 BC.
25:3 Thirteenth year: 605/604 BC. Twenty-third year: 595/594 BC.
25:14 Here begins the series of prophecies delivered against various nations surrounding Judah. Elam: A country east of Babylon.
25:18 My throne: Generally, the throne of a foreign power, but here the throne of God when He comes to include Elam in His inheritance.
26:1 By the River Euphrates: This took place when the army of Egypt came against Babylon, but was later defeated in Syria in the fourth year, or 606/605 BC.
26:7 Hoping to imitate the river Nile, the king of Egypt planned to cover the earth with Egyptian power.
26:8 Ethiopia/Libya/Lydians: Vassals and allies of Egypt.
26:10 Gilead/balm: See note on 8:20.
26:13 Migdol/Memphis: Cities in Egypt. Migdol is on the northeast border of Egypt near the delta; Memphis is close to modern-day Cairo.
26:14 Apis is the bull god or chosen calf of Memphis.
26:15 Greek sword: Interestingly, the LXX translators deemed it right to use an image of their own time (200 BC) to convey the meaning behind the Hebrew term (600 BC) for a "fierce army." This sword symbolized the swift ferocity of any ruler who would be comparable to Alexander the Great.
26:24 Ammon is the chief god of Thebes, located in upper Egypt.
26:26 God does not discipline His children without purpose, but does so with healing in view. Although most of the Book of Jeremiah deals with Judah's punishment, God always points out that it is righteous and purposeful correction.
27:1 This chapter and the following are the longest in Jeremiah and fall at the center of the book. Thus, the promises of the destruction of Babylon evenly split the warnings to Israel, showing that the Book of Jeremiah is not about the destruction of the people of God, but their restoration; not about the triumph of God's enemies, but their demise. After dealing with Egypt, which exiled Jehoahaz, Jeremiah deals with Babylon, which conquered Egypt.
27:2 Bel and Merodach are two famous Babylonian deities or idols.
27:3 Just as destruction came on Israel from the north, Babylon also falls at the hand of a power from the north: Persia.
27:4, 5 The demise of Babylon comes in the repentance of the children of Israel. In like manner, when we repent, our enemy and his demonic forces are routed.
27:16 See note on 26:16.
27:25 The vessels of His wrath are political powers with whom God is angry, yet whom He nevertheless uses to accomplish His will on earth. It is in this sense that the same phrase is used by the apostle Paul in Rom 9:22, likely reflecting on the way God used Babylon.
27:34 Redemption is carried out by the Lord Almighty, so it should be no wonder that Christ, our Redeemer, is Lord and God.
27:39 The islands are either the colonies of Babylon in the Mediterranean, or a reference to her ultimate expansive size.
28:7 See note on 27:25.
28:11 King of the Medes: possibly King Cyaxares, later conquered by Cyrus the Great in 500 BC.
28:13 Babylon's fall comes through her own gluttony, a reminder to us all that we place our end in the things we crave, whether God or material goods.
28:27 Ararat is an area in modern-day Turkey, where the ark rested (Gn 8:4). The Ashkenaz are the Scythians, a people then located in modern-day Armenia.
28:55 Fourth year: 593 BC. Quartermaster: Literally, "governor of the gifts."
28:60 Just as he did with Judah, God sends His messenger to Babylon, about to sink or be destroyed, which dramatizes the threat.
29:1, 2 The Philistines were also called "foreign tribes" who inhabited the land of Canaan. This descriptive title foreshadows the eventual gathering of all nations, tongues, and tribes as the people of God. St. Ambrose reminds us that calling the Philistines by this name teaches us to love our enemies, since there were far worse names an enemy could be called.

30:1 Teman was a grandson of Esau (Gn 36:15).

30:2 Dedan: A town in the desert toward the Arabian peninsula.

30:8 Messengers may also be translated "angels." Either is appropriate, given that the struggle of war was occurring on the spiritual level as well as the political.

30:22 Kedar: The descendants of the son of Ishmael (Gn 25:13). The sons of Kedem were associated with the Ammonites (see Ezk 25:4, 10).

30:28 Hamath is where King Zedekiah would be sentenced by Nebuchadnezzar (52:27).

30:32 Ben-Hadad is a king in Damascus who plundered Israel (4Kg 13:3).

31:12 Horns are a dual symbol of power and of a wine cup. God intends to put an end to both their power and their merriment.

31:13 Bethel is a reference to the golden calf set up as an idol in Israel (3Kg 12:29).

31:18 Although once entrenched in glory and security, Moab will soon be entrenched in a damp place, likely a swamp.

31:33 This shout is a cry of dismay made by workers at the winepresses.

32:1 Here Jeremiah sums up the previous six chapters, the natural place for such a passage. God's judgment is prophesied for all the nations, including Israel and Judah.

32:20 The day of the Lord comes at the end of the age, when judgment is accomplished. This passage must therefore be understood prophetically, since there has never been a time in history when the Lord has judged His people completely over all the earth. Every sin will be slain, every demon vanquished, at the final coming of Christ our King.

33:1, 2 This prophecy was given before the destruction of the Temple, the house of the Lord.

33:14, 15 Here Jeremiah foreshadows Christ, who was also unjustly slandered, yet allowed the wicked and unjust to have their way with Him and shed innocent blood.

33:16 Rulers: This is the first indication in the book that the leadership is beginning to hear Jeremiah's message.

33:18 This refers to the prophet Micah (Mic 1:1). The prophecy in question comes from Mic 3:12.

33:20–23 Micah's example of fair treatment is now contrasted with the case of an otherwise unknown prophet who was persecuted to the ends of the earth. As we listen to the prophets of Israel, we likewise read the writings of the Fathers of the Church who faithfully proclaimed God's oracles, interpreting rightly the Holy Scriptures.

34:7 This is sound advice for those who give heed to the fortune tellers, false prophets, and cult leaders of our day.

34:14 This does not mean that the vessels will never be returned, for they were (Bar 1:8). The false prophets were delivering a false word.

35:1 Fourth year/fifth month: 593 BC.

35:3 Vessels: See note on 34:14.

35:10 Hananiah symbolizes an early return of the exiles by breaking Jeremiah's yokes or shackles. Implied here as well is that he freed Jeremiah from his confinement, an act that was calculated to win Jeremiah's support. The true prophet, unlike Hananiah, refuses to heed the flattery and vain promises of men.

36:1 The words of the letter: A similar letter was sent by Jeremiah in the Epistle of Jeremiah.

36:3 King Zedekiah could send this letter safely since he was essentially a vassal of Babylon at that time.

36:5–7 This passage beautifully summarizes the Christian struggle in this life. We live in a dry and barren land, in exile from our true homeland, which is Christ's holy kingdom. But we learn to live within our exile, enlarging the Church and becoming a blessing even to those hostile to us. The gardens are literally "paradises." Hence, the passage admonishes planting and cultivating a life that resembles heaven on earth.

36:10 Seventy years: Jeremiah speaks both historically and mystically. There was a return of exiles under Cyrus after seventy years. During His earthly ministry, Christ chose seventy men to be heralds of the Gospel (Lk 10:1–20). These seventy lived a godly life of obedience to Christ, suffering martyrdom and spreading the Kingdom—the true regathering from exile in the world.

36:14 A prophecy of the Incarnation, when God the Son truly will appear to us in His flesh.

36:24 The suggestion seems to be that Jeremiah had Zephaniah read aloud his very own rebuke.

37:8 This, of course, never happened to fleshly Israel. Only with the coming of Christ were God's people liberated from the control of foreigners.

37:9 David their king is a reference to the Messiah, both the Lord God and the final king of David's line.

37:15–20 A prophecy of the coming of Christ and His judgment. The children (v. 17) are the faithful who enter the Church. Testimonies (v. 17) translates the Greek word martyria, pointing to the martyrs of Christ.

38:1–14 An extended prophecy of the compassion of Christ for the Church.

38:4 O virgin of Israel: The renewal of Israel includes moral purity, pointing to the Virgin who truly sanctified Israel by giving birth to Him who is the source of true purity, Christ our God.

38:5 The vineyard in Samaria speaks of the establishment of the gospel among the Gentiles.

38:8 The Passover, later to be known as Pascha or Easter. This is an explicit prophecy of the crucifixion of Christ, which happened on the Passover, thereby bringing a great multitude into the kingdom of God.

38:12 The fruitful tree speaks of the cross.

38:15 Here we are reminded of the slaughter of the Holy Innocents of Bethlehem (Mt 2:18).

38:22 The new planting is the Church, the new Israel, as well as the New Testament (1Co 3:6–8).

38:30 In the gospel it is made clear that no one person will be guilty of the sins of another, only of his own sin.

38:33 The implanting of the new covenant, the law in the heart, was clearly effected with the coming of Christ (2Co 3:3; Heb 10:15–18).

38:34 The prophet points to the giving of the Holy Spirit to the Church so that knowledge of and communion with God can be for all men, not just for holy prophets and kings as in the old covenant.

39:1 Tenth year: 587 BC, the beginning of the siege of Jerusalem.

39:6–12 This incident reveals that the prophet had hope in the field he purchased, even though he was aware of the impending disaster. But the purchase took place outside of Jerusalem in an unprotected area, revealing that the Jews were to leave Jerusalem and become servants in Babylon.

39:35 The Greek word translated to offer has a sacrificial connotation, the exact word used in the anaphora of the Eucharist. This makes the deed all the more horrible, that Israel saw the death of their children to be an acceptable sacrifice to a god.

39:39, 40 See note on 38:33.

39:40 Everlasting covenant: After this prophecy, only the covenant of Jesus Christ was of an eternal nature.

39:41 Jeremiah emphasizes that the new covenant will be made on the basis of faithfulness, not the letter of the Law.

40:6 Christ alone brings healing for our wounds. The service of healing is a sacrament in the Church (see Jam 5:14–16).

41:5 The LXX transliterates a generic Semitic word for lord to prevent any confusion resulting from a use of the Greek word kurios, translated "Lord," a reference to God.

41:8–11 Jeremiah reiterates the prophecy of the coming destruction of the land, linking it this time to slavery and servitude. For Christians, this is a lesson in forgiveness and becoming the servants of others. For, if we do not forgive others, God will not forgive us (Mt 6:14, 15). If we want to become great in the kingdom of God, we must become servants to others (Mk 10:43, 44).

41:9 Setting his servant free comes in obedience to the Law (Dt 15:12–15).

42:2 The Rechabites were a nomadic people who had been forced by the approaching Babylonian troops to enter Jerusalem, meaning they would endure the siege of the city.

42:3 This Jeremiah is different from the prophet, who was commanded not to marry (16:1, 2).

42:18, 19 God promises to bless those who obey their father, a point which highlights the apostle

Paul's reflection on those who live without the Mosaic Law, yet nevertheless have a law of their own (Rom 2:14, 15).

43:1 Fourth year: 606/605 BC.

43:2 This chapter chronicles the writing of the words of the Lord that came to Jeremiah on a scroll. This event came early in Jeremiah's ministry.

43:4 Jeremiah enlists Baruch as his scribe to record the words of the Lord on the scroll.

43:5, 6 For a reason not known, Jeremiah was not permitted to enter the house of the Lord. Thus, he asked Baruch to read the scroll in his stead.

43:14, 15 Sometime after the scroll was read to the people, it was read by Baruch to the rulers of Judah.

43:16–19 Upon hearing the message from the scroll, the rulers' response was twofold: (1) they wanted the king to hear the message; (2) they sent Baruch and Jeremiah into hiding.

43:23 The message troubled the king to the extent that he cast the scroll into the fire page by page.

43:27–32 Jeremiah conscripts Baruch to rewrite the scroll, using the occasion to predict the death of King Jehoiakim.

44:1 Zedekiah replaces Jehoiakim as ruler in Judah.

44:7–10 The image here plays off the earlier deliverance of Jerusalem under Hezekiah, when 185,000 Assyrians were killed (4Kg 19).

44:12 Buy: Probably the purchase of property mentioned in 39:6–25.

44:15 The Greek word here translated embittered is identical to that found in the famous Paschal sermon of St. John Chrysostom: "It [death] was embittered!" From the vantage point of those familiar with that homily, we see the embitterment of death foretold in the anger of the rulers.

45:7–13 Interestingly, it is a Gentile, not a Jew, who pulls Jeremiah from the pit. Throughout the OT we see the willingness of the Gentiles to respond to a servant of the Lord.

45:14–28 Zedekiah is eager to receive Jeremiah's secret counsel, but whatever gratitude he has is not enough to free Jeremiah from prison (v. 28).

46:1–3 Ninth year: 588 BC. These verses are a summary of 52:2–20.

46:4 Jeremiah is released from prison in the custody of Gedaliah, the newly appointed governor of Judah.

46:5–8 Ebed-Melech is rewarded for his service to Jeremiah (see 45:7–13).

47:1–6 Freed from prison, Jeremiah is allowed to remain in Judah among the people who were left there (v. 6). Mizpah, a town seven miles to the north of Jerusalem, becomes headquarters for Gedaliah's regime.

47:13, 14 Johanan warns Gedaliah that Ishmael seeks his life, but the governor does not believe him.

48:1 Seventh month: Probably the same year Jerusalem was sacked, 586 BC.

48:2, 3 The death of Gedaliah will mark the end of the five-year stay of the Jews in Judah.

- 48:5 Shechem, Shalem, and Samaria: Three areas near Israel in the north of Judah, which had already changed in ethnic composition after the Assyrian deportation.
- 48:5–8 Hence, Ishmael killed seventy men. Gedaliah himself was mourned by the exiles for those seventy years of exile by an annual fast (Zec 7:5).

49:1–6 Just as Jeremiah was sought out for guidance and to seek God's will, so today the faithful in Christ are encouraged to seek spiritual direction. It appears that at this point, Johanan and his group were serious: We will heed the voice of the Lord our God.

49:7 After ten days, the prophet received the word of the Lord, and it was clear: Do not go to Egypt (v. 19).

50:1–4 It appears that in the ten days that elapsed between their question (49:3) and Jeremiah's answer (49:7), Johanan and his followers had decided not to stay in Judah. For as soon as Jeremiah ceased speaking, they said, That is a lie. Recall that in Gn 3:1, the devil called God's direction into question.

50:7 Tahpanhes is an Egyptian city bordering Sinai. Johanan and his followers took Jeremiah with them (v. 6) and entered Egypt.

50:10 The mention of Nebuchadnezzar puts Johanan and his followers on notice that even Egypt is not a safe haven from the king of Babylon.

51:8 Not only are Jews disobedient to God for entering Egypt, now they revert to worshiping other gods, namely the "queen of heaven" (the goddess Ishtar; see v. 17 and note).

51:16 The rebellion of those in Egypt reaches its lowest ebb when they announce to Jeremiah, We will not listen to you.

51:17 Just as the Scriptures speak of "false christs and false prophets" (Mk 13:22), here we have a counterfeit queen of heaven (see note at v. 8). The true queen of heaven is the Mother of God, seated at the right hand of her Son and King (Ps 45:9).

51:24–30 This is Jeremiah's final warning to those in Egypt, and it is not good news. The Lord makes a promise to them: I will visit you for evil (v. 29).

51:30 Hophra was an Egyptian king who reigned 589–570 BC.

51:31–35 Like Jeremiah, Baruch was evidently taken to Egypt against his will. The Lord assures him, I will give you life (v. 35).

52:1 This chapter is a summary of the rise and fall of Zedekiah (vv. 1–9), the destruction of Jerusalem (vv. 10–20), the captives in Babylon (vv. 21–24), and the release of Jehoiachin from prison (vv. 25–28). It parallels almost verbatim 4Kg 24:18–25:30.

52:2 These dates place the siege of Jerusalem in early January, 587 BC.

52:21 The two priests were Seraiah and Zephaniah (4Kg 25:18).

52:25 Thirty-seventh year: Spring 560, in anticipation of the Babylonian new year. Jehoiachin was then 55 years old. Evil-Merodach was the successor (562–560 BC) to Nebuchadnezzar.

52:26, 27 Although told that no successor would occupy David's throne (22:30), Jefhoiachin is treated kindly by the Babylonians. This event occurred more than 25 years after the sack of Jerusalem.

The Book of Baruch†

Author

Baruch, secretary to the prophet Jeremiah, wrote the second part of this book, from 3:9 to the end. The beginning records the words of a Jewish community in exile in Babylon. The Book of Baruch was compiled sometime after the exile took place.

Date

Written sometime after the siege of Jerusalem in 586 BC. The initial message was given in 581.

Theme

Baruch is the story of a Jewish community that repents. Throughout Jeremiah's prophetic ministry as recounted in his book, the Jews hardened their hearts to his words. Here we see a community in exile that responds from the heart to the call to repentance. In eschatological terms, the community represents the Church, those who hear the call of God, confess their sins, and come to Him. The book is best read as a story of the relationship between God and His people.

Background

After Jerusalem was sacked and the leaders of Judah were deported, the Jews established communities in territory occupied by Babylon. In this new situation of exile, the Jewish community, now without the temple and a political home, established connections with other Jews across Babylon. Here we meet Baruch coming from Egypt to a community, calling on them to soften their hearts and return in obedience to the Lord. They do so and send an offering to the Jews who remain near Jerusalem.

Outline

I. Historical Information (1:1–12)
II. Corporate Confession and Prayer for Deliverance for Jews in Jerusalem (1:13–3:8)
III. God's Gift of Wisdom to Israel (3:9–4:3)
IV. Poem of Comfort and Restoration (4:4–5:9)

Baruch 1

[1]Now these are the words of the book written by Baruch, the son of Neriah, the son of Mahseiah, the son of Zedekiah, the son of Hasadiah, the son of Hilkiah, while in Babylon, [2]in the fifth year, on the seventh day of the month, at the time the Chaldeans took Jerusalem and burned it with fire.

A Gathering of the Exiles in Babylon

[3]And Baruch read the words of this book to Jechoniah the son of Joachim, king of Judah, and to all the people who came to hear the book: [4]to the nobles and the sons of the kings, to the elders and all the people from small to great, and to everyone dwelling in Babylon by the river Sud. [5]Then they wept and fasted and prayed before the Lord. [6]They took up a collection of silver, as each was able to give, [7]and sent it to Jerusalem to Joachim the high priest, son of Hilkiah, son of Salom, and to the priests and to all the people found with him in Jerusalem. [8]At the same time, on the tenth day of the month Sivan, Baruch took the silver vessels of the house of the Lord fashioned by Zedekiah the son of Josiah, king of Judah, in order to return them to the land of Judah, those vessels previously taken away from the temple [9]when Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away Jechoniah and the princes, along with the captives, the powerful men, and the people of the land, and had brought them from Jerusalem into exile in Babylon.

Gifts for Worship in Jerusalem

[10]And they said, “Behold, we send you silver. With it, buy whole burnt offerings and sin offerings and incense, and prepare bread, and offer them upon the altar of the Lord our God. [11]And pray for the life of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and his son Belshazzar, that their days on earth may be like the days of heaven. [12]And the Lord will give us strength and enlighten our eyes, and we will live under the shelter of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and under the shelter of Belshazzar his son, and we will serve them for many days and find mercy in their sight.

Israel’s Confession

[13]“Pray for us to the Lord our God, because we have sinned against the Lord our God. Even to this day the wrath of the Lord and His anger is not turned away from us. 14And you shall read this book which we are sending to you, in order to make confession in the house of the Lord on the feast days and on the solemn days.

15"And you shall say, 'To the Lord our God belongs righteousness, but for us shame is on our faces, as it is this day for the people of Judah and to those inhabiting Jerusalem, 16and for our kings, for our rulers, for our priests, for our prophets, and for our fathers, 17who have sinned before the Lord. 18We have disobeyed Him and have refused to heed the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in the ordinances of the Lord, which He gave to us openly. 19Since the day the Lord led our fathers out of the land of Egypt until this day, we have been disobedient toward Him and neglected to heed His voice.

The Consequences of Israel's Sin

20'So to this day evils cling to us, even the curse which the Lord set forth through His servant Moses in the day He led our fathers out of the land of Egypt to give us the land flowing with milk and honey. 21We did not heed the voice of the Lord our God in all the words of the prophets whom He sent to us. 22Instead, each one has followed the imaginations of his own wicked heart, to serve strange gods and to do evil deeds in the sight of the Lord our God.

Baruch 2

1'So the Lord confirmed His word which He proclaimed against us, and against our judges who judged Israel, and our kings and rulers, and against every man of Israel and Judah. 2As can be seen in what was written in the law of Moses, there has been nothing comparable anywhere, under all the heavens, as to that which has been done in Jerusalem: 3that a man eat the flesh of his son and the flesh of his daughter. 4He put them under subjection to all the kingdoms around us, to be a reproach and a desolation among all the nations around about us where the Lord scattered them. 5And because we sinned against the Lord our God and did not obey His voice, we have been brought low and have not been exalted.

6'To the Lord our God belongs righteousness, but to us and our fathers shame on our faces, as at this day. 7All these calamities that the Lord proclaimed against us have come upon us. 8But we did not pray before the presence of the Lord, to turn each one away from the purposes of his wicked heart. 9And the Lord has watched over the evils, and the Lord brings these upon us, for the Lord is righteous in all His works which He commands us. 10But we have not obeyed His voice, to conduct our lives in those commandments of the Lord that He set before us.

A Plea for Mercy and Deliverance

11‘And now, O Lord God of Israel, who with a mighty hand led Your people out of the land of Egypt with signs and wonders, with great power and with outstretched arm, and made a name for Yourself then, as it continues to this day, 12we have sinned and acted ungodly, we have acted unrighteously, O Lord our God, against all Your commandments. 13Let Your wrath turn away from us, for only a few of us remain within the nations where You scattered us. 14O Lord, hear our prayer and our petition, and for Your own sake deliver us, and grant us mercy before those who have carried us into exile, 15in order that the whole earth may come to know that You are the Lord our God, for Israel and his descendants are called by Your name.

16‘O Lord, look down from Your holy house and consider us. O Lord, incline Your ear and hear us. 17O Lord, open Your eyes and behold, for the dead who are in Hades, whose spirit is taken from their bodies, will not ascribe glory and righteousness to the Lord; 18but the person who is greatly distressed, who walks bent over, who is ailing and going blind, and the person who hungers—these will give glory and righteousness to You, O Lord. 19It is not because of the righteous acts of our fathers or our kings that we lay before You our humble plea, O Lord our God, 20for You sent down Your anger and wrath upon us, as You have said through the hand of Your servants the prophets, saying, 21“Thus says the Lord: ‘Bend your shoulder and serve the king of Babylon, and remain in the land I gave to your fathers. 22But if you do not heed the voice of the Lord, to serve the king of Babylon, 23I shall cause to cease from the cities of Judah and from outside Jerusalem the sound of gladness, the voice of joyfulness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride. The whole land will become desolate of inhabitants.’ ”

24‘But we did not obey Your voice, to serve the king of Babylon, and You carried out Your words which you spoke by Your servants the prophets, that the bones of our kings and the bones of our fathers would be carried out from their place. 25And behold, they have been cast forth in the heat of the day and the frost of the night, and they died in grievous pains by famine and by the sword and by pestilence. 26And You laid to waste the house called by Your name, as it is this day, because of the wickedness of the house of Israel and the house of Judah.

Recalling the Promises of God

27‘Even so, O Lord our God, You have dealt with us according to all Your goodness and great mercy, 28just as You spoke through Your servant Moses on the day You commanded him to write Your law in the presence of the sons of Israel, saying, 29“If you do not obey My voice, truly this very great multitude of people will become a small number amidst all the nations where I shall scatter them. 30For I knew they would not obey Me, because they are a stiff-necked people. But in the land of their exile their hearts will turn back, 31and they will know that I am the Lord their God, and I will give them a heart and ears that obey; 32and they will praise Me in the land of their exile and will remember My name. 33They will turn from their stubbornness and their evil deeds; for they shall remember the way of their fathers, who sinned against the Lord. 34And I shall bring them again to the land I swore to their fathers—to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—and they will rule over it, and I will multiply their numbers, and they will not be diminished. 35And I shall establish an everlasting covenant with them to be their God, and they will be My people; I shall never again remove My people Israel from the land I give to them.”

Baruch 3

1‘O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, a soul in straits and a spirit of weariness cries out to You. 2Hear, O Lord, and have mercy, for we have sinned against You. 3You endure forever, but we are perishing forever. 4O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, hear the prayer of the dead of Israel and of the sons who have sinned against You, who have not obeyed the voice of the Lord their God, so calamities have clung to us. 5Do not remember the wrongdoings of our fathers, but remember Your hand and Your name in this time. 6For You are the Lord our God, and You we will praise, O Lord. 7On account of this You granted in our hearts the fear of You, to call upon Your name, and we shall praise You in our exile, because we will turn away from our hearts all the iniquities of our fathers who sinned against You. [8]Behold, today we are in our exile, where You have scattered us to be a reproach and a curse and a punishment for all the iniquities of our fathers, who fell away from the Lord our God.' "

The Way of Wisdom

[9]Hear, O Israel, the commandments of life; give ear to know wisdom. [10]Why is it, O Israel, that you are in the land of your enemies, that you have grown old in a foreign land, [11]that you are defiled with the dead and counted among those in Hades? [12]You have forsaken the fountain of wisdom. [13]If you had walked in the way of God, you would have dwelt in peace forever. [14]Learn where wisdom is, where strength is, where understanding is, so at the same time you may know where length of days and life are, where peace is and the light of the eyes. [15]Who has found her place? Who has entered into her treasures?

[16]Where are the rulers of the nations and those who ruled over the wild animals of the earth; [17]those who sport with the birds of the air and those hoarding silver and gold, in which men trust (and there is no end to the acquisition of these), [18]those who scheme to obtain silver and are anxious, whose works are unsearchable? [19]They vanish and descend into Hades, and others have risen up to take their place.

[20]Young men have seen the light and dwelt in the land, but they have not known the way of knowledge, [21]nor practiced it, nor understood her paths; their sons are far from her path. [22]It has not been heard in Canaan, nor seen in Tamar; [23]the sons of Hagar, who seek understanding on the earth, the merchants of Merra and of Tamar, the storytellers and those who search out understanding—none of these have learned the way of wisdom nor remember her paths. They do not know.

[24]O Israel, how great is the house of God, and how far-reaching the place He possesses! [25]It is great and has no end; it is high and immeasurable. [26]The giants born there, those renowned from the beginning, being very large in size and skilled in war, [27]God did not choose them nor grant them the way of knowledge. [28]Instead, they perished because they failed to attain to wisdom; they perished through their thoughtless counsel.

The Author of Wisdom

[29]Who has gone up into heaven and taken hold of her, and brought her down from the clouds? [30]Who has crossed the sea and found her, and brought her back for pure gold? [31]No one knows her way, nor does anyone ponder her path. [32]But the One who knows all things knows her; He has found her by His understanding—He who formed the earth for all time, who filled it with four-footed creatures; [33]the One who sends forth the light and it goes out; the One who calls to it, and it obeys with fear. [34]The stars shone in their watches and rejoiced. [35]He called them and they said, “Here we are!” They shone with gladness for Him who made them. [36]This is our God; no other shall be compared to Him. [37]He found the whole way of knowledge and gave it to Jacob His servant and to Israel His beloved. [38]Afterwards, He was seen upon the earth and lived among men.

Baruch 4

Wisdom and the Law of God

[1]She is the book of the commandments of God and the law that endures forever. All those who keep her will live, but those forsaking her will die.
[2]Return, O Jacob, and take hold of her. Walk toward the radiance of the presence of her light. [3]Do not give your glory to another or the things that are of advantage to you to a foreign nation.

Jerusalem Speaks to Her Children

[4]O Israel, we are blessed, for what is pleasing to our God is known to us.
[5]Be of good courage, my people, O memorial of Israel. [6]You were sold to the nations, not for destruction, but you were handed over to the enemies because you provoked God. [7]You provoked Him who created you by sacrificing to demons and not to God. [8]You forgot the eternal God, who nursed you, and you grieved Jerusalem, which nourished you. [9]For she saw the wrath coming upon you from God, and she said, “Give heed, neighbors of Zion, God has brought upon me great sorrow, [10]for I see the exile of my sons and my daughters which the Eternal One brought upon them. [11]With joy I raised them, but with weeping and sorrow I sent them away. [12]Let no one rejoice over me, a widow and forsaken of many. I was made desolate on account of the sins of my children, because they turned away from the Law of God.

13And they did not know His ordinances, nor walk in the ways of the commandments of God, nor did they walk on the paths of discipline in His righteousness.

14“Let the neighbors of Zion come, and let them remember the exile of my sons and my daughters, which the Eternal One brought upon them. 15He brought a nation from afar against them, a shameless nation speaking a strange language, which does not respect the elderly nor pity the young child. 16They led away the widow’s beloved sons and left her who was alone destitute without daughters. 17But how can I be of help to you? 18For He who brought these calamities upon you will deliver you from the hand of your enemies. 19Go, my children, go; for I am left desolate. 20I have taken off the robe of peace and clothed myself in the sackcloth of my prayer. I will cry out to the Eternal One in my days.

21“O my children, take courage, cry out to God, and He will deliver you from the power and the hand of the enemies. 22For I hope upon the Eternal One to save you, and the joy from the Holy One comes to me, because mercy will soon come to you from the Eternal One, your Savior. 23For I sent you out with sorrow and weeping, but with joy and gladness God will restore you to me forever. 24For just as the neighbors of Zion have now seen your exile, so too they will soon see your salvation from your God, which will come upon you with great glory and the radiance of the Eternal One.

25“My children, endure in patience the wrath that has come upon you from God. Your enemy has pursued you diligently, but soon you will see his destruction, and you will tread upon their necks. 26My pampered ones have been made to walk rough roads; they were carried off like a flock seized by enemies. 27Take courage, my children, and cry out to God, for you will be remembered by Him who brought this upon you. 28For just as you purposed to go astray from God, now having returned, seek Him with tenfold zeal. 29For the One who brought these calamities upon you will bring you everlasting joy with your salvation.”

Jerusalem Is Comforted

30Take courage, O Jerusalem, for He who named you will comfort you. 31Wretched are those who mistreated you and rejoiced at your fall. 32Wretched are the cities in which your children served as slaves. Wretched is she who took your sons. 33For just as she took pleasure in your ruin and rejoiced over your fall, so shall she be grieved at her own desolation. 34I shall take away from her the rejoicing of her great multitude, and her arrogance will become sorrow. [35]For fire will come upon her from the Eternal One for many days, and she will be inhabited by demons for a long time.

[36]O Jerusalem, look eastward, and see the joy that is coming to you from God. [37]Behold, your sons whom you sent away are coming, gathered together from the east to the west by the word of the Holy One, rejoicing in the glory of God.

Baruch 5

[1]O Jerusalem, take off the garment of your sorrow and your oppression, and put on the beauty from the God of glory forever. [2]Put around you the double robe of righteousness from God; set upon your head the diadem of the glory of the Eternal One. [3]For God will show your brightness to every nation under heaven, [4]for your name will forever be called by God the Peace of Righteousness and the Glory of Godliness.

[5]Arise, O Jerusalem, stand upon the heights and look eastward, and behold your children being gathered together by the word of the Holy One, rejoicing in the remembrance of God. [6]For they went out from you on foot, being led away by their enemies. But God will return them being carried back with glory, as on the throne of a kingdom. [7]For God commanded every high mountain and the everlasting hills to be made low, and all the valleys to be filled until made level, so that Israel may walk safely in the glory of God; [8]and at the command of God, the woods and every fragrant tree have shaded Israel. [9]For God will lead Israel with joy in the light of His glory, with mercy and righteousness that come from Him.

Annotations for Baruch

† Baruch means “blessed.” He was a friend of the Prophet Jeremiah, who placed great trust in him (Jer 32:9–15), and served the prophet as his secretary and reader in the temple (Jer 36:4–8). Thus, the words of the book written by Baruch are the words God gave to Jeremiah.

1:2 The LXX dates put this event at 581 BC, five years after the Chaldeans sacked Jerusalem. Most scholars believe the Book of Baruch was written about him, not by him, at a time much later than the events the book describes, to honor him.

1:3–7 All the people (v. 4), from noblemen on down, when they heard the words of this book (v. 3), not only experienced repentance, but took up a collection for those who remained in Jerusalem.

1:9 The exile in Babylon is noted in Jer 24:1.

1:10 The money was for offerings (see also Jer 17:25; 48:5).

1:11 God’s people have always been called to pray for the . . . king and all who are in authority (see Jer 27:6–8; 36:4–7; Rom 13:1–7; 1Ti 2:1, 2).

1:15 The prayer that begins here and goes through 3:8 is quite similar to a prayer in Dan 9:7–15. This prayer is offered by those who stayed behind in Judah (see also 2:4).

1:19, 20 Out of . . . Egypt: Though over 1000 years had passed since the children of Israel under Moses escaped from Pharaoh and crossed the Red Sea on dry ground, this miraculous event was a benchmark in their history. Here, the descendants of the fathers of the Exodus confess their national sins since that point in time.

1:22 One of the consequences of sin is evil imaginations. In 2Co 10:4–6, St. Paul instructs us to cast them down and bring our thoughts captive to Christ our God.

2:3 The cannibalism admitted here includes the children the Jews ate when Jerusalem was besieged; they also sacrificed children to the god Molech (see Jer 7:31; 19:9; Lam 2:10; 4:10; Ezk 5:10; 4Kg 23:10; Dt 28:53).

2:5 See Dt 28:13.

2:9 The Lord brings calamities upon us in His righteousness for our good, that we might turn back to Him.

2:14, 15 When Israel—and the Church—receive God’s mercy, the news spreads quickly (see Acts 17:4, 12). The prayer for the whole earth is a prayer for the Church to know . . . the Lord our God.

2:24, 25 Bones . . . carried out, prophesied in Jer 8:1–2, suggests the Babylonians desecrated the reliquaries of the patriarchs.

2:26 God allows His house to be laid to waste as part of His sinful people’s punishment and their restoration (see Jer 7:13–14).

2:35 The everlasting covenant is fulfilled in Christ and His new covenant (Jer 32:38–41; Ezk 36:26–29; Am 9:15; Heb 13:20).

3:4 The prayer of the dead of Israel suggests the intercessions of the departed saints with the Lord (see Lk 16:22–31).

3:12 The fountain of wisdom is a likely reference to God the Father (see Jer 2:13, where the Father and Son are together depicted as a fountain and living water). In WSir 1:5, the Word is described as the fountain of wisdom (see Lk 2:40, 52; 21:15; Jn 4:13, 14).

3:17, 18 Christ alludes to these truths in Mt 6:26–34.

3:20 The young have seen the light, i.e., have been born alive (see Job 3:16).

3:24, 25 Here the cosmos is the house of God.

3:26–28 Giants: See Gn 6:4; WSir 16:7.

3:29–36 This is a description of the Wisdom of God (1Co 1:24).

🕮 3:36—4:4 This passage is read on the Eve of Feast of the Nativity of the Lord.

3:37, 38 After describing the failures of men to secure wisdom, the prophecy now explains that God alone has knowledge. And this knowledge is given to Israel. God’s knowledge lived among men at the coming of Christ (Jn 1:14; WSir 24:1–12).

4:9 Here a song begins, continuing through v. 29. Jerusalem appeals to the exiles to endure the punishment until God delivers them from Babylon, symbolizing the coming of Christ "your Savior" (v. 22).

4:24 The Eternal One: Although the immediate object of this prophecy is the return from exile, the only glory and radiance that are eternal are those of Christ Himself (see Is 61:1–3).

4:30 He who named you: Scripture does not describe a precise naming of Jerusalem; this refers to the renaming described in 5:4 (see Is 60:14; 62:4; Jer 33:16; Ezk 48:35).

4:35 See Is 13:19–21; Jer 51:58; Rev 18:2.

4:36, 37 Verse 36 describes the salvation of God as coming from the east, symbolizing the coming of Christ. Verse 37 refers to the return of the exiles.

5:1–9 This discourse points to the glory of the Church in every nation under heaven (v. 3).

5:2 Double robe of righteousness: God's righteousness comes to those living in shame (see 2:6).

5:7 See Is 40:4, 5; Eph 5:21–33.

The Lamentations of Jeremiah

Author

Jeremiah the prophet

Date

Written during the three months following the destruction of Jerusalem (October, 587 BC) and before Jeremiah was taken captive to Egypt in December of the same year.

Major Themes

God's judgment of the people's sins and His unfathomable love and sorrow for Israel. This is Jeremiah's personal testimonial and lament over the devastation of Jerusalem and the temple. The prophet maintains there is still hope for repentance and restoration. Consistent with his previous and later messages, here he instructs the suffering Jews not to despise God's punishment but to repent, confessing their sins and seeking forgiveness and deliverance.

Background

The destruction of Jerusalem has just occurred, and the people have been taken away as captives to Babylon. God continually forewarned them about these specific events through Jeremiah and His other prophets. The Lord had sent many prophecies about His punishment of those who would not keep His commandments. Jeremiah witnessed the destruction and laments over the loss of the people, the temple, and the city. The book contains five psalms.

Outline

I. The Psalmist and the Daughter of Zion Lament the Destruction of Jerusalem amid Ruin and Misery (1:1–22)
II. The Psalmist and the Daughter of Zion Describe the Day of the Lord (2:1–22)
III. Individual Lament: Affliction and Hope (3:1–62)
IV. Communal Lament: Meditations in a Ruined City (4:1–22)
V. Communal Prayer for Deliverance (5:1–22)

Lamentations of Jeremiah 1

[1]Now it came to pass that after Israel was taken captive and Jerusalem became desolate, Jeremiah sat weeping; and he lamented this song of grief over Jerusalem and said:

"How does the city now sit alone,
She who was full of people?
She has become like a widow,
She who was multiplied among the nations,
She who was ruling among the countries.
She has become subject to tribute.

[2]"She weeps bitterly in the night;
She sheds tears on her cheeks.
Yet among all her lovers there is no one who comforts her.
All who love her have dealt treacherously with her.
They have become her enemies.

[3]"Judea has gone into captivity
Because of her humiliation and harsh servitude.
She dwells among the Gentiles;
She finds no rest.
All who pursue her overtake her in the midst of her distress.

[4]"The roads of Zion mourn,
Because no one comes to the feast.
All her gates are destroyed,
Her priests groan,
Her virgins are led away,
And she is embittered in herself.

[5]"Her oppressors have become the master,
And her enemies prosper;
For the Lord humbled her
Because of the greatness of her ungodliness.
Her infants have gone into captivity in the presence of the oppressor.

6 “From the daughter of Zion
All her beauty has departed.
Her princes have become like rams
That find no pasture,
And they journey in weakness
Before the face of the pursuer.

7 “Jerusalem remembers her days of humiliation and rejection.
She remembers all her objects of desire,
What she had in days of old,
When her people fell into the hand of the oppressor,
When there was no one to help her.
When her enemies saw this, they laughed at her deportation.

8 “Jerusalem sinned grievously;
Therefore, she became a storm-tossed sea.
All who glorified her have humiliated her,
For they saw her shameful acts,
And indeed, she groans and turns away.

9 “Her uncleanness is at her feet.
She did not remember her last things,
And she lowered her boasting tone.
There is no one who comforts her.
‘O Lord, behold my humiliation,
For the enemy has been exalted.’

10 “The oppressor has spread his hand
Over all the objects of her desire,
For she sees the Gentiles entering her sanctuary,
Those whom You commanded not to enter Your church.

11 “All her people groan
And seek for bread.
They gave the objects of their desire for food
To stay alive.
‘O Lord, behold, and have regard for me,

For I am treated shamefully.
12‘All you who pass by, do not turn away,
And see if there is any pain like my pain
Which has happened to me.
The Lord who spoke by me
Humiliated me in the day of His fierce anger.
13‘From His lofty place He sent fire
And brought it into my bones.
He spread a net for my feet
And turned me back.
He caused me to perish
And to be in great pain all the day.
14‘He kept watch on my profane acts;
They are entangled together with my hands;
They come up about my neck.
My strength weakens,
For the Lord has caused my hands to be in pain.
I shall be unable to stand.
15‘The Lord drove off all my mighty ones from my midst.
He summoned an appointed time against me
To crush my chosen men.
The Lord trod a winepress for the virgin daughter of Judah,
And for these I weep.
16‘My eyes pour down tears,
For He who comforts me
And restores my soul
Is gone far from me.
My children have perished
Because the enemy has prevailed.’

17“Zion has spread out her hands,
But there is no one who comforts her.
The Lord commanded concerning Jacob;
His oppressors are around him,
And Jerusalem has become as an unclean woman in their midst.
18‘The Lord is righteous,
For I provoked His mouth.

Hear now, all peoples,
And behold my pain;
For My virgins and my young men have gone into captivity.
19 ‘I called my lovers,
But they deceived me.
My priests and my elders
Ended their life in the city,
For they sought food for themselves
To revive their lives;
But they found none.
20 ‘Behold, O Lord, for I am afflicted.
My stomach is troubled,
And my heart is upset within me;
For I have rebelled exceedingly.
From without, the sword has deprived me of my children,
As death has here at home.
21 ‘Hear now, because I groan;
There is no one who comforts me.
All my enemies heard of my calamities,
And they rejoiced,
Because You brought it about.
You brought on the day;
You set the appointed time,
For they have become like me.
22 ‘So let all their evil come before Your face,
And do to them as they did to me
Concerning all my sins.
My groaning is great,
And my heart is grieved.’

Lamentations of Jeremiah 2

1 “How did the Lord darken
The daughter of Zion in His wrath?
He cast down the glory of Israel
From heaven to earth,
And did not remember His footstool

In the day of His wrath.

2 “The Lord has swallowed up and not spared
All the beauty of Jacob.
In His anger, He brought down the strongholds
Of the daughter of Judah.
He brought them down to the ground;
He desecrated her king and its princes.

3 “In fierce anger, He broke off every horn of Israel
And drew back His right hand
From the face of the enemy.
He blazed against Jacob like a flaming fire,
And it devoured everything all around.

4 “He bent His bow like an enemy
And strengthened His right hand like an adversary.
He put to death all the objects of my desire,
And poured out His anger like a fire
On the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion.

5 “The Lord became like an enemy
And swallowed up Israel.
He brought down all his palaces,
Destroyed his strongholds,
And multiplied shame and humiliation
In the daughter of Judah.

6 “He opened and spread out His tabernacle like a vine
And destroyed His feast.
The Lord forgot His festivals and the Sabbath
Which He appointed in Zion,
And in the fury of His wrath
He provoked king, priest, and prince.

7 “The Lord rejected His altar
And abandoned His sanctuary.
By the hand of the enemy,
He broke in pieces the wall of her palaces.

They uttered their voice in the house of the Lord
As on a feast day.

8 “The Lord turned to destroy
The wall of the daughter of Zion.
He stretched out a measuring line
And has not turned back His hand from trampling her.
Therefore the bulwark mourned,
And the wall weakened with it.

9 “Her gates sank into the ground,
And He destroyed and broke her bars.
Her king and her princes are among the Gentiles,
And the Law is no more;
And indeed, her prophets see no vision from the Lord.

10 “The elders of the daughter of Zion
Sit on the ground and keep silence.
They throw dust on their heads
And gird themselves with sackcloth.
They have brought down to the ground
The leading virgins in Jerusalem.

11 “My eyes fail with tears,
And my heart is troubled.
My glory is poured out upon the ground
At the destruction of the daughter of my people, While the child and the nursing infants
Faint in streets of the city.

12 “They say to their mothers,
‘Where is the wheat and wine?’
While they faint like the wounded
In the streets of the city,
While their lives are being poured out
In their mothers’ bosom.

13 “What shall I testify to you,
Or what shall I compare to you,

O daughter of Jerusalem?
Who will save and comfort you,
O virgin daughter of Zion?
For the cup of your destruction is great;
Who shall heal you?

14"Your prophets have seen foolishness
And worthless things for you,
But they did not reveal your wrongdoing
So as to turn back your captivity.
Instead, they saw worthless burdens
And banishment for you.

15"All who pass by clap their hands at you,
And they hiss and shake their head
At the daughter of Jerusalem.
'Is this the city they call
The crown of glory,
The joy of all the earth?'

16"All your enemies have opened their mouths against you;
They hiss and gnash their teeth.
They say, 'We have swallowed her up!
Besides, this is the day we have looked for;
We have found it; we have seen it.'

17"The Lord has done what He purposed;
He has carried out His words
Which He commanded in days of old.
He pulled down, and has not spared,
And has caused the enemy to rejoice over you.
He has exalted the horn of those who oppress you.
18Their heart cried out to the Lord,
'O wall of Zion,
Pour down tears like torrents, day and night;
Give yourself no relief;
May your eyes have no rest, O daughter.
19'Arise, rejoice in the night,
At the beginning of your watch.

Pour out your heart like water
Before the face of the Lord,
And lift your hands up to Him
For the life of your infants,
Who grow weak in hunger
On the corner of every street.’
20‘Behold, O Lord, and look For whom You have gathered thus.
Shall the women eat the fruit of their womb?
The cook has made a gleaning;
Shall the infants who nurse the breasts be put to death?
Will you kill priest and prophet
In the sanctuary of the Lord?
21‘The child and the old man
Sleep in the street.
My virgins and my young men
Have gone into captivity.
You killed them with sword and famine
In the day of Your wrath;
You massacred and have not spared.
22‘He called my sojourner round about me to a feast day.
There was no one who escaped, or were left
In the day of the Lord’s wrath,
As I strengthened and multiplied
All my enemies.’

Lamentations of Jeremiah 3

1“I am the man who sees poverty
By the rod of His anger upon me.
2He took me and led me away
Into darkness, and not into light.
3Surely He has turned His hand against me
Throughout the day.

4“He has aged my flesh and my skin
And has broken my bones.

[5]He has besieged me
And surrounded my head;
He has worn me down with hardships.
[6]He set me in dark places
As those long dead.

[7]“He hedged me in,
And I cannot come forth;
He made my brazen chain heavy.
[8]Though I will call and cry out,
He shuts out my prayer.
[9]He has blocked my ways
And obstructed my paths;
He has troubled me.

[10]“He is a bear lying in wait for me
Like a lion in a hidden place.
[11]After I departed, He eagerly pursued and caught me;
He has utterly ruined me.
[12]He bent his bow
And set me up as a target for the arrow.

[13]“He caused the arrows of His quiver
To pierce my loins.
[14]I became a laughingstock to all my people,
And their song all the day.
[15]He has filled me with bitterness
And drenched me with gall.

[16]“He also broke my teeth with gravel
And fed me with ashes.
[17]He took away peace from my soul,
And I have forgotten the good things.
[18]Therefore I said, ‘My victory and my hope Have perished from the Lord.’

[19]“I remembered by reason of my poverty,
And because of my persecution, I remembered my bitterness and gall.

20My soul shall remember
And meditate within me.
21I will fix this in my heart;
Therefore, I will endure.

22“The Lord is good to those who wait for Him,
To the soul who will seek Him, the Good One.
23He will wait for and quietly expect
The salvation of the Lord.
24It is good for a man when he takes up
A yoke in his youth.

25“He will sit alone and be silent,
Because he bears it on himself.
26He will give his cheek to the one who strikes him,
And he will be filled with insults.
27Yet the Lord shall not reject him forever.

28“For He who humbles will have compassion
According to the abundance of His mercy.
29For He does not afflict willingly,
Though He humbles the children of men.

30“To humble all the prisoners of the earth
Under His feet,

31“To turn aside the judgment of a man
Before the face of the Most High, 32And to condemn a man
Before he is judged,
The Lord does not command.
33Who thus speaks,
And it comes to pass?
The Lord has not commanded it,

34“For evil and good shall not proceed
From the mouth of the Most High.

[35]Why should a living man complain,
A man concerning his sin?
[36]Our way has been searched out and examined;
Therefore we shall turn to the Lord.

[37]“Let us lift our hearts and our hands
To the Most High in heaven.
[38]We have sinned and acted in an ungodly way;
Thus You have not shown us mercy.
[39]But You visited us in anger
And drove us away.
You have put us to death
And not spared us.

[40]“You veiled Yourself with a cloud
Because of our prayer.
[41]To close my eyes and to reject me,
You have placed us in the midst of the peoples.
[42]All our enemies have opened
Their mouth against us.

[43]“Fear and anger have come upon us,
Yes, devastation and destruction.
[44]My eyes will shed tears for forgiveness
Because of the destruction of the daughter of my people.
[45]My eyes are drowned with tears,
And I will not keep silent;
So there shall be no rest,

[46]“Until the Lord bends down
And sees from heaven.
[47]My eyes will bring suffering in my soul
Because of all the daughters of the city.
[48]My enemies hunted me down
Without cause, like a sparrow.

[49]“They put my life to death in the pit
And threw a stone at me.

50 Water flowed over my head;
I said, ‘I am rejected.’
51 I called on Your name, O Lord,
From the lowest pit.

52 “You heard my voice;
Do not hide Your ears from my supplication.
53 You drew near at my call on the day I called upon You.
You said to me, ‘Do not fear.’
54 O Lord, You pleaded the case for my soul;
You redeemed my life.

55 “O Lord, You saw my troubles;
You judged my cause.
56 You saw all their vengeance
In all their reasoning against me.
57 You heard their taunts
And all their plots against me,

58 “And the lips of those who rose up against me,
And their meditations against me all the day.
59 Look at their eyes
As they sit down and rise up.
60 You shall render a recompense to them, O Lord,
According to the works of their hands.

61 “You shall repay them as a covering
Your hardship for them.
62 You shall pursue them in Your wrath and utterly destroy them From under heaven, O Lord.

Lamentations of Jeremiah 4

1 “How will gold lose its brightness
And fine silver become tarnished?
The stones of the sanctuary are scattered

At the head of every street.

2 “The honored sons of Zion,
Valuable as gold,
How are they now regarded as clay pots,
The works of a potter’s hands?

3 “Even the serpents uncover their breasts
To nurse their young;
But the daughters of my people are cruel,
Like an ostrich in the desert.

4 “The tongue of the nursing child cleaves
To the roof of its mouth for thirst.
The young children beg for bread,
But no one breaks it for them.

5 “Those who ate delicacies
Perish in the streets;
Those brought up on the best food
Are clothed with dung.

6 “The lawlessness of the daughter of My people
Is greater than the lawlessness of Sodom,
Which was overthrown in a moment,
And there was no one to help her.

7 “Her Nazirites were purer than snow;
They shone more brightly than milk;
They were purified as with fire;
Their polishing was superior to sapphire stones.

8 “Now their appearance is blacker than soot;
They go unrecognized in the streets;
Their skin clings to their bones;
It is withered and has become as dry as wood.

9 “Those slain by the sword are better off
Than those who die of hunger,

Deprived of the fruits of the field.

10 “The hands of compassionate women
Cooked their children;
They became food for them
In the destruction of the daughter of my people.

11 “The Lord has fulfilled His anger;
He has poured out His fierce wrath.
He has kindled a fire in Zion,
And it devoured her foundations.

12 “The kings of the earth
And all inhabitants in the world
Would not believe
That the enemy and oppressor
Could enter through the gates of Jerusalem.

13 “For the sins of her prophets
And the lawlessness of her priests,
Who shed righteous blood in her midst,

14 “Her watchmen wandered in the streets.
They were defiled with blood in their weakness
And stained their garments with it.

15 “Depart from the unclean.
Call to them, ‘Depart! Depart!
Do not touch us!’
For they are set on fire and indeed wander.
Say among the Gentiles,
‘Let them not live here.’

16 “Their portion shall not continue
To enjoy the Lord’s presence,
When He looked upon them with favor.
For they did not respect the person of the priests,
Nor did they show mercy to the elders.

17 “While we yet lived,
Our eyes failed us
As we looked in vain for help.
We kept watching intently
For a nation that could not save us.

18 “We hunted for our little ones
So they would not walk in our streets.
Our appointed time is near,
Our days are fulfilled;
Our time is come.

19 “Our pursuers were swifter
Than the eagles of the sky.
They perched on the mountains
And lay in wait for us in the desert.

20 “The breath of our nostrils, the Anointed of the Lord,
Was seized in their corruption,
Of whom we said, ‘Under His shadow
We shall live among the nations.’

21 “Rejoice and be glad, O daughter of Edom,
Who dwell in the land.
For indeed the cup of the Lord shall pass through to you,
And you shall become drunk and be poured out.

22 “O daughter of Zion, your lawlessness has come to an end;
He will not continue your exile.
He has been concerned about your lawlessness,
O daughter of Edom;
He has revealed your profane acts.

Lamentations of Jeremiah 5

1 “O Lord, remember what happened to us;
Look upon us with favor
And see our disgrace.

[2]Our inheritance has been turned over to foreigners,
And our homes to strangers.
[3]We have become orphans and have no father;
Our mothers are as widows.

[4]“We pay for the water we drink,
And our wood comes at a price.
[5]We are pursued at our heels;
We have labored;
We have no rest.
[6]Egypt gave us a hand,
Assyria to their satisfaction.

[7]“Our fathers sinned and are no more;
We suffered from their lawless actions.
[8]Servants rule over us;
There is no one to redeem us from their hand.
[9]We will bring in our bread
At the risk of our lives
From the presence of the sword in the desert.

[10]“Our skin has became blackened as an oven.
They are shriveled up from the stormy wind of famine.
[11]They humbled the women in Zion,
The virgins in the cities of Judah.
[12]Princes were hung up by their hands,
And elders were not honored.
[13]The chosen men took up weeping,
And the young men weakened under the loads of wood.
[14]Elders also ceased to gather at the gate;
The chosen men ceased to sing their psalms.

[15]“The joy of our heart has ceased;
Our dance has turned into mourning.
[16]The crown fell from our head;
Woe to us, because we sinned!
[17]Because of this, our heart has become painful;
Because of this, our eyes have remained in darkness.

18 On Mount Zion, because it is desolate,
Foxes pass through it.

19 “But You, O Lord, shall dwell forever,
Your throne from generation to generation.
20 Why will You utterly forget us?
Will You forsake us for so long a time?
21 Turn us back to You, O Lord,
And we shall be converted;
Renew our days as before.
22 For You have indeed rejected us,
And are exceedingly angry with us.”

Annotations for Lamentations of Jeremiah

1:1 The city is Jerusalem, once full of people but now in captivity in Babylon.

1:5 During Lent we pray, "O Lord and Master of our lives . . ." Here, the oppressors have become the master. This captivity is the result of the ungodliness of God's people. A stark picture of life outside of fellowship with God.

1:7 Jerusalem remembers tells us the author is looking back to the fall of the city and the grief of her people as they endured deportation to Babylon.

1:8 Jerusalem sinned grievously sums up the cause of God's discipline of His people.

1:11 Tragically, the phrase the objects of their desire for food is a reference (as in 2:4) to the eating of their own children to stay alive. We ask incredulously, how could they possibly do that? But remember: in our time, we do not eat them; we abort them.

1:18 I provoked His mouth is a reference to breaking the laws God spoke to Moses and thus to His people. From 1:18–22, the "I" is the city of Jerusalem, and the warning for her disobedience was issued and recorded in Dt 28:15–68.

2:2 He brought them down: The Greek word suggests a violent smashing.

2:5 The Lord became like an enemy is a warning of the gravity of the dread judgment seat of Christ.

2:9 When God's people turn on Him, her prophets see no vision from the Lord. Bluntly, heaven shuts its mouth (see Pr 29:18).

2:12 This verse is likely another reference to cannibalism (see 1:11; 2:20, 4:10).

2:15 See Jer 33:16 and Bar 5:4.

2:22 In God's judgment, no one will escape.

3:2–17 These verses either start with or contain the word He, a direct reference to God. There is no doubt in the writer's mind: judgment comes from God, and He is not passive.

3:22–62 Here we see an abrupt change in tone which acknowledges the goodness (v. 22) and mercy (v. 28) of God. The message: No matter the gravity of our sins, or what our enemies have planned for the demise of our souls, our hope is always in the love and mercy of God.

4:1 Chapter 4 returns to the distress of Jerusalem. The gold has lost its brightness.

4:3 A powerful contrast: Even the serpents, symbolic of the devil and his hosts, nurse their young, but captive Israel is cruel.

4:6 Here, Israel is worse than Sodom.

4:7, 8 Not only did the people apostatize, the Nazirites became blacker than soot. The Nazirites (Nm 6:2, 19, 20) were the "monks" of Israel who never cut their hair, refused wine, and devoted themselves entirely to God. By this we see that Israel was utterly desolate.

4:13, 14 The theme of desolation continues. The prophets, the priests, and the watchmen have all forsaken God.

4:16 A barometer of indifference toward God, in both Israel and the Church, is lack of respect for the priests and disdain for the elders.

4:20 The Greek word for Anointed is Christos. Christ is symbolized as a victim of the destruction of God's people brought on by their disobedience.

4:21, 22 For the punishment of Edom, see Jer 30:1–16.

5:1 What happened to Israel can happen to Christians who disgrace themselves in the sight of God.

5:2 The foreigners are not just the Babylonians, but could also be a reference to idols (Jer 5:19).

5:5 In the old covenant and in the new, when we depart from God's will we have no rest.

5:19–22 This prayer offers a glimmer of hope to close the Book of Lamentations. The phrases turn us back to You and we shall be converted tell us this is not merely the request of an individual, but that of a nation.

The Epistle of Jeremiah

Author

Jeremiah the prophet

Date

Written in the aftermath of the sack of Jerusalem (597 BC) and the exile to Babylon of her leaders, probably from Egypt.

Major Theme

Beware of idols!

Background

The epistle is a diatribe against the sin of idolatry as represented by the Baal cult. Jeremiah wrote to the Israelites to exhort and warn them to be free of a sin that must have been on the increase at this time. Because the epistle has very little historical information, it became timeless and was used by certain Church Fathers to combat pagan errors and superstitions practiced in their own day. The epistle conveys a message that heresy and false ideas about God are both ridiculous and untenable.

Outline

I. Historical Information (vv. 1–6)
II. Condemnation of Idolatry (vv. 7–73)
- A. Idols adorned like people (vv. 7–14)
- B. Uselessness and helplessness of idols (vv. 15–24)
- C. Idols cannot move (vv. 25–28)
- D. Idols cannot repay good or evil; they cannot give wealth, save, or heal (vv. 29–39)
- E. The Chaldeans even bring shame upon their own idols (vv. 40–44)
- F. Idols are the works of human hands (vv. 45–52)
- G. Idols are powerless (vv. 53–57)
- H. Idols cannot be compared to the sun, moon, stars, animals, etc. (vv. 58–69)
- I. Idols compared to scarecrows, brambles, and a corpse (vv. 70–73)

Epistle of Jeremiah 1

The copy of an epistle Jeremiah sent to those being led away as captives to Babylon by the king of the Babylonians, to proclaim a message to them, as it was commanded him by God.

[1]Because of the sins you committed in the sight of God, you will be led away to Babylon as captives by Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Babylonians. [2]After you enter Babylon, you will remain there many years, even a long time, as many as seven generations. But after this, I shall lead you from that place with peace. [3]Now in Babylon you will see gods of silver, gold, and wood carried upon shoulders as displays of fear to the Gentiles. [4]Therefore do not reverence them, lest you become like the foreigners, and fear also seizes you because of them [5]when you see a multitude worshiping them, both in front of and behind them. But say in your mind, “One must worship You, O Lord.” [6]For My angel is with all of you, and he is searching your souls.

Idols Dressed Like People

[7]Indeed their tongue is polished by a craftsman, and they are plated with silver and gold. But they are false and unable to speak. [8]As though for a virgin, they take gold and prepare crowns upon the heads of their gods. [9]But there are times when the priests will rob the silver and gold from their gods and spend them on themselves, and also give some of them to the prostitutes in their chamber. [10]So they adorn them—these gods of silver, gold, and wood—with clothing like humans, but they cannot preserve themselves against scum and moth.

[11]After they clothe them with a purple garment, they wipe their face because of the dust from the temple, which is thick upon them. [12]One of them holds a scepter, like the judge of a country who does not put to death the one who sins against him. [13]Another holds a dagger in his right hand and a battleax itself, but he cannot defend himself from war and robbers. [14]From this, it is evident they are not gods; therefore, do not fear them.

Useless, Lifeless

[15]For as the vessel of a man is shattered and becomes useless, such are their gods as they sit in their temples. [16]Their eyes are full of dust from the feet of those who enter. [17]As courtyards are fenced all around against someone who offends a king, and thus is awaiting the death penalty, so the priests also fortify the temples of their gods with doors, bars, and bolts, lest they be plundered by robbers. [18]Although their gods cannot see for themselves, they burn many lamps for them. [19]Indeed, as the saying goes, the gods are like a wooden beam in their temple, for their hearts are eaten out by the creeping things of the earth, which devour both them and their clothing; [20]and the face of their idols is blackened by the smoke from the temple; yet all this goes unnoticed. [21]Bats, swallows, and other birds also perch on their body and head, and even cats likewise sit there. [22]So know from this that they are not gods; therefore, do not fear them.

[23]As for the gold worn by the idols for beauty, unless someone wipes off the scum, it does not shine; neither did they notice this when they were formed. [24]Although they are bought at a high price, there is no spirit in them. [25]Since they are without feet, they must be carried on the shoulders of others, which demonstrates the disgrace of these idols before mankind. Moreover, those who serve them are put to shame, because if the idol happens to fall to the ground, it must be lifted up by them. [26]Even if someone should stand it upright, it would not move by itself, nor if it were bent over, it would not straighten up; yet gifts are offered to it by them as to the dead. [27]But the priests sell their sacrifices to make full use of this money for themselves. Likewise even their wives preserve the meat offered them, though neither the poor nor the lame are given a share; and even a woman in her menstruation, or one just giving birth, touches them. [28]Since you know from this that they are not gods, therefore, do not fear them.

False Priests

[29]How then can these be called gods? For women serve offerings to these gods of silver, gold, and wood. [30]Even the priests sit in their temples, and their clothes are torn. Their heads and beards are also closely shaven and uncovered [31]as they roar and shout before their gods, as some do at a feast. [32]The priests take the garments of their idols to clothe their wives and children. [33]Whether these gods may suffer evil by someone or even good, they will not be able to repay either. Even more, they are not capable of raising up a king, nor do they have the power to remove one. [34]Likewise they are unable to give wealth or money to anyone. Moreover if someone makes a vow to them but does not pay it, they will not seek payment from him.

35They cannot deliver a man from death, nor rescue the weak from the strong.
36They cannot restore the sight of a blind man, nor rescue someone in distress, nor deliver anyone in trouble. 37They cannot show mercy to a widow, nor do good to the orphan. 38These wooden idols, plated with silver and gold, are likened to stones on a mountain, and those who serve them will be put to shame. 39How then can anyone suppose them to be gods, or call them such?

Undiscerning Chaldeans

40Besides, even the Chaldeans themselves dishonor them, for when they see someone without the power of speech, they bring him to Bel. They consider it worthy to call out to him, as though he could understand. 41Yet they themselves do not understand so as to abandon their idols, for they have no discernment. 42The women also put cords around themselves and sit in the streets, burning corn as incense. 43When one of these women is led off by some passerby and sleeps with him, she insults her neighbor because she was not as desirable as herself, nor was her cord broken. 44Everything to do with these idols is a lie. How then can anyone suppose them to be gods, or call them such?

Idols Are a Disgrace

45They are fashioned by craftsmen and goldsmiths. They cannot be anything but what the craftsmen desire them to be. 46Even those who fashion them do not attain a long life; therefore, how can the things created by them be gods? 47For they leave behind lies and a disgrace for those who come after. 48Indeed, when war and calamities fall upon them, the priests counsel among themselves so they may hide themselves with them. 49How then is it not perceived that they are not gods, who can neither save themselves from war nor calamities? 50For they are wood, plated with silver and gold, 51and it will become known and evident in due time to the Gentiles and their kings that they are false and not gods, but rather the works of men’s hands. There is nothing of God’s work in them. 52Who then can fail to know that they are not gods?

53For they cannot raise up a king for a country, nor can they give mankind rain. 54They cannot decide a case, nor can they help one who is wronged; for they are like crows tossed about in the air. 55Indeed, when a fire breaks out in the temple of these wooden gods, plated with silver or gold, their priests will run and save themselves, but these beams of wood in the midst will be burned up. [56]They offer no resistance against a king or in a war. [57]How then can one admit or suppose that they are gods?

[58]Neither can wooden gods save themselves from thieves or robbers, since they are plated with silver and gold. For those who are strong will take away their silver and gold and the clothing they wear. Nor can they help themselves. [59]So it is better to be a king able to demonstrate his own courage, or a household utensil that is useful to its owner, than to be false gods. It is better to be a wooden pillar in a palace than to be false gods. [60]For indeed the sun, moon, and stars that shine brightly are sent for a useful purpose, and they obey. [61]Likewise, when lightning flashes it is seen far and wide, and the wind blows in every country. [62]So too, when God commands the clouds to travel across the whole earth, they fulfill what is commanded. So does fire when it is sent from above to consume the mountains and forests, and does what is ordered. [63]But idols cannot be compared to any of this, either in power or appearance. [64]Therefore they are not to be considered as gods, nor as able to make judgments, nor to be good for mankind. [65]So then, since you know they are not gods, do not fear them.

[66]For they can neither curse nor bless kings. [67]They cannot show signs in heaven to the Gentiles, so as to shine like the sun or give light like the moon. [68]The wild animals are superior to them, for they are able to flee for shelter to profit themselves. [69]Therefore, there is no evidence to prove that they are gods, so do not fear them.

[70]For like a scarecrow in a garden of cucumbers, guarding nothing worthwhile, so are their wooden gods, plated with silver and gold. [71]They are like a thorn bush in a garden on which every bird perches, and they are like a dead man cast into darkness. Such are their wooden gods, plated with silver and gold.

[72]Because of the purple and fine linen rotting on them, you will know that they themselves are not gods. Afterwards, they will be consumed, and become a disgrace in the land. [73]Better therefore is a man who is righteous and has no idols, for he shall be far from disgrace.

Annotations for Epistle of Jeremiah

3 This verse describes a pagan religious procession such as someone like Daniel would daily witness (see Dan 3:1–7).

4 Israel must keep her identity pure and distinct. In the same way, the Church, the new Israel, is called to separate herself from the heretics or those willfully estranged from Christ (see 2Co 6:14–17).

6 This verse describes the important role of the guardian angel, who watches and guides us through the day. For other examples, see Ex 23:20–23; 32:34; Ps 90:11.

14 See note on Bar 4:7. See also Jer 10:3–5.

34–37 The idols are said to be unable to do the very things that the Gospels show Christ doing.

38 Plated is a reference to wood overlaid with silver and gold.

43, 44 The petty rivalries and jealousy show that this is just common prostitution masked by false religion.

45, 46 These verses portray the irony of a mortal creature fashioning his own gods.

48, 49 These verses portray the irony of powerless gods being saved by the priests who pray to them for blessings and protection.

55 Revealing the foolishness of their faith, the priests will sacrifice their gods to save their own lives.

59–64 Being real and serving a practical purpose makes everything from a king to a pillar to a forest fire superior to a false god and idols that do nothing.

68 Compare note on vv. 48, 49.

72 Purple: Valuable dyed cloth that was a sign of wealth or power.

73 The one who is righteous turns from idolatry (see 1Jn 5:21).

The Book of Ezekiel

Author

The prophet Ezekiel himself. No one else could be so intimately informed of his actions and intentions.

Date

The generally accepted time frame in which the book was written is 595–572 BC. This work contains more dates than any other Old Testament prophetic book, and the times of the prophecies are accurately described.

Major Theme

God's direction of events in heaven and on earth. His revelation of knowledge to all the nations is another predominant theme running throughout the book. He is the Judge, but He is equally desirous to be gracious and merciful.

Background

The holy prophet Ezekiel (commemorated on July 23), whose name means "God strengthens," was of the tribe of Levi. He was therefore both priest and prophet, and he was married. He grew up during the reign of King Josiah of Judah (640–609 BC), but his prophetic ministry spanned the years 595 to 572 BC. More than any other prophet, Ezekiel was called by God to involve himself personally in the divine word by acting it out in prophetic symbolism. He was a contemporary of the prophets Jeremiah and Daniel.

Outline

I. The Commission of Ezekiel (1:1–3:27)
   A. Ezekiel sees the glory of God (1:1–27)

G. Judgment on Egypt (29:1–32:32)

IV. Restoration of Israel (33:1–48:35)
A. Return of Israel to the land (33:1–39:29)
B. Restoration of Israel to temple worship (40:1–48:35)

Ezekiel 1

Ezekiel's Vision of God and the Four Creatures

1 Now it came to pass in the thirtieth year, in the fourth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I was in the midst of the captivity by the River Chebar, the heavens were opened and I saw visions of God. 2 On the fifth day of the month, in the fifth year of King Jehoiachin's captivity, 3 the word of the Lord came to Ezekiel the priest, the son of Buzi, in the land of the Chaldeans by the River Chebar; and the hand of the Lord was upon me.

4 I looked, and behold, a sweeping wind came from the north, and a great cloud was in it, with a surrounding brightness and fire flashing forth from it.
In its midst was something like the appearance of amber in the middle of the fire, and a brightness in it. 5 In the midst, there was as it were the likeness of four living creatures. This was their appearance, and the likeness of a man upon them. 6 Each had four faces, and each had four wings. 7 Their legs were straight, and their feet were winged. There were sparks like gleaming brass, and their wings were light. 8 The hand of a man was underneath their wings on their four sides. 9 The faces of those four did not turn as they proceeded, and they went with each face opposite the other. 10 This was the likeness of their faces: the face of a man, the face of a lion on the right side of the foursome, the face of an ox on the left, and the face of an eagle. 11 Their wings were spread out above them. Each had two wings joined together, and two wings covered up their bodies. 12 Each went straight forward wherever the spirit was going, and did not turn back. 13 In the midst of the living creatures there was an appearance as of burning coals of fire, as an appearance of lamps turning among the living creatures. There was the brightness of fire, and out of the fire lightning came forth.

14 I looked and behold, there was one wheel on the earth next to each living creature with its four faces. 15 The appearance of the wheels was like the appearance of beryl, and each of the four had one likeness; and their work was as it were a wheel within a wheel. 16 They went on their four sides, and did not turn when they went. 17 Neither did their backs turn, and they were high. I saw them, and the backs of all four were full of eyes all around.
18 When the living creatures went, the wheels went beside them; and when the living creatures lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up.

19 Wherever the cloud happened to be, there was the spirit ready to go. The living creatures went, and the wheels went with them, for the spirit of life was in the wheels. 20 When the living creatures went, the wheels went; when the living creatures came to a stop, the wheels stopped; and when those were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up with them, for the spirit of life was in the wheels.

21 The likeness above the heads of the living creatures was like a firmament, like the appearance of crystal, spread out over their wings above.
22 Their wings were outspread underneath the firmament, clapping their wings one to the other, two wings joined to each, and two wings covering up their bodies. 23 I heard the sound of their wings when they went, like the sound of much water; and when they stood still, their wings rested.

24 Then behold, a voice came from above the firmament, above their head.
25 There was as it were the appearance of a sapphire stone, and the likeness of a throne upon it. Upon the likeness of the throne there was as it were the appearance of a man above. 26 Then I saw as it were the outward appearance of amber from the appearance of the waist and upward. From the appearance of the waist and downward I saw as it were the appearance of fire with brightness round about. 27 Like the appearance of a rainbow in a cloud on a rainy day, so was the condition of the surrounding brightness.

Ezekiel Called as a Prophet to Israel

This was the vision of the likeness of the Lord's glory. I saw it, and I fell down on my face, and heard the voice of One speaking.

Ezekiel 2

1 Then He said to me, "Son of man, stand on your feet, and I will speak to you." 2 The Spirit then came upon me, took me up, raised me, and set me on my feet; and I heard Him speaking to me. 3 So He said to me, "Son of man, I am sending you to the house of Israel, to the ones provoking Me. They have provoked Me, they and their fathers, up to this very day. 4 Then you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord.' 5 Now then, if they listen or are put off—for they are a rebellious house—still they will know you are a prophet in their midst.

6 "But you, Son of man, do not be afraid of them nor be dismayed by their looks, for they will swarm and sting you, and crowd against you on every side. You will live in the midst of scorpions. Do not be afraid of their words or dismayed by their looks, for they are a house of provocation. 7You shall speak My words to them, whether they hear or are put off, because they are a house of provocation. 8You, son of man, listen to the One who speaks to you. Do not be one who rebels like the house of provocation, but open your mouth wide, and eat what I give you."

9Then I looked, and behold, there was a hand reaching out to me, and the roll of a book was in it. 10He unrolled it before me, and there written on the inside and the outside were words of lamentation and mourning and woe.

Ezekiel 3

1Then He said to me, "Son of man, eat this scroll, and go and speak to the children of Israel." 2So I opened my mouth, and he fed me the scroll. 3Then He said to me, "Son of man, your mouth shall eat and your stomach will be filled with this scroll that is given you." So I ate it, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honey. 4Then He said to me, "Son of man, go! Go to the house of Israel, and speak My words to them. 5For you are not sent to a people of unfamiliar speech and obscure language, but to the house of Israel. 6Neither are you sent to many peoples speaking a foreign language or using strange tongues, nor to a people of heavy speech, whose words you would not understand. Surely, had I sent you to them, they would have listened to you. 7But the house of Israel shall be unwilling to listen to you, because they are unwilling to listen to Me; for all the house of Israel is argumentative and hard-hearted. 8Behold, I have made your face to be strong against their faces, and I will strengthen your case against their arguments. 9Your argument shall be continually stronger than a rock. Do not be afraid of them, nor be dismayed at their faces; for they are a house of provocation."

10Again He said to me, "Son of man, receive into your heart all My words I have spoken to you, and listen with your ears. 11Go! Go to the captives, to the children of your people, and you shall speak to them, saying, 'Thus says the Lord,' whether they listen or whether they refuse." 12Then the Spirit lifted me up, and I heard behind me a great thunderous voice: "Blessed is the glory of the Lord from His place." 13I also perceived the sound of the wings of the living creatures as they clapped one to the other, and the sound of the wheels nearby, and the sound of the earth quaking. 14Then the Spirit moved me and raised me up, and I went forth under the impulse of my spirit; but the hand of the Lord was strong upon me. 15Thus lifted up, I then entered among the captivity and circulated among those who were dwelling by the River Chebar. I sat there for seven days, holding conversation in their midst.

Ezekiel Made a Watchman

16Again it came to pass, after seven days, that the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 17"Son of man, I made you a watchman for the house of Israel, and you will hear a word from My mouth and shall threaten them from Me: 18When I say to the lawless, 'You shall surely die,' and you do not give him explicit warning, nor speak to warn the lawless to turn from his ways so he may live, that lawless man shall die in his unrighteousness; but his blood I will require at your hand. 19However, if you warn the lawless, and he does not turn from his lawlessness, nor from his way, that lawless man shall die in his unrighteousness; but you delivered your soul. 20Again, when a righteous man turns from his righteousness and commits a transgression, and I put him to the test, he shall die, because you did not give him explicit warning. He shall die in his sins, and his righteous deeds which he did shall not be remembered; but his blood I will require at your hand. 21But if you explicitly warn the righteous man not to sin, and he does not sin, the righteous man shall live, because you explicitly warned him; and you will deliver your own soul."

22Again the hand of the Lord came upon me, and He said to me, "Arise and go out into the plain, and there you will be spoken to." 23So I arose and went out into the plain, and behold, the glory of the Lord stood there, just like the vision and just like the glory I saw by the River Chebar; and I fell on my face. 24Then the Spirit came upon me and set me on my feet, and said to me, "Go inside and shut yourself within your house. 25As for you, son of man, behold, chains are appointed for you, and they will put you in them so you cannot go out from their midst. 26I shall bind your tongue, and you will become deaf. You will not be for them as a man to convict them, for they are a house of provocation. 27But when I speak with you, I shall open your mouth, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord.' He who hears, let him hear; and he who disobeys, let him disobey; for it is a house of provocation.

The Siege of Jerusalem Predicted

[1]"As for you, son of man, take a brick for yourself and lay it before you. You shall put it before your face and outline the city of Jerusalem on it. [2]On this outline you shall draw a wall, build a rampart round about it, put a barricade against it, place armies around it, and arrange it with engines of war all around. [3]Then take for yourself a frying-pan made of iron, and set it as an iron wall between you and the city. Set your face against the city, and it shall be in confinement; and you shall shut it up completely. This will be a sign to the children of Israel.

[4]"You shall sleep on your left side and lay the acts of unrighteousness of the house of Israel upon it. For one hundred and fifty days, for this number of days, you shall sleep on it; for you shall bear their acts of unrighteousness. [5]For I have laid on you their two acts of unrighteousness according to the number of the days, one hundred and ninety days. You shall bear the acts of unrighteousness of the house of Israel. [6]When you accomplish all this, then you shall sleep on your right side; and you shall bear the acts of unrighteousness of the house of Judah for forty days. I have appointed you a day for each year. [7]You shall set your face toward the confinement of Jerusalem; and you shall strengthen your arm and prophesy against it. [8]Behold, I have appointed chains for you, and you may not turn from one side to the other until the days of your confinement are accomplished.

[9]"Also take for yourself wheat, barley, beans, lentils, millet, and spelt; put them into one vessel made of earth, and make loaves of bread for yourself. According to the number of days you sleep on your side, one hundred and ninety days, you shall eat them. [10]Your food which you eat shall be by weight, twenty shekels a day; from time to time you shall eat them. [11]You shall also drink water by measure, one-sixth of a hin, and from time to time you shall drink. [12]You shall eat them as a barley cake baked in ashes. You shall bake them in their sight in the filth of human dung. [13]Then you shall say, 'Thus says the Lord God of Israel: So shall the children of Israel eat unclean things among the Gentiles.' "

[14]So I said, "Not so, O Lord God of Israel. Behold, my soul has not defiled itself with uncleanness, nor from my youth up until now have I eaten what died of itself or was torn by beasts, nor has day-old meat entered my mouth."

15Then He said to me, “Behold, I give you cow dung instead of human waste, and you shall prepare your loaves of bread upon it.” 16Then He said to me, “Son of man, behold, I will break the support of bread in Jerusalem, and they shall eat bread by weight and in want and drink water by measure and in a state of ruin, 17so as to become in need of bread and water. A man shall destroy his brother, and they shall waste away in their wrongdoings.

Jerusalem’s Desolation Prophesied

1“As for you, son of man, take for yourself a sword sharper than a barber’s razor. Acquire it for yourself, and shave your head and your beard; then take scales to weigh and divide the hair. 2One-fourth you shall burn in the midst of the city, at the completion of the days of the confinement. Then you shall take one-fourth and burn it up in its midst, and one-fourth you shall cut up around about all sides with the sword; and one-fourth you shall scatter to the wind. Thus I will unsheathe a sword after them. 3You shall also take from there a small amount of hair and wrap it in the fold of your garment. 4Then from this amount, again take some and throw it into the midst of the fire and burn it in the fire. Fire shall come forth from it, and you shall say to all the house of Israel, 5‘Thus says the Lord: “This is Jerusalem; I have put her in the midst of the surrounding countries, in the midst of the nations. 6So you shall speak of My ordinances to the lawless one among the nations, and my laws to the lawless one from the surrounding countries; because they rejected My ordinances, and have not walked in My laws.” 7Therefore thus says the Lord: “Because your opportunity for lawlessness is taken from the nations around you, and you have not walked in my laws, nor kept My ordinances—indeed you have not even kept the ordinances of the nations around you—” 8therefore, thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will execute judgment in your midst in the sight of the nations. 9I will do among you what I have not done, and the likes of which I will not do again, because of all your abominations.
10Therefore fathers shall eat their children in your midst, and children shall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments among you, and all of you who remain, I will scatter to every wind. 11Therefore, as I live,” says the Lord, “surely, because you defiled My holy things with all your abominations, I also will reject you. My eye will not spare, nor will I have any mercy. 12One-fourth of you shall be destroyed by death, and one-fourth shall be consumed in your midst by famine. One-fourth of you I will scatter to every wind, and one-fourth of you will fall by the sword all around you, for I will unsheathe a sword after them. [13]Thus shall My anger and My wrath be accomplished against them. You will come to know this because I, the Lord, have spoken in My zeal, when I accomplish My anger against them. [14]I will make you desolate, along with your daughters around you, in the sight of everyone who travels through. [15]You shall be mournful and miserable among the nations around you when I execute judgments among you, in the vengeance of my anger. I, the Lord, have spoken. [16]When I send forth against them My arrows of famine, and they are extinguished, I also shall break your supply of bread. [17]So I will send against you famine and evil beasts and shall punish you. Death and blood shall pass through upon you, and I will bring a sword against you, all about you. I, the Lord, have spoken.” ’ ”

Ezekiel 6

The Lord Condemns Idolatry

[1]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]“Son of man, set your face against the mountains of Israel and prophesy against them. [3]You shall say, ‘You mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord. Thus says the Lord to the mountains and hills, and to the ravines and valleys: “Behold, I shall bring a sword against you and destroy your high places. [4]Your altars, along with your sacred precincts, shall be broken down. I shall cast down your wounded in the presence of your idols, [5]and scatter your bones all around your altars. [6]In all your dwelling places, the cities shall be laid waste, and the high places shall be abolished, so as to destroy your altars and break your idols in pieces and remove your sacred precincts.

[7]“The wounded shall fall in your midst, and you shall know that I am the Lord, [8]when some among you are escaping from the sword among the nations and when you are scattered among the countries. [9]Then those of you who escape among the nations where they were taken captive will remember Me. For I swore an oath against their heart, which went away from Me and committed fornication, and against their eyes, which committed fornication after their practices. They shall mourn over themselves amid all their abominations. [10]Then they shall come to know that I, the Lord, have spoken.”

11 ‘Thus says the Lord: “Clap your hands and stamp your feet, and say, ‘Good, well done! Good, well done!’ Because of all the abominations of the house of Israel, they shall fall by the sword, by death, and by famine. 12 He who is near shall fall by the sword, and he who is far off shall die an untimely death; and he who is in the confinement shall perish by famine. Thus will I accomplish My wrath upon them. 13 Then you shall come to know that I am the Lord, when your wounded are among your idols, all around your altars, on every high hill, and under every shady tree where they offered a sweet aroma to their idols. 14 So I will stretch out My hand against them, and appoint the land for destruction and ruin, from the desert of Diblah, in all their dwelling places. Then you shall know that I am the Lord.” ’ ”

Ezekiel 7

Judgment Is Near for Israel

1 Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2 “You, son of man, speak and say, ‘Thus says the Lord to the land of Israel: “An end has come; the end has come upon the four corners of the land. 3 An end has come upon you who dwell in the land. 4 The time has come; the day is near, not with tumult nor with travail. 5 Now it is near. I shall pour out my wrath upon you and accomplish My anger among you. I shall judge you in your ways and cause all your abominations to come upon you. 6 My eye will not spare, neither will I show mercy; because I will cause your ways to come against you. Your abominations shall be in your midst, and you will know that I am the Lord who smites. 7 Now the end has come to you. I shall send judgment upon you, take vengeance on your ways, and recompense all your abominations upon you. 8 My eye will not spare against you, nor will I have mercy; because I will cause your way to come against you, and your abominations shall be in your midst. You shall know that I am the Lord.”

9 ‘For thus says the Lord: 10 “Behold, the end has come. Behold, the day of the Lord. Although the rod has blossomed, arrogance has risen forth. 11 The support of the lawless one shall be crushed, and without either tumult or haste. 12 The time has come, behold the day. Let not the buyer rejoice, and let not the seller mourn. 13 For the one who buys shall no longer turn to the one who sells, and a man shall no longer have control over his life. 14 Blow with the trumpet and judge all at once. 15 There shall be war by the sword from without and death and famine from within. He who is in the field will die by the sword, and famine and death shall destroy those in the city. 16Those who are saved and survive will be on the mountains; I will slay all the rest—each one in his wrongdoings. 17All hands shall be feeble, and all legs will be stained with urine. 18They will clothe themselves with sackcloth, and astonishment shall cover them. Shame will be on them—on every face, and baldness on every head. 19They will throw their silver into the streets, and their gold will be disregarded. Their souls will not be satisfied, nor their stomachs filled; because it became their stumbling block of wrongdoings.

20"As for their choice of adornment, they displayed these in arrogance and made their abominable images from them. For this reason I caused these things to be uncleanness to them. 21I will hand over these things into the hands of foreigners, to plunder these things; and I will give these things to the troublemakers of the land as booty, and they shall desecrate them. 22I will turn My face away from them, and they will defile My place of service. They will enter it unguardedly and desecrate it.

23"They will create disorder, because the land is full of peoples, and the city is full of lawlessness. 24I will turn back the pride of their strength, and their holy things shall be defiled. 25Though propitiation shall come and one shall seek peace, there shall be none.

26"There will be woe upon woe, and message upon message, and a vision will be sought from a prophet; but the law will perish from the priest, and counsel from the elders. 27The ruler shall clothe himself with destruction, and the hands of the people of the land will weaken. I will do to them according to their ways and reward them according to their judgments. Then they shall know that I am the Lord!" ' "

Abominations in Jerusalem

1Again it came to pass in the sixth year, in the fifth month, on the fifth day of the month, as I sat in my house with the elders of Judah sitting before me, that the hand of the Lord came upon me. 2Then I looked, and behold, there was the likeness of a man, as of fire from His waist down, and from His waist up like the appearance of amber. 3He extended what looked like a hand and raised me up by the crown of my head. The Spirit lifted me up between the earth and the sky and brought me in a vision of God to Jerusalem, to the porches of the inner gate that looks to the north, where the pillar of idolatry was. 4Behold, the glory of the Lord God of Israel was there, like the vision I saw in the plain.

5Then He said to me, “Son of man, lift your eyes toward the north.” So I lifted my eyes toward the north, and behold, I looked from the north toward the eastern gate. 6Then He said to me, “Son of man, do you see what they are doing? They commit great acts of lawlessness here to keep Me from My sanctuary. Now you will see even greater acts of lawlessness.”

7So He brought me to the porches of the court. 8Then He said to me, “Son of man, dig a hole.” So I dug, and behold, a door. 9He said to me, “Go in, and see the lawless deeds they are doing here.” 10So I went in, and behold, I saw vain abominations—all the idols of the house of Israel were portrayed on the wall all around. 11There were seventy men of the elders of the house of Israel, and in their midst stood Jaazaniah the son of Shaphan. Each man had a censer in his hand, and the smoke of the incense rose up. 12Then He said to me, “Son of man, do you see what the elders of the house of Israel are doing, each one of them in their private bedroom? For they said, ‘The Lord does not see; the Lord has forsaken the land.’ ”

13Then He said to me, “You will see even greater acts of lawlessness they are doing.” 14So He brought me to the porches of the court of the Lord’s house that faces north; and behold, women were sitting there weeping for Tammuz. 15Then He said to me, “Do you see this, son of man? You will see worse practices than these.” 16So He brought me into the inner court of the Lord’s house; and behold, there, at the outer entrance of the Lord’s temple, between the porch and the altar, were about twenty men. They stood with their backs toward the temple of the Lord, with their faces in the opposite direction; and they were worshiping the sun.

17Then He said to me, “Do you see this, son of man? This is not a trivial thing for the house of Judah to commit these lawless acts which they commit here, is it? For they have filled the land with lawlessness, and behold, they are as those who treat Me with contempt. 18As for Me, I shall treat them in anger. My eye will not spare, nor will I have mercy.”

Ezekiel 9

[1]Then He cried out in my ears with a loud voice, saying, “The punishment of the city is near, and each had instruments of destruction in his hand.” [2]Behold, six men were coming from the way of the high gate that looks toward the north, and each one’s ax was in his hand. One man among them was clothed with a full-length robe, with a belt of sapphire about his waist. They entered and stood near the bronze altar.

[3]Then the glory of the God of Israel went up from the cherubim, and the glory which was over them went into the inner court of the house. He called to the man clothed with the long robe with the belt on his waist, [4]and He said to him, “Go through the midst of Jerusalem and put a mark on the foreheads of the men who sigh and groan over all the lawless deeds taking place within her.” [5]To the others He said in my hearing, “Go after him through the city and kill. Let not your eyes spare, and have no mercy. [6]Utterly destroy old men and youth, and virgins, infants, and women, but do not come near anyone on whom is the mark. Begin at My sanctuary.” So they began with the elders who were inside the house. [7]Then He said to them, “Defile the house, and go out and fill the roads with the dead, and smite.”

[8]So it was, as they were smiting, I fell on my face and cried out, and said, “Alas, O Lord, are You wiping out all the remnant of Israel in pouring out Your anger on Jerusalem?” [9]Then He said to me, “The wrongdoing of the house of Israel and Judah has become exceedingly great, for the land is full of many peoples, and the city is full of wrongdoings and uncleanness. For they said, ‘The Lord forsook the land, and the Lord does not look upon it.’ [10]My eye will not spare, nor will I have mercy, but I will recompense their deeds on their own heads.” [11]Then behold, the man clothed with the long robe and girded with the belt on his waist reported back and said, “I have done as You commanded me.”

Ezekiel 10

The Glory Leaves the Temple

[1]Then I looked, and behold, over the firmament above the heads of the cherubim, there was the likeness of a throne over them, like a sapphire stone. [2]He spoke to the man clothed with the long robe, “Go in between the wheels underneath the cherubim, and fill your hands with coals of fire from among the cherubim, and scatter them over the city.” So he went in as I watched.

3 Now the cherubim were standing on the right side of the house as the man was entering, and the cloud filled the inner court. 4 Then the glory of the Lord went up from the cherubim into the inner court of the house. The cloud filled the house, and the court was filled with the brightness of the Lord's glory.
5 The sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard as far as the outer court, like the voice of Almighty God when He speaks.

6 Then it came to pass, as He was commanding the man clothed in the sacred robe, saying, "Take fire from between the wheels, from between the cherubim," that he went in and stood near the wheels. 7 A cherub stretched out his hand into the midst of the fire, between the cherubim, and took and put it into the hands of the man clothed with the sacred garment. The man took it and went out. 8 I saw the cherubim having the likeness of men's hands under their wings.

9 I looked, and behold, four wheels were standing near the cherubim, one wheel by each cherub; and the appearance of the wheels was like that of a precious stone. 10 As for their appearance, there was one likeness to the four, as when a wheel is in the midst of a wheel. 11 When they went, they went on their four sides. They did not turn when they went, for they followed in the direction the first head was looking, but they did not turn as they went.
12 Their backs and hands, and their wings and wheels, were all full of eyes all around their four wheels. 13 As for the wheels, they were called in my hearing, "wheel."

14 The cherubim were the same living creatures I saw by the River Chebar.
15 When the cherubim went, the wheels close to them went; and when the cherubim lifted their wings to mount up from the earth, the wheels did not turn. 16 When the cherubim stood, the wheels stood; and when the cherubim mounted up, the wheels mounted up with them, because the spirit of life was in them.

17 Then the glory of the Lord departed from the house and went upon the cherubim. 18 The cherubim lifted their wings and mounted up from the earth in my sight. When they went out, the wheels were beside them; and they stood by the porches of the door of the Lord's house opposite them. The glory of the God of Israel was over and above them.

19 This is the living creature I saw under the God of Israel, by the River Chebar, and I knew they were cherubim. 20 Each had four faces and each had eight wings, and the likeness of a man's hand was under their wings. 21 As for the likeness of their faces, these are the same faces I saw under the glory of the God of Israel by the River Chebar; and they went straight forward.

Ezekiel 11

Wicked Rulers Will Be Judges

[1]Moreover the Spirit took me up and brought me to the front gate of the Lord's house, the gate which looks eastward; and behold, on the porches of the gate were about twenty-five men. I saw in the midst of them Jaazaniah the son of Azzur, and Pelatiah the son of Benaiah, the princes of the people. [2]Then the Lord said to me, "Son of man, these are the men who plan worthless things and give evil counsel in this city, [3]who say, 'Have not the houses been constructed recently? This city is the cauldron, and we are the meat.' [4]Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, son of man!"

[5]Then the Spirit of the Lord fell upon me and said to me, "Say this, 'Thus says the Lord: "Thus you have said, O house of Israel; for I know the deliberations of your spirit. [6]You multiplied your dead in this city and filled its streets with the wounded. [7]Therefore thus says the Lord: 'Your dead, whom you trampled in its midst, they are the meat, and this city is the cauldron; but I shall bring you out of the midst of it. [8]You fear the sword; thus I will bring a sword upon you,' says the Lord. [9]'I will bring you out of its midst and deliver you into the hands of foreigners, and execute judgments on you. [10]You shall fall by the sword. I will judge you at the borders of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord. [11]This city shall not be your cauldron, nor shall you be the meat in its midst. I will judge you at the borders of Israel. [12]You shall know that I am the Lord.' " ' "

[13]Then it came to pass while I was prophesying that Pelatiah the son of Benaiah died. So I fell on my face and cried with a loud voice, "Alas, alas, O Lord! Will you make a complete end to the remnant of Israel?"

God Will Restore the Exiles

[14]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [15]"Son of man, your brethren, and the men of your captivity, and all the house of Israel are at their end, to whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem said, 'Keep far away from the Lord. This land was given to us as an inheritance.' [16]Therefore say, 'Thus says the Lord: "I will reject them among the nations, and scatter them into every land; yet I shall be a little sanctuary for them in the countries wherever they may go.’ ” [17]Therefore I said, ‘Thus says the Lord: “I shall also receive them from the nations, and gather them from the countries where I scattered them; and I will give them the land of Israel.’ ” [18]They shall enter there and remove all its abominations and lawlessness from it. [19]Then I will give them another heart and put a new spirit within them. I shall remove the stony heart out of their flesh and give them a heart of flesh, [20]so they may walk in My commandments, keep My ordinances, and do them. They will be My people, and I shall be their God. [21]But as for the heart set upon their abominations and lawlessness—as their heart went after these things—so I have recompensed their ways on their own heads,” says the Lord.

[22]Then the cherubim lifted up their wings with the wheels beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was high above them. [23]Then the glory of the Lord went up from the midst of the city and stood on the mountain opposite the city. [24]The Spirit took me up—in a vision by the Spirit of God—and brought me to the land of the Chaldeans, to the captivity. Then I rose up from the vision I saw, [25]and spoke to the host of captives all the words the Lord made known to me.

Ezekiel Prepares for Exile

[1]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]“Son of man, you dwell in the midst of wrongdoers who have eyes to see, but do not see, and ears to hear, but do not hear; for they are a house of provocation. [3]As for you, son of man, prepare belongings for captivity, for captivity by daylight and in their sight. You will be taken into captivity from your place to a different place, a place in their sight; so they may see they are a house of provocation. [4]You will carry out your belongings as baggage for captivity by day before their eyes; and you shall go out in the evening as a captive goes out. [5]Dig through the wall for yourself, and you shall go out through it in their sight. [6]You shall be carried on men’s shoulders and go forth in secret. You shall cover your face and not see the ground, because I have made you a sign to the house of Israel.” [7]So I did this according to all He commanded me. I brought out my belongings as baggage for captivity by day, dug through the wall for myself in the evening, and went out in secret. I was borne upon men’s shoulders before them.

[8]Then in the morning, the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [9]“Son of man, has not the house of Israel, the house that provokes, said to you, ‘What are you doing?’ [10]Say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord, the Master, the Ruler and the Leader in Jerusalem and over all the house of Israel in their midst. [11]Say, “I am performing signs in her midst. As I have done, so shall it be to them, and they shall go into deportation and captivity.” [12]The ruler in their midst will be carried on men’s shoulders and will go out secretly through the wall. He shall dig through that he may pass through it. He shall cover his face so as to remain hidden from any eye; and he himself shall not see the ground. [13]I will spread out My net over him, and he shall be caught in My enclosure. I will lead him to Babylon, to the land of the Chaldeans, but he will not see it, though he shall die there. [14]I will scatter to every wind all his assistants around him, and all his auxiliaries; and I will unsheathe a sword after them. [15]Then they shall know that I am the Lord, when I scatter them among the nations and disperse them in the countries. [16]But I will spare a few of their men from the sword, famine, and pestilence so they may declare all their lawlessness among the nations where they go. They shall know that I am the Lord.’ ”

[17]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [18]“Son of man, you shall eat your bread in sorrow and drink your water with torment and affliction. [19]You shall say to the people of the land, ‘Thus says the Lord to the inhabitants of Jerusalem and to the land of Israel: “They shall eat their bread in poverty and drink their water in desolation, that the land may be destroyed with its fullness; for all who dwell in it are ungodly. [20]Their inhabited cities shall be utterly wasted and their land destroyed. You shall know that I am the Lord.” ’ ”

[21]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [22]“Son of man, what is your parable about the land of Israel which says, ‘The days are far off; the vision has perished’? [23]Therefore say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord: “I shall remove this parable, and no longer shall the house of Israel repeat this parable.” For you shall say to them, “The days are at hand, and the word of every vision. [24]For there shall no longer be any false vision or favorable prophesying in the midst of the children of Israel. [25]For I, the Lord, shall speak my words; I will speak and perform them. I shall delay no longer, because in your days, O house which provokes, I will speak the word and perform it,” says the Lord.’ ”

[26]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [27]“Son of man, behold, the house of Israel which provokes is surely saying, ‘The vision this man sees is many days from now, and he prophesies of times far off.’ 28Therefore say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord: “All My words I speak shall no longer be delayed. I will speak and do,” says the Lord.’ ”

Ezekiel 13

Woe to False Prophets

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2“Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Israel. You shall prophesy and say to them, ‘Hear the word of the Lord.

3‘Thus says the Lord: “Woe to those who prophesy from their hearts, but who see nothing at all! 4O Israel, your prophets are like foxes in the deserts. 5They do not stand in a firm place, and they gather flocks in the house of Israel. They will not stand up who say, ‘In the day of the Lord.’ 6They see lies and prophesy vain things. They say, ‘The Lord says,’ but the Lord did not send them; yet they begin to establish the word. 7Have you not seen a false vision, and spoken worthless prophecies?’ ”

8“Therefore say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Because your words are lies and your prophecies are worthless, therefore I am against you,” says the Lord. 9“I shall stretch out My hand against the prophets who see lies and utter worthless things. They will not exist for the instruction of My people, neither shall they be written down in the record of the house of Israel, nor enter the land of Israel. They shall know that I am the Lord. 10Because they have deceived My people, saying, ‘Peace, peace,’ and there is no peace; and one builds a wall, and they plaster it—it shall certainly fall. 11Say to those who plaster it, ‘It will fall,’ for there shall be flooding rain; and I will send hailstones against its joints, and it shall fall; and a wind will rise up and break it down. 12Behold, the wall has fallen, and will not they say to you, ‘Where is the mortar you used to plaster it?’ ” 13Therefore thus says the Lord: “I will also bring forth a driving and furious wind, and there shall be a flooding rain in My anger. They shall be swept away in anger, and there shall be a flooding rain in My wrath; and I shall bring down hailstones in My anger for complete destruction. 14So I will break down the wall you plastered, and it shall fall. I shall lay it on the ground, and its foundations will be revealed; and you will be consumed with rebukes. You shall know that I am the Lord. 15Thus will I accomplish My anger on the wall and on those who plastered it—it shall fall." So I said to you, "The wall is no more, nor those who plastered it; [16]even so are the prophets of Israel who prophesy over Jerusalem, and who see visions of peace for her when there is no peace," says the Lord.'

[17]"As for you, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people who prophesy from their own heart, and prophesy against them. [18]You shall say, 'Thus says the Lord: "Woe to the women who sew pillows under every elbow, and make coverings for every head of every age, to mislead souls! The souls of my people are turned aside, and they keep alive souls for themselves. [19]They desecrated My people for the sake of a handful of barley and for pieces of bread, so as to kill souls which should not die, and to keep souls alive which should not live, while you prophesy to a people who listen to worthless speeches."

[20]'Therefore, thus says the Lord: "Behold, I am against your pillows whereby you conspire against souls. I will tear them from your arms and free their souls, which you turned aside so as to scatter them. [21]I will tear away your coverings and deliver My people out of your hand. They shall no longer be in your hand, and you shall know that I am the Lord. [22]Because you have turned aside the heart of the righteous man unjustly—whom I did not turn aside—so as to strengthen the hands of the lawless man, that he should not completely turn from his evil way and live; [23]therefore, you shall no longer see false visions, nor utter prophecies; for I will deliver My people out of your hand, and you shall know that I am the Lord." ' "

Woe to the Idolatrous Elders

[1]Now some of the elders of Israel came to me and sat before me. [2]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [3]"Son of man, these men devised inventions in their hearts, and placed before their face the stumbling block of their wrongdoings. Shall I indeed answer them? [4]Therefore speak to them, and say to them, 'Thus says the Lord: "Any man of the house of Israel who devises inventions in his heart, and places before his face the stumbling block of his wrongdoing, and then comes to the prophet, I, the Lord, will answer him according to the things in which his mind is entangled, [5]so as to lead astray the house of Israel according to their hearts, which are completely alienated from Me in their inventions.’ ”

6“Therefore say to the house of Israel, ‘Thus says the Lord and Master:
“Be converted and turn away from your practices and all your ungodliness; then turn your faces back again. 7For any man from the house of Israel, or the resident aliens who sojourn in Israel, who alienates himself from Me, and devises inventions in his heart, and places before his face the stumbling block of his wrongdoing, and comes to the prophet to inquire of him concerning Me, then I, the Lord, will answer him according to the things that entangle his mind. 8I shall set My face against that man, and make him desolate and ruined, and remove him from the midst of My people. You shall know that I am the Lord. 9If the prophet is led astray and speaks, I, the Lord, have led that prophet astray; and I will stretch out My hand against him and destroy him from the midst of My people Israel. 10So they shall bear their wrongdoing—the one who inquired shall bear his wrongdoing according to his wrong, and likewise it shall be for the prophet, 11so the house of Israel may not stray from Me, nor be defiled any longer with all their transgressions, but be My people and I their God,” says the Lord.’ ”

Four Punishments

12Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 13“Son of man, if a land sins against Me by committing a trespass, I shall stretch out My hand against it. I shall cut off its supply of bread, send famine upon it, and remove man and cattle from it. 14Even though these three men: Noah, Daniel, and Job, were in it, they would deliver only themselves by their righteousness,” says the Lord.

15“If again I bring wild animals upon the land and punish it, and it becomes desolate because men fear the wild animals, 16even though these three men were in the land, as I live,” says the Lord, “neither sons nor daughters would be saved. Instead, only they themselves would be delivered, but the land would be desolate.

17“Or again, if I should bring a sword on that land and say, ‘Let a sword go through the land,’ and I removed man and cattle from it, 18even though these three men were in it, as I live,” says the Lord, “they would deliver neither sons nor daughters, but only they themselves would be delivered.

19“Or if I should send death upon the land and pour out My anger upon it in blood, to destroy both man and cattle from it, 20and Noah, Daniel, and Job were in it, as I live,” says the Lord, “neither sons nor daughters would be left.

Only they by their righteousness would deliver their souls."

21Thus says the Lord: "But even if I send upon Jerusalem My four evil punishments—sword, famine, wild animals, and death—to destroy from it both man and cattle, 22yet behold, the remnant in it, those of it who are saved, who bring out sons and daughters from it, behold, these shall go forth to you. You will see their ways and inventions and be sorry over the evils I brought upon Jerusalem, even all the evils I brought upon it. 23Then they will console you, because you will see their ways and their inventions; and you will know I have not done in vain whatever I did in it," says the Lord.

The Worthless Vine

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, of all the wood of the branches in the forest, what would be made from the wood of the vine? 3Would they take wood from it to make something for profit? Would they take a peg from it on which to hang some object? 4It is only thrown into the fire to be consumed, for the fire consumes what is pruned from it each year; thus nothing is left. So will it be useful for profit? 5Not even while it was whole would it be useful for profit. How much less useful would it be once the fire devoured it?

6"Therefore thus says the Lord: 'As the wood of the vine among the trees of the forest, which I give to the fire to be consumed, so I give the inhabitants of Jerusalem; 7and I shall set My face against them. They will get away from the fire, yet fire will devour them. Then they will know that I am the Lord, when I set My face against them. 8Thus I shall give the land over to ruin, because they utterly transgressed,' says the Lord."

Ezekiel 16

God's Love for Lawless Jerusalem

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, testify emphatically to Jerusalem concerning her lawlessness. 3You shall say, 'Thus says the Lord to Jerusalem: "Your root and birth are from the land of Canaan. Your father was an Amorite and your mother a Hittite. 4As for your birth, on the day you were born they did not bind your breasts, nor were you washed in water. Neither were you salted with salt, nor wrapped in swaddling cloths. 5Nor did My eye pity you to do any one of these things for you, to suffer anything for you; but you were cast out into the open field because of the perversity of your soul on the day you were born.

6"As I passed by, I saw you defiled in your blood. So I said to you, 'Let there be life out of your blood, and multiply.' 7I made you as a field in full bloom, and you multiplied, became great, and entered into great cities. Your breasts were firm and your hair grew, but you were naked and behaved improperly. 8As I passed by and saw you, behold, it was your time, a time for lodging people. So I spread My wings over you, covered your shame, and swore an oath to you. I entered into a covenant with you, and you became Mine," says the Lord. 9"Then I washed you in water, washed away your blood, and anointed you with oil. 10I clothed you in embroidered garments with purple underneath. I dressed you with fine linen and covered you with a veil of fine silk. 11I adorned you with jewelry and put bracelets on your wrists and a necklace around your neck. 12I put a ring in your nose, earrings in your ears, and a crown of boasting on your head. 13Thus you were adorned with gold and silver, and your clothing was of fine linen, silk, and embroidered cloth. You ate pastry of fine flour, oil, and honey. You became very beautiful. 14Your name went out among the nations for your beauty, because it was perfected with elegance and beauty which I put upon you," says the Lord.

Playing the Prostitute

15"But you put your trust in your beauty, played the prostitute because of your name, and poured out your fornication on everyone passing by. 16You took cloth from your garments, made idols of needlework for yourself, and committed fornication with them. But you should never have entered into such a thing, nor should this have taken place. 17You also took the fine jewelry of My gold and silver that I gave you and made male images for yourself, and committed fornication with them. 18You took your embroidered garments and clothed them. Then you set before them My oil and incense, 19and took My bread which I gave you—the pastry of fine flour, oil, and honey I fed you—and set it before them as a fragrant offering; and so it was," says the Lord. 20"You also took your sons and daughters whom you bore, and sacrificed these to them to be destroyed, and committed fornication as if that were a small matter. [21]Besides your fornication, you slaughtered your children and offered them as a sacrifice to ward off evil from yourselves. [22]Thus you no longer remember the days of your youth, when you were naked and behaved improperly, and lived defiled in your blood.

[23]“So it came to pass, after all your evils,” says the Lord, [24]“that you also built for yourself a house of fornication, and made a public place for yourself in every street; [25]and at the beginning of every road, you built your brothel and ravaged your beauty. You spread your legs to everyone who passed by, and multiplied your acts of prostitution. [26]You committed fornication with the children of Egypt, your fleshly neighbor, and committed fornication in many ways, to provoke Me to anger. [27]So when I stretch out My hand against you, then I will abolish your customs and will deliver you over to souls who hate you, even to the daughters of foreign lands, who will turn you aside from your way wherein you were ungodly. [28]You also committed fornication with the daughters of Assyria, and even then you were not satisfied; indeed you committed fornication with them and were not satisfied. [29]You multiplied your covenants with the Chaldeans, and not even with these were you satisfied. [30]Why should I make a covenant with your daughter,” says the Lord, “when you do all these things, the deeds of a prostitute? So you committed threefold fornication.

An Adulterous Wife

[31]“With your daughters, you built a house of prostitution at the beginning of every road, set up your high place in every street, and became as a prostitute gathering wages. [32]An adulterous wife is like you, who prefers a whore’s wages to her own husband. [33]She even gives wages to those who commit fornication with her; and you give wages to all your lovers, and load them with wages, so they should come to you from all around for your prostitution. [34]So there happened in you a perverseness in your prostitution beyond that of other women, and they committed fornication with you when you gave them wages; and no wages were received by you; thus perverseness happened in you.

[35]“Now then, prostitute, hear the word of the Lord! [36]Thus says the Lord: ‘Because you poured out your money, and your shamefulness was uncovered in your prostitution with your lovers, and because of your many inventions of lawlessness, and the blood of your children you gave to them; [37]therefore, behold, I will gather against you all your lovers with whom you consorted, and all those you loved, and all those you hated. I will gather them against you from all around and will uncover your evil deeds before them, so they may see all your shame. [38]Thus I will be avenged on you with the vengeance of an adulteress, and bring upon you the blood of fury and jealousy. [39]I shall deliver you into their hands, and they will demolish your house of prostitution and destroy your high place. They will strip you of your clothes, take your proud jewelry, and leave you naked and in disgrace. [40]They also shall bring up a multitude against you to stone you with stones, and to strike you down with their swords. [41]They will burn down your houses and execute punishments on you in the sight of many women. Then I shall turn you back from prostitution, and you will no longer give wages. [42]So I shall discharge My anger against you, then My jealousy will depart from you. I shall be at rest and no longer concerned for you. [43]Because you did not remember the day of your youth, but grieved Me with all these things, therefore behold, I recompensed your deeds on your own head,' says the Lord. For thus you committed ungodliness beyond all your other lawlessness.

[44]"These are all the things they spoke against you in a parable, saying, 'Like mother, like daughter!' [45]You are your mother's daughter, rejecting her husband and children; and you are the sister of your sisters, who reject their husbands and children. Your mother was a Hittite and your father an Amorite. [46]Your elder sister who dwells with her daughters to the north of you is Samaria, and your younger sister who dwells to the south of you is Sodom and her daughters. [47]You not only walked in their ways and acted according to their lawlessness; but, as if that were too little, you excelled more than they in all your ways.

[48]"As I live," says the Lord, "surely your sister Sodom and her daughters have carried on in the manner you and your daughters have done. [49]Surely this was the lawless action of your sister Sodom, namely, arrogance. For in fullness of bread and abundance of wine, she and her daughter lived in self-indulgence. This belonged to her and her daughters, but they did not give a helping hand to the poor and needy. [50]So they were haughty and committed acts of lawlessness before Me; therefore, I removed them as I saw fit. [51]But Samaria did not commit half your sins, for you multiplied your lawlessness beyond them, and declared your sisters righteous by all the lawless deeds you committed. [52]Therefore, bear your punishment, for you corrupted your sisters by your sins, sins more lawless than their own. You made them appear more righteous than yourself. Yes, be disgraced, and bear your dishonor in which you declared your sisters righteous.

53“I will turn away from their faithlessness, the faithlessness of Sodom and her daughters, and I will turn away from the faithlessness of Samaria and her daughters. I will also turn away from your faithlessness in the midst of them, 54so you may bear your punishment and be dishonored by all you did to provoke My anger. 55But your sister Sodom and her daughters shall be restored as they were from the beginning, and Samaria and her daughters shall be restored as they were from the beginning. Even you and your daughters shall be restored as you were from the beginning. 56Surely your sister Sodom was not mentioned by your mouth in the days of your arrogance, before your evils were uncovered. 57Even now you are a disgrace to the daughters of Syria and all those around her, and to the daughters of the foreigners around you on every side. 58By your deeds of ungodliness and lawlessness, you received these things,” says the Lord.

The Covenant Remembered

59“For thus says the Lord: ‘I will deal with you as you have done, as you dishonored these things so as to break my covenant. 60Nevertheless I shall remember My covenant with you in the days of your youth, and raise up an everlasting covenant for you. 61Then you will remember your way and be utterly dishonored when you receive your older and younger sisters. I shall give them to you for strengthening, but not because of your covenant. 62But I shall raise up My covenant with you. Then you will know that I am the Lord, 63that you may remember and be ashamed, and may never open your mouth again because of your dishonor, when I am reconciled to you for all you did,’ says the Lord.”

Ezekiel 17

Two Eagles and a Vine

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2“Son of man, pose a riddle, and speak a parable to the house of Israel. 3You shall say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “A great eagle—with large wings, spreading them out very far, and full of talons, and with the design to enter Lebanon—took the choice branches of the cedar. 4He nipped off its topmost tender twig, carried it to the land of Canaan, and set it in the fortified city. 5Then he took some of the seed of the land, planted it in a fertile field by much water, and set it in a conspicuous place. [6]So it grew and became a weak vine, small in size as to its appearance. Its branches were on it and its roots under it. So it became a vine, put forth shoots, and extended into a vine that grows up trees.

[7]“But there was another great eagle with large wings and many talons; and behold, this vine and her roots turned itself toward him, and stretched its branches toward him, that he might water it together with the soil where it was planted. [8]She thrives in a good field by much water, so as to produce shoots and bear fruit, that she may be a large vine.’ ”

[9]“Therefore say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Will it prosper? Will not the roots of her tender stem and fruit be blighted, and all its shoots be withered? Yes, no mighty arm or many people will be needed to pluck it up by its roots. [10]Behold, it thrives, but will it prosper? Will it not utterly wither when the wind and burning heat touch it? It shall be dried up, its growth together with it soil.” ’ ”

[11]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [12]“Son of man, say now to the house that provokes, ‘Do you not understand what these things mean?’ Tell them, ‘When the king of Babylon comes to Jerusalem, he will take its king and rulers, and take them with himself to Babylon. [13]He will also take one from the royal seed, and make a covenant with him, and place him under oath. [14]Then he will take away the leaders of the land that it may become a weak kingdom, so as never to lift itself up, that he may preserve his covenant and establish it. [15]But this one shall revolt from him and send his messengers to Egypt, so they might give him horses and many people. Will he prosper? Will he who acts as an adversary escape? Can he break the covenant and be delivered? [16]As I live,’ says the Lord, ‘he shall certainly die in the midst of Babylon, in the place where the king dwells who made him king, who dishonored My oath and broke My covenant. [17]But with a small army and few people, Pharaoh shall wage war against him by throwing up a mound and building engines of war, so as to carry away souls. [18]So he will not escape when he does all these things to him, because he dishonored the oath by breaking the covenant, although he gave his hand in trust.’ [19]Therefore say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “As I live, surely My covenant which he broke and My oath which he dishonored—I will recompense these things on his head. [20]I will spread My net over him, and he shall be caught in its enclosure. [21]His whole line of battle will fall by the sword, and those who remain I will scatter to every wind. Then you shall know that I, the Lord, have spoken.’ ”

22 “Therefore, thus says the Lord: ‘I shall take the choice branches of the cedar from its top and nip off their heart, and plant it on a high mountain. 23 I shall hang it on a lofty mountain of Israel, yes, I will plant it; and it will bring forth shoots, produce fruit, and be a great cedar. Under it, every kind of wild animal will take rest, every kind of bird will rest in its shade, and its branches will be restored. 24 So all the trees of the field will know that I, the Lord, am He who humbles the high tree and exalts the humble tree, who dries up the green tree and makes the dry tree flourish. I, the Lord, have spoken and will do it.’ ”

Ezekiel 18

Personal Accountability

1 Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2 “Son of man, what is the meaning of this parable among the children of Israel which says, ‘The fathers eat unripe grapes, and the children’s teeth grind’? 3 As I live,” says the Lord, “you shall no longer use this parable in Israel. 4 For all souls are Mine; the soul of the father as well as the soul of the son is Mine.

“The soul who sins, he shall die. 5 But the man who is righteous and does judgment and righteousness, 6 who will not eat on the mountains, or lift up his eyes to the inventions of the house of Israel, or defile his neighbor’s wife, and who will not approach a woman during her menstruation, 7 or oppress any man, but who will restore to the debtor his pledge, and commit no robbery, but who will give his bread to the hungry and cover the naked, 8 and who will not lend his money with interest, but will turn his hand from wrongdoing, and do righteous judgment between a man and his neighbor, 9 and walk in My ordinances, and keep My requirements to do them—this man is righteous. He will surely live!” says the Lord.

10 “But if he begets a troublesome son, who sheds blood, commits sins, 11 does not walk in the way of his righteous father, but eats on the mountains, defiles his neighbor’s wife, 12 oppresses the poor and needy, commits robbery, does not restore a pledge, sets his eyes on the idols, commits lawlessness, 13 exacts interest, and takes unjust gains—this son shall not live, because he did all this lawlessness. He will surely die, and his blood shall be upon himself.

14 “If, however, he begets a son who sees all the sins his father commits, but fears and does not do according to these things— [15]does not eat on the mountains, nor sets his eyes on the inventions of the house of Israel, nor defiles his neighbor's wife, [16]nor oppresses anyone, nor withholds a pledge, nor commits robbery, but gives his bread to the hungry, covers the naked, [17]and turns his hand from wrongdoing, nor receives interest, nor takes unjust gains, but does righteousness and walks in My ordinances—this son shall not die for the wrongdoings of his father. He will surely live. [18]As for his father, if he cruelly oppresses and robs his brother, and does these contrary things in the midst of My people, he shall die in his wrongdoing.

Turn from Evil and Live

[19]"Yet you say, 'Why does a son not bear the wrongdoing of his father?' Because the son practiced righteousness, showed mercy, kept all My commandments and did them. Thus he will surely live. [20]But the soul who sins shall die. The son shall not bear the wrongdoing of his father, nor shall the father bear the wrongdoing of his son. The righteousness of a righteous man shall be upon himself, and the lawlessness of a lawless man shall be upon himself. [21]But if a lawless man turns from all the lawless deeds he commits, keeps all My commandments, does righteousness and shows mercy, he will surely live and not die. [22]None of the transgressions he commits will be remembered. In the righteousness he does, he shall live. [23]Do I ever will the death of a lawless man," says the Lord, "since My will is for him to turn from the evil way and live? [24]But when a righteous man turns away from his righteousness and commits a wrongdoing, according to all the lawlessness a lawless man commits, then all the righteousness he does shall not be remembered. In the transgression he falls into and in his sins he commits, in these he shall die.

[25]"Yet you say, 'The Lord's way is not straight.' Hear now, all the house of Israel, is My way not straight? Is your way straight? [26]When the righteous man turns away from his righteousness, commits a transgression, and dies in the transgression he commits, he should die because of it. [27]Again when a lawless man turns away from the lawlessness he commits and does judgment and righteousness, then he guards his life; [28]for he turned himself away from all the ungodliness he committed. He will surely live and not die. [29]Yet the house of Israel says, 'The Lord's way is not right.' Is not My way right, O house of Israel? Is not your way wrong? [30]I shall judge you, O house of Israel, each one according to his way," says the Lord. "Return and turn away from all your ungodliness, and it shall not be to you as a punishment for wrongdoing. 31Cast away from yourself all your ungodliness you commit against Me, and make a new heart and a new spirit for yourselves. For why should you die, O house of Israel? 32For I do not will the death of the one who dies," says the Lord.

Ezekiel 19

A Song of Lament

1"As for you, son of man, take up a lamentation for the prince of Israel. 2You shall say, 'Why did your mother became a young lion in the midst of lions? Among the lions she multiplied her young lions. 3Then one of her young lions leaped off. He became a lion, and learned to catch prey—he devoured men. 4The nations also heard of him. He was taken in their pit, and they brought him in a muzzle to the land of Egypt. 5So she saw he was driven away from her, and her assurance perished.

'Then she took another of her young lions and made him a lion. 6He lived among the lions and became a lion. He learned to catch prey—he devoured men. 7He prowled in his boldness, laid waste their cities, and destroyed the land with its fullness by the noise of his roaring. 8Then the nations came against him from the countries all around, and spread their nets over him. He was taken in their pit. 9They put him in a muzzle, and he came to the king of Babylon in a cage for wild animals. So they led him into a prison so his voice would not be heard on the mountains of Israel.

10'Your mother was like a vine, like a blossom on a pomegranate tree, planted in water. Her fruit and branches grew because of much water. 11She became a rod of strength for a tribe of leaders. She was exalted in her greatness in the midst of the stems, and saw her greatness in the multitude of her branches. 12But she was broken to pieces in anger, for she was thrown down on the ground, and the wind and burning heat dried her chosen branches. She was punished, and the rod of her strength withered—fire consumed it. 13So now they have planted her in the desert, in a waterless land. 14Fire went out from the rod of her chosen branches and devoured her. There was no rod of strength in her. Her tribe is a parable of lamentation, and it shall be for a lamentation.' "

Ezekiel 20

The Will of the Lord, and Man's Rebellion

[1]Again it came to pass in the seventh year, in the fifth month, on the tenth day of the month, that men from the elders of the house of Israel came to inquire of the Lord, and they sat before me. [2]Then the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [3]"Son of man, speak to the elders of Israel, and you shall say to them,
'Thus says the Lord: "Have you come to inquire of Me? As I live," says the Lord, "I will not answer your inquiries.' " [4]Shall I utterly take vengeance on them, son of man? Testify to them concerning the lawlessness of their fathers.

[5]"You shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord: "From the day I chose Israel and made Myself known to the seed of the house of Jacob, and to those in the land of Egypt, and helped them with My hand, saying, 'I am the Lord your God'— [6]in that day I helped them with My hand to lead them from the land of Egypt into the land I prepared for them, a land flowing with milk and honey, a land more abundant than all other lands. [7]I said to them, 'Let each of you cast away the abominations before his eyes, and not defile yourselves with the practices of Egypt. I am the Lord your God.' [8]But they fell away from Me and were unwilling to obey Me. They did not cast away the abominations before their eyes, nor abandon the practices of Egypt. Then I said I would pour out My anger and accomplish My wrath among them in the land of Egypt. [9]So I acted that My name would not at all be desecrated in the sight of the nations in the midst of whom they were, and among whom I made Myself known in their sight, to lead them out of Egypt.

[10]"I brought them out of Egypt and led them into the desert. [11]I gave them
My ordinances and made known My requirements to them, which if a man will do them, he shall live by them. [12]I also gave them My Sabbaths as a sign between Me and them, so they might know that I am the Lord who sanctifies them. [13]I said to the house of Israel in the desert, 'You shall walk in my ordinances.' But they did not walk in them, and they rejected my requirements, which if a man will do them, he shall live by them; and they desecrated my Sabbaths exceedingly. Thus I said I would pour out My anger upon them in the wilderness, to utterly destroy them. [14]So I acted that My name might not be at all desecrated before the nations before whose eyes I brought them out. [15]I swore an oath against them in the desert that I would no longer bring them into the land I gave them, a land flowing with milk and honey, a land sweeter than all other lands, [16]because they rejected My requirements and did not walk in My ordinances; instead, they desecrated My Sabbaths and walked after the inventions of their hearts. [17]Nevertheless My eye spared them from utter destruction, and I did not make an end to them in the wilderness.

[18]"But I said to their children in the desert, 'Do not walk in the customs of your fathers, nor observe their requirements, nor have fellowship with their practices, nor defile yourself with them. [19]I am the Lord your God. Walk in My ordinances, keep My requirements and do them. [20]Sanctify My Sabbaths, and let them be a sign between Me and you, that you may know that I am the Lord your God.' [21]But they rebelled against me, along with their children. They did not walk in My ordinances or keep My requirements, which if a man will do them, he shall live by them; and they desecrated My Sabbaths. So I said I would pour out My wrath upon them in the desert, to accomplish My wrath against them. [22]But I did this so My name would not be desecrated in the sight of the nations before whose eyes I brought them out. [23]Thus I swore an oath against them in the desert, that I might scatter them among the nations and disperse them in the countries, [24]because they did not keep My requirements and rejected My ordinances. They desecrated My Sabbaths, and their eyes went after the inventions of their fathers. [25]Therefore I gave them ordinances that were not good, and requirements in which they should not live. [26]I will defile them by their gifts, when I pass through upon everyone that opens the womb, that I may destroy them.' "

[27]"Therefore speak to the house of Israel, son of man, and you shall say to them, 'Thus says the Lord: "Up to this point, your fathers provoked Me by the transgressions they committed against Me. [28]But I led them into the land I swore with an oath to give them, and they saw every high hill and every shade tree. There they sacrificed to their gods; and there they appointed fragrant offerings and poured out their drink offerings. [29]Then I said to them, 'What is this high place you go to?' So they call its name Bamah, to this day.' " [30]Therefore say to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord: "Do you defile yourselves with the lawlessness of your fathers, and commit fornication after their abominations? [31]You defile yourselves in the first fruits of your gifts with all your inventions to this very day. Shall I answer you, O house of Israel? As I live," says the Lord, "I will not answer you, nor will an answer occur to your spirit; [32]for it will not be as you say, 'We will be like the nations and like the tribes of the earth, to worship trees and stones.’ 33“Therefore, as I live,” says the Lord, “I will reign over you with a mighty hand, with a high arm, and with anger poured out. 34I shall lead you out from the peoples and will receive you from the countries where you were scattered, with a mighty hand, with a high arm, and with anger poured out. 35I shall bring you into the desert of the peoples and will judge you face to face. 36As I judged your fathers in the desert of the land of Egypt, so I shall judge you,” says the Lord. 37“I will make you pass under my scepter and bring you in by number. 38I will select the ungodly from among you, and those who revolted; for I shall lead them out of their sojourning, and they will not enter the land of Israel. Then they will know that I am the Lord.

39“As for you, O house of Israel,” thus says the Lord and Master: “Each of you put away your practices, and after this, if you listen to Me, you will no longer desecrate My holy name with your gifts and practices. 40For upon My holy mountain, the high mountain,” says the Lord and Master, “there all the house of Israel will serve Me to the end; and there I shall receive you, and look upon the first fruits of your offerings, together with all your holy objects. 41I shall receive you as a fragrant aroma when I lead you out from the peoples, and receive you from the countries where you were scattered; and I shall be sanctified among you before the eyes of the peoples. 42Then you will know that I am the Lord, when I lead you into the land of Israel, into the land I swore by an oath to give your fathers. 43There you will remember all your ways and practices which defiled you; and you shall bewail yourselves for all your evil. 44Then you will know that I am the Lord, when I deal with you in the way, that My name be not desecrated according to your evil ways and corrupt practices,” says the Lord.’ ”

Ezekiel 21

Fire in the Woods

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2“Son of man, set your face against Teman, and look against Darom, and prophesy against the forest which leads to Nageb. 3You will say to the forest of Nageb, ‘Hear the word of the Lord. Thus says the Lord and Master: “Behold, I will kindle a fire in you, and it shall devour every green wood and every dry wood in you. The blazing flame shall not be quenched, and every face from north to south shall be burned up by it. [4]All flesh shall know that I, the Lord, kindled it, and it shall not be quenched.” ’ ” [5]Then I said, “By no means, O Lord and Master. They say to me, ‘This is a parable, is it not?’ ”

The Sword of the Lord

[6]So the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [7]“Therefore, son of man, prophesy and set your face against Jerusalem, and look against the holy places, and prophesy against the land of Israel. [8]You shall say to the land of Israel, ‘Behold, I am against you, and I will draw My sword out of its sheath and destroy both the unrighteous man and the lawless man from among you. [9]Because I will destroy both the unrighteous man and the lawless man from among you, thus My sword shall go out of its sheath against all flesh from north to south, [10]and all flesh will know that I, the Lord, have drawn My sword out of its sheath; and it shall not return anymore.’ [11]As for you, son of man, groan with a breaking heart, and sigh with bitterness before their eyes. [12]It will be, if they say to you, ‘Why are you groaning?’ that you shall say, ‘Because of the news, for it is coming. Every heart will be oppressed, all hands will be feeble, all flesh and every spirit will faint, and every thigh will be stained with urine. Behold, it is coming and will be,’ says the Lord and Master.”

[13]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [14]“Son of man, prophesy and you will say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Say, ‘O sword, sword, be sharpened and furious, [15]that you may slay victims. Be sharpened, that you may be glistening and ready for destruction. Despise and reject every tree.’ [16]So he made it ready for his hand to hold. The sword is sharpened and ready to put in the hand of the slayer.’ ”

[17]“Cry out and wail, son of man, for this sword is come among My people; this sword is come among all the leaders of Israel. They shall be as strangers because of the sword that is come among My people; therefore, clap your hands, [18]because it is justified; and what if even the tribe is rejected? It shall not be,” says the Lord and Master.

[19]“So you, son of man, prophesy, and clap your hands, and take a second sword. The third is the sword of the slain, the great sword of the slain. It will amaze them, [20]that the heart may be oppressed, and the weak multiplied at every gate of theirs. They are handed over for slaughter by the sword, a sword well suited for slaughter, a sword well suited for glistening. [21]Pass through and strike from the right and from the left, wherever your face may set itself. 22I also will clap My hands together and let go My anger. I, the Lord, have spoken.”

The Sword of the King of Babylon

23Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying: 24“So you, son of man, order two roads for yourself, for the sword of the king of Babylon to enter. The two roads will go forth from one region. There shall be a force at the top of the way leading to the city. 25You shall order for a sword to enter against Rabbath of the children of Ammon, against Judah and against Jerusalem in its midst. 26For the king of Babylon will stand at the ancient road, at the fork of the two roads, to practice divination by casting a stick, consulting the graven images, and inspecting the liver for soothsaying. 27The divination against Jerusalem has come to pass—to set up barricades, to open the mouth with shouting, to lift up the voice with great shouting, to set battering rams against the gates, and to build engines of war. 28He will be to them as one who practices divination before them, and he will bring their wrongdoings to remembrance.

29“Therefore thus says the Lord: ‘Because you caused your wrongdoings to be remembered in the revelation of your ungodliness, that your sins should be seen in all your ungodliness and ways of living—because you caused remembrance of them—you shall be taken captive. 30Now you, O godless and lawless leader of Israel, whose day has come, whose end of wrongdoing has come at the proper time, 31thus says the Lord: “You removed the turban and put on the crown; another will not follow. You humbled what was high and exalted what was low. 32I will reckon it as wrongdoing, wrongdoing! Another shall not follow it until He comes whose right it is, and I will deliver it to Him.’ ”

A Sword for Ammon

33“As for you, son of man, prophesy, and you shall say, ‘Thus says the Lord to the sons of Ammon and to their shame,’ and you shall say, ‘O sword, sword, drawn for slaughter and for an end; arise, that you may glisten. 34While you are seeing a worthless vision, and while you are prophesying falsehood, and while you are handing over the necks of wounded and lawless men whose day has come, whose end of wrongdoing has come at the proper time, 35turn back, and do not lodge in this place in which you were born, for I will judge you in your own land. 36I will pour out My wrath upon you; I will breathe upon you with the fire of My wrath, and deliver you into the hands of barbarians, skilled in working destruction. 37You will be fuel for the fire; your blood will be in the midst of your land. There will be no remembrance of you; for I the Lord have spoken.’ ”

Ezekiel 22

The Sins of Jerusalem

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2“As for you, son of man, will you judge the city of blood? Show her all her lawlessness. 3You will say, ‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “O city that sheds blood in her midst—her time has come—and that makes inventions against herself, 4so as to defile herself with their blood you shed, you fell away, and in the inventions you made you defiled yourself, and caused your days to draw near; and you have come to the end of your years; 5therefore, I made you a disgrace to the nations and a mockery to all countries near you and those far away from you. They will mock at you, saying, ‘She is abominable and unclean, and great is her lawlessness!’ 6Behold, the leaders of the house conspired together within you, each with his relatives, to shed blood. 7Within you they speak evil of father and mother, and behave unjustly toward the resident alien. Within you they oppress the orphan, and within you, the widow. 8Within you they despise My holy things, and within you they desecrate My Sabbaths. 9Within you men are robbers that shed blood within you, and eat on the mountains within you. They do unholy things in your midst. 10Within you they uncover the father’s shame, and within you violate women set apart during their impurity. 11One man acts lawlessly with his neighbor’s wife; another defiles his daughter-in-law in ungodliness; and within you another violates his sister, his father’s daughter. 12Within you they accept gifts so as to shed blood. Within you they receive interest and unjust gains, and by oppression you bring your evil to the full. But you forgot Me,” says the Lord.

13“Therefore, if I strike My hands against the evils you bring to the full—against the things you are doing—and against the bloodshed occurring in your midst, 14will your heart endure, will your hands remain strong in the days I deal with you? I, the Lord, have spoken, and will do it. 15I will scatter you among the nations and disperse you in the countries; and your uncleanness will cease among you. 16I shall make the Gentiles the owners of your inheritance. Then you shall know that I am the Lord.” ’ ”

17Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 18“Son of man, behold, the house of Israel is mixed before Me—they are altogether mixed—the house is mixed together in the midst of the silver, with bronze, iron, tin, and lead. 19Therefore thus says the Lord: ‘Because all of you are one mixture, therefore, I will gather you into the midst of Jerusalem, 20as men gather silver, bronze, iron, tin, and lead into the midst of a furnace, to blow fire on it, to cast it like metal into a mold. Thus I shall gather you in My wrath, and bring you together and cast you. 21I shall blow on you with the fire of My wrath and cast you in her midst. 22As silver is cast into a mold in the midst of a furnace, so shall you be cast in her midst. Then you shall know that I, the Lord, have poured out My anger upon you.’ ”

23Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 24“Son of man, say to her, ‘You are the land not rained on, neither has rain come upon you in the day of wrath.’ 25Her leaders are like roaring lions seizing prey, who devour souls by domination and receive honors in wrongdoing; and your widows multiply in your midst. 26Her priests reject My law and desecrate My holy things. They no longer distinguish between the holy and the profane, nor between the unclean and the clean. They have hidden their eyes from My Sabbaths, and I am desecrated in their midst. 27Her rulers in her midst are like wolves seizing their prey, so as to shed blood and exploit others for greed. 28Her prophets who anoint them will fall because they see worthless and false prophecies, saying, ‘Thus says the Lord,’ but the Lord has not spoken, 29and because they oppress the people of the land in wrongdoing, commit robbery, oppress the poor and needy, and do not treat the resident alien with upright judgment. 30So I sought for a man among them who would conduct himself rightly and stand before Me perfectly at all times in the land, so as not to wipe her out completely; but I did not find him. 31Therefore I poured out My anger in the fire of my wrath to finish them, and I recompensed their ways on their heads,” says the Lord and Master.

Ezekiel 23

Two Immoral Sisters

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2“Son of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother, 3and they committed fornication in Egypt while still young. Their breasts fell while there, and their virginity was lost. [4]Their names were Oholah the elder and Oholibah her sister; they were Mine, and they bore sons and daughters. As for their names, Samaria is Oholah and Jerusalem is Oholibah.

The Older Sister, Samaria

[5]"Oholah departed from Me and committed fornication. She gave herself to her lovers, the Assyrians, who drew near to her, [6]who were dressed in purple, leaders and commanders, all chosen young men, horsemen riding on horses. [7]Thus she committed fornication with them, all of them chosen sons of the Assyrians; and upon whomever she offered herself, with all their inventions, she defiled herself. [8]She did not abandon her fornication with Egyptians, for they slept with her in her youth. These men violated her virginity and poured out their fornication upon her. [9]Therefore I delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hands of the sons of the Assyrians to whom she offered herself. [10]They uncovered her shame, took her sons and daughters, and killed her with the sword. She became a byword among women, and they exacted retribution on her through her daughters.

The Younger Sister, Jerusalem

[11]"Her sister Oholibah saw this, and she indulged in her lusts more corruptly than she, and her fornication more than the fornication of her sister. [12]She offered herself to the sons of the Assyrians, the leaders and commanders near her, men clothed in purple, horsemen riding on horses, all of them chosen young men. [13]I saw both defiled in the same way, [14]but Oholibah added to her fornication; for she looked at men portrayed on the wall, images of Chaldeans portrayed in color, [15]girded with embroidered belts around their waists and brightly colored turbans on their heads, the appearance of high rank to all of them, the likeness of the sons of the Chaldeans, their native land. [16]As soon as her eyes saw them, she offered herself to them and sent messengers to them in the land of the Chaldeans. [17]Then the sons of Babylon came to her, into the bed of love, and defiled her in her fornication. So she was defiled with them, and her soul fell away because of them. [18]She revealed her fornication and exposed her shame. So My soul withdrew from her, as My soul withdrew from her sister. [19]Yes, you multiplied your fornication, so as to call to remembrance the days of your youth, in which you committed fornication in Egypt. [20]For you offered yourself to the Chaldeans, whose flesh is like the flesh of donkeys, and their members as the members of horses. [21]But you did look upon the lawlessness of your youth, the things you did in Egypt in your lodgings, where were the breasts of your youth.

Judgment of the Younger

[22]"Therefore, Oholibah, thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I shall raise up your lovers against you, because of whom your soul fell away, and I shall bring them against you all around— [23]the sons of Babylon, all the Chaldeans, Pekod, Shoa, Koa, all the sons of the Assyrians with them, chosen young men, all leaders and commanders, men of high rank and famous men riding on horses. [24]All will come against you from the north—chariots and wheels with a multitude of peoples, with shields and spears—and they will set up a guard against you all around. I shall give judgment to them, and they will judge you according to their judgments. [25]I shall put My jealousy on you, and they will deal with you in great wrath. They will take away your nose and ears, and strike down your remnant with the sword. They will take your sons and daughters, and fire will consume your remnant. [26]They will also strip you of your clothes and take the objects of your boasting. [27]Thus I shall turn back your ungodliness and your fornication from the land of Egypt; and you shall not lift your eyes to them, nor remember Egypt any longer.'

[28]"For thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I will deliver you into the hands of those you hate, because of whom you withdrew your souls. [29]They will deal hatefully with you and take all the fruits of your labor and toil. You will be naked and disgraced, and the shame of your fornication and ungodliness will be revealed. [30]Your fornication caused this to happen to you, in that you acted as a prostitute with the nations and defiled yourself with their inventions. [31]You walked in the way of your sister; therefore, I shall put her cup into your hands.'

[32]"Thus says the Lord: 'You shall drink from the deep and large cup of your sister, a cup filled to the brim. [33]You shall be filled with drunkenness and feebleness, and you shall drink from the cup of destruction, the cup of your sister Samaria; [34]and I will take away her feasts and her new moons. For I have spoken,' says the Lord. [35]Therefore thus says the Lord: 'Because you forgot Me and cast Me behind your back, therefore, bear the penalty of your ungodliness and prostitution.' "

Judgment of Both Sisters

[36]Again the Lord said to me, “Son of man, will you judge Oholah and Oholibah? You shall declare their lawlessness to them. [37]For they committed adultery, and blood is on their hands. They committed adultery with their inventions, and passed through the fire the children whom they bore to Me. [38]So long as they did these things to Me, they defiled My sanctuary and desecrated My Sabbaths. [39]For as they were slaughtering their children for their idols, they also entered My sanctuary to desecrate it; for so they did in the midst of My house. [40]They also sent for men from afar by way of messengers; and as they were traveling, you washed yourself for them, made up your eyes, and adorned yourself with jewelry. [41]You sat on a furnished bed, with a decorated table before it, and they rejoiced over My incense and oil. [42]They played harmonious music, and put bracelets on their wrists and a crown of boasting on their heads, to attract the multitude of men coming from the desert. [43]Therefore I asked, ‘Are they not committing adultery and doing the deeds of a prostitute with these? Is she not indulging in prostitution?’ [44]Yes, they went in to her as men go in to a prostitute; thus they went in to Oholah and Oholibah, to commit lawlessness. [45]But righteous men will take revenge on them after the manner of an adulteress, and after the manner of women who shed blood; because they are adulteresses, and blood is on their hands.

[46]“Thus says the Lord: ‘Bring up a multitude against them and give them up to trouble and plunder. [47]They will stone them with the stones of a crowd and stab them with their swords. They will kill their sons and daughters and set their houses on fire. [48]Thus I shall turn away ungodliness from the land, and all women will be taught not to imitate their ungodliness. [49]Your ungodliness will be recompensed upon you, and you will bear the sins of your inventions. Then you shall know that I am the Lord.’ ”

Ezekiel 24

Parable of the Cooking Pot

[1]Again the word of the Lord came to me in the ninth year, in the tenth month, on the tenth day of the month, saying, [2]“Son of man, record for yourself daily, from this day, the day on which the king of Babylon laid siege against

Jerusalem. [3]Speak a parable to the house which provokes, and you shall say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Stand over a basin and pour water into it. [4]Put pieces of meat in it, every good piece, the thigh and shoulder full of meat, [5]taken from the choice cattle. Also pile fuel-bones under it, make it boil well, and let the cuts simmer.”

[6]‘Therefore thus says the Lord: “O bloody city, the basin in which there is scum, and the scum has not gone out of it. She brought forth the cuts, piece by piece, but no portion was selected. [7]For her blood is in her midst; I set it upon a smooth rock; I did not pour it on the ground, that the dirt may cover it, [8]that My wrath may come forth and take vengeance. I set her blood upon a smooth rock, so as not to cover it.”

[9]‘Therefore thus says the Lord: “I will also make a great display of fire. [10]I shall heap the wood on and kindle the fire, to consume the meat and boil away the sauce. [11]I will set the basin on the coals, so its copper may become thoroughly heated and melted in the midst of her uncleanness, so her scum may be consumed, [12]and her abundant scum may not come forth from her. [13]Her scum shall be shameful, because you defiled yourself, and what if you will not be cleansed any more, until I have satisfied my wrath? [14]I, the Lord, have spoken it, and it will come to pass; and I shall do it. I will not hold back nor show mercy. According to your ways and your inventions, I shall judge you,” says the Lord. “Therefore I shall judge you according to your bloodshed and inventions, you unclean, notorious, and provoking one.” ’ ”

Death of Ezekiel’s Wife

[15]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [16]“Son of man, behold, I will take away your inventions before your eyes in the line of battle, but you shall neither mourn nor weep. [17]There shall be groaning over bloodshed and mourning on bended knee. There shall be no braided hair on your head or sandals on your feet. You shall not be comforted by their lips, nor shall you eat the bread of men.” [18]So I spoke to the people in the morning in the manner He commanded me, and that evening my wife died. The next morning I did as He commanded me.

[19]Then the people said to me, “Will you not tell us what these things mean that you are doing?” [20]So I answered them, “The word of the Lord came to me, saying, [21]‘Speak to the house of Israel, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I shall desecrate My sanctuary, the boast of your strength, the object of your desire, over which your souls spare nothing; and your sons and daughters whom you left will fall by the sword. [22]You will do as I have done. You will not be comforted by their mouth, nor eat the bread of men. [23]Your hair will be on your heads and your sandals on your feet. You will neither mourn nor weep. You will sink deep in your wrongdoings, and each of you will comfort one another. [24]Thus Ezekiel shall be a sign to you; according to all he does, you will do. When these things come, you will know that I am the Lord.' "

[25]'As for you, son of man, it shall not be as in the day when I take their strength from them, the arrogance of their boasting, the objects of their desire, and the arrogance of their souls, their sons and their daughters. [26]In that day, he who is rescued will come to you, so you will hear of it with your own ears. [27]In that day, your mouth will open before him who is rescued. You will speak and no longer be silent. Thus you will be a sign to them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.' "

Ezekiel 25

Judgment on the Gentile Nations: Ammon

[1]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]"Son of man, set your face against the children of Ammon and prophesy against them. [3]You shall say to the children of Ammon, 'Hear the word of the Lord. Thus says the Lord: "Because you rejoiced against My sanctuary when it was desecrated, and against the land of Israel when it was destroyed, and against the house of Judah when they went into captivity; [4]therefore, behold, I shall deliver you over to the children of Kedem as an inheritance. They will dwell among you with their goods and pitch their tents among you. They will eat your fruit and drink your drinks. [5]I shall make the city of Ammon a pasturage for camels, and Rabbah a resting place for sheep. Then you will know that I am the Lord." [6]For thus says the Lord: "Because you clapped your hands, and applauded with your feet, and rejoiced in your soul against the land of Israel; [7]therefore, I shall stretch out My hand against you and give you as plunder to the nations. I shall utterly destroy you from among the peoples and cause you to perish from the countries. Then you will know that I am the Lord."

Moab

[8]'Thus says the Lord: "Because Moab said, 'Behold, the house of Israel and Judah is like all the nations,' [9]therefore, behold, I shall weaken the shoulder of Moab from its prominent cities—its choice land—as is the house of Beth Jeshimoth, above the spring of the seaside city. [10]I have given these cities, as well as the children of Ammon, as an inheritance to the sons of Kedem, so there may be no memory of the sons of Ammon. [11]Thus I shall take vengeance upon Moab, and they will know that I am the Lord."

Edom

[12]'Thus says the Lord: "Because of what Edom did when it took revenge on the house of Judah, and because they remembered wrongs and exacted punishment," [13]therefore, thus says the Lord: "I shall also stretch out My hand against Edom, and destroy man and cattle from it, and make it a desert. They will be pursued from Teman and fall by the sword. [14]I shall execute My vengeance on Edom by the hand of My people Israel, and they will do in Edom according to My wrath and anger. Then they will know My vengeance," says the Lord.

Cretans

[15]'Therefore thus says the Lord: "Because the foreigners exacted vengeance and raised up vengeance, rejoicing in their souls to destroy My people forever," [16]therefore, thus says the Lord: "Behold, I shall stretch out My hand against the foreigners, and I shall utterly destroy the Cretans. I shall also destroy those who dwell on the seacoast. [17]I shall execute great vengeance, and they will know that I am the Lord, when I bring My vengeance upon them." ' "

Ezekiel 26

Judgment on Tyre

[1]Again it came to pass in the eleventh year, on the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]"Son of man, because Tyre spoke against Jerusalem, saying, 'Good, well done!' she is crushed; the nations destroyed her; she is turned to Me; she who was full is made desolate! [3]Therefore, thus says the Lord: 'Behold, I am against you, O Tyre, and will cause many nations to come up against you, as the sea causes its waves to crash the shore. [4]They will knock down your walls, O Tyre, and break down your towers. I shall scrape her dust from her and make her like a smooth rock. [5]It will be a drying-place for fishing nets in the midst of the sea, for I have spoken,’ says the Lord. ‘It shall be as a place of plunder for the nations. [6]Also her daughters which are on the plain will be killed by the sword. Then they will know that I am the Lord.’

[7]“For thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, from the north I will bring Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon against you, O Tyre. He is king of kings, with horses, chariots, horsemen, and an army of very many nations. [8]He will kill your daughters with the sword in the plain; he will establish outposts and build forts around you. He will establish a barricade and warlike works against you all around, and array his spears against you. [9]Your walls and towers will be struck down with his swords. [10]Because of the great number of his horses, their dust clouds will cover you, and because of the sound of his horsemen and the wheels of his chariots, your walls will shake when he enters your gates, like one who enters a city from the plain. [11]With the hooves of his horses, they will trample all your streets. He will kill your people with the sword, and bring down to the ground the substance of your strength. [12]He will plunder your army and strip your possessions. He will break down your walls and pull down your desirable houses. He will throw your stones, your timber, and your soil into the sea. [13]He will destroy the multitude of your musicians, and the sound of your harps will be heard no more. [14]I shall make you bare like the top of a rock, a place for spreading nets; you will never be rebuilt, for I have spoken,’ says the Lord.

[15]“For thus says the Lord and Master to Tyre: ‘Will not the coastlands shake at the sound of your fall, when the wounded groan, when the sword is unsheathed in your midst? [16]Then all the rulers of the nations along the seacoast will step down from their thrones, lay aside their crowns, and take off their embroidered garments. They will be beside themselves as they sit on the ground. They will tremble with fear at their destruction and groan over you. [17]They will take up a lamentation for you and say to you, “How were you destroyed from out of the sea, O renowned city that caused her fear to be on all her inhabitants?” [18]From the day of your fall, the coastlands will also be afraid.’

[19]“For thus says the Lord and Master: ‘When I make you a wasted city, like cities not to be inhabited, and when I bring the abyss upon you, and much water covers you, [20]then I shall bring you down to those who descend into the pit, to the people of old, and I shall make you dwell in the depths of the earth, like an eternal desert, with those who go down into the pit, that you may never be inhabited, nor raised up to the land of the living. 21I shall give you over to destruction, and you will never exist again,’ says the Lord and Master.”

Ezekiel 27

Lament for Tyre

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2“Son of man, take up a lamentation for Tyre, 3and you shall say to Tyre, situated at the entrance of the sea and market of the peoples on many coastlands, ‘Thus says the Lord to Tyre: “You say, ‘I clothed myself with beauty.’ 4In the heart of the sea, your sons clothed you with beauty for Beelim. 5Cedar from Senir was used by you in building. Boards of cypress timber were obtained from Lebanon to make masts of pinewood, 6and they made your oars out of wood from Bashan. They made your sacred objects from ivory, and your groves of houses out of wood from the coastlands of Cyprus. 7Your couch was made of fine embroidered linen from Egypt, to cover you with splendor, and to clothe you with blue and purple from the coasts of Elishah. They were your coverings. 8Your rulers were the inhabitants of Sidon, and the Aradians were your oarsmen. Your skilled men, O Tyre, were your pilots. 9The elders of Byblos and their wise men were in you. These men strengthened your counsel. All the ships of the sea and their oarsmen were yours, even to the far west.

10“Persians, Lydians, and Libyans were in your army. Your warriors hung shields and helmets in you, and they gave you glory. 11The sons of the Aradians and your army were upon your walls. There were guards in your towers, and they hung their quivers on the walls all around your harbors. These sons completed your beauty.

12“Those from Carthage were your merchants because of the abundance of all your strength. They furnished your marketplace with silver, gold, iron, tin, and lead. 13Greece and all the extended regions, these busied themselves in the trade of human lives and of vessels of copper for your markets. 14The house of Togarmah furnished your marketplace with horses and horsemen. 15The sons of Rodians were your traders. From the coastlands they multiplied your trade in ivory. 16To those who brought in the goods, you paid them wages in return from the abundant market of your mixed goods: myrrh and embroidered works from Tharsis, and even people as merchandise. Ramoth and Chorchor also traded with you. [17]Judah and the sons of Israel, these traded with you. They traded in your marketplace the sale of wheat, myrrh, cassia, fine honey, oil, and resin. [18]Damascus was a merchant in your marketplace because of the abundance of all your power: wine from Helbon and wool from Miletos. They also provided wine for your marketplace. [19]From Asel, there came wrought iron and wheels for your market of mixed goods. [20]Dedan was your merchant, with choice animals for chariots. [21]Arabia and all the rulers of Kedar, these were your traders, bringing camels, rams, and lambs in which they traded with you. [22]The merchants of Sheba and Raamah traded with you. They traded for your wares the choicest spices, all kinds of precious stones, and gold. [23]Harran and Canneh also traded with you. Assyria and Chilmad were merchants in your marketplace, [24]as they brought trade in blue cloth, in choice treasures bound with ropes, and in cypress wood. [25]The ships of Tarshish were your merchants in abundance, with your market of mixed goods, and you were filled and heavily loaded in the heart of the sea.

[26]“Your oarsmen brought you into many waters, but the south wind broke you to pieces in the heart of the sea. [27]Your armies and the profits from your markets of mixed goods, your oarsmen and pilots, your counselors and merchandisers from your market of mixed goods, all your men of war who are in you, and the entire company in your midst will fall in the heart of the sea in the day of your fall. [28]At the sound of your cry, your pilots will be greatly afraid. [29]All who handle the oar, the mariners, and all the pilots of the sea will disembark from their ships and stand on the shore. [30]They will cry out in pain over you. They will cry out bitterly, put dust on their heads, and spread ashes under themselves. [31]Their sons will take up a song of grief and a lamentation for you, saying, [32]‘How great a profit did you find from the sea? The nations were filled from your abundance and the kings of the earth were enriched from your market of mixed goods. [33]Now you are broken to pieces in the sea, in the depth of water. Your market of mixed goods and all your assembly fell in your midst, along with all your oarsmen. [34]All the inhabitants of the coastlands are shocked over you. Their kings are greatly astonished, and their faces are covered with tears. [35]The merchants from the nations hiss at you, for destruction has come about, and you will be no more forever.’ ” ’ ”

The King of Tyre Is Overthrown

[1]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]“As for you, son of man, say to the ruler of Tyre, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Because your heart is lifted up, and you say, ‘I am God, and I live in the dwelling of God, in the heart of the sea,’ yet you are a man and not God, though you set your heart as the heart of God. [3]Are you wiser than Daniel? Or have not your wise men instructed you with their understanding? [4]Have you gained wisdom by your own understanding? Have you gained power for yourself by your own knowledge or discernment, and obtained gold and silver by yourself for your treasuries? [5]By your abundant understanding and trade you increased your power, and your heart was lifted up in your power.” [6]Therefore thus says the Lord: “Since you set your heart as the heart of God, [7]instead of this, behold, I shall bring foreigners against you, the plague of the nations. They will unsheathe their swords against the beauty of your knowledge and bring down your beauty in destruction. [8]They will bring you down, and you will die the death of the slain in the heart of the sea. [9]Will you still say, ‘I am God,’ before those who slay you? But you are a man and not God. [10]You shall perish by the hands of foreigners among the multitude of the uncircumcised, for I have spoken,” says the Lord.’ ”

Lamentation for the Ruler of Tyre

[11]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [12]“Son of man, take up a lamentation for the ruler of Tyre, and say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “You are a seal of resemblance and crown of beauty. [13]You were the luxury of the paradise of God, adorned with every good stone: sardius, topaz, emerald, and diamond, sapphire, jasper, silver, and gold, stone of Liguria, agate, and amethyst, chrysolite, beryl, and onyx. You filled your treasuries and your storehouses with gold from the very day you were created. [14]I appointed you to be with the cherub. I set you on the holy mountain of God. You were in the midst of the stones of fire. [15]You were blameless in your days from the day you were created, until wrongs were found in you. [16]By the abundance of your trade, you filled your secret rooms with lawlessness; thus you sinned. So you were cast wounded from the mountain of God, and the cherub brought you out from the midst of the stones of fire. [17]Your heart was lifted up because of your beauty. Your knowledge was corrupted with your beauty. Because of the multitude of your sins I cast you to the ground. Before kings I set you forth as an example. [18]Because of the multitude of your sins and the wrongdoings of your trade, you desecrated your sanctuaries; therefore, I will bring fire from your midst which will devour you, to turn you into ashes upon your land in the sight of all who see you. [19]All who know you among the nations shall groan over you. You destroyed yourself, and you shall be present no more forever.” ’ ”

Judgment on Sidon

[20]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [21]“Son of man, set your face toward Sidon, and prophesy against her, [22]and say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I am against you, O Sidon, and I shall be glorified in you. Then you will know that I am the Lord, when I execute judgments in you and am sanctified in you. [23]Blood and death shall be in your streets, and those wounded by the sword shall fall on every side. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

[24]“Thus there will no longer be in the house of Israel a thorn of bitterness or a painful thorn from all who are around them, who dishonor them. Then they will know that I am the Lord.”

Israel Will Have Hope

[25]‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “I shall bring Israel from the nations where they were scattered, and I shall be sanctified among them in the sight of the peoples and of the nations. Then they will dwell in their own land which I gave to My servant Jacob. [26]So they will dwell there in hope, build houses, and plant vineyards; yes, they will dwell in hope when I execute judgment on all those who dishonor them. Then they will know that I am the Lord their God, and the God of their fathers.” ’ ”

Ezekiel 29

Judgment on Egypt

[1]In the tenth year, in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]“Son of man, set your face toward Pharaoh king of Egypt, and prophesy against him and against all Egypt. [3]Speak and say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I am against you, O Pharaoh king of Egypt, O great dragon who lies in the midst of his rivers and says, ‘The rivers are mine, for I made them.’ 4But I shall put hooks in your jaws and join the fish of your rivers to your wings, and I shall bring you and all the fish of your river up from the midst of your river. 5Then I will quickly cast down you and all the fish of your river. You will fall to the surface of the plain, and you will not be gathered and buried. I will give you as food to the wild animals of the field and to the birds of the heavens. 6Then all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they were a staff made of reed to the house of Israel. 7For when they took hold of you with their hand, you broke it, and when every hand conquered them and they rested their hand on you, you crushed it and broke all their backs.”

8‘Therefore thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will bring a sword against you, and destroy man and cattle from you. 9Thus the land of Egypt shall be destroyed and become a desert. Then they will know that I am the Lord, because you say, ‘The rivers are mine, and I made them.’ 10Therefore, behold, I am against you and against all your rivers, and I shall turn the land of Egypt into a desert, to the sword and to destruction, from Migdol to Syene, as far as the borders of Ethiopia. 11Neither foot of man nor foot of cattle will pass through it, and it will be uninhabited for forty years. 12I shall make the land of Egypt a destruction in the midst of a land laid waste, and her cities will be laid waste for forty years. I shall scatter Egypt among the nations and disperse them like chaff throughout the countries.”

13‘Yet, thus says the Lord: “At the end of forty years, I shall gather the Egyptians from the nations where they were scattered. 14I shall bring back the captives of the Egyptians and cause them to dwell in the land of Pathros, in the land from which they were taken; but they will be a lowly dominion. 15Alongside all the dominions, it will not be exalted any longer among the nations, for I shall make them to be very small, so as not to be great among the nations. 16So they shall no longer be to the house of Israel as an expectation to remind them to follow after their lawlessness. Then they will know that I am the Lord.” ’ ”

Babylon Will Plunder Egypt

17Again it came to pass in the twenty-seventh year, in the first month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 18“Son of man, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon caused his army to labor strenuously against Tyre. Every head was made bald, and every shoulder rubbed raw; yet there was no reward to him nor his army serving against Tyre, for the labor they expended on it. [19]Therefore thus says the Lord and Master: ‘Behold, I will give the land of Egypt to Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, and he will plunder it and carry off her spoil. It will be the wages for his army. [20]As compensation for his service in which he served against Tyre, I will give him the land of Egypt,’ says the Lord and Master.

[21]“In that day a horn shall spring forth for all the house of Israel, and I will give you an open mouth in the midst of them. Then they will know that I am the Lord.”

Ezekiel 30

Woe to Egypt and Her Allies

[1]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]“Son of man, prophesy and say, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Woe, woe be the day! [3]For the day of the Lord is near. It shall be the end of the nations. [4]The sword will come upon the Egyptians, and there shall be trouble in Ethiopia. The wounded will fall in Egypt, and her foundations shall collapse. [5]Persians, Cretans, Lydians, Libyans, and all the mixed multitude, and all the children of the covenant shall fall by the sword therein.”

[6]‘Thus says the Lord: “The supports of Egypt will fall, and the insolence of her strength will come down. From Migdol to Syene, they shall fall by the sword therein,” says the Lord. [7]“So they shall be wasted in the midst of desolate countries, and their cities shall be wasted in the midst of desolate cities. [8]Then they will know that I am the Lord, when I set Egypt on fire and crush all those who help it. [9]In that day messengers shall go forth, hurrying to destroy Ethiopia, and there will be trouble among them in the day of Egypt; for behold, it is coming.”

[10]‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “I shall destroy a multitude of the Egyptians by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon. [11]His hand and the hand of his people, they are the plague of the nations, sent to destroy the land. They will unsheathe all their swords against Egypt and fill the land with the slain. [12]I shall make their rivers deserts, and I will destroy the land and its fullness by the hands of foreigners. I, the Lord, have spoken.”

[13]‘For thus says the Lord and Master: “I shall also destroy the men of high status from Memphis, and the rulers of Memphis from the land of Egypt; and they shall be no more. [14]I shall destroy the land of Pathros, and set Tanis on fire, and exact vengeance on Diospolis. [15]I will pour out My anger on Sais, the strength of Egypt, and I will destroy the multitude of Memphis, [16]and set Egypt on fire. Syene will be greatly troubled, there shall be a rupture in Diospolis, and there will be flooding waters. [17]The youth of Heliopolis and Bubastum shall fall by the sword, and the women will go into captivity. [18]At Taphnae, the day will be darkened, when there I break to pieces the kingly powers of Egypt, and there the insolence of her strength shall perish. A cloud will cover her, and her daughters shall be taken prisoners. [19]Thus I shall execute judgment on Egypt, for they shall know that I am the Lord.” ’ ”

Pharaoh Punished by Babylon

[20]Again it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the first month, on the seventh day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [21]“Son of man, I have broken the arms of Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and, behold, it has not been bound up to be healed, and no plaster applied to make it strong enough to hold a sword. [22]Therefore thus says the Lord and Master: ‘I am against Pharaoh king of Egypt. I will break his strong and outstretched arms, and throw down his sword from his hand. [23]I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them as chaff throughout the countries. [24]I shall strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon and put My sword into his hand. I shall bring it upon Egypt, and he shall plunder and take spoils from it. [25]Thus I shall strengthen the arms of the king of Babylon, but the arms of Pharaoh will fall. Then they will know that I am the Lord, when I put My sword into the hand of the king of Babylon and he stretches it out against the land of Egypt. [26]So I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations and disperse them as chaff throughout the countries. Then all will know that I am the Lord.’ ”

Ezekiel 31

A Warning to Pharaoh

[1]Again it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the third month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]“Son of man, say to Pharaoh, king of Egypt, and to his multitude, ‘To whom do you liken yourself in your high position? [3]Behold, Assyria was a cypress in Lebanon, and he was beautiful in offshoots and high in greatness. His rule came to be among the clouds. [4]Water nurtured him, and the depths made him grow tall. The depths led her rivers around his trees, and sent forth her system into all the trees of the plain. [5]For this reason his greatness was exalted above all the trees of the plain, and his branches were enlarged because of the abundance of water. [6]All the birds of the heavens made their nests in his offshoots, and under his branches all the wild animals of the plain brought forth their young; and all the multitude of nations dwelt under his shadow. [7]Thus he was beautiful in his high position because of the multitude of his branches, for his roots were in much water. [8]There were no such cypresses in the paradise of God, and there were no pine trees displaying offshoots like these. Silver firs did not have branches like these. No tree in the paradise of God was like him in beauty because of the multitude of his branches, [9]and all the trees of God's paradise of splendor were jealous of him.'

[10]"Therefore thus says the Lord: 'Because you increased in greatness, and you established your rule among the clouds, and I saw him when he was exalted; [11]therefore, I delivered him into the hands of the ruler of nations, and he carried out his destruction. [12]Thus foreigners, the plague of the nations, destroyed him and cast him down upon the mountains. His branches fell in all the valleys, and his stems were broken in every plain of the land. All the peoples of the nations went down from their shelter and dashed him to the ground. [13]All the birds of heaven rested on his fall, and all the wild animals of the field came upon his branches, [14]that no trees in the water may ever again exalt themselves in their greatness, nor establish their rule among the clouds, and that no trees which drink water may stand in their high position. For all were delivered to death, to the depths of the earth, among the sons of men who go down to the pit.'

[15]"Thus says the Lord and Master: 'In the day he went down to Hades, the deep abyss mourned him; and I stood over her rivers and restrained her abundant water. Lebanon mourned over him, and all the trees of the field fainted over him. [16]From the sound of his fall, the nations were shaken when I cast him down to Hades, together with those who descend into the pit. All the trees of splendor and the chosen plants of Lebanon, all that drink water, comforted him in the earth. [17]Yet they also went down to Hades with him among those slain by the sword, along with their posterity. They that dwelt under his shadow perished in the midst of their life. [18]To whom are you likened? Go down and be humiliated with the trees of splendor to the depths of the earth. You will sleep in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword. Thus shall it be for Pharaoh and the multitude of his strength,' says the Lord and Master."

Ezekiel 32

Lamentation for Pharaoh and Egypt

1Again it came to pass in the eleventh year, in the twelfth month, on the first day of the month, that the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, take up a lamentation over Pharaoh king of Egypt, and you shall say to him, 'You are like a lion among the nations, and you are like a dragon in the sea. You assaulted with your rivers, troubled water with your feet, and trampled your rivers.'

3"Thus says the Lord: 'I shall therefore spread a net over you of many peoples, and bring you up with my fishhook. 4I shall stretch you out upon the earth, and the plains will be filled with you. I shall cause the birds of the heavens to settle upon you, and all the beasts of the whole earth to fill up on you. 5I shall offer your flesh on the open mountains and saturate them with your blood. 6The land shall be drenched with your excrement because of your multitude upon the mountains. I will fill the valleys with you. 7When I extinguish you, I shall cover up heaven and make its stars grow dark. I shall cover up the sun with a cloud, and the moon will not give her light. 8All the bodies that give light in heaven shall grow dark over you, and I shall bring darkness upon your land, says the Lord and Master. 9I will provoke to anger the heart of many peoples, when I lead you captive among the nations into a land you have not known. 10Many nations will become saddened over you, and their kings will be utterly amazed when My sword flies in their faces, as they await their own fall from the day of your fall.'

11"For thus says the Lord: 'The sword of the king of Babylon will come upon you with the swords of his mighty men, and I will strike down your strength. 12All these men are plagues from the nations. They will destroy the insolence of Egypt, and all her strength will be crushed. 13I will also destroy all her cattle from beside her abundant water, which the foot of man will trouble no more, nor will the footstep of cattle trample it. 14Thus at that time, their waters shall become still, and their rivers will flow like oil, says the Lord, [15]when I give Egypt over to destruction, and the land becomes desolate with all its fullness, and when I disperse all who dwell in it. Then they will know that I am the Lord. [16]There is a lamentation, and you shall mourn over Pharaoh. The daughters of the nations shall mourn over him and over Egypt, and they shall mourn for her over all her strength,' says the Lord and Master."

The Nations Go Down to Hades

[17]Again in the first month of the twelfth year, on the fifteenth day of the month, the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [18]"Son of man, lament over the strength of Egypt, for the nations will cast down her daughters dead into the depth of the earth, to those who go down into the pit. [19]They shall fall with him among those slain by the sword, and all his strength will sleep in death. The mighty men will say to you, [20]'Be in the depth of the pit, for to whom are you superior? Go down and sleep in death with the uncircumcised among those slain by the sword.'

[21]"Assyria is there and all its company, and all the slain were put there. Their burial-place is in the depth of the pit, and his company are set round about his grave. [22]All the slain who fell by the sword are those who caused their fear to be upon the land of the living.

[23]"There is Elam and all his army all around his grave, and all the slain who fell by the sword, and the uncircumcised who went down into the depth of the earth, and who caused their terror to be in the land of the living. Now they bear their torment with those who go down to the pit among the slain.

[24]"Meshech and Tubal and all their strength were put there around about his grave. All his slain men, all the uncircumcised slain by the sword, who spread their terror in the land of the living, are there. [25]They sleep in death with the mighty men who fell of old, who went down to Hades with their weapons of war. [26]Their swords were put under their heads, but their lawlessness was placed on their bones, because they terrified the mighty men in the land of the living. [27]As for you, you will sleep in death among the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword.

[28]"There are the rulers of Assyria who yielded his strength to a wound of the sword. [29]They sleep in death with the slain, with those who go down into the pit. [30]There are the rulers of the north, all the commanders of Assyria, who, with their terror and their strength, go down slain into the pit. They fell asleep uncircumcised with those slain by the sword, and they bear their torment with those who go down to the pit.

31"King Pharaoh will see them, and be comforted over all their strength," says the Lord and Master. 32"For I caused his fear to be in the land of the living; but he shall sleep in death among the uncircumcised, with those slain by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude," says the Lord and Master.

Ezekiel 33

Ezekiel Made the Watchman

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, speak to the sons of your people, and you will say to them, 'On whatever land I bring the sword, take one man from among the people of the land and make him their watchman. 3When he sees the sword coming upon the land, he shall blow the trumpet and warn the people. 4Then whoever hears the sound of the trumpet but does not take warning, and the sword comes and takes him away, his blood shall be on his own head. 5For he heard the sound of the trumpet, but did not take warning. So his blood shall be upon himself. But he who takes warning will save his life. 6But if the watchman sees the sword coming and does not blow the trumpet, and the people are not warned, and the sword comes and takes any person from among them, he is taken away in his transgressions; but his blood I shall require at the watchman's hand.'

7"As for you, son of man, I made you a watchman for the house of Israel, and you shall hear a word from My mouth. 8When I say to the sinner, 'You will surely die,' and you do not speak to warn the ungodly man to change his way, that lawless man will die in his lawlessness; but his blood I shall require at your hand. 9But if you warn the ungodly man to turn from his way, and he does not turn from his way, he will die in his ungodliness; but you have delivered your own soul.

10"As for you, son of man, say to the house of Israel, 'Thus you spoke, saying, "Our errors and our lawlessness are upon us, and we waste away in them. So how can we then live?' " 11Say to them, 'As I live, thus says the Lord: "I do not will the death of the ungodly man. So the ungodly man should turn from his way and live. Turn heartily from your way, for why should you die, O house of Israel?' "

12"Say to the sons of your people, 'The righteousness of a righteous man will not deliver him in the day he goes astray. As for the lawlessness of the ungodly man, it will not harm him in the day he turns from his lawlessness, but a righteous man who goes astray cannot save himself." [13]When I say regarding the righteous man, this man puts his trust in his righteousness but commits lawlessness, then none of his righteousness will be remembered, for he shall die in the wrongdoing he commits. [14]Again when I say to the ungodly man, "You will surely die," and he turns from his sin, does judgment and righteousness, [15]restores the pledge, gives back what he has stolen, and walks in the ordinances of life without committing wrongdoing, he will surely live. Thus he will not die. [16]None of his sins he committed will be remembered, for he does judgment and righteousness. By doing these things, he shall live.'

[17]"Yet the sons of your people will say, 'The way of the Lord is not upright.' But it is their way that is not upright. [18]When the righteous turns from his righteousness and commits lawlessness, he will die because of it. [19]But when the sinner turns from his lawlessness and does judgment and righteousness, he shall live because of it. [20]Yet this is what you say, 'The way of the Lord is not upright.' O house of Israel, I shall judge every one of you according to his ways."

The Capture of Jerusalem

[21]Again it came to pass in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the twelfth month, on the fifth day of the month, that one who escaped from Jerusalem came to me, saying, "The city is taken." [22]Then the hand of the Lord came upon me the evening before the man came, and opened my mouth. So when He came to me in the morning, my mouth was opened, and it was no longer closed. [23]Thus the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [24]"Son of man, those who inhabit the desolate places in the land of Israel say, 'Abraham was one man, and he inherited the land. But we are many, and the land was given to us as a possession.' [25]Therefore say to them, 'Thus says the Lord and Master: "As I live, truly those in the desolate places shall fall by the sword, and those in the open plain shall be given to the wild animals as food; and those in the strongholds and caves I will surely kill. [26]For I shall make the land a desert, and the insolence of her strength will perish; and the mountains of Israel will be desolate by reason of no one passing through. [27]Then they will know that I am the Lord. I shall make their land a desert, and it will be laid waste because of all the abominations they committed.' "

Hearing, but Not Heeding

28 “As for you, son of man, the sons of your people are talking about you by the walls and at the gateways of the houses. They speak as a man speaks to his brother, saying, ‘Let us gather and hear the words that proceed from the Lord.’ 29 So they come together before you as people do, and they sit before you to hear your words, but they will not do them, because a lie is in their mouth, and their heart pursues their own defilements. 30 For you are to them as a sweet, well-tuned song, and they will hear your words, but will not do them. 31 So when it comes to pass, they will say, ‘Behold, it has come.’ Then they will know a prophet was among them.”

Ezekiel 34

Prophecy against Israel’s Shepherds

1 Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2 “Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Israel; prophesy and say to the shepherds, ‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “O shepherds of Israel who feed themselves, should not the shepherds feed the sheep? 3 Behold, you drink the milk and clothe yourselves with the wool. You slay the fatlings, but do not feed My sheep.
4 You have not strengthened the weak, and the sick you have not revived. The broken you have not bandaged, and the misled you have not brought back.
The lost you have not sought, and the strong you have not prepared for labor.
5 So My sheep were scattered, because there were no shepherds. So they became food for all the wild animals of the field. 6 My sheep were scattered in all the mountains and on every high hill. They were scattered over the face of the earth, and there was no one to seek them or to bring them back.”

7 ‘Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of the Lord. 8 “As I live,” says the Lord and Master, “because My sheep became as plunder, and as food for all the wild animals of the plain, because there were no shepherds with them, nor did My shepherds search for My sheep, but fed themselves and not My flock”— 9 because of this, O shepherds, 10 thus says the Lord and Master: “Behold, I am against the shepherds, and shall require My sheep at their hands. I shall turn them away so they may not shepherd My sheep. The shepherds will not feed them anymore, for I shall deliver My sheep from their mouth; and they shall no longer be as food for them.”

The True Shepherd

11 ‘For thus says the Lord: “Behold, I shall search for My sheep and care for them. 12 As a shepherd seeks his flock on a day when there is darkness, and when a cloud separates the sheep, thus I will drive them from every place where they were scattered in the day of cloud and darkness. 13 And I shall bring them out from the Gentiles, gather them from the countries, and bring them into their land. I shall feed them on the mountains of Israel, in the valleys, and in all the inhabited places of the land. 14 I shall feed them in good pasture and on the high mountain of Israel, and their folds will be there. They will lie down, and there they shall rest in good luxury, and feed in rich pasture on the mountains of Israel. 15 I shall feed My sheep and refresh them; and they will know that I am the Lord,” thus says the Lord and Master. 16 “‘I shall seek the lost, bring back the misled, bind up the broken, strengthen the fallen, protect the strong, and feed them with judgment.”

17 ‘So as for you, My sheep, thus says the Lord and Master: “Behold, I will distinguish between sheep and sheep and between rams and goats. 18 Is it not enough for you that you grazed on the good pasture, that you trampled down the rest of your pasture with your feet, that you drank the clear water, but muddied the rest with your feet? 19 Thus My sheep grazed on what you trampled with your feet, and drank what you muddied with your feet.”

20 ‘Therefore thus says the Lord and Master: “Behold, I shall distinguish between the strong sheep and the weak sheep. 21 Because you pushed with side and shoulder, butted all the weak ones with your horns, and greatly distressed the weak; 22 therefore, I will save My sheep, and they will not be as plunder anymore; and I shall judge between one ram and another. 23 I shall raise up one Shepherd over them, and He will tend them, even My Servant David. He shall be their Shepherd, 24 and I, the Lord, will be their God; and David will be the Ruler in their midst. I, the Lord, have spoken.

25 “‘I will also make a covenant of peace with David, and utterly destroy the evil wild animals from the land. They shall dwell in the desert and sleep in the forests. 26 I will settle them round about my mountain and will give you rain, the rain of blessing. 27 The trees of the plain will also produce their fruit, and the earth shall produce her strength. They shall dwell on their land in the hope of peace, and know that I am the Lord, when I break their yoke and deliver them from the hand of those who enslaved them. 28 They shall no longer be as plunder for the nations, nor will the wild animals devour them; but they will dwell in hope, and no one shall make them afraid. 29 I will raise up for them a garden of peace, and they shall no longer perish with hunger, nor bear the insults of the nations. 30Then they will know that I am the Lord their God, and they are My people, O house of Israel," says the Lord. 31"You are My sheep and the sheep of My pasture, and I am the Lord your God," says the Lord and Master.' "

Ezekiel 35

Prophecy against Mount Seir

1Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 2"Son of man, set your face against Mount Seir and prophesy against it, 3and say to it, 'Thus says the Lord and Master: "Behold, O Mount Seir, I am against you, and I will stretch out My hand against you. I will cause you to become a desert, and you will be wasted. 4I will also cause desolation in your cities, and you shall be desolate. Then you will know that I am the Lord. 5Because you have an eternal hatred for the house of Israel, and laid in wait deceitfully with sword in hand as enemies, in a time of wrongdoing to the extreme; 6therefore, as I live," says the Lord and Master, "truly you sinned even to blood, thus blood shall pursue you. 7I will cause Mount Seir to become a desert and a desolate place, and destroy man and cattle from it. 8I will fill your hills and valleys with your slain, and in all your plains and among you the slain shall fall by the sword. 9I will make you an eternal desolation, and your cities will be inhabited no more. Then you will know that I am the Lord.

10"Because you said, 'The two nations and the two countries shall be mine, and I shall inherit them,' though the Lord is there; 11therefore, as I live," says the Lord, "I will deal with you according to your enmity, and I will be made known to you when I judge you. 12Then you will know that I am the Lord. I heard the voice of your blasphemies when you said, 'The desert mountains of Israel are given to us as food.' 13You boasted against Me with your mouth, and I heard it." 14Thus says the Lord: "When all the earth is in gladness, I will make you a desert. 15You will be a desert, O Mount Seir, and all of Edom will be utterly destroyed. Then you will know that I am the Lord their God.' "

Ezekiel 36

God’s Blessing on Israel

[1]“As for you, son of man, prophesy over the mountains of Israel, and say to the mountains of Israel, ‘Hear the word of the Lord. [2]Thus says the Lord and Master: “Because the enemy said against you, ‘Good, well done! The ancient deserts have become ours as a possession;’ ” ’ [3]therefore, prophesy, and say, ‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “Because you were dishonored and hated by those all around you, so as to be a possession for the rest of the nations, and because you became a byword and were disgraced by the nations”— [4]therefore, O mountains of Israel, hear the word of the Lord! Thus says the Lord to the mountains, the hills, the valleys, the brooks, the desert places, the desolated regions, and the abandoned cities, plundered and trampled underfoot by the nations that were left all around them— [5]therefore, thus says the Lord and Master: “Certainly in the fire of My anger, I have spoken against the rest of the nations and against all of Edom, because they gave My land to themselves as a possession with gladness, when they treated souls shamefully, so as to destroy them by plunder.’ ” [6]Therefore prophesy over the land of Israel, and say to the mountains, the hills, the valleys, and the wooded vales, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I have spoken in My jealousy and My anger, because you have borne the insults of the nations. [7]Therefore I shall raise My hand against the nations around you, and they will bear their disgrace.

[8]“But My people will eat your grapes and fruit, O mountains of Israel, for they are drawing near to this time to come. [9]For behold, I am for you, and I will have regard for you, and you shall be tilled and sown. [10]I shall multiply people upon you, upon all the house of Israel to the end. The cities shall be inhabited, and the ruins shall be rebuilt. [11]I shall multiply people and cattle upon you, and they will increase and bear young. I shall make you inhabited as in your beginning, and treat you well as in your former times. Then you will know that I am the Lord. [12]Thus I will beget people upon you, My people Israel, and they shall inherit you. You shall be as a possession for them, and you will not be deprived of children anymore.” [13]Thus says the Lord and Master: “Because they say to you, ‘You devour people, O land, and thus you are bereaved of your nation’; [14]therefore, you shall no longer devour people, nor be bereaved of your nation anymore,” says the Lord and Master. [15]“No longer will the disgrace of the nations be heard among you, nor shall you bear the insults of the peoples anymore,” says the Lord and Master.’ ”

The Cleansing of Israel

16 Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 17 “Son of man, the house of Israel dwelt upon their land, but they defiled it by their conduct and by their idols and uncleanness. Their conduct before me was like the uncleanness of a woman in her customary impurity. 18 Therefore I poured out My anger on them. 19 I scattered them among the nations and dispersed them as chaff into the countries. I judged them according to their conduct and their sins. 20 So when they came to the nations, wherever they went, they desecrated My holy name when they said, ‘These are the people of the Lord, and they have come out of His land.’ 21 But I spared them for the sake of My holy name, which the house of Israel desecrated among the nations wherever they went.

22 “Therefore say to the house of Israel, ‘Thus says the Lord: “I will not do this for your sake, O house of Israel, but for the sake of My holy name, which you desecrated among the nations wherever you went. 23 Thus I will sanctify My great name, desecrated among the nations, which you desecrated in their midst. Then the nations will know that I am the Lord, when I am sanctified among you before their eyes. 24 For I will take you from among the nations, gather you from all the lands, and bring you into your land. 25 I shall sprinkle clean water on you, and you will be cleansed from all your uncleanness, and I will also cleanse you from all your idols. 26 I shall give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you. I shall take the heart of stone from your flesh and give you a heart of flesh. 27 I shall put My Spirit within you and cause you to walk in My requirements, and you will keep My judgments and do them.
28 You will dwell in the land I gave to your fathers. You will be My people, and I shall be your God. 29 I shall save you from all your uncleanness; and I will call for the grain and multiply it, and bring no famine upon you. 30 I shall multiply the fruit of your trees and the produce of your fields, that you need never again bear the disgrace of famine among the nations. 31 Then you will remember your evil ways and your practices which were not good, and you shall be angry in your own sight for your lawlessness and your abominations.
32 Not for your sake will I do this,” says the Lord and Master. “As it shall become known to you, be ashamed and embarrassed of your ways, O house of Israel.”

33 ‘Thus says the Lord: “On the day in which I shall cleanse you from all your lawlessness, I shall also cause you to dwell in the cities, and the uninhabited regions will be rebuilt. 34 The land which was destroyed will be cultivated, because it will no longer be desolate in the sight of all who pass by. 35Thus they will say, ‘That desolate land has become like a garden of luxury; and the wasted, desolate, and ruined cities are now fortified and inhabited.’ 36Then the nations yet remaining around you will know that I, the Lord, have rebuilt the ruined cities and planted what was desolate. I, the Lord, have spoken it and shall do it.”

37‘Thus says the Lord: “For this I shall be sought by the house of Israel, that I might establish and multiply their people like sheep. 38As holy sheep, as the sheep of Jerusalem in her feasts, thus shall the desert cities be filled with flocks of people. Then they will know that I am the Lord.” ’ ”

Ezekiel 37

Vision of the Dry Bones

1Again the hand of the Lord came upon me, and brought me by the Spirit of the Lord, and set me in the midst of the plain, which was full of human bones. 2So He led me round about them, and behold, there was a great multitude of bones on the face of the plain. They were very dry. 3Then He said to me, “Son of man, can these bones live?” So I answered, “O Lord, You know this.” 4Then He said to me, “Prophesy to these bones and say to them, ‘O dry bones, hear the word of the Lord. 5Thus says the Lord to these bones: “Behold, I will bring the Spirit of life upon you. 6I will put muscles on you and bring flesh upon you. I will cover you with skin and put my Spirit into you. Then you shall live and know that I am the Lord.” ’ ”

7So I prophesied as He commanded me, and it came to pass while I prophesied that, behold, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, each one to its joint. 8So I looked, and behold, muscle and flesh grew upon them, and skin covered them over; but no breath was in them. 9Then He said to me, “Prophesy to the wind, prophesy, son of man, and say to the wind, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Come from the four winds and breathe upon these dead men; and let them live.” ’ ” 10So I prophesied as He commanded me, and the Spirit entered into them; and they lived and stood upon their feet, an exceedingly great assembly.

11Again the Lord spoke to me, saying, “Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Israel. They say, ‘Our bones are dry, our hope has perished, and we are lost.’ 12Therefore prophesy and say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord:

“Behold, I will open your tombs, bring you up from your graves, and bring you into the land of Israel. 13Then you will know that I am the Lord, when I open your tombs to lead you, My people, up from their graves. 14I will put My Spirit in you, and you will live; and I will place you in your own land. Then you will know that I am the Lord. I have spoken, and I will do it,” says the Lord.’ ”

One Nation and One King

15Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, 16“As for you, son of man, take a rod for yourself and write on it, ‘Judah and the sons of Israel devoted to him.’ Then take a second rod for yourself and write on it, ‘For Joseph, the rod of Ephraim, and all the sons of Israel added to him.’ 17Then you shall join them to one another for yourself so as to form one rod, and they shall be in your hand.

18“So it shall be, when the sons of your people speak to you, saying, ‘Will you not tell us what you mean by these?’— 19then you will say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will take the tribe of Joseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel, who are added to him, and I will give them to the tribe of Judah. They shall be one rod in the hand of Judah.’ ” 20The rods on which you write will be in your hand before their eyes. 21Then you shall say to them, ‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “Behold, I will take the whole house of Israel from the midst of the nations where they went, and will gather them from every side, to bring them into the land of Israel. 22I shall make them one nation in My land, even on the mountains of Israel, and there will be one Ruler over them. There will no longer be two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms anymore, 23so as to defile themselves with their idols. For I will deliver them from all their lawlessness whereby they sinned, and will cleanse them. They will be to Me as a people, and I shall be to them as their God.

24“My Servant David shall be the Ruler among them, and there will be one Shepherd of them all; for they will walk in My ordinances and observe My judgments, and do them. 25Then they will dwell in their land which I gave Jacob My servant, where their fathers dwelt; and they will dwell upon it, and My servant David shall be their Ruler forever. 26I will make a covenant of peace with them. It shall be an everlasting covenant, and I will establish My sanctuary in their midst forever. 27My tabernacle shall be among them; and I will be their God, and they shall be My people. 28Then the nations will know that I am the Lord who sanctifies them, when My sanctuary is among them forever.” ’ ”

Ezekiel 38

Gog Will Invade Israel

[1]Again the word of the Lord came to me, saying, [2]“Son of man, set your face against Gog and the land of Magog, the ruler of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal, and prophesy against him, [3]and say to him, ‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the ruler of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal. [4]I shall gather you and all your army—horses and horsemen, all armed with breastplates, and a large assembly with shields, helmets, and swords— [5]along with Persians, Ethiopians, and Libyans with shields and helmets, [6]and also Gomer and all belonging to him, and the house of Togarmah from the far north and all belonging to him, and many nations with you.

[7]“Be prepared; prepare yourself and all your gathering assembled with you; and you will be as an advance guard for Me. [8]He will be prepared after many days, and will come in the last years. He will come into the land turned away from the sword, when many are gathered together from the nations against the land of Israel, which was entirely a desert, and he will come forth from the nations against all who dwell in peace. [9]You shall arrive like rain, like a cloud to cover the land, you and all your army and the many nations with you.”

[10]‘Thus says the Lord and Master: “In that day it shall also come to pass that words will arise in your heart, and you will think evil thoughts. [11]For you will say, ‘I will go up to the rejected land. I will come against those who live in peace and quiet, and who dwell in a land that has no wall, and neither bars nor gates, [12]to plunder them and take spoils.’ I will turn your hand against a nation gathered from many nations, which acquired possessions and inhabitants in the midst of the land. [13]Sheba, Dedan, and Carthaginian merchants and all their villages shall say to you, ‘You come for plunder, to capture a prey and take spoils. You gather your assembly to take silver and gold, and to carry off possessions and take spoils.’ ” ’

[14]“Therefore, son of man, prophesy and say to Gog, ‘Thus says the Lord: “Will you not arise in that day, the day My people Israel dwell in peace? [15]Yes, you will come from your place out of the far north, you and the many nations with you, all riding on horses, a great assembly and a mighty army. [16]You will come upon My people Israel like a cloud to cover the land. It shall come to pass in the last days that I will bring you against My land, that all the nations may know Me when I am sanctified in you before them." [17]Thus says the Lord and Master to Gog, "You are he of whom I spoke in former days by the hand of My servants the prophets of Israel, in those days and years, that I would bring you up against them.

Gog Is Judged

[18]"Thus it shall come to pass in that day, the day Gog comes against the land of Israel," says the Lord and Master, [19]"that My anger and jealousy shall arise in the fire of My wrath. I have spoken, 'Certainly in that day there shall be a great earthquake in the land of Israel. [20]Even the fish of the sea, the birds of the sky, the wild animals of the plain, all the reptiles that creep on the ground, and all the people on the face of the land will shake because of the Lord's presence. Also, the mountains will break apart, the valleys will be done away with, and every wall will fall to the ground.' [21]I will also summon every fear against Gog," says the Lord, "for the sword of every man shall be against his brother. [22]I will judge him with death and bloodshed, and I will send a flooding rain and hailstones, and fire and brimstone against him and everyone with him, and also against the many nations with him. [23]For I shall be magnified, sanctified, and glorified, and known in the sight of many nations. Then they shall know that I am the Lord.' "

Ezekiel 39

The Defeat of Gog

[1]"As for you, son of man, prophesy against Gog and say, 'Thus says the Lord: "Behold, I am against you, O Gog, the ruler of Rosh, Meshech, and Tubal. [2]I will gather and guide you, and raise you up from the far north, and bring you upon the mountains of Israel. [3]Then I will destroy the bow in your left hand and the arrows in your right hand; and I will cast you down upon the mountains of Israel. [4]For you and all with you shall fall, and I shall give the nations with you to the multitude of birds, to every fowl. But I will give you to all the wild animals of the field to be devoured, [5]for you will fall on the face of the open plain, because I have spoken," says the Lord. [6]"I will also send fire upon Gog, and the coastal peoples shall dwell in peace. Then they will know that I am the Lord, [7]and My holy name will be known in the midst of My people Israel; and My holy name will no longer be desecrated. The nations will also know that I am the Lord, the Holy One in Israel. [8]Behold, it is coming, and you will know it shall be," says the Lord and Master.

"This is the day of which I have spoken. [9]Those who dwell in the cities of Israel will also go out and make a fire with the weapons: the shields and spears, the bows and arrows, and the javelins and lances; and they shall keep the fire burning for seven years. [10]So they will not take any wood from the field, nor cut down any of the forests; rather, they will burn the weapons, and plunder those who plundered them, and despoil those who took spoils from them," says the Lord.

A Burial for Gog

[11]"In that day it shall come to pass that I will give Gog a place of renown, a monument in Israel, a common burial place of those who come to the sea. There they shall bury Gog and all his multitude round about the edge of the valley, and it will be called the Burial Place of Gog. [12]The house of Israel shall bury them, that the land may be cleansed in the space of seven months. [13]Yes, all the people of the land will bury them, and it shall be a place of renown for them in the day I was magnified," says the Lord. [14]"So they will appoint men continually to pass through the land to bury those bodies yet on the ground, to cleanse it by the end of seven months; and they will seek them out. [15]Everyone who passes through the land and sees a man's bone will also set a marker by it, until the grave diggers shall bury it in the Burial Place of Gog. [16]Indeed, the name of the city shall be Burial Place. Thus the land will be cleansed.' "

An Assembly of Triumph

[17]"As for you, son of man, say, 'Thus says the Lord: "Speak to every sort of bird and every wild animal of the field: 'Assemble yourselves and come; gather together from all sides to My sacrifice which I offered up for you, a great sacrifice on the mountains of Israel, and you will eat meat and drink blood. [18]You will eat the flesh of mighty men and drink the blood of the rulers of the earth: the rams, the young bulls, and the male goats; for they are all fatted animals. [19]You will eat fat until you are full, and drink wine until you are drunken from My sacrifice which I slaughtered for you. [20]You will be filled at My table, eating horse and rider, and the mighty man, and every warrior,' says the Lord.

[21]"I will set My glory in your midst, and all the nations will see My judgment which I executed, and My hand which I laid on them. [22]Then the house of Israel will know that I am the Lord their God from this day forward. [23]All the nations will also know that the house of Israel was led into captivity on account of their sins, because they rejected Me. So I turned My face away from them and delivered them into the hands of their enemies; and they all fell by the sword. [24]According to their uncleanness and according to their lawless actions I dealt with them, and turned My face away from them."

[25]'Therefore thus says the Lord and Master: "Now I will turn back the captivity of Jacob and have mercy on the house of Israel; and I will be jealous for the sake of My holy name. [26]They shall bear their dishonor and the wrongdoing they committed when they dwelt upon the land in peace; and there shall be no one to frighten them. [27]Thus when I bring them back from the nations and gather them from the countries of the nations, I will be sanctified among them in the sight of the nations. [28]Then they will know that I am the Lord their God, when I reveal Myself to them among the nations. [29]But I will not turn away My face from them anymore, because I poured out My anger on the house of Israel," says the Lord and Master.' "

Ezekiel 40

Ezekiel's Vision: New City, New Temple

[1]Again in the twenty-fifth year of our captivity, in the first month, on the tenth day of the month, in the fourteenth year after the city was captured, on the very same day, the hand of the Lord was upon me. [2]He took me in a vision of God into the land of Israel and set me on a very high mountain. On it, but opposite from me, was something like the structure of a city. [3]He took me there, and behold, there was a man whose appearance was like the appearance of gleaming bronze. He had a builder's cord and a measuring rod in his hand, and he stood at the gate. [4]Then the man said to me, "Son of man, have you seen this? Look with your eyes and hear with your ears, and fix your heart on everything I show you; for you were brought here that I might show them to you. For you shall reveal to the house of Israel everything you see.”

The East Gate of the Temple

5 Now there was a wall around the entire outside of the house. In the man’s hand was a measuring stick, six cubits long, each consisting of a cubit and a handbreadth, and he measured the width of the wall structure, one measuring stick, and the height, one measuring stick. 6 Then he went to the gate which faced east, up seven stairs, and measured across the entrance of the gate, one measuring stick wide. 7 Each gate chamber was one measuring stick long and one measuring stick wide. Between the gate chambers was a space of six cubits, and the second gate chamber was one measuring stick wide, one measuring stick long; and the entrance was five cubits. 8 The third gate chamber was one measuring stick wide and one measuring stick long. 9 The neighboring entrance was eight cubits, and the gatepost was two cubits, also the outer entrance of the gate.

10 The gate chambers were three on one side and three on the other. There was one measurement to all three and one measurement to the entrances on this side and the other. 11 He measured the width of the entrance to the gate, ten cubits, and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits. 12 The dimensions of the front of the gate chambers were equal, and the gate chambers were six cubits on this side and six cubits on that side. 13 Then he measured the gate from the roof of one gate chamber to the roof of the other, and the width was twenty-five cubits, from one gate to the other. 14 He measured the open inner court of the gate chamber, sixty cubits high, and there were twenty gate chambers all around. 15 From the open court of the gate outside into the open inner court of the gate chamber within was fifty cubits. 16 There were hidden windows in the gate chambers and in their entrances on the inside of the gate all around, and likewise the entrances had hidden windows all around. There were windows all around on the inside, and on each entrance chamber were ornamental palm trees, equally displayed on one side and the other.

17 Then he brought me into the inner court; and behold, there were temple chambers and pillars all around the court; thirty chambers among the pillars.
18 The porches were behind the gates; corresponding to the same length of the gates was the underlying pillar. 19 Then he measured the width of the court, from the open air court of the gate which was to the outside to the open air court of the gate which faces out, a hundred cubits to the court which faces east.

The North Gate

Then he led me to the north side, [20]and behold, there was the gate facing north to the outer court, and he measured its length and its width. [21]Its gate chambers, three on this side and three on that side, its gateposts and its porches, and palm trees, and they were the same measurement of the gate which faces to the east: its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. [22]Its windows, its doorposts, and also its palm trees were just like the gate facing east, and it was ascended by seven steps, and the doorpost within.
[23]A gate of the inner court was opposite the northern gate, in the same manner as the eastern gate, and he measured from gate to gate, one hundred cubits.

The South Gate

[24]Then he brought me toward the south, and behold, a gate was facing south; and he measured its gate chambers, gateposts, and archways according to these same measurements. [25]There were windows in it and in its archways all around like those windows. Its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. [26]Seven steps led up to it, and its gateposts were within;
and it had palm trees on its gateposts, one on this side and one on that side.
[27]There was also a gate on the inner court, facing south, and he measured from gate to gate toward the south, one hundred cubits, in the southerly direction.

The Inner Court

[28]Then he brought me to the inner court through the southern gate, and he measured the southern gate according to these same measurements. [29]Also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements, and there were windows in it and in its archways all around. It was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. [30]There was the porch into the outer court, and palm trees were on its gatepost, and going up to it were eight steps.

[31]Then he brought me to the gate facing east, and he measured it according to these same measurements. [32]Its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways were according to these same measurements. There were windows in it and in its archways all around, and it was fifty cubits long and twenty-five cubits wide. [33]There were porches opening into the inner court, and palm trees were on its gateposts, on this side and on that side; and going up to it were eight steps.

34Then he brought me to the north gate and measured it according to these same measurements— 35also its gate chambers, its gateposts, and its archways. It had windows all around, and its length was fifty cubits and its width twenty-five cubits. 36Its porches were toward the outer court, and there were palm trees on its gateposts, on this side and on that side, and going up to it were eight steps.

A Place for the Sacrifices and the Priests

37There were its chambers and its gateposts at its gate, 38and a drain for the second gate, so they might slay in it the sin offerings and trespass offerings. 39Behind the drain line for the whole burnt offerings of the gate which faces north, there were two tables placed toward the east, and behind the second gate and its gate chamber, there were two tables toward the east. 40Four tables were on this side and four tables on that side, and behind the gate, there were eight tables on which they slaughtered the sacrifices. 41There were also four tables of hewn stone for the whole burnt offerings, two cubits long, one cubit and a half wide, and one cubit high. On these they laid the instruments with which they slaughtered the whole burnt offerings and the sacrifices. 42Inside were projections hewn out, a handbreadth wide, all around, and over the tables above, there were little roofs to cover from the rain and the drying wind.

43Then he led me into the inner court, and behold, there were two halls in the inner court, one behind the gate which faces north and bearing to the south, and the other behind the gate which faces to the south and bearing to the north. 44So he said to me, “This hall which faces south is for the priests who have charge of the temple. 45The hall which faces north is for the priests who have charge of the altar. These are the sons of Zadok, from the sons of Levi, who come near the Lord to minister liturgically to Him.” 46Then he measured the court, one hundred cubits long and one hundred cubits wide, foursquare. The altar of sacrifice was in front of the house.

47Then he brought me to the entrance chamber of the house and measured the doorpost of the entrance chamber, five cubits on this side and five cubits on that side; and the width of the doorway was fourteen cubits; and the sills of the door to the entrance chamber were three by three on each side. 48The length of the entrance chamber was twenty cubits, and the width twelve cubits, and one would ascend it by ten steps; and there were pillars by the entrance chamber, one on this side and another on that side.

Ezekiel 41

The Temple Interior

[1]Then he brought me into the temple and measured its entrance, six cubits wide on one side and six cubits wide on the other side. [2]The width of the entryway was ten cubits, and the sills of the gate were five cubits on this side and five cubits on the other side; and he measured its length, forty cubits, and its width, twenty cubits. [3]He also went into the inner court and measured the posts of the doorway, two cubits; and the doorway itself, six cubits high; and the width of the sills, seven cubits. [4]He measured the length of the doors, forty cubits, and the width, twenty cubits, in front of the sanctuary; and he said to me, “This is the holy of holies.”

The Wall and Its Chambers

[5]Next he measured the wall of the house, six cubits. The width of each side all around was four cubits on every side. [6]The side chambers were thirty-two in number, each next to the other, and the layout along the wall of the house all around was so one could see that all of them went together, and that nowhere did they touch the walls of the house. [7]As one went up from story to story, the side chambers became wider all around, because their supporting ledges in the wall of the temple ascended like steps; therefore, the width of the structure increased as one went up from the lowest story to the highest, by way of the middle one. [8]The side chambers of the house all around were of a high layout of sides, equal in measurement to one measuring stick. The layout was six cubits. [9]The thickness of the outer wall of the side chambers was five cubits, and the open spaces between the sides of the house [10]and the halls measured twenty cubits in width, all around the sides of the house. [11]The doors of the halls led to the open space: the one door led north, and the other door led south; and the width of the light of the open space was five cubits in width all around. [12]That which made a boundary before the open space, like the edge of the sea, was seventy cubits wide; and the width of the wall which bordered was five cubits all around, and its length ninety cubits.

[13]Then he measured in front of the house, one hundred cubits long, and the open spaces and their boundaries and walls were one hundred cubits long. 14Also the width of the face of the house, along with the open spaces before it, was one hundred cubits. 15Then he measured the length of the boundary in front separating the open space, with its galleries on the one side and on the other side, one hundred cubits. The temple, its corners and the outer entrance area, 16their thresholds and the latticed doors, were set so the narrow openings would give light through narrow openings to all three stories, like that of a fishnet. The house and all the neighboring structures all around were paneled with wood, the floor and from the floor up to the doorways, and the doorways opened up all three stories into the shaded light.

The Holy Images

17As far as the nearby wall of the inner and outer courts and along upon the wall all around within and without 18were depicted cherubim and palm trees, between cherub and cherub. Each cherub had two faces, 19the face of a man toward a palm tree on one side, and the face of a lion toward a palm tree on the other side. Thus it was depicted throughout the house all around. 20From the floor to the threshold, the cherubim and the palm trees were interspersed upon the walls.

21The holy place and the temple were laid out square, and along the face of the sanctuary was what looked like a wooden altar. 22Its height was three cubits, and its length and breadth, two cubits. It had horns, and its ascent and walls were wooden. Then he said to me, “This is the table that is before the presence of the Lord.” 23The temple and the holy place had two doors. 24The doors had two panels apiece, two folding panels on hinges: two panels for one door and two panels for the other door. 25Depictions were upon them, cherubim and palm trees upon the doorways of the temple, like the depiction of the sanctuary, and excellent kinds of wood, as in front of the entrance without, along with hidden windows. 26He measured from one side to the other along the canopies of the entrance chamber, and the sides of the house were joined together.

Ezekiel 42

The Outer Court

[1]Then he brought me out into the outer court, to the east, in front of the gate which faces north; and he brought me, and behold, there were five halls adjoining the open space and five halls adjoining the boundary facing north, [2]up to a hundred cubits long toward the north, and the width was fifty cubits, [3]laid out in a pattern the same way as the gates leading into the inner court and the pillars of the outer court, and broken up into galleries of three stories in height. [4]In front of the halls there was a walk ten cubits wide and up to a hundred cubits in length. Their doorways faced north. [5]Now the upper walkways were just the same, because the pillars projected out from them, namely, the pillar which was below; thus was the pillar and the layout for the porches. [6]For they were in three stories and did not have pillars like the pillars of the outer courts; therefore, the upper level was projected out more than the lower and middle levels from the ground up. [7]There was light from without, as in the halls of the outer court which were facing the halls toward the north; they were fifty cubits in length. [8]Because the length of the halls which face the outer court was fifty cubits, and these were standing over against them, thus the whole was one hundred cubits. [9]Now there were doors of these halls at the entrance way for an outlet to the east, so one might enter through them from the outer court, [10]by the light which strikes at the head of the entrance.

Halls for the Priest

Along to the south, along the open space and the boundary, there were halls, [11]and there was a walk in front of them also, according to the measurement of the halls facing north. They were as long and as wide as the others, and so were all their exits and entrances and all their lights and doorways. [12]So were the measures of the entrances toward the south, according to the doorways at the head of the walkway, as it were, the distance of a reed for light, and eastward as one went in by them.

[13]Then he said to me, “The halls toward the north and the halls toward the south, according to the pattern of the layout, are the halls of the holy place, where the priests who approach the Lord will eat the most holy offerings.

There they will place the most holy offerings, the sacrifices—the sin offering and the trespass offering—for the place is holy. 14They shall not enter there, except for the priests. They shall not go out of there into the outer court, so those who draw near may be holy continually, and that nothing might touch their vestments in which they serve, because it is the holy place. They shall put on other garments when they touch the people."

The Temple Exterior

15Now the measurement of the whole house was completed within. Then he led me along the way of the gate which faces east, and measured the whole pattern of the house all around in its plan. 16He stood behind the gate which faces east and measured five hundred measuring stick units of measurement. 17Then he turned to the north side and measured five hundred measuring stick units of measurement. 18Then he turned toward the west and measured five hundred measuring stick units of measurement. 19Then he turned toward the south and measured five hundred measuring stick units of measurement. 20The four directions were the same measurement, and he planned it out, and the enclosing wall all around was five hundred units to the east and five hundred units in width for setting out the boundary wall between the holy precinct and the remaining layout of the house.

Ezekiel 43

The Glory of the Lord Fills the Temple

1Then he brought me to the gate, the gate that faces toward the east, and led me out. 2Behold, the glory of the God of Israel was approaching from the way of the gate which faces east. The sound of His camp was like the sound of many voices redoubled upon each other, and the earth shone forth His glory with a brightness all around. 3The vision I saw was like the vision I saw when I entered to anoint the city, and the vision of the chariot I saw was like the vision I saw by the River Chebar; so I fell on my face. 4Then the glory of the Lord entered into the house by way of the gate which faces toward the east. 5The Spirit lifted me up and brought me into the inner court, and behold, the house was full of the Lord's glory.

6Then I stood, and behold, there was a voice from the house, and a Man was standing with me. 7He said to me, "Son of man, you have seen the place of My throne and the place of the soles of My feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the house of Israel forever. No more will the house of Israel defile My holy name, they nor their leaders, by their fornication or murders of the leaders in their midst. [8]When they set My threshold by their thresholds, and My doorpost by their doorposts, with a wall between them and Me, they desecrated My holy name by their lawlessness, and I destroyed them in My anger and with slaughter. [9]Now let them remove their fornication from My presence, and the murders of their leaders, and I will dwell in their midst forever.

[10]"As for you, son of man, explain this house to the house of Israel, and they will cease from the shame of their sins; and describe to them its vision and its plan. [11]They shall take the chastisements for all the things they did, and you shall describe the house, its design, its exits, and its substance, and all its ordinances. You shall make known its laws to them and write them out in their sight. Then they will keep all My requirements and all My ordinances and perform them. [12]You will also show them the diagram of the house to be on the mountaintop and all its boundaries roundabout. It shall all be most holy.

Measurements of the Altar

[13]"These are the measurements of the altar in cubits (where a cubit equals one cubit and a handbreadth): from the drain up one cubit high and one cubit wide, with a projection all around its edge of one span. This is the height of the altar: [14]the depth of the hollow which is toward the great mercy seat, below this, two cubits; and its width, one cubit; and from the little mercy seat to the great mercy seat, four cubits; and the width, one cubit. [15]The altar shall be four cubits, and from the altar and above the four horns, one cubit. [16]The altar shall be twelve cubits long, up to fourteen wide, in its four directions, [17]and its projection which goes all around it on all sides is a half of a cubit, so the outcropping all around is a cubit. Its stairs face to the east."

[18]Then He said to me, "Son of man, thus says the Lord, the God of Israel: 'These are the ordinances for the altar on the day of its construction, for offering up whole burnt offerings and pouring out blood on it. [19]You shall offer a young bull for a sin offering to the priests, the Levites, who are of the seed of Zadok, who approach Me to minister liturgically to Me,' says the Lord God. [20]'They shall take some of its blood and put it on the four horns of the altar, on the four corners of the mercy seat, and on the step around it; and they shall make atonement for it. [21]Then they shall take the calf of the sin offering and consume it by fire in the appointed place, set apart from the house, outside the sanctuary. [22]On the second day they shall take two kids of goats without blemish for a sin offering, and they shall make atonement for the altar, as they made atonement with the calf. [23]After they finish the atonement, they shall offer a calf from the herd without blemish, and a ram from the flock without blemish. [24]They shall offer them before the Lord; and the priests shall throw salt on them and offer them up as whole burnt offerings to the Lord. [25]Every day for seven days, you shall prepare a goat for a sin offering; and you shall prepare a calf and a ram from the flock, and they shall offer them without blemish for seven days. [26]So they shall make atonement for the altar, and purify it, and fill their hands. [27]It will be when these days are over, on the eighth day, the priests shall offer your whole burnt offerings and your peace offerings on the altar, and I shall accept you,' says the Lord." Types of Mary in the Old Testament

The East Gate Is for the Lord

[1]Then He brought me back to the outer gate of the sanctuary that faces toward the east, but it was shut. [2]So the Lord said to me, "This gate shall be shut. It shall not be opened, and no man shall pass through it, because the Lord God of Israel will enter by it; therefore, it shall be shut. [3]As for the prince, he will sit in it to eat bread before the Lord. He will go in by way of the gate chamber and go out the same way."

[4]Then He brought me by way of the north gate to the front of the temple, and I looked, and behold, the house of the Lord was full of glory; and I fell on my face. [5]The Lord said to me, "Son of man, note well with your heart, see with your eyes, and hear with your ears all I say to you concerning all the ordinances of the Lord's house and all its laws. Mark well with your heart the entering of the house according to all its exits in all its holy places. [6]Then you will say to the house which provokes, to the house of Israel, 'Thus says the Lord God: "O house of Israel, enough of your lawlessness, [7]when you brought in foreign sons, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in My sanctuary to defile it, as when you offered breads, meat, and blood. You broke My covenant because of all your lawless deeds. [8]You have not kept charge of My holy things, but sought out others.”

9‘Therefore, thus says the Lord God: “No foreign son, uncircumcised in heart or uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter My sanctuary, including any foreigner among the children of Israel.

Law for the Levites

10“But for the Levites who departed far from Me, when Israel went astray, who strayed away from Me to seek their inventions, they will bear their wrongdoing. 11Yet they shall be ministers in My sanctuary as gatekeepers at the gates of the house and ministers in the house. They shall slay the whole burnt offerings and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before the people to minister liturgically to them. 12Because they used to minister to them before their idols and became a punishment of wrongdoing to the house of Israel, for this reason I lifted up My hand against them,” says the Lord God. 13“They will not draw near to Me to act as priests for Me, nor approach the sanctuary of the sons of Israel, nor My holy place; and they shall bear their shame and dishonor for the error wherein they erred. 14Nevertheless they shall keep charge of the house, for all the service of it and all that needs to be done.

15“But the priests, the Levites, the sons of Zadok, who kept charge of My sanctuary when the house of Israel went astray from Me, they shall come near Me to minister liturgically to Me; and they shall stand before Me to offer to Me sacrifice, the fat and the blood,” says the Lord God. 16“They shall enter My sanctuary and come near My table to minister liturgically to Me; and they shall keep My charge. 17So it will be, whenever they enter the gates of the inner court, they shall put on linen vestments, but no wool shall come upon them while they minister liturgically within the gates of the inner court. 18They shall have linen turbans on their heads and linen trousers on their bodies, and they shall not tightly gird themselves. 19When they go out to the outer court to the people, they shall take off their vestments in which they ministered liturgically, leave them in their halls, and put on other garments; and in these garments they shall not sanctify the people. 20They shall neither shave their heads nor pluck out their hairs; but they shall surely keep their head covered. 21No priest shall drink wine when he enters the inner court. 22They shall not take as wife a widow or a divorced woman, but rather a virgin of the descendants of Israel, or a widow of a priest. 23They shall teach My people the difference between the holy and the profane, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean. [24]They shall stand at a judgment of blood, and judge in righteousness and according to My judgments. They shall keep My laws and My ordinances in all My appointed feasts, and they shall sanctify My Sabbaths. [25]They shall not defile themselves by coming near a dead person. However, a priest may defile himself for a father or mother, for a son or daughter, or for a brother or for an unmarried sister. [26]After he is cleansed, he shall number seven days for himself. [27]Then on the day they go into the inner court to minister liturgically in the sanctuary, they shall bring a propitiation offering," says the Lord God.

[28]"It shall be, in regard to their inheritance, that I am their inheritance. You shall give them no possession among the sons of Israel, for I am their possession. [29]They shall eat the sacrifices—the sin offering and the trespass offering—and every dedicated thing in Israel shall be theirs. [30]The best of all firstfruits of any kind, and every sacrifice of any kind from all your sacrifices, shall be for the priests. You shall also give to the priest the first of your produce, to cause your blessings to rest on your houses. [31]But the priests shall not eat anything, bird or beast, that died naturally or was torn by wild animals.

Ezekiel 45

A Holy Section of Land

[1]"When you divide the land by lot into inheritance, you shall set apart the firstfruit for the Lord, a holy section of the land. Its length shall be twenty-five thousand cubits and its width twenty thousand. It shall be holy throughout its territory all around. [2]Of this there shall be a square plot for the sanctuary, five hundred by five hundred rods, with fifty cubits around it for an open space. [3]From this measurement, you shall measure twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide; in it shall be the sanctuary, the holy of holies. [4]From the land, there shall be a portion for the priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, who come near to minister to the Lord. It shall be a place for their houses and a holy place for their sanctuary. [5]An area twenty-five thousand cubits long and ten thousand wide shall belong to the Levites, the ministers of the house. They shall have it as a possession with cities to dwell in.

Property for the Prince

6“You shall appoint as the property of the city an area five thousand cubits wide and twenty-five thousand long; in this manner the whole house of Israel shall have the firstfruit of the holy things. 7The prince shall have a portion from this, and from this there shall be a portion for the firstfruits of the sanctuary and for the possession of the city, in front of the firstfruits of the sanctuary, extending westward on the west side and eastward on the east side.
The length shall be equal to one of the parts of the western borders, and the length shall be to the eastern borders of the land. 8The land shall be his possession in Israel, and the princes of Israel shall not oppress My people anymore; but the house of Israel will inherit the land according to their tribes.”

9‘Thus says the Lord God: “Enough, O princes of Israel. Remove wrongdoing and trouble, and execute judgment and righteousness, and take away oppression from My people,” says the Lord God. 10“You shall have an honest scale, an honest unit, and an honest dry measure. 11The unit and the dry measure shall be uniform for receiving goods, so the dry measure may contain one-tenth of a homer, and the unit one-tenth of a homer. The standard shall be according to the homer, equal in size. 12The standard weight shall be twenty obols. Five shekels shall indeed be five, ten shekels shall be ten, and fifty shekels shall be for you one mina.

13“This is the firstfruit you shall offer: you shall give one-sixth of a unit from a homer of wheat, and one-sixth of an ephah from a kor of barley. 14The ordinance concerning oil, the liquid measure of oil, is one-tenth of such a measure. There are ten measures in a homer. 15One sheep shall be given from a flock of ten, from all the rich pastures of Israel, for sacrifices and whole burnt offerings, and for peace offerings to make atonement for you,” says the Lord God. 16“All the people shall give this firstfruit to the prince of Israel.
17Then it shall be the prince’s part to offer whole burnt offerings, sacrifices, and drink offerings at the feasts, the new moons, the Sabbaths, and at all the appointed festivals of the house of Israel. He shall offer the sin offerings, the sacrifice, the whole burnt offerings, and the peace offerings to make atonement for the house of Israel.”

Observing the Feasts

18‘Thus says the Lord God: “In the first month, on the first day of the month, you shall take a young bull without blemish and make atonement for the sanctuary. [19]The priest shall take some of the blood of the atonement and put it on the doorposts of the house, on the four corners of the temple, on the altar, and on the gateposts of the gate of the inner court. [20]Thus you shall do this in the seventh month, on the first of the month. You shall take a rate from each one and make atonement for the house.

[21]"In the first month, on the fourteenth day of the month, you shall observe the Paschal Feast; for seven days you shall eat unleavened bread. [22]And on that day the leader shall prepare for himself and for all the people of the land a bull for a sin offering. [23]During the seven days of the feast he shall make whole burnt offerings to the Lord, seven bulls and seven rams without blemish, daily for seven days, and a kid of the goats daily for a sin offering. [24]He shall also prepare a cake for each bull and a cake for each ram, using a hin of oil for each cake. [25]In the seventh month, on the fifteenth day of the month, in the feast, he shall do likewise for seven days, according to the sin offerings, the whole burnt offerings, the grain offering, and the oil."

The Way of Worship

[1]'Thus says the Lord God: "The gate of the inner court that faces toward the east shall be shut the six working days, but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and on the day of the New Moon it shall be opened. [2]The prince shall enter by way of the entrance chamber of the gate from the outside, and stand by the gatepost. The priest shall prepare his whole burnt offerings and his peace offerings. He shall worship at the threshold of the gate. Then he shall go out, but the gate shall not be shut until evening. [3]Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entrance to this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths and the New Moons. [4]The prince shall offer the whole burnt offerings to the Lord on the Sabbath day: six lambs without blemish, and a ram without blemish, [5]and the grain offering for a ram, and the grain offering for the lambs, as much as he wants to give, as well as a hin of oil with every cake. [6]On the day of the New Moon it shall be a young bull without blemish, six lambs, and a ram without blemish. [7]The cake with the bull and the cake with the ram shall be a grain offering, and for the lambs, whatever he wishes, along with a hin of oil with the cake. [8]When the prince enters, he shall go in by way of the entrance of the gate, and go out the same way. [9]But whenever the people of the land come before the Lord on the appointed feast days, whoever enters by way of the north gate to worship shall go out by way of the south gate; and whoever enters by way of the south gate shall go out by way of the north gate. He shall not return by way of the gate through which he came, but rather he shall go out right away. [10]The prince shall then be in their midst. When they go in, he shall go in, and when they go out, he shall go out. [11]At the festivals and the ceremonial days the grain offering shall be a cake of cereal for a bull, cereal for a ram, as much as he wants to give for the lambs, and a hin of oil with every cake.

[12]"Now when the prince offers whole burnt offerings as a thanksgiving to the Lord, he shall open the gate which faces east and offer his whole burnt offerings and his peace offerings, as he did on the Sabbath day. Then he shall go out, and after he goes out he shall shut the gate. [13]You shall offer daily as a whole burnt offering to the Lord a lamb of the first year without blemish, and you shall offer it every morning. [14]You shall also offer a grain offering with it every morning, a sixth of a unit, and a third of a hin of oil to moisten the fine flour of the grain offering. This is a perpetual ordinance. [15]You shall offer the lamb, the grain offering, and the oil, and you shall offer them as a whole burnt offering every morning continually."

The Prince's Possessions

[16]'Thus says the Lord God: "If the leader gives a gift of some of his inheritance to any of his sons, it shall belong to his sons, and it is their possession by inheritance. [17]But if he gives a gift of some of his inheritance to one of his servants, it shall be his until the Year of Remission, after which it shall return to the prince. But his inheritance shall belong to his sons, and it shall become theirs. [18]Moreover the prince shall not take any of the people's inheritance so as to oppress them. He shall provide an inheritance for his sons from his own property, so none of My people may be scattered from his property." ' "

The Temple Kitchens

[19]Now he brought me through the entrance which was behind the gate into the hall of the holy priests, which faces toward the north; and there was a place set apart there. [20]Then he said to me, "This is the place where the priests shall boil the trespass offerings and the sin offerings, and where they shall bake the grain offering, all of it together, so as not to bring them out into the outer court to sanctify the people.” 21Then he brought me out into the outer court and took me around to the four sides of the court; and behold, on every side there was also a side court. 22Each side court of the four sides was small, forty cubits long and thirty wide; the same measure for all four. 23There were also halls all around in them, all around the four of them, and cooking hearths were made under the halls all around. 24Then he said to me, “These are the houses of the kitchens where the ministers of the house boil the sacrifices of the people.”

The Stream from the Temple

1Then he brought me back to the outer door of the house, and there was water, flowing from under the open air of the chamber toward the east; and the water was flowing from under the right side court, from the south to the altar. 2Then he brought me out by way of the north gate and led me around on the outside to the outer gate that faces east; and there was water coming down, running out on the right side, 3in the direction in which a man went forth opposite. There was a measure in his hands, and he measured a thousand cubits with the measure; and he passed through the water. It was the water of remission. 4Again he measured a thousand, and he passed through the water, and the water was up to the knees. Again he measured a thousand, and the water came up to the waist. 5Again he measured a thousand, and it could not be crossed; for it broke into a rushing torrent which man cannot pass through.

6He said to me, “Son of man, have you seen this?” Then he led me to the bank of the river. 7As I returned, behold, along the bank of the river there were very many trees on this side and the other. 8Then he said to me, “This is the water that flows into Galilee, which is to the east. Then it goes down upon Arabia and reaches as far as the sea to the outlet of the water; and it will heal the waters. 9So it shall be that every living thing that moves, wherever the river goes, will live. There will be a very great multitude of fish, because these waters go there; for they will be healed, and everything will live wherever the river goes. 10Fishermen will stand by it from En Gedi to En Eglaim, and they will be places for spreading their nets. Their fish will be of the same kinds as the fish of the Great Sea, exceedingly many. 11But in its outlets and turns and overflows, they will not be healed, for they will be given over to salt. [12]Along the bank of the river, on this side and that, will grow all kinds of trees used for food. Their leaves will not wither, and their fruit will not fail. They will bear fruit every month, because their water flows from the sanctuary. Their fruit will be for food, and their leaves for healing."

Boundaries of the Land

[13]Thus says the Lord God: "These are the borders by which you shall divide the land as an inheritance among the twelve tribes of Israel. It is a setting forth of allotments. [14]You shall inherit it equally with one another; for I raised My hand in an oath to give it to your fathers, and this land shall fall to you as your inheritance. [15]This shall be the border of the land on the north: from the Great Sea which goes down and the entrance which divides Emath Seddatha, [16]Berothah, Sebraim, Eliam (which is between the border of Damascus and the border of Hamath), and the court of Saunan; these are above the borders of Auranitis. [17]These are the boundaries from the Sea, from the court of Enan, the borders of Damascus and those to the north. [18]On the east side you shall mark out the border from between Auran and Damascus, and between Gilead and the land of Israel, along the Jordan, which divides over along the eastern side of the sea which is to the east of Phoenicia. This is the east side. [19]The southern and southwestern coasts are from Teman and Phoenicia to the waters of Meribah by Kadesh to the Great Sea. This part is the south and southwest. [20]The west side shall be the Great Sea, from the southern boundary until one comes to a point opposite Hamath. This is the west side.

[21]"Thus you shall divide this land among yourselves according to the tribes of Israel. [22]It shall be that you will divide it by lot as an inheritance for yourselves, and for the resident aliens who dwell among you, and who bear sons in the midst of you. They shall be to you as native-born among the sons of Israel, and they shall eat with you in the inheritance among the tribes of Israel. [23]It shall be that in whatever tribe the resident alien dwells, there you shall give him his inheritance," says the Lord God.

Ezekiel 48

Dividing the Land for the Tribes

[1]“Now these are the names of the tribes: From the northern border of the descent which divides at the entrance of Hamath, the court of Enan, the border of Damascus northward, in the direction of Hamath, of the court, from its east to its west side, there shall be one section for Dan; [2]by the border of Dan, from the east side to the west, one section for Asher; [3]by the border of Asher, from the east side to the west, one section for Naphtali; [4]by the border of Naphtali, from the east side to the west, one section for Manasseh; [5]by the border of Manasseh, from the east side to the west, one section for Ephraim; [6]by the border of Ephraim, from the east side to the west, one section for Reuben; [7]by the border of Reuben, from the east side to the west, one section for Judah; [8]by the border of Judah, from the east side to the west, shall be the district which you shall set apart, twenty-five thousand cubits in width, and in length the same as one of the other portions, from the east side to the west, with the sanctuary in the center.

A District for the Lord

[9]“The firstfruits, the district that you shall set apart for the Lord, shall be twenty-five thousand cubits in length and twenty-five thousand in width. [10]To these—to the priests—the holy district shall belong: on the north twenty-five thousand cubits in length, on the west ten thousand in width, on the east ten thousand in width, and on the south twenty-five thousand in length. The holy mountain shall be in the center. [11]It shall be for the priests of the sons of Zadok, who are sanctified, who keep My charge, who did not go astray when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray. [12]The firstfruit shall be given to them from the firstfruits of the land, even a most holy portion from the borders of the Levites.

[13]“Next to the territory of the priests, the Levites shall have an area twenty-five thousand cubits in length and ten thousand in width. Its entire length shall be twenty-five thousand and its width ten thousand. [14]They shall not sell or exchange any of it; neither shall they take away or remove the first produce of the land, for it is holy to the Lord.

[15]“But the five thousand cubits in width that remain, along the edge of the twenty-five thousand, shall be for general use by the city, for habitation and common land; and the city shall be in the center. [16]These shall be its measurements: the north side, four thousand five hundred cubits; the south side, four thousand five hundred; the east side, four thousand five hundred; and the west side, four thousand five hundred. [17]There shall be common land for the city: to the north two hundred and fifty cubits, to the south two hundred and fifty, to the east two hundred and fifty, and to the west two hundred and fifty. [18]The rest of the length, alongside the district of the holy section, shall be ten thousand cubits to the east and ten thousand to the west. It shall be the firstfruits of the holy section, and its produce shall be food for the workers of the city. [19]The workers of the city, from all the tribes of Israel, shall cultivate it. [20]The entire firstfruits district shall be twenty-five thousand cubits by twenty-five thousand cubits, foursquare. You shall set apart the holy district from the property of the city.

[21]"The rest shall belong to the prince, on one side and on the other of the holy district and of the city's property, next to the twenty-five thousand cubits of the holy district as far as the eastern border, and westward next to the twenty-five thousand as far as the western border, adjacent to the tribal portions. It shall be the firstfruits of the holy district, and the sanctuary of the temple shall be in the midst of it. [22]Moreover, apart from the possession of the Levites and the possession of the city which are in the midst of what belongs to the leaders, the area between the border of Judah and the border of Benjamin shall belong to the leaders.

[23]"As for the rest of the tribes, from the east side to the west, Benjamin shall have one section; [24]by the border of Benjamin, from the east side to the west, Simeon shall have one section; [25]by the border of Simeon, from the east side to the west, Issachar shall have one section; [26]by the border of Issachar, from the east side to the west, Zebulun shall have one section; [27]by the border of Zebulun, from the east side to the west, Gad shall have one section; [28]by the borders of Gad, from the eastern parts to the southwestern parts, the borders shall be from Teman to the waters of Meribah by Kadesh, along the brook to the Great Sea. [29]This is the land you shall divide by lot as an inheritance among the tribes of Israel, and these are their divisions," says the Lord God.

Exit Gates of the City

[30]"These are the exits of the city. On the north side, measuring four thousand five hundred cubits [31](the gates of the city shall be named after the tribes of Israel), the three gates northward: one gate for Reuben, one gate for Judah, and one gate for Levi; [32]on the east side, four thousand five hundred cubits, three gates: one gate for Joseph, one gate for Benjamin, and one gate for Dan; [33]on the south side, measuring four thousand five hundred cubits, three gates: one gate for Simeon, one gate for Issachar, and one gate for Zebulun; [34]on the west side, four thousand five hundred cubits with their three gates: one gate for Gad, one gate for Asher, and one gate for Naphtali. [35]The circumference shall be eighteen thousand cubits; and the name of the city from the day on which it takes place shall be its name.”

Annotations for Ezekiel

1:1 St. Gregory the Great comments that after establishing the time and place in history, the Prophet Ezekiel mystically "shows forth the Lord," for in Christ's thirtieth year He was baptized and the heavens were opened (see Mt 3:17).

1:3, 4 St. Gregory writes that Ezekiel recognized the Incarnation of the Only Begotten when he saw the hand of the Lord. The amber signifies Christ, who "tempered" His divinity by taking on humanity, that humanity by grace might take on divinity. "Like amber in the fire, God is made man in persecution."

1:5–9 Ezekiel identifies the four living creatures as cherubim (10:9–16), the guardians of the throne of God (Ex 25:10–22; 3Kg 6:23–28). Like those of St. John's vision (see Rev 4:6–9), they are seen by the Fathers to typify the Four Evangelists, while their unity in the spirit (vv. 12, 20) illustrates the spread of the gospel.

1:10 St. Gregory the Great comments that the man is Matthew, because he begins his Gospel with Christ's genealogy (Mt 1:1). The lion is Mark, "because of the crying in the wilderness" (Mk 1:1). The ox is Luke, "because he started with a sacrifice" (Lk 1:8). The eagle is John, who "stretched toward the very substance of divinity" (Jn 1:1). Gregory also sees in them types of Christ, who became a man in the Incarnation, an ox on the Cross, a lion in the Resurrection, and an eagle in the Ascension. Finally, says Gregory, they symbolize "every one of the elect, who are perfect in the way of God," whose virtues are reason, self-sacrifice, fortitude, and contemplation of heavenly things.

1:13 The burning coals (v. 13), writes St. Gregory, are "holy men" (see Is 6:6 and note). The lamps signify the light of the gospel (see Jdg 7:16).

1:14–21 The wheels signify Holy Scripture, and the wheel within a wheel illustrates that "the New Testament lay hidden by allegory in the letter of the Old Testament" (GrgGt).

1:22 St. Gregory sees in the wings an image of the virtues of the righteous.

1:25 The man on the sapphire . . . throne prefigures the Incarnation of the Son of God from the Virgin Mary.

1:27 The rainbow images the new covenant (see Gn 9:13–15).

2:9, 10 The roll of a book signifies Holy Scripture, which Christ unrolled (Mk 4:34; Lk 24:25). Scripture "is written within by allegory, and without by history; within through spiritual understanding, but without through the plain sense of the letter still befitting the weak" (GrgGt). Lamentation and mourning indicate repentance, while woe points to the Final Judgment (Lk 6:25).

3:1–3 For the faithful, the taste of Christ the Word in our mouth is even sweeter than honey (see Ps 18:10; 118:103; Jer 15:16; Zec 5:1–4; Rev 10:8–11).

3:6 Israel rejected Christ, but the Gentiles received Him (Lk 11:29–33).

3:13 The gospel spread first by preaching the sound, and later by the Holy Scriptures (the wheels).

3:15 The captivity is an icon of the world held captive to sin. Here the prophet foreshadows John the Baptist preaching repentance and baptizing the Jewish faithful at the Jordan. Seven days signifies a time of completion.

3:17–19 The watchman must warn the lawless of the coming judgment, or he will be held accountable for his silence.

3:20 The righteous man images the Old Testament faithful, who heeded the prophets' warning and recognized Christ when He came.

3:22–27 After the gospel was preached to the Jews, it was taken to the plain, i.e., the whole world. Ezekiel's being shut up and put in chains points to the cutting off of prophecy to make way for Christ. Note that John the Baptist, the last Old Testament prophet, was put in prison (Mk 1:14); and his father, Zacharias, had his tongue bound (Lk 1:20).

4:1 St. Gregory the Great comments that the Prophet is called son of man so that when he is exalted, he might remember his fallen state.

4:4–11 Ezekiel lying bound on his side images the death of Christ, the Lamb of God, who bore the acts of unrighteousness of all humanity.

4:12–17 It would have been unthinkable for Ezekiel to carry out this command as first given. The Apostle Peter made a similar protest (see Acts 10:9–16). But in a striking reverse parallel, Christ made Himself to be sin for our sakes (2Co 5:21), so that all who waste away in their wrongdoings (v. 17) might partake together of the bread of heaven and the water of eternal life.

5:1–4 The hair and its destruction by fire, sword, and wind all point ultimately to the final judgment (compare Job 1:13–22; Is 7:20). The hair sewn into the garment illustrates the faithful remnant who have bound themselves to Christ.

5:5, 6 Jerusalem is the Church, which was indeed put . . . in the midst of the nations that she shall speak the gospel of truth.

5:7 Even the nations that did not know God had ordinances. This verse points to the presence of the natural law, or free will, in man. See Rom 2:14, 15.

6:1–3 The final fulfillment of this judgment was carried out in the Incarnation, when Christ came to wield the sword of the Spirit against all idolatry.

7:1–6 The Lord's judgment against sin is to withhold mercy, thus allowing the abominations of sin.

8:1–4 Scholars date this Sept. 17, 592 BC. It takes place in exile, in Ezekiel's house near Babylon. His vision of God gives us a heavenly perspective of the glory of the Lord.

8:6 The remainder of this chapter concerns great acts of lawlessness done on temple grounds. Present are idolatry (v. 10), hypocrisy (v. 12), preoccupation with Tammuz, a false god (v. 14), and lastly, sun worship (v. 16). God's verdict? No mercy (v. 18).

9:2 These men are messengers of God, and the one man among them prefigures Christ our High Priest, clothed in vestments of righteousness, carrying out the command (v. 11) of the Father.

10:1, 2 As the man in the long robe went between the wheels, so Christ permeates all of Holy Scripture, the Old and New Testaments alike. St. Gregory the Great sees in the coals a type of holy men. See Is 6:6, 7.

10:4 The brightness of the Lord's glory refers to His uncreated energies, in which He reveals Himself. These Old Testament theophanies (see Ex 40:34; 3Kg 8:11) are fulfilled and perfected in the glory of the divinity of Christ (Jn 1:14).

10:8–17 See ch. 1 and notes.

10:13 Wheel translates the word Gelgel, used in the LXX as a proper noun, a transliteration of the Hebrew glgl. In the Vulgate, St. Jerome translates it "turnings."

10:17, 18 As the glory of the Lord passed from the house to the cherubim, so God's glory departed from the earthly Israel to the heavenly Jerusalem, over and above them.

11:1 Ezekiel's miraculous prophetic appearance in Jerusalem must have given Israel's princes quite a shock; even so, they refused to repent. Indeed, Pelatiah dropped dead on the spot (v. 13). Ananias and Sapphira met a similar fate in the New Testament (Acts 5:10). The apostle Philip was transported in a similar way, but this time his audience, a Gentile eunuch, listened and was converted (Acts 8:26–39).

11:17–25 I will give them the land: This prophecy is being fulfilled in the New Israel, which is the Church, composed of both believing Jews and Gentiles (the nations).

12:1–3 Jerusalem was destroyed and its inhabitants taken into captivity in 586 BC, about six years after this prophecy was given.

12:12 The ruler is Zedekiah, who ruled from 598–587. He fled Jerusalem by night through a break in the city wall; then he was taken captive and his eyes put out (see 4Kg 25:7 and note).

12:18, 19 Compare to Gn 3:17–19.

12:21–28 Christ echoes this passage in His parable of the good steward (Lk 12:42–48).

12:25 I, the Lord, shall speak My words points to Christ, the logos of God.

13:1–3 Israel's false prophets in reality see nothing at all.

13:4, 5 Self-appointed prophets have no firm foundation of truth, but run after "every wind of doctrine" (Eph 4:14). True prophets discern when a message is from God and not "from their hearts" (v. 3).

13:10, 11 Christ condemns the Pharisees with similar language, calling them "whitewashed tombs" (Mt 23:27), while Paul calls the high priest Ananias a "whitewashed wall" (Acts 23:3).

14:12–14 God sometimes uses evil to bring good. For instance, God will cut off the supply of food so that hardship might bring His people back to Him. None but the likes of righteous Noah, Daniel, and Job—all of whom typify Christ—would listen. Yet in His mercy, the Lord leads "sons and daughters" (v. 22), who typify the Church, to salvation.

15:1, 2 Chapters 15–17 reveal the passing away of the old covenant and the coming of the new covenant in Christ. Chapters 15 and 17 are parables, while ch. 16 speaks of God's love for lawless Jerusalem. The vine is an image of Israel under the old covenant, which was replaced when Christ, the "true vine," came (see Jn 15:1–6). The branches in the forest typify the Gentile nations from which believers will be "grafted into" the vine (see Rom 11:17–25).

16:4–10 A moving account of God's mercy upon a people stricken with perversity of . . . soul (v. 5). Water, oil, and fine linen are Old Testament images pointing to baptism.

16:44–46 Like mother, like daughter! A sobering parable of how ungodly parents beget lawless children.

16:59–63 Though we have dishonored God, still He will remember us when we turn to Him. This calls to mind the repentant thief who called out to Christ, "Remember me when You come into Your kingdom" (Lk 23:42).

17:1 This parable was fulfilled historically when Israel went into the Babylonian captivity. Some scholars say that the first great eagle is Nebuchadnezzar (v. 3), the second (v. 7) Pharaoh.

17:22–24 As the branches were planted on Israel's mountain, so the Gentile Church (the humble tree) grew out of earthly Israel (the high tree).

18:1–32 This chapter deals with our relationship with God. The soul who sins, he shall die (v. 4): Each person is guilty only of his or her own sins. Man inherited death and a tendency to sin from Adam (Rom 5:12); but human nature, though stained by the fall, remains in the image of God (v. 19). A man may turn away from righteousness (v. 24), but he is also capable of seeking God's grace and experiencing a new heart and a new spirit (v. 31; see 11:17–25).

18:32 See 1Ti 2:4.

19:1–14 The mother lion refers to Judah. The two young lions (v. 5) are Jehoahaz and Jehoiachin, the last kings to reign in Judah (4Kg 23:34; 24:12). The lamentation is taken up because the Davidic line, through which the Messiah was to come, was feared to end. But the faithful Jews would have found renewed hope in this amazing prophecy, for it had been promised long ago by their father Jacob that the rod of strength, the scepter (vv. 11, 14), would not depart from Judah until the Messiah came (Gn 49:9–12).

20:1–4 This is the introduction to a chapter that describes Israel's history of lawlessness.

20:29 Bamah: There is a play on words here: abamah means "high place" in Hebrew; bema in Greek means the same. St. Jerome translates this as excelsum ("the exalted place"), reflecting this connection. But Israel used this high place for idolatry (v. 28) and abominations (v. 30).

20:33–44 A prophecy fulfilled ultimately in the Church. The scepter (v. 37) promises Christ, a new king for the people of God. Those who revolted (v. 38) will be culled out, while those who know . . . the Lord will find the way (v. 44).

21:3–5 This is a parable, is it not? A classic example of not wanting to hear of the flame of judgment the Lord has kindled.

21:8 To be sure that Israel understands, the Lord restates His warning to the unrighteous and lawless, saying I will draw my sword.

21:23–25 The king of Babylon is Nebuchadnezzar, who will use his sword against Rabbath, the main city of Ammon, and against Jerusalem.

22:1 The city of blood is Jerusalem, an especially tragic description since the literal meaning of Jerusalem is "possession of peace."

22:7 From here to v. 12, seven times the phrase within you is used, underscoring not only the grievous sins, but the fact that these were committed in the Holy City.

23:1–49 These two sisters image all who turn from God to satisfy their own desires. Oholah (i.e., Samaria) is like those who do not have the Law (Rom 1:23), yet despise the natural law within them (Rom 1:32). Oholibah (i.e., Judah) is like those who have the Law, yet "dishonor God through breaking the law" (Rom 2:23). The righteous men (vv. 45–49) typify the apostles, who preached to both Jew and Gentile (Rom 3:30).

24:1–14 This parable speaks the coming judgment of Jerusalem, the house which provokes.

24:15–27 Ezekiel's loss of his wife (v. 18) speaks of the passing away of Israel, whose husband was the Lord (Is 54:5). See 33:21–31 and note.

25:1—27:35 These chapters describe God's judgment on five Gentile nations: Ammon, Moab, Edom (all in modern-day Jordan); Tyre (Lebanon), and the Cretans (Crete). The gospel of Christ was later brought to these places, and the Church is present in these countries to this day.

26:7 Nebuchadnezzar may be king of kings, but Jesus Christ is KING OF KINGS (Rev 19:16).

27:1 Some Church Fathers interpret this lamentation (through 28:26) as imaging the fall of Lucifer and his angels (also see Is 14:12) and the overthrow of pride by the preaching of the gospel. King Hiram of Tyre had been friendly with Israel (3Kg 5); yet by the time of the captivity Tyre was set against Jerusalem (26:2). Christ began to fulfill this judgment when He cast the demon out of the Syro-Phoenician's daughter (Mk 7:24–30). After Pentecost, the gospel spread rapidly to this region (Acts 21:3–5).

29:1–21 The judgment against Pharaoh and Egypt illustrates the destruction of demonic strongholds through baptism. As the rivers (v. 3) belonged to Pharaoh, so the dragon (v. 3), the devil, held sway on the earth until Christ destroyed him in the waters of the Jordan (see also Ex 14:27–30). The horn (v. 21) is a symbol for Christ.

30:1–18 In the days of the Captivity, Egypt and Ethiopia stood against God's purposes. But after Pentecost, these nations were blessed with the establishment of the Church among the Gentiles. Indeed, the Ethiopian eunuch confessed that "Jesus Christ is the Son of God" when Philip appeared to him (Acts 8:26–39).

31:2–9 These verses are a description of Pharaoh, set forth as a tall tree in Lebanon. Some scholars believe that Assyria is a copying error, and that this word should be "cedar," as the two words are very similar in Hebrew.

31:10–14 Pharaoh's sin was pride (he was exalted), and the ruler of the nations is Nebuchadnezzar.

32:1–32 The lamentation primarily for Pharaoh comes first (vv. 1–16); the lament primarily for Egypt in her descent into the pit closes this chapter (vv. 17–32).

33:1–9 Ultimately the trumpet is the preaching of the gospel and the watchman is the preacher. Those who know the truth and do not warn others will be judged more harshly than those who die in their lawlessness because they have not heard.

33:10–20 "For the goodness and the loving-kindness of God, and His boundless riches, hold righteous and sinless the man who, as Ezekiel tells, repents of sins; and reckons sinful, unrighteous, and impious the man who falls away from piety and righteousness to unrighteousness and ungodliness. Wherefore also our Lord Jesus Christ said, 'In whatsoever things I shall take you, in these I shall judge you'" (Justin; compare Jn 12:47, 48).

33:21–31 Ezekiel's mouth was opened (v. 22) when Jerusalem was taken captive, while the kingly line of Judah went silent until the coming of Christ (see Gn 49:9–12). St. Zacharias, the priest who was made mute because of his unbelief, was given back his voice when his son John the Baptist was born (Lk 1:5–20, 57–79). Also see 3:22–27; 19:1–14 and notes.

34:1–31 It is appropriate that immediately after regaining his voice, the prophet condemns the false shepherds and prophesies the coming of the Good Shepherd, Christ, and the establishment of His sheep (v. 31), the Church. Compare Jn 10; Lk 15:4–7; 19:17.

34:11–16 Here is an image of Christ shepherding His sheep.

34:17–22 Compare Mt 23:32, 33, where Christ echoes His own words given here to the prophet.

34:23 My servant David clearly images Christ the Good Shepherd.

35:1–15 Mount Seir is Edom (v. 15), where Esau, brother of Jacob, settled (Gn 36:8). See Dt 2:1–6 and note.

36:1–7 The judgment continues against Edom, which today is southern Jordan.

36:8–15 This prophecy is ultimately fulfilled in the Church, which is the New Israel.

36:16–38 The earthly Israel is also representative of fallen humanity, which has desecrated God's holy name (v. 21). But the Lord will gather (v. 24) both Jew and Gentile from among the nations, and with them establish His Church.

36:24–28 This passage is read in the Week of Pentecost.

37:1–14 This passage is the Great Doxology read at Matins on Great and Holy Saturday. The Fathers teach that it prophesies the Final Resurrection. "Great is the lovingkindness of the Lord, that the prophet is taken as a witness of the future resurrection, that we, too might see it with his eyes. . . . We notice here how the operations of the Spirit of life are again resumed; we know after what manner the dead are raised from the opening tombs. . . . And finally, he who has believed that the dead shall rise again 'in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump (for the trumpet shall sound). . . . shall be caught up among the first in the clouds to meet Christ in the air'; he who has not believed shall be left, and subject himself to the sentence by his own unbelief" (AmbM).

"As we at once perceive that the Creator (Demiurgo) is in this passage represented as vivifying our dead bodies, and promising resurrection to them, and resuscitation from their sepulchers and tombs, conferring upon them immortality also (He says, 'For as the tree of life, so shall their days be'), He is shown to be the only God who accomplishes these things, and as Himself the good Father, benevolently conferring life upon those who have not life from themselves" (Iren).

37:15–28 "Ezekiel put together the sticks, the two in one: in the two beams of the Cross, their staves have ceased. The two sticks, as it were wings, bore the people: lo! his two staves were broken, even as his wings. The bosom and wings of the Cross, He opened in mercy: its pinions bowed and bore the nations, to go to Eden. It is akin to the Tree of Life, and unto the son of its stock: it leads its beloved that on its boughs, they may feed on its fruits" (EphS).

38:1—39:29 The names of these nations are not meant to lead us to specific historical circumstances or places, whether past, present, or future; rather, they should be viewed as representing all the enemies of God, which have been persecuting His Church since the beginning. Indeed, St. Gregory the Great remarks that, where that which comes from the south is taken to be a symbol for the warmth of the Holy Spirit, that which comes from the north is taken to mean the devil, "because the former loosens with heat and the latter constrains with cold." The Church takes the biblical term the last days (38:16) to mean the time since Pentecost, the Church age, though there will be a final battle at the end of the age, after which Satan will be cast into the abyss forever (Rev 20:10). Gog and Magog: See Rev 20:8–10 and note.

40:2, 3 St. Gregory the Great sees Christ in both the high mountain and the man. The city is the heavenly Jerusalem, the Church (Heb 12:22). The builder's cord symbolizes the truth taught by the apostles. The measuring rod signifies Holy Scripture. Christ stood at the gate "because in His humanity He appeared visible, and in His divinity He remained unseen" (GrgGt). Compare Rev 21:9–27.

40:5–7 St. Gregory the Great sees in the wall a type of the Incarnation in the womb of the Virgin (see Is 26:1); indeed, Church hymns to the Theotokos call her "a wall unshaken." Six cubits represent the active life, "because God completed all His works on the sixth day." A handbreadth, which is "from the seventh, but falls short," signifies the contemplative life.

40:6–9 St. Gregory the Great interprets the meaning of the gates in four ways: as signifying Christ (Jn 10:1, 2), the preachers of truth (Rev 21:21), the Scriptures, and the faith. The seven stairs (v. 6) signify the "sevenfold grace of the Holy Spirit" (see Is 11:2, 3). The chambers are "the hearts of those whose soul is joined through love with the Unseen Bridegroom." The length, he writes, signifies longing for God, and the breadth is love for neighbor. Five cubits (v. 7) signifies the five outer senses. Eight cubits (v. 9) signifies spiritual perfection and the final day of resurrection. Two cubits illustrates a life that is "led daily through charity to love of God and neighbor alike."

40:10–12 Three . . . chambers on each side signifies that the hearts of both Old and New Testament faithful are "kindled with the love of the Trinity" (GrgGt). The ten cubits (v. 11) points to the perfection of the Law as seen in the Ten Commandments, while the thirteen cubits (v. 11) illustrates the increased knowledge of the Trinity revealed in Christ.

40:15 Fifty (seven squared plus one) signifies eternal rest, "because our every perfection will be in the contemplation of the One in the vision of whom there will be for us no lack of salvation and joy. Hence the Jubilee, i.e., the fiftieth year, was also given for rest" (GrgGt; see Lv 25 and notes).

40:16 Hidden windows, like icons, provide glimpses of heavenly glory, which enlighten the soul through contemplation; while palm trees signify the rewards of victory (Jn 12:13; Rev 7:9).

40:20–28 St. Gregory sees the north gate as being for the Gentiles, beginners, and repentant sinners; while the south gate is for believing Jews who had the Law, as well as "the fervent in spirit who, kindled by the heat of the Holy Spirit, grow up in virtues as in the noonday light."

40:27 St. Gregory sees the outer gates as imaging the Old Testament prophets, and the inner gates as imaging the Holy Apostles.

40:31–33 The east gate signifies Christ's entrance into the world through the womb of the Theotokos (see 44:1–4 and note). Eight steps "signify the mysteries of that life which the perfect understand in their secret hearts; those who already know how mentally to transcend all temporal things; who wholly despise the present life which turns through a cycle of seven days; who feed on inward contemplation" (GrgGt).

40:39–48 Here the vision concerns the heavenly altar (v. 46), imaged in the Divine Liturgy, where the saints offer their whole being to God in praise and worship. See Heb 13:10–19 and notes. The court is the foursquare fullness of the Church, which operates in faith, hope, charity, and good works.

41:1–6 The prophet is brought into the inner sanctuary, which is an image of the human soul. The temple is a type of the Theotokos, who held God the Word in her womb. For more on this imagery, see Heb 9. The untouched wall also images the Theotokos. See 40:5–7; 43:1–3 and notes.

41:7 The side chambers that became wider as they went up illustrate the heart that grows by grace into the likeness of God, as well as the growth and unity of the Church united in Christ.

41:11, 12 North . . . south: See 40:20, 27 and notes. The light is the light of Christ present in every human being (Jn. 1:9). The open space within the house brings to mind a hymn we sing to the Theotokos: "Your womb is more spacious than the heavens."

41:16 The shaded light illustrates that the light of Christ's glory is revealed to man as far as he is able to bear it; for while we are on this earth, we see as in a mirror dimly (1Co 13:12). Compare the term fishnet to 47:10; Jn 21:3–6. The wood panels point to Christ's humanity (see Ex 25:10, 11 and note).

41:17–19 The two faces of the cherubim signify Christ as man and as lion of Judah (see Gn 49:9–12 and note).

41:21 The wooden altar is symbolic of the Cross.

42:1–8 Five halls in the outer court, to the east, illustrate the five human senses directed toward Christ. The halls of ten (i.e., the Law) by one hundred (i.e., perfection) cubits, together with the upper walkways, illustrate a lifetime of obedience, good works, and repentance leading upward to heaven. Fifty: See 40:15 and note.

42:9, 10 Christ is the Door, the Orient (east), the light, the head, and the way for all who enter the heavenly places.

42:13, 14 Under the Law, the holy place was accessible only to the priests, but in Christ, all who draw near in faith and love may partake of the most holy things.

42:15–20 He measured the house all around: Compare Rev 21:9–27.

43:1–12 The prophet was led . . . out from the east gate, the glory of the Lord entered, and then the gate was shut (44:1). According to the Fathers, this passage, together with 44:1–5, foreshadows the Incarnation, when the Holy Spirit overshadowed the Virgin in the Temple and the Son of God was conceived in her womb (Lk 1:26–38). The sound of many voices (v. 2) is echoed by the "multitude of the heavenly host" announcing the Advent of Christ to the shepherds (Lk 2:13).

43:13–17 The altar here, as well as the altar in the Church, images the heavenly altar. The altar is "the soul of the righteous man, which lays upon itself before His eyes as many sacrifices as it has done good deeds. And what is the drain of the altar but the patience of good men, which, while it humbles the mind to endure adversities, shows it to be placed low down after the manner of a ditch? . . . Well, too, this same trench is directed to be of one cubit, because, if patience fails not, the measure of unity is preserved" (GrgGt). The great mercy seat is clearly a type of Christ.

43:18–27 The Levites typify the clergy who serve at the altar in the Church (see Nm 8:5–25 and note). The burnt offerings point to Christ's sacrifice on the Cross for our salvation (v. 27).

Types of Mary in the Old Testament

Types of both Christ and Mary, His Mother, fill the Old Testament. Indeed, most of the Old Testament types of Mary—a natural consequence of her essential role in the Incarnation of her Son, Jesus Christ—reveal the awesome marvel of her womb which contained the almighty God. Referring to Genesis 2:9, the hymnography of the Church sees the garden of Eden as a type of Mary: "Rejoice, . . . O living Paradise, having the Lord, the Tree of Life, in your midst" (Akathist Hymn). The burning bush beheld by Moses in the wilderness (Ex 3:1–6) is one of the most often mentioned types of Mary. For example, "She is the Bush springing from barren ground [her mother, St. Anna, had been barren] and burning with the immaterial fire that cleanses and enlightens our souls" (Small Vespers, Nativity of the Theotokos). St. John of Damascus observes, "The burning bush is an image of God's Mother . . . If, therefore, the ground where the image of the Theotokos was seen by Moses is holy ground [Ex 3:5], how much more holy is the image itself?"

The tabernacle in the wilderness, where God dwelt among the wandering Israelites (Ex 25:1–27:19), also prefigures Mary: "The tabernacle that is to hold God, the sanctuary of the glory, has chosen to dwell in the holy temple" (Matins, Entry of the Theotokos into the Temple). Another hymn from this service addresses her as "O Holy of Holies," identifying her with the most holy inner place of the tabernacle and the temple (Ex 26:33; 3Kg 8:6).

Other Old Testament types of Mary relating to the Lord dwelling in her womb include the jar of manna (Ex 16:33, 34); Aaron's rod that budded (Nm 17:16–23); the tablet of the Law "written with the finger of God" (Ex 31:18); the ladder reaching from earth to heaven (Gn 28:10–17); the fleece that received the dew (Jdg 6:36–38; see Ps 71:1–6); the tongs bearing the live coal (Is 6:6); and the fiery furnace in Babylon (Dan 3:19–50). Concerning this last image, the hymnographer St. Cosmas of Maiuma writes, "The furnace moist with dew was the image and figure of a wonder past nature. For it burned not the Children whom it had received, even as the fire of the Godhead consumed not the Virgin's womb into which it had descended" (Matins, Nativity of Christ).

The miracle of the Virgin Birth is another prominent theme among the Old Testament types of Mary. One of the most striking of these is found in Ezekiel 43:27–44:4, the only Old Testament passage read at all four of the major Feasts of the Theotokos. This reading tells about the east gate of the heavenly temple remaining shut even as the Lord God of Israel, and He alone, goes in and out through it. This is prophetic of the Lord entering Mary's womb and being born nine months later with her virginity remaining intact. Hence in various hymns the Church proclaims her as "the Gate that looks towards the East," "the Gate through which none may pass," and "the East Gate . . . [who] awaits the entrance of the Great Priest."

Another such image occurs in Daniel 2:45, where the Theotokos is the mountain out of whom a stone (that is, Christ; 1Co 10:4) is cut "without hands." This refers to Christ's birth from the Virgin, untouched by a man.

Mary is the culmination of the whole history of the ancient Hebrews. She is the perfection to which all of faithful Israel aspired through the long centuries of preparation for the coming of the Messiah, beginning with the promise given to Abraham: "God promised to our forefather Abraham that in his seed the Gentiles would be blessed [Gn 22:18], O pure Lady; and through thee today, the promise receives its fulfillment" (Matins, Annunciation).

44:1–4 The eastern outer gate is seen by the Fathers as the womb of the Virgin, which was shut because the Lord God had entered by it. The Church sees this passage as describing the ever-virginity of Mary. Though many modern denominations reject this doctrine, it was held to be true by Luther, Calvin, and John Wesley. St. Jerome writes that the east gate images the Virgin Mary, whose womb is "always shut and always shining, and either concealing or revealing the Holy of Holies; and through her 'the Sun of Righteousness,' our 'high priest after the order of Melchizedek,' goes in and out." At the Entry of the Theotokos into the Temple we sing, "Today the house of God receives the Gate through which no one may pass; so it has brought an end to the worship commanded by the shadow of the Law." See 43:1–12 and note.

44:6–9 The Law was broken by the Jews, but under the New Covenant, foreign sons—uncircumcised Gentiles (v. 7)—became baptized Christians.

45:1–25 These physically impractical divisions of the land and the instructions concerning liturgical worship make sense only in the light of their fulfillment in Christ and His Church. The one sheep (v. 15), the young bull (v. 18), and the prince (v. 16) are all types of Christ, our possession (v. 8), who made atonement (v. 18) for His Church. The Paschal Feast (v. 21), or Passover (see Nm 28:16 and note), is fulfilled whenever we celebrate Christ's Resurrection.

46:1–24 With the Resurrection of Christ, the Sabbath, which was the seventh day, has become the day of rest and preparation for the Eighth Day, or Sunday (see Acts 20:7). During the Divine Liturgy, the people gather to worship (v. 9) the Lord and to make a grain offering in the form of bread and wine. The oil (v. 14) signifies the presence of the Holy Spirit. In response, Christ the Prince (v. 8), the Lamb of God, enters and is in our midst (v. 10). Just as the Prince goes in and out (v. 8) by the east gate, so Christ came into the world by taking His flesh from His Mother, the Most Holy Theotokos (see 44:1–4 and note).

47:1–23 A vision applying to holy baptism, the coming of the Holy Spirit, the preaching of the apostles (compare v. 10 to Jn 21:6), and the growth of the Church from both Jew and Gentile believers (resident aliens, vv. 21–23). "In the vision of the prophet Ezekiel there is seen above the cherubim a crystal stretched forth, that is, the compressed and denser waters. The first living beings come out of the waters; and believers soar out of the laver with wings to heaven [1:22–25]. . . . In Eden a garden is planted, and a fountain in the midst of it parts into four heads [Gn 2:10]. This is the same fountain which Ezekiel later on describes as issuing out of the temple and flowing towards the rising of the sun, until it heals the bitter waters and quickens those that are dead" (Jerome).

48:1–35 This chapter has been and continues to be fulfilled since Pentecost, when the Church was established and began to "inherit the land," growing with Christ in its center (v. 10) until it fills the earth on the final day. The Levites typify the clergy of the Church, and the workers (v. 19) are the faithful. These cultivate the land by good works, bringing the firstfruits of their labor into the Lord's house whenever we gather together to worship Him in Spirit and in truth.

48:35 The name of the city is the New Jerusalem (Rev 3:12), the Church, which has been and is now "continuing" (Heb 13:14) from the day on which Christ took His place in her midst. On the final day, when the Lord comes for His Bride, those who overcome will receive a "new name" (Rev 2:17)—the name of Christ revealed—on their foreheads (Rev 22:4).

The Book of Daniel

Author

Daniel, whose name means, “God is my Judge” or “God is judging,” wrote the book that carries his name.

Date

Traditionally thought to have been written during the Babylonian captivity (605–530 BC).

Major Theme

The sovereignty of God over all nations is set forth and illustrated by the truth that God directs history for the fulfillment of His purposes and plans. The blessings of God are granted to those who refrain from idol worship and turn to Him. Finally, throughout the book, we see the vanity of idol worship shown by its effect on the lives of those who pursue it.

Background

Daniel was born in the tribe of Judah. He was taken to Babylon in the captivity as an infant. Among his contemporaries were the prophets Ezekiel and Jeremiah.

Outline

Susanna

[1]There was a man living in Babylon, and his name was Jehoiakim. [2]He took a wife whose name was Susanna, the daughter of Hilkiah, a very beautiful woman and one who feared the Lord. [3]Her parents were righteous and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moses. [4]Jehoiakim was exceedingly wealthy, with a spacious garden adjoining his house, and the Jews came to him because he was the most honored of them all. [5]In that year, two elders from the people were appointed as judges, concerning whom the Lord said, “Lawlessness came forth out of Babylon from the elders who were judges, who were supposed to govern the people.” [6]These men were frequently at Jehoiakim’s house, and all who had judgments came to them.

[7]Now when the people departed at midday, Susanna would go into her husband’s garden to walk. [8]So the two elders would see her going in and walking about every day, and they desired her. [9]They turned away their heart and averted their eyes from looking to heaven, and from remembering righteous judgments. [10]Both were pierced to the heart for her, but they did not tell each other their pain. [11]They were ashamed to inform one another of their desire, because they wished to have relations with her. [12]So every day they eagerly watched to see her. [13]Finally they said to one another, “Let us go home, for it is time for the midday meal,” and going out, they parted from each other. [14]But turning back, they met again, and when they pressured each other for the reason, they confessed their desire. Together they arranged for a time they could find her alone.

[15]Then it came to pass, while they were waiting for an opportune day, she went in as before with only two maids. She also wished to bathe in the garden, for it was hot. [16]For no one was there except the two elders, who hid themselves and were watching her. [17]She said to her maids, “Bring me oil and ointments, and shut the doors of the garden, that I may bathe.” [18]They did as she said and closed the garden doors. They went out by the side doors to bring the things commanded, but did not see the elders, because they were hidden.

[19]When the maids left, the two elders arose and ran to her, [20]and said, “Look, the doors of the garden are closed, and no one will see us, and we desire you. Therefore give us your consent and lie with us. [21]If you do not,

we will testify that a young man was with you, and because of this you sent your maids away from you.” [22]Then Susanna sighed deeply and said, “I am hemmed in on all sides, for if I do this thing, it is death for me; yet if I do not, I will not escape your hands. [23]But it is better for me not to do it and to fall into your hands, than to sin against the Lord.” [24]Then Susanna cried out with a loud voice, and the two elders cried out against her. [25]One of them ran and opened the garden doors. [26]When the household servants heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in by the side doors to see what had happened to her. [27]So when the elders told their tale, the servants were deeply ashamed, for such a report had never been made about Susanna.

[28]Then it came to pass the next day, when the people assembled at the house of Jehoiakim, her husband, the two elders also came full of their lawless purpose against Susanna, to have her put to death. They said before all the people, [29]“Send for Susanna the daughter of Hilkiah, who is the wife of Jehoiakim.” [30]So they sent for her, and she came with her parents, her children, and all her kindred. [31]Now Susanna was very desirable and beautiful to behold. [32]However, she was veiled; thus the lawless men commanded she be unveiled, so as to enjoy her beauty. [33]But her friends and all who saw her wept. [34]Then the two elders arose in the midst of the people and laid their hands upon her head. [35]She wept and looked up to heaven; for her heart trusted in the Lord. [36]The two elders said, “As we were walking in the garden alone, this woman came in with two maids, closed the doors of the garden, and dismissed the maids. [37]Then a young man who was hidden came to her and lay with her. [38]Now we were in a corner of the garden and saw this lawlessness. So we ran to them and saw them having relations. [39]But we could not hold the man, for he was stronger than we. He then opened the doors and rushed out. [40]So we seized this woman and asked her who the young man was, [41]but she was unwilling to tell us.” Thus the assembly believed them, as they were elders and judges among the people. So they condemned her to death.

[42]But Susanna cried out with a loud voice and said, “O eternal God, who know both what is secret and all things before they come to be, [43]You know these men testified against me falsely, and behold, I shall die, though I did none of the things they wickedly invented against me.” [44]The Lord heard her voice, [45]and as she was being led away to be put to death, God aroused the holy spirit of a young boy, whose name was Daniel. [46]He cried out with a loud voice, “I am innocent of the blood of this woman.” [47]So all the people turned to him and said, “What is this thing you said?” [48]Then he stood in their midst and said, “Are you such fools, O sons of Israel? Without examination or knowledge of the evidence, have you condemned a daughter of Israel? [49]Return to the place of judgment, for these men testified against her falsely.”

[50]So all the people returned with haste. The elders said to him, “Come, sit in our midst and inform us, for God gives you that privilege.” [51]Daniel then said to them, “Separate them far from each other, and I will examine them.” [52]When they were separated from each other, he summoned one of them and said to him, “You old man of evil days, now the sins you committed in earlier days have come home; [53]for you pronounce unjust judgments, condemn the innocent, and set the guilty free. Yet the Lord said, ‘You shall not kill the innocent and the righteous.’ [54]Now then, if indeed you saw her, tell me, under which tree did you see them being intimate with each other?” He replied, “Under a mastic tree.” [55]Daniel then said, “Plainly, you lied against your own head, for even now the angel of God receives the sentence from God, and he shall cut you in two.”

[56]Then he removed him, and commanded them to bring the other. He said to him, “You seed of Canaan and not of Judah, beauty deceived you, and desire turned away your heart. [57]This is how both of you deal with the daughters of Israel, and they have been intimate with you through fear; but a daughter of Judah would not endure your lawlessness. [58]Now then, tell me, under what tree did you catch them being intimate with each other?” He replied, “Under the evergreen oak.” [59]Daniel said to him, “Plainly, you also lied against your own head, for the angel of God is waiting with his sword to cut you in two, that he may destroy both of you.”

[60]Then the whole assembly cried out with a loud voice and blessed God, who saves those who hope in Him. [61]So they rose up against the two elders, for Daniel convicted them out of their own mouth of bearing false witness; and they did to them the thing they maliciously intended to do against their neighbor. [62]For acting in accordance with the Law of Moses, they put them to death. Therefore innocent blood was saved on that day.

[63]Hilkiah and his wife praised God for their daughter, with Jehoiakim her husband and all her kindred, because nothing shameful was found in her. [64]Thus Daniel had a great reputation among the people from that day onward.

Daniel and His Companions Obey God

[1]In the third year of the reign of Jehoiakim king of Judah, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came to Jerusalem and besieged it. [2]The Lord gave Jehoiakim king of Judah into his hand, with some of the vessels of the house of God. Then he brought them to the land of Shinar, to the house of his god. He carried them into the treasure house of his god. [3]Then the king spoke to Ashpenaz, the chief of his eunuchs, to bring him some of the captives of Israel, and some of the royal family and some of the nobles— [4]young men in whom there was no blemish, but handsome, skilled in all wisdom, well grounded in letters, intelligent, and prudent, and who had the ability to serve in the king's house, and whom they might teach the letters and language of the Chaldeans. [5]The king also appointed a daily provision for them from the king's table and from the wine he drank, and gave orders to educate them for three years. At the end of that time they were to stand before the king.

[6]Now among them there were Daniel, Hananiah, Azariah, and Mishael, sons of the tribe of Judah. [7]So the chief of the eunuchs gave them names: to Daniel the name Belteshazzar; to Hananiah, Shadrach; to Mishael, Meshach; and to Azariah, Abednego. [8]But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's food, nor with the wine he drank; therefore, he entreated the chief of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself. [9]Now the Lord gave Daniel mercy and compassion in the sight of the chief of the eunuchs. [10]So the chief of the eunuchs said to Daniel, "I fear my Lord the king, who ordered your food and drink, lest he see your countenances gloomy in comparison to the young men your equals. Then you would endanger my head before the king." [11]So Daniel said to Melzar, whom the chief of the eunuchs appointed over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah: [12]"Test your servants for ten days, and let them give us vegetables to eat and water to drink. [13]After this let our countenance be observed by you and the countenance of the young men who eat at the king's table. Then deal with your servants as you see fit." [14]So he agreed with their proposal and tested them ten days. [15]At the end of the ten days, their countenance was observed, and they were more fit and stronger in body than the young men who ate at the king's table. [16]Thus Melzar took away their food and wine, and gave them vegetables instead. [17]As for these four young men, God gave them understanding and insight in all letters and wisdom, and He gave Daniel understanding in all visions and dreams.

18 Now when their education was completed, the king ordered all the young men to be brought in. Thus the chief of the eunuchs brought them before Nebuchadnezzar. 19 So the king spoke with them, and among all of them, none were found like Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. So they stood before the king. 20 In every saying of wisdom and understanding about which the king examined them, he found them ten times better than all the enchanters and wise men in all his kingdom. 21 Thus Daniel continued until the first year of the reign of King Cyrus.

King Nebuchadnezzar's Dream

1 Now in the second year of Nebuchadnezzar's reign, he had a dream. His spirit was deeply troubled, and his sleep departed from him. 2 So the king gave orders to summon the enchanters, the magicians, the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans, to tell the king his dreams. Thus they came and stood before the king.

3 Then the king said to them, "The king had a dream, and my spirit is deeply troubled to know the meaning of the dream." 4 Then the Chaldeans spoke to the king in the Syrian language, "O king, live forever. Tell your servants the dream, and we will tell you its interpretation." 5 The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, "The dream has departed from me. If you do not make the dream and its interpretation known to me, you shall be destroyed, and your houses will be plundered. 6 But if you do make the dream and its interpretation known to me, you will receive all kinds of gifts from me and be honored by me. Therefore tell me the dream and its interpretation."

7 But they answered a second time and said, "Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will tell you its interpretation." 8 The king answered them, "Truly, I know you are trying to gain time, because you see that the thing has departed from me. 9 Therefore if you do not tell me the dream, I will know that you have agreed beforehand to give my dream a false and corrupt interpretation. So before any more time passes by, tell me my dream, then I will know that you can tell me its interpretation." 10 The Chaldeans answered the king and said, "There is no man on earth who can make known the king's dream, and there is no great king or ruler who asks such a thing as this of any enchanter, magician, or Chaldean. 11The question you ask, O king, is difficult and above expectation, for there is no man who can tell the king his dream except the gods, whose dwelling is not with any flesh." 12Then the king, angry and furious, commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babylon. 13He decreed that the wise men be put to death, and he sought for Daniel and his friends to kill them.

God Reveals the Dream

14Then with counsel and intelligence, Daniel spoke to Arioch, the captain of the king's guard, who went out to kill the wise men of Babylon. 15He asked him for what reason the bitter decree had come from the king. Then Arioch, the king's official, made the reason known to Daniel. 16So Daniel went in and entreated the king to give him time, and he would tell the king his dream and its interpretation. 17Then Daniel went to his house and made the matter known to his friends, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah. 18They sought mercies from the God of heaven concerning this mystery, that Daniel and his friends might not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babylon.

19Then the mystery was revealed to Daniel in a vision during the night. After that, Daniel blessed the God of heaven, 20saying, "May God's name be blessed from now on and forever, for wisdom and understanding belong to Him. 21He changes times and seasons; He appoints kings and removes them; He gives wisdom to the wise and insight to those who have skill. 22He reveals deep and hidden things, and He knows what is in the darkness, and the light is with Him. 23I give thanks and praise to You, O God of my fathers, for You have given me wisdom and power. Now You have made known to me what I asked from You, for You made known the king's vision to me."

Daniel Interprets the Dream

24Therefore Daniel went to Arioch, whom the king appointed to put to death the wise men of Babylon, and said to him, "Do not destroy the wise men of Babylon. Take me before the king, and I will tell the interpretation to the king." 25Then Arioch quickly brought Daniel before the king and said to him, "I found a man among the children of the captivity of Judah who will tell the interpretation to the king." 26The king answered and said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, "Can you tell me the dream I saw and its interpretation?" 27Daniel answered before the king and said, "The mystery which the king demanded to be told to the king cannot be revealed by wise men, magicians, enchanters, and diviners. [28]But there is a God in heaven who reveals mysteries, and He has made known to king Nebuchadnezzar what must come to pass in the last days. Your dream and the visions in your head upon your bed was this: [29]As for you, O king, thoughts came to you while on your bed as to what must happen after this, and He who reveals mysteries has made known to you what must take place. [30]But as for me, this mystery was not made known to me because I have more wisdom than anyone living, but for the sake of making known the interpretation to the king, that you might know the thoughts of your heart.

[31]"As for you, O king, you saw and beheld one great image. That image was very large and its appearance excellent. It stood before you, and its vision was fearful. [32]The image had a head made of fine gold, and its hands, chest, and arms were made of silver, and its stomach and thighs, of copper. [33]Its legs were iron, and its feet were partly iron and partly clay. [34]You saw while a stone was cut out of a mountain without hands, and it struck the image on its feet of iron and clay, and ground them to powder. [35]Then at once the clay, the iron, the copper, the silver, and the gold were like dust from the summer threshing floor, and a great force of wind blew them away; and their place was not to be found. Then the stone that struck the image became a great mountain and filled all the earth.

[36]"This is the dream, and we will tell its interpretation before the king. [37]You, O king, are a king of kings, to whom the God of heaven has given a strong, mighty, and highly regarded kingdom. [38]In every place where the children of men live, as well as the wild animals of the field and the birds of heaven—He put them all in your hand, and made you the lord of them all. You are the head made of gold. [39]But after you another kingdom shall arise, inferior to yours; then a third kingdom of copper, which shall rule over all the earth. [40]Then a fourth kingdom as strong as iron shall arise, and inasmuch as iron breaks in pieces and subdues everything, so also it shall break in pieces and subdue all things. [41]Whereas you saw the feet and toes, partly clay and partly iron, the kingdom shall be divided; yet the strength of the iron shall be in it, in the manner you saw the iron mixed with the clay. [42]Whereas the toes of the feet were partly iron and partly clay, so part of the kingdom shall be strong and part of it shall be broken. [43]Whereas you saw iron mixed with clay, they shall mingle with the seed of men; but they will not adhere to one another, just as iron does not mix with clay.

44“Then in the times of those kings, the God of heaven will raise up a kingdom, and it shall never be destroyed. This kingdom shall not be left to another people, but it will break in pieces and crush all these kingdoms; and it will stand forever. 45Whereas you saw the stone cut out of the mountain without hands, it ground to powder the clay, the iron, the copper, the silver, and the gold. Thus the great God has made known to the king what must come to pass after this. The dream is true, and its interpretation is trustworthy.”

Daniel and Companions Rule Babylon

46Then King Nebuchadnezzar fell on his face and worshiped Daniel, and commanded sacrifices and drink offerings be made to him. 47The king answered and said to Daniel, “Truly, your God, He is the God of gods and the Lord of kings, who reveals mysteries, for you were able to reveal this mystery.” 48Then King Nebuchadnezzar exalted Daniel and gave him many great gifts. He set him over the whole province of Babylon and over all the wise men of Babylon. 49Daniel also petitioned the king, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego over the affairs of the province of Babylon; but Daniel was in the king’s palace.

Daniel 3

The Golden Image

1In his eighteenth year, King Nebuchadnezzar made a golden image. Its height was sixty cubits and its width, six cubits, and he set it up in the plain of Dura, in the province of Babylon. 2Then Nebuchadnezzar sent to gather together the high officials, the commanders, the governors, the rulers, and all those in authority, along with all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image King Nebuchadnezzar set up. 3So the governors, the high officials, the leaders, the great rulers—all those in authority who ruled the provinces came to the dedication of the image King Nebuchadnezzar set up, and they stood before the image Nebuchadnezzar made.

4Then the herald cried out in a loud voice, “To you it is commanded, O peoples and tribes and languages, 5that in what hour you hear the sound of the trumpet, the pipe, the harp, the four-stringed instrument, the psaltery, the symphony, and every kind of music, you shall fall down and worship the golden image King Nebuchadnezzar set up. [6]But whoever does not fall down and worship shall be cast into the burning fiery furnace." [7]So at that time, when all the peoples heard the sound of the trumpet, the pipe, the harp, the four-stringed instrument, the psaltery, the symphony, and every kind of music, all the peoples, tribes, and languages fell down and worshipped the golden image King Nebuchadnezzar set up.

Daniel's Companions Refuse Idol Worship

[8]Then Chaldean men came forward and brought charges against the Jews, [9]and said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "O king, live forever. [10]You, O king, made a decree, that every man who hears the sound of the trumpet, the pipe, the harp, the four-stringed instrument, the psaltery, the symphony, and every kind of music, [11]but does not fall down and worship the golden image shall be cast into the burning fiery furnace. [12]Now there are certain Jews you set over the affairs of the province of Babylon: Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. Those men did not obey your decree, O king; and they do not serve your gods, nor do they worship the golden image you set up."

[13]Then Nebuchadnezzar, in rage and fury, gave the command to bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. So the men were brought before the king. [14]Nebuchadnezzar then answered and said to them, "Is it true, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, that you do not serve my gods or worship the golden image I set up? [15]Now then, if you are ready, when you hear the sound of the trumpet, the pipe, the harp, the four-stringed instrument, the psaltery, the symphony, and every kind of music, that you shall fall down and worship the golden image I made. But indeed, if you do not worship it at that time, you shall be cast into the burning fiery furnace. Then what god is there who will deliver you from my hands?"

[16]Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to King Nebuchadnezzar, "We have no need to answer you in regard to this thing. [17]For there is a God in the heavens, whom we serve, and He is able to save us from the burning fiery furnace; and He will deliver us from your hands, O king. [18]But if not, let it be known to you, O king, that we will not serve your gods, nor worship the golden image you set up."

Saved as through Fire

[19]Then Nebuchadnezzar was full of anger, and the expression on his face changed toward Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego. So he commanded them to heat the furnace seven times more, until it burned to its fullest. [20]Then he commanded certain very strong men to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego and to cast them into the burning fiery furnace. [21]Thereupon, those men were bound together with their sandals, caps, leg-coverings, and clothing, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace. [22]Because the king's command was urgent, and the furnace was exceedingly hot, [23]these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace. [24]But they walked about in the midst of the flame, singing to God and praising the Lord.

The Prayer of Azariah

[25]Then Azariah stood and prayed thus and opened his mouth in the midst of the fire and said:

[26]"Blessed are You and praiseworthy, O Lord, the God of our fathers,
And praised and glorified is Your name unto the ages.
[27]For You are righteous in all You did for us,
And all Your works are true.
Your ways are upright,
And all Your judgments are true.
[28]The judgments You made are true,
According to all You brought on us
And on the holy city of our fathers,
Because in truth and judgment
You did all these things on account of our sins.
[29]For we sinned and acted lawlessly
To depart from You.
We sinned in every way,
And did not obey Your commandments.
[30]Neither did we treasure or do as You commanded,
That it might go well with us.
[31]Everything You brought on us
And all You did to us, You did in true judgment.
[32]You delivered us into the hands of lawless and rebellious enemies
And to an unjust king—the most evil in any land.

[33]Now it is not for us to open our mouth,
For this has become a shame and disgrace to Your servants
And to those who worship You.
[34]For Your name's sake, do not hand us over to the end,
And do not reject Your covenant.
[35]Do not withdraw Your mercy from us for the sake of Abraham,
Who is loved by You, and for the sake of Isaac, Your servant,
And of Israel, Your holy one,
[36]As You spoke to them, saying
That You would multiply their seed as the stars of heaven,
And as the sand along the seashore.
[37]Yet we have been diminished in number, O Master,
More than all the nations,
And we are humbled in all the earth today because of our sins.

[38]"At this time, there is no prince, no prophet, and no leader;
There is no whole burnt offering, no sacrifice, no offering, and no incense;
There is no place to bear fruit before You and to find mercy.
[39]Yet with a contrite soul and humbled spirit,
May we receive mercy, as with whole burnt offerings of rams and bulls,
And as with thousands of fatted lambs.
[40]So let this be our sacrifice before You today,
And may it be accomplished for those who follow You;
For there is no shame for those who trust in You.
[41]Now we are following You with all our heart,
And we fear You and seek Your face.

[42]"Do not put us to shame,
But deal with us according to Your kindness
And according to the abundance of Your mercy.
[43]Deliver us by Your wondrous works
And give glory to Your name, O Lord.
[44]May all those who inflict evils upon Your servants
Be put to shame and humiliated in their power;

And let their strength be crushed.
45Let them know that You alone are the Lord God
And glorious over all the inhabited earth.”

46Now the king’s servants who cast them in did not cease to stoke the furnace with naphtha, pitch, coarse fiber, and brushwood. 47The flame shot forty-nine cubits above the furnace, 48and it broke out and burned those it found around the furnace of the Chaldeans. 49But the Angel of the Lord went down into the furnace to join Azariah and his companions, and shook off the fiery flame of the furnace. 50He made the inside of the furnace to be as though a dew-laden breeze were blowing through it, so the fire did not touch them at all, or cause them pain, or trouble them.

Hymn of the Three Young Men

51Then the three, as if with one mouth, sang, glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying:

52“Blessed are You, O Lord God of our fathers,
For You are praiseworthy
And exalted beyond measure unto the ages.
Blessed is Your name and the temple of your glory,
And You are praised exceedingly
And exalted beyond measure unto the ages.
53You are blessed in the holy temple of Your glory,
And are highly praised
And exceedingly glorious unto the ages.
54Blessed are You on the throne of Your kingdom,
And You are praised
And exalted beyond measure unto the ages.

55“Blessed are You who behold the depths
And sit upon the cherubim.
You are praiseworthy
And exalted beyond measure unto the ages.
56Blessed are You in the firmament of heaven,
For You are praised and glorified unto the ages.
57Bless the Lord, all you works of the Lord,
And sing a hymn to the Lord,

And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
58Bless the Lord, you angels of the Lord,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
59Bless the Lord, you heavens,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
60Bless the Lord, all you waters above heaven,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
61Bless the Lord, all you powers of the Lord,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.

62"Bless the Lord, you sun and moon,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
63Bless the Lord, you stars of heaven,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
64Bless the Lord, every shower and dew,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
65Bless the Lord, all you winds,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
66Bless the Lord, you fire and heat,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.

67"Bless the Lord, you winter cold and summer heat,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
68Bless the Lord, you dews and snows,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
69Bless the Lord, you frost and cold,
And sing a hymn to Him,

And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[70]Bless the Lord, you hoarfrosts and snows,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[71]Bless the Lord, you night and day,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[72]Bless the Lord, you light and darkness,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.

[73]"Bless the Lord, you lightning and clouds,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[74]Let the earth bless the Lord,
And let it sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[75]Bless the Lord, you mountains and hills,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[76]Bless the Lord, all you things growing on the earth,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[77]Bless the Lord, you springs,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[78]Bless the Lord, you seas and rivers,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.

[79]"Bless the Lord, you sea-monsters and everything that moves in the waters,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[80]Bless the Lord, all you birds of heaven,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
[81]Bless the Lord, all you wild animals and cattle,

And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
82Bless the Lord, O children of men,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
83Bless the Lord, O Israel,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
84Bless the Lord, O priests of the Lord,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
85Bless the Lord, O servants of the Lord,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
86Bless the Lord, O spirits and souls of the righteous,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.
87Bless the Lord, O holy ones and humble in heart,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages.

88"Bless the Lord, O Hananiah, Azariah, and Mishael,
And sing a hymn to Him,
And exalt Him beyond measure unto the ages;
For He delivered us from Hades
And saved us from the hand of death.
He rescued us from the midst of the burning fiery furnace
And saved us from the midst of the fire.
89Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good,
Because His mercy endures forever.
90Bless the Lord, the God of gods,
All you who worship Him,
And sing a hymn and give thanks to Him;
For His mercy endures forever."

The King Praises God

91Now Nebuchadnezzar heard their singing, and he marveled and rose up in haste, and said to his nobles, "Did we not cast three men bound into the fire?” They replied to the king, “Truly, O king.” 92Then the king said, “Behold, I see four men untied and walking in the midst of the fire, yet they are not destroyed; and the vision of the fourth is like the Son of God.” 93Then the king approached the door of the burning fiery furnace, and called out to them by name, “Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, servants of the Most High God, come forth and come here!” So Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth from the midst of the fire. 94Then the governors, the commanders, the viceroys, and the court officials gathered together and beheld the men, that the fire had no power over their bodies; neither had it singed their hair, nor scorched their clothes, nor was the smell of fire on them.

95So King Nebuchadnezzar answered and said, “Blessed is the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who sent His Angel and saved His servants who trusted in Him; for they altered the word of the king and handed over their bodies to be burned, so as not to serve and worship any god other than their God. 96Therefore I make a decree: ‘Any people, tribe, or language that blasphemes the God of Shadrach, Meshech, and Abednego shall be destroyed, and their houses plundered, because there is no other God who can deliver in this way.’ ” 97Then the king gave Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego authority over the province of Babylon, and considered them worthy to be the rulers of all the Jews in his kingdom. Theophanies of Christ

The King’s Second Dream

1Nebuchadnezzar the king, to all peoples, tribes, and languages who live in all the earth: May peace be multiplied to you. 2I am pleased to report to you the signs and wonders the Most High God did with me. 3How great and mighty is His kingdom, an eternal kingdom! His authority is from generation to generation.

4I, Nebuchadnezzar, was prospering and flourishing in my house, 5and I saw a dream that terrified me. Thus I was troubled on my bed, for the visions in my mind greatly disturbed me. 6Therefore I issued a decree to bring all the wise men of Babylon before me, to make the interpretation of the dream known to me. 7So the enchanters, the magicians, and the diviners of the Chaldeans came in, and I told them the dream; but they did not make known its interpretation to me, [8]until at last Daniel came in (whose name is Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, and who has the Spirit of the Holy God in him).

Then I told the dream before him, saying, [9]"Belteshazzar, chief of the enchanters, I know that the Spirit of the Holy God is in you, and no mystery is impossible to you. Hear the vision of the dream I saw, and tell me its interpretation. [10]I was on my bed, and I looked and behold, in the midst of the earth there was a very tall tree. [11]The tree was large and strong. Its height reached to heaven, and its extent to the ends of all the earth. [12]Its leaves were beautiful and its fruit abundant, and in it there was food for all. The wild animals lived beneath it, and the birds of heaven dwelled in its branches. All flesh was fed from it.

[13]"I saw in a vision of the night on my bed, and behold, a watcher, a holy one, came down from heaven. [14]He cried with a loud voice and said thus: 'Chop down the tree, and cut off its branches. Shake off its leaves and scatter its fruit. Let the wild animals be driven from beneath it and the birds from its branches. [15]Nevertheless, leave its stump and roots in the ground, and he shall lie down outdoors in the tender grass, wet with the dew of heaven and bound with an iron and copper chain. His portion shall be with the wild animals, to graze on the vegetation of the earth. [16]His heart shall be changed from that of a man, and the heart of a wild animal will be given to him. Seven years shall bring this change upon him. [17]This saying is by the decree of the watchers, and this decision by the word of the holy ones, so the living might know that the Lord is the Most High over the kingdom of men, and will give it to whomever He will, and set over it even objects of contempt among men.'

[18]"This is the dream I, Nebuchadnezzar the king, have seen. Now you, Belteshazzar, tell the interpretation, since all the wise men of my kingdom are unable to reveal its interpretation to me; but you, Daniel, are able, because the Spirit of the Holy God is in you."

Daniel's Interpretation

[19]Then Daniel, whose name is Belteshazzar, became mute about one hour, and his thoughts disturbed him greatly. After this, the king spoke and said, "Belteshazzar, do not let the dream and its interpretation trouble you." So Belteshazzar said, "My lord, may the dream concern those who hate you, and its interpretation be for your enemies! [20]The large and strong tree you saw, whose top reached to heaven and its extent to all the earth, [21]and its leaves were flourishing and its fruit abundant, and in it there was food for all, and the wild animals lived beneath it, and the birds of heaven dwelled in its branches— [22]this is you, O king, for you have become great and strong; and your greatness has extended and reached to heaven, and your dominion to the ends of the earth.

[23]"Inasmuch as the king saw a watcher, a holy one coming down from heaven, and saying, 'Chop down the tree and destroy it, but leave its stump and roots in the ground, and he shall spend the night outdoors in the tender grass, wet with the dew of heaven and bound with an iron and copper chain, and his portion shall be with the wild animals, until seven years bring a change upon him'— [24]this is its interpretation, O king, and this is the decree of the Most High, which has come upon my lord the king: [25]They shall drive you from men, and your dwelling shall be with the wild animals. They shall make you eat grass like an ox, and you will spend the night there, wet with the dew of heaven. Seven years will bring this change upon you, until you know that the Most High rules over the kingdom of men, and will give it to whomever He will.

[26]"Inasmuch as they said, 'Leave the stump and the roots of the tree,' your kingdom will remain for you, after you come to know the heavenly authority. [27]Therefore, O king, let my counsel be pleasing to you, to atone for your sins with alms and your wrongdoings with compassion on the poor. Perhaps God will be longsuffering regarding your trespasses."

Nebuchadnezzar's Humiliation

[28]All these things came upon Nebuchadnezzar the king. [29]After a period of twelve months he was walking about the royal palace in Babylon. [30]The king spoke, saying, "Is not this the great Babylon which I built as a home for my kingdom, by my mighty power for the honor of my glory?"

[31]While the word was still in the king's mouth, a voice came from heaven, saying, "King Nebuchadnezzar, your kingdom has passed from you, [32]and they shall drive you from men. Your dwelling shall be with the wild animals, and they shall make you eat grass like an ox. Seven years shall bring this change upon you, until you know that the Most High rules over the kingdom of men, and will give it to whomever He will." [33]That very hour the word was accomplished upon Nebuchadnezzar, for he was driven from men, ate grass like an ox, and his body was covered with the dew of heaven, until his hair was like that of lions and his nails like birds' claws.

The King Is Restored

[34]At the end of the time, I, Nebuchadnezzar, lifted my eyes to heaven, and my understanding returned to me. Then I blessed the Most High and praised and glorified Him who lives forever; for His authority is an eternal authority, and His kingdom is from generation to generation. [35]All the inhabitants of the earth are counted as nothing, and He does according to His will with the army of heaven and with the habitation of earth. No one can resist His hand or say to Him, "What are You doing?"

[36]At that time, my understanding returned to me, and I came again into the honor of my kingdom. My appearance was also restored, and my rulers and nobles asked for me. I became strong again in my kingdom, and excellent majesty was added to me. [37]Now therefore, I, Nebuchadnezzar, praise, exalt beyond measure, and glorify the King of heaven; because all His works are true, His paths are just, and He is able to humble those who walk in arrogance.

Daniel 5

Belshazzar's Banquet

[1]Belshazzar the king made a great banquet for a thousand of his nobles, and drank wine in the presence of the thousand. [2]While he tasted the wine, Belshazzar commanded to bring in the gold and silver vessels which Nebuchadnezzar his father had brought from the temple in Jerusalem, so the king, his nobles, his concubines, and his wives might drink from them. [3]Thus the gold and silver vessels which he had brought from the temple of God in Jerusalem were brought in, and the king, his nobles, his concubines, and his wives drank from them. [4]They drank wine and praised the gods made of gold, silver, copper, iron, wood, and stones.

Handwriting on the Wall

[5]In the same hour, the fingers of a man's hand came forth and wrote opposite the lamp on the plaster of the wall in the king's house; and the king saw the knuckles of the hand that wrote. [6]Then the appearance of the king changed, and his thoughts troubled him greatly. The joints of his hips were loosened, and his knees knocked against each other. [7]So the king cried aloud to bring in the magicians, the Chaldeans and the diviners. He spoke to the wise men of Babylon, saying, “Whoever reads this writing and makes known its interpretation to me, he shall be clothed with purple and wear a gold chain around his neck. He shall also be the third ruler in my kingdom.” [8]Now all the king’s wise men entered, but they could not read the writing or make known the interpretation to the king. [9]So Belshazzar the king was greatly troubled, and his appearance changed in him; thus his nobles were very distressed.

[10]Then the queen entered the banquet hall and spoke, saying, “O king, live forever! Do not let your thoughts trouble you, nor let your countenance change. [11]There is a man in your kingdom in whom is the Spirit of God. In the days of your father, vigilance and understanding were found in him, and King Nebuchadnezzar your father made him the chief of the enchanters, the magicians, the Chaldeans, and the diviners. [12]Inasmuch as an excellent spirit, discernment, understanding, interpreting dreams, revealing things to be grasped, and explaining difficult sayings were found in Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar, now therefore, let him be summoned and he will tell you its interpretation.”

The Writing Interpreted

[13]Then Daniel was led in before the king, and the king said to Daniel, “Are you the Daniel from the children of the captives of Judea, whom my father the king brought here? [14]I have heard of you, that the Spirit of God is in you, and vigilance, understanding, and an excellent wisdom are found in you. [15]Now the wise men, the magicians, the diviners came before me to read this writing and make known its interpretation; but they could not reveal it to me. [16]Then I heard about you, that you are able to interpret matters requiring a judgment. Now therefore, if you can read the writing and make known its interpretation to me, you will be clothed in purple and wear a gold chain around your neck. You shall also be the third ruler in my kingdom.”

[17]Then Daniel answered and said before the king, “Let your gifts be for yourself, and give the privilege of your house to another. But I will read the writing for the king and make known its interpretation to you. [18]O king, the Most High God gave Nebuchadnezzar your father a kingdom, majesty, honor, and glory. [19]So because of the majesty He gave him, all peoples, tribes, and languages trembled and feared before him. Whomever he wished he put to death; whomever he wished he afflicted; whomever he wished he exalted; and whomever he wished he humbled. [20]But when his heart was lifted up and his spirit was hardened with arrogance, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and his honor was taken from him. [21]Then he was driven from men, his heart was made like that of wild animals, and his dwelling was with the wild donkeys. They fed him grass like an ox, and his body was covered with the dew of heaven, until he came to know that the Most High God rules over the kingdom of men and will give it to whomever He will.

[22]"But you his son, Belshazzar, have not humbled your heart, although you knew all this. [23]Nevertheless you lifted yourself up against the Lord God of heaven and brought the vessels of His house before you. You, your nobles, your concubines, and your wives drank wine from them and praised the gods of gold, silver, copper, iron, wood, and stones, which do not see or hear or know. But you have not glorified the God who holds your breath in His hand and knows all your ways.

[24]"Therefore the finger of the hand was sent by Him, and He ordered this writing. [25]So this is the writing He ordered: Mene, Tekel, Upharsin. [26]Now this is the interpretation of each word. Mene: God has measured your kingdom and finished it. [27]Tekel: He weighed you on the scales, but you were found lacking. [28]Upharsin: Your kingdom has been divided and given to the Medes and Persians."

[29]Then Belshazzar gave the command, and they clothed Daniel in purple, put a gold chain around his neck, and proclaimed him to be the third ruler in the kingdom.

Belshazzar Removed from Power

[30]That very night Belshazzar, king of the Chaldeans, was put to death.

Daniel 6

A Plot against Daniel

[1]Now Darius the Mede received the kingdom. He was sixty-two years old. [2]It pleased Darius to set one hundred and twenty governors over the kingdom, so they might be throughout his entire kingdom. [3]He also set three administrators above these, one of whom was Daniel, so the governors might give account to them, that the king might not be troubled. [4]But Daniel excelled beyond them, because there was an excellent spirit in him, and the king set him over his entire kingdom. [5]The administrators and governors sought to find some charge against Daniel, but they could find no charge or wrongdoing or fault against him because he was faithful. [6]Then the administrators said, “We will find nothing against Daniel unless we find it in the laws of his God.”

[7]So the administrators and the governors stood before the king and said to him, “King Darius, live forever! [8]All the commanders, governors, the highest officials, and the regional officers have consulted together to establish a royal statute and a firm decree, that whoever petitions any god or man for thirty days, except from you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions. [9]Now therefore, O king, establish the decree and exhibit the writing publicly, so the decree of the Medes and Persians cannot be changed.” [10]Then King Darius gave orders to write the decree.

[11]Now when Daniel learned that the decree was posted, he entered his house, where the windows facing Jerusalem were open to him in the upper rooms, and he knelt down on his knees three times that day and prayed and gave thanks to his God, as he was doing before. [12]Then those men watched Daniel closely and found him praying and making supplication before his God. [13]So they approached the king and said, “O king, did you not give orders that any man who petitioned anything from any god or man, except from you, he would be cast into the den of lions?” The king replied, saying, “The word is true, and the decree of the Medes and Persians shall not pass away.”

[14]Then they answered and said before the king, “Daniel, who is from the captives of Judea, does not obey your order concerning the decree you commanded, for he prays and petitions his God three times a day.” [15]Then when the king heard this word, he was very sad in himself, and he struggled hard to deliver Daniel, and did his best to deliver him until evening. [16]Then those men said to the king, “Know, O king, that it is a law of the Medes and Persians that no decree or statute the king establishes can be altered.”

[17]After that, the king gave the command, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions. But the king said to Daniel, “Your God whom you serve continually, He will deliver you.” [18]Then they brought a stone and placed it over the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his ring and with the ring of his nobles, so the matter concerning Daniel might not be changed. [19]The king then went to his house and spent the night without his evening meal; for they brought no meats to him, and his sleep departed from him. Now God shut the mouths of the lions, and they did not trouble Daniel.

Daniel Is Spared

[20]Then the king arose early in the morning at daybreak and went in haste to the den of lions. [21]As he approached the den, he cried with a loud voice, “Daniel, servant of the living God, has your God, whom you serve continually, been able to deliver you from the mouth of the lions?” [22]Daniel said to the king, “O king, live forever! [23]My God sent His angel and shut the mouths of the lions so they did not destroy me, because uprightness was found in me before Him, and I did no wrongdoing in His sight.”

[24]Then the king rejoiced greatly over him and gave orders to bring Daniel out of the den; and no corruption was found in him, because he believed in his God. [25]The king then gave orders, and they brought the men who brought charges against Daniel; and they cast them, their children, and their wives into the den of lions. They did not reach the bottom of the den before the lions overpowered them and broke all their bones in pieces.

Darius’s New Decree

[26]Now Darius the king wrote to all peoples, tribes, and languages who dwell in all the earth:

“May peace be multiplied to you.

[27]“A decree was made in my presence, that in every dominion of my kingdom, men must tremble and fear before the God of Daniel, because He is the living God; He endures unto the ages. His kingdom shall not be destroyed, and His dominion shall continue to the end. [28]He helps and rescues, and works signs and wonders in heaven and on earth; for He delivered Daniel from the power of the lions.”

[29]So Daniel prospered in the kingdom of Darius and in the kingdom of Cyrus the Persian.

Daniel 7

Daniel’s Vision of Four Beasts

[1]In the first year of Belshazzar, king of the Chaldeans, Daniel saw a dream and visions in his head upon his bed. Then he wrote down the dream: [2]I,

Daniel, looked on in my vision in the night, and behold, the four winds of heaven blew violently upon the great sea. 3Then four large beasts came up from the sea, each different from the other. 4The first was like a lioness, and it had wings like an eagle. I looked on until its wings were plucked out, and it was driven from the earth and made to stand on human feet; and a human heart was given to it. 5After this, behold, there was a second beast like a bear. It rose up on one side and had three ribs in its mouth, between its teeth. Thus they said to it, “Arise, devour much flesh!” 6After this, I kept looking and behold, there was another beast like a leopard, and it had the four wings of a bird on its back. There were also four heads on the beast, and authority was given to it. 7After this, I looked and behold, a fourth beast, fearful, terrifying, and exceedingly strong. It had huge iron teeth, and it was devouring, breaking in pieces, and trampling underfoot whatever was left. It was exceedingly different from all the beasts before it, and it had ten horns. 8I was especially noticing its horns, and behold, there was another horn, a little one. It came up among them, and the three horns of those before it were uprooted because of its presence; and behold, there were eyes like the eyes of a man in this horn, and it had a mouth speaking arrogant things.

The Ancient of Days

9I continued to watch until thrones were put in place, and the Ancient of Days enthroned Himself. His clothing was white as snow, and the hair of His head was like pure wool. His throne was a fiery flame, and its wheels a burning fire. 10A river of fire flowed from before Him. Thousands and thousands ministered to Him, and countless thousands stood before Him. The court was in session, and the books were opened. 11Then I kept watching because of the sound of the arrogant words the horn was speaking. I watched until the beast was put to death and destroyed, and its body given to the burning flame. 12As for the rest of the beasts, their dominion was taken away, yet length of life was given them for a season and a time.

13I continued to observe the vision in the night, and behold, One like the Son of Man was coming with the clouds of heaven, until He came to the Ancient of Days and approached Him. 14Then dominion, honor, and the kingdom were given to Him, and all peoples, tribes, and languages served Him. His authority is an everlasting authority which shall not pass away, and His kingdom shall not be destroyed.

The Meaning of the Vision

15 My spirit within me trembled with fear, and the visions in my head troubled me. 16 Then I approached one of those who stood by and sought the precise meaning of all this from him. So he told me the precise meaning and made known to me the interpretation of the words:
17 "These four large beasts are four kingdoms. They shall arise on the earth, then be taken away. 18 After this, the saints of the Most High shall receive the kingdom and possess it unto ages of ages." 19 Then I sought the precise meaning of the fourth beast, for it was different from all the others. It was exceedingly fearful, and its teeth were made of iron, and its nails of bronze. It was devouring, breaking in pieces, and trampling underfoot whatever was left. 20 The ten horns on its head and the other horn, which had eyes and a mouth that spoke arrogant things, and the vision of which I noticed more than the rest, came up and knocked down the three horns before it. 21 So I kept looking, and that horn made war with the saints and prevailed against them, 22 until the Ancient of Days came and gave His judgment in favor of the saints of the Most High. Then the time arrived, and the saints possessed the kingdom.
23 Thus he said: "The fourth beast shall be a fourth kingdom on the earth, which shall surpass all the kingdoms; and it shall devour all the earth, and trample and break it in pieces. 24 Its ten horns are ten kings. They shall arise, and after them another shall arise. He shall surpass all those before him in evils, and he shall humble three kings. 25 He will speak extremely arrogant words and wear down the saints of the Most High. He will devise a way to change times and law, and he shall be given authority for a time, times, and half a time. 26 But the court shall go into session, and they shall take away his dominion to consume and destroy it forever. 27 Then the kingdom, the authority, and the greatness of the kingdoms under heaven shall be given to the saints of the Most High. His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey Him." 28 This is the end of my account. As for me, Daniel, my thoughts greatly troubled me. My countenance changed, but I kept the matter to myself.

The Ram and the Goat

[1]In the third year of Belshazzar's reign, a vision was revealed to me—to me, Daniel—after the one that appeared to me the first time. [2]I was in Shushan, in the palace, in the province of Elam; and I saw in the vision that I was by the Ulai River. [3]Then I lifted up my eyes and looked, and behold, one ram stood before the Ulai, and it had horns. The horns were high, but one was higher than the other; and the higher one came up last. [4]I saw the ram pushing westward, northward, and southward, and no animal could withstand him or deliver from his power; but he did according to his will and became great.

[5]As I was considering this, behold, a male goat came from the southwest, across the surface of all the earth, without touching the ground; and the goat had a notable horn between its eyes. [6]Then he came to the ram that had the horns, which I saw standing before the Ulai, and he ran at him with furious power. [7]I saw him running at the ram, and attacking him savagely. He struck the ram and broke both his horns. There was no strength in the ram to withstand him, but he cast him to the ground and trampled him. There was no one that could deliver the ram from his power. [8]So the male goat became exceedingly great, and when he became strong, his large horn was broken, and four horns came up under him toward the four winds of heaven.

[9]Then from one of them one strong horn came forth, strong and exceedingly great, toward the south and the east and toward the host. [10]He exalted himself to the host of heaven, and some of the heavenly host and stars fell to the earth; and he trampled them underfoot [11]until the chief captain delivered the host of captives. For because of him the sacrifice was thrown down; and it came about that he prospered, but the sanctuary was to become desolate. [12]For the sin offering was offered as long as there was sacrifice, but he cast righteousness to the ground; and although he did this, he prospered. [13]Then I heard one of the saints speaking, and another saint said to that one speaking, "How long will the vision stand, and the sacrifice be taken away, and the sin offering which was offered be desolated, and the sanctuary and host be trampled underfoot?" [14]He replied to him, "Until two thousand and three hundred days of evening and morning, then the sanctuary shall be cleansed."

Gabriel Reveals the Vision

[15]So it came about that when I, Daniel, saw the vision and sought to understand it, then, behold, the vision of a man stood before me. [16]I heard the voice of this man in the midst of the Ulai, and he called and said, “Gabriel, cause that man to understand the vision.” 17Thus he came and stood near where I was standing; and when he came, I was astonished and fell on my face. Then he said to me, “Understand, son of man, for the vision is yet for the end of time.” 18Now when he spoke with me, I fell on my face to the ground, but he touched me and stood me on my feet. 19Then he said, “Behold, I will make known to you what shall take place in the last time of wrath, for the vision is yet for the end of time. 20The ram you saw with its horns is the king of the Medes and Persians. 21The male goat is the king of the Greeks, and the great horn between its eyes is the first king. 22When that horn is broken and four horns stand under it, four kings from that nation shall arise, but not with its might.

23“Then in the latter time of their kingdom, when sins are fulfilled, a king shall arise, shameless in countenance; and he will understand riddles. 24His strength will be mighty, and he shall destroy terribly. He shall prosper and take action, and destroy the mighty and the holy people. 25The yoke of his chain shall prosper. There will be treachery in his hand, and he shall magnify himself in his heart. He shall destroy many with deceit and stand for the destruction of many. He will crush them like an egg in his hand. 26Now the vision of the evening and the morning that was told is true: therefore, seal the vision, because it refers to many days in the future.”

27Then I, Daniel, fell asleep and was sick for days. After this, I arose and did the king’s business, and I wondered about the vision; but no one understood it.

Daniel Prays for the People

3Then I set my face toward the Lord God to seek Him in prayer and supplication, with fasting, sackcloth, and ashes. 4So I prayed to the Lord my God and made confession. I said, “O Lord God, great and marvelous, who keep Your covenant and mercy with those who love You and keep Your commandments— 5we sinned and did wrong. We acted lawlessly, fell away, and turned away from Your commandments and judgments. 6Neither did we obey Your servants the prophets who spoke in Your name to our kings, our rulers, our fathers, and to all the people in the land. 7O Lord, righteousness belongs to You, but shame of face belongs to us, as it is today, to the men of Judah, to those who dwell in Jerusalem, and to all Israel, those near and far in all the earth, wherever You scattered them in their faithlessness by which they rejected You. 8O Lord, shame of face belongs to us, our kings, our rulers, and to our fathers who sinned against You. 9To the Lord our God belong mercy and forgiveness, whereas we fell away. 10We have not obeyed the voice of the Lord our God, to walk in His laws, which He set before us by the hands of His servants the prophets. 11Yes, all Israel transgressed Your law and turned aside, so as not to obey Your voice. Therefore the curse and the oath written in the Law of Moses the servant of God has come upon us, because we sinned against You. 12So He confirmed His words which He spoke against us and against our judges who judged us, by bringing upon us great calamities; for under the whole heaven such has not taken place, as the things that happened in Jerusalem. 13As it is written in the Law of Moses, all these calamities came upon us, yet we have not entreated the Lord our God so as to turn from our wrongdoings, and to gain insight into all Your truth. 14Therefore the Lord watched and brought all these things upon us, for the Lord our God is righteous in every work He does, though we have not obeyed His voice. 15So now, O Lord our God, who brought Your people from the land of Egypt with a strong hand, and who made Yourself a name as it is this day, we have sinned and acted lawlessly.

16"O Lord, in all Your mercy, let Your anger and Your wrath be turned away from Your city of Jerusalem, Your holy mountain, though we have sinned; for in our wrongdoings and those of our fathers, Jerusalem and Your people have become a disgrace among all those around us. 17So now, O Lord our God, listen to the prayers of Your servant and his supplications, and cause Your face to shine on Your sanctuary, which is deserted because of You, O Lord. 18O my God, incline Your ear and hear; open Your eyes and see our destruction and that of Your city, in which Your name is called upon; for not on the basis of our righteous deeds do we bring our prayer for mercy before You, but on the basis of Your abundant mercy. 19O Lord, hear! O Lord, forgive! O Lord, give heed and act! Do not delay for Your sake, O my God, for Your city and Your people are called by Your name.”

Gabriel and the Seventy Weeks

20 Now while I was still speaking, praying, and declaring my sins and the sins of my people Israel, and bringing my cry for mercy before the Lord my God concerning the holy mountain of my God, 21 yes, while I was speaking in prayer, then the man Gabriel, whom I saw in my vision at the beginning, flew and touched me about the time of the evening sacrifice. 22 He caused me to understand, and spoke with me and said, “O Daniel, I have now come forth to guide you with insight. 23 At the beginning of your prayer, the word went out, and I have come to tell you, for you are a man of desires. Therefore, consider the matter and understand the vision:

24 “Seventy weeks are determined for your people and for your holy city to finish sin, to set an end to sin, to wipe out lawlessness, to atone for wrongdoings, to bring in everlasting righteousness, to seal up vision and prophecy, and to anoint the Holy of Holies. 25 You shall know therefore and understand that from the going forth of the word to be answered and to build Jerusalem, until Christ the Prince, there shall be seven weeks and sixty-two weeks. Then the time shall return, and the streets and the wall shall be built;
the times shall be left desolate.

26 “After the sixty-two weeks, the Anointed One shall be put to death, yet there shall be no upright judgment for Him; and he shall destroy the city and the sanctuary with the prince who is coming, and they shall be cut off with a flood, and to the end of the war, which will be cut short, he shall appoint the city to desolations. 27 Then he shall confirm a covenant with many for one week, and in the middle of the week, My sacrifice and drink-offering will be taken away; and there shall be in the temple the abomination of desolations, and to the end of the time, an end to the desolation shall be appointed.”

Daniel 10

The Man of Splendor

1 In the third year of Cyrus king of the Persians, a word was revealed to Daniel, whose name was called Belteshazzar. The word was true, and great power and understanding were given to him in the vision. 2 In those days, I, Daniel, was mourning three full weeks. 3 I ate no desirable food, and no meat or wine entered my mouth, nor did I anoint myself, until three whole weeks were fulfilled. 4Then on the twenty-fourth day of the first month, I was beside the great river, that is, the Tigris. 5I lifted my eyes and looked, and behold, there was a man clothed in fine linen; and his waist was girded with gold of Uphaz. 6His body was like beryl, and his face like the appearance of lightning. His eyes were like lamps of fire, and his arms and legs like the appearance of shining brass. The sound of his words was like the voice of a multitude. 7I, Daniel, alone saw the vision, for the men with me did not see the vision; but a great astonishment fell upon them, and they fled in fear. 8So I was left alone and saw this great vision, but no strength remained in me; for my splendor was turned into corruption, and I retained no strength. 9Yet I heard the sound of his words; and when I heard him, I was deeply troubled with my face on the ground.

Prophecies of Persia and Greece

10Suddenly, a hand touched me and raised me up on my knees. 11He said to me, “O Daniel, a man of desires, understand the words I speak to you and stand upright, for now I have been sent to you.” So when he spoke this word to me, I stood trembling. 12Then he said to me, “Do not fear, Daniel, for from the first day you set your heart to understand and to afflict yourself before your God, your words were heard; and I came because of your words. 13But the prince of the Persian kingdom withstood me twenty-one days, and behold, Michael, one of the chief princes, came to help me; for I was left there with the ruler of the Persian kingdom. 14Now I have come to make you understand what will happen to your people in the last days, for the vision is for days yet to come.”

15When he had spoken these words to me, I turned my face toward the ground and was deeply troubled. 16Again suddenly, one having the likeness of a son of man touched my lips, and I opened my mouth and spoke, and said to the one standing before me, “My lord, because of your vision, my insides churned within me so I have no strength. 17For how can your servant, my lord, speak with my lord of this? As for me, no strength now remains in me, nor is any breath left in me.”

18Then again, the one like the appearance of a man touched me and strengthened me. 19He said to me, “O man of desires, peace be to you; be courageous and strong.” So when he spoke with me, I was strengthened and said, “Let my lord speak, for you have strengthened me.” 20Then he said, “Do you know why I have come to you? But now I will return to the war against the ruler of the Persians, and I will go forth, and the ruler of the Greeks will come. 21But I will tell you what is noted in the Scripture of Truth—and there is no one loyal to me concerning this, except Michael your prince.

Daniel 11

1"As for me, in the first year of Cyrus, I stood in power and strength. 2Now I will tell you the truth: Behold, three kings will yet arise in Persia, and the fourth shall be far richer than all of them; and after he possesses his wealth, he shall rise up against all the kingdoms of the Greeks. 3Then a mighty king shall arise, and he shall rule a great dominion and do according to his will. 4After his kingdom is established, it shall be crushed and divided toward the four winds of heaven, but not among his posterity, nor according to his dominion with which he ruled; for his kingdom shall be uprooted and given to others besides these.

Warring Kings of North and South

5"Also the king of the south shall become strong; and one of his rulers shall prevail against him and have power over a great dominion under his authority. 6After his years, they shall join forces, for the daughter of the king of the south shall go to the king of the north to make an agreement with him. But she shall not retain the power of her authority, and neither shall his seed stand; but she shall be betrayed along with those who brought her, the maiden and he who strengthened her in those times. 7But from the flower of her root, one shall arise in his readiness and shall come against the host, enter the strongholds of the king of the north, and deal with them and prevail. 8Then he shall also carry their gods to Egypt with their molten images, and all their precious vessels of silver and gold, along with a host of captives. Thus he shall stand above the king of the north. 9Then he will come against the kingdom of the king of the south, but shall return to his own land. 10But his sons shall assemble a multitude of great forces. Thus when he comes, he shall come and overwhelm and pass by, then he shall rest. Again he shall contend to the extent of his strength.

11"Then the king of the south shall be angered and go out and fight with the king of the north, who shall muster a great multitude; but this multitude shall be given into his hand. [12]For he will defeat the multitude, and his heart will be lifted up. Yes, he shall cast down tens of thousands, but will not prevail. [13]For the king of the north will return and muster a multitude greater than the former, and at the end of some years his invading army shall come with a great force and much equipment.

[14]“Now in those times many will rise up against the king of the south. Even the sons of troublemakers among your people shall exalt themselves in fulfillment of the vision, but they will be weak. [15]So the king of the north shall come and build a siege mound, and take fortified cities; and the arms of the king of the south shall not withstand him. His choice troops will rise up, but there shall be no strength to resist. [16]But he who comes against him shall do according to his will, and no one shall stand against him. He will stand in the Land of Beauty, and it shall be consumed by his hand. [17]He shall also set his face to enter with the strength of his whole kingdom, and he will do whatever seems right to him. He shall give him the daughter of women to corrupt her; but she will not remain with him or be for him. [18]After this he shall turn his face to the islands and shall take many, and cause rulers to cease from their disgrace. Nevertheless, his own disgrace shall turn back on him. [19]Then he will turn his face toward the strength of his land, but he shall stumble and fall, and will not be found.

[20]“Now a plant of the kingdom shall arise from his root and pass over in his readiness. He will further the glory of the kingdom, but in those days he shall be crushed, but not openly or in battle. [21]After this, one shall arise in his readiness, and be set at naught. Yet they did not give him the glory of the kingdom; nevertheless, he shall enter with prosperity and seize the kingdom by intrigue. [22]Then the arms of him who overwhelms and the ruler of the covenant shall be overwhelmed and crushed by his presence. [23]Then after the leagues made with him, he shall work deceit, for he shall come up and overpower him with a small number of people. [24]He shall come into the prosperous and wealthy places of the provinces and do what neither his fathers or forefathers have done. He will disperse plunder, spoils, and wealth among them and devise his plans against Egypt, but only for a time. [25]Then his strength and his heart shall be stirred up against the king of the south with a large army. The king of the south shall engage him in war with a very large and mighty army, but the king’s forces shall not stand; for they will devise plans against him. [26]They shall eat his provisions and crush him. His army shall be overwhelmed, and many shall fall down slain.

27“Now both kings and their hearts will be set on evil, and they shall speak lies at the same table; but the evil will not prosper, for the end is yet at the appointed time. 28Then he shall return to his land with abundant possessions, but his heart shall be against the holy covenant; so he shall do evil, then return to his own land.

The Northern King’s Deceit

29“At the appointed time he shall return and come into the south again; but this last coming will not be like the first. 30For the Kitians shall go out and come against him, and he will be humbled. Then he will return and be enraged against the holy covenant. He shall do evil, and return and show regard for those who forsook the holy covenant. 31Then offspring shall arise from him, and they shall defile the sanctuary of power. They shall take away the daily sacrifice, and place there the abomination of desolation.
32Transgressors will bring about a covenant by deceitful means, but the people who know their God will be strong and do valiantly. 33Those of the people who understand shall understand much, yet they shall be weakened by sword and flame, and by captivity and days of plundering. 34When they are weak, they shall be aided with a little help; but many shall join with them by intrigue. 35Some of those of understanding shall fall, to refine them as by fire and to test them, so they may be revealed at the time of the end; because the matter is still for the appointed time.

36“Then the king shall do according to his will. He will be exalted and magnified above every god, and speak arrogant words. He shall prosper till the wrath has been accomplished, for it is to be ended. 37He shall not regard any gods of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor shall he regard any god; for he shall exalt himself above them all. 38But in his locality he shall honor a god of fortresses, and a god his fathers did not know he shall honor with gold and silver, and with precious stones and desirable things. 39Thus he shall do in the strong fortresses of refuge with a foreign god, and he shall increase his glory. He shall subject many to them and distribute gifts in the land.

The Northern King’s Victories

40“At the time of the end, the king of the north will attack the king of the south and come against him with chariots, horsemen, and many ships. He shall enter his land, crush it, and move on. 41He shall also enter the Land of Beauty, and many shall fall. But these shall escape from his hand: Edom, Moab, and the prominent among the children of Ammon. 42He shall stretch out his hand upon the land, and the land of Egypt will not escape. 43He shall gain control over the hidden stores of gold and silver, and over all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans and Ethiopians in their strongholds. 44But rumors and anxieties from the east and the north will trouble him; therefore, he shall come with great fury to destroy and annihilate many. 45He shall plant the tents of his palace between the seas, upon the holy mountain of beauty. Yet he will come to his portion, but there shall be no one to deliver him.

Daniel 12

The Prophecy of Michael

1"At that time Michael the great prince, who stands watch over the sons of your people, shall stand up; and there shall be a time of tribulation, such as never happened until that time, since there was a nation upon the earth. But at that time your people shall be saved, all found written in the book. 2Then many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to disgrace and everlasting shame. 3Those who understand shall shine like the brightness of the firmament, and some who are righteous, like the stars of heaven forever and ever. 4As for you, Daniel, close up these words and seal the book until the time of the end, until many are taught and knowledge is increased."

5Then I, Daniel, looked and behold, there stood two others, one on this riverbank and the other on the other riverbank. 6One said to the man clothed in fine linen who was above the water of the river, "How long will it be to the end of these wonders of which You have spoken?" 7Then I heard from the man clothed in fine linen who was above the water of the river, as he held up his right hand and his left hand to heaven and swore by Him who lives forever that it would be for a time, times, and half a time. Thus when the dispersion is ended, they shall know all these things.

8Although I heard, I did not understand. So I said, "My lord, what shall be the end of these things?" 9He replied, "Go your way, Daniel, for the words are closed up and sealed till the time of the end. 10Many shall choose to be made white and refined through fire; but the lawless shall act lawlessly. None of the lawless shall understand, but the wise shall understand. 11From the time the daily sacrifice is taken away and the abomination of desolation is set up, there shall be one thousand two hundred and ninety days. 12Blessed is he who waits and comes to one thousand three hundred and thirty-five days. 13But now, go your way and rest, for there are yet days to the fulfillment of the end; and you shall arise to your inheritance at the end of the days."

Bel and the Serpent

1When King Astyages was gathered to his fathers, Cyrus of Persia received his kingdom. 2Daniel was a confidant of the king and was honored above all his friends.

3Now the Babylonians had an idol whose name was Bel, and every day they spent on it twelve bushels of fine flour, forty sheep, and six vessels of wine. 4The king adored it and went every day to worship it; but Daniel worshiped his own God. So the king asked him, "Why do you not worship Bel?" 5Daniel answered, "Because I do not worship idols made with hands, but only the living God who created heaven and earth and has dominion over all flesh." 6The king said to him, "Do you not think Bel is a living god? Do you not see how much he eats and drinks every day?" 7Daniel smiled and said, "Do not be deceived, O king, for it is but clay inside and bronze outside, and it has never eaten or drunk anything."

Bel Is Deposed

8Very angry, the king summoned his priests and said to them, "If you do not tell me who it is that consumes these provisions, you shall die. 9But if you can prove Bel consumes them, then Daniel shall die, because he blasphemed against Bel." So Daniel said to the king, "Let it be according to your word."

10Now there were seventy priests of Bel, besides their wives and children, and the king went with Daniel into the temple. 11Then the priests of Bel said, "Look, we will step outside. You, O king, set out the food and prepare the wine, then shut the door and seal it with your signet. 12If you do not find Bel has eaten it all when you come tomorrow, we will suffer death—or else Daniel shall die, who speaks lies against us." 13They were unconcerned, for under the table they had made a secret entrance through which they always came in to consume the provisions.

14So when they had all gone, the king set out the food for Bel. And Daniel ordered his servants to bring in ashes, which they sprinkled throughout all the temple in the presence of the king alone. Then they went out, shut the door, sealed it with the king's signet, and departed. 15During the night the priests came with their wives and children, as they usually did, and ate and drank everything.

16The king rose early the next morning, and Daniel with him. 17Then the king said, "Are the seals intact, Daniel?" Daniel answered, "They are intact, O king." 18As soon as the doors were opened, the king looked at the table and cried out in a loud voice, "Great are you, O Bel, and with you there is no deceit at all." 19Then Daniel laughed and restrained the king from going in. He said, "Look at the floor, and notice whose footprints these are." 20The king replied, "I see the footprints of men, women, and children." 21With great anger, the king seized the priests and their wives and children, and they showed him the hidden doors where they came in and consumed such things as were upon the table. 22Therefore the king put them to death and handed Bel over to Daniel, who destroyed it and its temple.

The Serpent Is Destroyed

23There was also a large serpent the people of Babylon worshiped. 24So the king said to Daniel, "Will you also say this is made of bronze? Look, he lives, he eats, and he drinks—you cannot say he is no living god. Therefore worship him." 25Daniel replied, "I will worship the Lord my God; for He is the living God. 26But with your permission, O king, I shall slay this serpent without sword or staff." The king said, "I will give my permission." 27Then Daniel took pitch, tar, and hair; these he boiled together and made cakes, and put them in the mouth of the serpent. The serpent ate them and burst open. Then Daniel said, "Behold the things you have been worshiping."

Daniel Is Vindicated

28Now when the people of Babylon heard what had been done, they were indignant and conspired against the king, saying, "The king has become a Jew; he has destroyed Bel, slain the serpent, and put the priests to death." 29Going to the king, they said, "Deliver Daniel to us, or else we will destroy you and your house." 30Now when the king saw they were pressing him hard, he handed Daniel over to them under compulsion. 31They threw Daniel into the lions' den, where he was left for six days. 32Now there were seven lions in the den, and they had to give them two carcasses every day and two sheep.

But these things were not given to them now, so they might devour Daniel.

[33]Now the prophet Habakkuk was in Judea. He had made a stew and had broken bread into a bowl, and was going to the fields to take it to the reapers. [34]But the angel of the Lord said unto Habakkuk, “Go, carry the dinner you have into Babylon to Daniel, who is in the lions’ den.” [35]Habakkuk said, “O Lord, I have never seen Babylon, nor do I know the den.” [36]Then the angel of the Lord took him by the crown, and carried him by the hair of his head, and with the speed of the wind set him in Babylon over the den. [37]Habakkuk cried out, saying, “O Daniel, Daniel, take the meal God has sent you.” [38]Daniel said, “You have remembered me, O God, and You have not forsaken those who love You.” [39]So Daniel arose and ate; and the angel of the Lord immediately set Habakkuk down in his own place once more.

[40]After this, on the seventh day the king went to the lions’ den to mourn for Daniel, and he came to the pit and looked inside—and there sat Daniel. [41]The king cried out with a loud voice, “Great are You, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is no other besides You.” [42]Then he drew him out of the den, and cast in those who had plotted Daniel’s destruction; and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

Annotations for Daniel

1, 2 Susanna, like so many other Old Testament heroines, can be seen to typify the Church, and Daniel (v. 44), her deliverer, typifies Christ. The two elders (v. 5) are like the powers of darkness, which seek to lead the godly astray.

7 Susanna in the garden echoes Eve in the Garden of Eden, but her righteousness surpasses Eve's because she resists temptation.

7–9 St. Hippolytus of Rome sees Susanna as a type of the Church, the Bride of Christ, persecuted by the two elders, representing the Jews and the pagans. In his commentary on Daniel he writes, "And [Susanna] said to her maids, 'Bring me oil.' Indeed, faith and love prepare oil and cleansing unguents for those who are washed. But what were these unguents if not the commands of the Holy Word? And what the oil, if not the power of the Holy Spirit? It is with these, after the washing [that is, baptism], that believers are anointed as with a sweet-smelling oil. All these things were prefigured through the blessed Susanna for our sakes, so that we of the present time who believe in God might not regard as strange the things which are now done in the Church, and that we might believe that all of them have been set forth in figures by the patriarchs."

34 The elders played the role of witnesses and laid their hands on the head of the accused in accordance with the Torah (Lv 24:14).

45 St. Ignatius argues from this passage that the age of a bishop is immaterial; a young bishop must be reverenced like an older one, since Daniel was given a holy spirit at only twelve years of age, enabling him to convict the elders of false witness and of lusting after the beauty of another man's wife.

1:1 The third year in the rule of Jehoiakim puts this book at 606 BC.

1:4 The Gentiles in Daniel's time taught the Jews their Babylonian language and literature that they might serve Nebuchadnezzar.

1:8 The Church takes note that the Hebrew youths were blessed by God through holy fasting. During Great Lent we sing, "What quenched the fire [see 3:21–27]? What stopped the mouths of the wild beasts [see 6:16–23]? It was fasting that delivered the children from the furnace and Daniel the prophet from the jaws of the lions. Brethren, let us also fast like them."

1:21 King Cyrus's first year of reigning over the Persians is 538 BC.

2:1 Second year: 604 BC. Nebuchadnezzar's dreams could not be told or interpreted by the Chaldean sorcerers, just as man's wisdom can neither tell nor interpret the mystery of his own existence.

2:25–28 Daniel, who both tells and interprets the dream, is a figure of Christ, who alone is able both to reveal and to solve man's predicament.

2:31–49 Both Hippolytus and Eusebius see parallels between Nebuchadnezzar's dream and Daniel's vision (see ch. 7). Eusebius comments that it is fitting for a proud, earthly-minded king to "compare the life and substance of all men to a great image." The dream was given to teach him to "lay aside his pride in himself, that he might understand that there is nothing stable among men, but only that which is the appointed end of all things—the kingdom of God."

According to the Fathers, the golden head (v. 32) was Nebuchadnezzar's Babylon. The silver chest and arms (v. 32) represent the 245-year supremacy of the Medo-Persians, beginning with Cyrus in 539 BC. The stomach and thighs of copper (v. 32) represent Alexander the Great and his Greek empire, established about 330 BC. Next came the brutal Roman Empire, represented by the legs of iron (v. 33). According to Hippolytus, the feet of iron and clay (v. 33) correspond with the "ten horns" in Daniel's vision, and represent ten nations after Rome (see 7:8, 24, 25 and note). Just as the stone struck the feet and overtook these governments, so the gospel spread to all the nations of the Gentiles (vv. 34, 35). Finally this stone, the Church, becomes a great mountain as the gospel fills the earth.

📖 2:31–36, 44–45 This passage is read in Church on Christmas Eve.

2:35 Blessed Augustine writes that the mountain which grew out of a small stone is the kingdom of God, present in the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church. The Church's beginnings were indeed small, yet the Church has spread throughout the world.

2:46 St. Hippolytus sees in Daniel a type of Christ. "How great is the power of God, beloved, that one who a little before was doomed to death with the other wise men of Babylon, should now be worshiped by the king, not as a man but as God!"

2:48 Like Christ's, Daniel's humility (v. 30) brings him favor with God and men.

3:1–18 This passage contains a striking reverse parallel. Under the Old Covenant, the whole world (represented by Babylon), except for the Jewish faithful (represented by the three youths), was filled with idolatry, but under the New Covenant, the Gentile nations will come to worship the one true God of Israel.

🕮 3:1–90 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

3:19–23 A Nativity hymn in the Church reveals the profound typology in this passage: "The children of the Old Covenant who walked in the fire, yet were not burnt, prefigured the womb of the Maiden, which remained sealed when she gave birth in fashion past nature." St. John Cassian likens the furnace (v. 19) to the passions of our flesh, which constantly threaten to destroy us; however, these flames can be extinguished through zeal for God, continual repentance, and fasting.

3:25 In the LXX, the Prayer of Azariah and the Hymn of the Three Young Men are placed after 3:24. Hananiah, Azariah, and Mishael are the original Hebrew names of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego (1:6, 7).

3:26–45 This prayer is liturgical in nature and includes verses and phrases from throughout the Old Testament. It includes praise to God (v. 26), acknowledgment that God's judgment is true (vv. 27, 28), confession of sin (vv. 29, 30), request for deliverance in remembrance of the covenant (vv. 34–36), a plea for mercy (vv. 38–43), and for victory over enemies (vv. 44, 45).

3:46–50 This brief commentary between the Prayer and the Hymn is repeated and expanded in vv. 91–97. "See how even the fire appears intelligent, as if it recognized and punished the guilty. For it did not touch the servants of God, but it consumed the unbelieving and impious Chaldeans" (Hippol).

3:52–90 A fragment from the Fathers remarks that we may marvel at the Hymn of the Three Young Men, "how they enumerated all created things, so that not one of them might be reckoned free and independent in itself. But, summing up and naming them all together, both things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth, they showed them to be all the servants of God, who created all things by the Word, that no one should boast that any of the creatures was without birth and beginning."

3:86 The spirits and souls of the righteous dead continue to give praise to God forever, throughout the ages.

3:91, 92 St. Hippolytus writes that the king's recognition of the fourth man in the furnace was a sign that the Gentiles would recognize the Incarnate Word when He came. "The three youths he thus called by name. But he found no name by which to call the fourth. For He was not yet that Jesus born of the Virgin." St. Jerome comments that the presence of the Son of God in the furnace is a type of Christ's descent into Hades, where the souls of the dead were imprisoned, that He might deliver the righteous faithful by breaking the chains of death.

Theophanies of Christ

The word "theophany" derives from the Greek words theos ("God"), and phainesthai ("to show forth, appear"). Hence, a theophany is an appearance or manifestation of God. While types of Christ in the Old Testament prefigure His coming in the flesh, theophanies are recognized by the Church as being actual appearances of the pre-incarnate Son and Word of God. How this happens remains a mystery.

But because the Son of God took on human nature in the fullness of time, each theophany directly prefigures Christ's Incarnation. St. John of Damascus wrote, "No one saw the divine nature, but rather the image and figure of what was yet to come. For the invisible Son and Word of God was to become truly Man."

Three Theophanies of Christ

An often cited theophany of Christ occurs in the visit of the "three men" to Abraham and Sarah in Genesis 18:1–16: "Then God appeared to him at the oak of Mamre" (v. 1). Though three men are there, Abraham addresses them in the singular, "Lord." He responds in the singular (vv. 9–15). As St. Ephraim the Syrian says, "Therefore the Lord . . . now appeared to Abraham clearly in one of the three." The three are generally considered to be Christ the Lord, along with two attending angels.

At Genesis 32:25–31, Christ is the "man" who wrestles with Jacob, after which Jacob says, "I saw God face to face" (v. 30). St. Cyril of Jerusalem asks the Jews concerning these theophanies to Abraham and Jacob, "What strange thing do we announce in saying that God was made Man, when you yourselves say that Abraham received the Lord as a guest? What strange thing do we announce, when Jacob says, 'For I have seen God face to face, and my life is preserved'? The Lord, who ate with Abraham, also ate with us."

In the Book of Daniel, a heathen king bears witness to another theophany of Christ. When King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon peers into the fiery furnace, upon seeing a "fourth man" he exclaims, "The vision of the fourth is like the Son of God" (Dan 3:92).

Other Appearances of God

At times Christ appears as "the Angel of the Lord" or "the Angel of God." At Exodus 3:1–4:17, "the Angel of the Lord" appears to Moses in the burning bush and identifies Himself as the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (Ex 3:6, 15, 16; 4:5). He also says that His name is "I AM HE WHO IS" (Ex 3:14), which in Greek is represented by the three letters placed around Christ's head in the holy icons. St. Ambrose of Milan observes, "Christ therefore is, and always is; for He who is, always is. And Christ always is, of whom Moses says, 'He that is has sent me.'"

The Incarnation

When God the Son became incarnate, this can be called an everlasting theophany. For having assumed human nature, Christ not only manifests God to the world during His earthly life (Jn 1:14; see also 14:9; Col 2:9; 1Jn 1:1–3), but He ascends into heaven in the same glorified flesh in which He will return at His Second Coming (see Acts 1:9–11).

At the baptism of Christ (Mt 3:13–17), a further theophany occurs, as all three Persons of the Holy Trinity are made known: the Father in the voice from heaven, the Holy Spirit in the form of a dove, and the Incarnate Son. Hence, the feast day commemorating this event is known as Holy Theophany. On this day the Church sings, "When Thou, O Lord, wast baptized in the Jordan, the worship of the Trinity was made manifest."

Additionally, at Christ's Transfiguration on Mt. Tabor (Mt 17:1–9), the Father again is heard, the Holy Spirit is present in the brightness of the cloud, and the Son shines with the gleaming radiance of His Divinity.

4:5 Both Nebuchadnezzar's dream and his experience that follows reveal how God humbles the proud and then raises him up again. Fear and terror can be seen as God's mercy, for the "fear of God is the beginning of wisdom" (Pr 1:7).

4:10–17 This passage brings great comfort to believers: The Most High God reigns over the affairs of rulers and nations, for the tree to be cut down is the king (see v. 25).

4:27 The mark of a true prophet is that he tells the unadulterated truth at the risk of his own discomfort and his very life.

4:34–37 The king's change of heart is encouragement to intercede "for kings and all who are in authority" (1Ti 2:2).

5:2 St. Jerome remarks that "vice always glories in defiling what is noble." He sees in Belshazzar's blatant misuse of the holy vessels a type of the misuse and twisting of Scripture by heretics for the purpose of drawing others into false doctrine and worship.

6:2, 3 Governors were provincial rulers, often despotic. Daniel was one of three administrators above these who reported directly to Darius.

6:5, 6 The enemies of God historically have stopped at nothing to try to overthrow His kingdom and His servants. St. Paul calls such schemes "the wiles [strategies] of the devil" (Eph 6:11).

6:17–25 St. Ephraim of Syria writes that both the OT Daniel and the NT Lazarus (see Jn 11:1–45) illustrate Christ in His tomb. "A type of You therefore was Daniel, and also Lazarus; one in the den, which the Gentiles sealed up, and one in the sepulchre, that the people opened. Lo! their signs and their seals reproved them. Their mouth would have been open, if they had left Your sepulchre open. But they went away because they had shut Your sepulchre and sealed it, and closed up their own mouths. Yes, they closed it, and when they had senselessly covered Your sepulchre, all the slanderers covered their own heads. But in Your Resurrection You persuaded them concerning Your Birth; since the womb was sealed, and the sepulchre closed up; being alike pure in the womb, and living in the sepulchre. The womb and the sepulchre being sealed were witnesses unto You."

6:19 Note how a pagan king kept vigil and fasted while his friend Daniel was in danger.

6:20–25 Signs are performed by God among unbelieving peoples so that the worship and word of the one true God may be proclaimed with power, as shown by Darius's new decree (vv. 26, 27).

7:1–8 St. Aphrahat comments that the great sea (the Mediterranean Sea) is symbolic of the world, and "these four great beasts (v. 3) are the four kingdoms signified above" (see text and notes at 2:25–49). The lioness with eagle's wings (v. 4) is the Babylonian Empire; the bear rose up on one side (v. 5) because when the kingdom of Media and Persia arose, it arose in the east. Hippolytus sees the three ribs as being the Medes, the Assyrians, and the Babylonians. They are also often identified with Lydia, Babylon, and Egypt, all of which were conquered and reduced to a single realm by the Persians under Cyrus and his son, Cambyses. The Fathers agree the leopard is Alexander the Great, and the four wings and four heads (v. 6) are his four generals (see 8:5–14 and note). The fourth beast (v. 7) is seen to be the Roman Empire, which subdued the world with its strength. Note that the four heavenly beasts of St. John's vision far surpass these temporary, earthly beasts (see Rev 4:6, 7 and note; see also Ezk 1:5, 21). Some of the Fathers say that the ten horns prophesy nations that will rise up in the last days.

7:8, 24, 25 The little horn is seen to be the antichrist, an eleventh king who shall appear suddenly in the midst of the ten horns, seizing power through magic and sorcery. He will exalt himself as God and make war on the Church (v. 11). But Christ will deliver the Church and establish God's everlasting kingdom. The Orthodox response to the prophetic teaching of the Scriptures is not to fear, or to try to second-guess God's timetable, but rather to practice repentance and watchfulness against sin and to engage in spreading the gospel.

7:9–12 Daniel's vision is similar to several aspects of St. John's Revelation, including the thrones (see Rev 4:2–6 and notes), the multitude of worshipping angels and other creatures (see Rev 5:11), and the books (v. 10; see also Rev 20:12 and note).

7:13, 14 Daniel's vision of the Ancient of Days is that of the Second Coming of Christ, the Son of Man, in glory.

7:25 A time, times, and half a time refers to the "short time" (three and a half years) of tribulation that will befall the faithful just prior to the end of the age (see 12:7 and note; Rev 12:7–16 and notes).

Apocalyptic Literature

Within Holy Scripture there are certain visionary, prophetic writings that are specifically seen as revelations because they reveal something about the last days, or end times. These writings within Holy Scripture are part of a larger group of works known as apocalyptic literature (from a Greek word meaning "to uncover" or "unveil").

From about 250 BC to AD 200, there were some thirty to forty such works circulating within the Jewish and early Christian communities. Only one of all these writings, the Revelation of John (also called the Apocalypse), was accepted by the Church to be part of Holy Scripture. There are other sections in the Bible which also are written in an apocalyptic style, such as Isaiah 24–27, 60–66; Ezekiel 38–39; Daniel 7–12; Zechariah 1–6, 9–14; and Mark 13.

It is typical for apocalyptic writings to describe visions of angels, animals of various kinds, scrolls, lamps, stars, and dragons, as well as battles and various natural disasters. The Revelation of John includes much imagery found also in Ezekiel, Daniel, and Zechariah (see Ezk 40:1–5 and Rev 11:1; 21:9–17; Dan 7:1–8 and Rev 13:1–5; Zec 4:1–6, 11–14 and Rev 4:5; 11:3, 4). About three-fourths of the 404 verses in Revelation refer to something in the Old Testament.

How are we to understand this not easily understood literary form? How are we to apply these Scriptures to our lives? Christ taught it is impossible to know when He will come again (Mt 24:36, 44). It is impossible to determine the precise meaning of all the imagery in the apocalyptic writings. Rather, we are to look forward to the end of time with sober yet eager anticipation, as pilgrims seeking His eternal kingdom (Php 3:20; Col 3:1–4). A prayer by St. Basil the Great says, "Grant us to pass through all the night of this present life with vigilant heart and sober thought, in expectancy of the coming of the bright and manifest day of . . . our Lord."

The apocalyptic texts are offered to Christians in every generation to encourage them in their struggles against sin, the principalities and powers of darkness in this world (Eph 6:12) and the fear of death. These writings assure us that even in the midst of the cosmic cataclysms and battles against evil powers occurring just before Christ returns—the time of "great tribulation" (Mt 24:21)—the Lord will strengthen and guide His people (Mt 28:20), bringing them to final victory over all forces of evil (Rev 20:7–10). Making references to Daniel 7 and 12 concerning the end times, St. Cyril of Jerusalem explains that as in the persecutions, God will again permit these things. Why? Not because He wants satanic power to hinder His people, but because He desires to crown His own champions for their patient endurance—just as He did His prophets and apostles—so that having toiled for a little while, they may inherit the eternal kingdom of Heaven.

So the essential purpose of the apocalyptic writings is to encourage the faithful to be full of hope and prepared to persevere to the end, no matter what happens (Mt 24:3–13; Lk 21:25–28). All are inspired to look through the darkness of the present age and to behold the ultimate victory of Christ and the joyful consummation that awaits His Bride—the Church—who, through Her sacraments, has prepared herself for the coming of the Lord (2Pt 3:7–14; Tts 2:11–14). The closing words of the New Testament express this very sense of expectation: "Even so, come, Lord Jesus" (Rev 22:20).

8:1–27 Daniel's vision occurred about 551 BC. The ram (v. 3) represents Darius and the rule of the Medes and Persians (v. 20), which ended with the death of Belshazzar in 538. The male goat (v. 5) represents the conquests of the Greeks (v. 21) up until the time of the Romans, about 64 BC.

8:5–14 When Alexander's rule was broken (v. 8) when he was only 33, his four generals divided up his empire among themselves: Ptolemy I in Egypt; Seleucus I in Asia; Lysimachus in Asia Minor; and Cassander in Macedonia. The strong horn (v. 9) is seen to represent Antiochus IV Epiphanes, who took the Seleucid kingdom in 175 BC. He put an end to temple sacrifice and set up a statue of Jupiter in the holy temple in Jerusalem.

8:10–26 The temple was cleansed (v. 14) under Judas Maccabeus after he had led the Jews to victory over the Syrians. St. Jerome says that most church commentators see a partial fulfillment of these events in the persecution of Antiochus, but that the passage also points to the antichrist, the king who shall arise (v. 23). The antichrist is himself a type of all those who raise themselves up against Christ. Thus, his downfall at Christ's Second Coming symbolizes the final destruction of all evil and the realization of Christ's eternal kingdom (see 2Th 2:3–12 and note).

8:26 Seal the vision: "The things, therefore, which of old were sealed, are now by the grace of God the Lord all open to the saints, for He was Himself the perfect Seal, and the Church is the key. . . . But to Christ it was not said 'seal,' but 'loose' the things bound of old; in order that, by His grace, we might know the will of the Father, and believe upon Him whom He has sent for the salvation of men, Jesus our Lord" (Hippol).

9:3–5 We sinned: In the spirit of true intercessory prayer, Daniel takes on himself the sins of the people and repents before the Lord, begging His mercy for their sakes.

9:8–11 This is as clear in defining sin as any passage in the Scriptures. St. Paul offers a summary of Daniel's words: "All have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Rom 3:23).

9:24–27 The Epistle of Barnabas (ch. 16) observes that this passage was fulfilled when the temple (the sanctuary, v. 26) was destroyed by the Romans in AD 70. But Barnabas also points out that a true temple remains, the Body of Christ, a spiritual temple in which God truly dwells. Seventy weeks is interpreted to mean seventy weeks of years, or 490 years (seventy times seven years). This prophecy applies also to Jeremiah's "seventy years" (see 9:2; Jer 25:11, 12; 29:10).

According to Hippolytus, Daniel's vision concerned the time when the temple would be rebuilt, as well as the time of the coming of the Messiah. First, the Jews would return and resume sacrifice after seventy years of captivity. "Having mentioned therefore seventy weeks, and having divided them into two parts, in order that what was spoken by him to the prophet might be better understood, he proceeds thus, until Messiah the Prince there shall be seven weeks, which make forty-nine years. It was in the twenty-first year [of Nebuchadnezzar's reign] that Daniel saw these things in Babylon. Hence, the forty-nine years added to the twenty-one, make up the seventy years, of which the blessed Jeremiah spoke" (Jer 25:11). Second, Jesus the Messiah would be crucified in AD 30, about 490 years (seventy weeks) after Artaxerxes commissioned Ezra to rebuild Jerusalem in 458 BC (2Ez 7:7, 8).

9:27 Hippolytus comments that after "Christ is come, and the gospel is preached in every place, the times being then accomplished, there will remain only one week, the last, in which Elias will appear, and Enoch. And in the midst of it the abomination of desolations will be manifested, that is, Antichrist, announcing desolation to the world. And when he comes, the sacrifice and oblation will be removed, which now are offered to God in every place by the nations" (see Mt 24:15 and note).

10:1 The third year of Cyrus was 533 BC.

10:2, 3 Daniel's season of fasting and mourning is echoed by the faithful during the time of Great Lent, a season of "bright sadness."

10:5 St. Hippolytus writes that the Father "sent His own Word to show what should happen by Him. And that took place, indeed, by the great river. For it was meet that the Son should be manifested there, where also He was to remove sins." Other commentators see this figure as the Archangel Gabriel (9:21).

10:12 "Behold how much the piety of a righteous man avails, that to him alone, as to one worthy, things not yet to be manifested in the world should be revealed" (Hippol).

10:16 As with Isaiah's vision (Is 6:7), the phrase touched my lips has eucharistic overtones.

11:1 Daniel's prophecies in this chapter were fulfilled with astonishing power and strength in the centuries after he lived.

11:1, 2 Four kings indeed arose in Persia after Cyrus: Cambyses, Smerdis III, Darius IV, and Xerxes, who led the Persians against the Greeks in about 485–465 BC.

11:3, 4 After his death in 320 BC, the kingdom of Alexander the Great was divided among his four generals.

11:5 Ptolemy I Soter was the king of the south, or Egypt. One of his rulers may refer to Ptolemy's son, Ptolemy II Philadelphus, or else Seleucus Nicator, another of Alexander's generals, who allied with Ptolemy I Soter and later gained power over him.

11:6 This verse prophesies Bernice, daughter of Ptolemy II Philadelphus. She could not retain her power when her father died, and was assassinated along with those who strengthened her. It was under Ptolemy II Philadelphus, king of Egpyt from 287–247 BC, that the Septuagint translation of the Old Testament was begun.

11:7–9 Her root refers to Bernice's brother, Ptolemy III Evergetes. He avenged her by killing her assassin, Seleucus Callinicus, king of the north, after which he carried their Syrian gods back to Egypt.

11:10 The sons of Seleucus Callinicus of the north were Seleucus Ceraunus and Antiochus III. They did indeed assemble . . . great forces, but it was Antiochus who passed through and invaded the south.

11:11–14 Enraged, Ptolemy IV Philopator did fight with the king of the north in about 218 BC, but he did not gain supremacy. Antiochus III of Syria in the north, having mustered a greater army, did defeat the forces of his infant son, Ptolemy V Epiphanes, in 204 BC, with the help of troublemakers among the Jews.

11:16 Antiochus III took Judea in battle with Scopus of the south. This included a siege of Scopus' garrison at Jerusalem. Thus, Antiochus III did indeed stand in the Land of Beauty.

11:17 In an effort to ally himself with Egypt, Antiochus III married off his child daughter, Cleopatra, to seven-year-old Ptolemy V Epiphanes, but in the end, they did not remain with him.

11:18, 19 Having assailed the coasts and islands of Asia Minor, and having later met with several defeats, Antiochus III could not be found. He disappeared and was not heard from again.

11:20 Antiochus's root most likely refers to one of his sons, Seleucus Philopator. He confiscated treasures from the temple in Jerusalem, but performed no great deeds and died without fighting a single battle.

11:21–24 These verses prophesy Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 BC), another son of Antiochus III. The Fathers see in him a type of the antichrist who will arise at the end of the age. Antiochus overcame the Ptolemies by feigning clemency, that is, by intrigue. He reigned in Syria for eleven years after Seleucus, and he seized Judea as well. He defiled the temple in Jerusalem, thus provoking war with the Maccabees, who fought for Jewish self-rule. The ruler of the covenant (v. 22) prophesies Judas Maccabeus. Antiochus was able to take over Egypt as well as Syria with only a small force of men, enabling him to do what neither his fathers or forefathers have done (v. 24).

11:30–35 The Romans came against Antiochus and made him leave Egypt in 168 BC. Enraged, he began his persecution of the Jews and his desecration of the temple. Help (v. 34) came from the Maccabean revolt, led by Mattathias and Judas Maccabeus. Many early Christians also saw the destruction of the temple by the Roman general, Titus, in AD 70, as well as the persecutions of Christians by the Roman emperor Nero, as fulfillments of these verses. Indeed, Daniel's prophecies have been fulfilled many times over the course of history, as God's people have endured persecution and testing at the hands of those who blaspheme God in their pride.

11:31—12:13 This passage concerns the future time of the antichrist, the Great Tribulation, and the end of the world.

12:1–3 At Christ's Second Coming, the antichrist will be crushed, the tribulation will end, and all the dead will awake (v. 2). Resurrection to everlasting life is the destiny of those who have endured to the end. Resurrection to everlasting shame is the destiny of those who, in the end, are found outside of Christ.

12:7 "But he who reads this passage, even half asleep, cannot fail to see that the kingdom of Antichrist shall fiercely, though for a short time, assail the Church before the last judgment of God shall introduce the eternal reign of the saints. For it is patent from the context that the time, times, and half a time, means a year, and two years, and half a year, that is to say, three years and a half" (Aug). See also 7:25 and note; Rev 12:7–16 and notes.

12:11 Hippolytus writes that this prophecy concerns the three and a half years —"the one thousand two hundred and three score days (the half of the week) during which the tyrant is to reign and persecute the Church."

1–42 These verses comprise the final section of Daniel concerning Bel and the Serpent. "He unquestionably made it clear, that He who spake to Moses out of the bush, and declared Himself to be the God of the fathers, He is the God of the living. For who is the God of the living unless He who is God, and above whom there is no other God?" (Iren).

1 Cyrus began his reign in Persia in 538 BC.

3 Historians describe Bel as chief among the Babylonian gods.

5 "He said that what we are able to speak and to answer is given to us in that hour from heaven, and supplied; and that it is not then we who speak, but the Spirit of God our Father, who, as He does not depart nor is separated from those who confess Him, Himself both speaks and is crowned in us. So Daniel, too, when he was required to worship the idol Bel, which the people and the king then worshiped, in asserting the honor of his God, broke forth with full faith and freedom, saying, 'I worship nothing but the Lord my God, who created the heaven and the earth'" (Cyp).

7 Daniel smiled: It is indeed very humorous that a king or anyone could believe an idol of clay and bronze could eat (see also v. 19).

10, 21 How could seventy priests and their families—and a king—indulge in such blatant deception? St. Peter gives the answer concerning the allure of the false teachers: "Many will follow their destructive ways" (2Pt 2:2).

23, 24 In contrast to the clay and bronze statue of Bel, this idol lives, eats, and drinks!

26 Likely, the king gave permission because he saw the serpent as an immortal god.

33–39 The prophet Habakkuk, for whom the OT book is named, had lived a century earlier. So there would be three miracles here: (1) being carried by the hair, as Ezekiel was (Ezk 8:3); (2) being translated from one place to another, as Philip was (Acts 8:39, 40); and (3) being brought back from the dead, as Moses and Elijah were (Mt 17:3).

40–42 Once again, Daniel is vindicated.

The New Testament

The Book of Matthew

Author

Though the gospel does not name Matthew as the author, all the early manuscripts attribute authorship to Matthew, one of the twelve disciples listed in the New Testament. His authorship is attested by the universal witness of the ancient Church.

Date

Matthew could have been written as early as AD 50, but it is more likely that it was written after the fall of Jerusalem in AD 70. It was probably written over a period of years while Matthew resided in Antioch, where the church was a strong, mixed community of Jewish and Gentile Christians. St. Ignatius, Bishop of Antioch AD 67–107, is one of the earliest witnesses to the existence of this gospel.

Major Theme

Christ, the Incarnate God, Immanuel, has inaugurated the kingdom of God and the new covenant, which is realized in the true Israel, the Church.
Subthemes include:

(1) The fulfillment of Old Testament prophecy. Matthew shows conclusively that Christ, the incarnate Son of God, fulfills the prophecies of the Old Testament. He establishes the new covenant through His death and Resurrection and will continue to guide His Church, the true Israel of God, to the end of the age.

(2) The revelation of the kingdom of God. Jesus proclaims that God's reign has come (4:17, 23), His power being manifested in His Son, but the fullness of the Kingdom will be consummated at Christ's Second Coming.

(3) A call to discipleship (4:18–22; 8:18–22), through mission (ch. 10; 28:18–20), and the beginning of the Gentile Church (8:11, 12; 21:43; 28:19).

Background

The Gospel of Matthew, though it has come down to us in Greek, has a Jewish/Hebraic flavor, evident in its Aramaic expressions and forms and in its use of numerous quotations and arguments from the Old Testament.

Furthermore, Matthew gives details of Jewish religious observances and often uses Jewish style and techniques of argument. God's final judgment, pictured in apocalyptic images common in Jewish writings, is also emphasized. Papias, a second-century Christian author, preserves the tradition that Matthew wrote the sayings of Christ in Aramaic, the common language of the Jews at the time of Christ, and that others later freely translated this work into Greek.

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

(Ruth 4:18–22; 1 Chr. 2:1–15; Luke 3:23–38)

1 The book of the genealogy of Jesus Christ, the Son of David, the Son of Abraham:

2 Abraham begot Isaac, Isaac begot Jacob, and Jacob begot Judah and his brothers.

3 Judah begot Perez and Zerah by Tamar, Perez begot Hezron, and Hezron begot Ram.

4 Ram begot Amminadab, Amminadab begot Nahshon, and Nahshon begot Salmon.

5 Salmon begot Boaz by Rahab, Boaz begot Obed by Ruth, Obed begot Jesse,

6 and Jesse begot David the king.

David the king begot Solomon by her who had been the wife[a] of Uriah.

7 Solomon begot Rehoboam, Rehoboam begot Abijah, and Abijah begot Asa.[b]

8 Asa begot Jehoshaphat, Jehoshaphat begot Joram, and Joram begot Uzziah.

9 Uzziah begot Jotham, Jotham begot Ahaz, and Ahaz begot Hezekiah.

10 Hezekiah begot Manasseh, Manasseh begot Amon,[c] and Amon begot Josiah.

11 Josiah begot Jeconiah and his brothers about the time they were carried away to Babylon.

12 And after they were brought to Babylon, Jeconiah begot Shealtiel, and Shealtiel begot Zerubbabel.

13 Zerubbabel begot Abiud, Abiud begot Eliakim, and Eliakim begot Azor.

14 Azor begot Zadok, Zadok begot Achim, and Achim begot Eliud.

15 Eliud begot Eleazar, Eleazar begot Matthan, and Matthan begot Jacob.

16 And Jacob begot Joseph the husband of Mary, of whom was born Jesus who is called Christ.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to David are fourteen generations, from David until the captivity in Babylon are fourteen generations, and from the captivity in Babylon until the Christ are fourteen generations.

Christ Born of Mary
(Luke 2:1–7)

18Now the birth of Jesus Christ was as follows: After His mother Mary was betrothed to Joseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Holy Spirit.
19Then Joseph her husband, being a just man, and not wanting to make her a public example, was minded to put her away secretly.
20But while he thought about these things, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to him in a dream, saying, "Joseph, son of David, do not be afraid to take to you Mary your wife, for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Spirit.
21"And she will bring forth a Son, and you shall call His name Jesus, for He will save His people from their sins."
22So all this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying: 23*"Behold, the virgin shall be with child, and bear a Son, and they shall call His name Immanuel,"*[d] which is translated, "God with us." 24Then Joseph, being aroused from sleep, did as the angel of the Lord commanded him and took to him his wife, 25and did not know her till she had brought forth her firstborn Son.[e] And he called His name Jesus.

Matthew 2

Wise Men from the East

1Now after Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judea in the days of Herod the king, behold, wise men from the East came to Jerusalem, 2saying, "Where is He who has been born King of the Jews? For we have seen His star in the East and have come to worship Him." 3When Herod the king heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.
4And when he had gathered all the chief priests and scribes of the people together, he inquired of them where the Christ was to be born.
5So they said to him, "In Bethlehem of Judea, for thus it is written by the prophet:

6 ‘But you, Bethlehem, in the land of Judah,
Are not the least among the rulers of Judah;
For out of you shall come a Ruler
Who will shepherd My people Israel.’ ”[a]

7 Then Herod, when he had secretly called the wise men, determined from them what time the star appeared.
8 And he sent them to Bethlehem and said, “Go and search carefully for the young Child, and when you have found Him, bring back word to me, that I may come and worship Him also.”
9 When they heard the king, they departed; and behold, the star which they had seen in the East went before them, till it came and stood over where the young Child was.
10 When they saw the star, they rejoiced with exceedingly great joy.
11 And when they had come into the house, they saw the young Child with Mary His mother, and fell down and worshiped Him. And when they had opened their treasures, they presented gifts to Him: gold, frankincense, and myrrh.
12 Then, being divinely warned in a dream that they should not return to Herod, they departed for their own country another way.

The Flight into Egypt

13 Now when they had departed, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared to Joseph in a dream, saying, “Arise, take the young Child and His mother, flee to Egypt, and stay there until I bring you word; for Herod will seek the young Child to destroy Him.” 14 When he arose, he took the young Child and His mother by night and departed for Egypt, 15 and was there until the death of Herod, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Lord through the prophet, saying, “Out of Egypt I called My Son.”[b]

Massacre of the Innocents

16 Then Herod, when he saw that he was deceived by the wise men, was exceedingly angry; and he sent forth and put to death all the male children who were in Bethlehem and in all its districts, from two years old and under, according to the time which he had determined from the wise men.

17 Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying:

18 "A voice was heard in Ramah,
Lamentation, weeping, and great mourning,
Rachel weeping for her children,
Refusing to be comforted,
Because they are no more."[c]

The Home in Nazareth
(Luke 2:39)

19 Now when Herod was dead, behold, an angel of the Lord appeared in a dream to Joseph in Egypt, 20 saying, "Arise, take the young Child and His mother, and go to the land of Israel, for those who sought the young Child's life are dead."
21 Then he arose, took the young Child and His mother, and came into the land of Israel.
22 But when he heard that Archelaus was reigning over Judea instead of his father Herod, he was afraid to go there. And being warned by God in a dream, he turned aside into the region of Galilee.
23 And he came and dwelt in a city called Nazareth, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophets, "He shall be called a Nazarene."

Matthew 3

John the Baptist Prepares the Way
(Mark 1:2–8; Luke 3:1–20)

1 In those days John the Baptist came preaching in the wilderness of Judea,
2 and saying, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand!"
3 For this is he who was spoken of by the prophet Isaiah, saying:

"The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
'Prepare the way of the LORD;
Make His paths straight.' "[a]

4 Now John himself was clothed in camel's hair, with a leather belt around his waist; and his food was locusts and wild honey.

5 Then Jerusalem, all Judea, and all the region around the Jordan went out to him
6 and were baptized by him in the Jordan, confessing their sins.
7 But when he saw many of the Pharisees and Sadducees coming to his baptism, he said to them, “Brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come?
8 “Therefore bear fruits worthy of repentance,
9 “and do not think to say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones.
10 “And even now the ax is laid to the root of the trees. Therefore every tree which does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.
11 “I indeed baptize you with water unto repentance, but He who is coming after me is mightier than I, whose sandals I am not worthy to carry. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire.[b]
12 “His winnowing fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly clean out His threshing floor, and gather His wheat into the barn; but He will burn up the chaff with unquenchable fire.”

John Baptizes Jesus

(Mark 1:9–11; Luke 3:21, 22; John 1:29–34)

13 Then Jesus came from Galilee to John at the Jordan to be baptized by him.
14 And John tried to prevent Him, saying, “I need to be baptized by You, and are You coming to me?”
15 But Jesus answered and said to him, “Permit it to be so now, for thus it is fitting for us to fulfill all righteousness.” Then he allowed Him.
16 When He had been baptized, Jesus came up immediately from the water; and behold, the heavens were opened to Him, and He[c] saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and alighting upon Him.
17 And suddenly a voice came from heaven, saying, “This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.”

Matthew 4

Satan Tempts Jesus

(Mark 1:12, 13; Luke 4:1–13)

[1]Then Jesus was led up by the Spirit into the wilderness to be tempted by the devil.
[2]And when He had fasted forty days and forty nights, afterward He was hungry.
[3]Now when the tempter came to Him, he said, “If You are the Son of God, command that these stones become bread.”
[4]But He answered and said, “It is written, ‘Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God.’ ”[a]
[5]Then the devil took Him up into the holy city, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, [6]and said to Him, “If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down. For it is written:

> ‘He shall give His angels charge over you,’

and,

> ‘In their hands they shall bear you up,
> Lest you dash your foot against a stone.’ ”[b]

[7]Jesus said to him, “It is written again, ‘You shall not tempt the LORD your God.’ ”[c]
[8]Again, the devil took Him up on an exceedingly high mountain, and showed Him all the kingdoms of the world and their glory.
[9]And he said to Him, “All these things I will give You if You will fall down and worship me.”
[10]Then Jesus said to him, “Away with you,[d] Satan! For it is written, ‘You shall worship the LORD your God, and Him only you shall serve.’ ”[e] [11]Then the devil left Him, and behold, angels came and ministered to Him.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

(Mark 1:14, 15; Luke 4:14, 15)

12Now when Jesus heard that John had been put in prison, He departed to Galilee.
[13]And leaving Nazareth, He came and dwelt in Capernaum, which is by the sea, in the regions of Zebulun and Naphtali,

14 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

15 "The land of Zebulun and the land of Naphtali,
By the way of the sea, beyond the Jordan,
Galilee of the Gentiles:
16 The people who sat in darkness have seen a great light,
And upon those who sat in the region and shadow of death
Light has dawned."[f]

17 From that time Jesus began to preach and to say, "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand."

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

(Mark 1:16–20; Luke 5:1–11)

18 And Jesus, walking by the Sea of Galilee, saw two brothers, Simon called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen.
19 Then He said to them, "Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men."
20 They immediately left their nets and followed Him.
21 Going on from there, He saw two other brothers, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in the boat with Zebedee their father, mending their nets. He called them, 22 and immediately they left the boat and their father, and followed Him.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

23 And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease among the people.
24 Then His fame went throughout all Syria; and they brought to Him all sick people who were afflicted with various diseases and torments, and those who were demon-possessed, epileptics, and paralytics; and He healed them.
25 Great multitudes followed Him—from Galilee, and from Decapolis, Jerusalem, Judea, and beyond the Jordan.

Matthew 5

The Beatitudes

(Luke 6:20–26)

1 And seeing the multitudes, He went up on a mountain, and when He was seated His disciples came to Him.
2 Then He opened His mouth and taught them, saying:

3 "Blessed are the poor in spirit,
For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.
4 Blessed are those who mourn,
For they shall be comforted.
5 Blessed are the meek,
For they shall inherit the earth.
6 Blessed are those who hunger and thirst for righteousness,
For they shall be filled.
7 Blessed are the merciful,
For they shall obtain mercy.
8 Blessed are the pure in heart,
For they shall see God.
9 Blessed are the peacemakers,
For they shall be called sons of God.
10 Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake,
For theirs is the kingdom of heaven.

11 "Blessed are you when they revile and persecute you, and say all kinds of evil against you falsely for My sake.
12 "Rejoice and be exceedingly glad, for great is your reward in heaven, for so they persecuted the prophets who were before you.

Believers Are Salt and Light

(Mark 9:50; Luke 14:34, 35)

13 "You are the salt of the earth; but if the salt loses its flavor, how shall it be seasoned? It is then good for nothing but to be thrown out and trampled underfoot by men.
14 "You are the light of the world. A city that is set on a hill cannot be hidden.
15 "Nor do they light a lamp and put it under a basket, but on a lampstand, and it gives light to all who are in the house.

16 “Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven.

Christ Fulfills the Law

17 “Do not think that I came to destroy the Law or the Prophets. I did not come to destroy but to fulfill.

18 “For assuredly, I say to you, till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle will by no means pass from the law till all is fulfilled.

19 “Whoever therefore breaks one of the least of these commandments, and teaches men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven; but whoever does and teaches them, he shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven.

20 “For I say to you, that unless your righteousness exceeds the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven.

Murder Begins in the Heart

(Luke 12:57–59)

21 “You have heard that it was said to those of old, ‘You shall not murder,’[a] and whoever murders will be in danger of the judgment.’

22 “But I say to you that whoever is angry with his brother without a cause[b] shall be in danger of the judgment. And whoever says to his brother, ‘Raca!’ shall be in danger of the council. But whoever says, ‘You fool!’ shall be in danger of hell fire.

23 “Therefore if you bring your gift to the altar, and there remember that your brother has something against you,

24 “leave your gift there before the altar, and go your way. First be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift.

25 “Agree with your adversary quickly, while you are on the way with him, lest your adversary deliver you to the judge, the judge hand you over to the officer, and you be thrown into prison.

26 “Assuredly, I say to you, you will by no means get out of there till you have paid the last penny.

Adultery in the Heart

27 “You have heard that it was said to those of old,[c] ‘You shall not commit adultery.’[d]

28 “But I say to you that whoever looks at a woman to lust for her has already committed adultery with her in his heart.
29 “If your right eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell.
30 “And if your right hand causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you; for it is more profitable for you that one of your members perish, than for your whole body to be cast into hell.

Marriage Is Sacred and Binding

(Matt. 19:9; Mark 10:11, 12; Luke 16:18)

31 “Furthermore it has been said, ‘Whoever divorces his wife, let him give her a certificate of divorce.’ 32 “But I say to you that whoever divorces his wife for any reason except sexual immorality[e] causes her to commit adultery; and whoever marries a woman who is divorced commits adultery.

Jesus Forbids Oaths

33 “Again you have heard that it was said to those of old, ‘You shall not swear falsely, but shall perform your oaths to the Lord.’ 34 “But I say to you, do not swear at all: neither by heaven, for it is God’s throne;
35 “nor by the earth, for it is His footstool; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King.
36 “Nor shall you swear by your head, because you cannot make one hair white or black.
37 “But let your ‘Yes’ be ‘Yes,’ and your ‘No,’ ‘No.’ For whatever is more than these is from the evil one.

Go the Second Mile

(Luke 6:29–31)

38 “You have heard that it was said, ‘An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth.’[f] 39 “But I tell you not to resist an evil person. But whoever slaps you on your right cheek, turn the other to him also.
40 “If anyone wants to sue you and take away your tunic, let him have your cloak also.

41 “And whoever compels you to go one mile, go with him two.
42 “Give to him who asks you, and from him who wants to borrow from you do not turn away.

Love Your Enemies
(Luke 6:27, 28, 32–36)

43 “You have heard that it was said, ‘You shall love your neighbor[g] and hate your enemy.’
44 “But I say to you, love your enemies, bless those who curse you, do good to those who hate you, and pray for those who spitefully use you and persecute you,[h]
45 “that you may be sons of your Father in heaven; for He makes His sun rise on the evil and on the good, and sends rain on the just and on the unjust.
46 “For if you love those who love you, what reward have you? Do not even the tax collectors do the same?
47 “And if you greet your brethren[i] only, what do you do more than others? Do not even the tax collectors[j] do so?
48 “Therefore you shall be perfect, just as your Father in heaven is perfect.
The Sermon on the Mount

Matthew 6

Do Good to Please God

1 “Take heed that you do not do your charitable deeds before men, to be seen by them. Otherwise you have no reward from your Father in heaven.
2 “Therefore, when you do a charitable deed, do not sound a trumpet before you as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory from men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward.
3 “But when you do a charitable deed, do not let your left hand know what your right hand is doing,
4 “that your charitable deed may be in secret; and your Father who sees in secret will Himself reward you openly.[a]

The Model Prayer
(Luke 11:2–4)

5 “And when you pray, you shall not be like the hypocrites. For they love to pray standing in the synagogues and on the corners of the streets, that they may be seen by men. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward.

6"But you, when you pray, go into your room, and when you have shut your door, pray to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you openly.[b]

7"And when you pray, do not use vain repetitions as the heathen do. For they think that they will be heard for their many words.

8"Therefore do not be like them. For your Father knows the things you have need of before you ask Him.

9"In this manner, therefore, pray:

Our Father in heaven,
Hallowed be Your name.
10Your kingdom come.
Your will be done
On earth as it is in heaven.
11Give us this day our daily bread.
12And forgive us our debts,
As we forgive our debtors.
13And do not lead us into temptation,
But deliver us from the evil one.
For Yours is the kingdom and the power and the glory forever. Amen.[c]

14"For if you forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you.

15"But if you do not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

Fasting to Be Seen Only by God

16"Moreover, when you fast, do not be like the hypocrites, with a sad countenance. For they disfigure their faces that they may appear to men to be fasting. Assuredly, I say to you, they have their reward.

17"But you, when you fast, anoint your head and wash your face, 18"so that you do not appear to men to be fasting, but to your Father who is in the secret place; and your Father who sees in secret will reward you openly.[d]

Lay Up Treasures in Heaven

(Luke 12:33, 34)

19 “Do not lay up for yourselves treasures on earth, where moth and rust destroy and where thieves break in and steal; 20 “but lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust destroys and where thieves do not break in and steal.
21 “For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

The Lamp of the Body

(Luke 11:34–36)

22 “The lamp of the body is the eye. If therefore your eye is good, your whole body will be full of light.
23 “But if your eye is bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in you is darkness, how great is that darkness!

You Cannot Serve God and Riches

24 “No one can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon.

Do Not Worry

(Luke 12:22–31)

25 “Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink; nor about your body, what you will put on. Is not life more than food and the body more than clothing?
26 “Look at the birds of the air, for they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?
27 “Which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature?
28 “So why do you worry about clothing? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; 29 “and yet I say to you that even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.
30 “Now if God so clothes the grass of the field, which today is, and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, will He not much more clothe you, O you of little faith?

31“Therefore do not worry, saying, ‘What shall we eat?’ or ‘What shall we drink?’ or ‘What shall we wear?’
32“For after all these things the Gentiles seek. For your heavenly Father knows that you need all these things.
33“But seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added to you.
34“Therefore do not worry about tomorrow, for tomorrow will worry about its own things. Sufficient for the day is its own trouble.

Matthew 7

Do Not Judge
(Luke 6:37–42)

1“Judge not, that you be not judged.
2“For with what judgment you judge, you will be judged; and with the measure you use, it will be measured back to you.
3“And why do you look at the speck in your brother’s eye, but do not consider the plank in your own eye?
4“Or how can you say to your brother, ‘Let me remove the speck from your eye’; and look, a plank is in your own eye?
5“Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck from your brother’s eye.
6“Do not give what is holy to the dogs; nor cast your pearls before swine, lest they trample them under their feet, and turn and tear you in pieces.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking
(Luke 11:9–13)

7“Ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find; knock, and it will be opened to you.
8“For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened.
9“Or what man is there among you who, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone?
10“Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent?
11“If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your Father who is in heaven give good things to those who ask Him!

12 “Therefore, whatever you want men to do to you, do also to them, for this is the Law and the Prophets.

The Narrow Way

13 “Enter by the narrow gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leads to destruction, and there are many who go in by it.

14 “Because[a] narrow is the gate and difficult is the way which leads to life, and there are few who find it.

You Will Know Them by Their Fruits

(Matt. 12:33; Luke 6:43–45)

15 “Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep’s clothing, but inwardly they are ravenous wolves.

16 “You will know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes from thornbushes or figs from thistles?

17 “Even so, every good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit.

18 “A good tree cannot bear bad fruit, nor can a bad tree bear good fruit.

19 “Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire.

20 “Therefore by their fruits you will know them.

I Never Knew You

(Luke 6:46; 13:26, 27)

21 “Not everyone who says to Me, ‘Lord, Lord,’ shall enter the kingdom of heaven, but he who does the will of My Father in heaven.

22 “Many will say to Me in that day, ‘Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Your name, cast out demons in Your name, and done many wonders in Your name?’

23 “And then I will declare to them, ‘I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!’

Build on the Rock

(Luke 6:47–49)

24 “Therefore whoever hears these sayings of Mine, and does them, I will liken him to a wise man who built his house on the rock:

25“and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it did not fall, for it was founded on the rock.
26“But everyone who hears these sayings of Mine, and does not do them, will be like a foolish man who built his house on the sand:
27“and the rain descended, the floods came, and the winds blew and beat on that house; and it fell. And great was its fall.”
28And so it was, when Jesus had ended these sayings, that the people were astonished at His teaching, 29for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.

Matthew 8

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

(Mark 1:40–45; Luke 5:12–16)

1When He had come down from the mountain, great multitudes followed Him.
2And behold, a leper came and worshiped Him, saying, “Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean.”
3Then Jesus put out His hand and touched him, saying, “I am willing; be cleansed.” Immediately his leprosy was cleansed.
4And Jesus said to him, “See that you tell no one; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, as a testimony to them.”

Jesus Heals a Centurion’s Servant

(Luke 7:1–10)

5Now when Jesus had entered Capernaum, a centurion came to Him, pleading with Him, 6saying, “Lord, my servant is lying at home paralyzed, dreadfully tormented.”
7And Jesus said to him, “I will come and heal him.”
8The centurion answered and said, “Lord, I am not worthy that You should come under my roof. But only speak a word, and my servant will be healed.
9“For I also am a man under authority, having soldiers under me. And I say to this one, ‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes; and to my servant, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.”

10When Jesus heard it, He marveled, and said to those who followed, “Assuredly, I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel!

11“And I say to you that many will come from east and west, and sit down with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob in the kingdom of heaven.

12“But the sons of the kingdom will be cast out into outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.”

13Then Jesus said to the centurion, “Go your way; and as you have believed, so let it be done for you.” And his servant was healed that same hour.

Peter’s Mother-in-Law Healed

(Mark 1:29–31; Luke 4:38, 39)

14Now when Jesus had come into Peter’s house, He saw his wife’s mother lying sick with a fever.

15So He touched her hand, and the fever left her. And she arose and served them.[a]

Many Healed in the Evening

(Mark 1:32–34; Luke 4:40, 41)

16When evening had come, they brought to Him many who were demon-possessed. And He cast out the spirits with a word, and healed all who were sick,

17that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

> “He Himself took our infirmities
> And bore our sicknesses.”[b]

The Cost of Discipleship

(Luke 9:57–62)

18And when Jesus saw great multitudes about Him, He gave a command to depart to the other side.

19Then a certain scribe came and said to Him, “Teacher, I will follow You wherever You go.”

20And Jesus said to him, “Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head.”

21Then another of His disciples said to Him, “Lord, let me first go and bury my father."

22But Jesus said to him, "Follow Me, and let the dead bury their own dead."

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

(Mark 4:35–41; Luke 8:22–25)

23Now when He got into a boat, His disciples followed Him.
24And suddenly a great tempest arose on the sea, so that the boat was covered with the waves. But He was asleep.
25Then His disciples came to Him and awoke Him, saying, "Lord, save us! We are perishing!"
26But He said to them, "Why are you fearful, O you of little faith?" Then He arose and rebuked the winds and the sea, and there was a great calm.
27So the men marveled, saying, "Who can this be, that even the winds and the sea obey Him?"

Two Demon-Possessed Men Healed

(Mark 5:1–20; Luke 8:26–39)

28When He had come to the other side, to the country of the Gergesenes,[c] there met Him two demon-possessed men, coming out of the tombs, exceedingly fierce, so that no one could pass that way.
29And suddenly they cried out, saying, "What have we to do with You, Jesus, You Son of God? Have You come here to torment us before the time?"
30Now a good way off from them there was a herd of many swine feeding.
31So the demons begged Him, saying, "If You cast us out, permit us to go away[d] into the herd of swine."
32And He said to them, "Go." So when they had come out, they went into the herd of swine. And suddenly the whole herd of swine ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and perished in the water.
33Then those who kept them fled; and they went away into the city and told everything, including what had happened to the demon-possessed men.
34And behold, the whole city came out to meet Jesus. And when they saw Him, they begged Him to depart from their region.

Matthew 9

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

(Mark 2:1–12; Luke 5:17–26)

1So He got into a boat, crossed over, and came to His own city.

2Then behold, they brought to Him a paralytic lying on a bed. When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, “Son, be of good cheer; your sins are forgiven you.”

3And at once some of the scribes said within themselves, “This Man blasphemes!”

4But Jesus, knowing their thoughts, said, “Why do you think evil in your hearts?

5“For which is easier, to say, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Arise and walk’?

6“But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—then He said to the paralytic, “Arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.”

7And he arose and departed to his house.

8Now when the multitudes saw it, they marveled[a] and glorified God, who had given such power to men.

Matthew the Tax Collector

(Mark 2:13–17; Luke 5:27–32)

9As Jesus passed on from there, He saw a man named Matthew sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, “Follow Me.” So he arose and followed Him.

10Now it happened, as Jesus sat at the table in the house, that behold, many tax collectors and sinners came and sat down with Him and His disciples.

11And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to His disciples, “Why does your Teacher eat with tax collectors and sinners?”

12When Jesus heard that, He said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick.

13“But go and learn what this means: ‘I desire mercy and not sacrifice.’[b] For I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance.”[c]

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

(Mark 2:18–22; Luke 5:33–39)

14Then the disciples of John came to Him, saying, “Why do we and the Pharisees fast often,[d] but Your disciples do not fast?”

15And Jesus said to them, “Can the friends of the bridegroom mourn as long as the bridegroom is with them? But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will fast.

16“No one puts a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; for the patch pulls away from the garment, and the tear is made worse.

17“Nor do they put new wine into old wineskins, or else the wineskins break, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But they put new wine into new wineskins, and both are preserved.”

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

(Mark 5:21–43; Luke 8:40–56)

18While He spoke these things to them, behold, a ruler came and worshiped Him, saying, “My daughter has just died, but come and lay Your hand on her and she will live.”

19So Jesus arose and followed him, and so did His disciples.

20And suddenly, a woman who had a flow of blood for twelve years came from behind and touched the hem of His garment.

21For she said to herself, “If only I may touch His garment, I shall be made well.”

22But Jesus turned around, and when He saw her He said, “Be of good cheer, daughter; your faith has made you well.” And the woman was made well from that hour.

23When Jesus came into the ruler’s house, and saw the flute players and the noisy crowd wailing, 24He said to them, “Make room, for the girl is not dead, but sleeping.” And they ridiculed Him.

25But when the crowd was put outside, He went in and took her by the hand, and the girl arose.

26And the report of this went out into all that land.

Two Blind Men Healed

27When Jesus departed from there, two blind men followed Him, crying out and saying, “Son of David, have mercy on us!”

28And when He had come into the house, the blind men came to Him. And Jesus said to them, “Do you believe that I am able to do this?” They said to Him, “Yes, Lord.”

29 Then He touched their eyes, saying, “According to your faith let it be to you.”
30 And their eyes were opened. And Jesus sternly warned them, saying, “See that no one knows it.” 31 But when they had departed, they spread the news about Him in all that country.

A Mute Man Speaks

32 As they went out, behold, they brought to Him a man, mute and demon-possessed.
33 And when the demon was cast out, the mute spoke. And the multitudes marveled, saying, “It was never seen like this in Israel!” 34 But the Pharisees said, “He casts out demons by the ruler of the demons.”

The Compassion of Jesus

(Luke 10:2, 3)

35 Then Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people.[e] 36 But when He saw the multitudes, He was moved with compassion for them, because they were weary[f] and scattered, like sheep having no shepherd.
37 Then He said to His disciples, “The harvest truly is plentiful, but the laborers are few.
38 “Therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest.”

Matthew 10

The Twelve Apostles

(Mark 3:13–19; Luke 6:12–16)

1 And when He had called His twelve disciples to Him, He gave them power over unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all kinds of sickness and all kinds of disease.
2 Now the names of the twelve apostles are these: first, Simon, who is called Peter, and Andrew his brother; James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother;

3 Philip and Bartholomew; Thomas and Matthew the tax collector; James the son of Alphaeus, and Lebbaeus, whose surname was[a] Thaddaeus;

4 Simon the Cananite,[b] and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him.

Sending Out the Twelve

(Mark 6:7–13; Luke 9:1–6)

5 These twelve Jesus sent out and commanded them, saying: "Do not go into the way of the Gentiles, and do not enter a city of the Samaritans.

6 "But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.

7 "And as you go, preach, saying, 'The kingdom of heaven is at hand.'

8 "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead,[c] cast out demons. Freely you have received, freely give.

9 "Provide neither gold nor silver nor copper in your money belts, 10 "nor bag for your journey, nor two tunics, nor sandals, nor staffs; for a worker is worthy of his food.

11 "Now whatever city or town you enter, inquire who in it is worthy, and stay there till you go out.

12 "And when you go into a household, greet it.

13 "If the household is worthy, let your peace come upon it. But if it is not worthy, let your peace return to you.

14 "And whoever will not receive you nor hear your words, when you depart from that house or city, shake off the dust from your feet.

15 "Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for the land of Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!

Persecutions Are Coming

(Mark 13:9–13; Luke 21:12–17)

16 "Behold, I send you out as sheep in the midst of wolves. Therefore be wise as serpents and harmless as doves.

17 "But beware of men, for they will deliver you up to councils and scourge you in their synagogues.

18 "You will be brought before governors and kings for My sake, as a testimony to them and to the Gentiles.

19 "But when they deliver you up, do not worry about how or what you should speak. For it will be given to you in that hour what you should speak;

20“for it is not you who speak, but the Spirit of your Father who speaks in you.
21“Now brother will deliver up brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death.
22“And you will be hated by all for My name’s sake. But he who endures to the end will be saved.
23“When they persecute you in this city, flee to another. For assuredly, I say to you, you will not have gone through the cities of Israel before the Son of Man comes.
24“A disciple is not above his teacher, nor a servant above his master.
25“It is enough for a disciple that he be like his teacher, and a servant like his master. If they have called the master of the house Beelzebub,[d] how much more will they call those of his household!
26“Therefore do not fear them. For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, and hidden that will not be known.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

(Luke 12:3–7)

27“Whatever I tell you in the dark, speak in the light; and what you hear in the ear, preach on the housetops.
28“And do not fear those who kill the body but cannot kill the soul. But rather fear Him who is able to destroy both soul and body in hell.
29“Are not two sparrows sold for a copper coin? And not one of them falls to the ground apart from your Father’s will.
30“But the very hairs of your head are all numbered.
31“Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Confess Christ Before Men

(Luke 12:8, 9)

32“Therefore whoever confesses Me before men, him I will also confess before My Father who is in heaven.
33“But whoever denies Me before men, him I will also deny before My Father who is in heaven.

Christ Brings Division

(Luke 12:51–53; 14:26, 27)

34 “Do not think that I came to bring peace on earth. I did not come to bring peace but a sword.
35 “For I have come to ‘set a man against his father, a daughter against her mother, and a daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law’;
36 “and ‘a man’s enemies will be those of his own household.’[e] 37 “He who loves father or mother more than Me is not worthy of Me. And he who loves son or daughter more than Me is not worthy of Me.
38 “And he who does not take his cross and follow after Me is not worthy of Me.
39 “He who finds his life will lose it, and he who loses his life for My sake will find it.

A Cup of Cold Water

(Mark 9:41)

40 “He who receives you receives Me, and he who receives Me receives Him who sent Me.
41 “He who receives a prophet in the name of a prophet shall receive a prophet’s reward. And he who receives a righteous man in the name of a righteous man shall receive a righteous man’s reward.
42 “And whoever gives one of these little ones only a cup of cold water in the name of a disciple, assuredly, I say to you, he shall by no means lose his reward.”

Matthew 11

John the Baptist Sends Messengers to Jesus

(Luke 7:18–35)

1 Now it came to pass, when Jesus finished commanding His twelve disciples, that He departed from there to teach and to preach in their cities.
2 And when John had heard in prison about the works of Christ, he sent two of[a] his disciples
3 and said to Him, “Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?”
4 Jesus answered and said to them, “Go and tell John the things which you hear and see:
5 “The blind see and the lame walk; the lepers are cleansed and the deaf hear; the dead are raised up and the poor have the gospel preached to them.

6“And blessed is he who is not offended because of Me.”

7As they departed, Jesus began to say to the multitudes concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see? A reed shaken by the wind?

8“But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed, those who wear soft clothing are in kings’ houses.

9“But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.

10“For this is he of whom it is written:

> ‘Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
> Who will prepare Your way before You.’[b]

11“Assuredly, I say to you, among those born of women there has not risen one greater than John the Baptist; but he who is least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.

12“And from the days of John the Baptist until now the kingdom of heaven suffers violence, and the violent take it by force.

13“For all the prophets and the law prophesied until John.

14“And if you are willing to receive it, he is Elijah who is to come.

15“He who has ears to hear, let him hear!

16“But to what shall I liken this generation? It is like children sitting in the marketplaces and calling to their companions, 17“and saying:

> ‘We played the flute for you,
> And you did not dance;
> We mourned to you,
> And you did not lament.’

18“For John came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, ‘He has a demon.’

19“The Son of Man came eating and drinking, and they say, ‘Look, a glutton and a winebibber, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’ But wisdom is justified by her children.”[c]

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

(Gen. 19:12–14; Luke 10:13–15)

20 Then He began to rebuke the cities in which most of His mighty works had been done, because they did not repent:
21 "Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.
22 "But I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon in the day of judgment than for you.
23 "And you, Capernaum, who are exalted to heaven, will be[d] brought down to Hades; for if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Sodom, it would have remained until this day.
24 "But I say to you that it shall be more tolerable for the land of Sodom in the day of judgment than for you."

Jesus Gives True Rest

(Luke 10:21, 22)

25 At that time Jesus answered and said, "I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and have revealed them to babes.
26 "Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight.
27 "All things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows the Son except the Father. Nor does anyone know the Father except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him.
28 "Come to Me, all you who labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest.
29 "Take My yoke upon you and learn from Me, for I am gentle and lowly in heart, and you will find rest for your souls.
30 "For My yoke is easy and My burden is light."

Matthew 12

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

(Mark 2:23–28; Luke 6:1–5)

1 At that time Jesus went through the grainfields on the Sabbath. And His disciples were hungry, and began to pluck heads of grain and to eat.
2 And when the Pharisees saw it, they said to Him, "Look, Your disciples are doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath!"

[3]But He said to them, “Have you not read what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him:

[4]“how he entered the house of God and ate the showbread which was not lawful for him to eat, nor for those who were with him, but only for the priests?

[5]“Or have you not read in the law that on the Sabbath the priests in the temple profane the Sabbath, and are blameless?

[6]“Yet I say to you that in this place there is One greater than the temple.

[7]“But if you had known what this means, ‘I desire mercy and not sacrifice,’[a] you would not have condemned the guiltless.

[8]“For the Son of Man is Lord even[b] of the Sabbath.”

Healing on the Sabbath

9Now when He had departed from there, He went into their synagogue.

[10]And behold, there was a man who had a withered hand. And they asked Him, saying, “Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?”—that they might accuse Him.

[11]Then He said to them, “What man is there among you who has one sheep, and if it falls into a pit on the Sabbath, will not lay hold of it and lift it out?

[12]“Of how much more value then is a man than a sheep? Therefore it is lawful to do good on the Sabbath.”

[13]Then He said to the man, “Stretch out your hand.” And he stretched it out, and it was restored as whole as the other.

[14]Then the Pharisees went out and plotted against Him, how they might destroy Him.

Behold, My Servant

15But when Jesus knew it, He withdrew from there. And great multitudes[c] followed Him, and He healed them all.

[16]Yet He warned them not to make Him known,

[17]that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, saying:

> [18]“Behold! My Servant whom I have chosen,
> My Beloved in whom My soul is well pleased!
> I will put My Spirit upon Him,

And He will declare justice to the Gentiles.
19 He will not quarrel nor cry out,
Nor will anyone hear His voice in the streets.
20 A bruised reed He will not break,
And smoking flax He will not quench,
Till He sends forth justice to victory;
21 And in His name Gentiles will trust.”[d]

A House Divided Cannot Stand

(Mark 3:22–27; Luke 11:14–23)

22 Then one was brought to Him who was demon-possessed, blind and mute; and He healed him, so that the blind and[e] mute man both spoke and saw.

23 And all the multitudes were amazed and said, “Could this be the Son of David?”

24 Now when the Pharisees heard it they said, “This fellow does not cast out demons except by Beelzebub,[f] the ruler of the demons.”

25 But Jesus knew their thoughts, and said to them: “Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and every city or house divided against itself will not stand.

26 “If Satan casts out Satan, he is divided against himself. How then will his kingdom stand?

27 “And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they shall be your judges.

28 “But if I cast out demons by the Spirit of God, surely the kingdom of God has come upon you.

29 “Or how can one enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man? And then he will plunder his house.

30 “He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters abroad.

The Unpardonable Sin

31 “Therefore I say to you, every sin and blasphemy will be forgiven men, but the blasphemy against the Spirit will not be forgiven men.

32 “Anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but whoever speaks against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven him, either in this age or in the age to come.

A Tree Known by Its Fruit

(Matt. 7:15–20)

33"Either make the tree good and its fruit good, or else make the tree bad and its fruit bad; for a tree is known by its fruit.
34"Brood of vipers! How can you, being evil, speak good things? For out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaks.
35"A good man out of the good treasure of his heart[g] brings forth good things, and an evil man out of the evil treasure brings forth evil things.
36"But I say to you that for every idle word men may speak, they will give account of it in the day of judgment.
37"For by your words you will be justified, and by your words you will be condemned."

The Scribes and Pharisees Ask for a Sign

(Luke 11:29–32)

38Then some of the scribes and Pharisees answered, saying, "Teacher, we want to see a sign from You."
39But He answered and said to them, "An evil and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of the prophet Jonah.
40"For as Jonah was three days and three nights in the belly of the great fish, so will the Son of Man be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth.
41"The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, because they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here.
42"The queen of the South will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and indeed a greater than Solomon is here.

An Unclean Spirit Returns

(Luke 11:24–26)

43"When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, he goes through dry places, seeking rest, and finds none.
44"Then he says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.' And when he comes, he finds it empty, swept, and put in order.

45"Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and the last state of that man is worse than the first. So shall it also be with this wicked generation."

Jesus' Mother and Brothers Send for Him

(Mark 3:31–35; Luke 8:19–21)

46While He was still talking to the multitudes, behold, His mother and brothers stood outside, seeking to speak with Him.

47Then one said to Him, "Look, Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, seeking to speak with You."

48But He answered and said to the one who told Him, "Who is My mother and who are My brothers?"

49And He stretched out His hand toward His disciples and said, "Here are My mother and My brothers!

50"For whoever does the will of My Father in heaven is My brother and sister and mother."

Matthew 13

The Parable of the Sower

(Mark 4:1–9; Luke 8:4–8)

1On the same day Jesus went out of the house and sat by the sea.

2And great multitudes were gathered together to Him, so that He got into a boat and sat; and the whole multitude stood on the shore.

3Then He spoke many things to them in parables, saying: "Behold, a sower went out to sow.

4"And as he sowed, some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds came and devoured them.

5"Some fell on stony places, where they did not have much earth; and they immediately sprang up because they had no depth of earth.

6"But when the sun was up they were scorched, and because they had no root they withered away.

7"And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up and choked them.

8"But others fell on good ground and yielded a crop: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty.

9“He who has ears to hear, let him hear!”

The Purpose of Parables

(Mark 4:10–12; Luke 8:9, 10)

10And the disciples came and said to Him, “Why do You speak to them in parables?”

11He answered and said to them, “Because it has been given to you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it has not been given.

12“For whoever has, to him more will be given, and he will have abundance; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.

13“Therefore I speak to them in parables, because seeing they do not see, and hearing they do not hear, nor do they understand.

14“And in them the prophecy of Isaiah is fulfilled, which says:

> ‘Hearing you will hear and shall not understand,
> And seeing you will see and not perceive;
> 15*For the hearts of this people have grown dull.*
> Their ears are hard of hearing,
> And their eyes they have closed,
> Lest they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears,
> Lest they should understand with their hearts and turn,
> So that I should[a] heal them.’[b]

16“But blessed are your eyes for they see, and your ears for they hear;

17“for assuredly, I say to you that many prophets and righteous men desired to see what you see, and did not see it, and to hear what you hear, and did not hear it.

The Parable of the Sower Explained

18“Therefore hear the parable of the sower:

19“When anyone hears the word of the kingdom, and does not understand it, then the wicked one comes and snatches away what was sown in his heart. This is he who received seed by the wayside.

20“But he who received the seed on stony places, this is he who hears the word and immediately receives it with joy;

21"yet he has no root in himself, but endures only for a while. For when tribulation or persecution arises because of the word, immediately he stumbles.
22"Now he who received seed among the thorns is he who hears the word, and the cares of this world and the deceitfulness of riches choke the word, and he becomes unfruitful.
23"But he who received seed on the good ground is he who hears the word and understands it, who indeed bears fruit and produces: some a hundredfold, some sixty, some thirty."

The Parable of the Wheat and the Tares

24Another parable He put forth to them, saying: "The kingdom of heaven is like a man who sowed good seed in his field;
25"but while men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat and went his way.
26"But when the grain had sprouted and produced a crop, then the tares also appeared.
27"So the servants of the owner came and said to him, 'Sir, did you not sow good seed in your field? How then does it have tares?'
28"He said to them, 'An enemy has done this.' The servants said to him, 'Do you want us then to go and gather them up?'
29"But he said, 'No, lest while you gather up the tares you also uproot the wheat with them.
30'Let both grow together until the harvest, and at the time of harvest I will say to the reapers, "First gather together the tares and bind them in bundles to burn them, but gather the wheat into my barn." ' "

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

(Mark 4:30–32; Luke 13:18, 19)

31Another parable He put forth to them, saying: "The kingdom of heaven is like a mustard seed, which a man took and sowed in his field, 32"which indeed is the least of all the seeds; but when it is grown it is greater than the herbs and becomes a tree, so that the birds of the air come and nest in its branches."

The Parable of the Leaven

(Luke 13:20, 21)

33 Another parable He spoke to them: “The kingdom of heaven is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures[c] of meal till it was all leavened.”

Prophecy and the Parables

34 All these things Jesus spoke to the multitude in parables; and without a parable He did not speak to them, 35 that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

> “I will open My mouth in parables;
> I will utter things kept secret from the foundation of the > world.”[d]

The Parable of the Tares Explained

36 Then Jesus sent the multitude away and went into the house. And His disciples came to Him, saying, “Explain to us the parable of the tares of the field.”
37 He answered and said to them: “He who sows the good seed is the Son of Man.
38 “The field is the world, the good seeds are the sons of the kingdom, but the tares are the sons of the wicked one.
39 “The enemy who sowed them is the devil, the harvest is the end of the age, and the reapers are the angels.
40 “Therefore as the tares are gathered and burned in the fire, so it will be at the end of this age.
41 “The Son of Man will send out His angels, and they will gather out of His kingdom all things that offend, and those who practice lawlessness, 42 “and will cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth.
43 “Then the righteous will shine forth as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!

The Parable of the Hidden Treasure

44 “Again, the kingdom of heaven is like treasure hidden in a field, which a man found and hid; and for joy over it he goes and sells all that he has and buys that field.

The Parable of the Pearl of Great Price

45"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a merchant seeking beautiful pearls, 46"who, when he had found one pearl of great price, went and sold all that he had and bought it.

The Parable of the Dragnet

47"Again, the kingdom of heaven is like a dragnet that was cast into the sea and gathered some of every kind, 48"which, when it was full, they drew to shore; and they sat down and gathered the good into vessels, but threw the bad away.
49"So it will be at the end of the age. The angels will come forth, separate the wicked from among the just,
50"and cast them into the furnace of fire. There will be wailing and gnashing of teeth."
51Jesus said to them,[e] "Have you understood all these things?" They said to Him, "Yes, Lord."[f] 52Then He said to them, "Therefore every scribe instructed concerning[g] the kingdom of heaven is like a householder who brings out of his treasure things new and old."

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

(Mark 6:1–6; Luke 4:16–30)

53Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these parables, that He departed from there.
54When He had come to His own country, He taught them in their synagogue, so that they were astonished and said, "Where did this Man get this wisdom and these mighty works?
55"Is this not the carpenter's son? Is not His mother called Mary? And His brothers James, Joses,[h] Simon, and Judas?
56"And His sisters, are they not all with us? Where then did this Man get all these things?"
57So they were offended at Him. But Jesus said to them, "A prophet is not without honor except in his own country and in his own house."

58 Now He did not do many mighty works there because of their unbelief.

John the Baptist Beheaded

(Mark 6:14–29; Luke 9:7–9)

1 At that time Herod the tetrarch heard the report about Jesus
2 and said to his servants, “This is John the Baptist; he is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him.”
3 For Herod had laid hold of John and bound him, and put him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip’s wife.
4 Because John had said to him, “It is not lawful for you to have her.”
5 And although he wanted to put him to death, he feared the multitude, because they counted him as a prophet.
6 But when Herod’s birthday was celebrated, the daughter of Herodias danced before them and pleased Herod.
7 Therefore he promised with an oath to give her whatever she might ask.
8 So she, having been prompted by her mother, said, “Give me John the Baptist’s head here on a platter.”
9 And the king was sorry; nevertheless, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he commanded it to be given to her.
10 So he sent and had John beheaded in prison.
11 And his head was brought on a platter and given to the girl, and she brought it to her mother.
12 Then his disciples came and took away the body and buried it, and went and told Jesus.

Feeding the Five Thousand

(Mark 6:30–44; Luke 9:10–17; John 6:1–14)

13 When Jesus heard it, He departed from there by boat to a deserted place by Himself. But when the multitudes heard it, they followed Him on foot from the cities.
14 And when Jesus went out He saw a great multitude; and He was moved with compassion for them, and healed their sick.
15 When it was evening, His disciples came to Him, saying, “This is a deserted place, and the hour is already late. Send the multitudes away, that they may go into the villages and buy themselves food."

16 But Jesus said to them, "They do not need to go away. You give them something to eat."

17 And they said to Him, "We have here only five loaves and two fish."

18 He said, "Bring them here to Me."

19 Then He commanded the multitudes to sit down on the grass. And He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He blessed and broke and gave the loaves to the disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitudes.

20 So they all ate and were filled, and they took up twelve baskets full of the fragments that remained.

21 Now those who had eaten were about five thousand men, besides women and children.

Jesus Walks on the Sea

(Mark 6:45–52; John 6:15–21)

22 Immediately Jesus made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, while He sent the multitudes away.

23 And when He had sent the multitudes away, He went up on the mountain by Himself to pray. Now when evening came, He was alone there.

24 But the boat was now in the middle of the sea,[a] tossed by the waves, for the wind was contrary.

25 Now in the fourth watch of the night Jesus went to them, walking on the sea.

26 And when the disciples saw Him walking on the sea, they were troubled, saying, "It is a ghost!" And they cried out for fear.

27 But immediately Jesus spoke to them, saying, "Be of good cheer! It is I; do not be afraid."

28 And Peter answered Him and said, "Lord, if it is You, command me to come to You on the water."

29 So He said, "Come." And when Peter had come down out of the boat, he walked on the water to go to Jesus.

30 But when he saw that the wind was boisterous,[b] he was afraid; and beginning to sink he cried out, saying, "Lord, save me!"

31 And immediately Jesus stretched out His hand and caught him, and said to him, "O you of little faith, why did you doubt?"

32 And when they got into the boat, the wind ceased.
33 Then those who were in the boat came and[c] worshiped Him, saying, "Truly You are the Son of God."

Many Touch Him and Are Made Well
(Mark 6:53–56)

34 When they had crossed over, they came to the land of[d] Gennesaret.
35 And when the men of that place recognized Him, they sent out into all that surrounding region, brought to Him all who were sick, 36 and begged Him that they might only touch the hem of His garment. And as many as touched it were made perfectly well.

Matthew 15

Defilement Comes from Within
(Mark 7:1–23)

1 Then the scribes and Pharisees who were from Jerusalem came to Jesus, saying,
2 "Why do Your disciples transgress the tradition of the elders? For they do not wash their hands when they eat bread."
3 He answered and said to them, "Why do you also transgress the commandment of God because of your tradition?
4 "For God commanded, saying, 'Honor your father and your mother';[a] and, 'He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.'[b]
5 "But you say, 'Whoever says to his father or mother, "Whatever profit you might have received from me is a gift to God"—
6 'then he need not honor his father or mother.'[c] Thus you have made the commandment[d] of God of no effect by your tradition.
7 "Hypocrites! Well did Isaiah prophesy about you, saying:

> 8 'These people draw near to Me with their mouth,
> And[e] honor Me with their lips,
> But their heart is far from Me.
> 9 And in vain they worship Me,
> Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.' "[f]

10When He had called the multitude to Himself, He said to them, “Hear and understand:

11“Not what goes into the mouth defiles a man; but what comes out of the mouth, this defiles a man.”

12Then His disciples came and said to Him, “Do You know that the Pharisees were offended when they heard this saying?”

13But He answered and said, “Every plant which My heavenly Father has not planted will be uprooted.

14“Let them alone. They are blind leaders of the blind. And if the blind leads the blind, both will fall into a ditch.”

15Then Peter answered and said to Him, “Explain this parable to us.”

16So Jesus said, “Are you also still without understanding?

17“Do you not yet understand that whatever enters the mouth goes into the stomach and is eliminated?

18“But those things which proceed out of the mouth come from the heart, and they defile a man.

19“For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false witness, blasphemies.

20“These are the things which defile a man, but to eat with unwashed hands does not defile a man.”

A Gentile Shows Her Faith

21Then Jesus went out from there and departed to the region of Tyre and Sidon.

22And behold, a woman of Canaan came from that region and cried out to Him, saying, “Have mercy on me, O Lord, Son of David! My daughter is severely demon-possessed.”

23But He answered her not a word. And His disciples came and urged Him, saying, “Send her away, for she cries out after us.”

24But He answered and said, “I was not sent except to the lost sheep of the house of Israel.”

25Then she came and worshiped Him, saying, “Lord, help me!”

26But He answered and said, “It is not good to take the children’s bread and throw it to the little dogs.”

27And she said, “Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs eat the crumbs which fall from their masters’ table.”

28 Then Jesus answered and said to her, “O woman, great is your faith! Let it be to you as you desire.” And her daughter was healed from that very hour.

Jesus Heals Great Multitudes

(Mark 7:31–37)

29 Jesus departed from there, skirted the Sea of Galilee, and went up on the mountain and sat down there.
30 Then great multitudes came to Him, having with them the lame, blind, mute, maimed, and many others; and they laid them down at Jesus’ feet, and He healed them.
31 So the multitude marveled when they saw the mute speaking, the maimed made whole, the lame walking, and the blind seeing; and they glorified the God of Israel.

Feeding the Four Thousand

(Mark 8:1–10)

32 Now Jesus called His disciples to Himself and said, “I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat. And I do not want to send them away hungry, lest they faint on the way.”
33 Then His disciples said to Him, “Where could we get enough bread in the wilderness to fill such a great multitude?” 34 Jesus said to them, “How many loaves do you have?” And they said, “Seven, and a few little fish.”
35 So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground.
36 And He took the seven loaves and the fish and gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples; and the disciples gave to the multitude.
37 So they all ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets full of the fragments that were left.
38 Now those who ate were four thousand men, besides women and children.
39 And He sent away the multitude, got into the boat, and came to the region of Magdala.[g]

Matthew 16

The Pharisees and Sadducees Seek a Sign

(Mark 8:11–13; Luke 12:54–56)

1 Then the Pharisees and Sadducees came, and testing Him asked that He would show them a sign from heaven.
2 He answered and said to them, "When it is evening you say, 'It will be fair weather, for the sky is red'; 3 "and in the morning, 'It will be foul weather today, for the sky is red and threatening.' Hypocrites![a] You know how to discern the face of the sky, but you cannot discern the signs of the times.
4 "A wicked and adulterous generation seeks after a sign, and no sign shall be given to it except the sign of the prophet[b] Jonah." And He left them and departed.

The Leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees

(Mark 8:14–21)

5 Now when His disciples had come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread.
6 Then Jesus said to them, "Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the Sadducees." 7 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "It is because we have taken no bread."
8 But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, "O you of little faith, why do you reason among yourselves because you have brought no bread?[c] 9 "Do you not yet understand, or remember the five loaves of the five thousand and how many baskets you took up?
10 "Nor the seven loaves of the four thousand and how many large baskets you took up?
11 "How is it you do not understand that I did not speak to you concerning bread?—but to beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees." 12 Then they understood that He did not tell them to beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

(Mark 8:27–30; Luke 9:18–20)

13 When Jesus came into the region of Caesarea Philippi, He asked His disciples, saying, "Who do men say that I, the Son of Man, am?"

14So they said, “Some say John the Baptist, some Elijah, and others Jeremiah or one of the prophets.”

15He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?”

16Simon Peter answered and said, “You are the Christ, the Son of the living God.”

17Jesus answered and said to him, “Blessed are you, Simon Bar-Jonah, for flesh and blood has not revealed this to you, but My Father who is in heaven.

18“And I also say to you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build My church, and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it.

19“And I will give you the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed[d] in heaven.”

20Then He commanded His disciples that they should tell no one that He was Jesus the Christ.

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

21From that time Jesus began to show to His disciples that He must go to Jerusalem, and suffer many things from the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day.

22Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him, saying, “Far be it from You, Lord; this shall not happen to You!”

23But He turned and said to Peter, “Get behind Me, Satan! You are an offense to Me, for you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men.”

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

(Mark 8:34–38; Luke 9:23–26)

24Then Jesus said to His disciples, “If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me.

25“For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will find it.

26“For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?

27“For the Son of Man will come in the glory of His Father with His angels, and then He will reward each according to his works.

28“Assuredly, I say to you, there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the Son of Man coming in His kingdom."

Matthew 17

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

(Mark 9:1–13; Luke 9:27–36; 2 Pet. 1:16–18)

1 Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John his brother, led them up on a high mountain by themselves; 2 and He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light.
3 And behold, Moses and Elijah appeared to them, talking with Him.
4 Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, "Lord, it is good for us to be here;
if You wish, let us[a] make here three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah."
5 While he was still speaking, behold, a bright cloud overshadowed them;
and suddenly a voice came out of the cloud, saying, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Hear Him!"
6 And when the disciples heard it, they fell on their faces and were greatly afraid.
7 But Jesus came and touched them and said, "Arise, and do not be afraid."
8 When they had lifted up their eyes, they saw no one but Jesus only.
9 Now as they came down from the mountain, Jesus commanded them, saying, "Tell the vision to no one until the Son of Man is risen from the dead."
10 And His disciples asked Him, saying, "Why then do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?"
11 Jesus answered and said to them, "Indeed, Elijah is coming first[b] and will restore all things.
12 "But I say to you that Elijah has come already, and they did not know him but did to him whatever they wished. Likewise the Son of Man is also about to suffer at their hands."
13 Then the disciples understood that He spoke to them of John the Baptist.

A Boy Is Healed

(Mark 9:14–29; Luke 9:37–42)

14 And when they had come to the multitude, a man came to Him, kneeling down to Him and saying,

15 “Lord, have mercy on my son, for he is an epileptic[c] and suffers severely; for he often falls into the fire and often into the water.

16 “So I brought him to Your disciples, but they could not cure him.”

17 Then Jesus answered and said, “O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him here to Me.”

18 And Jesus rebuked the demon, and it came out of him; and the child was cured from that very hour.

19 Then the disciples came to Jesus privately and said, “Why could we not cast it out?”

20 So Jesus said to them, “Because of your unbelief;[d] for assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith as a mustard seed, you will say to this mountain, ‘Move from here to there,’ and it will move; and nothing will be impossible for you.

21 “However, this kind does not go out except by prayer and fasting.”[e]

Jesus Again Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Mark 9:30–32; Luke 9:43–45)

22 Now while they were staying[f] in Galilee, Jesus said to them, “The Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men, 23 “and they will kill Him, and the third day He will be raised up.” And they were exceedingly sorrowful.

Peter and His Master Pay Their Taxes

24 When they had come to Capernaum,[g] those who received the temple tax came to Peter and said, “Does your Teacher not pay the temple tax?”

25 He said, “Yes.” And when he had come into the house, Jesus anticipated him, saying, “What do you think, Simon? From whom do the kings of the earth take customs or taxes, from their sons or from strangers?”

26 Peter said to Him, “From strangers.” Jesus said to him, “Then the sons are free.

27 “Nevertheless, lest we offend them, go to the sea, cast in a hook, and take the fish that comes up first. And when you have opened its mouth, you will find a piece of money;[h] take that and give it to them for Me and you.” The Transfiguration

Matthew 18

Who Is the Greatest?

(Mark 9:33–37; Luke 9:46–48)

1 At that time the disciples came to Jesus, saying, “Who then is greatest in the kingdom of heaven?”
2 Then Jesus called a little child to Him, set him in the midst of them, 3 and said, “Assuredly, I say to you, unless you are converted and become as little children, you will by no means enter the kingdom of heaven.
4 “Therefore whoever humbles himself as this little child is the greatest in the kingdom of heaven.
5 “Whoever receives one little child like this in My name receives Me.

Jesus Warns of Offenses

(Mark 9:42–48; Luke 17:1, 2)

6 “But whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to sin, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were drowned in the depth of the sea.
7 “Woe to the world because of offenses! For offenses must come, but woe to that man by whom the offense comes!
8 “If your hand or foot causes you to sin, cut it off and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life lame or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet, to be cast into the everlasting fire.
9 “And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out and cast it from you. It is better for you to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire.

The Parable of the Lost Sheep

(Luke 15:1–7)

10 “Take heed that you do not despise one of these little ones, for I say to you that in heaven their angels always see the face of My Father who is in heaven.
11 “For the Son of Man has come to save that which was lost.[a] 12 “What do you think? If a man has a hundred sheep, and one of them goes astray, does he not leave the ninety-nine and go to the mountains to seek the one that is straying?

13 “And if he should find it, assuredly, I say to you, he rejoices more over that sheep than over the ninety-nine that did not go astray.
14 “Even so it is not the will of your Father who is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish.

Dealing with a Sinning Brother

15 “Moreover if your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone. If he hears you, you have gained your brother.
16 “But if he will not hear, take with you one or two more, that ‘by the mouth of two or three witnesses every word may be established.’[b] 17 “And if he refuses to hear them, tell it to the church. But if he refuses even to hear the church, let him be to you like a heathen and a tax collector.
18 “Assuredly, I say to you, whatever you bind on earth will be bound in heaven, and whatever you loose on earth will be loosed in heaven.
19 “Again I say[c] to you that if two of you agree on earth concerning anything that they ask, it will be done for them by My Father in heaven.
20 “For where two or three are gathered together in My name, I am there in the midst of them.”

The Parable of the Unforgiving Servant

21 Then Peter came to Him and said, “Lord, how often shall my brother sin against me, and I forgive him? Up to seven times?” 22 Jesus said to him, “I do not say to you, up to seven times, but up to seventy times seven.
23 “Therefore the kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who wanted to settle accounts with his servants.
24 “And when he had begun to settle accounts, one was brought to him who owed him ten thousand talents.
25 “But as he was not able to pay, his master commanded that he be sold, with his wife and children and all that he had, and that payment be made.
26 “The servant therefore fell down before him, saying, ‘Master, have patience with me, and I will pay you all.’ 27 “Then the master of that servant was moved with compassion, released him, and forgave him the debt.
28 “But that servant went out and found one of his fellow servants who owed him a hundred denarii; and he laid hands on him and took him by the throat, saying, ‘Pay me what you owe!’

29“So his fellow servant fell down at his feet[d] and begged him, saying, ‘Have patience with me, and I will pay you all.’[e] 30“And he would not, but went and threw him into prison till he should pay the debt.
31“So when his fellow servants saw what had been done, they were very grieved, and came and told their master all that had been done.
32“Then his master, after he had called him, said to him, ‘You wicked servant! I forgave you all that debt because you begged me.
33‘Should you not also have had compassion on your fellow servant, just as I had pity on you?’
34“And his master was angry, and delivered him to the torturers until he should pay all that was due to him.
35“So My heavenly Father also will do to you if each of you, from his heart, does not forgive his brother his trespasses.”[f]

Matthew 19

Marriage and Divorce
(Mark 10:1–12)

1Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished these sayings, that He departed from Galilee and came to the region of Judea beyond the Jordan.
2And great multitudes followed Him, and He healed them there.
3The Pharisees also came to Him, testing Him, and saying to Him, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife for just any reason?”
4And He answered and said to them, “Have you not read that He who made[a] them at the beginning ‘made them male and female,’[b]
5“and said, ‘For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh’?[c]
6“So then, they are no longer two but one flesh. Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate.”
7They said to Him, “Why then did Moses command to give a certificate of divorce, and to put her away?”
8He said to them, “Moses, because of the hardness of your hearts, permitted you to divorce your wives, but from the beginning it was not so.
9“And I say to you, whoever divorces his wife, except for sexual immorality,[d] and marries another, commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced commits adultery."

10 His disciples said to Him, "If such is the case of the man with his wife, it is better not to marry."

Jesus Teaches on Celibacy

11 But He said to them, "All cannot accept this saying, but only those to whom it has been given:

12 "For there are eunuchs who were born thus from their mother's womb, and there are eunuchs who were made eunuchs by men, and there are eunuchs who have made themselves eunuchs for the kingdom of heaven's sake. He who is able to accept it, let him accept it."

Jesus Blesses Little Children

(Mark 10:13–16; Luke 18:15–17)

13 Then little children were brought to Him that He might put His hands on them and pray, but the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Jesus said, "Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for of such is the kingdom of heaven."

15 And He laid His hands on them and departed from there.

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

(Mark 10:17–22; Luke 18:18–23)

16 Now behold, one came and said to Him, "Good[e] Teacher, what good thing shall I do that I may have eternal life?"

17 So He said to him, "Why do you call Me good?[f] No one is good but One, that is, God.[g] But if you want to enter into life, keep the commandments."

18 He said to Him, "Which ones?" Jesus said, " 'You shall not murder,' 'You shall not commit adultery,' 'You shall not steal,' 'You shall not bear false witness,'

19 'Honor your father and your mother,'[h] and, 'You shall love your neighbor as yourself.' "[i]

20 The young man said to Him, "All these things I have kept from my youth.[j] What do I still lack?"

21 Jesus said to him, "If you want to be perfect, go, sell what you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow

Me.”

22But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

With God All Things Are Possible

(Mark 10:23–31; Luke 18:24–30)

23Then Jesus said to His disciples, “Assuredly, I say to you that it is hard for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven.

24“And again I say to you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”

25When His disciples heard it, they were greatly astonished, saying, “Who then can be saved?”

26But Jesus looked at them and said to them, “With men this is impossible, but with God all things are possible.”

27Then Peter answered and said to Him, “See, we have left all and followed You. Therefore what shall we have?”

28So Jesus said to them, “Assuredly I say to you, that in the regeneration, when the Son of Man sits on the throne of His glory, you who have followed Me will also sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel.

29“And everyone who has left houses or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife[k] or children or lands, for My name’s sake, shall receive a hundredfold, and inherit eternal life.

30“But many who are first will be last, and the last first.

Matthew 20

The Parable of the Workers in the Vineyard

1“For the kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out early in the morning to hire laborers for his vineyard.

2“Now when he had agreed with the laborers for a denarius a day, he sent them into his vineyard.

3“And he went out about the third hour and saw others standing idle in the marketplace,

4“and said to them, ‘You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right I will give you.’ So they went.

5“Again he went out about the sixth and the ninth hour, and did likewise.

6“And about the eleventh hour he went out and found others standing idle,[a] and said to them, ‘Why have you been standing here idle all day?’

7“They said to him, ‘Because no one hired us.’ He said to them, ‘You also go into the vineyard, and whatever is right you will receive.’[b]

8“So when evening had come, the owner of the vineyard said to his steward, ‘Call the laborers and give them their wages, beginning with the last to the first.’

9“And when those came who were hired about the eleventh hour, they each received a denarius.

10“But when the first came, they supposed that they would receive more; and they likewise received each a denarius.

11“And when they had received it, they complained against the landowner,

12“saying, ‘These last men have worked only one hour, and you made them equal to us who have borne the burden and the heat of the day.’

13“But he answered one of them and said, ‘Friend, I am doing you no wrong. Did you not agree with me for a denarius?

14‘Take what is yours and go your way. I wish to give to this last man the same as to you.

15‘Is it not lawful for me to do what I wish with my own things? Or is your eye evil because I am good?’

16“So the last will be first, and the first last. For many are called, but few chosen.”[c]

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Mark 10:32–34; Luke 18:31–34)

17Now Jesus, going up to Jerusalem, took the twelve disciples aside on the road and said to them,

18“Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death,

19“and deliver Him to the Gentiles to mock and to scourge and to crucify. And the third day He will rise again.”

Greatness Is Serving

20Then the mother of Zebedee’s sons came to Him with her sons, kneeling down and asking something from Him.

21 And He said to her, “What do you wish?” She said to Him, “Grant that these two sons of mine may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on the left, in Your kingdom.”

22 But Jesus answered and said, “You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I am about to drink, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?”[d] They said to Him, “We are able.”

23 So He said to them, “You will indeed drink My cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with;[e] but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared by My Father.”

24 And when the ten heard it, they were greatly displeased with the two brothers.

25 But Jesus called them to Himself and said, “You know that the rulers of the Gentiles lord it over them, and those who are great exercise authority over them.

26 “Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you, let him be your servant.

27 “And whoever desires to be first among you, let him be your slave—

28 “just as the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many.”

Two Blind Men Receive Their Sight

(Mark 10:46–52; Luke 18:35–43)

29 Now as they went out of Jericho, a great multitude followed Him.

30 And behold, two blind men sitting by the road, when they heard that Jesus was passing by, cried out, saying, “Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!”

31 Then the multitude warned them that they should be quiet; but they cried out all the more, saying, “Have mercy on us, O Lord, Son of David!”

32 So Jesus stood still and called them, and said, “What do you want Me to do for you?”

33 They said to Him, “Lord, that our eyes may be opened.”

34 So Jesus had compassion and touched their eyes. And immediately their eyes received sight, and they followed Him.

Matthew 21

The Triumphal Entry

(Mark 11:1–10; Luke 19:28–40; John 12:12–19)

1 Now when they drew near Jerusalem, and came to Bethphage,[a] at the Mount of Olives, then Jesus sent two disciples, 2 saying to them, "Go into the village opposite you, and immediately you will find a donkey tied, and a colt with her. Loose them and bring them to Me.
3 "And if anyone says anything to you, you shall say, 'The Lord has need of them,' and immediately he will send them."
4 All[b] this was done that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet, saying:

> 5 "Tell the daughter of Zion,
> 'Behold, your King is coming to you,
> Lowly, and sitting on a donkey,
> A colt, the foal of a donkey.' "[c]

6 So the disciples went and did as Jesus commanded them.
7 They brought the donkey and the colt, laid their clothes on them, and set Him[d] on them.
8 And a very great multitude spread their clothes on the road; others cut down branches from the trees and spread them on the road.
9 Then the multitudes who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

> "Hosanna to the Son of David!
> 'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD*!*'[e] > Hosanna in the highest!"

10 And when He had come into Jerusalem, all the city was moved, saying,
"Who is this?"
11 So the multitudes said, "This is Jesus, the prophet from Nazareth of Galilee."

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Mark 11:15–19; Luke 19:45–48; John 2:13–22)

12 Then Jesus went into the temple of God[f] and drove out all those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who sold doves.

13And He said to them, “It is written, ‘My house shall be called a house of prayer,’[g] but you have made it a ‘den of thieves.’ ”[h]

14Then the blind and the lame came to Him in the temple, and He healed them.

15But when the chief priests and scribes saw the wonderful things that He did, and the children crying out in the temple and saying, “Hosanna to the Son of David!” they were indignant 16and said to Him, “Do You hear what these are saying?” And Jesus said to them, “Yes. Have you never read,

> ‘Out of the mouth of babes and nursing infants
> You have perfected praise’?”[i]

17Then He left them and went out of the city to Bethany, and He lodged there.

The Fig Tree Withered

(Mark 11:12–14)

18Now in the morning, as He returned to the city, He was hungry.

19And seeing a fig tree by the road, He came to it and found nothing on it but leaves, and said to it, “Let no fruit grow on you ever again.” Immediately the fig tree withered away.

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

20And when the disciples saw it, they marveled, saying, “How did the fig tree wither away so soon?”

21So Jesus answered and said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you, if you have faith and do not doubt, you will not only do what was done to the fig tree, but also if you say to this mountain, ‘Be removed and be cast into the sea,’ it will be done.

22“And whatever things you ask in prayer, believing, you will receive.”

Jesus’ Authority Questioned

[23]Now when He came into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people confronted Him as He was teaching, and said, “By what authority are You doing these things? And who gave You this authority?”

[24]But Jesus answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one thing, which if you tell Me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I do these things:

[25]“The baptism of John—where was it from? From heaven or from men?” And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say to us, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’

[26]“But if we say, ‘From men,’ we fear the multitude, for all count John as a prophet.”

[27]So they answered Jesus and said, “We do not know.” And He said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.

The Parable of the Two Sons

28“But what do you think? A man had two sons, and he came to the first and said, ‘Son, go, work today in my vineyard.’

[29]“He answered and said, ‘I will not,’ but afterward he regretted it and went.

[30]“Then he came to the second and said likewise. And he answered and said, ‘I go, sir,’ but he did not go.

[31]“Which of the two did the will of his father?” They said to Him, “The first.” Jesus said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you that tax collectors and harlots enter the kingdom of God before you.

[32]“For John came to you in the way of righteousness, and you did not believe him; but tax collectors and harlots believed him; and when you saw it, you did not afterward relent and believe him.

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

(Mark 12:1–12; Luke 20:9–19)

[33]“Hear another parable: There was a certain landowner who planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a winepress in it and built a tower. And he leased it to vinedressers and went into a far country.

[34]“Now when vintage-time drew near, he sent his servants to the vinedressers, that they might receive its fruit.

[35]“And the vinedressers took his servants, beat one, killed one, and stoned another.

36“Again he sent other servants, more than the first, and they did likewise to them.

37“Then last of all he sent his son to them, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’

38“But when the vinedressers saw the son, they said among themselves, ‘This is the heir. Come, let us kill him and seize his inheritance.’

39“So they took him and cast him out of the vineyard and killed him.

40“Therefore, when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those vinedressers?”

41They said to Him, “He will destroy those wicked men miserably, and lease his vineyard to other vinedressers who will render to him the fruits in their seasons.”

42Jesus said to them, “Have you never read in the Scriptures:

> ‘The stone which the builders rejected
> Has become the chief cornerstone.
> This was the LORD’s doing,
> And it is marvelous in our eyes’?[j]

43“Therefore I say to you, the kingdom of God will be taken from you and given to a nation bearing the fruits of it.

44“And whoever falls on this stone will be broken; but on whomever it falls, it will grind him to powder.”

45Now when the chief priests and Pharisees heard His parables, they perceived that He was speaking of them.

46But when they sought to lay hands on Him, they feared the multitudes, because they took Him for a prophet.

Matthew 22

The Parable of the Wedding Feast
(Luke 14:15–24)

1And Jesus answered and spoke to them again by parables and said:

2“The kingdom of heaven is like a certain king who arranged a marriage for his son,

3“and sent out his servants to call those who were invited to the wedding;

and they were not willing to come.

4"Again, he sent out other servants, saying, 'Tell those who are invited, "See, I have prepared my dinner; my oxen and fatted cattle are killed, and all things are ready. Come to the wedding." '

5"But they made light of it and went their ways, one to his own farm, another to his business.

6"And the rest seized his servants, treated them spitefully, and killed them.

7"But when the king heard about it, he was furious. And he sent out his armies, destroyed those murderers, and burned up their city.

8"Then he said to his servants, 'The wedding is ready, but those who were invited were not worthy.

9'Therefore go into the highways, and as many as you find, invite to the wedding.'

10"So those servants went out into the highways and gathered together all whom they found, both bad and good. And the wedding hall was filled with guests.

11"But when the king came in to see the guests, he saw a man there who did not have on a wedding garment.

12"So he said to him, 'Friend, how did you come in here without a wedding garment?' And he was speechless.

13"Then the king said to the servants, 'Bind him hand and foot, take him away, and[a] cast him into outer darkness; there will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.'

14"For many are called, but few are chosen."

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

(Mark 12:13–17; Luke 20:20–26)

15Then the Pharisees went and plotted how they might entangle Him in His talk.

16And they sent to Him their disciples with the Herodians, saying, "Teacher, we know that You are true, and teach the way of God in truth; nor do You care about anyone, for You do not regard the person of men.

17"Tell us, therefore, what do You think? Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?"

18But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, "Why do you test Me, you hypocrites?

19"Show Me the tax money." So they brought Him a denarius.

20 And He said to them, “Whose image and inscription is this?”

21 They said to Him, “Caesar’s.” And He said to them, “Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.”

22 When they had heard these words, they marveled, and left Him and went their way.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

(Mark 12:18–27; Luke 20:27–40)

23 The same day the Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to Him and asked Him, 24 saying: “Teacher, Moses said that if a man dies, having no children, his brother shall marry his wife and raise up offspring for his brother.

25 “Now there were with us seven brothers. The first died after he had married, and having no offspring, left his wife to his brother.

26 “Likewise the second also, and the third, even to the seventh.

27 “Last of all the woman died also.

28 “Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife of the seven will she be? For they all had her.”

29 Jesus answered and said to them, “You are mistaken, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God.

30 “For in the resurrection they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels of God[b] in heaven.

31 “But concerning the resurrection of the dead, have you not read what was spoken to you by God, saying,

32 ‘I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’?[c] God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.”

33 And when the multitudes heard this, they were astonished at His teaching.

The Scribes: Which Is the First Commandment of All?

(Mark 12:28–34; Luke 10:25–28)

34 But when the Pharisees heard that He had silenced the Sadducees, they gathered together.

35 Then one of them, a lawyer, asked Him a question, testing Him, and saying,

36 “Teacher, which is the great commandment in the law?”

37 Jesus said to him, “ ‘You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind.’[d] 38 “This is the first and great commandment.
39 “And the second is like it: ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’[e]
40 “On these two commandments hang all the Law and the Prophets.”

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

(Mark 12:35–37; Luke 20:41–44)

41 While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, 42 saying, “What do you think about the Christ? Whose Son is He?” They said to Him, “The Son of David.”
43 He said to them, “How then does David in the Spirit call Him ‘Lord,’ saying:

> 44 ‘The LORD said to my Lord,
> “Sit at My right hand,
> Till I make Your enemies Your footstool” ’?[f]

45 “If David then calls Him ‘Lord,’ how is He his Son?”
46 And no one was able to answer Him a word, nor from that day on did anyone dare question Him anymore.

Matthew 23

Woe to the Scribes and Pharisees

(Mark 12:38–40; Luke 20:45–47)

1 Then Jesus spoke to the multitudes and to His disciples,
2 saying: “The scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses’ seat.
3 “Therefore whatever they tell you to observe,[a] that observe and do, but do not do according to their works; for they say, and do not do.
4 “For they bind heavy burdens, hard to bear, and lay them on men’s shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers.
5 “But all their works they do to be seen by men. They make their phylacteries broad and enlarge the borders of their garments.
6 “They love the best places at feasts, the best seats in the synagogues, 7 “greetings in the marketplaces, and to be called by men, ‘Rabbi, Rabbi.’

[8]“But you, do not be called ‘Rabbi’; for One is your Teacher, the Christ,[b] and you are all brethren.

[9]“Do not call anyone on earth your father; for One is your Father, He who is in heaven.

[10]“And do not be called teachers; for One is your Teacher, the Christ.

[11]“But he who is greatest among you shall be your servant.

[12]“And whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.

[13]“But woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you shut up the kingdom of heaven against men; for you neither go in yourselves, nor do you allow those who are entering to go in.

[14]“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you devour widows’ houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. Therefore you will receive greater condemnation.[c]

[15]“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you travel land and sea to win one proselyte, and when he is won, you make him twice as much a son of hell as yourselves.

[16]“Woe to you, blind guides, who say, ‘Whoever swears by the temple, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gold of the temple, he is obliged to perform it.’

[17]“Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gold or the temple that sanctifies[d] the gold?

[18]“And, ‘Whoever swears by the altar, it is nothing; but whoever swears by the gift that is on it, he is obliged to perform it.’

[19]“Fools and blind! For which is greater, the gift or the altar that sanctifies the gift?

[20]“Therefore he who swears by the altar, swears by it and by all things on it.

[21]“He who swears by the temple, swears by it and by Him who dwells[e] in it.

[22]“And he who swears by heaven, swears by the throne of God and by Him who sits on it.

[23]“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have neglected the weightier matters of the law: justice and mercy and faith. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone.

[24]“Blind guides, who strain out a gnat and swallow a camel!

25“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you cleanse the outside of the cup and dish, but inside they are full of extortion and self-indulgence.[f] 26“Blind Pharisee, first cleanse the inside of the cup and dish, that the outside of them may be clean also.
27“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! For you are like whitewashed tombs which indeed appear beautiful outwardly, but inside are full of dead men’s bones and all uncleanness.
28“Even so you also outwardly appear righteous to men, but inside you are full of hypocrisy and lawlessness.
29“Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! Because you build the tombs of the prophets and adorn the monuments of the righteous, 30“and say, ‘If we had lived in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets.’ 31“Therefore you are witnesses against yourselves that you are sons of those who murdered the prophets.
32“Fill up, then, the measure of your fathers’ guilt.
33“Serpents, brood of vipers! How can you escape the condemnation of hell?
34“Therefore, indeed, I send you prophets, wise men, and scribes: some of them you will kill and crucify, and some of them you will scourge in your synagogues and persecute from city to city, 35“that on you may come all the righteous blood shed on the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel to the blood of Zechariah, son of Berechiah, whom you murdered between the temple and the altar.
36“Assuredly, I say to you, all these things will come upon this generation.

Jesus Laments over Jerusalem

(Luke 13:34, 35)

37“O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the one who kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her chicks under her wings, but you were not willing!
38“See! Your house is left to you desolate; 39“for I say to you, you shall see Me no more till you say, ‘Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!’ ”[g]

Matthew 24

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

(Mark 13:1, 2; Luke 21:5, 6)

1 Then Jesus went out and departed from the temple, and His disciples came up to show Him the buildings of the temple.
2 And Jesus said to them, “Do you not see all these things? Assuredly, I say to you, not one stone shall be left here upon another, that shall not be thrown down.”

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

(Mark 13:3–13; Luke 21:7–19)

3 Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives, the disciples came to Him privately, saying, “Tell us, when will these things be? And what will be the sign of Your coming, and of the end of the age?”
4 And Jesus answered and said to them: “Take heed that no one deceives
you.
5 “For many will come in My name, saying, ‘I am the Christ,’ and will deceive many.
6 “And you will hear of wars and rumors of wars. See that you are not troubled; for all[a] these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet.
7 “For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be famines, pestilences,[b] and earthquakes in various places.
8 “All these are the beginning of sorrows.
9 “Then they will deliver you up to tribulation and kill you, and you will be hated by all nations for My name’s sake.
10 “And then many will be offended, will betray one another, and will hate one another.
11 “Then many false prophets will rise up and deceive many.
12 “And because lawlessness will abound, the love of many will grow cold.
13 “But he who endures to the end shall be saved.
14 “And this gospel of the kingdom will be preached in all the world as a witness to all the nations, and then the end will come.

The Great Tribulation

15 "Therefore when you see the 'abomination of desolation,'[c] spoken of by Daniel the prophet, standing in the holy place" (whoever reads, let him understand),
16 "then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains.
17 "Let him who is on the housetop not go down to take anything out of his house.
18 "And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes.
19 "But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days!
20 "And pray that your flight may not be in winter or on the Sabbath.
21 "For then there will be great tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the world until this time, no, nor ever shall be.
22 "And unless those days were shortened, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect's sake those days will be shortened.
23 "Then if anyone says to you, 'Look, here is the Christ!' or 'There!' do not believe it.
24 "For false christs and false prophets will rise and show great signs and wonders to deceive, if possible, even the elect.
25 "See, I have told you beforehand.
26 "Therefore if they say to you, 'Look, He is in the desert!' do not go out;
or 'Look, He is in the inner rooms!' do not believe it.
27 "For as the lightning comes from the east and flashes to the west, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be.
28 "For wherever the carcass is, there the eagles will be gathered together.

The Coming of the Son of Man

(Mark 13:24–27; Luke 21:25–28)

29 "Immediately after the tribulation of those days the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light; the stars will fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens will be shaken.
30 "Then the sign of the Son of Man will appear in heaven, and then all the tribes of the earth will mourn, and they will see the Son of Man coming on the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.
31 "And He will send His angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they will gather together His elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other.

The Parable of the Fig Tree

(Mark 13:28–31; Luke 21:29–33)

32"Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near.
33"So you also, when you see all these things, know that it[d] is near—at the doors!
34"Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place.
35"Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.

No One Knows the Day or Hour

(Mark 13:32–37; Luke 17:26, 27, 34, 35; 21:34–36)

36"But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels of heaven,[e] but My Father only.
37"But as the days of Noah were, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be.
38"For as in the days before the flood, they were eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark, 39"and did not know until the flood came and took them all away, so also will the coming of the Son of Man be.
40"Then two men will be in the field: one will be taken and the other left.
41"Two women will be grinding at the mill: one will be taken and the other left.
42"Watch therefore, for you do not know what hour[f] your Lord is coming.
43"But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched and not allowed his house to be broken into.
44"Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

(Luke 12:41–48)

45"Who then is a faithful and wise servant, whom his master made ruler over his household, to give them food in due season?
46"Blessed is that servant whom his master, when he comes, will find so doing.

47“Assuredly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all his goods.
48“But if that evil servant says in his heart, ‘My master is delaying his coming,’[g] 49“and begins to beat his fellow servants, and to eat and drink with the drunkards, 50“the master of that servant will come on a day when he is not looking for him and at an hour that he is not aware of,
51“and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the hypocrites. There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

Matthew 25

The Parable of the Wise and Foolish Virgins

1“Then the kingdom of heaven shall be likened to ten virgins who took their lamps and went out to meet the bridegroom.
2“Now five of them were wise, and five were foolish.
3“Those who were foolish took their lamps and took no oil with them,
4“but the wise took oil in their vessels with their lamps.
5“But while the bridegroom was delayed, they all slumbered and slept.
6“And at midnight a cry was heard: ‘Behold, the bridegroom is coming;[a] go out to meet him!’
7“Then all those virgins arose and trimmed their lamps.
8“And the foolish said to the wise, ‘Give us some of your oil, for our lamps are going out.’
9“But the wise answered, saying, ‘No, lest there should not be enough for us and you; but go rather to those who sell, and buy for yourselves.’
10“And while they went to buy, the bridegroom came, and those who were ready went in with him to the wedding; and the door was shut.
11“Afterward the other virgins came also, saying, ‘Lord, Lord, open to us!’
12“But he answered and said, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, I do not know you.’
13“Watch therefore, for you know neither the day nor the hour[b] in which the Son of Man is coming.

The Parable of the Talents
(Luke 19:11–27)

14 “For the kingdom of heaven is like a man traveling to a far country, who called his own servants and delivered his goods to them.

15 “And to one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one, to each according to his own ability; and immediately he went on a journey.

16 “Then he who had received the five talents went and traded with them, and made another five talents.

17 “And likewise he who had received two gained two more also.

18 “But he who had received one went and dug in the ground, and hid his lord’s money.

19 “After a long time the lord of those servants came and settled accounts with them.

20 “So he who had received five talents came and brought five other talents, saying, ‘Lord, you delivered to me five talents; look, I have gained five more talents besides them.’

21 “His lord said to him, ‘Well done, good and faithful servant; you were faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into the joy of your lord.’

22 “He also who had received two talents came and said, ‘Lord, you delivered to me two talents; look, I have gained two more talents besides them.’

23 “His lord said to him, ‘Well done, good and faithful servant; you have been faithful over a few things, I will make you ruler over many things. Enter into the joy of your lord.’

24 “Then he who had received the one talent came and said, ‘Lord, I knew you to be a hard man, reaping where you have not sown, and gathering where you have not scattered seed.

25 ‘And I was afraid, and went and hid your talent in the ground. Look, there you have what is yours.’

26 “But his lord answered and said to him, ‘You wicked and lazy servant, you knew that I reap where I have not sown, and gather where I have not scattered seed.

27 ‘So you ought to have deposited my money with the bankers, and at my coming I would have received back my own with interest.

28 ‘Therefore take the talent from him, and give it to him who has ten talents.

29 ‘For to everyone who has, more will be given, and he will have abundance; but from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away.

30‘And cast the unprofitable servant into the outer darkness. There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth.’

The Son of Man Will Judge the Nations

31“When the Son of Man comes in His glory, and all the holy[c] angels with Him, then He will sit on the throne of His glory.
32“All the nations will be gathered before Him, and He will separate them one from another, as a shepherd divides his sheep from the goats.
33“And He will set the sheep on His right hand, but the goats on the left.
34“Then the King will say to those on His right hand, ‘Come, you blessed of My Father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:
35‘for I was hungry and you gave Me food; I was thirsty and you gave Me drink; I was a stranger and you took Me in;
36‘I was naked and you clothed Me; I was sick and you visited Me; I was in prison and you came to Me.’
37“Then the righteous will answer Him, saying, ‘Lord, when did we see You hungry and feed You, or thirsty and give You drink?
38‘When did we see You a stranger and take You in, or naked and clothe You?
39‘Or when did we see You sick, or in prison, and come to You?’
40“And the King will answer and say to them, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did it to one of the least of these My brethren, you did it to Me.’
41“Then He will also say to those on the left hand, ‘Depart from Me, you cursed, into the everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels:
42‘for I was hungry and you gave Me no food; I was thirsty and you gave Me no drink;
43‘I was a stranger and you did not take Me in, naked and you did not clothe Me, sick and in prison and you did not visit Me.’
44“Then they also will answer Him,[d] saying, ‘Lord, when did we see You hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or sick or in prison, and did not minister to You?’
45“Then He will answer them, saying, ‘Assuredly, I say to you, inasmuch as you did not do it to one of the least of these, you did not do it to Me.’
46“And these will go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous into eternal life.”

Matthew 26

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Mark 14:1, 2; Luke 22:1, 2; John 11:45–53)

1 Now it came to pass, when Jesus had finished all these sayings, that He said to His disciples,

2 “You know that after two days is the Passover, and the Son of Man will be delivered up to be crucified.”

3 Then the chief priests, the scribes,[a] and the elders of the people assembled at the palace of the high priest, who was called Caiaphas,

4 and plotted to take Jesus by trickery and kill Him.

5 But they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar among the people.”

The Anointing at Bethany

(Mark 14:3–9; John 12:1–8)

6 And when Jesus was in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper,

7 a woman came to Him having an alabaster flask of very costly fragrant oil, and she poured it on His head as He sat at the table.

8 But when His disciples saw it, they were indignant, saying, “Why this waste?

9 “For this fragrant oil might have been sold for much and given to the poor.”

10 But when Jesus was aware of it, He said to them, “Why do you trouble the woman? For she has done a good work for Me.

11 “For you have the poor with you always, but Me you do not have always.

12 “For in pouring this fragrant oil on My body, she did it for My burial.

13 “Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her.”

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

(Mark 14:10, 11; Luke 22:3–6)

14 Then one of the twelve, called Judas Iscariot, went to the chief priests

15and said, “What are you willing to give me if I deliver Him to you?” And they counted out to him thirty pieces of silver.

16So from that time he sought opportunity to betray Him.

Jesus Celebrates Passover with His Disciples

(Mark 14:12–21; Luke 22:7–13)

17Now on the first day of the Feast of Unleavened Bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying to Him, “Where do You want us to prepare for You to eat the Passover?”

18And He said, “Go into the city to a certain man, and say to him, ‘The Teacher says, “My time is at hand; I will keep the Passover at your house with My disciples.” ’ ”

19So the disciples did as Jesus had directed them; and they prepared the Passover.

20When evening had come, He sat down with the twelve.

21Now as they were eating, He said, “Assuredly, I say to you, one of you will betray Me.”

22And they were exceedingly sorrowful, and each of them began to say to Him, “Lord, is it I?”

23He answered and said, “He who dipped his hand with Me in the dish will betray Me.

24“The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had not been born.”

25Then Judas, who was betraying Him, answered and said, “Rabbi, is it I?” He said to him, “You have said it.”

Jesus Institutes the Lord’s Supper

(Mark 14:22–26; Luke 22:14–23; 1 Cor. 11:23–26)

26And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed[b] and broke it, and gave it to the disciples and said, “Take, eat; this is My body.”

27Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, “Drink from it, all of you.

28“For this is My blood of the new[c] covenant, which is shed for many for the remission of sins.

29“But I say to you, I will not drink of this fruit of the vine from now on until that day when I drink it new with you in My Father’s kingdom.”

30 And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

31 Then Jesus said to them, "All of you will be made to stumble because of Me this night, for it is written:

> 'I will strike the Shepherd,
> And the sheep of the flock will be scattered.'[d]

32 "But after I have been raised, I will go before you to Galilee."
33 Peter answered and said to Him, "Even if all are made to stumble because of You, I will never be made to stumble." 34 Jesus said to him, "Assuredly, I say to you that this night, before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times."
35 Peter said to Him, "Even if I have to die with You, I will not deny You!"
And so said all the disciples.

The Prayer in the Garden

(Mark 14:32–42; Luke 22:39–46)

36 Then Jesus came with them to a place called Gethsemane, and said to the disciples, "Sit here while I go and pray over there." 37 And He took with Him Peter and the two sons of Zebedee, and He began to be sorrowful and deeply distressed.
38 Then He said to them, "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death.
Stay here and watch with Me."
39 He went a little farther and fell on His face, and prayed, saying, "O My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from Me; nevertheless, not as I will, but as You will."
40 Then He came to the disciples and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, "What? Could you not watch with Me one hour?
41 "Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak." 42 Again, a second time, He went away and prayed, saying, "O My Father, if this cup cannot pass away from Me unless[e] I drink it, Your will be done."
43 And He came and found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy.
44 So He left them, went away again, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45Then He came to His disciples and said to them, “Are you still sleeping and resting? Behold, the hour is at hand, and the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners.

46“Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand.”

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

47And while He was still speaking, behold, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and elders of the people.

48Now His betrayer had given them a sign, saying, “Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him.”

49Immediately he went up to Jesus and said, “Greetings, Rabbi!” and kissed Him.

50But Jesus said to him, “Friend, why have you come?” Then they came and laid hands on Jesus and took Him.

51And suddenly, one of those who were with Jesus stretched out his hand and drew his sword, struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.

52But Jesus said to him, “Put your sword in its place, for all who take the sword will perish[f] by the sword.

53“Or do you think that I cannot now pray to My Father, and He will provide Me with more than twelve legions of angels?

54“How then could the Scriptures be fulfilled, that it must happen thus?”

55In that hour Jesus said to the multitudes, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me? I sat daily with you, teaching in the temple, and you did not seize Me.

56“But all this was done that the Scriptures of the prophets might be fulfilled.” Then all the disciples forsook Him and fled.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

57And those who had laid hold of Jesus led Him away to Caiaphas the high priest, where the scribes and the elders were assembled.

58But Peter followed Him at a distance to the high priest’s courtyard. And he went in and sat with the servants to see the end.

59Now the chief priests, the elders,[g] and all the council sought false testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, 60but found none. Even though many false witnesses came forward, they found none.[h] But at last two false witnesses[i] came forward 61and said, “This fellow said, ‘I am able to destroy the temple of God and to build it in three days.’ ”

62And the high priest arose and said to Him, “Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?”
63But Jesus kept silent. And the high priest answered and said to Him, “I put You under oath by the living God: Tell us if You are the Christ, the Son of God!”
64Jesus said to him, “It is as you said. Nevertheless, I say to you, hereafter you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming on the clouds of heaven.”
65Then the high priest tore his clothes, saying, “He has spoken blasphemy! What further need do we have of witnesses? Look, now you have heard His blasphemy!
66“What do you think?” They answered and said, “He is deserving of death.”
67Then they spat in His face and beat Him; and others struck Him with the palms of their hands, 68saying, “Prophesy to us, Christ! Who is the one who struck You?”

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps Bitterly

(Mark 14:66–72; Luke 22:54–62; John 18:15–18, 25–27)

69Now Peter sat outside in the courtyard. And a servant girl came to him, saying, “You also were with Jesus of Galilee.”
70But he denied it before them all, saying, “I do not know what you are saying.”
71And when he had gone out to the gateway, another girl saw him and said to those who were there, “This fellow also was with Jesus of Nazareth.”
72But again he denied with an oath, “I do not know the Man!”
73And a little later those who stood by came up and said to Peter, “Surely you also are one of them, for your speech betrays you.”
74Then he began to curse and swear, saying, “I do not know the Man!” Immediately a rooster crowed.
75And Peter remembered the word of Jesus who had said to him, “Before the rooster crows, you will deny Me three times.” So he went out and wept bitterly.

Matthew 27

Jesus Handed Over to Pontius Pilate

(Mark 15:1; Luke 23:1; John 18:28)

1 When morning came, all the chief priests and elders of the people plotted against Jesus to put Him to death.
2 And when they had bound Him, they led Him away and delivered Him to Pontius[a] Pilate the governor.

Judas Hangs Himself

(Acts 1:18, 19)

3 Then Judas, His betrayer, seeing that He had been condemned, was remorseful and brought back the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders,
4 saying, "I have sinned by betraying innocent blood." And they said,
"What is that to us? You see to it!"
5 Then he threw down the pieces of silver in the temple and departed, and went and hanged himself.
6 But the chief priests took the silver pieces and said, "It is not lawful to put them into the treasury, because they are the price of blood."
7 And they consulted together and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in.
8 Therefore that field has been called the Field of Blood to this day.
9 Then was fulfilled what was spoken by Jeremiah the prophet, saying,
"And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the value of Him who was priced, whom they of the children of Israel priced, 10 "and gave them for the potter's field, as the LORD directed me."[b]

Jesus Faces Pilate

(Mark 15:2–5; Luke 23:2–5; John 18:29–38)

11 Now Jesus stood before the governor. And the governor asked Him, saying, "Are You the King of the Jews?" Jesus said to him, "It is as you say." 12 And while He was being accused by the chief priests and elders, He answered nothing.

13 Then Pilate said to Him, “Do You not hear how many things they testify against You?”
14 But He answered him not one word, so that the governor marveled greatly.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

(Mark 15:6–15; Luke 23:13–25; John 18:39, 40)

15 Now at the feast the governor was accustomed to releasing to the multitude one prisoner whom they wished.
16 And at that time they had a notorious prisoner called Barabbas.[c] 17 Therefore, when they had gathered together, Pilate said to them, “Whom do you want me to release to you? Barabbas, or Jesus who is called Christ?”
18 For he knew that they had handed Him over because of envy.
19 While he was sitting on the judgment seat, his wife sent to him, saying,
“Have nothing to do with that just Man, for I have suffered many things today in a dream because of Him.” 20 But the chief priests and elders persuaded the multitudes that they should ask for Barabbas and destroy Jesus.
21 The governor answered and said to them, “Which of the two do you want me to release to you?” They said, “Barabbas!” 22 Pilate said to them, “What then shall I do with Jesus who is called Christ?” They all said to him, “Let Him be crucified!”
23 Then the governor said, “Why, what evil has He done?” But they cried out all the more, saying, “Let Him be crucified!” 24 When Pilate saw that he could not prevail at all, but rather that a tumult was rising, he took water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, “I am innocent of the blood of this just Person.[d] You see to it.”
25 And all the people answered and said, “His blood be on us and on our children.”
26 Then he released Barabbas to them; and when he had scourged Jesus, he delivered Him to be crucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

(Mark 15:16–20)

27 Then the soldiers of the governor took Jesus into the Praetorium and gathered the whole garrison around Him.
28 And they stripped Him and put a scarlet robe on Him.

[29]When they had twisted a crown of thorns, they put it on His head, and a reed in His right hand. And they bowed the knee before Him and mocked Him, saying, “Hail, King of the Jews!”

[30]Then they spat on Him, and took the reed and struck Him on the head.

[31]And when they had mocked Him, they took the robe off Him, put His own clothes on Him, and led Him away to be crucified.

The King on a Cross

(Mark 15:21–32; Luke 23:26–43; John 19:17–27)

[32]Now as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, Simon by name. Him they compelled to bear His cross.

[33]And when they had come to a place called Golgotha, that is to say, Place of a Skull, [34]they gave Him sour[e] wine mingled with gall to drink. But when He had tasted it, He would not drink.

[35]Then they crucified Him, and divided His garments, casting lots,[f] that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the prophet:

> “They divided My garments among them,
> And for My clothing they cast lots.”[g]

[36]Sitting down, they kept watch over Him there.

[37]And they put up over His head the accusation written against Him:

THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

[38]Then two robbers were crucified with Him, one on the right and another on the left.

[39]And those who passed by blasphemed Him, wagging their heads

[40]and saying, “You who destroy the temple and build it in three days, save Yourself! If You are the Son of God, come down from the cross.”

[41]Likewise the chief priests also, mocking with the scribes and elders,[h] said,

[42]“He saved others; Himself He cannot save. If He is the King of Israel,[i] let Him now come down from the cross, and we will believe Him.[j]

[43]“He trusted in God; let Him deliver Him now if He will have Him; for He said, ‘I am the Son of God.’ ”

44 Even the robbers who were crucified with Him reviled Him with the same thing.

Jesus Dies on the Cross

45 Now from the sixth hour until the ninth hour there was darkness over all the land.

46 And about the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, "Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani?" that is, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?"[k]

47 Some of those who stood there, when they heard that, said, "This Man is calling for Elijah!"

48 Immediately one of them ran and took a sponge, filled it with sour wine and put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink.

49 The rest said, "Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to save Him."

50 And Jesus cried out again with a loud voice, and yielded up His spirit.

51 Then, behold, the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom; and the earth quaked, and the rocks were split,

52 and the graves were opened; and many bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised;

53 and coming out of the graves after His resurrection, they went into the holy city and appeared to many.

54 So when the centurion and those with him, who were guarding Jesus, saw the earthquake and the things that had happened, they feared greatly, saying, "Truly this was the Son of God!"

55 And many women who followed Jesus from Galilee, ministering to Him, were there looking on from afar, 56 among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James and Joses,[l] and the mother of Zebedee's sons.

Jesus Buried in Joseph's Tomb

57 Now when evening had come, there came a rich man from Arimathea, named Joseph, who himself had also become a disciple of Jesus.

58 This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be given to him.

59When Joseph had taken the body, he wrapped it in a clean linen cloth, 60and laid it in his new tomb which he had hewn out of the rock; and he rolled a large stone against the door of the tomb, and departed.
61And Mary Magdalene was there, and the other Mary, sitting opposite the tomb.

Pilate Sets a Guard

62On the next day, which followed the Day of Preparation, the chief priests and Pharisees gathered together to Pilate, 63saying, “Sir, we remember, while He was still alive, how that deceiver said, ‘After three days I will rise.’
64“Therefore command that the tomb be made secure until the third day, lest His disciples come by night[m] and steal Him away, and say to the people, ‘He has risen from the dead.’ So the last deception will be worse than the first.”
65Pilate said to them, “You have a guard; go your way, make it as secure as you know how.”
66So they went and made the tomb secure, sealing the stone and setting the guard.

Matthew 28

He Is Risen

(Mark 16:1–8; Luke 24:1–12; John 20:1–10)

1Now after the Sabbath, as the first day of the week began to dawn, Mary Magdalene and the other Mary came to see the tomb.
2And behold, there was a great earthquake; for an angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door,[a] and sat on it.
3His countenance was like lightning, and his clothing as white as snow.
4And the guards shook for fear of him, and became like dead men.
5But the angel answered and said to the women, “Do not be afraid, for I know that you seek Jesus who was crucified.
6“He is not here; for He is risen, as He said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

7 “And go quickly and tell His disciples that He is risen from the dead, and indeed He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him. Behold, I have told you.”
8 So they went out quickly from the tomb with fear and great joy, and ran to bring His disciples word.

The Women Worship the Risen Lord

9 And as they went to tell His disciples,[b] behold, Jesus met them, saying, “Rejoice!” So they came and held Him by the feet and worshiped Him.
10 Then Jesus said to them, “Do not be afraid. Go and tell My brethren to go to Galilee, and there they will see Me.”

The Soldiers Are Bribed

11 Now while they were going, behold, some of the guard came into the city and reported to the chief priests all the things that had happened.
12 When they had assembled with the elders and consulted together, they gave a large sum of money to the soldiers, 13 saying, “Tell them, ‘His disciples came at night and stole Him away while we slept.’
14 “And if this comes to the governor’s ears, we will appease him and make you secure.”
15 So they took the money and did as they were instructed; and this saying is commonly reported among the Jews until this day.

The Great Commission

(Mark 16:14–18; Luke 24:36–49; John 20:19–23; Acts 1:6–8)

16 Then the eleven disciples went away into Galilee, to the mountain which Jesus had appointed for them.
17 When they saw Him, they worshiped Him; but some doubted.
18 And Jesus came and spoke to them, saying, “All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth.
19 “Go therefore[c] and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, 20 “teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo,
I am with you always, even to the end of the age.” Amen.[d]

Annotations for Matthew

1:1 Jesus means "O Lord, save," referring to His role as Savior (v. 21). Christ means "Anointed One," the Messiah, the One who is filled with the Holy Spirit (see Jn 1:33). Though the Son alone became Man, God the Father and the Holy Spirit work in Jesus Christ to save us.

Jesus became Man as a Jew, from the lineage of Abraham, the father of all Jews, and of David, Israel's greatest king and the prototype of the royal Messiah. This genealogy reveals that the Son of God so identifies with the human condition that He takes it all on Himself and becomes part of it. Christ's ancestry includes both righteous and wicked people, faithful kings and murderers, Jews and Gentiles, kings and peasants.

1:1–25 This passage is read on the Sunday before Christmas, called the Sunday of the Holy Fathers.

1:2 While Luke's genealogy runs from Jesus back to Adam (Lk 3:23–38), Matthew's list descends from Abraham, with whom God established the Old Covenant of circumcision, to Jesus, the author of the New Covenant. God promised to bless all the tribes of the earth in Abraham (Gn 12:3; 28:14); this promise is fulfilled in Abraham's greatest Son, Jesus Christ.

1:3 Jewish genealogical lists normally included only men. The mention of women (Tamar, Rahab, Ruth, and Bathsheba) is unusual. Each one was either a Gentile or a sinner. The inclusion of these women declares God's graciousness and prefigures the calling of Gentiles into the Church. It also underscores the role of women in God's plan of salvation and anticipates the special place of the Virgin Mary in that plan.

1:6 Through anointing by Samuel, David was made king. Through his psalms, David was revealed as a great prophet. Thus, David foreshadows both the royal and the prophetic nature of Jesus Christ (Ps 109). As an adulterer and a murderer, David also functions as a type for all repentant sinners.

1:16 Joseph can be named as Jesus' immediate predecessor since OT marriage laws confer hereditary rights on adopted as well as biological sons. The church fathers teach, Mary also was descended from David; of whom is feminine in Greek, referring only to Mary. Thus, Jesus is shown to be born of Mary, and not begotten of Joseph. (See also note on Lk 3:23–38.)

1:17 Christ's ancestors are arranged in three groups of fourteen generations. Fourteen is the numerical equivalent of the consonants in the name David, underlining Jesus' descent from David. This also shows the division of the leadership of the Jews, being under judges until David, under kings until Babylon, and under priests until Christ.

1:19 The righteousness of Joseph consisted of a mercy that transcends the Law (Hos 6:6). Joseph showed this mercy by his unwillingness to expose Mary's supposed sin, even though he was obliged by the Law to do so. Her husband: The Bible calls engaged couples husband and wife before their marriage (Rachel was called the wife of Jacob before marriage by virtue of their engagement in Gn 29:21; see also Dt 22:23, 24). Thus, Joseph is called the husband of Mary, and Mary is called his wife (vv. 20, 24). In the Church, Joseph is remembered as the Betrothed, pointing out Mary's ever-virginity. (See also note on Est 2:7.)

1:20 An angel (or "messenger") of the Lord dispels Joseph's false reasoning by announcing the utterly unreasonable: the pregnancy of the Virgin is by the Holy Spirit. Being born of a virgin proves Christ's divinity; only a revelation by God could serve as adequate evidence of this miracle.

1:22 Matthew repeatedly uses the formula that it might be fulfilled which was spoken (see 2:15, 23; 4:14; 8:17; 12:17; 13:35; 21:4; 26:56; 27:35). This underscores the intervention of God throughout history, demonstrates the continuity between the Old and New Covenants, and indicates the beginning of the new creation.

1:23 The conception of Jesus fulfills Is 7:14, where we are told that a virgin would conceive and bear a Son. He who is conceived in Mary is not a new Person coming into existence but the eternal Son of God now using her womb as His throne. Both the virginal conception by means of the Holy Spirit and the name Immanuel, God with us declare Christ's divinity.

1:25 The use of the word till does not imply that Joseph had marital relations with Mary after the Savior's birth. In the Bible, this word (sometimes translated "to") is often used to express a situation that actually continues after the event mentioned (see 28:20; Gn 8:7; Dt 34:6; 2Kg 6:23). The witness of the entire Church throughout history is that Mary remained a virgin for life. Firstborn: See note on Lk 2:7.

2:1 Herod: See note on Lk 1:5. The wise men, or magi, who come from the East (most likely Persia), were the scholars of their time. In the OT, Balaam (Nm 23; 24) was one of their predecessors, a Gentile who anticipated the Messiah. These foreigners prefigure the Church, in which membership is determined by faith and not by ethnic lineage.

2:1–12 This passage is read on December 25, the Feast of the Nativity of Our Lord Jesus Christ (Christmas).

2:2 The star proclaims the extraordinary birth of Christ. To ancient pagans, a star signified a god, a deified king (Nm 24:17). Christ being born under this star fulfills the prophecy in Ps 109:3 and shows all of creation participating in the Incarnation. (See also Pss 18:2; 148:3.)

2:4 Herod had to summon the Jewish leaders because he knew little about the Jewish Messiah and he feared losing his throne to this newborn King. The chief priests were the political and religious leaders of the Jews, and the scribes were high cabinet officers. They knew where the Messiah was to be born, but in spite of all the signs being in place, they had no idea that He had come (see 16:3).

2:11 Into the house: Whereas the Jewish shepherds worshiped the Savior in the cave on the day He was born (Lk 2:8–20), the Gentile magi came to worship Him some time later. By then, Joseph and Mary had found a house in which to dwell. This indicates that Christ first came to the Jews and then afterward was worshiped by the Gentiles. The significance of the Magi's gifts is revealed in a hymn sung at Compline of the Nativity: "Gold is for the King of ages. Frankincense is for the God of all. Myrrh is offered to the Immortal One, who shall be three days dead."

2:13–23 This passage is read on December 26, the Synaxis of the Theotokos.

2:14 Egypt is where Israel once took refuge; as Joseph of the OT once saved God's people by bringing them to Egypt (Gn 39–47), now Christ's stepfather Joseph finds safety for the Savior in Egypt. It is probable that the gifts of the magi paid for this journey.

2:15 Out of Egypt I called my Son refers first to Israel being brought out of captivity (Hos 11:1). In the OT, "son" can refer to the whole nation of Israel. Here Jesus fulfills this calling as the true Son of God by coming out of Egypt.

2:16 The cruelty of Herod was prefigured by Pharaoh, who, in an attempt to destroy the power of Israel, commanded the death of all the newborn Jewish boys (Ex 1:16, 22).

2:17, 18 Jeremiah recorded the people of Jerusalem being led away to exile (Jer 38:15). On their way to captivity, they passed Ramah, which was near Bethlehem, where Jacob's wife Rachel lay buried. In his prophecy, Jeremiah saw Rachel, even from the grave, moved with compassion for the fate that had befallen her descendants. Here Rachel is again weeping for her children, showing that the saints in heaven have awareness and compassion for those yet on earth. These slaughtered children are regarded as saints and martyrs in the Church and are known as the Holy Innocents. Just as Rachel was told that her children would return from exile in Babylon (Jer 38:16, 17), so Jesus will return from His exile in Egypt.

2:19 According to historical records, Herod the Great died in 4 BC. The date of Christ's birth on which our current AD (Anno Domini, Latin for "year of the Lord") calendar is based is off by four years.

2:22 Augustus Caesar banished Archelaus for his cruelty in AD 6. This cruelty was revealed as a warning to Joseph; hence the detour to Nazareth (v. 23). This town was in Galilee and was governed by another son of Herod the Great, whose name was Herod Antipas (see Lk 3:1).

2:23 The prophecy here cannot be exactly identified. It has been taken as a reference to the rod (Heb. neser) in Is 11:1, and to the Nazirite (Heb. Nazir) of Jdg 13:5. Matthew may also have been alluding to passages in which the Messiah was despised, since Nazareth did not have a good reputation (Jn 1:46).

3:1–3 The wilderness of Judea is the barren region descending from Jerusalem to the Dead Sea. The preparation for the Savior's ministry begins with John the Baptist's call to repent. Repentance, which accompanies faith, is a total about-face. The word in Greek literally means to change one's mind, or more generally, to turn around. Repentance is a radical change of one's spirit, mind, thought, and heart, a complete reorientation of the whole of one's life. It is the necessary first step in the way of the LORD. It is accompanied by the confession of sins and the act of baptism (v. 6), and is followed by a life filled with fruits worthy of this change (v. 8).

3:4 John's ascetic life conformed to that of the Jewish sects such as the Essenes, who lived in the wilderness and whose purpose was to prepare for the coming Kingdom of God. John's clothing was typical of a prophet (4Kg 1:8). The monastic movement in the early Church was patterned after John's manner of life.

3:6 The confession of sins is essential to baptism under both the Old Covenant and the New. John's baptism, however, was a sign of repentance and the forgiveness of sins only. It did not confer the power of total regeneration nor adoption as a child of God as does Christian baptism (v. 11).

3:7 Sadducees were members of the high-priestly and landowning class who controlled the temple and the internal political affairs of the Jews. They denied the resurrection of the dead and had no messianic hope beyond this life. The Pharisees formed a lay religious movement centered on the study of the Law and on strict observance of its regulations. They believed in the resurrection of the dead and cherished a messianic hope, but taught that righteousness is attained on the strength of one's works according to the Law, and that the Messiah would be merely a glorious man. John's title for them, brood of vipers, is later used by Jesus (12:34; 23:33). It indicates their deception and malice and their being under the influence of Satan.

3:8 Repentance, confession, and baptism lead to fruits worthy of repentance, a way of life consistent with the Kingdom of God (see Gal 5:22–25). If a fruitful life does not follow, sacramental acts and spiritual discipline are useless. Thus in many icons of the Baptism of Christ, an ax is pictured chopping a fruitless tree (v. 10).

3:9 The warning that from these stones (Heb. 'ebanim) God can raise up children (Heb. banim) is a play on words. God will not admit fruitless children into His house, but adopts other children from the Gentiles.

3:10 See note at 3:8. Fire here refers to divine judgment (see Is 33:11; 66:24; Ezk 38:22; 39:6; 2Th 1:6–9). See also fire in v. 11.

3:11 Christ baptizes in the fire of the Holy Spirit, the power and grace of God divinely poured out on all believers at baptism. (See also fire in v. 10; note at Lk 3:16, 17.)

In John's culture, a slave would carry the king's sandals; thus John declares himself to be even lower than a slave of Jesus. John's inability to carry Christ's sandal has a second meaning, for carrying another's sandal once meant taking someone else's responsibility (Ru 4:7). Here it shows that John could not have carried the responsibility that Christ carries, and that the Law could not redeem the world as Christ has come to do.

3:12 Winnowing the threshed grain from the chaff is a metaphor for the divine judgment, which will separate good from evil.

3:13–17 This passage is read on January 6, the Feast of the Baptism of Our Lord Jesus Christ (Theophany).

3:15 Jesus does not need purification. By making the purification of humanity His own, He would wash away humanity's sin, grant regeneration, and reveal the mystery of the Holy Trinity. Thus, His baptism was necessary for the fulfillment of God's righteous plan of salvation. "Jesus enters the filthy, sinful waters of the world and when He comes out, brings up and purifies the entire world with Him" (GrgNy; see also note on Lk 3:21).

3:16 The Spirit of God hovered over the water at the first creation (Gn 1:2). Now, the Holy Spirit comes in the form of a dove to anoint the Messiah, the Son of God, at the beginning of the new creation. Jesus does not become the Son of God this day; rather, He is revealed to all as the Son of God on this day. The Holy Spirit has always rested on Him. The feast day of Epiphany (a manifestation or revelation) or Theophany (a manifestation of God), celebrated on January 6, commemorates this day and points to the age to come.

3:17 This quotation is from Ps 2:7, "You are My Son, / Today I have begotten You." Note how the Baptism of Jesus reveals the great mystery of the Trinity: the Father speaks; the Holy Spirit descends; the Incarnate Son is baptized.

4:1 To be tempted is to be tested in fundamental areas of faith. As in Mark, the Spirit leads, or "throws,"

Jesus into the wilderness after His Baptism to be tested by a struggle with the devil. We who are baptized in Christ need not be defeated by temptations because we too are aided by the Holy Spirit. The wilderness is a battleground, an image of the world, both the dwelling place of demons and a source of divine tranquility and victory.

4:2–10 Jesus reverses Israel's falling to temptation in the wilderness. The Israelites were tested forty years in the wilderness and proved disobedient and disloyal. God humbled them by first letting them go hungry and then feeding them with manna to help them learn to be dependent on Him (Dt 8:2–5). Here, Jesus is tested with hunger for forty days, but He does not sin. His answers to Satan are from Deuteronomy, and all call for loyalty to God.

Jesus fasted to overcome temptation, giving us an example of our own power and limitations in the face of temptation. The hunger of His flesh does not control Him; rather, He controls His flesh. Our Lord's fast of forty days is the foundation of the Church's forty-day Lenten fast before Holy Week and of the fast before Christmas.

4:3 The devil challenges Christ's relationship to the Father. If You are the Son of God calls into question the Father's declaration at Christ's Baptism (3:17). The devil wants Jesus to act independently and to detach Himself from the will of the Father. In His divine nature, Christ shares one will with the Father and the Holy Spirit; He can do nothing of Himself (Jn 5:30), apart from the Father. But in His humanity, He possesses free will and at all times must choose to remain obedient to the divine will of the Father.

4:4 By rejecting the first temptation, Jesus rejects an earthly kingdom and shows us not to pursue earthly comfort in the "food which perishes" (Jn 6:27). While Adam disregarded the divine word in order to pursue the passions of the body (Gn 3), the New Adam—Christ— conquers all temptation by the divine word, giving human nature the power to conquer Satan.

4:5 The holy city is Jerusalem.

4:6 Seeing that Christ had defeated him through the power of the Scriptures, Satan vainly tries to use the Scriptures to put God's power of protection to the test. (See also 2Pt 1:19–21.)

4:7 Trials and temptations come on their own; we should never intentionally expose ourselves to danger in order to test or prove God's protection. To do so is to tempt the LORD.

4:8–10 God's Kingdom is not one of earthly power and possessions. In the devil's test, Jesus was being asked to choose worldly power over the Kingdom of God. The devil is the "ruler of this world" (Jn 12:31), "the god of this age" (2Co 4:4), because the whole world is in his power (1Jn 5:19). Jesus refuses the road of earthly glory, which would lead Him away from His suffering and death for the redemption of the world.

4:15 The term Galilee of the Gentiles indicates that many non-Jews lived in the region. Having a mixed population, it was not considered a genuinely Jewish land, even though many Gentile residents had converted to Judaism during the Maccabean period. Because many of the Jews there had been influenced by the Greek culture and its customs, they were generally considered second-class citizens by the Jews of Judea.

4:16 Darkness means ungodliness. Here it represents the Gentiles' unawareness of God and the Jews being under the shadow of the Old Covenant. To sit in darkness means to be overcome by spiritual ignorance. The great light is the gospel of Jesus Christ.

4:17 Christ's first word, like that of John the Baptist, is "Repent." (See note on 3:1–3.) The kingdom of heaven is present wherever Christ is.

4:18–22 These first disciples had already heard the preaching of John the Baptist and were prepared to accept Christ immediately. Though illiterate and unlearned in religion, these "people of the land" whom Jesus calls will be revealed at Pentecost to be the wisest of all.

4:23–25 Note that the crowds do not swarm Jesus when He commands repentance (v. 17), but only when He begins to heal and work miracles. This fact shows that the people misunderstand the true nature of His Kingdom. It also shows Christ's concession "to give credibility to what He teaches" among the fickle multitudes (Theoph).

5:1, 2 In the OT, only a select few were chosen to hear God directly (see Ex 19:3–13). Here, God Incarnate speaks to the multitudes face to face. The mountain is a place where divine action enters human history, the place where God reveals Himself to man (17:1; Gn 22:2; Ex 3:1; 19:2; 3Kg 18:20). Seated is the traditional Jewish position for teaching with authority. Some early Christian preachers (for example, St. John Chrysostom) sat while the people stood. Matthew mentioning that Jesus opened his mouth emphasizes this teaching is "one-way," that Jesus has come to speak with authority (7:29), and the disciples are there not to discuss or debate, but to listen.

5:3 Blessed in this context indicates heavenly, spiritual exaltation rather than earthly happiness or prosperity. In Hebrew, "poor" means both (1) the materially poor and (2) the faithful among God's people. The poor in spirit are those who have the heart of the poor, the same attitude as the poor, and are totally dependent on God.

5:4 Those who mourn sorrow over the sufferings of this life (9:23), the sufferings of others (Jn 11:35), the state of the world (Lk 19:41), and their own sins (Lk 7:36–38). All of these are comforted by the power of God both in this world and in the age to come. Holy sorrow is part of repentance, conversion, and virtuous action, and is the firstfruit of infinite joy. It is to be distinguished from ungodly sorrow, a sadness that leads to despair (see 2Co 7:10).

5:5 Meekness is an attitude of being content with both honor and dishonor. It is an imitation of Christ, who said, "Learn from Me, for I am gentle [meek] and lowly in heart" (11:29). The meek are God-controlled and have mastery over their passions, especially anger. Meekness is not passive weakness, but strength directed and under control. The earth that the meek will inherit is not power or possession in this world, but the new earth, which is everlasting (Rev 21:1).

5:6 Those who hunger and thirst for righteousness see the presence of God and His Kingdom as the most important thing in life. They have a desperate craving for what is right before God, comparable to a starving person's craving for food (see 6:33).

5:7 Mercy is love set in motion, expressed in action. God's mercy in taking our sufferings on Himself in order to grant us His Kingdom sets us free from captivity to the evil one. In view of God's mercy to all, we in turn are to be merciful to all.

5:8 "Pure" means unmixed with anything else. The pure in heart are completely devoted to the worship and service of God and accept no compromises. With the aid of the Holy Spirit, those who achieve purity practice all virtue, have no conscious evil in themselves, and live in temperance. This level of spirituality is attained by few, but all may strive for it. When the soul's only desire is God, and a person's will holds to this desire, then that person will indeed see God everywhere.

5:9 Being the source of peace, Christ found no price sufficient for peace other than shedding His own blood. In doing so, Christ reveals Himself to us as the Reconciler, the Prince of peace (Is 9:6; Eph 2:14–16). The Holy Spirit gives peace to those who imitate Christ. Thus, peacemakers share God's peace with those around them, imitating Christ's sacrificial love and participating in His work. By God's grace, peacemakers become sons of God themselves.

5:10 Children of God uphold truth, refuse to compromise with the ways of the world, and give themselves to no other (6:24, 33; see 1Co 6:19, 20). Like Jesus, these will be persecuted for righteousness' sake (see Jn 15:18–20). Christ's kingdom is the crown awaiting the righteous.

5:13–16 Salt and light illustrate the role of disciples in society. Because of its preservative powers, its necessity for life, and its ability to give flavor, salt had religious and sacrificial significance (Lv 2:13; see also Nm 18:19; 2Ch 13:5). To eat salt with someone meant to be bound together in loyalty. As the salt of the earth, Christians are preservers of God's covenant and give true flavor to the world.

God is the true and uncreated Light. In the OT light is symbolic of God (Is 60:1–3), the divine Law (Ps 118:105), and Israel in contrast to all other nations. In the NT, the Son of God is called "light" (Jn 1:4–9; 8:12; 1Jn 1:5). Light is necessary both for clear vision and for life itself. Faith relies on this divine light, and believers become "sons of light" (Jn 12:36; 1Th 5:5) who shine in a perverse world (Php 2:15). In many parishes, the Pascha (Easter) Liturgy begins with a candle being presented and the invitation to "come receive the Light which is never overtaken by night."

5:14–19 This passage is read on days commemorating holy hierarchs.

5:16 Christian virtues have both a personal and a public function, for our virtue can bring others to glorify the Father.

5:17 Jesus fulfills the Law in Himself, in His words, and in His actions by: (1) performing God's will in all its fullness (3:15); (2) transgressing none of the precepts of the Law (Jn 8:46; 14:30); (3) declaring the perfect fulfillment of the Law, which He was about to deliver to them; (4) granting righteousness—the goal of the Law—to us (Rom 3:31; 8:3, 4; 10:4). He fulfills the Prophets by both being and carrying out what they foretold.

5:18 Assuredly (Gr. amen) means "truly," or "confirmed," or "so be it." Jesus uses it as a solemn affirmation, a form of oath. Christ's use of this word at the beginning of certain proclamations (rather than at the end) is unique and authoritative: He declares His words affirmed before they are even spoken.

Ajot (Gr. iota) is the smallest letter in the Greek alphabet; a tittle is the smallest stroke in certain Hebrew letters. Thus, the whole of the Law is affirmed as the foundation of Christ's new teaching. All is fulfilled refers to the Passion and Resurrection of Christ.

5:19 Righteousness according to the Law is a unified whole. The observance of all the least commandments is to observe the whole Law, while the violation of the least commandment is considered a violation of the whole Law.

5:20 Righteousness that leads to salvation must exceed that of the Pharisees because theirs was an outward, works-based righteousness. The righteousness of salvation is the communion of the heart, soul, mind, and body in Jesus Christ. (See notes on Rom 1:17; 3:26.)

5:21, 22 The repeated formula but I say to you is a statement of total, divine authority (7:29). As the Creator of man and the Author of the Law, Christ can speak with this authority. While there is anger which is not sinful (Ps 4:5; Mk 3:5), here Jesus forbids sinful anger, identifying it with murder. The council is the supreme legal body among the Jews. Hell (Gr. Gehenna; see 10:28 and note) is the final condition of sinners who resist God's grace.

5:23, 24 Peace with other believers is a requirement for worship (Mk 11:25). The liturgical "kiss of peace" at the beginning of the eucharistic prayer is a sign of reconciliation and forgiveness, preparing the faithful to offer the holy gifts at the altar (1Co 16:20; 1Pt 5:14).

5:25, 26 Luke places this teaching in the context of the end of the age (Lk 12:57–59); here it is in the context of reconciliation surrounding the Liturgy. Delay in reconciliation allows for the spread of animosity and other evils (Eph 4:26, 27).

5:27, 28 The issue here is not the God-given mutual attraction of men and women, but the selfish promptings of lust. Sin does not come out of nature, but out of the distortion of nature for self-indulgence. Thoughts that enter the mind involuntarily are not sins, but temptations. They become sins only when they are held and entertained.

5:29 This imagery is not to be taken literally, but refers to decisive action to avoid sin and to continue in purity. (See note for 18:8.)

5:31, 32 In contrast to the easy access to divorce under the Mosaic Law, and because of the misuse of divorce in that day, Jesus repeatedly condemns divorce (19:8, 9) and emphasizes the eternal nature of marriage. The possibility of divorce on the grounds of sexual immorality shows that marriage can be destroyed by sin. While recognizing divorce as a serious sin, the Orthodox Church allows divorce and a second marriage as a concession to human weakness and as a corrective measure of compassion when a marriage has been broken. A third marriage is permitted only under specific, limited circumstances, and a fourth marriage is never permitted.

5:34–37 Trust cannot be secured by swearing an oath by things that are not in man's possession anyway, but only by simple integrity.

5:39–42 In contrast to the OT (Ex 21:24; Lv 24:20; Dt 19:21), Jesus warns us not to resist violence with more violence. Evil can only be overcome by good, which keeps us free from compromise with the devil and can bring our enemy under the yoke of God's love. A saint of the desert once found his hut being looted of its paltry possessions, and he knelt in the corner praying for the bandits. When they left, the monk realized they had not taken his walking stick. This monk pursued them for many days until he was able to give them the stick as well. Seeing his humility, the bandits returned everything to him and were converted to Jesus Christ.

5:44–47 Freed from hate, sadness, and anger, we are able to receive the greatest virtue: perfect love. The love of enemies is not merely an emotion, but includes decision and action. It is to treat and see our enemies as the closest members of our own family. (See 1Jn 4:7–21.)

5:48 The summary statement of all that has preceded. The Christian can indeed grow in the perfection of the Father (Eph 4:13; see also the article, "Deification," at 2Pt 1), which is shown by imitating His love and mercy (compare Lk 6:36).

The Sermon on the Mount

In the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5–7), Jesus introduces the kind of life those who seek the Kingdom of God must lead. His homily could properly be called, "The Righteousness of the Kingdom." It can be divided into several sections.

1. The Beatitudes (5:1–16). The sermon begins with the Beatitudes (the "blessings"), which describe the joys of true discipleship, the blessed way of life. The people of God await the rewards Jesus promises in this section.
2. The new covenant (5:17–48). Then, as the Son of God whose authority is greater than that of Moses, Christ proclaims the new law, the righteousness leading toward perfection, to which the Mosaic Law and the prophets pointed. Jesus reveals the deeper meaning of several Old Testament laws, broadening their implications.
   (a) "You shall not murder" is expanded beyond the command against physically killing another (5:21–26). Murder now includes anger, calling someone a fool, and failure to be reconciled with a friend or adversary.
   (b) "You shall not commit adultery" (5:27) no longer refers only to the unlawful act of sex outside marriage. It now includes lust.
   (c) Divorce was allowable under the Old Testament law. But under the new covenant, divorce is permissible only because of sexual immorality, and remarriage to a divorced person is not permitted (5:31, 32).
   (d) "Perform your oaths to the Lord" is the Old Testament law. Jesus instructs us to say "yes" or "no" without taking an oath, and to keep our word (5:33–37).
   (e) "An eye for an eye"—a graphic way of seeing justice from a human perspective—becomes "turn the other [cheek]" and "love your enemies." Not only must we forsake vengeance, even when it is just retribution; we must treat others as God treats us, with mercy and grace (5:38–45).
3. Spiritual disciplines (6:1–7:12). Jesus assumes we will follow three disciplines that help us attain true righteousness (6:1–18) and true wisdom (6:19–7:12). These disciplines are a vital part of Christian tradition.
   (a) Giving alms, or doing charitable deeds for the poor, should be done secretly, before God and not before men (6:1–4).
   (b) Prayer should follow the model of the Lord's Prayer, which Jesus here reveals to His Church (6:5–15).
   (c) Fasting should likewise be done to please God, not men (6:16–18).

These disciplines help us find true wisdom, which consists of (1) the love of God and pursuit of His righteousness by bringing our treasure (6:19–26) as alms to God, and our worries (6:22–7:34) in prayer and fasting to Him; and (2) the love of human beings and pursuit of righteous reconciliation with them by submitting our judgments of them (7:1–6) to God's severe mercy. For these difficult tasks we need divine discernment and guidance, which God provides to those who follow Jesus' spiritual rule (7:7–12). Thus, our natural impulses are redirected toward their proper goal: the righteousness of God in His Kingdom (6:33).

4. Exhortations to righteousness (7:13–29). Jesus concludes with exhortations to true righteousness, warnings about hypocritical and deceitful professions of righteousness, and instructions to build on the rock of His teachings.

6:1 In this chapter, Jesus presents the three most basic aspects of spiritual living: (1) charitable giving (vv. 1–4), (2) prayer (vv. 5–15), and (3) fasting (vv. 16–18). These three disciplines relate directly to God's righteousness.

6:2 The original meaning of "hypocrite" was "actor." Hypocrites are play-actors practicing piety for show, desiring to please men rather than God. Wearing masks of compassion, inwardly they are heartless. Their reward is the applause of men and nothing more.

6:3, 4 God is not impressed with what others think of us, nor by what we think of ourselves. God will reward good deeds when they are based on pure motives of the heart.

6:5–8 The hypocrites miss the spirit of prayer, which is an intimate, personal communion with God that leads to the vision of His glory (1Co 2:9). Hypocrisy blocks out this communion and this vision. Vain repetitions cannot establish this communion, for God does not need our "babble." To partake of this communion, both silence and words are necessary. Therefore, we pray always (Lk 18:1) and without ceasing (1Th 5:17).

Christ does not condemn the use of many words per se, but teaches that words must express the desire for communion with God. Jesus gives us specific words to repeat (vv. 9–13). It is not repetition itself that is condemned, but vain repetition. Many psalms, prayers, and hymns of the Church have been repeated for countless generations in the worship of God "in spirit and truth" (Jn 4:23).

True prayer is not telling God what He already knows and then telling Him what to do about it, nor is it appearing pious in front of others. True prayer is (1) humble (go into your room, v. 6), (2) personal (pray to your Father, v. 6), and (3) sincere (do not use vain repetitions, v. 7).

6:9 The Father-Son relationship within the Trinity reveals our potential relationship with God. Christ, the Son of God, grants us the privilege of calling God Our Father by the grace of adoption (Gal 4:4–7). As a "son of God," the Christian is called to love, trust, and serve God as Christ does the Father. We must note that God is not our Father simply because He created us. He is only Father to those in a saving and personal relationship with Him, a communion that only comes by the grace of adoption (see Jn 1:13; Rom 8:14–16).

6:11 Daily is a misleading translation of the Greek epiousios, which is literally "above the essence," or "supersubstantial." The expression daily bread indicates not merely bread for this day, for earthly nourishment; it is the bread for the eternal day of the Kingdom of God, for the nourishment of our immortal soul. This living, supersubstantial bread is Christ Himself. In the Lord's Prayer, then, we are not asking merely for material bread for physical health, but for the spiritual bread of eternal life (Jn 6:27–58).

6:12 The request to be forgiven is plural, directing us to pray always for the forgiveness of others. The term debts refers to spiritual debts (see 18:21–35; also note on v. 14).

6:13 God tempts no one to sin (Jam 1:13); temptations are from the evil one, the devil. Temptations are aimed at the soul's giving in to the sinful passions of the flesh (Rom 7:5). No one lives without encountering temptations, but we pray that great temptations, tests beyond what we can bear (1Co 10:13), should not come to us.

6:14, 15 Jesus insists on mutual forgiveness between people as a precondition of God's forgiveness. Those who do not forgive are not forgiven—period. This teaching is repeated in the parable of the unforgiving servant (18:21–35), which concludes with the same teaching. To not forgive others is to willfully flee from the forgiveness of God for ourselves.

6:14–21 This passage is read on the Sunday before Great Lent, called Cheese Fare Sunday or Forgiveness Sunday.

6:16–18 Keeping a sad countenance to show off one's fasting is mere external display. Jesus rejects such hypocrisy. For the one who fasts, the compassion of God outshines the physical discomfort. During the fasting seasons of the Church, the hymns call the faithful to wash and anoint their faces (thus, there is no "Ash Wednesday" in the Orthodox Church). Fasting is for spiritual growth and the glory of God, not to be seen by those around us.

Fasting also is not merely abstinence from food, but consists of self-denial in all areas of life in order to escape the control of the passions. On the eve of Great Lent, we sing, "Let us abstain from passions as we abstain from food." St. John Chrysostom writes, "What good is it if we abstain from eating birds and fish, but bite and devour our brothers?"

6:19–21 By attaching themselves to treasures on earth, people cut themselves off from heavenly treasures. They become slaves to earthly things rather than free in Christ. The heart of discipleship lies in (1) disentangling ourselves from the chains of earthly things, and (2) attaching ourselves to God, the true treasure (v. 21).

6:22, 23 The mind (Gr. nous) is the spiritual eye of the soul; it illuminates the inner man and governs the will. Keeping the mind wholesome and pure is fundamental to the Christian life.

6:24 As slaves serving two masters, people attempt to maintain an attachment to both earthly and heavenly things. But this is impossible, since both demand full allegiance. Jesus calls mammon ("riches") a master not because wealth is evil by nature, but because of the control it has over people.

6:25–27 Jesus is warning against anxiety, not against thoughtful planning. Our physical well-being is directly dependent on God, and only indirectly on food, drink, and clothing. Anxiety over earthly things demonstrates a lack of faith in God's care.

6:32 Because the Gentiles served pagan idols, they remained consumed by dependence on earthly things. Those who follow God can be freed from this dependence.

6:33 The kingdom of God is the central theme of Jesus' teaching, and His righteousness is the subject of the Sermon on the Mount. Calling us to be free from anxiety about earthly things, Jesus directs us to look to heaven, secure in the faith that God will provide needed earthly blessings.

7:2 We will be judged with our own level of judgment because we are guilty of the very things we judge in others (Rom 2:1). We ourselves have failed in repentance and in fleeing from sin. To pass judgment is to assume God's authority. The second part of this verse is found in Mk 4:24 and in Lk 6:38, each in a different context, as Jesus no doubt repeated this particular message many times.

7:6 Dogs and swine refer to heathen peoples (Php 3:2; Rev 22:15), but would also include Jews who do not practice virtue. According to the Fathers, dogs are those so immersed in evil that they show no hope of change, while swine are those who habitually live immoral and impure lives. The pearls are the inner mysteries of the Christian faith, including Christ's teachings (13:46) and the great sacraments. These holy things are restricted from the immoral and unrepentant, not to protect the holy things themselves, for Christ needs no protection. Rather, we protect the faithless people from the condemnation that would result from holding God's mysteries in contempt (see note on Lk 23:8, 9).

7:7–11 The verbs ask, seek, and knock are present progressives: "be asking," "be seeking," "be knocking." Note the synergy: our effort is commanded, but never apart from the immediate help of God. We ask in prayer; seek by learning God's truth; and knock by doing God's will.

7:11 Man is called evil not to condemn the whole race, but to contrast the imperfect goodness that is in people (that is, our goodness is mingled with sin) with the perfect goodness of God (see 19:16, 17). If imperfect and even wicked people can do some good, all the more will God work perfect good.

7:12 The "Golden Rule" fulfills the demands of the Law and the Prophets and is a practical application of the commandment to love one's neighbor as oneself (22:39, 40). It is a first step in spiritual growth. The negative form of the Golden Rule ("Don't do to others what you don't want them to do to you") was well known in Judaism. Jesus' form is positive: this is the action that begins to draw us toward God (see note at Lk 6:31).

7:12–21 This passage is read on days commemorating holy monks.

7:13, 14 The description of the two ways was widespread in Judaism (Dt 30:15–20; Ps 1; Pr 4:17, 18; 12:28; 15:23; WSir 15:17) and in early Christian writings (Didache, Barnabas). Luke's version (Lk 13:24–30) is more eschatological, referring to the end of the age. Because we wrestle against sins and human weaknesses as well as spiritual forces of evil (Eph 6:12), entering the Kingdom is the more difficult way.

7:15 Because they can easily deceive others, those who put on a show of virtue or religion are more dangerous than those who are evil outright. Thus, we must be all the more cautious among those who are outwardly virtuous.

7:19 John the Baptist made the same statement in 3:10.

7:21, 22 A threefold testimony of the deity of Christ: (1) He calls Himself Lord—which refers to the divine name "Yahweh" of the OT; (2) He speaks of the will of My Father, which He fully knows and shares; (3) as judge, Christ is revealed as God, for only God can execute true judgment. In that day refers to the final judgment.

7:24–27 See note on Lk 6:46–49.

8:1–4 The biblical law concerning leprosy is found in Lv 13; 14. Dt 24:8 describes the purification of lepers and leprous houses, which was a duty entrusted to the priests. Leprosy was considered a direct punishment for sins, and as lepers were unclean, they were not permitted to live in the community or to worship in synagogues or the temple. Touching the unclean was forbidden (Lv 7:21), yet Jesus touched the leper, showing His compassion, and showing that He is not subject to the Law but over it. To the clean, nothing is unclean. (See also note at Lk 5:14.)

8:5 A centurion (a Gentile) commanded 100 men in a Roman legion. Jesus is the Savior of all, and in Him ethnic distinctions are void.

8:7 I will come has been read as a question by many Greek scholars: "Shall I come?" Regardless, Jesus is ready to deal graciously with this Gentile and even to enter his house, which would make Him unclean in the eyes of the Jews.

8:8, 9 The centurion expresses unusual faith in calling Jesus, who is a Jew, Lord. The statement, "Lord, I am not worthy that You should come under my roof," is frequently quoted in liturgical texts as an ideal expression of humility.

8:10 Twice in the gospels it is said of Jesus that He marveled: (1) at the unbelief in His hometown of Nazareth (Mk 6:6), and (2) at the belief of this foreigner.

8:11, 12 Here Jesus nullifies any ideas of ethnic superiority. The rejected sons of the kingdom are both the Jews who deny Christ and those raised in the Church who do not live their faith; outer darkness and weeping and gnashing are descriptions of the state of the unrighteous dead in Sheol (Hades) in the Jewish tradition (Enoch 103:8). They are common expressions in Matthew (13:42, 50; 22:13; 24:51; 25:30), and also occur in Luke (Lk 13:28).

8:14–17 This passage and 1Co 9:5 (where Peter is called Cephas) indicate Peter was married. Our Lord's healing miracles are diverse. In this case, He heals by touch; in v. 13, He healed by a word. This healing is immediate and complete; others are gradual (Mk 8:22–25) or require the cooperation of the person healed or of his loved ones (Lk 8:54, 55). As the quotation in v. 17 indicates, all of Christ's miracles manifest His redemption of ailing humanity.

8:20 Since the term Son of Man refers to the Messiah (Dan 7:13), it expresses both His humanity and His divinity. Here it refers to Christ's human condition; in 25:31–33 it describes His divine authority.

8:21, 22 Jesus is not negating the command to honor parents, but is teaching us to put the things of the Kingdom as the highest priority. Those who ignore this priority are spiritually dead.

8:23–27 The Lord's mastery over creation is another sign that He is the Messiah and is divine. Commands to the sea and waves (v. 24) can only be issued by God (Job 38:8–11; Ps 65:5, 6; 106:29). Jesus was asleep because, as a man, he needed rest. In His Incarnation, He assumed all the natural actions of the flesh, of which sleep is one. The image of Christ and His disciples in a boat is traditionally used to illustrate the Church. God both permits storms and delivers us through them, so that we can see His protection more clearly. Christ's rebuke of the storm is also an illustration of His calming the tempests in the human soul.

8:28–34 The demons, recognizing Jesus as the Son of God, are surprised that their power is being terminated before the time of the last judgment. Though the malice of the demons is great, they can do nothing against the will of God, and thus can only enter the swine at Christ's command. The immediate destruction of the herd shows that the men had been protected by God's care; otherwise, they would have perished under the demonic influence. Further, it reinforces that swineherding was not lawful for the Jews, and shows the incomparable value of human beings, whose salvation is worth every sacrifice.

9:1 Jesus' own city is Capernaum (4:13).

9:2–8 As shown by the healing of the paralytic, faith is an indispensable condition for salvation. Faith is collective as well as personal, for the faith of the paralytic's friends helped in his healing (v. 2). Three signs of Jesus' divinity are shown: (1) He knows the secrets of hearts (see 1Kg 16:7; 2Ch 6:30); (2) He forgives sins, a power which belongs to God alone; and (3) He heals by the power of His word.

9:9–13 Matthew is also named Levi (Mk 2:14). Roman overlords assigned specific areas to Jewish tax collectors, who were free to collect extra revenues for their own profit. Their collaboration with the occupying Romans, their fraud, and their corruption caused other Jews to hate them and to consider them unclean (11:19). Jesus dining with them and accepting a tax collector as a disciple ("Follow Me") offends the Pharisees, yet Christ's defense is simple: He goes where the need of the physician is greatest. "I desire mercy and not sacrifice" (v. 13; Hos 6:6) is not a rejection of sacrifice per se, but shows that mercy is a higher priority (see Ps 50).

9:9–13 This passage is read on November 16, the Feast of the Apostle Matthew.

9:14–17 The Jews typically fasted twice a week (Lk 18:12), on Monday and Thursday. In addition, public fasts were regularly observed or occasionally proclaimed (2Ch 20:3; 1Ez 8:49, 50; Est 4:16; Joel 2:15), especially on the Day of Atonement (Lv 16:31–34) and in times of mourning (Zec 7:5; 8:19). But the Jews saw the day of the Messiah as a wedding feast—a time of joy and gladness. Jesus here proclaims that day, declaring Himself to be the Messiah/Bridegroom. For Christians, fasting is not gloomy but desirable, a bright sadness, for by fasting, they gain self-control and prepare themselves for the Wedding Feast.

The old garment and old wineskins stand for the Old Covenant and the Law, viewed as imperfect and temporary; the new wineskins are the New Covenant and those in Christ. The new wine is the Holy Spirit dwelling within renewed people, who cannot be constrained by the old precepts of the Law.

9:18–26 Authority over life and death is in the hand of God alone (Dt 32:39; 1Kg 2:6). Being of one essence with the Father, Jesus has this authority (Jn 5:21). The healing of this woman demonstrates Christ's power to cleanse and heal (see 8:1–4). In the OT, hemorrhage caused ceremonial defilement, imposing religious and social restrictions, for contact with blood was strictly prohibited (Lv 15:25). This suffering woman, accounting herself unclean, nevertheless approaches Jesus secretly and with great faith. In v. 22, Jesus (1) brings her good cheer because of her faith; (2) corrects her thinking, for neither could she hide her touch from Him, nor is she excluded from Him because of her illness; and (3) exhibits her faith to all, so that they might imitate her.

9:27–33 According to Isaiah, the messianic age is signified when "the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall hear" (Is 35:5). These healings are a sign that Jesus is the awaited Messiah, as is the use of the title Son of David by the blind men, which expresses their faith in this truth.

9:34 To cast out demons by the ruler of demons is impossible, for the aim of the devil is to consolidate power, not destroy it. Further, Jesus cleansed lepers, raised the dead, and remitted sins—works demons could not perform.

9:36 Jesus does not condemn sinners, but sees them as lost sheep to be found and brought home. Compassion means "suffering with." The illustration of sheep having no shepherd, drawn from the OT (Nm 27:17; 3Kg 22:17; Ezk 34:5), is an accusation against the Jewish leaders who, charged with the duty of shepherds, acted as wolves.

9:36; 10:1–8 This passage is read on June 30, the Synaxis of the Twelve Apostles.

9:37, 38 The harvest suggests the abundance of those who are ready to accept the Kingdom. Jesus is both the Sower and the Lord of the harvest. His disciples are sent not to sow, but to reap what He had sown by the prophets (see note at Jn 4:36–38). How many are sent to harvest is less important than with what power they go into the harvest (10:1).

10:1–4 Disciples (v. 1) and apostles (v. 2) are often used interchangeably for the twelve. Disciple means "learner," and apostle means "one sent out." Jesus gave them power to perform miracles, while He performed them by His own power. The names of the Twelve are not the same in all lists, as many people had more than one name. The names here are given in pairs, suggesting who may have traveled together on this "first missionary journey," as Mark reports they were sent out two by two (Mk 6:7).

10:1, 5–8 This passage is read on days commemorating holy unmercenary healers.

10:5–10 The disciples' mission is like Christ's: to preach (v. 7) and to heal (v. 8). Note that Jesus sends them only to the Jews. Christ's earthly ministry was focused on the Jews (15:24) so that, after the Resurrection, the Jews could not blame the disciples for going "to uncircumcised men" (Acts 11:3). Jesus prepares them to be single-minded in their mission to preach and heal: (1) He reminds them that His power is free—a gift from God (v. 8); and (2) He instructs them to carry no money (v. 9) so that they could not be accused of greed, and so they would learn dependence on God.

10:12, 13 Christ commissions His servants to give a greeting of peace, the same peace that was proclaimed by the prophets (Is 52:7), that He would offer to the disciples (Jn 14:27; 20:19), and that would be revealed as a fruit of the Holy Spirit (Gal 5:22). To this day, Christ's peace is offered to the faithful in the Liturgy with the words, "Peace be to all."

10:16 Jesus instructs the disciples to be wise as serpents so that they might not be unnecessarily wounded and that they might take all advantage in the spread of the gospel. He also tells them to be as harmless as doves so that they should not retaliate against those who do them wrong, and should be blameless in their witness of the gospel.

10:16–22 This passage is read on days commemorating holy martyrs and on August 1, the Feast of the Procession of the Cross.

10:23 Persecution must not cause the disciple to quit, but simply to move forward in his mission. According to St. John Chrysostom, before the Son of Man comes is not a reference to the Second Coming, but merely means that before the disciples could visit all the cities in Palestine, Christ would rejoin them, thus more quickly ending the hostility they would encounter.

10:26 Them: persecutors of the disciples (see v. 17). Do not fear is repeated three times (vv. 26, 28, 31) to embolden the witness of the gospel in the face of adversity. Christian believers, then and today, must neither be intimidated by persecution nor fail in their mission to preach.

10:28 That there is no need to fear the killing of the soul shows the immortality of the human soul, which is ours by grace. Fear Him is a command to fear God (Pr 9:10; Lk 1:50; 23:40; Acts 10:2; Col 3:22; 1Pt 2:17), for only God has the power to judge the soul. Christians are instructed to resist the devil (Jam 4:7), but not to fear him.

Hell is literally "Gehenna." In Jewish history, Gehenna (the Valley of Hinnom) became a place of forbidden religious practices (2Ch 28:3; Jer 39:35). King Josiah put an end to these practices (4Kg 23:10). By Christ's time, the valley had become a garbage dump that smoldered ceaselessly. Because of these associations, Gehenna acquired the connotation of eternal punishment in the afterlife.

10:32, 33, 37, 38; 19:27–30 This passage is read on the first Sunday after Pentecost, called Sunday of All Saints.

10:34 Just before His most violent death on the Cross, Christ promised peace to His disciples. But the existence of evil necessitates spiritual warfare. The earth to which Christ came was under the authority of Satan (Jn 12:31; 2Co 4:4). It is therefore essential that Christ wage war against the leader of vice with weapons of virtue (Eph 6:11–18). See also note at Lk 12:51.

10:35–39 See note at Lk 12:53. To carry his cross, a true disciple must be ready, if necessary, to sacrifice even family relationships.

10:40–42 Apostles are ambassadors who represent the Lord. Therefore, all who extend help to them are showing mercy directly to Christ and will receive God's reward (see 25:40).

11:2–15 This passage is read on February 24 and May 29, the two feasts commemorating the Finding of the Head of John the Baptist.

11:3 According to the Church Fathers, John the Baptist asks this question in order to guide his own disciples to Jesus. Undoubtedly, John's own faith was also strengthened through Christ's response (vv.

4–6).

11:5 Isaiah predicted that these signs would accompany the coming of the Messiah (Is 61:1). Jesus performed these miracles in the presence of John's disciples (Lk 7:21) so they could see with their own eyes works that only the Messiah could do.

11:11 In terms of the OT Law, John the Baptist is the greatest prophet. The New Covenant is of such incomparable value that those who share in the New Covenant are greater than John was without it (see note at Lk 7:28).

11:12 Several interpretations have been given to the idea that the kingdom of heaven suffers violence. Some say that it refers to the Jewish opposition to the gospel. Others have said that it refers to the Kingdom breaking into the world "violently," that is, with great power and force. Still others have said that the Kingdom of heaven refers to Christ Himself, who has been incarnate since the days of John the Baptist, and who will suffer the violence of the Cross. According to St. John Chrysostom, the violent who take the Kingdom by force are those who have such earnest desire for Christ that they let nothing stand between themselves and faith in Him.

11:13, 14 John does not ascribe to himself the role of Elijah (Jn 1:21), but Jesus does. John fulfilled the mission of Elijah (Lk 1:17, 76) and his destiny was similar. Yet John is honored over Elijah (v. 11) because John prepared the way for the advent of Christ Himself.

11:16–19 A reference to a game played among Jewish children who would divide into two groups: those pretending to play musical instruments or singing, and the others responding in a manner opposite of what would have been expected. Christ draws a parallel to the Jewish leaders who responded wickedly both to John the Baptist as being too ascetic (v. 18) and to Christ as being too liberal in mercy and joy (v. 19).

11:20–24 It is a far greater sin to have seen Christ's works and rejected Him than never to have known Him at all.

11:25 Blessed Theophylact notes that God has hidden the mysteries from the wise of the world, not out of malice toward His creatures, but because of their own unworthiness; it was they who chose to trust their own fallen wisdom and judgment rather than God. Furthermore, it is out of love that God withholds this revelation from those who would scorn it so that they do not receive an even greater condemnation (see notes for vv. 20–24; Lk 8:10).

11:27–30 This passage is read on days commemorating holy monks.

11:28–30 Jesus' yoke is submission to the Kingdom of God. A yoke could be seen as a sign of hardship, burdens, and responsibilities (3Kg 12:1–11; Jer 34:1–11; WSir 40:1), but in Christ, the yoke is easy, for the power of God works in each person. Furthermore, the reward is infinitely greater than any effort man puts forth. Gentle (v. 29) is literally "meek" (see note on 5:5).

12:1, 2 The Pharisees are rigid in their legalism. While the Law allowed plucking a few heads of grain in a neighbor's field (Dt 23:25), they consider it "reaping" and therefore unlawful on the Sabbath.

12:3–5 Providing OT examples of blameless "violations" of the Sabbath, Jesus demonstrates the law is not absolute over human need or service to God. The partaking of the showbread by David and his men (1Kg 21:5–7) prefigures the Eucharist, which in the OT was forbidden to anyone except the priests, but in Christ is given to all the faithful.

12:6–8 As the Author of the Law, Jesus is Lord over all of it. As Lord, He teaches that mercy takes precedence over regulations, ordinances, and ritualistic observances.

12:16–21 Our Lord's refusal to fully disclose His identity as Messiah is foreseen by Isaiah (Is 42:1–4). The reasons for secrecy include: (1) the growing hostility of the Jewish leaders; (2) the people's misunderstanding of the Messiah as an earthly, political leader; and (3) our Lord's desire to evoke genuine faith not based solely on marvelous signs. The Servant (v. 18) refers first to Christ, and by extension to all who follow Him.

12:21 The mission to the Gentiles after Pentecost was foreseen by Isaiah (Is 42:4).

12:22–30 Beelzebub, or Baal, was the prince of "the dung heap" or lord of "the flies"—a god worshipped by the Philistines (4Kg 1:2–16). Here, he is called ruler of the demons (v. 24). The impossibility of demons fighting against themselves illustrates the irrational pride and envy of the Pharisees in their opposition to Jesus.

12:32 Blasphemy against the Holy Spirit is blasphemy against the divine activity of the Spirit, blasphemy against pure goodness. A sin against the Son of Man is more easily forgiven because the Jews did not know much about Christ. But blasphemy against the Spirit, whose divine activity they knew from the OT, will not be forgiven because it comes from a willful hardness of heart and a refusal to accept God's mercy.

The Fathers are clear that blasphemy against the Holy Spirit is not an "unforgivable sin"; nor does Jesus ever call this sin "unforgivable." St. John Chrysostom teaches that blasphemy against the Holy Spirit would be forgivable if a person were to repent of it. Jesus makes this declaration knowing that those who blaspheme the Spirit are calling pure, divine goodness "evil," and are beyond repentance by their own choice.

12:34 Brood of vipers: See note on 3:7. Brood means "offspring."

12:35 The heart in Scripture refers to the center of consciousness, the seat of the intellect and the will, and the place from which spiritual life proceeds. When God's grace permeates the heart, it masters the body and guides all actions and thoughts. On the other hand, when malice and evil capture the heart, a person becomes full of darkness and spiritual confusion.

12:38 After so many signs, the Pharisees show their wickedness by demanding yet another. Jesus does not cater to those who demand a sign out of wicked intent. The only sign to them will be His Passion and Resurrection. (See note at Lk 23:8, 9.)

12:39 Adulterous generation echoes the illustration used for Israel by the prophets when Israel was unfaithful to God (Jer 2; Hos 2:2–13).

12:43–45 When the Israelites were delivered out of Egypt, they did not repent of their impure ways, and an unclean spirit took up residence in their hearts (Dt 31:20; Ps 105:34–39). Thus, we guard our hearts. Unless there is full repentance and the Holy Spirit dwells in a person, an expelled demon will return with others and reoccupy its abode.

12:46–50 Christ's relatives have not yet understood His identity and mission. He points to a spiritual family based on obedience to the will of My Father (v. 50).

In Jewish usage, brother can indicate any number of relations. Abram called his nephew Lot "brother" (Gn 14:14); Boaz spoke of his cousin Elimelech as his "brother" (Ru 4:3); and Joab called his cousin Amasa "brother" (2Kg 20:9). Christ Himself had no blood brothers, for Mary had but one Son: Jesus. The brothers mentioned here were either stepbrothers, sons of Joseph by a previous marriage, or cousins. Indeed, Jesus commits His mother to the care of John at the Cross (Jn 19:25–27), which would have been unthinkable if Mary had had other children to care for her.

13:3–9 In the OT, metaphors of sowing and harvesting are common (Ps 125:5; Jer 38:27–30; Hos 2:21–23; Joel 3:12–14), as this was a part of daily life. Here, Jesus reveals Himself as the promised Messiah, the sower in the earth, who had been foretold in Is 55:10–13.

13:11 The mysteries of the kingdom are not merely obscure concepts or some religious truths only for the elite, nor is the understanding of the parables simply an intellectual process. Even the disciples find the message hard to understand. While Jesus taught the same message to all, it is the simple and innocent who are open to its message.

13:13–15 See note at Jn 12:40.

13:24–30 This parable builds on the previous parable of the sower. Here Christ gives attention to the enemy who has sown his seed among the seed of Christ. As falsehood came after truth and false prophets came after the true prophets, so the Antichrist will come after Christ. Just as the weeds first appear similar to wheat, so the devil fashions his lies to resemble the truth. That the devil sows while men slept indicates that heresy and lies creep in when people are apathetic.

This parable also explains why the Church neither condemns nominal members, nor judges those outside the Church (1Co 5:12, 13). Just as wheat would be destroyed in weeding out the tares, so also, many people who might ultimately find salvation would otherwise be lost if condemned before Christ's judgment.

13:31–33 The mustard seed and the leaven represent the disciples who, according to Theophylact, began as just a few men, but "soon encompassed the whole earth." These also stand for faith entering a person's soul, which causes an inward growth of virtue. This soul will become godlike and can receive even angels.

13:36–43 See note on vv. 24–30.

13:44–46 The parable of the treasure hidden in a field illustrates those who unintentionally stumble onto Christ and His Church, yet receive Him with great eagerness. The parable of the pearl of great price illustrates those who have been searching in their hearts for Him and finally find Him and His Church. The other pearls represent all the various teachings and philosophies of the world. These treasures are hidden in that they are neither recognized nor valued by those immersed in worldliness. In both parables, receiving the treasure requires that everything else must be sold, that is, a person must surrender all things in order to receive Christ.

13:47–50 The image of the fishing net gathering the good and wicked together is similar to the parable of the wheat and the tares (vv. 36–43). This parable further emphasizes that even those gathered into the Church are subject to judgment.

13:52 St. John Chrysostom notes that Jesus does not exclude the OT, but rather praises it as a treasure. Those who truly write or speak of the kingdom of heaven will draw from the unity of the new and old Testaments, for both are holy, with the New being the fulfillment of the Old. This indeed is how Matthew composed his gospel (see note 1:22).

13:54–58 See note at Lk 4:22–27.

13:55 Brothers: See note at 12:46–50.

Parables

Parables are stories in word-pictures, revealing spiritual truth. The Hebrew and Aramaic words for parable also mean “allegory,” “riddle,” or “proverb.” The Scriptures, especially the Gospels, are filled with parables—images drawn from daily life in the world to represent and communicate the deep things of God. Parables give us glimpses of Him whose thoughts are not our thoughts and whose ways are not our ways (Is 55:8, 9).

The truth communicated by Jesus’ parables, however, is not evident to all who hear them. The listener must have spiritual ears to hear, and even then not all have the same degree of understanding.

Thus, Jesus’ statement that “to those who are outside, all things come in parables” (Mark 4:11) may be translated, “. . . all things come in riddles.” Jesus’ quotation of Isaiah 6:9, 10 (Mt 13:14, 15) does not mean He used parables to blind the people or to lead them to punishment. On the contrary, it demonstrates that the people are responsible for their own lack of receptivity: having grown dull and insensitive, they are unwilling to accept the message of the parables. As the mission of Isaiah in the Old Testament was to open the eyes of Israel to see the acts of God, so the parables of Jesus are intended to open the eyes of His hearers to the truth and lead them to produce the fruit of righteousness.

Parables challenge the hearer and call for faith to perceive the mysteries of the Kingdom. Insight into God’s Kingdom does not come simply through an intellectual understanding of the parables. Spiritual enlightenment is essentially a communication of faith in the Person, words, and deeds of the Lord Jesus Christ.

The use of parables was known in Jewish culture long before Jesus (2Kg 12:1–4; 3Kg 21:35–42; Is 5:1–7). Jesus, however, brought the art of parables to perfection, relating aspects of the Kingdom and speaking of God Himself through vivid stories. His purpose was not only to reveal truth to those with hearts prepared. He wished to draw responsive hearts past the entrance and into the very reality of God’s Kingdom which He proclaimed and inaugurated.

Among the familiar parables read on Sundays throughout the church year are those of the Sower (Lk 8:5–15); the Good Samaritan (Lk 10:25–37); the Rich Man and His Crops (Lk 12:16–21); the Great Supper (Lk 14:16–24); the Talents (Mt 25:14–30); the Pharisee and the Tax Collector (Lk 18:10–14); and the Prodigal Son (Lk 15:11–32).

In opening to us the door to the Kingdom of heaven, the parables help us to love God and to know Him, to understand and believe His grace, mercy, and forgiveness, and to order our lives according to His Holy Word.

14:1–12 See note at Mk 6:17–29. The Beheading of St. John the Baptist is remembered in the Church on August 29 with a day of fasting. As part of God's plan of salvation, John's martyrdom allowed the coming of the Messiah to be announced to the souls in Hades, for John was the forerunner of Christ there as well as on earth. At Matins on this day we sing, "Your tongue which constantly speaks of God has preceded Christ into death, and is sent to preach Him to those in Hades."

St. John is further remembered for his obedience to the Law in general, and as a defender of marriage in particular, in condemning Herod's unlawful marriage to his brother's wife (vv. 3, 4). St. John's obedience to God was one that preferred death over compromise. At Vespers on this day, we sing, "When your head was cut off, you revealed to us the Law of God, abolishing man's disobedience to the Law."

14:13 According to Theophylact, when Jesus heard *it refers not to John's death, but to Herod's comment that Jesus was John raised from the dead (v. 2), since the account of John's death is given parenthetically.

14:14–21 This miracle, reported by all four evangelists, shows Jesus feeding a great multitude of His people as He fed the Israelites in the desert (see Ex 16). The Church Fathers see in this an image of the Eucharist, an idea made clear in Jn 6. In 15:32–39, another miracle is mentioned in which Jesus feeds four thousand people with seven loaves and a few small fish. While certain modern scholars have attempted to say that these are merely the same story, the witness of the gospel is clear that they are two distinct accounts, with Christ Himself referring to both of them separately (16:8–10). Moved with compassion is used frequently concerning the Lord (20:34; Mk 1:41; 6:34; Lk 7:13), showing that His power and authority are extended to those who suffer.

A spiritual interpretation given by the Fathers teaches that the five loaves indicate the five books of the Law (Genesis through Deuteronomy), which are broken open in Christ and thus feed the universe. The two fish represent the Gospel Book and the Epistle Book, the teaching of the fishermen. The gathering of the leftovers by the apostles (v. 20) shows that the teachings the faithful are unable to grasp are nevertheless held in the consciousness of the Church.

14:19 Jesus shows us that we should never eat without first giving thanks to God. The terminology points to the Last Supper (26:26) and leads to a eucharistic interpretation of this miracle. Just as the disciples distribute the bread to the multitudes, so also Christ feeds the Eucharist to His flock through the hands of His bishops and presbyters.

14:22–33 Only God has dominion over nature; thus, this miracle confirms the divinity of Christ. See also the notes at 8:23–27 and Lk 8:22–25.

14:27 This is the second time Christ permits His disciples to be caught in a storm (see 8:23–27). The first time He was with them; here He had left them alone. In this way, Christ strengthens their faith that He will always be with them in the midst of the storms of life. It is I is literally translated "I Am," which is the divine Name of God (see Jn 8:58); Christ reminds the fearful disciples of His absolute and divine authority over their lives.

14:28–30 Peter's faith allows him to walk on the water. Note that Peter does not ask to walk on water per se, but to come to Jesus; his desire is not to perform miracles but to be with the Lord. Peter is able to participate in this divine miracle as long as he keeps his focus on Christ. As soon as he is distracted, he begins to sink.

14:31 The Greek term for doubt here means "wavering" or "hesitation." The cause of Peter's sinking was not the storm, but the doubt; thus Christ does not rebuke the wind, but Peter.

14:33 This is the first time the disciples confess that Jesus is the Son of God. Knowing that only God can be worshiped, they confess Christ's divinity by worshiping Him. The boat is symbolic of the Church.

14:36 Christ permits miracles through touch to show that His very body is life, and that contact with His flesh is life-creating (see 9:20–22).

15:1–20 The tradition of the elders (v. 2) refers to the interpretations of the Law by Jewish teachers. Jesus refutes their views that ritual purity depends on outward actions. Rather it is the state of the heart (v. 8) that determines a person's purity.

15:3–6 Christ shows that the commandment of God cannot be superseded by man's religious traditions. Devotion to God includes both obedience to His commandments and service to others—these two cannot be separated (see also Jam 2:14–18; 1Jn 4:7–21).

15:21–28 The story of ministry to this Gentile woman illustrates the Jewish orientation of Matthew's gospel. This account is also mentioned in Mk 7:24–30, but with two major differences: (1) Matthew records Christ's words concerning the lost sheep of the house of Israel (v. 24), while Mark does not, and (2) Matthew records the woman using the title Son of David, a Jewish term for the Messiah, while Mark does not. Christ went to the Gentile cities not to preach, but to withdraw from the faithless Pharisees. This is confirmed in Mark's gospel, where we read that Christ "wanted no one to know" He was there, and here, where Christ says that He was only sent to the house of Israel.

15:21–28 This passage is read on days commemorating female martyrs.

15:22 This woman shows immeasurable love—she so identifies with the sufferings of her daughter that she cries "Have mercy on me," for she sees her daughter's well-being as her own and her daughter's sufferings as her own.

15:23 Christ refuses to answer, not only because she is a Gentile and His ministry before His Passion is first to the Jews, but also to reveal this woman's profound faith and love. Several of the Fathers see the disciples' request to send her away as an attempt to persuade Jesus to heal the daughter, as if to say, "Give her what she wants so that she will leave." Christ's response indicates this interpretation is correct, for He again refuses to heal the daughter.

15:26–28 Having evoked this woman's love and persistent faith, Christ now reveals her humility. She accepts her place beneath the Jews, who were the chosen people of God, yet still desires a share in God's grace. Christ's hesitancy was not a lack of compassion, but a conscious means of revealing the virtues of this woman, both to the disciples and for her own sake.

Her ultimate acceptance by Christ also points to the gathering of the Gentiles into the Church after Pentecost, no longer as dogs, but as children who are invited to eat the bread of eternal life.

15:29–31 Christ's healing of the multitudes here shows that these Jews actually had less faith than the Canaanite woman (vv. 21–28). Christ healed the woman "with much delay, but these immediately, because she is more faithful than they. He delays with her to reveal her perseverance, while here He bestows the gift immediately to stop the mouths of the unbelieving Jews" (JohnChr).

15:32–39 This second feeding of a multitude should not be confused with the first (14:22–33), for they are two distinct miracles (see 16:8–10). The variance in the number of loaves is significant. In the first instance, there were five loaves, symbolizing the Law, while here, there are seven (v. 34). Seven symbolizes completeness and here indicates spiritual perfection. Thus, in the first instance, Christ reveals Himself as fulfilling the Law, while here He shows that it is He who grants spiritual perfection. Note also these crowds had been with Christ for three days (v. 32), the number of days He would rest in the tomb. Participation in His perfection can only come through being united to Christ's death (see Rom 6:3–5).

16:1–3 A sign from heaven means a spectacular display of power. The time of the Messiah among the Jews was expected to be accompanied by signs, but these hypocrites have not recognized the signs already being performed because their hearts were hardened, and they ignored the works happening all around them.

16:4 Adulterous generation: See note on 12:39. Jesus refuses to prove Himself in a spectacular way, for a sign is never given to those whose motive is to test God. See also 4:5–7. The sign of the prophet Jonah is a veiled prediction of Christ's death and Resurrection (12:40), the ultimate sign that Jesus is the Christ.

16:5–12 The leaven of the Pharisees (v. 6) is their doctrine (v. 12) and their hypocrisy (Lk 12:2). The reason the disciples are painfully slow to understand is that they have such little faith (v. 8); they would not fully grasp Christ's teachings until Pentecost, when the Holy Spirit was given.

16:13–20 "Who do you say that I am?" (v. 15) is the greatest question a person can ever face, for it is the question that defines Christianity. Peter's correct answer to this question prevents the Christian faith from being seen as merely another philosophical system or path of spirituality, for it names Jesus as the one and only Son of the living God. This position excludes all compromise with other religious systems. Peter's understanding cannot be achieved by human reason, but only by divine revelation through faith (1Co 12:3). Christ means "Anointed One," and is equivalent to the Hebrew title "Messiah."

Note that Christ first draws out erroneous opinions about Himself (vv. 13, 14). He does this to identify these incorrect ideas, as a person is better prepared to avoid false teachings when they are clearly identified.

16:13–19 This passage is read on June 29, the Feast of Sts. Peter and Paul.

16:18 Peter/rock is a play on the word for "rock" in both Aramaic and Greek (petros/petra). This rock refers not to Peter per se, but to "the faith of his confession" (JohnChr). The true Rock is Christ Himself (1Co 10:4), and the Church is built on the faithful confession of Christ.

Gates of Hades: powers of death. In the OT, gates suggest a fortified city (Gn 22:17; 24:60; Is 14:31). By shattering its gates, Christ opens the stronghold of death to set free the souls of the righteous. So also, the Church shall not be stopped in her proclamation of salvation.

The term church is mentioned only twice in all the gospels, here and in 18:17. This Church is the true Israel and the Body of Christ; her citizenship is heavenly.

16:19 Keys of the kingdom refers to a special authority that will be given to both Peter and the other apostles after the Resurrection (see 18:18; Jn 20:23). Peter was not a leader over the others, but among them. This truth was confirmed at the Council of Jerusalem (Acts 15) where the apostles and presbyters met as equals, and where Peter advised, but James presided. Papal claims in later centuries must not be confused with the NT witness regarding Peter, nor should the role of Peter be diminished in opposition to these claims.

Binding and loosing is a reference primarily to the authority "to absolve sins" (JohnChr; see Jn 20:23), but it also includes all the teaching, sacramental, and administrative authority of the apostles. This authority was in turn transmitted to the bishops of the Church and continues in effect to this day.

16:21–23 After Peter's confession, Jesus reveals the true nature of His messiahship: the mystery of His Passion. It was expected that the Messiah would reign forever, so the idea that Christ would die was perplexing to Peter and remained scandalous to the Jews even after the Resurrection (1Co 1:23). Peter unwittingly speaks for Satan, as the devil did not want Christ to fulfill His mission and save mankind through suffering and death.

16:24 The cross, a dreaded instrument of Roman punishment, is also a symbol of suffering by Christians in imitation of Christ. We practice self-denial for the sake of the love of God and the gospel. Accepting this suffering is not a punishment, nor is it an end in itself, but a means to overcome the fallen world for the sake of the Kingdom and to crucify the flesh with its passions and desires (Gal 5:24).

16:25 The central paradox of Christian living is that in grasping for temporal things, we lose the eternal; but in sacrificing everything in this world, we gain eternal riches that are unimaginable (1Co 2:9).

16:26 What will a man give in exchange for his soul? This question emphasizes the utter foolishness of accumulating worldly wealth or power, for none of this can redeem man's fallen soul, nor benefit a person in the life to come.

16:28 This is a reference to those who would witness the Transfiguration (17:1–9), as well as those in every generation who will experience the presence of God's Kingdom.

17:1 A high mountain is often a place of divine revelation in Scripture (5:1; Gn 22:2; Ex 19:3, 23; Is 2:3; 2Pt 1:18).

17:1–9 This passage is read on August 6, the Feast of the Holy Transfiguration of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

17:2 See the article, "The Transfiguration"; see also note at Lk 9:31.

17:14–16 Sickness in Scripture is often connected to demonic activity. By kneeling, this father shows humility, but he lacks faith. While the disciples also lacked faith (v. 20), Christ rebukes the man for placing the blame on the disciples when it was his greater lack of faith that prevented the boy's healing. In effect, Jesus defends His disciples in front of the multitudes but later rebukes them privately (vv. 19–21), teaching us that we ought first to correct people in private (see 18:15–17).

17:19–21 St. John Chrysostom notes this rebuke is directed at the nine disciples who could not cast out the demon, whereas "the pillars" of faith—Peter, James, and John (Gal 2:9)—were not included in the rebuke, as they had been on the mountain with Christ (v. 1).

This kind (v. 21) refers to all powers of darkness, not simply those that cause a particular illness. The banishment of demons requires faith (v. 20), prayer, and fasting (v. 21), for there is no healing and no victory in spiritual warfare without all three. Beginning with the Didache, the Fathers have taught that both the person in need of healing and the person performing the healing must believe, pray, and fast. On moving a mountain, see note at 21:21.

17:22, 23 Jesus predicts His death and Resurrection a second time (see 16:21) to show that He is going to His Passion freely and not being taken against His will.

17:24–27 The temple tax was an annual head tax on all male Jews (except the priests) over twelve years of age for the maintenance of the temple (see Nm 3:43–51). Since Jesus is the Son of God, He is both High Priest and "proprietor" of the temple, and thus is exempt from the tax. Nevertheless, He pays it anyway, both to avoid unnecessary offense and to show that He has totally identified Himself with mankind.

The Transfiguration

"And He was transfigured before them. His face shone like the sun, and His clothes became as white as the light" (17:2).

The Transfiguration is a theophany—a manifestation of God, especially of the divinity of Christ, through a display of His uncreated, divine energy. Therefore, the Orthodox Church celebrates the Transfiguration of the Lord as a major feast day.

Several elements of the Transfiguration show that Christ is Messiah and God.

1. Because God is light (1Jn 1:5), the bright cloud, the shining of Jesus' face like the sun, and the whiteness of His garment (Mt 17:2, 5) all demonstrate that Jesus is God. (In some icons this light is shown as beyond white, a blue-white, ineffable color, indicating its spiritual origin.)
2. The Father bears witness from heaven concerning His Son. He does not say, "This has become My beloved Son," but "This is My beloved Son" (17:5), indicating that this divine glory is Christ's by nature. From eternity past, infinitely before Jesus' Baptism and Transfiguration, He is God's Son, fully sharing in the essence of the Father: Jesus Christ is God of God.
3. The Transfiguration not only proclaims Christ's divine sonship, but foreshadows His future glory when He as the Messiah will usher in the long-awaited Kingdom. The bright cloud recalls temple worship and the cloud that went before the Israelites in the wilderness, the visible sign of God being extraordinarily present. Peter sees this as a sign that the Kingdom has come. Knowing that the Feast of Tabernacles is the feast of the coming Kingdom, he asks to build booths (17:4), as was done at that feast, to serve as symbols of God's dwelling among the just in the Kingdom.
4. Moses represents the law and all those who have died. Elijah represents the prophets and—since he did not experience death—all those who are alive in Christ. Their presence shows that the law and the prophets, the living and the dead, all bear witness to Jesus as the Messiah, the fulfillment of the whole Old Testament.

The presence of Moses and Elijah also manifests the communion of the saints (Heb 12:1). Both men are immediately recognizable and talk with the Lord. The disciples are now able to understand Jesus' words that "Elijah has come already" (17:12) referring to John the Baptist. Their eyes have been opened to the fact that Malachi's prophecy (Malachi 3:22, 23) refers to one coming "in the spirit and power of Elijah" (Lk 1:17), rather than to Elijah himself.

5. Finally, the Holy Trinity is manifest here, for Christ is transfigured (Mt 17:2), the Father speaks from heaven testifying to Jesus' divine sonship (17:5), and the Spirit is present in the form of a dazzling light surrounding Christ's person, overshadowing the whole mountain (17:5).

18:1–4 This question indicates a selfish interest in worldly power. Pointing to a little child as the model of true discipleship, Jesus emphasizes the virtues required for entrance into the kingdom of heaven: humility, dependence, lowliness, simplicity, obedience, and a willingness to love and be loved. In Orthodox iconography, St. Ignatius of Antioch is depicted as this child. In certain legends of saints, he is the boy who gave the loaves and fishes (Jn 6:9).

18:6 Little ones include all who have childlike humility and simplicity, all who are poor in spirit.

18:8 See also 5:29. The reference to mutilation is an illustration of decisive action to avoid sin and does not advocate literal amputation. This also refers to harmful relationships that must be severed for the salvation of all parties (see Lk 14:26; 1Co 5:5).

18:10 Little ones: See note for v. 6. Angels: St. John Chrysostom teaches that not only the saints, but all people have guardian angels. However, the angels of humble people have greater boldness and greater honor before the face of God because of the humility of the person they guard. It is not the nature of God, but the weakness of men, that requires the angels' service.

18:10–20 This passage is read on the Monday after Pentecost, called the Day of the Holy Spirit.

18:12 Unlike earthly shepherds, Christ sees such value in one sheep that He will leave the others at risk to save it. The ninety-nine sheep represent the righteous who remain faithful to God (Lk 15:7). According to certain Fathers, this is also an image of the Incarnation in which the ninety-nine represent the angels in heaven; Christ descended from heaven to pursue the one sheep—man—who had fallen into corruption on earth.

18:15–20 Church discipline is based on mutual correction in three expanding stages. Sin and correction are to remain private unless the offender refuses to repent. All correction must be done with great care and humility, with the highest concern being the salvation of the offender (see 1Co 5:5; Gal 6:1). Nevertheless, correction must take place so that the sin does not spread to others as well.

18:17 Church: See the glossary.

18:18–20 The authority to bind and loose sins is given to the apostles and transmitted to the bishops and presbyters they ordained. This authority is given for the sake of the salvation of the sinner. The sinner, "seeing that he is not only cast out of the Church, but that the bond of his sin will remain in Heaven, he may turn and become gentle" (JohnChr).

18:21–35 Seventy times seven: Symbolic of an unlimited amount. This parable illustrates the need for unlimited forgiveness. Ten thousand talents (v. 24) is an impossible sum, more than a laborer could earn in several lifetimes. A hundred denarii (v. 28) is a significant amount from an earthly perspective (about three months' wages), yet it is a pittance when compared to the debt owed the king. God not only stays the punishment we deserve, but forgives us the entire debt as well (v. 27). Because God forgives us, we in turn are required to grant the gift of forgiveness to others.

18:25 Certain Fathers give a spiritual interpretation to the punishment described here. The man represents the soul, the wife represents the body, and the children represent a person's deeds. Thus, the body and the deeds are given over to slavery, that is to Satan, so that the soul might possibly be saved (see 1Co

19:3–9 The basis of the Pharisees' test is Dt 24:1–4. God's condescension, or allowance for human weakness, does not override the original principle of permanent monogamous marriage as revealed in Gn 1; 2. With authority, Christ adds His own clear prohibition against divorce in vv. 6 and 9. (See note at 5:31, 32; Mal 2:15, 16.)

19:9 The permissible reasons for divorce were expanded in the ancient Church to include threat to a spouse's or child's life and desertion, in all cases acknowledging the spiritual tragedy of such a situation. See note at 5:31, 32.

19:10–12 Christ steers the disciples toward understanding the holiness of virginity, not as a rejection of marriage, but as a special calling for those to whom it has been given. Eunuchs were men who had been castrated, whether by birth defect, disease, or mutilation, and were often employed to guard women of nobility. Here, Jesus uses the term figuratively for those who freely choose lifelong celibacy for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. This consecrated virginity is not to be confused with self-mutilation, which the Church condemned at the First Ecumenical Council (AD 325). See also 1Co 7:7, 25–38.

19:13–15 The disciples rebuked the mothers for bringing little children to Christ both because their manner was "unruly" and because they thought children "diminished His dignity as Teacher and Master" (Theoph). Christ rejects this thinking, setting little children as an example of those who inherit the kingdom of heaven. Therefore, children are invited (even as an example to adults) to participate in the Kingdom through prayer, worship, baptism, chrismation, and Communion. See note at Lk 18:15–17.

19:16, 17 This man does not come to test Jesus, but to seek advice from one he considers no more than a good Teacher. Christ's response (v. 17) does not deny that He is God, but is designed to lead the rich man to this knowledge.

19:20 Formal observance of commandments does not make one righteous before God. This man had an earnest desire for eternal life and sensed that he still lacked something; thus, he continues to press Jesus for the answer.

19:21 To be perfect, one must willingly sacrifice all and follow Christ. Nothing is gained unless this sacrifice is given freely. The specifics of how one follows Christ will be different for each person. Because wealth had such a grip on this rich man, his only hope was to sell and give away all his possessions. St. John Chrysostom tells us that giving away possessions is the least of Christ's instructions here; following Him in all things is a far greater and more difficult calling.

19:23–26 Various interpretations have been suggested for the impossible image of a camel going through the eye of a needle: e.g., that the word was not camel, but "rope"; or that the eye of a needle was a city gate through which a camel might barely squeeze if it were first unloaded of all its baggage, symbolizing wealth. Even the Talmud uses the expression "for an elephant to go through the eye of a needle." Whatever the phrase refers to, it displays the impossibility of salvation for those who are attached to riches. This is clearly evidenced by the disciples' response, "Who then can be saved?" Yet by God's grace, even what is impossible to man can come to pass.

19:28 Judging: See note at Lk 22:30.

19:29 Christ is not commanding believers to divorce spouses and abandon children. According to St. John Chrysostom, this refers to keeping faith under persecution even if it means to lose one's family. It also means to accept that unbelieving family members may cut off ties because of the believer's faith (see 1Co 7:12–16). Believers are promised a hundredfold of houses and relatives not in an earthly sense, but in a spiritual sense—the fathers and mothers of the Church, our brothers and sisters in Christ, and houses of worship and fellowship.

20:1–16 In this parable, the vineyard is life in this world. The day refers both to the span of a single person's life and to the whole of human history. The laborers are all the people in every nation. Each hour can refer to times in a person's life, whether infancy, youth, adulthood, maturity, or old age. It also has a second meaning in the span of history, referring to those called during the covenants with Adam, Noah, Abraham, Moses, and finally Christ.

God's generosity provides equal reward for both early and late comers. Jesus teaches that the former should not be proud of their long service nor resent those called at the eleventh hour. To the latecomers, He teaches that it is possible even in a short time or at the end of one's life to recover and inherit everything.

In the early Church, this message applied specifically to the Jews (the first-called) and the Gentiles (those called later). In our day, it can be applied to those raised in the Church and to those who find the Church later in life, both of whom receive an equal reward. St. John Chrysostom's renowned paschal sermon is based on this parable, applying it to the preparations of each person in approaching the paschal Eucharist.

20:17–19 Christ's repeated prediction of His Passion was meant to encourage and strengthen the disciples for the terrifying events they would face. It is as if Christ were saying, "Think on all these [words and miracles], so that when you see me hanging on the Cross, you will not imagine that I am suffering because I am powerless to do otherwise" (Theoph).

20:20–23 This quest for temporal power and glory is unfitting for a disciple and shows an earthly misunderstanding of the Kingdom of God. Matthew reports that the mother of Zebedee's sons requested this honor, but John's and James' own involvement is revealed by the plural you in v. 22, and in Mk 10:35.

Christ calls His Crucifixion a cup and His death a baptism. The Cross is a cup because He drank it willingly (Heb 12:2). His death is baptism, for He was completely immersed in it, yet it cleansed the world (Rom 6:3–6). Christ's prophecy of John and James participating in the same cup and baptism shows the life of persecution and martyrdom they would lead after Pentecost.

Christ declaring that the places of honor in the Kingdom are not His to give does not mean that He lacks authority. Rather, it means that they are not His to give arbitrarily. Instead, He will give them to those for whom God has prepared them. Note also that with regard to sitting as equals on the right and left hand of Christ in His Kingdom, St. John Chrysostom teaches that no one could possibly occupy such a position. With regard to the highest places of honor that can be given to man, the icons of the Church universally depict the Virgin Mary (the most blessed among women—Lk 1:28) and John the Baptist (the greatest born of women—11:11) holding these places.

20:24–28 See note at Lk 22:24–27. For many (v. 28) is an Aramaic expression meaning "for all."

20:30 The two blind men greet Jesus as Lord, the common title for God, and Son of David, a title deeply associated with the Messiah. Even though Jesus knows what we want before we ask, He calls us to ask freely so that we might learn of His mercy.

The Fathers also give a spiritual interpretation to this miracle, with the blind men symbolizing future generations who would come to faith only by hearing, without the benefit of seeing Christ in person (see Jn 20:29). Those who tried to silence the blind men are persecutors and tyrants who, in every generation, try to silence the Church. Nevertheless, under persecution, the Church all the more confesses Jesus Christ.

21:1–11 Christ's Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem is celebrated by the Church on Palm Sunday. By Christ's time, Jewish nationalism had led to the expectation of a political Messiah to deliver them from Roman control and to reestablish David's kingdom. In humility, Jesus shows that He has not come to establish an earthly kingdom. He does not ride on a horse nor in a chariot, but on a donkey—a sign of humility and peace (Zec 9:9). This entrance into the Holy City declares the establishment of the Kingdom of God. It is also a promise of Christ's final entrance into the heavenly Jerusalem with all believers and of His accepting the New Jerusalem as His pure Bride (Rev 21:2).

21:2 Matthew reports a colt as well as a donkey. The Fathers see the two animals as representing the faithful Jews and the Gentiles who are brought together in the Kingdom. At Vespers of Palm Sunday, we sing, "Your riding on a foal prefigured how the untamed and uninstructed Gentiles would pass from unbelief to faith."

21:8 The people who spread their clothes before Jesus did so as paying reverence to a King. It is spiritually interpreted as our need to lay down our flesh, and indeed our very lives, for Christ.

21:9 This cry comes from Ps 117:25, 26, which was associated with messianic expectation. It was recited daily for six days during the Feast of Tabernacles, and seven times on the seventh day as branches were waved. Hosanna means, "Save, we pray!"

21:12, 13 Those who bought and sold were trading in live animals to be used for sacrifices. The money changers traded Roman coins for Jewish coins since Roman coins, which bore the image of Caesar, were considered defiling in the temple. The cleansing of the temple also points to the necessity that the Church be kept free from earthly pursuits. As each person is considered a temple of God (1Co 3:16; 6:19), it is also a sign that our hearts and minds must be cleansed of earthly matters.

21:15, 16 "Keep the feast with the children, and holding branches in your hands, sing 'Hosanna'"—so we declare at Vespers of Palm Sunday. Many liturgical hymns of this day emphasize the perfect praise of the children, which unlike that of the adults, was innocent, fitting, unashamed, and from hearts of pure love. We are called to glorify Christ in the same spirit (see 18:1–4). In contrast, the adults' praise carried earthly expectations and agendas which, when left unfulfilled, led them to rebel against Jesus just five days later (27:20–23).

21:19 The fig tree, a symbol of prosperity and peace, withers because it is fruitless. This is a prophetic act directed toward the Jews, since after three years of Christ's preaching, teaching, and healing, both the leaders and the crowds were destitute of spiritual fruit. He curses the tree also to warn those in every generation of what will befall anyone who fails to listen to His message.

21:21 While it is not recorded that an apostle literally moved a mountain, the Fathers are clear that they had this authority if the need had arisen (certain saints did make crevices appear in mountains). Furthermore, not everything the apostles accomplished was written down. Beyond the literal meaning, this promise is also an illustration of the power of faith and prayer in all areas of life. "Whatever we ask, without hesitation and believing in God's power, we shall receive" when we ask for spiritually profitable things (Theoph).

21:23–27 Since Christ is not a Levitical priest, the chief priests and the elders challenge His authority to cleanse the temple. As Christ is careful not to reveal Himself to scoffers, He confounds them with a different question about John. Both the elders' question and Christ's question require the same answer, and thus would lead a person to confess that Jesus has come from heaven. By not answering them directly, Christ teaches us not to answer people who come asking about holy things with a malicious intent.

21:31 Using their own principles, the elders convict themselves in their answer to Christ's parable.

21:33–43 See note at Lk 20:9–16.

21:41 Again, the Jewish leaders convict themselves. See note for 21:31.

21:44 This stone is Christ. According to St. John Chrysostom, this saying illustrates the two ways of destruction. Those falling on the stone are people who suffer the consequences of their sins while yet in this life, whereas those on whom the stone falls are unrepentant people suffering utter destruction in the final judgment.

22:1–14 Like the preceding parables, this one also proclaims the transfer of the Kingdom from the faithless Jews to the Gentiles. It is set as a joyful wedding banquet (v. 2; see 25:1–13), for Christ is often called the "Bridegroom" (9:15; Jn 3:29), and St. Paul uses a marriage analogy for the Kingdom (Eph 5:21–33).

The repeated sending out of servants shows the Father's great desire to have His people with Him in the Kingdom. The first group (v. 3) is interpreted to be Moses and those with him, while the second group (v. 4) is composed of the prophets. These groups call those initially invited—the Jews. The third group (v. 9) represents the apostles sent to the Gentiles, those not initially invited, but now called.

22:4 The oxen represent the sacrifices of the Old Covenant, while the fatted cattle represent the eucharistic bread of the New Covenant. (Fatted is better translated "wheat-fed," or even more literally "formed from wheat"; see note at Lk 15:23.) Thus, both the Old and New Covenants are fulfilled at the wedding of Christ and His Church.

22:7 Burned up their city: St. John Chrysostom teaches that Christ is prophesying the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans in AD 70, and thus attributes this destruction to an act of God rather than simply to that of men. Nevertheless, God showed His patience by waiting some 40 years from the time of Christ, giving the entire generation a chance to repent.

22:11–13 The wedding garment would have been provided by the king, and therefore the man had no excuse for not wearing one; thus he is speechless. His refusal to wear the garment that was provided is an illustration of those who refuse God's hospitality, or who want His Kingdom on their own terms. Specifically, the garment refers to the baptismal garment, and by extension, a life of faith, repentance, virtue, and charity. Without these, a person will ultimately be cast into outer darkness.

22:14 For many: See note at 20:24–28.

22:15–22 See note at Lk 20:20–26. The distinction between things that are Caesar's and things that are God's does not imply the division of a believer's life into the secular and the sacred. Rather, God is Lord over all of life, including the secular. We do, however, fulfill governmental requirements that do not conflict with our first responsibility to God (Rom 13:1–7; contrast Acts 4:19; 5:29). Paying taxes and similar civil duties are not detrimental to holiness.

22:23–33 You are mistaken (v. 29): Christ confirms that there will be a resurrection, but not of the sort the Sadducees are imagining. They consider the resurrection to be a continuation of earthly life (including earthly marriage), and thus mock such a doctrine with an absurd scenario. However, they are ignorant of the Scriptures, which reveal a complete transfiguration of life in the resurrection, making such earthly questions irrelevant. Furthermore, they fail to understand how Abraham and his sons can be alive in God even if they are physically dead. It is the clear teaching of Christ that the souls of the faithful who have departed this life are sustained before the face of God in anticipation of the final joy of the resurrection.

22:35–40 The Pharisees had found 613 commandments in the Scriptures and debated about which one was central. Jesus sets forth the first and the second, which constitute the grand summary of the Law. Though the lawyer has come with malice to test the Lord, we know from St. Mark's account that this man is converted by Christ's answer (Mk 12:28–34).

22:39 This second commandment must be understood as written: You shall love your neighbor as yourself, or more clearly, "as being yourself." It is often misinterpreted, "You shall love your neighbor as you love yourself," which destroys the force of the statement. How much we love ourselves is not the standard by which Christ is calling us to love others. Rather, we are called to love our neighbor as being of the same nature as we ourselves are, as being created in God's image and likeness just as we are. As the Fathers teach, we find our true self in loving our neighbor.

22:41–46 Christ asks this question to lead the Pharisees to the only logical conclusion: that He is God incarnate. They supposed the Messiah to be a mere man, and therefore reply that the Messiah would be a Son of David. David, as king of Israel, could not and would not address anyone as "Lord" except God. Yet in Ps 109:1, David refers to the Messiah as "Lord." Therefore, the Messiah must be God. The only possible conclusion is that the Messiah is a descendant of David only according to the flesh, yet is also truly divine, sharing His Lordship with God the Father and the Holy Spirit. The Pharisees do not answer because they realize the implications and are afraid to confess Jesus to be the Son of God. See also note at Lk 20:41–44.

23:1–39 Jesus spoke His final public sermon, a grand critique of the ways of the scribes and Pharisees. Several themes include: (1) The Jewish leaders have God-given authority and teach God's Law, but are personally ungodly and cold-hearted. Their teaching is to be honored, but they are not to be imitated (vv. 2–7). (2) God is our true Father and Teacher. A teacher or father on earth is one who leads people to God. The scribes and Pharisees do the opposite, placing themselves in God's position (vv. 8–12). (3) In His eightfold indictment of the scribes and Pharisees (vv. 13–36), Jesus charges them with inverting God's values and with being mean-spirited, judgmental, greedy, ambitious, absorbed in externals, and blindly self-righteous. While these charges were directed against the Jewish leaders of the day, every word applies equally to those in the Church who behave in this way.

23:2, 3 To sit in Moses' seat means to hold the succession of office down from Moses himself. In the synagogue, the teacher spoke while seated as a sign of this authority. St. John Chrysostom notes that the scribes were depraved in thought and in heart, yet Jesus still upholds the dignity of their office, for they speak not their own words but God's. Likewise within the Church, the clergy are to be shown respect because they hold the apostolic office, even though they too are sinners. Furthermore, the sins of the clergy do not relieve the people from their responsibilities before God.

23:5 Phylacteries are small leather pouches containing passages of Scripture worn on the arm or forehead. The idea was to keep God's Law always in mind (see Ex 13:9), but the Pharisees had used them as a show of false piety, making them increasingly larger and more noticeable.

23:8–10 Christ's warning against calling hypocrites father and teacher is not an absolute prohibition against using these terms, as some teach. These terms are applied to men many times in the NT, all of which usages are inspired by God. Teacher is used in Jn 3:10; Acts 13:1; 1Co 12:28; Eph 4:11; and 2Ti 1:11. Father is used in Lk 16:24; 1Co 4:15; and Col 3:21. Since the very early days of the Church, bishops and presbyters have been called "father" not because they take the place of God, but because in their fatherly care for their flocks, they lead people to God, and they exercise fatherly authority within the community.

23:13 Because the example of a leader can be so influential, leaders who do not love God can hinder others from finding Him as well. Thus, leaders are held to a higher standard (Jam 3:1).

23:23–33 These warnings are especially important to Orthodox Christians. The Church has maintained the ancient practices of tithing (These you ought to have done, v. 23; see also St. John Chrysostom's homily on Eph 2 and ch. 9 of the Didascalia Apostolorum); sacred vessels (v. 25); holy rites (v. 27); and following the tradition handed down from our fathers. These practices can be expressions of deep faith, lead a person to deeper commitment to God, and safeguard our life in Christ, or they can be observed without ever taking them to heart and lead to condemnation.

23:24 The Pharisees would attach strainers to the mouths of decanters in order to avoid accidentally consuming a ritually unclean substance.

23:29–39 This passage is read on days commemorating holy prophets.

23:35 Zechariah: See note at Lk 11:51.

23:37–39 God's deepest desire is the reconciliation of His people, yet most do not want Him. The desolate house (v. 38) refers both to the temple and to the nation itself, for house can be used to mean "family" or "tribe" (see Ps 113:20; 134:19). Both the temple and the nation will be without God's presence once Christ departs.

24:1, 2 Christ's prophecy of the destruction of the temple was fulfilled in AD 70, when the temple was destroyed by the Romans (see note at 22:7).

24:3–31 The Scriptures describe the end times in a variety of ways, so that no precise chronology can be determined (see Dan 7–12; Mk 13; Lk 21; 1Co 15:51–55; 1Th 4:13–17; 2Th 2:1–10; and the Book of Revelation). The Lord's emphasis is on watchfulness and the practice of virtue rather than on constructing timetables of things that have not yet happened. In Matthew's account here, the end is described as encompassing (1) the initial sorrows (vv. 4–14), (2) the great tribulation (vv. 15–28), and (3) the coming of the Son of Man (vv. 29–31). The period of the great tribulation includes the entire Christian era and is not limited to the final years before Christ's return.

24:3–35 This passage is read on Holy Monday, the Monday before Pascha (Easter).

24:4, 5 The warnings against deception are given the most emphasis. Of particular importance is the warning against following a false Christ, which Jesus stresses again in vv. 11, 23–27.

24:6 The wars here refer first and foremost to the Roman destruction of Jerusalem, but certainly include subsequent wars. Wars are not a sign of the imminent end, but of the opposite—that the end is not yet (see 1Th 5:1–3).

24:14 All these calamities and all this opposition cannot stop the spread of the gospel, and indeed, persecutions against the Church often increase the number of souls being converted. St. John Chrysostom marvels that while the Romans subdued countless Jews in a political uprising, they could not prevail over twelve Jews unarmed with anything except the gospel of Jesus Christ.

24:15 Daniel's prophecy of the abomination of desolation (Dan 9:23) was fulfilled in AD 70, when the Roman general Titus entered the Most Holy Place and had a statue of himself erected in the temple before having the temple destroyed. The Lord's phrase when you see indicates that many of the disciples would still be alive at that time. The words whoever reads, let him understand are commonly understood to be inserted by Matthew into Christ's address as an encouragement to his early Christian flock, who may have witnessed this event.

24:19 See note at Lk 23:29.

24:20 The severity of winter weather or respect for the Sabbath would prevent many faithful from fleeing quickly in a time of desperation. A spiritual interpretation given by the Fathers sees the Sabbath as symbolizing idleness with regard to virtue, and winter as indicating fruitlessness with regard to charity. Thus, the person who departs this life in such a spiritual state will suffer judgment.

24:27 In what manner will Christ come back? The event will be unmistakable to the whole world. If there is any question or doubt, that alone is evidence that He has not returned. As Christ's return will shine from the east, so Orthodox Christians whenever possible worship facing eastward in symbolic hope and anticipation of His second and glorious coming.

24:28 See note at Lk 17:37.

24:29 According to the Fathers, the sun will not be destroyed, but darkened in relation to the glory of Christ. In other words, the sun will appear to be dark by comparison when Christ returns in the fullness of His splendor.

24:30 The sign of the Son of Man is the Cross, which will be revealed as the standard for Christ's impending judgment. While at His first coming, Christ came in humility and mortality, at His second coming, He will be revealed in power and great glory (see note at Est 6:6–9).

24:31 They will gather: See 1Th 4:13–18.

24:34 This generation refers to all believers at all times, the generation of the Church, and not merely to those alive at the time of Christ.

24:36 According to St. John Chrysostom, Christ tells of the angels being unaware of the exact day of His return "so that men should not seek to learn what angels do not know," and to forbid them not only from learning the day, but from even inquiring about it.

According to Mk 13:32, and in Chrysostom's Matthew text, Jesus declares that the Son also does not know the day of His own return. Chrysostom teaches this is not to be understood literally, but is a figure of speech meaning that Christ, though He revealed all the signs that will accompany His return, will not reveal the exact day to anyone, and that believers should not be so brazen as to inquire of Him.

24:36—26:2 This passage is read on Holy Tuesday, the Tuesday before Pascha (Easter).

24:37–41 The second coming of Christ will entail a sudden revelation of judgment. One will be taken to heaven and the other left for eternal condemnation. This separation of the saints from the wicked will occur at the coming of the Son of Man (v. 39), and not, as some teach today, at a certain time before His second coming.

24:42–44 The Lord's purpose in this discourse is not to make people experts on end-time prophecy. Rather, it is so they may watch (v. 42) and be ready (v. 44), continuing in virtue and obeying Christ's commandments. This warning is illustrated in the parable of the returning master (vv. 45–51).

25:1–13 This parable illustrates the need for being spiritually prepared while the bridegroom—Christ—is delayed in His return (v. 5). The Kingdom is often portrayed as a marriage (see 22:1–14 and note) between Christ and His Church. The marriage will be consummated at the end of the age when the Bridegroom returns to escort His Bride—the Church—into the eternal wedding banquet.

This parable is primarily about the virtue of charity and almsgiving, as oil and "mercy" have the same root in Greek. The wise virgins are those who practice charity and mercy in this life, while the foolish are those who squander God's gifts on themselves.

The fact that all the virgins slumbered and slept indicates death: in this world the virtuous will die alongside the wicked. The cry at midnight indicates the Second Coming, when the wicked will arise with the righteous for judgment. The inability of the righteous to share their oil is not to be interpreted as a lack of generosity. Rather, it is an illustration of (1) the impossibility of entering heaven without one's own faith and virtue, and (2) the impossibility of changing one's state of virtue after death (see Lk 16:26).

The themes of this parable and the one before it (24:45–51) are woven together in the liturgical hymns of Holy Week, particularly in the troparion hymn for Holy Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, which begins, "Behold, the Bridegroom comes at midnight, and blessed is the servant whom He shall find watching."

25:1–13 This passage is read on days commemorating holy nuns.

25:14–30 This parable illustrates the use of gifts given by God. Even one talent was a great sum of money; here it represents the goodness God has bestowed on each person. The amount each receives is based on that person's abilities (Rom 12:4–7). God does not show partiality in the ultimate reward, for all are invited to share the same joy (vv. 21, 23).

The wicked and lazy servant (v. 26) could not evade responsibility for ignoring his talent, for idleness is as much a rejection of God as outright wickedness. Burying the talent in the ground (v. 18) is an illustration of using one's God-given gifts for earthly pursuits. The bankers (v. 27) represent other faithful people to whom the man could have turned to help him use his talents wisely. Since help was available to him in the Church, the man has no excuse.

25:31–46 Here is the majestic climax of the discourse, which is not simply a parable, but a prophecy of the universal judgment that will indeed come. Since the Cross is now near to Him, Jesus raises the hearer to the sight of the glory of the Son of Man on His judgment seat and the whole world before Him.

The standard of judgment is uncalculated mercy toward others. The works produced by faith are emphasized, for saving faith always produces righteous works. What we do reflects our true inner state. The least (v. 40) refers to all the poor and the needy. The needs described in this parable include both physical and spiritual needs. Thus, the hungry or thirsty (v. 44) are not only those who need food and drink, but also those who hunger and thirst for the hope of the gospel.

25:31–46 This passage is read on the second Sunday before Great Lent, called Meat Fare Sunday, or Sunday of the Last Judgment.

25:32 Christ uses sheep to illustrate the righteous, for they follow His voice and are gentle and productive. Goats indicate the unrighteous, for they do not follow the shepherd and they walk along cliffs, which represent sin.

25:34 Inherit is a term used with regard to sons and daughters rather than strangers or servants, for the righteous become children of God by adoption (Gal 4:4–7).

25:40 To see Christ in everyone is the fulfillment of the great commandment to love your neighbor as yourself (22:39).

25:41 That the fire was prepared for the devil shows that God did not create hell for man; rather, people choose this torment by their coldness of heart.

26:1—27:2 This passage is read on Holy Wednesday and Holy Thursday of the week before Pascha (Easter).

26:2 Jesus is delivered up to His Passion by His accusers, yet He goes willingly. Unless Christ had willed to go, His accusers could never have taken Him. After His Resurrection, many saints imitated Christ by willingly going to martyrdom.

26:6–13 Jesus accepts this honor from the woman in her newly found faith. In particular, He accepts it as a sign of His coming burial (v. 12). Nevertheless, according to St. John Chrysostom, the disciples were not wrong in principle: mercy shown to the poor is more fitting than outward signs shown even to God (25:40; Jam 1:27). However, they did not understand that once the gift had been given, it was a greater mercy to accept it with love. "If anyone had asked Christ before the woman did this, He would not have approved it. But after she had done it, He looks only to the gift itself. For after the fragrant oil had been poured, what good was a rebuke? Likewise, if you should see anyone providing a sacred vessel or ornament for the walls of the church, do not spoil his zeal. But if beforehand he asks about it, command him to give instead to the poor" (JohnChr).

26:6 Simon the leper must have been healed by Jesus earlier, for lepers were forbidden to live in towns.

26:13 Because of her fervent faith, Jesus promises perpetual public memory of this woman. There is no consensus among the Fathers as to her identity in relation to accounts of similar events in Mk 14:3–9; Lk 7:36–38; and Jn 12:1–8. Some Fathers say that there were three different women in these four accounts, others that there were only two.

26:14–16 Judas on his own initiative seeks to betray Jesus. His motives have been debated, but the Fathers and the liturgical hymns declare that greed was his primary motive. This is revealed in Jn 12:4–6, where Judas was particularly upset about the "waste" of myrrh in the preceding story because he was a thief (see also 1Ti 6:10).The phrase one of the twelve is not used so much to identify Judas, who was already known by Matthew's hearers, but to emphasize the depth of the betrayal—that it was one of Christ's closest followers.

26:17–19 The Passover commemorates God's deliverance of Israel from slavery in Egypt to the Land of Promise. It prefigures the Passion of Christ, the new Passover (Gr. Pascha), God's redemption of all humanity from sin and death, and entrance into the promised Kingdom. Whether the first day of the *Feast was Passover or the day before Passover is debated among the Fathers (see also note at Jn 19:14). What is certain is that Jesus regarded the meal with the disciples to be the Passover meal.

26:24, 25 That it is written of Him does not cancel Judas' responsibility. God foresees but does not cause the evil actions of humans, who always have free will (see also note at Lk 22:3). Jesus lets Judas accuse himself, yet even hearing that Christ knew of his deception, Judas does not repent.

26:26–28 Jesus institutes the Eucharist, the long-awaited messianic banquet, to which He admits even Judas (compare Est 7), seeking by all means to save Him. Because of his wicked heart, Judas' participation leads to his condemnation (1Co 11:27–30).

Christ's words are repeated in the Divine Liturgy, inviting the faithful to receive His body and blood. In Holy Communion, we are truly united to Christ. (See note at Lk 22:19, 20.) He gave thanks (from the Greek word for "eucharist") to teach us (1) how we are to celebrate this sacrament, (2) that He comes willingly to His Passion, and (3) to accept sufferings with thankfulness, knowing that God can use sufferings for ultimate good.

The Old Covenant was sealed with the blood of bulls and goats. The New is sealed by the gift of Christ, who shed His own blood to conquer sin and death and to reconcile us with God. Christ calls it the blood of the new covenant, which is God's promise and the fulfillment of the Law. By new, He means this covenant brings immortality and incorruptible life; this covenant will always have the quality of newness. For many: See note at 20:24–28.

26:29 The Fathers teach that Jesus also drinks the cup of His own Blood. This He does to lead all believers into participation in His heavenly mysteries. In My Father's kingdom relates to the time after His Resurrection, when Christ will eat and drink to show the reality of His victory over death (Lk 24:41–43). Furthermore, it points to the eternal banquet of the Kingdom in the age to come.

26:39 This cup refers to Christ's impending death. According to His divine nature, Jesus willingly goes to His death. As a man, He wishes He could avoid it, for it is the mark of humanity to abhor death. He prays if it is possible that it be taken from Him, thus giving abundant proof of His human nature. Nevertheless, Jesus is without sin and completely subjects and unites His human will to the Father's divine will.

26:41 Watch and pray: The key to Christian spirituality and our struggle against temptation. By this, the Lord's human soul is strengthened, and He faces death with divine courage. In contrast to our Lord's vigilance, the disciples sleep. Since body and soul are united, the spirit is paralyzed by a lethargic body. A willing spirit, recognizing the weakness of the flesh, struggles against its weakness, relying on God's presence and power.

26:52–54 Jesus rebukes Peter (identified in Jn 18:10) for using the sword, for he still does not understand that Christ is going to His death willingly, that salvation for mankind might be fulfilled. A legion is 6,000 soldiers, so twelve legions equal 72,000 angels. That this death was foretold in the Scriptures served to strengthen the disciples at their hour of greatest test.

26:61 The people misunderstand the Lord's words reported in Jn 2:19–21. Some Jews believed the temple would be destroyed and a new one built by the Messiah.

26:64–66 Quoting from Ps 109 and Dan 7:13, Jesus confesses that He is the Messiah, both fully Man and fully God, for only a divine One could sit at the right hand of the Power, sharing authority with the Father. This statement was clearly understood by the high priest to be a claim of equality with God the Father (v. 65). For a mere man to claim this was punishable by death (Lv 24:16), but Christ is no mere man, and thus this declaration of equality is not blasphemy.

26:69–75 See notes at Lk 22:56, 61.

27:1–61 This passage is read at Vespers of Great and Holy Friday, the Friday before Pascha (Easter).

27:2 While the religious Law dictated the death penalty for blasphemers (Lv 24:16), under Roman occupation, the Jews were prohibited from carrying out an execution. Thus, they had to get permission from the governor.

27:3–5 In contrast to Peter, who repented in his sorrow (26:75), Judas is remorseful but does not repent. Suicide is not a sign of repentance but of being self-absorbed. Two accounts of Judas' suicide are given in the NT, here and in Acts 1:16–19.

27:11–14 The chief priests hide their real charge against Jesus—the claim of equality with God—because this would not persuade the governor to sentence Him to death. Instead, they present a charge of treason—that Jesus called Himself the King of the Jews. This crime would carry the death penalty, for it was a challenge to Roman rule.

27:16 Jesus is the true Son of the Father, yet the name Barabbas means "son of the father." Ironically, the crowds must choose between one Son of the Father and the other. By influencing the crowds to choose Barabbas (v. 20), the chief priests indicate to which father they belong—the devil (Jn 8:44).

27:25 This verse has been used by certain groups to try to justify persecuting Jews, which is a grave and terrible sin. What was seen by many as a curse is in fact a blessing invoked unwittingly, for the Lord's blood is the source of their redemption. Furthermore, these words are implicitly spoken by anyone who sins. St. John Chrysostom teaches that even though these Jews "acted with such madness, so far from confirming a sentence on them or their children, Christ instead received those who repented and counted them worthy of good things beyond number." He then notes the thousands who were converted in Jerusalem on the Day of Pentecost (Acts 2:41) as evidence of Christ's mercy.

27:27–31 Every king is proclaimed by his soldiers. Even though the intention was mockery, it is prophetic that Jesus should be crowned and hailed as King by soldiers of the governor (see also Jn 11:49–51, where Caiaphas unwittingly prophesies of Christ's redemptive work). This mockery shows Jesus as the One despised and rejected by men who bears the iniquity of us all (see Is 53:3–9). Jesus is clothed in scarlet, representing both His royalty and the sins of humanity which He has taken upon Himself.

27:32–44 Jesus accepts mockery and endures the weakness of our body in His own to take upon Himself our sufferings. This He accomplishes by uniting His divine nature to our human nature. His humanity is indeed our humanity. Although He has no sin, He was made to be sin for us, that through His flesh He might condemn sin itself (Rom 8:3; 2Co 5:21; Heb 2:9). Two robbers (v. 38): Although one would later repent (Lk 23:39–43), at first both criminals mock Jesus (v. 44).

27:45 Darkness: See Zec 14:6, 7; Am 8:9.

27:46 Jesus prays Ps 21, which foretold the very details of the Crucifixion. Taken without the rest of the psalm, His cry of "Why have You forsaken me?" could be misinterpreted as a cry of despair. Since He took on our nature, Jesus experiences our alienation from God in His humanity, knowing our suffering and distress, yet He does not despair. He speaks these words in the name of humanity, completely identifying with us in our condition, for in His divinity, He is never forsaken by the Father.

27:50 Yielded up His spirit: Christ's death was voluntary to the very end, for even on the Cross, His life could not be taken from Him against His will. Christ accepts death on the Cross neither to receive the Father's punishment on our behalf, nor to satisfy the Father's need for blood-justice (as if God would demand such things), but so that by entering death as the divine Son of God, He can destroy this last enemy, which is death itself (1Co 15:20–28; see note at Lk 23:46).

27:51 The veil that separated the Most Holy Place from the rest of the temple was a symbol of the separation between God and man. Christ's death opens the way into the presence of God for all people, giving people access to that which is the most holy of all: God Himself. In many Orthodox churches, there is a curtain between the altar and the nave which is drawn open during liturgical services to emphasize that communion with God, which was at one time sealed off from humanity, is now available to all who approach in faith.

27:52, 53 The completeness of the salvation won by Christ is signified in the resurrection of the saints from the OT. This guarantees the promise given to Ezekiel that God can and will one day open the graves of all mankind (Ezk 37:1–14). The saints entering the holy city is an icon of resurrected humanity entering the heavenly Jerusalem (Heb 11:10; 12:22, 23; Rev 21:2–22:5).

27:54 The centurion, a Gentile, realizes Jesus has dominion over nature, and therefore acknowledges Him as the Son of God. Tradition knows this soldier as St. Longinos.

27:56 Mary the mother of James and Joses: Most Fathers teach this was the Virgin Mary, being in fact the stepmother of James and Joses (see 13:55; compare Mk 15:40, 47). Theophylact summarizes the teaching of the Fathers in this way: “James and Joses were sons of Joseph by his first wife. And since the Theotokos was called the ‘wife’ of Joseph, she is rightly called the ‘mother’ of his children, meaning ‘stepmother’.”

27:57, 58 To ask for the body of Jesus is a bold public act for this wealthy man, showing that his faith has overcome any fear.

27:60 He is buried in a new tomb so that no suspicion might later arise that another had risen instead of Christ.

27:62–66 This passage is read at Matins of Great and Holy Saturday, the Saturday before Pascha (Easter).

28:1–20 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

28:2 The earthquake is a sign of our Lord’s great victory over death, foreshadowing the general resurrection of all humanity. Note that the angel does not roll back the stone to let the Lord out, for in His glory, Christ could pass through solid rock (see Jn 20:19). Rather, this allows the witnesses in to see that He has already risen.

28:5, 6 These women are the first witnesses of the supreme event in all history: the Resurrection of Christ and the destruction of death. The angel refers to Christ as the One who was crucified, teaching us not to shy away from His death, but to glory in the Cross (1Co 2:2; Gal 6:14), which is the weapon Christ used to destroy death and the trophy of His victory. At the liturgical services of Pascha (Easter), Orthodox Christians sing the following hymn hundreds of times: “Christ is risen from the dead, trampling down death by death, and upon those in the tombs bestowing life.” As St. Paul says, “If Christ is not risen, your faith is futile” (1Co 15:17).

28:13 This lie is absurd, in that His disciples were afraid and had gone into hiding. Furthermore, most of them went on to suffer terrible persecution and martyrdom. It is unthinkable that they would willingly endure such sufferings over a known fallacy.

28:18 All authority has been given to Me: Christ declares that the authority that was His by nature in His divinity is now also possessed by His glorified human nature. This human nature has now trampled the final enemy—death (1Co 15:20–28).

28:19 This Great Commission—our Lord's final commandment given on earth—is to be lived out in the Church until He returns again. Making disciples cannot be done in the strength of man, but only in the power of God. The power of the Resurrection is not only for Jesus Himself, but is given to all believers for Christian life and mission.

28:20 Christ Himself is present in each believer and in the Church always, both personally and in the Holy Spirit, for neither can be separated from the other. To the end of the age does not by any means imply that we will be separated from Him at the end of the world. He is with us now, and forever, and unto the ages of ages. Amen.

The Book of Mark

Author

Mark the Apostle, also known as John Mark, is widely attested by the ancient Church as the author of this gospel. He traveled with Paul and Barnabas and later aided Peter (1Pt 5:13). According to tradition, Mark subsequently used Peter's teaching as his primary source for this gospel, adding to it his personal experience and other church traditions.

Date

As with the other gospels, the exact date of writing is uncertain. Because of its connection with Rome and its lack of any clear reference to the destruction of Jerusalem (13:2), the Gospel of Mark may be dated shortly before the fall of Jerusalem in AD 70. Many believe this was the first of the four gospels to be written.

Major Theme

Jesus Christ as Servant and Sacrifice. Subthemes include:

(1) The suffering Messiah. Christ, who acts with power and authority, is nevertheless a suffering Messiah (8:27–33), One who has come to serve and give His life for many (10:45). Jesus is clearly the Son of God (1:1, 11; 9:7; 14:61, 62), who has power over demons, heals the sick, and forgives sins (1:23–25; 2:10, 11). But He also possesses a full humanity, expressed through the agony of Gethsemane and the suffering on the cross.

(2) The messianic secret. Mark underscores the fact that Jesus veiled His messianic identity. He commanded demons, the people He healed, and even the disciples to keep silent about His messiahship (1:34, 44; 8:30) until He Himself revealed the mystery before the Sanhedrin (14:62). In this gospel Peter confesses Jesus only as "the Christ" (8:29; contrast Mt 16:16; Jn 6:69). Only after the Resurrection do His followers recognize Him as God (16:14).

(3) Discipleship. Though the word "disciple" never occurs in Mark, Jesus calls His followers to uncompromising and heroic commitment. True disciples take up their crosses and suffer with Jesus (8:34–38).

Background

According to some Church Fathers, Mark is writing for the Christian community of Rome, which either was experiencing the great persecution by Nero (beginning in AD 64) or was caught up in the apocalyptic fervor occasioned by the Jewish war (Jerusalem was destroyed in AD 70). Mark tells the story of Jesus so his readers may see their own suffering as a prelude to the glorious Second Coming of Jesus and may discern the reward of those who endure to the end. The suffering and the glory are equally real: this was true for Jesus and will be true for all believers.

The earliest manuscripts of Mark end abruptly at 16:8. Later manuscripts provide additional material (16:9–20), included in this and other versions, which the Church recognizes as inspired.

Outline

I. Prologue: Preparation for the Ministry (1:1–13)
II. The Galilean Ministry: The Kingdom Is at Hand (1:14–6:29)
  A. Jesus manifests the power of the kingdom (1:14–45)
  B. Israel is divided over Jesus' authority (2:1–5:43)
  C. Nazareth divided: doubters and disciples (6:1–13)
  D. The Forerunner beheaded (6:14–29)
III. Ministry Beyond Galilee: The Kingdom and the World (6:30–9:50)
  A. Jesus relates to the Jews (6:30–7:23)
  B. Jesus relates to the Gentiles (7:24–8:26)
  C. The glory of the kingdom revealed (8:27–9:13)
  D. The response of this world (9:14–50)
IV. Journey to Jerusalem: The Kingdom's Discipline (10:1–52)
V. Ministry in Jerusalem: Rejection, Persecution (11:1–16:20)
  A. The Messiah made manifest (11:1–13:37)
  B. Betrayal and Passover meal (14:1–31)
  C. The Passion (14:32–15:47)
  D. The Resurrection (16:1–20)

Mark 1

John the Baptist Prepares the Way
(Matt. 3:1–12; Luke 3:1–20; John 1:19–28)

1 The beginning of the gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God.
2 As it is written in the Prophets:[a]

> "Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
> Who will prepare Your way before You."[b]
> 3 "The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
> 'Prepare the way of the LORD;
> Make His paths straight.' "[c]

4 John came baptizing in the wilderness and preaching a baptism of repentance for the remission of sins.
5 Then all the land of Judea, and those from Jerusalem, went out to him and were all baptized by him in the Jordan River, confessing their sins.
6 Now John was clothed with camel's hair and with a leather belt around his waist, and he ate locusts and wild honey.
7 And he preached, saying, "There comes One after me who is mightier than I, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to stoop down and loose.
8 "I indeed baptized you with water, but He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit."

John Baptizes Jesus
(Matt. 3:13–17; Luke 3:21, 22; John 1:29–34)

9 It came to pass in those days that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized by John in the Jordan.
10 And immediately, coming up from[d] the water, He saw the heavens parting and the Spirit descending upon Him like a dove.
11 Then a voice came from heaven, "You are My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased."

Satan Tempts Jesus
(Matt. 4:1–11; Luke 4:1–13)

12 Immediately the Spirit drove Him into the wilderness.
13 And He was there in the wilderness forty days, tempted by Satan, and was with the wild beasts; and the angels ministered to Him.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

(Matt. 4:12–17; Luke 4:14, 15)

14 Now after John was put in prison, Jesus came to Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom[e] of God, 15 and saying, "The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel."

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

(Matt. 4:18–22; Luke 5:1–11)

16 And as He walked by the Sea of Galilee, He saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishermen.
17 Then Jesus said to them, "Follow Me, and I will make you become fishers of men."
18 They immediately left their nets and followed Him.
19 When He had gone a little farther from there, He saw James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, who also were in the boat mending their nets.
20 And immediately He called them, and they left their father Zebedee in the boat with the hired servants, and went after Him.

Jesus Casts Out an Unclean Spirit

(Luke 4:31–37)

21 Then they went into Capernaum, and immediately on the Sabbath He entered the synagogue and taught.
22 And they were astonished at His teaching, for He taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes.
23 Now there was a man in their synagogue with an unclean spirit. And he cried out,
24 saying, "Let us alone! What have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth? Did You come to destroy us? I know who You are—the Holy One of God!"
25 But Jesus rebuked him, saying, "Be quiet, and come out of him!"
26 And when the unclean spirit had convulsed him and cried out with a loud voice, he came out of him.

27 Then they were all amazed, so that they questioned among themselves, saying, “What is this? What new doctrine is this? For with authority[f] He commands even the unclean spirits, and they obey Him.”
28 And immediately His fame spread throughout all the region around Galilee.

Peter’s Mother-in-Law Healed

(Matt. 8:14, 15; Luke 4:38, 39)

29 Now as soon as they had come out of the synagogue, they entered the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and John.
30 But Simon’s wife’s mother lay sick with a fever, and they told Him about her at once.
31 So He came and took her by the hand and lifted her up, and immediately the fever left her. And she served them.

Many Healed After Sabbath Sunset

(Matt. 8:16, 17; Luke 4:40, 41)

32 At evening, when the sun had set, they brought to Him all who were sick and those who were demon-possessed.
33 And the whole city was gathered together at the door.
34 Then He healed many who were sick with various diseases, and cast out many demons; and He did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him.

Preaching in Galilee

(Matt. 4:23–25; Luke 4:42–44)

35 Now in the morning, having risen a long while before daylight, He went out and departed to a solitary place; and there He prayed.
36 And Simon and those who were with Him searched for Him.
37 When they found Him, they said to Him, “Everyone is looking for You.”
38 But He said to them, “Let us go into the next towns, that I may preach there also, because for this purpose I have come forth.” 39 And He was preaching in their synagogues throughout all Galilee, and casting out demons.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

(Matt. 8:1–4; Luke 5:12–16)

40 Now a leper came to Him, imploring Him, kneeling down to Him and saying to Him, “If You are willing, You can make me clean.” 41 Then Jesus, moved with compassion, stretched out His hand and touched him, and said to him, “I am willing; be cleansed.” 42 As soon as He had spoken, immediately the leprosy left him, and he was cleansed.
43 And He strictly warned him and sent him away at once, 44 and said to him, “See that you say nothing to anyone; but go your way, show yourself to the priest, and offer for your cleansing those things which Moses commanded, as a testimony to them.”
45 However, he went out and began to proclaim it freely, and to spread the matter, so that Jesus could no longer openly enter the city, but was outside in deserted places; and they came to Him from every direction. John the Baptist

Mark 2

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

(Matt. 9:2–8; Luke 5:17–26)

1 And again He entered Capernaum after some days, and it was heard that He was in the house.
2 Immediately[a] many gathered together, so that there was no longer room to receive them, not even near the door. And He preached the word to them.
3 Then they came to Him, bringing a paralytic who was carried by four men.
4 And when they could not come near Him because of the crowd, they uncovered the roof where He was. So when they had broken through, they let down the bed on which the paralytic was lying.
5 When Jesus saw their faith, He said to the paralytic, “Son, your sins are forgiven you.”
6 And some of the scribes were sitting there and reasoning in their hearts, 7 “Why does this Man speak blasphemies like this? Who can forgive sins but God alone?”
8 But immediately, when Jesus perceived in His spirit that they reasoned thus within themselves, He said to them, “Why do you reason about these things in your hearts?
9 “Which is easier, to say to the paralytic, ‘Your sins are forgiven you,’ or to say, ‘Arise, take up your bed and walk’?

10“But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins”—He said to the paralytic,

11“I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house.”

12Immediately he arose, took up the bed, and went out in the presence of them all, so that all were amazed and glorified God, saying, “We never saw anything like this!”

Matthew the Tax Collector

(Matt. 9:9–13; Luke 5:27–32)

13Then He went out again by the sea; and all the multitude came to Him, and He taught them.

14As He passed by, He saw Levi the son of Alphaeus sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, “Follow Me.” So he arose and followed Him.

15Now it happened, as He was dining in Levi’s house, that many tax collectors and sinners also sat together with Jesus and His disciples; for there were many, and they followed Him.

16And when the scribes and[b] Pharisees saw Him eating with the tax collectors and sinners, they said to His disciples, “How is it that He eats and drinks with tax collectors and sinners?”

17When Jesus heard it, He said to them, “Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick. I did not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance.”[c]

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting

(Matt. 9:14–17; Luke 5:33–39)

18The disciples of John and of the Pharisees were fasting. Then they came and said to Him, “Why do the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, but Your disciples do not fast?”

19And Jesus said to them, “Can the friends of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them? As long as they have the bridegroom with them they cannot fast.

20“But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them, and then they will fast in those days.

21“No one sews a piece of unshrunk cloth on an old garment; or else the new piece pulls away from the old, and the tear is made worse.

22“And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine bursts the wineskins, the wine is spilled, and the wineskins are ruined. But new wine must be put into new wineskins."

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath

(Matt. 12:1–8; Luke 6:1–5)

23 Now it happened that He went through the grainfields on the Sabbath; and as they went His disciples began to pluck the heads of grain.
24 And the Pharisees said to Him, "Look, why do they do what is not lawful on the Sabbath?"
25 But He said to them, "Have you never read what David did when he was in need and hungry, he and those with him:
26 "how he went into the house of God in the days of Abiathar the high priest, and ate the showbread, which is not lawful to eat except for the priests, and also gave some to those who were with him?" 27 And He said to them, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.
28 "Therefore the Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath."

Mark 3

Healing on the Sabbath

(Matt. 12:9–14; Luke 6:6–11)

1 And He entered the synagogue again, and a man was there who had a withered hand.
2 So they watched Him closely, whether He would heal him on the Sabbath, so that they might accuse Him.
3 And He said to the man who had the withered hand, "Step forward."
4 Then He said to them, "Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to kill?" But they kept silent.
5 And when He had looked around at them with anger, being grieved by the hardness of their hearts, He said to the man, "Stretch out your hand." And he stretched it out, and his hand was restored as whole as the other.[a] 6 Then the Pharisees went out and immediately plotted with the Herodians against Him, how they might destroy Him.

A Great Multitude Follows Jesus

(Matt. 12:15–21)

7 But Jesus withdrew with His disciples to the sea. And a great multitude from Galilee followed Him, and from Judea 8 and Jerusalem and Idumea and beyond the Jordan; and those from Tyre and Sidon, a great multitude, when they heard how many things He was doing, came to Him.
9 So He told His disciples that a small boat should be kept ready for Him because of the multitude, lest they should crush Him.
10 For He healed many, so that as many as had afflictions pressed about Him to touch Him.
11 And the unclean spirits, whenever they saw Him, fell down before Him and cried out, saying, "You are the Son of God."
12 But He sternly warned them that they should not make Him known.

The Twelve Apostles

(Matt. 10:1–4; Luke 6:12–16)

13 And He went up on the mountain and called to Him those He Himself wanted. And they came to Him.
14 Then He appointed twelve,[b] that they might be with Him and that He might send them out to preach, 15 and to have power to heal sicknesses and[c] to cast out demons:
16 Simon,[d] to whom He gave the name Peter; 17 James the son of Zebedee and John the brother of James, to whom He gave the name Boanerges, that is, "Sons of Thunder"; 18 Andrew, Philip, Bartholomew, Matthew, Thomas, James the son of Alphaeus, Thaddaeus, Simon the Cananite;
19 and Judas Iscariot, who also betrayed Him. And they went into a house.

A House Divided Cannot Stand

(Matt. 12:22–30; Luke 11:14–23)

20 Then the multitude came together again, so that they could not so much as eat bread.
21 But when His own people heard about this, they went out to lay hold of Him, for they said, "He is out of His mind."
22 And the scribes who came down from Jerusalem said, "He has Beelzebub," and, "By the ruler of the demons He casts out demons."

[23]So He called them to Himself and said to them in parables: “How can Satan cast out Satan?

[24]“If a kingdom is divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand.

[25]“And if a house is divided against itself, that house cannot stand.

[26]“And if Satan has risen up against himself, and is divided, he cannot stand, but has an end.

[27]“No one can enter a strong man’s house and plunder his goods, unless he first binds the strong man. And then he will plunder his house.

The Unpardonable Sin

[28]“Assuredly, I say to you, all sins will be forgiven the sons of men, and whatever blasphemies they may utter;

[29]“but he who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit never has forgiveness, but is subject to eternal condemnation”—

[30]because they said, “He has an unclean spirit.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers Send for Him

(Matt. 12:46–50; Luke 8:19–21)

[31]Then His brothers and His mother came, and standing outside they sent to Him, calling Him.

[32]And a multitude was sitting around Him; and they said to Him, “Look, Your mother and Your brothers[e] are outside seeking You.”

[33]But He answered them, saying, “Who is My mother, or My brothers?”

[34]And He looked around in a circle at those who sat about Him, and said, “Here are My mother and My brothers!

[35]“For whoever does the will of God is My brother and My sister and mother.”

Mark 4

The Parable of the Sower

(Matt. 13:1–9; Luke 8:4–8)

[1]And again He began to teach by the sea. And a great multitude was gathered to Him, so that He got into a boat and sat in it on the sea; and the whole multitude was on the land facing the sea.

2Then He taught them many things by parables, and said to them in His teaching:

3"Listen! Behold, a sower went out to sow.

4"And it happened, as he sowed, that some seed fell by the wayside; and the birds of the air[a] came and devoured it.

5"Some fell on stony ground, where it did not have much earth; and immediately it sprang up because it had no depth of earth.

6"But when the sun was up it was scorched, and because it had no root it withered away.

7"And some seed fell among thorns; and the thorns grew up and choked it, and it yielded no crop.

8"But other seed fell on good ground and yielded a crop that sprang up, increased and produced: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred."

9And He said to them,[b] "He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

The Purpose of Parables

(Matt. 13:10–17; Luke 8:9, 10)

10But when He was alone, those around Him with the twelve asked Him about the parable.

11And He said to them, "To you it has been given to know the mystery of the kingdom of God; but to those who are outside, all things come in parables, 12"so that

> 'Seeing they may see and not perceive,
> And hearing they may hear and not understand;
> Lest they should turn,
> And their sins be forgiven them.' "[c]

The Parable of the Sower Explained

(Matt. 13:18–23; Luke 8:11–15)

13And He said to them, "Do you not understand this parable? How then will you understand all the parables?

14"The sower sows the word.

15"And these are the ones by the wayside where the word is sown. When they hear, Satan comes immediately and takes away the word that was sown in their hearts.

16“These likewise are the ones sown on stony ground who, when they hear the word, immediately receive it with gladness; 17“and they have no root in themselves, and so endure only for a time.
Afterward, when tribulation or persecution arises for the word’s sake, immediately they stumble.
18“Now these are the ones sown among thorns; they are the ones who hear the word, 19“and the cares of this world, the deceitfulness of riches, and the desires for other things entering in choke the word, and it becomes unfruitful.
20“But these are the ones sown on good ground, those who hear the word, accept it, and bear fruit: some thirtyfold, some sixty, and some a hundred.”

Light Under a Basket

(Luke 8:16–18)

21Also He said to them, “Is a lamp brought to be put under a basket or under a bed? Is it not to be set on a lampstand?
22“For there is nothing hidden which will not be revealed, nor has anything been kept secret but that it should come to light.
23“If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear.”
24Then He said to them, “Take heed what you hear. With the same measure you use, it will be measured to you; and to you who hear, more will be given.
25“For whoever has, to him more will be given; but whoever does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.”

The Parable of the Growing Seed

26And He said, “The kingdom of God is as if a man should scatter seed on the ground, 27“and should sleep by night and rise by day, and the seed should sprout and grow, he himself does not know how.
28“For the earth yields crops by itself: first the blade, then the head, after that the full grain in the head.
29“But when the grain ripens, immediately he puts in the sickle, because the harvest has come.”

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

(Matt. 13:31, 32; Luke 13:18, 19)

30 Then He said, “To what shall we liken the kingdom of God? Or with what parable shall we picture it?
31 “It is like a mustard seed which, when it is sown on the ground, is smaller than all the seeds on earth; 32 “but when it is sown, it grows up and becomes greater than all herbs, and shoots out large branches, so that the birds of the air may nest under its shade.”

Jesus’ Use of Parables

33 And with many such parables He spoke the word to them as they were able to hear it.
34 But without a parable He did not speak to them. And when they were alone, He explained all things to His disciples.

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

(Matt. 8:23–27; Luke 8:22–25)

35 On the same day, when evening had come, He said to them, “Let us cross over to the other side.”
36 Now when they had left the multitude, they took Him along in the boat as He was. And other little boats were also with Him.
37 And a great windstorm arose, and the waves beat into the boat, so that it was already filling.
38 But He was in the stern, asleep on a pillow. And they awoke Him and said to Him, “Teacher, do You not care that we are perishing?” 39 Then He arose and rebuked the wind, and said to the sea, “Peace, be still!” And the wind ceased and there was a great calm.
40 But He said to them, “Why are you so fearful? How is it that you have no faith?”[d] 41 And they feared exceedingly, and said to one another, “Who can this be, that even the wind and the sea obey Him!”

Mark 5

A Demon-Possessed Man Healed

(Matt. 8:28–9:1; Luke 8:26–39)

[1]Then they came to the other side of the sea, to the country of the Gadarenes.[a]
[2]And when He had come out of the boat, immediately there met Him out of the tombs a man with an unclean spirit,
[3]who had his dwelling among the tombs; and no one could bind him,[b] not even with chains,
[4]because he had often been bound with shackles and chains. And the chains had been pulled apart by him, and the shackles broken in pieces; neither could anyone tame him.
[5]And always, night and day, he was in the mountains and in the tombs, crying out and cutting himself with stones.
[6]When he saw Jesus from afar, he ran and worshiped Him.
[7]And he cried out with a loud voice and said, “What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I implore You by God that You do not torment me.”
[8]For He said to him, “Come out of the man, unclean spirit!”
[9]Then He asked him, “What is your name?” And he answered, saying, “My name is Legion; for we are many.”
[10]Also he begged Him earnestly that He would not send them out of the country.
[11]Now a large herd of swine was feeding there near the mountains.
[12]So all the demons begged Him, saying, “Send us to the swine, that we may enter them.”
[13]And at once Jesus[c] gave them permission. Then the unclean spirits went out and entered the swine (there were about two thousand); and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the sea, and drowned in the sea.
[14]So those who fed the swine fled, and they told it in the city and in the country. And they went out to see what it was that had happened.
[15]Then they came to Jesus, and saw the one who had been demon-possessed and had the legion, sitting and clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid.
[16]And those who saw it told them how it happened to him who had been demon-possessed, and about the swine.
[17]Then they began to plead with Him to depart from their region.
[18]And when He got into the boat, he who had been demon-possessed begged Him that he might be with Him.
[19]However, Jesus did not permit him, but said to him, “Go home to your friends, and tell them what great things the Lord has done for you, and how

He has had compassion on you.”

20And he departed and began to proclaim in Decapolis all that Jesus had done for him; and all marveled.

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

(Matt. 9:18–26; Luke 8:40–56)

21Now when Jesus had crossed over again by boat to the other side, a great multitude gathered to Him; and He was by the sea.

22And behold, one of the rulers of the synagogue came, Jairus by name. And when he saw Him, he fell at His feet

23and begged Him earnestly, saying, “My little daughter lies at the point of death. Come and lay Your hands on her, that she may be healed, and she will live.”

24So Jesus went with him, and a great multitude followed Him and thronged Him.

25Now a certain woman had a flow of blood for twelve years,

26and had suffered many things from many physicians. She had spent all that she had and was no better, but rather grew worse.

27When she heard about Jesus, she came behind Him in the crowd and touched His garment.

28For she said, “If only I may touch His clothes, I shall be made well.”

29Immediately the fountain of her blood was dried up, and she felt in her body that she was healed of the affliction.

30And Jesus, immediately knowing in Himself that power had gone out of Him, turned around in the crowd and said, “Who touched My clothes?”

31But His disciples said to Him, “You see the multitude thronging You, and You say, ‘Who touched Me?’ ”

32And He looked around to see her who had done this thing.

33But the woman, fearing and trembling, knowing what had happened to her, came and fell down before Him and told Him the whole truth.

34And He said to her, “Daughter, your faith has made you well. Go in peace, and be healed of your affliction.”

35While He was still speaking, some came from the ruler of the synagogue’s house who said, “Your daughter is dead. Why trouble the Teacher any further?”

36As soon as Jesus heard the word that was spoken, He said to the ruler of the synagogue, “Do not be afraid; only believe.”

37And He permitted no one to follow Him except Peter, James, and John the brother of James.

38Then He came to the house of the ruler of the synagogue, and saw a tumult and those who wept and wailed loudly.

39When He came in, He said to them, “Why make this commotion and weep? The child is not dead, but sleeping.”

40And they ridiculed Him. But when He had put them all outside, He took the father and the mother of the child, and those who were with Him, and entered where the child was lying.

41Then He took the child by the hand, and said to her, “Talitha, cumi,” which is translated, “Little girl, I say to you, arise.”

42Immediately the girl arose and walked, for she was twelve years of age. And they were overcome with great amazement.

43But He commanded them strictly that no one should know it, and said that something should be given her to eat.

Mark 6

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

(Matt. 13:53–58; Luke 4:16–30)

1Then He went out from there and came to His own country, and His disciples followed Him.

2And when the Sabbath had come, He began to teach in the synagogue. And many hearing Him were astonished, saying, “Where did this Man get these things? And what wisdom is this which is given to Him, that such mighty works are performed by His hands!

3“Is this not the carpenter, the Son of Mary, and brother of James, Joses, Judas, and Simon? And are not His sisters here with us?” So they were offended at Him.

4But Jesus said to them, “A prophet is not without honor except in his own country, among his own relatives, and in his own house.”

5Now He could do no mighty work there, except that He laid His hands on a few sick people and healed them.

6And He marveled because of their unbelief. Then He went about the villages in a circuit, teaching.

Sending Out the Twelve

(Matt. 10:1, 5–15; Luke 9:1–6)

7 And He called the twelve to Himself, and began to send them out two by two, and gave them power over unclean spirits.

8 He commanded them to take nothing for the journey except a staff—no bag, no bread, no copper in their money belts—

9 but to wear sandals, and not to put on two tunics.

10 Also He said to them, "In whatever place you enter a house, stay there till you depart from that place.

11 "And whoever[a] will not receive you nor hear you, when you depart from there, shake off the dust under your feet as a testimony against them.[b] Assuredly, I say to you, it will be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment than for that city!"

12 So they went out and preached that people should repent.

13 And they cast out many demons, and anointed with oil many who were sick, and healed them.

John the Baptist Beheaded

(Matt. 14:1–12; Luke 9:7–9)

14 Now King Herod heard of Him, for His name had become well known. And he said, "John the Baptist is risen from the dead, and therefore these powers are at work in him."

15 Others said, "It is Elijah." And others said, "It is the Prophet, or[c] like one of the prophets."

16 But when Herod heard, he said, "This is John, whom I beheaded; he has been raised from the dead!"

17 For Herod himself had sent and laid hold of John, and bound him in prison for the sake of Herodias, his brother Philip's wife; for he had married her.

18 Because John had said to Herod, "It is not lawful for you to have your brother's wife."

19 Therefore Herodias held it against him and wanted to kill him, but she could not;

20 for Herod feared John, knowing that he was a just and holy man, and he protected him. And when he heard him, he did many things, and heard him gladly.

21 Then an opportune day came when Herod on his birthday gave a feast for his nobles, the high officers, and the chief men of Galilee.

[22]And when Herodias' daughter herself came in and danced, and pleased Herod and those who sat with him, the king said to the girl, "Ask me whatever you want, and I will give it to you."

[23]He also swore to her, "Whatever you ask me, I will give you, up to half my kingdom."

[24]So she went out and said to her mother, "What shall I ask?" And she said, "The head of John the Baptist!"

[25]Immediately she came in with haste to the king and asked, saying, "I want you to give me at once the head of John the Baptist on a platter."

[26]And the king was exceedingly sorry; yet, because of the oaths and because of those who sat with him, he did not want to refuse her.

[27]Immediately the king sent an executioner and commanded his head to be brought. And he went and beheaded him in prison, [28]brought his head on a platter, and gave it to the girl; and the girl gave it to her mother.

[29]When his disciples heard of it, they came and took away his corpse and laid it in a tomb.

Feeding the Five Thousand

(Matt. 14:13–21; Luke 9:10–17; John 6:1–14)

30Then the apostles gathered to Jesus and told Him all things, both what they had done and what they had taught.

31And He said to them, "Come aside by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while." For there were many coming and going, and they did not even have time to eat.

[32]So they departed to a deserted place in the boat by themselves.

[33]But the multitudes[d] saw them departing, and many knew Him and ran there on foot from all the cities. They arrived before them and came together to Him.

[34]And Jesus, when He came out, saw a great multitude and was moved with compassion for them, because they were like sheep not having a shepherd. So He began to teach them many things.

[35]When the day was now far spent, His disciples came to Him and said, "This is a deserted place, and already the hour is late.

[36]"Send them away, that they may go into the surrounding country and villages and buy themselves bread;[e] for they have nothing to eat."

37 But He answered and said to them, “You give them something to eat.”
And they said to Him, “Shall we go and buy two hundred denarii worth of bread and give them something to eat?” 38 But He said to them, “How many loaves do you have? Go and see.” And when they found out they said, “Five, and two fish.” 39 Then He commanded them to make them all sit down in groups on the green grass.
40 So they sat down in ranks, in hundreds and in fifties.
41 And when He had taken the five loaves and the two fish, He looked up to heaven, blessed and broke the loaves, and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and the two fish He divided among them all.
42 So they all ate and were filled.
43 And they took up twelve baskets full of fragments and of the fish.
44 Now those who had eaten the loaves were about[f] five thousand men.

Jesus Walks on the Sea

(Matt. 14:22–33; John 6:15–21)

45 Immediately He made His disciples get into the boat and go before Him to the other side, to Bethsaida, while He sent the multitude away.
46 And when He had sent them away, He departed to the mountain to pray.
47 Now when evening came, the boat was in the middle of the sea; and He was alone on the land.
48 Then He saw them straining at rowing, for the wind was against them.
Now about the fourth watch of the night He came to them, walking on the sea, and would have passed them by.
49 And when they saw Him walking on the sea, they supposed it was a ghost, and cried out;
50 for they all saw Him and were troubled. But immediately He talked with them and said to them, “Be of good cheer! It is I; do not be afraid.” 51 Then He went up into the boat to them, and the wind ceased. And they were greatly amazed in themselves beyond measure, and marveled.
52 For they had not understood about the loaves, because their heart was hardened.

Many Touch Him and Are Made Well

(Matt. 14:34–36)

53 When they had crossed over, they came to the land of Gennesaret and anchored there.

54And when they came out of the boat, immediately the people recognized Him, 55ran through that whole surrounding region, and began to carry about on beds those who were sick to wherever they heard He was.

56Wherever He entered, into villages, cities, or the country, they laid the sick in the marketplaces, and begged Him that they might just touch the hem of His garment. And as many as touched Him were made well.

Mark 7

Defilement Comes from Within

(Matt. 15:1–20)

1Then the Pharisees and some of the scribes came together to Him, having come from Jerusalem.

2Now when[a] they saw some of His disciples eat bread with defiled, that is, with unwashed hands, they found fault.

3For the Pharisees and all the Jews do not eat unless they wash their hands in a special way, holding the tradition of the elders.

4*When they come* from the marketplace, they do not eat unless they wash. And there are many other things which they have received and hold, like the washing of cups, pitchers, copper vessels, and couches.

5Then the Pharisees and scribes asked Him, "Why do Your disciples not walk according to the tradition of the elders, but eat bread with unwashed hands?"

6He answered and said to them, "Well did Isaiah prophesy of you hypocrites, as it is written:

> 'This people honors Me with their lips,
> But their heart is far from Me.
> 7*And in vain they worship Me,*
> Teaching as doctrines the commandments of men.'[b]

8"For laying aside the commandment of God, you hold the tradition of men[c]—the washing of pitchers and cups, and many other such things you do."

9 He said to them, “All too well you reject the commandment of God, that you may keep your tradition.
10 “For Moses said, ‘Honor your father and your mother’;[d] and, ‘He who curses father or mother, let him be put to death.’[e] 11 “But you say, ‘If a man says to his father or mother, “Whatever profit you might have received from me is Corban”—’ (that is, a gift to God), 12 “then you no longer let him do anything for his father or his mother, 13 “making the word of God of no effect through your tradition which you have handed down. And many such things you do.” 14 When He had called all the multitude to Himself, He said to them, “Hear Me, everyone, and understand:
15 “There is nothing that enters a man from outside which can defile him;
but the things which come out of him, those are the things that defile a man.
16 “If anyone has ears to hear, let him hear!”[f]
17 When He had entered a house away from the crowd, His disciples asked Him concerning the parable.
18 So He said to them, “Are you thus without understanding also? Do you not perceive that whatever enters a man from outside cannot defile him, 19 “because it does not enter his heart but his stomach, and is eliminated, thus purifying all foods?”[g] 20 And He said, “What comes out of a man, that defiles a man.
21 “For from within, out of the heart of men, proceed evil thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders, 22 “thefts, covetousness, wickedness, deceit, lewdness, an evil eye, blasphemy, pride, foolishness.
23 “All these evil things come from within and defile a man.”

A Gentile Shows Her Faith

(Matt. 15:21–28)

24 From there He arose and went to the region of Tyre and Sidon.[h] And He entered a house and wanted no one to know it, but He could not be hidden.
25 For a woman whose young daughter had an unclean spirit heard about Him, and she came and fell at His feet.
26 The woman was a Greek, a Syro-Phoenician by birth, and she kept asking Him to cast the demon out of her daughter.
27 But Jesus said to her, “Let the children be filled first, for it is not good to take the children’s bread and throw it to the little dogs.”

28And she answered and said to Him, “Yes, Lord, yet even the little dogs under the table eat from the children’s crumbs.” 29Then He said to her, “For this saying go your way; the demon has gone out of your daughter.”
30And when she had come to her house, she found the demon gone out, and her daughter lying on the bed.

Jesus Heals a Deaf-Mute

(Matt. 15:29–31)

31Again, departing from the region of Tyre and Sidon, He came through the midst of the region of Decapolis to the Sea of Galilee.
32Then they brought to Him one who was deaf and had an impediment in his speech, and they begged Him to put His hand on him.
33And He took him aside from the multitude, and put His fingers in his ears, and He spat and touched his tongue.
34Then, looking up to heaven, He sighed, and said to him, “Ephphatha,” that is, “Be opened.”
35Immediately his ears were opened, and the impediment of his tongue was loosed, and he spoke plainly.
36Then He commanded them that they should tell no one; but the more He commanded them, the more widely they proclaimed it.
37And they were astonished beyond measure, saying, “He has done all things well. He makes both the deaf to hear and the mute to speak.”

Mark 8

Feeding the Four Thousand

(Matt. 15:32–39)

1In those days, the multitude being very great and having nothing to eat, Jesus called His disciples to Him and said to them,
2“I have compassion on the multitude, because they have now continued with Me three days and have nothing to eat.
3“And if I send them away hungry to their own houses, they will faint on the way; for some of them have come from afar.” 4Then His disciples answered Him, “How can one satisfy these people with bread here in the wilderness?”

5He asked them, “How many loaves do you have?” And they said, “Seven.”

6So He commanded the multitude to sit down on the ground. And He took the seven loaves and gave thanks, broke them and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and they set them before the multitude.

7They also had a few small fish; and having blessed them, He said to set them also before them.

8So they ate and were filled, and they took up seven large baskets of leftover fragments.

9Now those who had eaten were about four thousand. And He sent them away, 10immediately got into the boat with His disciples, and came to the region of Dalmanutha.

The Pharisees Seek a Sign

(Matt. 16:1–4)

11Then the Pharisees came out and began to dispute with Him, seeking from Him a sign from heaven, testing Him.

12But He sighed deeply in His spirit, and said, “Why does this generation seek a sign? Assuredly, I say to you, no sign shall be given to this generation.”

Beware of the Leaven of the Pharisees and Herod

(Matt. 16:5–12)

13And He left them, and getting into the boat again, departed to the other side.

14Now the disciples[a] had forgotten to take bread, and they did not have more than one loaf with them in the boat.

15Then He charged them, saying, “Take heed, beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and the leaven of Herod.”

16And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “It is because we have no bread.”

17But Jesus, being aware of it, said to them, “Why do you reason because you have no bread? Do you not yet perceive nor understand? Is your heart still[b] hardened?

18“Having eyes, do you not see? And having ears, do you not hear? And do you not remember?

19 “When I broke the five loaves for the five thousand, how many baskets full of fragments did you take up?” They said to Him, “Twelve.” 20 “Also, when I broke the seven for the four thousand, how many large baskets full of fragments did you take up?” And they said, “Seven.”
21 So He said to them, “How is it you do not understand?”

A Blind Man Healed at Bethsaida

22 Then He came to Bethsaida; and they brought a blind man to Him, and begged Him to touch him.
23 So He took the blind man by the hand and led him out of the town. And when He had spit on his eyes and put His hands on him, He asked him if he saw anything.
24 And he looked up and said, “I see men like trees, walking.”
25 Then He put His hands on his eyes again and made him look up. And he was restored and saw everyone clearly.
26 Then He sent him away to his house, saying, “Neither go into the town, nor tell anyone in the town.”[c]

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

(Matt. 16:13–20; Luke 9:18–20)

27 Now Jesus and His disciples went out to the towns of Caesarea Philippi; and on the road He asked His disciples, saying to them, “Who do men say that I am?”
28 So they answered, “John the Baptist; but some say, Elijah; and others, one of the prophets.”
29 He said to them, “But who do you say that I am?” Peter answered and said to Him, “You are the Christ.”
30 Then He strictly warned them that they should tell no one about Him.

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 16:21–23; Luke 9:21, 22)

31 And He began to teach them that the Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and after three days rise again.
32 He spoke this word openly. Then Peter took Him aside and began to rebuke Him.

33But when He had turned around and looked at His disciples, He rebuked Peter, saying, “Get behind Me, Satan! For you are not mindful of the things of God, but the things of men.”

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

(Matt. 16:24–27; Luke 9:23–26)

34When He had called the people to Himself, with His disciples also, He said to them, “Whoever desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me.

35“For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake and the gospel’s will save it.

36“For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul?

37“Or what will a man give in exchange for his soul?

38“For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words in this adulterous and sinful generation, of him the Son of Man also will be ashamed when He comes in the glory of His Father with the holy angels.”

Mark 9

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

(Matt. 16:28—17:13; Luke 9:27–36; 2 Pet. 1:16–18)

1And He said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you that there are some standing here who will not taste death till they see the kingdom of God present with power.”

2Now after six days Jesus took Peter, James, and John, and led them up on a high mountain apart by themselves; and He was transfigured before them.

3His clothes became shining, exceedingly white, like snow, such as no launderer on earth can whiten them.

4And Elijah appeared to them with Moses, and they were talking with Jesus.

5Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, “Rabbi, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles: one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah”— 6because he did not know what to say, for they were greatly afraid.

7And a cloud came and overshadowed them; and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is My beloved Son. Hear Him!”

[8]Suddenly, when they had looked around, they saw no one anymore, but only Jesus with themselves.

[9]Now as they came down from the mountain, He commanded them that they should tell no one the things they had seen, till the Son of Man had risen from the dead.

[10]So they kept this word to themselves, questioning what the rising from the dead meant.

[11]And they asked Him, saying, “Why do the scribes say that Elijah must come first?”

[12]Then He answered and told them, “Indeed, Elijah is coming first and restores all things. And how is it written concerning the Son of Man, that He must suffer many things and be treated with contempt?

[13]“But I say to you that Elijah has also come, and they did to him whatever they wished, as it is written of him.”

A Boy Is Healed

(Matt. 17:14–21; Luke 9:37–42)

[14]And when He came to the disciples, He saw a great multitude around them, and scribes disputing with them.

[15]Immediately, when they saw Him, all the people were greatly amazed, and running to Him, greeted Him.

[16]And He asked the scribes, “What are you discussing with them?”

[17]Then one of the crowd answered and said, “Teacher, I brought You my son, who has a mute spirit.

[18]“And wherever it seizes him, it throws him down; he foams at the mouth, gnashes his teeth, and becomes rigid. So I spoke to Your disciples, that they should cast it out, but they could not.”

[19]He answered him and said, “O faithless generation, how long shall I be with you? How long shall I bear with you? Bring him to Me.”

[20]Then they brought him to Him. And when he saw Him, immediately the spirit convulsed him, and he fell on the ground and wallowed, foaming at the mouth.

[21]So He asked his father, “How long has this been happening to him?” And he said, “From childhood.

[22]“And often he has thrown him both into the fire and into the water to destroy him. But if You can do anything, have compassion on us and help us."

23 Jesus said to him, "If you can believe,[a] all things are possible to him who believes."

24 Immediately the father of the child cried out and said with tears, "Lord, I believe; help my unbelief!"

25 When Jesus saw that the people came running together, He rebuked the unclean spirit, saying to it: "Deaf and dumb spirit, I command you, come out of him and enter him no more!"

26 Then the spirit cried out, convulsed him greatly, and came out of him. And he became as one dead, so that many said, "He is dead."

27 But Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and he arose.

28 And when He had come into the house, His disciples asked Him privately, "Why could we not cast it out?"

29 So He said to them, "This kind can come out by nothing but prayer and fasting."[b]

Jesus Again Predicts His Death and Resurrection

30 Then they departed from there and passed through Galilee, and He did not want anyone to know it.

31 For He taught His disciples and said to them, "The Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of men, and they will kill Him. And after He is killed, He will rise the third day."

32 But they did not understand this saying, and were afraid to ask Him.

Who Is the Greatest?

(Matt. 18:1–5; Luke 9:46–48)

33 Then He came to Capernaum. And when He was in the house He asked them, "What was it you disputed among yourselves on the road?"

34 But they kept silent, for on the road they had disputed among themselves who would be the greatest.

35 And He sat down, called the twelve, and said to them, "If anyone desires to be first, he shall be last of all and servant of all."

36 Then He took a little child and set him in the midst of them. And when He had taken him in His arms, He said to them,

37 "Whoever receives one of these little children in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me, receives not Me but Him who sent Me."

Jesus Forbids Sectarianism

(Matt. 10:40–42; Luke 9:49, 50)

38 Now John answered Him, saying, “Teacher, we saw someone who does not follow us casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow us.”
39 But Jesus said, “Do not forbid him, for no one who works a miracle in My name can soon afterward speak evil of Me.
40 “For he who is not against us is on our[c] side.
41 “For whoever gives you a cup of water to drink in My name, because you belong to Christ, assuredly, I say to you, he will by no means lose his reward.

Jesus Warns of Offenses

(Matt. 18:6–9; Luke 17:1, 2)

42 “But whoever causes one of these little ones who believe in Me to stumble, it would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea.
43 “If your hand causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter into life maimed, rather than having two hands, to go to hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched—
44 “where

> ‘Their worm does not die,
> And the fire is not quenched.’[d]

45 “And if your foot causes you to sin, cut it off. It is better for you to enter life lame, rather than having two feet, to be cast into hell, into the fire that shall never be quenched—
46 “where

> ‘Their worm does not die,
> And the fire is not quenched.’[e]

47 “And if your eye causes you to sin, pluck it out. It is better for you to enter the kingdom of God with one eye, rather than having two eyes, to be cast into hell fire—
48 “where

‘Their worm does not die,
And the fire is not quenched.’[f]

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless

49 “For everyone will be seasoned with fire,[g] and every sacrifice will be seasoned with salt.
50 “Salt is good, but if the salt loses its flavor, how will you season it? Have salt in yourselves, and have peace with one another.”

Mark 10

Marriage and Divorce
(Matt. 19:1–9)

1 Then He arose from there and came to the region of Judea by the other side of the Jordan. And multitudes gathered to Him again, and as He was accustomed, He taught them again.
2 The Pharisees came and asked Him, “Is it lawful for a man to divorce his wife?” testing Him.
3 And He answered and said to them, “What did Moses command you?”
4 They said, “Moses permitted a man to write a certificate of divorce, and to dismiss her.”
5 And Jesus answered and said to them, “Because of the hardness of your heart he wrote you this precept.
6 “But from the beginning of the creation, God ‘made them male and female.’[a] 7 ‘For this reason a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife,
8 ‘and the two shall become one flesh’;[b] so then they are no longer two, but one flesh.
9 “Therefore what God has joined together, let not man separate.”
10 In the house His disciples also asked Him again about the same matter.
11 So He said to them, “Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery against her.
12 “And if a woman divorces her husband and marries another, she commits adultery.”

Jesus Blesses Little Children

(Matt. 19:13–15; Luke 18:15–17)

13 Then they brought little children to Him, that He might touch them; but the disciples rebuked those who brought them.
14 But when Jesus saw it, He was greatly displeased and said to them, "Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for of such is the kingdom of God.
15 "Assuredly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will by no means enter it." 16 And He took them up in His arms, laid His hands on them, and blessed them.

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

(Matt. 19:16–22; Luke 18:18–23)

17 Now as He was going out on the road, one came running, knelt before Him, and asked Him, "Good Teacher, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?"
18 So Jesus said to him, "Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, God.
19 "You know the commandments: 'Do not commit adultery,' 'Do not murder,' 'Do not steal,' 'Do not bear false witness,' 'Do not defraud,'
'Honor your father and your mother.' "[c] 20 And he answered and said to Him, "Teacher, all these things I have kept from my youth."
21 Then Jesus, looking at him, loved him, and said to him, "One thing you lack: Go your way, sell whatever you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, take up the cross, and follow Me." 22 But he was sad at this word, and went away sorrowful, for he had great possessions.

With God All Things Are Possible

(Matt. 19:23–30; Luke 18:24–30)

23 Then Jesus looked around and said to His disciples, "How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!" 24 And the disciples were astonished at His words. But Jesus answered again and said to them, "Children, how hard it is for those who trust in riches[d] to enter the kingdom of God!

25“It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.” 26And they were greatly astonished, saying among themselves, “Who then can be saved?”
27But Jesus looked at them and said, “With men it is impossible, but not with God; for with God all things are possible.” 28Then Peter began to say to Him, “See, we have left all and followed
You.”
29So Jesus answered and said, “Assuredly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or brothers or sisters or father or mother or wife[e] or children or lands, for My sake and the gospel’s, 30“who shall not receive a hundredfold now in this time—houses and brothers and sisters and mothers and children and lands, with persecutions—and in the age to come, eternal life.
31“But many who are first will be last, and the last first.”

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 20:17–19; Luke 18:31–34)

32Now they were on the road, going up to Jerusalem, and Jesus was going before them; and they were amazed. And as they followed they were afraid.
Then He took the twelve aside again and began to tell them the things that would happen to Him:
33“Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and the Son of Man will be betrayed to the chief priests and to the scribes; and they will condemn Him to death and deliver Him to the Gentiles; 34“and they will mock Him, and scourge Him, and spit on Him, and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again.”

Greatness Is Serving

(Matt. 20:20–28)

35Then James and John, the sons of Zebedee, came to Him, saying, “Teacher, we want You to do for us whatever we ask.”
36And He said to them, “What do you want Me to do for you?”
37They said to Him, “Grant us that we may sit, one on Your right hand and the other on Your left, in Your glory.” 38But Jesus said to them, “You do not know what you ask. Are you able to drink the cup that I drink, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?”

39They said to Him, “We are able.” So Jesus said to them, “You will indeed drink the cup that I drink, and with the baptism I am baptized with you will be baptized;

40“but to sit on My right hand and on My left is not Mine to give, but it is for those for whom it is prepared.”

41And when the ten heard it, they began to be greatly displeased with James and John.

42But Jesus called them to Himself and said to them, “You know that those who are considered rulers over the Gentiles lord it over them, and their great ones exercise authority over them.

43“Yet it shall not be so among you; but whoever desires to become great among you shall be your servant.

44“And whoever of you desires to be first shall be slave of all.

45“For even the Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give His life a ransom for many.”

Jesus Heals Blind Bartimaeus

(Matt. 20:29–34; Luke 18:35–43)

46Now they came to Jericho. As He went out of Jericho with His disciples and a great multitude, blind Bartimaeus, the son of Timaeus, sat by the road begging.

47And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out and say, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!”

48Then many warned him to be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!”

49So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be called. Then they called the blind man, saying to him, “Be of good cheer. Rise, He is calling you.”

50And throwing aside his garment, he rose and came to Jesus.

51So Jesus answered and said to him, “What do you want Me to do for you?” The blind man said to Him, “Rabboni, that I may receive my sight.”

52Then Jesus said to him, “Go your way; your faith has made you well.” And immediately he received his sight and followed Jesus on the road.

Mark 11

The Triumphal Entry

(Matt. 21:1–11; Luke 19:28–40; John 12:12–19)

1 Now when they drew near Jerusalem, to Bethphage[a] and Bethany, at the Mount of Olives, He sent two of His disciples; 2 and He said to them, "Go into the village opposite you; and as soon as you have entered it you will find a colt tied, on which no one has sat. Loose it and bring it.
3 "And if anyone says to you, 'Why are you doing this?' say, 'The Lord has need of it,' and immediately he will send it here." 4 So they went their way, and found the[b] colt tied by the door outside on the street, and they loosed it.
5 But some of those who stood there said to them, "What are you doing, loosing the colt?"
6 And they spoke to them just as Jesus had commanded. So they let them go.
7 Then they brought the colt to Jesus and threw their clothes on it, and He sat on it.
8 And many spread their clothes on the road, and others cut down leafy branches from the trees and spread them on the road.
9 Then those who went before and those who followed cried out, saying:

> "Hosanna!
> 'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!'[c] > 10 Blessed is the kingdom of our father David
> That comes in the name of the Lord![d] > Hosanna in the highest!"

11 And Jesus went into Jerusalem and into the temple. So when He had looked around at all things, as the hour was already late, He went out to Bethany with the twelve.

The Fig Tree Withered

(Matt. 21:18, 19)

12 Now the next day, when they had come out from Bethany, He was hungry.
13 And seeing from afar a fig tree having leaves, He went to see if perhaps He would find something on it. When He came to it, He found nothing but leaves, for it was not the season for figs.

14In response Jesus said to it, “Let no one eat fruit from you ever again.” And His disciples heard it.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Matt. 21:12–17; Luke 19:45–48; John 2:13–22)

15So they came to Jerusalem. Then Jesus went into the temple and began to drive out those who bought and sold in the temple, and overturned the tables of the money changers and the seats of those who sold doves.

16And He would not allow anyone to carry wares through the temple.

17Then He taught, saying to them, “Is it not written, ‘My house shall be called a house of prayer for all nations’?[e] But you have made it a ‘den of thieves.’ ”[f]

18And the scribes and chief priests heard it and sought how they might destroy Him; for they feared Him, because all the people were astonished at His teaching.

19When evening had come, He went out of the city.

The Lesson of the Withered Fig Tree

(Matt. 21:20–22)

20Now in the morning, as they passed by, they saw the fig tree dried up from the roots.

21And Peter, remembering, said to Him, “Rabbi, look! The fig tree which You cursed has withered away.”

22So Jesus answered and said to them, “Have faith in God.

23“For assuredly, I say to you, whoever says to this mountain, ‘Be removed and be cast into the sea,’ and does not doubt in his heart, but believes that those things he says will be done, he will have whatever he says.

24“Therefore I say to you, whatever things you ask when you pray, believe that you receive them, and you will have them.

Forgiveness and Prayer

(Matt. 6:14, 15)

25“And whenever you stand praying, if you have anything against anyone, forgive him, that your Father in heaven may also forgive you your trespasses.

26“But if you do not forgive, neither will your Father in heaven forgive your trespasses.”[g]

Jesus’ Authority Questioned

(Matt. 21:23–27; Luke 20:1–8)

27 Then they came again to Jerusalem. And as He was walking in the temple, the chief priests, the scribes, and the elders came to Him.
28 And they said to Him, “By what authority are You doing these things?
And who gave You this authority to do these things?”
29 But Jesus answered and said to them, “I also will ask you one question;
then answer Me, and I will tell you by what authority I do these things:
30 “The baptism of John—was it from heaven or from men? Answer Me.”
31 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, “If we say, ‘From heaven,’ He will say, ‘Why then did you not believe him?’
32 “But if we say, ‘From men’ ”—they feared the people, for all counted
John to have been a prophet indeed.
33 So they answered and said to Jesus, “We do not know.” And Jesus answered and said to them, “Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things.”

Mark 12

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

(Matt. 21:33–46; Luke 20:9–19)

1 Then He began to speak to them in parables: “A man planted a vineyard and set a hedge around it, dug a place for the wine vat and built a tower. And he leased it to vinedressers and went into a far country.
2 “Now at vintage-time he sent a servant to the vinedressers, that he might receive some of the fruit of the vineyard from the vinedressers.
3 “And they took him and beat him and sent him away empty-handed.
4 “Again he sent them another servant, and at him they threw stones,[a] wounded him in the head, and sent him away shamefully treated.
5 “And again he sent another, and him they killed; and many others, beating some and killing some.
6 “Therefore still having one son, his beloved, he also sent him to them last, saying, ‘They will respect my son.’
7 “But those vinedressers said among themselves, ‘This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance will be ours.'

8"So they took him and killed him and cast him out of the vineyard.
9"Therefore what will the owner of the vineyard do? He will come and destroy the vinedressers, and give the vineyard to others.
10"Have you not even read this Scripture:

> 'The stone which the builders rejected
> Has become the chief cornerstone.
> 11*This was the LORD's doing,*
> And it is marvelous in our eyes'? "[b]

12And they sought to lay hands on Him, but feared the multitude, for they knew He had spoken the parable against them. So they left Him and went away.

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

(Matt. 22:15–22; Luke 20:20–26)

13Then they sent to Him some of the Pharisees and the Herodians, to catch Him in His words.
14When they had come, they said to Him, "Teacher, we know that You are true, and care about no one; for You do not regard the person of men, but teach the way of God in truth. Is it lawful to pay taxes to Caesar, or not?
15"Shall we pay, or shall we not pay?" But He, knowing their hypocrisy, said to them, "Why do you test Me? Bring Me a denarius that I may see it."
16So they brought it. And He said to them, "Whose image and inscription is this?" They said to Him, "Caesar's."
17And Jesus answered and said to them, "Render to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and to God the things that are God's." And they marveled at Him.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

(Matt. 22:23–33; Luke 20:27–40)

18Then some Sadducees, who say there is no resurrection, came to Him; and they asked Him, saying:
19"Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if a man's brother dies, and leaves his wife behind, and leaves no children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother.

20“Now there were seven brothers. The first took a wife; and dying, he left no offspring.
21“And the second took her, and he died; nor did he leave any offspring.
And the third likewise.
22“So the seven had her and left no offspring. Last of all the woman died also.
23“Therefore, in the resurrection, when they rise, whose wife will she be?
For all seven had her as wife.”
24Jesus answered and said to them, “Are you not therefore mistaken, because you do not know the Scriptures nor the power of God?
25“For when they rise from the dead, they neither marry nor are given in marriage, but are like angels in heaven.
26“But concerning the dead, that they rise, have you not read in the book of Moses, in the burning bush passage, how God spoke to him, saying, ‘I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob’?[c] 27“He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. You are therefore greatly mistaken.”

The Scribes: Which Is the First Commandment of All?

(Matt. 22:34–40; Luke 10:25–28)

28Then one of the scribes came, and having heard them reasoning together, perceiving[d] that He had answered them well, asked Him, “Which is the first commandment of all?”
29Jesus answered him, “The first of all the commandments is: ‘Hear, O Israel, the LORD our God, the LORD is one.
30*‘And you shall love the* LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your mind, and with all your strength.’[e] This is the first commandment.[f]
31“And the second, like it, is this: ‘You shall love your neighbor as yourself.’[g] There is no other commandment greater than these.” 32So the scribe said to Him, “Well said, Teacher. You have spoken the truth, for there is one God, and there is no other but He.
33“And to love Him with all the heart, with all the understanding, with all the soul,[h] and with all the strength, and to love one’s neighbor as oneself, is more than all the whole burnt offerings and sacrifices.” 34Now when Jesus saw that he answered wisely, He said to him, “You are not far from the kingdom of God.” But after that no one dared question Him.

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

(Matt. 22:41–46; Luke 20:41–44)

35Then Jesus answered and said, while He taught in the temple, "How is it that the scribes say that the Christ is the Son of David?

36"For David himself said by the Holy Spirit:

> 'The LORD said to my Lord,
> "Sit at My right hand,
> Till I make Your enemies Your footstool." '[i]

37"Therefore David himself calls Him 'Lord'; how is He then his Son?" And the common people heard Him gladly.

Beware of the Scribes

(Matt. 23:1–7; Luke 20:45–47)

38Then He said to them in His teaching, "Beware of the scribes, who desire to go around in long robes, love greetings in the marketplaces, 39"the best seats in the synagogues, and the best places at feasts,

40"who devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation."

The Widow's Two Mites

(Luke 21:1–4)

41Now Jesus sat opposite the treasury and saw how the people put money into the treasury. And many who were rich put in much.

42Then one poor widow came and threw in two mites,[j] which make a quadrans.

43So He called His disciples to Himself and said to them, "Assuredly, I say to you that this poor widow has put in more than all those who have given to the treasury;

44"for they all put in out of their abundance, but she out of her poverty put in all that she had, her whole livelihood."

Mark 13

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

(Matt. 24:1, 2; Luke 21:5, 6)

1 Then as He went out of the temple, one of His disciples said to Him, "Teacher, see what manner of stones and what buildings are here!"
2 And Jesus answered and said to him, "Do you see these great buildings?
Not one stone shall be left upon another, that shall not be thrown down."

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

(Matt. 24:3–14; Luke 21:7–19)

3 Now as He sat on the Mount of Olives opposite the temple, Peter, James,
John, and Andrew asked Him privately, 4 "Tell us, when will these things be? And what will be the sign when all these things will be fulfilled?"
5 And Jesus, answering them, began to say: "Take heed that no one deceives you.
6 "For many will come in My name, saying, 'I am He,' and will deceive many.
7 "But when you hear of wars and rumors of wars, do not be troubled; for such things must happen, but the end is not yet.
8 "For nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. And there will be earthquakes in various places, and there will be famines and troubles.[a] These are the beginnings of sorrows.
9 "But watch out for yourselves, for they will deliver you up to councils, and you will be beaten in the synagogues. You will be brought[b] before rulers and kings for My sake, for a testimony to them.
10 "And the gospel must first be preached to all the nations.
11 "But when they arrest you and deliver you up, do not worry beforehand, or premeditate[c] what you will speak. But whatever is given you in that hour, speak that; for it is not you who speak, but the Holy Spirit.
12 "Now brother will betray brother to death, and a father his child; and children will rise up against parents and cause them to be put to death.
13 "And you will be hated by all for My name's sake. But he who endures to the end shall be saved.

The Great Tribulation

14 "So when you see the 'abomination of desolation,'[d] spoken of by Daniel the prophet,[e] standing where it ought not" (let the reader understand), "then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains.

15"Let him who is on the housetop not go down into the house, nor enter to take anything out of his house.

16"And let him who is in the field not go back to get his clothes.

17"But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days!

18"And pray that your flight may not be in winter.

19"For in those days there will be tribulation, such as has not been since the beginning of the creation which God created until this time, nor ever shall be.

20"And unless the Lord had shortened those days, no flesh would be saved; but for the elect's sake, whom He chose, He shortened the days.

21"Then if anyone says to you, 'Look, here is the Christ!' or, 'Look, He is there!' do not believe it.

22"For false christs and false prophets will rise and show signs and wonders to deceive, if possible, even the elect.

23"But take heed; see, I have told you all things beforehand.

The Coming of the Son of Man

(Matt. 24:29–31; Luke 21:25–28)

24"But in those days, after that tribulation, the sun will be darkened, and the moon will not give its light;

25"the stars of heaven will fall, and the powers in the heavens will be shaken.

26"Then they will see the Son of Man coming in the clouds with great power and glory.

27"And then He will send His angels, and gather together His elect from the four winds, from the farthest part of earth to the farthest part of heaven.

The Parable of the Fig Tree

(Matt. 24:32–35; Luke 21:29–33)

28"Now learn this parable from the fig tree: When its branch has already become tender, and puts forth leaves, you know that summer is near.

29"So you also, when you see these things happening, know that it[f] is near —at the doors!

30"Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all these things take place.

31“Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.

No One Knows the Day or Hour

32“But of that day and hour no one knows, not even the angels in heaven, nor the Son, but only the Father.

33“Take heed, watch and pray; for you do not know when the time is.

34“It is like a man going to a far country, who left his house and gave authority to his servants, and to each his work, and commanded the doorkeeper to watch.

35“Watch therefore, for you do not know when the master of the house is coming—in the evening, at midnight, at the crowing of the rooster, or in the morning—

36“lest, coming suddenly, he find you sleeping.

37“And what I say to you, I say to all: Watch!”

Mark 14

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Matt. 26:1–5; Luke 22:1, 2; John 11:45–53)

1After two days it was the Passover and the Feast of Unleavened Bread. And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might take Him by trickery and put Him to death.

2But they said, “Not during the feast, lest there be an uproar of the people.”

The Anointing at Bethany

(Matt. 26:6–13; John 12:1–8)

3And being in Bethany at the house of Simon the leper, as He sat at the table, a woman came having an alabaster flask of very costly oil of spikenard. Then she broke the flask and poured it on His head.

4But there were some who were indignant among themselves, and said, “Why was this fragrant oil wasted?

5“For it might have been sold for more than three hundred denarii and given to the poor.” And they criticized her sharply.

6But Jesus said, “Let her alone. Why do you trouble her? She has done a good work for Me.

7"For you have the poor with you always, and whenever you wish you may do them good; but Me you do not have always.
8"She has done what she could. She has come beforehand to anoint My body for burial.
9"Assuredly, I say to you, wherever this gospel is preached in the whole world, what this woman has done will also be told as a memorial to her."

Judas Agrees to Betray Jesus

(Matt. 26:14–16; Luke 22:3–6)

10Then Judas Iscariot, one of the twelve, went to the chief priests to betray Him to them.
11And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised to give him money. So he sought how he might conveniently betray Him.

Jesus Celebrates the Passover with His Disciples

(Matt. 26:17–25; Luke 22:7–13; John 13:21–30)

12Now on the first day of Unleavened Bread, when they killed the Passover lamb, His disciples said to Him, "Where do You want us to go and prepare, that You may eat the Passover?"
13And He sent out two of His disciples and said to them, "Go into the city, and a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him.
14"Wherever he goes in, say to the master of the house, 'The Teacher says, "Where is the guest room in which I may eat the Passover with My disciples?" '
15"Then he will show you a large upper room, furnished and prepared; there make ready for us."
16So His disciples went out, and came into the city, and found it just as He had said to them; and they prepared the Passover.
17In the evening He came with the twelve.
18Now as they sat and ate, Jesus said, "Assuredly, I say to you, one of you who eats with Me will betray Me."
19And they began to be sorrowful, and to say to Him one by one, "Is it I?" And another said, "Is it I?"[a] 20He answered and said to them, "It is one of the twelve, who dips with Me in the dish.
21"The Son of Man indeed goes just as it is written of Him, but woe to that man by whom the Son of Man is betrayed! It would have been good for that man if he had never been born."

Jesus Institutes the Lord's Supper

(Matt. 26:26–29; Luke 22:14–23; 1 Cor. 11:23–26)

22 And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them and said, "Take, eat;[b] this is My body."
23 Then He took the cup, and when He had given thanks He gave it to them, and they all drank from it.
24 And He said to them, "This is My blood of the new[c] covenant, which is shed for many.
25 "Assuredly, I say to you, I will no longer drink of the fruit of the vine until that day when I drink it new in the kingdom of God."
26 And when they had sung a hymn, they went out to the Mount of Olives.

Jesus Predicts Peter's Denial

27 Then Jesus said to them, "All of you will be made to stumble because of Me this night,[d] for it is written:

> 'I will strike the Shepherd,
> And the sheep will be scattered.'[e]

28 "But after I have been raised, I will go before you to Galilee."
29 Peter said to Him, "Even if all are made to stumble, yet I will not be."
30 Jesus said to him, "Assuredly, I say to you that today, even this night, before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times."
31 But he spoke more vehemently, "If I have to die with You, I will not deny You!" And they all said likewise.

The Prayer in the Garden

(Matt. 26:36–46; Luke 22:39–46)

32 Then they came to a place which was named Gethsemane; and He said to His disciples, "Sit here while I pray."
33 And He took Peter, James, and John with Him, and He began to be troubled and deeply distressed.
34 Then He said to them, "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful, even to death.

Stay here and watch."
35 He went a little farther, and fell on the ground, and prayed that if it were possible, the hour might pass from Him.
36 And He said, "Abba, Father, all things are possible for You. Take this cup away from Me; nevertheless, not what I will, but what You will."
37 Then He came and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, "Simon, are you sleeping? Could you not watch one hour?
38 "Watch and pray, lest you enter into temptation. The spirit indeed is willing, but the flesh is weak."
39 Again He went away and prayed, and spoke the same words.
40 And when He returned, He found them asleep again, for their eyes were heavy; and they did not know what to answer Him.
41 Then He came the third time and said to them, "Are you still sleeping and resting? It is enough! The hour has come; behold, the Son of Man is being betrayed into the hands of sinners.
42 "Rise, let us be going. See, My betrayer is at hand."

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

43 And immediately, while He was still speaking, Judas, one of the twelve, with a great multitude with swords and clubs, came from the chief priests and the scribes and the elders.
44 Now His betrayer had given them a signal, saying, "Whomever I kiss, He is the One; seize Him and lead Him away safely."
45 As soon as he had come, immediately he went up to Him and said to Him, "Rabbi, Rabbi!" and kissed Him.
46 Then they laid their hands on Him and took Him.
47 And one of those who stood by drew his sword and struck the servant of the high priest, and cut off his ear.
48 Then Jesus answered and said to them, "Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs to take Me?
49 "I was daily with you in the temple teaching, and you did not seize Me. But the Scriptures must be fulfilled."
50 Then they all forsook Him and fled.

A Young Man Flees Naked

51 Now a certain young man followed Him, having a linen cloth thrown around his naked body. And the young men laid hold of him, 52 and he left the linen cloth and fled from them naked.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

53 And they led Jesus away to the high priest; and with him were assembled all the chief priests, the elders, and the scribes.
54 But Peter followed Him at a distance, right into the courtyard of the high priest. And he sat with the servants and warmed himself at the fire.
55 Now the chief priests and all the council sought testimony against Jesus to put Him to death, but found none.
56 For many bore false witness against Him, but their testimonies did not agree.
57 Then some rose up and bore false witness against Him, saying, 58 "We heard Him say, 'I will destroy this temple made with hands, and within three days I will build another made without hands.' " 59 But not even then did their testimony agree.
60 And the high priest stood up in the midst and asked Jesus, saying, "Do You answer nothing? What is it these men testify against You?"
61 But He kept silent and answered nothing. Again the high priest asked Him, saying to Him, "Are You the Christ, the Son of the Blessed?"
62 Jesus said, "I am. And you will see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of the Power, and coming with the clouds of heaven." 63 Then the high priest tore his clothes and said, "What further need do we have of witnesses?
64 "You have heard the blasphemy! What do you think?" And they all condemned Him to be deserving of death.
65 Then some began to spit on Him, and to blindfold Him, and to beat Him, and to say to Him, "Prophesy!" And the officers struck Him with the palms of their hands.[f]

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps

(Matt. 26:69–75; Luke 22:54–62; John 18:15–18, 25–27)

66 Now as Peter was below in the courtyard, one of the servant girls of the high priest came.
67 And when she saw Peter warming himself, she looked at him and said,
"You also were with Jesus of Nazareth."

68But he denied it, saying, “I neither know nor understand what you are saying.” And he went out on the porch, and a rooster crowed.

69And the servant girl saw him again, and began to say to those who stood by, “This is one of them.”

70But he denied it again. And a little later those who stood by said to Peter again, “Surely you are one of them; for you are a Galilean, and your speech shows it.”[g]

71Then he began to curse and swear, “I do not know this Man of whom you speak!”

72A second time the rooster crowed. Then Peter called to mind the word that Jesus had said to him, “Before the rooster crows twice, you will deny Me three times.” And when he thought about it, he wept.

Mark 15

Jesus Faces Pilate

(Matthew 27:1, 2, 11–14; Luke 23:1–5; John 18:28–38)

1Immediately, in the morning, the chief priests held a consultation with the elders and scribes and the whole council; and they bound Jesus, led Him away, and delivered Him to Pilate.

2Then Pilate asked Him, “Are You the King of the Jews?” He answered and said to him, “It is as you say.”

3And the chief priests accused Him of many things, but He answered nothing.

4Then Pilate asked Him again, saying, “Do You answer nothing? See how many things they testify against You!”[a] 5But Jesus still answered nothing, so that Pilate marveled.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

6Now at the feast he was accustomed to releasing one prisoner to them, whomever they requested.

7And there was one named Barabbas, who was chained with his fellow rebels; they had committed murder in the rebellion.

8Then the multitude, crying aloud,[b] began to ask him to do just as he had always done for them.

9 But Pilate answered them, saying, “Do you want me to release to you the King of the Jews?”
10 For he knew that the chief priests had handed Him over because of envy.
11 But the chief priests stirred up the crowd, so that he should rather release
Barabbas to them.
12 Pilate answered and said to them again, “What then do you want me to do with Him whom you call the King of the Jews?”
13 So they cried out again, “Crucify Him!”
14 Then Pilate said to them, “Why, what evil has He done?” But they cried out all the more, “Crucify Him!” 15 So Pilate, wanting to gratify the crowd, released Barabbas to them; and he delivered Jesus, after he had scourged Him, to be crucified.

The Soldiers Mock Jesus

(Matt. 27:27–31)

16 Then the soldiers led Him away into the hall called Praetorium, and they called together the whole garrison.
17 And they clothed Him with purple; and they twisted a crown of thorns, put it on His head,
18 and began to salute Him, “Hail, King of the Jews!”
19 Then they struck Him on the head with a reed and spat on Him; and bowing the knee, they worshiped Him.
20 And when they had mocked Him, they took the purple off Him, put His own clothes on Him, and led Him out to crucify Him.

The King on a Cross

(Matt. 27:32–44; Luke 23:26–43; John 19:17–27)

21 Then they compelled a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, the father of Alexander and Rufus, as he was coming out of the country and passing by, to bear His cross.
22 And they brought Him to the place Golgotha, which is translated, Place of a Skull.
23 Then they gave Him wine mingled with myrrh to drink, but He did not take it.
24 And when they crucified Him, they divided His garments, casting lots for them to determine what every man should take.
25 Now it was the third hour, and they crucified Him.

[26]And the inscription of His accusation was written above:

THE KING OF THE JEWS.

[27]With Him they also crucified two robbers, one on His right and the other on His left.

[28]So the Scripture was fulfilled[c] which says, "And He was numbered with the transgressors."[d]

[29]And those who passed by blasphemed Him, wagging their heads and saying, "Aha! You who destroy the temple and build it in three days,

[30]"save Yourself, and come down from the cross!"

[31]Likewise the chief priests also, mocking among themselves with the scribes, said, "He saved others; Himself He cannot save.

[32]"Let the Christ, the King of Israel, descend now from the cross, that we may see and believe."[e] Even those who were crucified with Him reviled Him.

Jesus Dies on the Cross

[33]Now when the sixth hour had come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour.

[34]And at the ninth hour Jesus cried out with a loud voice, saying, "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?" which is translated, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?"[f]

[35]Some of those who stood by, when they heard that, said, "Look, He is calling for Elijah!"

[36]Then someone ran and filled a sponge full of sour wine, put it on a reed, and offered it to Him to drink, saying, "Let Him alone; let us see if Elijah will come to take Him down."

[37]And Jesus cried out with a loud voice, and breathed His last.

[38]Then the veil of the temple was torn in two from top to bottom.

[39]So when the centurion, who stood opposite Him, saw that He cried out like this and breathed His last,[g] he said, "Truly this Man was the Son of God!"

[40]There were also women looking on from afar, among whom were Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James the Less and of Joses, and Salome, [41]who also followed Him and ministered to Him when He was in Galilee, and many other women who came up with Him to Jerusalem.

Jesus Buried in Joseph's Tomb

(Matt. 27:57–61; Luke 23:50–56; John 19:38–42)

42 Now when evening had come, because it was the Preparation Day, that is, the day before the Sabbath, 43 Joseph of Arimathea, a prominent council member, who was himself waiting for the kingdom of God, coming and taking courage, went in to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.
44 Pilate marveled that He was already dead; and summoning the centurion, he asked him if He had been dead for some time.
45 So when he found out from the centurion, he granted the body to Joseph.
46 Then he bought fine linen, took Him down, and wrapped Him in the linen. And he laid Him in a tomb which had been hewn out of the rock, and rolled a stone against the door of the tomb.
47 And Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Joses observed where He was laid.

Mark 16

He Is Risen

(Matt. 28:1–8; Luke 24:1–12; John 20:1–10)

1 Now when the Sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, Mary the mother of James, and Salome bought spices, that they might come and anoint Him.
2 Very early in the morning, on the first day of the week, they came to the tomb when the sun had risen.
3 And they said among themselves, "Who will roll away the stone from the door of the tomb for us?"
4 But when they looked up, they saw that the stone had been rolled away—for it was very large.
5 And entering the tomb, they saw a young man clothed in a long white robe sitting on the right side; and they were alarmed.
6 But he said to them, "Do not be alarmed. You seek Jesus of Nazareth, who was crucified. He is risen! He is not here. See the place where they laid Him.
7 "But go, tell His disciples—and Peter—that He is going before you into Galilee; there you will see Him, as He said to you."
8 So they went out quickly[a] and fled from the tomb, for they trembled and were amazed. And they said nothing to anyone, for they were afraid.

Mary Magdalene Sees the Risen Lord

(Matt. 28:9, 10; John 20:11–18)

9Now when He rose early on the first day of the week, He appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom He had cast seven demons.
10She went and told those who had been with Him, as they mourned and wept.
11And when they heard that He was alive and had been seen by her, they did not believe.

Jesus Appears to Two Disciples

(Luke 24:13–35)

12After that, He appeared in another form to two of them as they walked and went into the country.
13And they went and told it to the rest, but they did not believe them either.

The Great Commission

(Matt. 28:16–20; Luke 24:44–49; Acts 1:6–8)

14Later He appeared to the eleven as they sat at the table; and He rebuked their unbelief and hardness of heart, because they did not believe those who had seen Him after He had risen.
15And He said to them, “Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature.
16“He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not believe will be condemned.
17“And these signs will follow those who believe: In My name they will cast out demons; they will speak with new tongues; 18“they[b] will take up serpents; and if they drink anything deadly, it will by no means hurt them; they will lay hands on the sick, and they will recover.”

Christ Ascends to God’s Right Hand

(Luke 24:50–53)

19So then, after the Lord had spoken to them, He was received up into heaven, and sat down at the right hand of God.
20And they went out and preached everywhere, the Lord working with them and confirming the word through the accompanying signs. Amen.[c]

Annotations for Mark

1:1–8 See notes on Mt 3:1–12; Lk 3:1–18.

1:1 Gospel (lit. “good news” or “good tidings”) refers not to Mark’s writings per se, but to the story of the life, death, and Resurrection of Jesus Christ, the good news of our salvation. Beginning points to the opening events of Christ’s public ministry, namely the preparation by His forerunner, St. John the Baptist, and Christ’s encounter with him.

1:6 John is clothed in a manner similar to that of Elijah (4Kg 1:8), which helps to show that he fulfills the prophecy of Elijah’s return (see article “John the Baptist”).

1:9, 10 See notes at Mt 3:15–17 and Lk 3:21, 22.

🕮 1:9–11 This passage is read on January 5, the Eve of the Feast of the Baptism of Our Lord Jesus Christ (Theophany).

1:13 See notes at Mt 4:1–10 and Lk 4:1–13.

1:14, 15 Mark’s written emphasis on John being put in prison before Jesus begins preaching reveals that a key purpose of the old covenant—to prepare the people for Christ—had been completed (Gal 4:1–5). Once Christ came, the time of preparation was fulfilled. To repent is to do a total “about-face.” The word in Greek literally means to “change one’s mind.” Repentance is a radical change of one’s spirit, mind, thought, and heart—a complete reorientation to a life centered in Christ.

1:16–20 On the calling of the first disciples, see notes at Mt 4:18–22.

1:21 The word immediately occurs almost forty times in Mark’s Gospel, nearly all of them before our Lord’s entrance into Jerusalem. The sense of urgency and purpose as Christ journeys toward Jerusalem to fulfill His mission of redeeming the world helps make Mark’s account not only the shortest but also the most direct of the four Gospels.

1:21–39 See notes for Lk 4:31–43.

1:34 He did not allow the demons to speak, because they knew Him: See note at Mt 12:16–21.

1:35 Jesus sets forth for us an example of spiritual life. Though God incarnate, He prayed continually, often finding a solitary place to be free from distraction, despite the multitude’s need of Him. Our Lord’s ministry comes forth from His communion with the Father and the Holy Spirit and flows to people in their needs. His praying in the morning teaches us that we must put as first priority our commitment to God, and only then will we be equipped to serve others.

1:40–45 On the cleansing of the leper, see notes at Mt 8:1–4 and Lk 5:12–16.

John the Baptist

“John came baptizing in the wilderness and preaching a baptism of repentance for the remission of sins” (Mk 1:4).

John the Baptist plays a crucial role in the history of salvation. Chosen before his birth to be the herald and forerunner of the Messiah (Lk 1:13–17), he knew his Lord from the beginning. Luke writes of John’s miraculous conception (Lk 1:24). He then records that when the Virgin Mary visited Elizabeth, who was then six months pregnant with John the Baptist, the baby in Elizabeth’s womb leaped at the sound of Mary’s voice (Lk 1:41).

Jesus taught that John fulfilled the prophecy of the return of Elijah (Mt 11:14), who was to precede the Messiah as “the voice of one crying in the wilderness: ‘Prepare the way of the LORD’” (Mt 3:3; Mk 1:3; Lk 3:4; Jn 1:23).

Shortly before Jesus began His public ministry, John went out to the wilderness of Jordan to prepare the way for the Messiah. He carried out his prophetic role with a brotherhood of disciples characterized by repentance in expectation of the Kingdom, baptism for forgiveness of sins, bearing the fruit of righteousness, and spiritual discipline. John himself lived by an ascetic rule of poverty and fasting; in fact, he may have been a lifelong Nazirite (see Lk 1:15; Nm 6). His eyes were set not on the body and its desires, but on Christ the Lord, and his influence was widespread (see Mk 11:32; Lk 7:29; Acts 18:25; 19:1–7).

John prophesied Messiah was coming, One immeasurably greater than himself, "whose sandal strap I am not worthy to stoop down and loose" (Mk 1:7). This One would baptize not only with water but with the Holy Spirit (Mk 1:8). When Jesus appeared before him to be baptized, John was humbled, realizing he was in need of being baptized by Jesus (Mt 3:14). But Jesus knew what was fitting "to fulfill all righteousness" (Mt 3:15), and John obeyed. Thus, came about the event so familiar in Orthodox icons: Christ in the Jordan being baptized by John as the Holy Spirit descends on Him in the form of a dove. The Father's voice from heaven declares, "This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased" (Mt 3:17).

John's work was crucial to Jesus' ministry. Jesus considered John's testimony important—not because Jesus, the Son of God, needed to be validated by any human witness, but because the people's acceptance of John as a godly man prepared them to accept Jesus as well (Jn 5:33–35). Jesus' first disciples came from John's brotherhood (Jn 1:35–39), and the vacancy in the apostolic college left by Judas' betrayal was filled by one who had been John's follower (Acts 1:22).

John the Baptist died a martyr for Christ (Mk 6:24–29). The Orthodox Church commemorates him in special hymns every Tuesday, as well as on designated feast days throughout the year.

2:1–12 See note at Mt 9:2–8. Note that one purpose of Christ's coming into the world is to forgive sins (v. 10), freeing humanity from its bondage. Forgiving sins is a greater power than physical healing, for, as the scribes correctly note, God alone can forgive sins (v. 7). Thus, the easier task (v. 9) is to grant physical healing. Though Christ is fully God and holds the authority to forgive, He condescends to those gathered and heals this man in order to draw people to God, whom they glorified.

3:5 Righteous anger is a natural human emotion experienced in the face of sin. While there is anger that is certainly sinful (Mt 5:22), there is also anger that is God-given and proper to humanity (Ps 4:4). Christ's anger here is in response to people professing God, yet having such hardness in their hearts that they could not rejoice in the healing of one of their brothers.

3:7 Jesus withdrew both because the Pharisees were planning to destroy Him (though it was not time for Him to die) and in order to preach in other places.

4:13–20 In this parable, our Lord reveals Himself as the promised Messiah, the sower, who had been foretold in Is 55:10–13. See also note at Lk 8:5–15.

4:24 This is a call to attentive listening and discriminating response. We must not only hear, but hear properly. More will be given to those who respond to Christ with open hearts; they will grow in understanding. "Do the good you know, and what you do not know will be revealed to you" (MkAsc). See also note at Mt 7:2.

4:26–29 This parable occurs only in Mark. The kingdom refers to the whole span of God's dispensation or plan of salvation. The man is Christ, and the seed is the gospel (see vv. 13–20). His sleep indicates Christ's death, from which He will rise. That the man does not know how the seed grows shows Christ does not manipulate man's response to the gospel, but each person is free to receive it and to let it grow in his own heart. The harvest indicates the Second Coming, when all will be judged on their reception of the gospel.

4:30–32 See note at Mt 13:31–33.

4:33 To unbelievers, the parables remain bewildering. To those with simple faith, these stories using common images reveal truth in ways they can grasp, as they were able.

4:35–41 See notes at Mt 8:23–27 and Lk 8:22–25.

5:1–20 The country of the Gadarenes was in Galilee, an area with many Gentiles living among the Jews (see also note at Mt 4:15). Gentile influence on the Jews caused many of them to take on Gentile practices, such as raising swine (v. 11), forbidden by the Law (Dt 14:8). For more on this miracle, see notes at Mt 8:28–34 and Lk 8:33.

5:21–34 See notes at Mt 9:18–26.

5:25–29 A spiritual interpretation of this encounter given by the Fathers is that this woman symbolizes human nature in general. Humanity is in constant suffering and subject to death, symbolized by the flow of blood. The physicians who could not cure her stand for the various religions of the world, as well as the OT Law, which were unable to grant life to humanity. Only through Christ are we freed from suffering and bondage to sin.

5:41 On Christ raising the dead, see note at Lk 7:11–17.

6:1–3 This double response of being both astonished (v. 2) and offended (v. 3) occurs frequently with those who encounter Christ (Lk 11:14–16; Jn 9:16). Christ's rejection in his own country foreshadows His rejection by the whole Jewish nation at His trial before Pilate (Jn 19:14, 15). Brother: See note at Mt 12:46–50.

6:5, 6 Jesus could do no mighty work there, not because He lacked power, but because of the unbelief of all but a few in Nazareth. While grace is always offered to all, only those who receive it in faith obtain its benefits.

6:7–13 See notes at Mt 10:1–15.

6:13 Anointing the sick with oil has not only medicinal value but sacramental value as well. As God's healing power is bestowed through creation (5:27; Nm 21:8, 9; 4Kg 13:21; Jn 9:6, 7; Acts 5:15; 19:11, 12), so oil is a vehicle of God's mercy and healing in the Church (Jam 5:14).

6:14 This King Herod was the son of the one who slew the infants in Bethlehem (Mt 2:16). Though he was technically a governor, he was popularly called king. Knowing that John the Baptist had worked no miracles while living, Herod now believes John was raised from the dead (v. 16), thinking powers are at work in him. Thus, he fears John more dead than alive.

📖 6:14–30 This passage is read on August 29, the Feast of the Beheading of John the Baptist.

6:15 Elijah was expected to return and work signs before the second coming of the Lord (Mal 4:5). The Prophet is interpreted by some to be a reference to the Messiah, the One whom Moses foretold (Dt 18:15), while others interpret it as simply meaning a new prophet had arisen.

6:17–29 This account is given parenthetically, explaining John's earlier death so hearers would understand why Herod would think that John had risen from the dead. After this flashback, v. 30 picks up where v. 13 left off. The beheading of St. John is remembered in the Church on August 29 with a day of fasting. As part of God's plan of salvation, John's martyrdom allowed the coming of the Messiah to be announced to the souls in Hades, for John was the forerunner of Christ there as well as on earth. At Matins on this day we sing, "Your tongue, which constantly speaks of God, has preceded Christ into death and is sent to preach Him to those in Hades."

6:20 That Herod, with his wealth and soldiers, feared John, a man who lived in poverty and was clothed in camel's hair (1:6), is a testament both to the power of personal holiness and integrity, and also to the people's perception of John, for they held him in the highest esteem (11:32).

6:30 This verse picks up where v. 13 left off, as the story of the beheading of St. John is given parenthetically (see note at 6:20).

6:31 Christ gives rest to His disciples to show those engaged in preaching and teaching that they must not labor continuously, but must also take rest.

6:37–44 See notes at Mt 14:14–21.

6:45–52 See note at Mt 14:27.

6:52 Knowing Christ is a matter of the heart, not merely the intellect. When our hearts are illumined by faith in God, they are open to receive His presence and grace. In the ascetic writings of the Church, the heart is known as "the seat of knowledge."

6:56 Christ permits miracles through touch to show that His very body is life-giving (see also 5:25–29).

7:1–13 The issue here is not the observation of Jewish customs or traditions, which Jesus certainly does not prohibit (Mt 5:17–19; 23:23). At issue is setting human tradition contrary to the tradition of God (v. 8). The tradition of the elders (v. 3) is a body of interpretations of the Law, which for the Pharisees and the scribes (v. 1) was as authoritative as the Law and often superseded it. According to this tradition, offerings (called Corban, v. 11) could be promised to God in such a way that property or earnings could still be used for oneself, but not for anybody else, including one's parents. Secondary traditions such as this obscure the primary tradition of the Law, which is contained in God's commandments.

7:15–23 Food cannot defile a person because it is created by God and is therefore pure. Evil things (v. 21) are not from God, and these are what defile a person.

7:24–30 See notes at Mt 15:21–28.

7:34 He sighed: a sign of divine compassion for the sufferings of our fallen human nature.

7:36 Here, our Lord shows us we must not seek acclaim or praise when we do good to others. Interestingly, Theophylact upholds those who disobey Christ in this situation, seeing them as a good example, that we should proclaim those who have done good to us even if they do not want us to.

8:1–9 See note at Mt 15:32–39.

8:11 See note at Mt 16:1–3.

8:15 The leaven of the Pharisees is their doctrine (Mt 16:12) and their hypocrisy (Lk 12:1). In Scripture, leaven is used both positively (as in Mt 13:33) and negatively, as it is here. In either case, leaven symbolizes a force powerful enough (and often subtle enough) to permeate and affect everything around it (see 1Co 5:6–8).

8:22–26 The people of Bethsaida were unbelieving (Mt 11:21); thus, Jesus leads the blind man out of the town to heal him, so that the people would not scoff at the miracle and bring upon themselves greater condemnation. That the blind man was healed in stages (vv. 23–25) shows that he had only a small amount of faith, for healing occurs according to one's faith (6:5, 6); yet this little faith was enough, and it increased with the touch of Christ. Christ's command not to return to the town (v. 26) symbolizes that we must not return to our sins once we have been forgiven.

8:27–30 See note at Mt 16:13–20.

8:31–33 See note at Mt 16:21–23.

8:34–38 See notes at Mt 16:24–26.

🕮 8:34–9:1 This passage is read on the third Sunday of Great Lent, called the Adoration of the Holy Cross.

9:1 This is a reference to those who would witness the Transfiguration (vv. 2–13), as well as to those in every generation who will experience the presence of God's kingdom.

9:2–13 On the Transfiguration, see note at Lk 9:31, and the article "The Transfiguration" at Mt 17.

📖 9:17–31 This passage is read on the fourth Sunday of Great Lent, on which is commemorated St. John of the Ladder.

9:30–32 Jesus predicts His death and Resurrection a second time (see 8:31) to show He is going to His Passion freely, and not being taken against His will.

9:33–37 See note at Mt 18:1–4.

9:38–40 See note at Lk 9:46–50.

9:42 Little ones include all who have childlike humility and simplicity, all who are poor in spirit.

📖 9:42—10:1 This passage is read on December 17, the Feast of the Prophet Daniel.

9:43–48 See note at Mt 18:8.

9:49 Being seasoned with fire means being tested to see if one's faith and works are genuine (see 1Co 3:11–15). In saying every sacrifice will be seasoned with salt, Jesus is quoting Lv 2:13, in which salt stands for the remembrance of God's covenant with His people. See note at Mt 5:13–16.

10:2–12 See notes at Mt 5:31, 32, 19:3–9.

10:13–16 See note at Mt 19:13–15.

10:17–27 See notes at Mt 19:16–26.

10:28–30 See note at Mt 19:29.

10:32–34 Christ's repeated predictions of His Passion were intended to encourage and strengthen the disciples for the terrifying events they would face. They also confirms that Christ was going to His death of His own will and choosing.

10:35–40 See note at Mt 20:20–23.

10:45 The phrase for many is an Aramaic expression meaning "for all."

10:46–52 The restoration of sight to the blind (vv. 51, 52) was a sign expected to be performed by the Messiah (Is 29:18; 35:4, 5), a power God had reserved for Himself (compare Jn 9:32). Son of David (vv. 47, 48) was a messianic title, showing that Bartimaeus (v. 46) had faith that Jesus was the Christ.

The Fathers give a spiritual interpretation to this miracle as well. Jericho was a low-lying city associated with sin (Lk 10:30; 19:1); here it symbolizes fallen humanity. Christ passing through Jericho is an image of His Incarnation. The Lord restoring sight to Bartimaeus parallels His restoring humanity to glory. Having been made whole by Christ, human nature can now follow Christ on the road to the Kingdom (v. 52), symbolized by our Lord's subsequent entrance into Jerusalem (11:1–11).

11:1–11 See notes at Mt 21:1–11.

11:13, 14 It was not the season for figs means that this fig tree had sprouted an early full foliage, indicating a first crop, but without bearing any fruit. Jesus, finding not even one fig, condemns it. In Scripture a fig tree is often a symbol of Israel (Hos 9:10). Her fruitfulness has ceased, so the Kingdom will be taken from her and given to another people, who are called to bear spiritual fruit (see Mt 21:43; Gal 5:22, 23; see note at Mt 21:19).

11:15–19 See note at Mt 21:12, 13.

11:20, 21 The cursing and withering of the fig tree is a prophetic act signifying the judgment of Israel. The disciples need to learn that the old covenant with Israel is becoming "obsolete" and will "vanish away" (Heb 8:13). They will establish His Church, ultimately to be filled with Gentiles and Jews, and need assurance that they are following His will. The fig tree will be an indelible image in their minds.

11:23–25 See note at Mt 21:21.

11:26 See note at Mt 6:14, 15.

11:27–33 See Lk 7:29, 30. See note at Mt 21:23–27.

12:1–12 See note at Lk 20:9–16.

12:13–17 The Herodians were Jewish political supporters of the ruling house of Herod the Great and thus willing servants of Rome. See note at Mt 22:15–22.

12:18 The Sadducees represent landowners and other wealthy families in Jerusalem. They held many high offices in Israel, controlling the temple and the Sanhedrin. They differed from the Pharisees in that they were politically prudent and adapted to the presence of the Romans. The Sadducees interpreted the law even more rigidly than the Pharisees and, unlike them, rejected belief in angels and in the resurrection from the dead at the end of the age. The Sadducees completely disappeared after the destruction of Jerusalem. (See notes on Mt 22:23, 29).

12:28–31 In His response to one of the scribes, Jesus quotes Dt 6:4, 5, the greatest Jewish confession of faith, called the shema' (meaning "hear," the first word of the confession). In v. 31, He quotes Lv 19:18, combining what is already present in the OT to create a new understanding: love of neighbor is an expression of love of God. See notes at Mt 22:35–40.

12:35–37 See note at Mt 22:41–46.

12:41–44 According to the Fathers, the Lord accounts the value of a gift not by how much is given, but by how much is kept back. Thus the poor widow is counted to have given a great gift, having kept nothing for herself. Those who give out of their abundance (v. 44) but keep plenty for themselves are counted by God to have given very little. In the conversion of Cornelius, we learn that God takes note of our giving (Acts 10:4).

13:1, 2 Christ's prophecy of the destruction of the temple was fulfilled in AD 70, when the temple was destroyed by the Romans.

13:5–23 See notes at Mt 24:3–31. The account of the end times is given here in a reverse parallel (or chiastic) form, in which the topics mentioned in the first half of the passage are repeated and amplified in reverse order in the second half. Thus, the passage both begins and ends with a warning to take heed about false christs (vv. 5, 23). The second warning is about wars (v. 7), while the second-to-last warning is about tribulation (v. 19). The third warning concerns being delivered up to councils (v. 9), while the third-to-last warning is also about being delivered up, this time by family members (v. 12). At the center of this discourse is the prophecy that the gospel must first be preached to all the nations (v. 10), which is at the heart of the apostolic ministry and mission of the Church (Mt 28:19, 20).

13:30 This generation refers to all believers at all times (i.e., the generation of the Church), and not merely those alive at the time of Christ. Christ's prophecy is that the Church will continue to thrive until His return, regardless of how desperate things may sometimes appear.

13:32 Though Jesus declares that the Son does not know the day of His own return, St. John Chrysostom teaches that this is not to be understood literally, but as a figure of speech. The meaning is simply that Christ will not reveal the exact day to anyone, and that believers should not be so brazen as to inquire of Him.

14:1 The Feast of Unleavened Bread begins with the Passover meal on the evening of 15 Nisan (on the Jewish calendar) and lasts seven days (Ex 12:12–20). Together, these feasts commemorate Israel's liberation from slavery in Egypt. The word Passover refers to the angel of death "passing over" Hebrew homes when killing the firstborn of the Egyptians, for the Jews had put lamb's blood on their doorposts (Ex 12:13). Unleavened bread is a reminder of the haste with which the Hebrews left Egypt (Ex 12:39). This Passover was fulfilled in Christ, whose blood was shed to free humanity from bondage to sin and death.

14:3–9 See note at Mt 26:6–13.

14:10 Judas on his own initiative seeks to betray Jesus. His motives have been debated, but the Fathers and the liturgical hymns declare that greed was his underlying motive. This is revealed in Jn 12:4–6, where Judas was particularly upset about the "waste" of myrrh in the preceding story because he was a thief (see also 1Ti 6:10). The betrayal by Judas is remembered specifically on Holy Wednesday, as many of the liturgical hymns contrast his greed with the woman's generous anointing of Christ (v. 3). It is a tradition dating back to the first century (see the Didache) that Orthodox Christians fast on most Wednesdays of the year in remembrance of the ways in which we, like Judas, betray our Savior through our sinfulness.

14:12 When they killed the Passover *lamb: See note at Jn 19:14.

14:13 The two disciples are Peter and John (Lk 22:8).

14:20 Christ emphasizes both that His betrayer is one of the twelve and that he is one who dips with Me in the dish not so much to identify the person as to emphasize the level of betrayal, that this was one of His closest friends (see Ps 54:13–15).

14:21 Divine foreknowledge of the betrayal takes away neither Judas' moral freedom nor his accountability. For God, all things are a present reality; He foresees all human actions, but does not cause them.

14:22–25 See note at Lk 22:19, 20.

14:26 This hymn is a psalm from a group of psalms traditionally sung after the Passover meal (Ps 114–117).

14:32 Gethsemane, meaning "oil press," is an orchard of olive trees at the foot of the Mount of Olives. See note at Jn 18:2.

14:36 Abba in Aramaic is the familiar form for Father, equivalent to "Papa," indicating Christ's intimacy with God the Father. See also note at Mt 26:39.

14:43–45 One of the twelve: See note for v. 20. The fact that a kiss is needed to signal the mob is a commentary on those who comprised that mob. The Jewish leaders and even the most common people would have recognized Him. This shows these soldiers were mercenaries, dispatched by the chief priests and the scribes and the elders, a group which according to John's Gospel included Romans (Jn 18:3). Orthodox Christians pray at every Liturgy for the strength not to kiss Jesus in betrayal as did Judas.

14:47 See note at Mt 26:52–54.

14:51, 52 To flee naked is a great shame and humiliation (Ezk 16:39; Am 2:16). Some teach this young man was James, the brother of the Lord (Gal 1:19), while others say that it was the apostle John, the youngest of the twelve. Most others believe this was Mark, the author of this Gospel, as it was a common literary device for a writer not to give his own name (see Lk 24:13; Jn 21:24). The other evangelists do not report this incident. They would not have been inclined to humiliate Mark, whereas Mark would have been more likely to relate such an event concerning himself.

14:62 I am (Gr. ego eimi) is the divine Name of God; its use indicates a theophany, or revelation of God Himself. The use of this Name by a mere man was considered blasphemy and was punishable by death (Lv 24:16; see Jn 8:58). However, because Jesus is fully God, His use of this Name cannot be blasphemy, but reveals His unity with the Father and the Holy Spirit. Only in Mark's account is Christ's answer so direct. To sit at the right hand of the Power means to share authority with the Father. This statement was clearly understood by the high priest to be a claim of equality with God (v. 64).

15:1 While the Jewish religious law dictated the death penalty for blasphemers (Lv 24:16), under Roman occupation the Jews were prohibited from carrying out an execution. Thus, they had to get a sentence issued by Pilate, the Roman governor.

15:2 Pilate's question, "Are You the King of the Jews?" comes from the political charges made against Jesus. Since Pilate would not execute a man over religious matters, the chief priests had to come up with a political crime that would guarantee the death penalty. Thus, they accused Jesus of making Himself an earthly king, which would be treason (see note at Jn 19:7–12).

15:3–5 That the Savior answered nothing fulfills the prophecy of Is 53:7, which portrays the Messiah being silent as He is led "as a sheep to the slaughter."

15:6–11 The chief priests stirred up the crowd (v. 11): Pilate was hoping to release Jesus, a Man he knew to be innocent (vv. 10, 14; Jn 18:38; 19:4, 6). Thus, he turns to the crowd for support, hoping they will ask for Jesus in spite of the chief priests. Barabbas: See note at Mt 27:16.

15:15 Pilate's sin was less than that of the Jewish leaders who delivered Christ to him (Jn 19:11), for the Jews had the Law and the prophets to instruct them, and Pilate did not. Pilate was not without sin, however, for in his desire to gratify the crowd, he knowingly sent an innocent Man to death.

15:16–20 See note at Mt 27:27–31.

15:21 Mark mentions Simon was the father of Alexander and Rufus because they were likely still living, and possibly even known to Mark's hearers. The spiritual message is that we, like Simon (whose name means "obedience"), are not only called to carry the cross Christ sets on us, but seeing Christ in others, we are called to bear each other's burdens as well (Gal 6:2).

15:26 The inscription: See note at Jn 19:19–22.
15:27, 28 Christ being crucified between two robbers not only fulfills the Scripture (v. 28; Is. 53:12), but shows He is completely identifying with sinful humanity.
15:33 Darkness: See Zec 14:6, 7; Am 8:9.
15:34 See note at Mt 27:46.
15:37 See note at Mt 27:50.
15:38 Veil: See note at Mt 27:51.
15:39 The centurion, a Gentile, realizes Jesus has dominion over nature, and therefore acknowledges Him as the Son of God. Tradition knows this soldier as St. Longinos.
15:40, 41 The faithfulness of the women shows that in Christ, divine order is being restored to the fallen world. Whereas Eve was created to complete Adam (Gn 2:18), but instead led him to sin (Gn 3:6), now the women disciples remain faithful while the men flee and hide. It is the women who bring the message of the Resurrection to the men (16:9–11; Lk 24:9–11), thus restoring that which had been broken through sin.
15:43–46 See note at Lk 23:50–53.
🕮 15:43—16:8 This passage is read on the third Sunday of Pascha, on which is commemorated the Myrrhbearing Women, Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus.
16:1 Because Christ died so close in time to the Sabbath, the burial customs of the Jews could not be completed. Therefore, these faithful women went as early as possible to complete the rites of burial. Mary the mother of James: See note at Lk 24:10. Many teach that Salome was the wife of Zebedee and the mother of James and John.
16:4 The stone had been rolled away not to accommodate the Lord's exit from the tomb, for in His resurrected body, He needs no such accommodation (Jn 20:19). Rather, this was to allow the witnesses—and us—to look in and see that the tomb was empty.
16:7 The specific mention of Peter reveals a special care for the one who had denied Christ. In the words of Theophylact, Peter would have said of himself, "I denied the Lord, and therefore am no longer His disciple." The angel's command is a promise that Peter is forgiven.
16:8 They said nothing to anyone does not mean the women never said anything, but that they kept silent until Jesus appeared to them (vv. 9–11).
16:9–20 Two early manuscripts do not contain these verses as part of Mark's Gospel, while nearly all other manuscripts ever discovered have them. They are canonized Scripture and are considered by the Church to be inspired, authoritative, and genuine.
16:12 Another form: Our Lord's resurrected body transcends not only physical space and time, but appearance as well. He was sometimes recognizable to His disciples, while at other times He was not.
16:15 See note at Mt 28:19.
16:17 New tongues refers to the ability to speak in languages that one has not learned in order to edify others in worship (1Co 14) and to preach the gospel (Acts 2:1–11).
16:18 To take up serpents refers primarily to spiritual battle against demons (Lk 10:19). Thus, Christ is promising to deliver believers from the powers of sin. Furthermore, this would include certain physical protection as well. St. Paul was bitten by a serpent and suffered no harm (Acts 28:3–6), and according to tradition, Barsabas Justus (Acts 1:23) was forced by unbelievers to drink poison and survived. Nevertheless, while God's grace can protect believers from both physical and spiritual harm, to test God by deliberately committing harmful acts against oneself is a grave sin (Dt 6:16; Mt 4:7).
16:19 See note at Lk 24:51.

The Book of Luke

Author

All the early sources emphasize that the third gospel was written by Luke, who is mentioned in Colossians 4:14; 2 Timothy 4:11; and Philemon 24. By birth Luke was a Gentile from Antioch, and by profession a physician. He was a fellow worker of Paul's: the plural "we" (Acts 20:6ff.) indicates Luke was with Paul as he traveled the coast of Asia Minor on his way to Jerusalem.

Date

In his preface to the gospel (1:1), Luke indicates knowledge of other written sources. Most scholars believe he used Mark as a source. He probably wrote his gospel either from Greece or from Asia Minor in AD 70–80.

Major Theme

The universality of the gospel message. Luke has been called an "historian" because he dates biblical events by reference to secular history (2:1, 2; 3:1). Since this is a gospel written for Christians of Gentile background, it emphasizes more than the other gospels the challenge of mission and evangelization. Salvation is described as "a light to bring revelation to the Gentiles" (2:32). At the end of the gospel, the risen Lord instructs His disciples to preach repentance and the forgiveness of sins "to all nations" (24:47). Subthemes include:

(1) Prayer. The early chapters portray righteous men and women at prayer (1:10, 13, 46–55, 64; 2:20, 28–32). Jesus is portrayed frequently at prayer (3:21; 5:16; 6:12; 9:18, 28; 11:1; 22:32, 41; 23:46). The gospel ends with the disciples "continually in the temple praising and blessing God" (24:53).

(2) The activity of the Holy Spirit. The inspirational work of the Holy Spirit is evident everywhere in the gospel. Mary is "overshadowed" by the Spirit (1:35). Jesus conducts His ministry in the fullness of the Spirit (3:22; 4:1, 18; 10:21). The disciples were to embark upon their world mission after receiving "power from on high" (24:49), the gift of the Spirit.

(3) A deep concern for sinners. Luke reports Jesus' concern and love for sinners, with a confident hope of their repentance and forgiveness (5:1–11; 7:36–50; 9:51–56; 10:29–37; 19:1–10; 23:39–43).

Background

Luke's is the only gospel addressed to an individual. He wrote to reassure Theophilus, a Gentile and a new believer, that God was still at work in the Christian community founded by Jesus.

Outline

Luke 1

Dedication to Theophilus

1 Inasmuch as many have taken in hand to set in order a narrative of those things which have been fulfilled[a] among us, 2 just as those who from the beginning were eyewitnesses and ministers of the word delivered them to us, 3 it seemed good to me also, having had perfect understanding of all things from the very first, to write to you an orderly account, most excellent Theophilus,
4 that you may know the certainty of those things in which you were instructed.

John's Birth Announced to Zacharias

5 There was in the days of Herod, the king of Judea, a certain priest named Zacharias, of the division of Abijah. His wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabeth.
6 And they were both righteous before God, walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless.
7 But they had no child, because Elizabeth was barren, and they were both well advanced in years.
8 So it was, that while he was serving as priest before God in the order of his division, 9 according to the custom of the priesthood, his lot fell to burn incense when he went into the temple of the Lord.
10 And the whole multitude of the people was praying outside at the hour of incense.
11 Then an angel of the Lord appeared to him, standing on the right side of the altar of incense.
12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and fear fell upon him.
13 But the angel said to him, "Do not be afraid, Zacharias, for your prayer is heard; and your wife Elizabeth will bear you a son, and you shall call his name John.
14 "And you will have joy and gladness, and many will rejoice at his birth.
15 "For he will be great in the sight of the Lord, and shall drink neither wine nor strong drink. He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother's womb.

16"And he will turn many of the children of Israel to the Lord their God.

17"He will also go before Him in the spirit and power of Elijah, 'to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children,'[b] and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord."

18And Zacharias said to the angel, "How shall I know this? For I am an old man, and my wife is well advanced in years."

19And the angel answered and said to him, "I am Gabriel, who stands in the presence of God, and was sent to speak to you and bring you these glad tidings.

20"But behold, you will be mute and not able to speak until the day these things take place, because you did not believe my words which will be fulfilled in their own time."

21And the people waited for Zacharias, and marveled that he lingered so long in the temple.

22But when he came out, he could not speak to them; and they perceived that he had seen a vision in the temple, for he beckoned to them and remained speechless.

23So it was, as soon as the days of his service were completed, that he departed to his own house.

24Now after those days his wife Elizabeth conceived; and she hid herself five months, saying,

25"Thus the Lord has dealt with me, in the days when He looked on me, to take away my reproach among people."

Christ's Birth Announced to Mary

26Now in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent by God to a city of Galilee named Nazareth, 27to a virgin betrothed to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David. The virgin's name was Mary.

28And having come in, the angel said to her, "Rejoice, highly favored one, the Lord is with you; blessed are you among women!"[c]

29But when she saw him,[d] she was troubled at his saying, and considered what manner of greeting this was.

30Then the angel said to her, "Do not be afraid, Mary, for you have found favor with God.

31“And behold, you will conceive in your womb and bring forth a Son, and shall call His name Jesus.
32“He will be great, and will be called the Son of the Highest; and the Lord God will give Him the throne of His father David.
33“And He will reign over the house of Jacob forever, and of His kingdom there will be no end.”
34Then Mary said to the angel, “How can this be, since I do not know a man?”
35And the angel answered and said to her, “The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Highest will overshadow you; therefore, also, that Holy One who is to be born will be called the Son of God.
36“Now indeed, Elizabeth your relative has also conceived a son in her old age; and this is now the sixth month for her who was called barren.
37“For with God nothing will be impossible.”
38Then Mary said, “Behold the maidservant of the Lord! Let it be to me according to your word.” And the angel departed from her.

Mary Visits Elizabeth

39Now Mary arose in those days and went into the hill country with haste, to a city of Judah, 40and entered the house of Zacharias and greeted Elizabeth.
41And it happened, when Elizabeth heard the greeting of Mary, that the babe leaped in her womb; and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit.
42Then she spoke out with a loud voice and said, “Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb!
43“But why is this granted to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?
44“For indeed, as soon as the voice of your greeting sounded in my ears, the babe leaped in my womb for joy.
45“Blessed is she who believed, for there will be a fulfillment of those things which were told her from the Lord.”

The Song of Mary

46And Mary said:

> “My soul magnifies the Lord,
> 47And my spirit has rejoiced in God my Savior.

[48]For He has regarded the lowly state of His maidservant;
For behold, henceforth all generations will call me blessed.
[49]For He who is mighty has done great things for me,
And holy is His name.
[50]And His mercy is on those who fear Him
From generation to generation.
[51]He has shown strength with His arm;
He has scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.
[52]He has put down the mighty from their thrones,
And exalted the lowly.
[53]He has filled the hungry with good things,
And the rich He has sent away empty.
[54]He has helped His servant Israel,
In remembrance of His mercy,
[55]As He spoke to our fathers,
To Abraham and to his seed forever."

[56]And Mary remained with her about three months, and returned to her house.

Birth of John the Baptist

[57]Now Elizabeth's full time came for her to be delivered, and she brought forth a son.

[58]When her neighbors and relatives heard how the Lord had shown great mercy to her, they rejoiced with her.

Circumcision of John the Baptist

[59]So it was, on the eighth day, that they came to circumcise the child; and they would have called him by the name of his father, Zacharias.

[60]His mother answered and said, "No; he shall be called John."

[61]But they said to her, "There is no one among your relatives who is called by this name."

[62]So they made signs to his father—what he would have him called.

[63]And he asked for a writing tablet, and wrote, saying, "His name is John." So they all marveled.

[64]Immediately his mouth was opened and his tongue loosed, and he spoke, praising God.

65 Then fear came on all who dwelt around them; and all these sayings were discussed throughout all the hill country of Judea.
66 And all those who heard them kept them in their hearts, saying, "What kind of child will this be?" And the hand of the Lord was with him.

Zacharias' Prophecy

67 Now his father Zacharias was filled with the Holy Spirit, and prophesied, saying:

68 "Blessed is the Lord God of Israel,
For He has visited and redeemed His people,
69 And has raised up a horn of salvation for us
In the house of His servant David, 70 As He spoke by the mouth of His holy prophets,
Who have been since the world began,
71 That we should be saved from our enemies
And from the hand of all who hate us,
72 To perform the mercy promised to our fathers
And to remember His holy covenant, 73 The oath which He swore to our father Abraham:
74 To grant us that we,
Being delivered from the hand of our enemies,
Might serve Him without fear, 75 In holiness and righteousness before Him all the days of our life.

76 "And you, child, will be called the prophet of the Highest;
For you will go before the face of the Lord to prepare His ways,
77 To give knowledge of salvation to His people
By the remission of their sins,
78 Through the tender mercy of our God,
With which the Dayspring from on high has visited[e] us; 79 To give light to those who sit in darkness and the shadow of death,
To guide our feet into the way of peace."

80So the child grew and became strong in spirit, and was in the deserts till the day of his manifestation to Israel. Mary

Christ Born of Mary

1And it came to pass in those days that a decree went out from Caesar Augustus that all the world should be registered.

2This census first took place while Quirinius was governing Syria.

3So all went to be registered, everyone to his own city.

4Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judea, to the city of David, which is called Bethlehem, because he was of the house and lineage of David,

5to be registered with Mary, his betrothed wife,[a] who was with child.

6So it was, that while they were there, the days were completed for her to be delivered.

7And she brought forth her firstborn Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling cloths, and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn.

Glory in the Highest

8Now there were in the same country shepherds living out in the fields, keeping watch over their flock by night.

9And behold,[b] an angel of the Lord stood before them, and the glory of the Lord shone around them, and they were greatly afraid.

10Then the angel said to them, “Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy which will be to all people.

11“For there is born to you this day in the city of David a Savior, who is Christ the Lord.

12“And this will be the sign to you: You will find a Babe wrapped in swaddling cloths, lying in a manger.”

13And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying:

14“Glory to God in the highest,

And on earth peace, goodwill toward men!”[c]

15So it was, when the angels had gone away from them into heaven, that the shepherds said to one another, “Let us now go to Bethlehem and see this thing that has come to pass, which the Lord has made known to us.”

16And they came with haste and found Mary and Joseph, and the Babe lying in a manger.

17Now when they had seen Him, they made widely[d] known the saying which was told them concerning this Child.

18And all those who heard it marveled at those things which were told them by the shepherds.

19But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart.

20Then the shepherds returned, glorifying and praising God for all the things that they had heard and seen, as it was told them.

Circumcision of Jesus

21And when eight days were completed for the circumcision of the Child,[e] His name was called Jesus, the name given by the angel before He was conceived in the womb.

Jesus Presented in the Temple

22Now when the days of her purification according to the law of Moses were completed, they brought Him to Jerusalem to present Him to the Lord

23(as it is written in the law of the Lord, “Every male who opens the womb shall be called holy to the Lord”),[f]

24and to offer a sacrifice according to what is said in the law of the Lord, “A pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons.”[g]

Simeon Sees God’s Salvation

25And behold, there was a man in Jerusalem whose name was Simeon, and this man was just and devout, waiting for the Consolation of Israel, and the Holy Spirit was upon him.

26And it had been revealed to him by the Holy Spirit that he would not see death before he had seen the Lord’s Christ.

27So he came by the Spirit into the temple. And when the parents brought in the Child Jesus, to do for Him according to the custom of the law,

28 he took Him up in his arms and blessed God and said:

> 29 "Lord, now You are letting Your servant depart in peace,
> According to Your word;
> 30 For my eyes have seen Your salvation
> 31 Which You have prepared before the face of all peoples, > 32 A light to bring revelation to the Gentiles,
> And the glory of Your people Israel."

33 And Joseph and His mother[h] marveled at those things which were spoken of Him.
34 Then Simeon blessed them, and said to Mary His mother, "Behold, this Child is destined for the fall and rising of many in Israel, and for a sign which will be spoken against 35 "(yes, a sword will pierce through your own soul also), that the thoughts of many hearts may be revealed."

Anna Bears Witness to the Redeemer

36 Now there was one, Anna, a prophetess, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was of a great age, and had lived with a husband seven years from her virginity;
37 and this woman was a widow of about eighty-four years,[i] who did not depart from the temple, but served God with fastings and prayers night and day.
38 And coming in that instant she gave thanks to the Lord,[j] and spoke of Him to all those who looked for redemption in Jerusalem.

The Family Returns to Nazareth

39 So when they had performed all things according to the law of the Lord, they returned to Galilee, to their own city, Nazareth.
40 And the Child grew and became strong in spirit,[k] filled with wisdom; and the grace of God was upon Him.

The Boy Jesus Amazes the Scholars

41 His parents went to Jerusalem every year at the Feast of the Passover.
42 And when He was twelve years old, they went up to Jerusalem according to the custom of the feast.

43When they had finished the days, as they returned, the Boy Jesus lingered behind in Jerusalem. And Joseph and His mother[l] did not know it;
44but supposing Him to have been in the company, they went a day's journey, and sought Him among their relatives and acquaintances.
45So when they did not find Him, they returned to Jerusalem, seeking Him.
46Now so it was that after three days they found Him in the temple, sitting in the midst of the teachers, both listening to them and asking them questions.
47And all who heard Him were astonished at His understanding and answers.
48So when they saw Him, they were amazed; and His mother said to Him, "Son, why have You done this to us? Look, Your father and I have sought You anxiously."
49And He said to them, "Why did you seek Me? Did you not know that I must be about My Father's business?"
50But they did not understand the statement which He spoke to them.

Jesus Advances in Wisdom and Favor

51Then He went down with them and came to Nazareth, and was subject to them, but His mother kept all these things in her heart.
52And Jesus increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men.

Luke 3

John the Baptist Prepares the Way
(Matt. 3:1–6; Mark 1:2–6; John 1:19–23)

1Now in the fifteenth year of the reign of Tiberius Caesar, Pontius Pilate being governor of Judea, Herod being tetrarch of Galilee, his brother Philip tetrarch of Iturea and the region of Trachonitis, and Lysanias tetrarch of Abilene, 2while Annas and Caiaphas were high priests,[a] the word of God came to John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness.
3And he went into all the region around the Jordan, preaching a baptism of repentance for the remission of sins, 4as it is written in the book of the words of Isaiah the prophet, saying:

“The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
‘Prepare the way of the LORD;
Make His paths straight.
5*Every valley shall be filled*
And every mountain and hill brought low;
The crooked places shall be made straight
And the rough ways smooth;
6*And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.’ ”*[b]

John Preaches to the People

(Matt. 3:7–12; Mark 1:7, 8; John 1:24–28)

7Then he said to the multitudes that came out to be baptized by him, “Brood of vipers! Who warned you to flee from the wrath to come?

8“Therefore bear fruits worthy of repentance, and do not begin to say to yourselves, ‘We have Abraham as our father.’ For I say to you that God is able to raise up children to Abraham from these stones.

10So the people asked him, saying, “What shall we do then?”

11He answered and said to them, “He who has two tunics, let him give to him who has none; and he who has food, let him do likewise.”

12Then tax collectors also came to be baptized, and said to him, “Teacher, what shall we do?”

13And he said to them, “Collect no more than what is appointed for you.”

14Likewise the soldiers asked him, saying, “And what shall we do?” So he said to them, “Do not intimidate anyone or accuse falsely, and be content with your wages.”

15Now as the people were in expectation, and all reasoned in their hearts about John, whether he was the Christ or not,

16John answered, saying to all, “I indeed baptize you with water; but One mightier than I is coming, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to loose. He will baptize you with the Holy Spirit and fire.

17“His winnowing fan is in His hand, and He will thoroughly clean out His threshing floor, and gather the wheat into His barn; but the chaff He will burn with unquenchable fire.”

18And with many other exhortations he preached to the people.

19But Herod the tetrarch, being rebuked by him concerning Herodias, his brother Philip's wife,[c] and for all the evils which Herod had done, [20]also added this, above all, that he shut John up in prison.

John Baptizes Jesus

(Matt. 3:13–17; Mark 1:9–11; John 1:29–34)

[21]When all the people were baptized, it came to pass that Jesus also was baptized; and while He prayed, the heaven was opened.
[22]And the Holy Spirit descended in bodily form like a dove upon Him, and a voice came from heaven which said, "You are My beloved Son; in You I am well pleased."

The Genealogy of Jesus Christ

(Gen. 5:1–32; 11:10–26; Ruth 4:18–22; 1 Chr. 1:1–4, 24–27, 34; 2:1–15; Matt. 1:2–16)

[23]Now Jesus Himself began His ministry at about thirty years of age, being (as was supposed) the son of Joseph, the son of Heli,
[24]the son of Matthat,[d] the son of Levi, the son of Melchi, the son of Janna, the son of Joseph,
[25]the son of Mattathiah, the son of Amos, the son of Nahum, the son of Esli, the son of Naggai, [26]the son of Maath, the son of Mattathiah, the son of Semei, the son of Joseph, the son of Judah, [27]the son of Joannas, the son of Rhesa, the son of Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, the son of Neri, [28]the son of Melchi, the son of Addi, the son of Cosam, the son of Elmodam, the son of Er, [29]the son of Jose, the son of Eliezer, the son of Jorim, the son of Matthat, the son of Levi, [30]the son of Simeon, the son of Judah, the son of Joseph, the son of Jonan, the son of Eliakim, [31]the son of Melea, the son of Menan, the son of Mattathah, the son of Nathan, the son of David,
[32]the son of Jesse, the son of Obed, the son of Boaz, the son of Salmon, the son of Nahshon, [33]the son of Amminadab, the son of Ram, the son of Hezron, the son of Perez, the son of Judah, [34]the son of Jacob, the son of Isaac, the son of Abraham, the son of Terah, the son of Nahor,

35 the son of Serug, the son of Reu, the son of Peleg, the son of Eber, the son of Shelah, 36 the son of Cainan, the son of Arphaxad, the son of Shem, the son of Noah, the son of Lamech, 37 the son of Methuselah, the son of Enoch, the son of Jared, the son of Mahalalel, the son of Cainan, 38 the son of Enosh, the son of Seth, the son of Adam, the son of God.

Luke 4

Satan Tempts Jesus
(Matt. 4:1–11; Mark 1:12, 13)

1 Then Jesus, being filled with the Holy Spirit, returned from the Jordan and was led by the Spirit into[a] the wilderness, 2 being tempted for forty days by the devil. And in those days He ate nothing, and afterward, when they had ended, He was hungry.
3 And the devil said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, command this stone to become bread."
4 But Jesus answered him, saying,[b] "It is written, 'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God.' "[c] 5 Then the devil, taking Him up on a high mountain, showed Him[d] all the kingdoms of the world in a moment of time.
6 And the devil said to Him, "All this authority I will give You, and their glory; for this has been delivered to me, and I give it to whomever I wish.
7 "Therefore, if You will worship before me, all will be Yours."
8 And Jesus answered and said to him, "Get behind Me, Satan![e] For[f] it is written, 'You shall worship the LORD your God, and Him only you shall serve.' "[g]
9 Then he brought Him to Jerusalem, set Him on the pinnacle of the temple, and said to Him, "If You are the Son of God, throw Yourself down from here.
10 "For it is written:

> 'He shall give His angels charge over you,
> To keep you,'

11 “and,

‘In their hands they shall bear you up,
Lest you dash your foot against a stone.’ ”[h]

12 And Jesus answered and said to him, “It has been said, ‘You shall not tempt the LORD your God.’ ”[i] 13 Now when the devil had ended every temptation, he departed from Him until an opportune time.

Jesus Begins His Galilean Ministry

(Matt. 4:12–17; Mark 1:14, 15)

14 Then Jesus returned in the power of the Spirit to Galilee, and news of Him went out through all the surrounding region.
15 And He taught in their synagogues, being glorified by all.

Jesus Rejected at Nazareth

(Matt. 13:54–58; Mark 6:1–6)

16 So He came to Nazareth, where He had been brought up. And as His custom was, He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood up to read.
17 And He was handed the book of the prophet Isaiah. And when He had opened the book, He found the place where it was written:

18 “The Spirit of the LORD is upon Me,
Because He has anointed Me
To preach the gospel to the poor;
He has sent Me to heal the brokenhearted,[j]
To proclaim liberty to the captives
And recovery of sight to the blind,
To set at liberty those who are oppressed;
19 To proclaim the acceptable year of the LORD.”[k]

20 Then He closed the book, and gave it back to the attendant and sat down. And the eyes of all who were in the synagogue were fixed on Him.
21 And He began to say to them, “Today this Scripture is fulfilled in your hearing.”

22 So all bore witness to Him, and marveled at the gracious words which proceeded out of His mouth. And they said, “Is this not Joseph’s son?” 23 He said to them, “You will surely say this proverb to Me, ‘Physician, heal yourself! Whatever we have heard done in Capernaum,[l] do also here in Your country.’ ” 24 Then He said, “Assuredly, I say to you, no prophet is accepted in his own country.
25 “But I tell you truly, many widows were in Israel in the days of Elijah, when the heaven was shut up three years and six months, and there was a great famine throughout all the land; 26 “but to none of them was Elijah sent except to Zarephath,[m] in the region of Sidon, to a woman who was a widow.
27 “And many lepers were in Israel in the time of Elisha the prophet, and none of them was cleansed except Naaman the Syrian.” 28 So all those in the synagogue, when they heard these things, were filled with wrath,
29 and rose up and thrust Him out of the city; and they led Him to the brow of the hill on which their city was built, that they might throw Him down over the cliff.
30 Then passing through the midst of them, He went His way.

Jesus Casts Out an Unclean Spirit

(Mark 1:21–28)

31 Then He went down to Capernaum, a city of Galilee, and was teaching them on the Sabbaths.
32 And they were astonished at His teaching, for His word was with authority.
33 Now in the synagogue there was a man who had a spirit of an unclean demon. And he cried out with a loud voice, 34 saying, “Let us alone! What have we to do with You, Jesus of Nazareth?
Did You come to destroy us? I know who You are—the Holy One of God!” 35 But Jesus rebuked him, saying, “Be quiet, and come out of him!” And when the demon had thrown him in their midst, it came out of him and did not hurt him.
36 Then they were all amazed and spoke among themselves, saying, “What a word this is! For with authority and power He commands the unclean spirits, and they come out.”

37 And the report about Him went out into every place in the surrounding region.

Peter's Mother-in-Law Healed

(Matt. 8:14, 15; Mark 1:29–31)

38 Now He arose from the synagogue and entered Simon's house. But Simon's wife's mother was sick with a high fever, and they made request of Him concerning her.
39 So He stood over her and rebuked the fever, and it left her. And immediately she arose and served them.

Many Healed After Sabbath Sunset

(Matt. 8:16, 17; Mark 1:32–34)

40 When the sun was setting, all those who had any that were sick with various diseases brought them to Him; and He laid His hands on every one of them and healed them.
41 And demons also came out of many, crying out and saying, "You are the Christ,[n] the Son of God!" And He, rebuking them, did not allow them to speak, for they knew that He was the Christ.

Jesus Preaches in Galilee

(Matt. 4:23–25; Mark 1:35–39)

42 Now when it was day, He departed and went into a deserted place. And the crowd sought Him and came to Him, and tried to keep Him from leaving them;
43 but He said to them, "I must preach the kingdom of God to the other cities also, because for this purpose I have been sent."
44 And He was preaching in the synagogues of Galilee.[o]

Luke 5

Four Fishermen Called as Disciples

(Matt. 4:18–22; Mark 1:16–20)

1 So it was, as the multitude pressed about Him to hear the word of God, that He stood by the Lake of Gennesaret, 2 and saw two boats standing by the lake; but the fishermen had gone from them and were washing their nets.

3 Then He got into one of the boats, which was Simon's, and asked him to put out a little from the land. And He sat down and taught the multitudes from the boat.

4 When He had stopped speaking, He said to Simon, "Launch out into the deep and let down your nets for a catch."

5 But Simon answered and said to Him, "Master, we have toiled all night and caught nothing; nevertheless at Your word I will let down the net."

6 And when they had done this, they caught a great number of fish, and their net was breaking.

7 So they signaled to their partners in the other boat to come and help them. And they came and filled both the boats, so that they began to sink.

8 When Simon Peter saw it, he fell down at Jesus' knees, saying, "Depart from me, for I am a sinful man, O Lord!"

9 For he and all who were with him were astonished at the catch of fish which they had taken;

10 and so also were James and John, the sons of Zebedee, who were partners with Simon. And Jesus said to Simon, "Do not be afraid. From now on you will catch men."

11 So when they had brought their boats to land, they forsook all and followed Him.

Jesus Cleanses a Leper

(Matt. 8:1–4; Mark 1:40–45)

12 And it happened when He was in a certain city, that behold, a man who was full of leprosy saw Jesus; and he fell on his face and implored Him, saying, "Lord, if You are willing, You can make me clean."

13 Then He put out His hand and touched him, saying, "I am willing; be cleansed." Immediately the leprosy left him.

14 And He charged him to tell no one, "But go and show yourself to the priest, and make an offering for your cleansing, as a testimony to them, just as Moses commanded."

15 However, the report went around concerning Him all the more; and great multitudes came together to hear, and to be healed by Him of their infirmities.

16 So He Himself often withdrew into the wilderness and prayed.

Jesus Forgives and Heals a Paralytic

(Matt. 9:2–8; Mark 2:1–12)

17 Now it happened on a certain day, as He was teaching, that there were Pharisees and teachers of the law sitting by, who had come out of every town of Galilee, Judea, and Jerusalem. And the power of the Lord was present to heal them.[a] 18 Then behold, men brought on a bed a man who was paralyzed, whom they sought to bring in and lay before Him.
19 And when they could not find how they might bring him in, because of the crowd, they went up on the housetop and let him down with his bed through the tiling into the midst before Jesus.
20 When He saw their faith, He said to him, "Man, your sins are forgiven
you."
21 And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, "Who is this who speaks blasphemies? Who can forgive sins but God alone?"
22 But when Jesus perceived their thoughts, He answered and said to them,
"Why are you reasoning in your hearts?
23 "Which is easier, to say, 'Your sins are forgiven you,' or to say, 'Rise up and walk'?
24 "But that you may know that the Son of Man has power on earth to forgive sins"—He said to the man who was paralyzed, "I say to you, arise, take up your bed, and go to your house."
25 Immediately he rose up before them, took up what he had been lying on, and departed to his own house, glorifying God.
26 And they were all amazed, and they glorified God and were filled with fear, saying, "We have seen strange things today!"

Matthew the Tax Collector

(Matt. 9:9–13; Mark 2:13–17)

27 After these things He went out and saw a tax collector named Levi, sitting at the tax office. And He said to him, "Follow Me."
28 So he left all, rose up, and followed Him.
29 Then Levi gave Him a great feast in his own house. And there were a great number of tax collectors and others who sat down with them.
30 And their scribes and the Pharisees[b] complained against His disciples, saying, "Why do You eat and drink with tax collectors and sinners?" 31 Jesus answered and said to them, "Those who are well have no need of a physician, but those who are sick.

32"I have not come to call the righteous, but sinners, to repentance."

Jesus Is Questioned About Fasting
(Matt. 9:14–17; Mark 2:18–22)

33Then they said to Him, "Why do[c] the disciples of John fast often and make prayers, and likewise those of the Pharisees, but Yours eat and drink?"
34And He said to them, "Can you make the friends of the bridegroom fast while the bridegroom is with them?
35"But the days will come when the bridegroom will be taken away from them; then they will fast in those days."
36Then He spoke a parable to them: "No one puts a piece from a new garment on an old one;[d] otherwise the new makes a tear, and also the piece that was taken out of the new does not match the old.
37"And no one puts new wine into old wineskins; or else the new wine will burst the wineskins and be spilled, and the wineskins will be ruined.
38"But new wine must be put into new wineskins, and both are preserved.[e]
39"And no one, having drunk old wine, immediately[f] desires new; for he says, 'The old is better.' "[g]

Luke 6

Jesus Is Lord of the Sabbath
(Matt. 12:1–8; Mark 2:23–28)

1Now it happened on the second Sabbath after the first[a] that He went through the grainfields. And His disciples plucked the heads of grain and ate them, rubbing them in their hands.
2And some of the Pharisees said to them, "Why are you doing what is not lawful to do on the Sabbath?"
3But Jesus answering them said, "Have you not even read this, what David did when he was hungry, he and those who were with him:
4"how he went into the house of God, took and ate the showbread, and also gave some to those with him, which is not lawful for any but the priests to eat?"
5And He said to them, "The Son of Man is also Lord of the Sabbath."

Healing on the Sabbath

(Matt. 12:9–14; Mark 3:1–6)

6 Now it happened on another Sabbath, also, that He entered the synagogue and taught. And a man was there whose right hand was withered.
7 So the scribes and Pharisees watched Him closely, whether He would heal on the Sabbath, that they might find an accusation against Him.
8 But He knew their thoughts, and said to the man who had the withered hand, "Arise and stand here." And he arose and stood.
9 Then Jesus said to them, "I will ask you one thing: Is it lawful on the Sabbath to do good or to do evil, to save life or to destroy?"[b] 10 And when He had looked around at them all, He said to the man,[c]
"Stretch out your hand." And he did so, and his hand was restored as whole as the other.[d]
11 But they were filled with rage, and discussed with one another what they might do to Jesus.

The Twelve Apostles

(Matt. 10:1–4; Mark 3:13–19)

12 Now it came to pass in those days that He went out to the mountain to pray, and continued all night in prayer to God.
13 And when it was day, He called His disciples to Himself; and from them
He chose twelve whom He also named apostles:
14 Simon, whom He also named Peter, and Andrew his brother; James and John; Philip and Bartholomew;
15 Matthew and Thomas; James the son of Alphaeus, and Simon called the Zealot;
16 Judas the son of James, and Judas Iscariot who also became a traitor.

Jesus Heals a Great Multitude

(cf. Matt. 4:24, 25; Mark 3:7–12)

17 And He came down with them and stood on a level place with a crowd of His disciples and a great multitude of people from all Judea and Jerusalem, and from the seacoast of Tyre and Sidon, who came to hear Him and be healed of their diseases, 18 as well as those who were tormented with unclean spirits. And they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch Him, for power went out from Him and healed them all.

The Beatitudes

(Matt. 5:1–12)

20 Then He lifted up His eyes toward His disciples, and said:

"Blessed are you poor,
For yours is the kingdom of God.
21 Blessed are you who hunger now,
For you shall be filled.
Blessed are you who weep now,
For you shall laugh.
22 Blessed are you when men hate you,
And when they exclude you,
And revile you, and cast out your name as evil,
For the Son of Man's sake.
23 Rejoice in that day and leap for joy!
For indeed your reward is great in heaven,
For in like manner their fathers did to the prophets.

Jesus Pronounces Woes

24 "But woe to you who are rich,
For you have received your consolation.
25 Woe to you who are full,
For you shall hunger.
Woe to you who laugh now,
For you shall mourn and weep.
26 Woe to you[e] when all[f] men speak well of you,
For so did their fathers to the false prophets.

Love Your Enemies

(Matt. 5:38–48)

27 "But I say to you who hear: Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you,
28 "bless those who curse you, and pray for those who spitefully use you.
29 "To him who strikes you on the one cheek, offer the other also. And from him who takes away your cloak, do not withhold your tunic either.

30"Give to everyone who asks of you. And from him who takes away your goods do not ask them back.

31"And just as you want men to do to you, you also do to them likewise.

32"But if you love those who love you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners love those who love them.

33"And if you do good to those who do good to you, what credit is that to you? For even sinners do the same.

34"And if you lend to those from whom you hope to receive back, what credit is that to you? For even sinners lend to sinners to receive as much back.

35"But love your enemies, do good, and lend, hoping for nothing in return; and your reward will be great, and you will be sons of the Most High. For He is kind to the unthankful and evil.

36"Therefore be merciful, just as your Father also is merciful.

Do Not Judge

(Matt. 7:1–5)

37"Judge not, and you shall not be judged. Condemn not, and you shall not be condemned. Forgive, and you will be forgiven.

38"Give, and it will be given to you: good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over will be put into your bosom. For with the same measure that you use, it will be measured back to you."

39And He spoke a parable to them: "Can the blind lead the blind? Will they not both fall into the ditch?

40"A disciple is not above his teacher, but everyone who is perfectly trained will be like his teacher.

41"And why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but do not perceive the plank in your own eye?

42"Or how can you say to your brother, 'Brother, let me remove the speck that is in your eye,' when you yourself do not see the plank that is in your own eye? Hypocrite! First remove the plank from your own eye, and then you will see clearly to remove the speck that is in your brother's eye.

A Tree Is Known by Its Fruit

(Matt. 7:15–20)

43"For a good tree does not bear bad fruit, nor does a bad tree bear good fruit.

44"For every tree is known by its own fruit. For men do not gather figs from thorns, nor do they gather grapes from a bramble bush.

45"A good man out of the good treasure of his heart brings forth good; and an evil man out of the evil treasure of his heart[g] brings forth evil. For out of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaks.

Build on the Rock

(Matt. 7:21–27)

46"But why do you call Me 'Lord, Lord,' and not do the things which I say?

47"Whoever comes to Me, and hears My sayings and does them, I will show you whom he is like:

48"He is like a man building a house, who dug deep and laid the foundation on the rock. And when the flood arose, the stream beat vehemently against that house, and could not shake it, for it was founded on the rock.[h]

49"But he who heard and did nothing is like a man who built a house on the earth without a foundation, against which the stream beat vehemently; and immediately it fell.[i] And the ruin of that house was great."

Luke 7

Jesus Heals a Centurion's Servant

(Matt. 8:5–13)

1Now when He concluded all His sayings in the hearing of the people, He entered Capernaum.

2And a certain centurion's servant, who was dear to him, was sick and ready to die.

3So when he heard about Jesus, he sent elders of the Jews to Him, pleading with Him to come and heal his servant.

4And when they came to Jesus, they begged Him earnestly, saying that the one for whom He should do this was deserving,

5"for he loves our nation, and has built us a synagogue."

6Then Jesus went with them. And when He was already not far from the house, the centurion sent friends to Him, saying to Him, "Lord, do not trouble Yourself, for I am not worthy that You should enter under my roof.

7 “Therefore I did not even think myself worthy to come to You. But say the word, and my servant will be healed.
8 “For I also am a man placed under authority, having soldiers under me.
And I say to one, ‘Go,’ and he goes; and to another, ‘Come,’ and he comes;
and to my servant, ‘Do this,’ and he does it.”
9 When Jesus heard these things, He marveled at him, and turned around and said to the crowd that followed Him, “I say to you, I have not found such great faith, not even in Israel!”
10 And those who were sent, returning to the house, found the servant well who had been sick.[a]

Jesus Raises the Son of the Widow of Nain

11 Now it happened, the day after, that He went into a city called Nain; and many of His disciples went with Him, and a large crowd.
12 And when He came near the gate of the city, behold, a dead man was being carried out, the only son of his mother; and she was a widow. And a large crowd from the city was with her.
13 When the Lord saw her, He had compassion on her and said to her, “Do not weep.”
14 Then He came and touched the open coffin, and those who carried him stood still. And He said, “Young man, I say to you, arise.” 15 So he who was dead sat up and began to speak. And He presented him to his mother.
16 Then fear came upon all, and they glorified God, saying, “A great prophet has risen up among us”; and, “God has visited His people.” 17 And this report about Him went throughout all Judea and all the surrounding region.

John the Baptist Sends Messengers to Jesus

(Matt. 11:2–19)

18 Then the disciples of John reported to him concerning all these things.
19 And John, calling two of his disciples to him, sent them to Jesus,[b] saying,
“Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?”
20 When the men had come to Him, they said, “John the Baptist has sent us to You, saying, ‘Are You the Coming One, or do we look for another?’ ” 21 And that very hour He cured many of infirmities, afflictions, and evil spirits; and to many blind He gave sight.

22 Jesus answered and said to them, “Go and tell John the things you have seen and heard: that the blind see, the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, the poor have the gospel preached to them.
23 “And blessed is he who is not offended because of Me.”
24 When the messengers of John had departed, He began to speak to the multitudes concerning John: “What did you go out into the wilderness to see?
A reed shaken by the wind?
25 “But what did you go out to see? A man clothed in soft garments? Indeed those who are gorgeously appareled and live in luxury are in kings’ courts.
26 “But what did you go out to see? A prophet? Yes, I say to you, and more than a prophet.
27 “This is he of whom it is written:

> ‘Behold, I send My messenger before Your face,
> Who will prepare Your way before You.’[c]

28 “For I say to you, among those born of women there is not a greater prophet than John the Baptist;[d] but he who is least in the kingdom of God is greater than he.”
29 And when all the people heard Him, even the tax collectors justified God, having been baptized with the baptism of John.
30 But the Pharisees and lawyers rejected the will of God for themselves, not having been baptized by him.
31 And the Lord said,[e] “To what then shall I liken the men of this generation, and what are they like?
32 “They are like children sitting in the marketplace and calling to one another, saying:

> ‘We played the flute for you,
> And you did not dance;
> We mourned to you,
> And you did not weep.’

33 “For John the Baptist came neither eating bread nor drinking wine, and you say, ‘He has a demon.’
34 “The Son of Man has come eating and drinking, and you say, ‘Look, a glutton and a winebibber, a friend of tax collectors and sinners!’
35 “But wisdom is justified by all her children.”

A Sinful Woman Forgiven

[36]Then one of the Pharisees asked Him to eat with him. And He went to the Pharisee's house, and sat down to eat.

[37]And behold, a woman in the city who was a sinner, when she knew that Jesus sat at the table in the Pharisee's house, brought an alabaster flask of fragrant oil,

[38]and stood at His feet behind Him weeping; and she began to wash His feet with her tears, and wiped them with the hair of her head; and she kissed His feet and anointed them with the fragrant oil.

[39]Now when the Pharisee who had invited Him saw this, he spoke to himself, saying, "This Man, if He were a prophet, would know who and what manner of woman this is who is touching Him, for she is a sinner."

[40]And Jesus answered and said to him, "Simon, I have something to say to you." So he said, "Teacher, say it."

[41]"There was a certain creditor who had two debtors. One owed five hundred denarii, and the other fifty.

[42]"And when they had nothing with which to repay, he freely forgave them both. Tell Me, therefore, which of them will love him more?"

[43]Simon answered and said, "I suppose the one whom he forgave more." And He said to him, "You have rightly judged."

[44]Then He turned to the woman and said to Simon, "Do you see this woman? I entered your house; you gave Me no water for My feet, but she has washed My feet with her tears and wiped them with the hair of her head.

[45]"You gave Me no kiss, but this woman has not ceased to kiss My feet since the time I came in.

[46]"You did not anoint My head with oil, but this woman has anointed My feet with fragrant oil.

[47]"Therefore I say to you, her sins, which are many, are forgiven, for she loved much. But to whom little is forgiven, the same loves little."

[48]Then He said to her, "Your sins are forgiven."

[49]And those who sat at the table with Him began to say to themselves, "Who is this who even forgives sins?"

[50]Then He said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you. Go in peace."

Luke 8

Many Women Minister to Jesus

1 Now it came to pass, afterward, that He went through every city and village, preaching and bringing the glad tidings of the kingdom of God. And the twelve were with Him,
2 and certain women who had been healed of evil spirits and infirmities—
Mary called Magdalene, out of whom had come seven demons, 3 and Joanna the wife of Chuza, Herod's steward, and Susanna, and many others who provided for Him[a] from their substance.

The Parable of the Sower

(Matt. 13:1–9; Mark 4:1–9)

4 And when a great multitude had gathered, and they had come to Him from every city, He spoke by a parable:
5 "A sower went out to sow his seed. And as he sowed, some fell by the wayside; and it was trampled down, and the birds of the air devoured it.
6 "Some fell on rock; and as soon as it sprang up, it withered away because it lacked moisture.
7 "And some fell among thorns, and the thorns sprang up with it and choked it.
8 "But others fell on good ground, sprang up, and yielded a crop a hundredfold." When He had said these things He cried, "He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

The Purpose of Parables

(Matt. 13:10–17; Mark 4:10–12)

9 Then His disciples asked Him, saying, "What does this parable mean?" 10 And He said, "To you it has been given to know the mysteries of the kingdom of God, but to the rest it is given in parables, that

> 'Seeing they may not see,
> And hearing they may not understand.'[b]

The Parable of the Sower Explained

(Matt. 13:18–23; Mark 4:13–20)

11 "Now the parable is this: The seed is the word of God.
12 "Those by the wayside are the ones who hear; then the devil comes and takes away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved.

13“But the ones on the rock are those who, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, who believe for a while and in time of temptation fall away.
14“Now the ones that fell among thorns are those who, when they have heard, go out and are choked with cares, riches, and pleasures of life, and bring no fruit to maturity.
15“But the ones that fell on the good ground are those who, having heard the word with a noble and good heart, keep it and bear fruit with patience.

The Parable of the Revealed Light

(Mark 4:21–25)

16“No one, when he has lit a lamp, covers it with a vessel or puts it under a bed, but sets it on a lampstand, that those who enter may see the light.
17“For nothing is secret that will not be revealed, nor anything hidden that will not be known and come to light.
18“Therefore take heed how you hear. For whoever has, to him more will be given; and whoever does not have, even what he seems to have will be taken from him.”

Jesus’ Mother and Brothers Come to Him

(Matt. 12:46–50, Mark 3:31–35)

19Then His mother and brothers came to Him, and could not approach Him because of the crowd.
20And it was told Him by some, who said, “Your mother and Your brothers are standing outside, desiring to see You.”
21But He answered and said to them, “My mother and My brothers are these who hear the word of God and do it.”

Wind and Wave Obey Jesus

(Matt. 8:23–27; Mark 4:35–41)

22Now it happened, on a certain day, that He got into a boat with His disciples. And He said to them, “Let us cross over to the other side of the lake.” And they launched out.
23But as they sailed He fell asleep. And a windstorm came down on the lake, and they were filling with water, and were in jeopardy.
24And they came to Him and awoke Him, saying, “Master, Master, we are perishing!” Then He arose and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water. And they ceased, and there was a calm.

25But He said to them, “Where is your faith?” And they were afraid, and marveled, saying to one another, “Who can this be? For He commands even the winds and water, and they obey Him!”

A Demon-Possessed Man Healed

(Matt. 8:28—9:1; Mark 5:1–20)

26Then they sailed to the country of the Gadarenes,[c] which is opposite Galilee.

27And when He stepped out on the land, there met Him a certain man from the city who had demons for a long time. And he wore no clothes,[d] nor did he live in a house but in the tombs.

28When he saw Jesus, he cried out, fell down before Him, and with a loud voice said, “What have I to do with You, Jesus, Son of the Most High God? I beg You, do not torment me!”

29For He had commanded the unclean spirit to come out of the man. For it had often seized him, and he was kept under guard, bound with chains and shackles; and he broke the bonds and was driven by the demon into the wilderness.

30Jesus asked him, saying, “What is your name?” And he said, “Legion,” because many demons had entered him.

31And they begged Him that He would not command them to go out into the abyss.

32Now a herd of many swine was feeding there on the mountain. So they begged Him that He would permit them to enter them. And He permitted them.

33Then the demons went out of the man and entered the swine, and the herd ran violently down the steep place into the lake and drowned.

34When those who fed them saw what had happened, they fled and told it in the city and in the country.

35Then they went out to see what had happened, and came to Jesus, and found the man from whom the demons had departed, sitting at the feet of Jesus, clothed and in his right mind. And they were afraid.

36They also who had seen it told them by what means he who had been demon-possessed was healed.

37Then the whole multitude of the surrounding region of the Gadarenes[e] asked Him to depart from them, for they were seized with great fear. And He got into the boat and returned.

38 Now the man from whom the demons had departed begged Him that he might be with Him. But Jesus sent him away, saying, 39 "Return to your own house, and tell what great things God has done for you." And he went his way and proclaimed throughout the whole city what great things Jesus had done for him.

A Girl Restored to Life and a Woman Healed

40 So it was, when Jesus returned, that the multitude welcomed Him, for they were all waiting for Him.

41 And behold, there came a man named Jairus, and he was a ruler of the synagogue. And he fell down at Jesus' feet and begged Him to come to his house, 42 for he had an only daughter about twelve years of age, and she was dying. But as He went, the multitudes thronged Him.

43 Now a woman, having a flow of blood for twelve years, who had spent all her livelihood on physicians and could not be healed by any,

44 came from behind and touched the border of His garment. And immediately her flow of blood stopped.

45 And Jesus said, "Who touched Me?" When all denied it, Peter and those with him[f] said, "Master, the multitudes throng and press You, and You say, 'Who touched Me?' "[g]

46 But Jesus said, "Somebody touched Me, for I perceived power going out from Me."

47 Now when the woman saw that she was not hidden, she came trembling; and falling down before Him, she declared to Him in the presence of all the people the reason she had touched Him and how she was healed immediately.

48 And He said to her, "Daughter, be of good cheer;[h] your faith has made you well. Go in peace."

49 While He was still speaking, someone came from the ruler of the synagogue's house, saying to him, "Your daughter is dead. Do not trouble the Teacher."[i]

50 But when Jesus heard it, He answered him, saying, "Do not be afraid; only believe, and she will be made well."

51 When He came into the house, He permitted no one to go in[j] except Peter, James, and John,[k] and the father and mother of the girl.

52 Now all wept and mourned for her; but He said, “Do not weep; she is not dead, but sleeping.”
53 And they ridiculed Him, knowing that she was dead.
54 But He put them all outside,[l] took her by the hand and called, saying,
“Little girl, arise.”
55 Then her spirit returned, and she arose immediately. And He commanded that she be given something to eat.
56 And her parents were astonished, but He charged them to tell no one what had happened.

Luke 9

Sending Out the Twelve
(Matt. 10:5–15)

1 Then He called His twelve disciples together and gave them power and authority over all demons, and to cure diseases.
2 He sent them to preach the kingdom of God and to heal the sick.
3 And He said to them, “Take nothing for the journey, neither staffs nor bag nor bread nor money; and do not have two tunics apiece.
4 “Whatever house you enter, stay there, and from there depart.
5 “And whoever will not receive you, when you go out of that city, shake off the very dust from your feet as a testimony against them.” 6 So they departed and went through the towns, preaching the gospel and healing everywhere.

Herod Seeks to See Jesus
(Matt. 14:1–12; Mark 6:14–29)

7 Now Herod the tetrarch heard of all that was done by Him; and he was perplexed, because it was said by some that John had risen from the dead, 8 and by some that Elijah had appeared, and by others that one of the old prophets had risen again.
9 Herod said, “John I have beheaded, but who is this of whom I hear such things?” So he sought to see Him.

Feeding the Five Thousand
(Matt. 14:13–21; Mark 6:30–44; John 6:1–15)

10And the apostles, when they had returned, told Him all that they had done. Then He took them and went aside privately into a deserted place belonging to the city called Bethsaida.

11But when the multitudes knew it, they followed Him; and He received them and spoke to them about the kingdom of God, and healed those who had need of healing.

12When the day began to wear away, the twelve came and said to Him, "Send the multitude away, that they may go into the surrounding towns and country, and lodge and get provisions; for we are in a deserted place here."

13But He said to them, "You give them something to eat." And they said, "We have no more than five loaves and two fish, unless we go and buy food for all these people."

14For there were about five thousand men. Then He said to His disciples, "Make them sit down in groups of fifty."

15And they did so, and made them all sit down.

16Then He took the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, He blessed and broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the multitude.

17So they all ate and were filled, and twelve baskets of the leftover fragments were taken up by them.

Peter Confesses Jesus as the Christ

(Matt. 16:13–20; Mark 8:27–30)

18And it happened, as He was alone praying, that His disciples joined Him, and He asked them, saying, "Who do the crowds say that I am?"

19So they answered and said, "John the Baptist, but some say Elijah; and others say that one of the old prophets has risen again."

20He said to them, "But who do you say that I am?" Peter answered and said, "The Christ of God."

Jesus Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 16:20–23; Mark 8:30–33)

21And He strictly warned and commanded them to tell this to no one,

22saying, "The Son of Man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes, and be killed, and be raised the third day."

Take Up the Cross and Follow Him

(Matt. 16:24–27; Mark 8:34–38)

23 Then He said to them all, “If anyone desires to come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily,[a] and follow Me.
24 “For whoever desires to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for My sake will save it.
25 “For what profit is it to a man if he gains the whole world, and is himself destroyed or lost?
26 “For whoever is ashamed of Me and My words, of him the Son of Man will be ashamed when He comes in His own glory, and in His Father’s, and of the holy angels.
27 “But I tell you truly, there are some standing here who shall not taste death till they see the kingdom of God.”

Jesus Transfigured on the Mount

(Matt. 16:28–17:9; Mark 9:2–10; 2 Pet. 1:16–18)

28 Now it came to pass, about eight days after these sayings, that He took Peter, John, and James and went up on the mountain to pray.
29 As He prayed, the appearance of His face was altered, and His robe became white and glistening.
30 And behold, two men talked with Him, who were Moses and Elijah, 31 who appeared in glory and spoke of His decease which He was about to accomplish at Jerusalem.
32 But Peter and those with him were heavy with sleep; and when they were fully awake, they saw His glory and the two men who stood with Him.
33 Then it happened, as they were parting from Him, that Peter said to Jesus, “Master, it is good for us to be here; and let us make three tabernacles:
one for You, one for Moses, and one for Elijah”—not knowing what he said.
34 While he was saying this, a cloud came and overshadowed them; and they were fearful as they entered the cloud.
35 And a voice came out of the cloud, saying, “This is My beloved Son.[b]
Hear Him!”
36 When the voice had ceased, Jesus was found alone. But they kept quiet, and told no one in those days any of the things they had seen.

A Boy Is Healed

(Matt. 17:14–21; Mark 9:14–29)

37Now it happened on the next day, when they had come down from the mountain, that a great multitude met Him.

38Suddenly a man from the multitude cried out, saying, “Teacher, I implore You, look on my son, for he is my only child.

39“And behold, a spirit seizes him, and he suddenly cries out; it convulses him so that he foams at the mouth; and it departs from him with great difficulty, bruising him.

40“So I implored Your disciples to cast it out, but they could not.”

41Then Jesus answered and said, “O faithless and perverse generation, how long shall I be with you and bear with you? Bring your son here.”

42And as he was still coming, the demon threw him down and convulsed him. Then Jesus rebuked the unclean spirit, healed the child, and gave him back to his father.

Jesus Again Predicts His Death

(Matt. 17:22, 23; Mark 9:30–32)

43And they were all amazed at the majesty of God. But while everyone marveled at all the things which Jesus did, He said to His disciples,

44“Let these words sink down into your ears, for the Son of Man is about to be betrayed into the hands of men.”

45But they did not understand this saying, and it was hidden from them so that they did not perceive it; and they were afraid to ask Him about this saying.

Who Is the Greatest?

(Matt. 18:1–5; Mark 9:33–37)

46Then a dispute arose among them as to which of them would be greatest.

47And Jesus, perceiving the thought of their heart, took a little child and set him by Him,

48and said to them, “Whoever receives this little child in My name receives Me; and whoever receives Me receives Him who sent Me. For he who is least among you all will be great.”

Jesus Forbids Sectarianism

(Mark 9:38–41)

49Now John answered and said, “Master, we saw someone casting out demons in Your name, and we forbade him because he does not follow with us."

50 But Jesus said to him, "Do not forbid him, for he who is not against us[c] is on our side."[d]

A Samaritan Village Rejects the Savior

51 Now it came to pass, when the time had come for Him to be received up, that He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem,

52 and sent messengers before His face. And as they went, they entered a village of the Samaritans, to prepare for Him.

53 But they did not receive Him, because His face was set for the journey to Jerusalem.

54 And when His disciples James and John saw this, they said, "Lord, do You want us to command fire to come down from heaven and consume them, just as Elijah did?"[e]

55 But He turned and rebuked them,[f] and said, "You do not know what manner of spirit you are of.

56 "For the Son of Man did not come to destroy men's lives but to save them."[g] And they went to another village.

The Cost of Discipleship

(Matt. 8:18–22)

57 Now it happened as they journeyed on the road, that someone said to Him, "Lord, I will follow You wherever You go."

58 And Jesus said to him, "Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Son of Man has nowhere to lay His head."

59 Then He said to another, "Follow Me." But he said, "Lord, let me first go and bury my father."

60 Jesus said to him, "Let the dead bury their own dead, but you go and preach the kingdom of God."

61 And another also said, "Lord, I will follow You, but let me first go and bid them farewell who are at my house."

62 But Jesus said to him, "No one, having put his hand to the plow, and looking back, is fit for the kingdom of God."

Luke 10

The Seventy Sent Out

1 After these things the Lord appointed seventy others also,[a] and sent them two by two before His face into every city and place where He Himself was about to go.
2 Then He said to them, "The harvest truly is great, but the laborers are few; therefore pray the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into His harvest.
3 "Go your way; behold, I send you out as lambs among wolves.
4 "Carry neither money bag, knapsack, nor sandals; and greet no one along the road.
5 "But whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace to this house.'
6 "And if a son of peace is there, your peace will rest on it; if not, it will return to you.
7 "And remain in the same house, eating and drinking such things as they give, for the laborer is worthy of his wages. Do not go from house to house.
8 "Whatever city you enter, and they receive you, eat such things as are set before you.
9 "And heal the sick there, and say to them, 'The kingdom of God has come near to you.'
10 "But whatever city you enter, and they do not receive you, go out into its streets and say,
11 'The very dust of your city which clings to us[b] we wipe off against you.
Nevertheless know this, that the kingdom of God has come near you.' 12 "But[c] I say to you that it will be more tolerable in that Day for Sodom than for that city.

Woe to the Impenitent Cities

(Matt. 11:20–24)

13 "Woe to you, Chorazin! Woe to you, Bethsaida! For if the mighty works which were done in you had been done in Tyre and Sidon, they would have repented long ago, sitting in sackcloth and ashes.
14 "But it will be more tolerable for Tyre and Sidon at the judgment than for you.
15 "And you, Capernaum, who are exalted to heaven, will be brought down to Hades.[d] 16 "He who hears you hears Me, he who rejects you rejects Me, and he who rejects Me rejects Him who sent Me."

The Seventy Return with Joy

17Then the seventy[e] returned with joy, saying, "Lord, even the demons are subject to us in Your name."

18And He said to them, "I saw Satan fall like lightning from heaven.

19"Behold, I give you the authority to trample on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall by any means hurt you.

20"Nevertheless do not rejoice in this, that the spirits are subject to you, but rather[f] rejoice because your names are written in heaven."

Jesus Rejoices in the Spirit

(Matt. 11:25–27)

21In that hour Jesus rejoiced in the Spirit and said, "I thank You, Father, Lord of heaven and earth, that You have hidden these things from the wise and prudent and revealed them to babes. Even so, Father, for so it seemed good in Your sight.

22"All[g] things have been delivered to Me by My Father, and no one knows who the Son is except the Father, and who the Father is except the Son, and the one to whom the Son wills to reveal Him."

23Then He turned to His disciples and said privately, "Blessed are the eyes which see the things you see;

24"for I tell you that many prophets and kings have desired to see what you see, and have not seen it, and to hear what you hear, and have not heard it."

The Parable of the Good Samaritan

(Matt. 22:34–40; Mark 12:28–34)

25And behold, a certain lawyer stood up and tested Him, saying, "Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"

26He said to him, "What is written in the law? What is your reading of it?"

27So he answered and said, " 'You shall love the LORD your God with all your heart, with all your soul, with all your strength, and with all your mind,'[h] and 'your neighbor as yourself.' "[i]

28And He said to him, "You have answered rightly; do this and you will live."

29But he, wanting to justify himself, said to Jesus, "And who is my neighbor?”

30Then Jesus answered and said: “A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and fell among thieves, who stripped him of his clothing, wounded him, and departed, leaving him half dead.

31“Now by chance a certain priest came down that road. And when he saw him, he passed by on the other side.

32“Likewise a Levite, when he arrived at the place, came and looked, and passed by on the other side.

33“But a certain Samaritan, as he journeyed, came where he was. And when he saw him, he had compassion.

34“So he went to him and bandaged his wounds, pouring on oil and wine; and he set him on his own animal, brought him to an inn, and took care of him.

35“On the next day, when he departed,[j] he took out two denarii, gave them to the innkeeper, and said to him, ‘Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, when I come again, I will repay you.’

36“So which of these three do you think was neighbor to him who fell among the thieves?”

37And he said, “He who showed mercy on him.” Then Jesus said to him, “Go and do likewise.”

Mary and Martha Worship and Serve

38Now it happened as they went that He entered a certain village; and a certain woman named Martha welcomed Him into her house.

39And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at Jesus’[k] feet and heard His word.

40But Martha was distracted with much serving, and she approached Him and said, “Lord, do You not care that my sister has left me to serve alone? Therefore tell her to help me.”

41And Jesus[l] answered and said to her, “Martha, Martha, you are worried and troubled about many things.

42“But one thing is needed, and Mary has chosen that good part, which will not be taken away from her.” The Seventy

Luke 11

The Model Prayer

(Matt. 6:9–15)

1 Now it came to pass, as He was praying in a certain place, when He ceased, that one of His disciples said to Him, “Lord, teach us to pray, as John also taught his disciples.”
2 So He said to them, “When you pray, say:

Our Father in heaven,[a]
Hallowed be Your name.
Your kingdom come.[b]
Your will be done
On earth as it is in heaven.
3 Give us day by day our daily bread.
4 And forgive us our sins,
For we also forgive everyone who is indebted to us.
And do not lead us into temptation,
But deliver us from the evil one.”[c]

A Friend Comes at Midnight

5 And He said to them, “Which of you shall have a friend, and go to him at midnight and say to him, ‘Friend, lend me three loaves; 6 ‘for a friend of mine has come to me on his journey, and I have nothing to set before him’;
7 “and he will answer from within and say, ‘Do not trouble me; the door is now shut, and my children are with me in bed; I cannot rise and give to you’?
8 “I say to you, though he will not rise and give to him because he is his friend, yet because of his persistence he will rise and give him as many as he needs.

Keep Asking, Seeking, Knocking

(Matt. 7:7–11)

9 “So I say to you, ask, and it will be given to you; seek, and you will find;
knock, and it will be opened to you.
10 “For everyone who asks receives, and he who seeks finds, and to him who knocks it will be opened.
11 “If a son asks for bread[d] from any father among you, will he give him a stone? Or if he asks for a fish, will he give him a serpent instead of a fish?

12"Or if he asks for an egg, will he offer him a scorpion?
13"If you then, being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more will your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to those who ask Him!"

A House Divided Cannot Stand

(Matt. 12:22–30; Mark 3:22–27)

14And He was casting out a demon, and it was mute. So it was, when the demon had gone out, that the mute spoke; and the multitudes marveled.
15But some of them said, "He casts out demons by Beelzebub,[e] the ruler of the demons."
16Others, testing Him, sought from Him a sign from heaven.
17But He, knowing their thoughts, said to them: "Every kingdom divided against itself is brought to desolation, and a house divided against a house falls.
18"If Satan also is divided against himself, how will his kingdom stand? Because you say I cast out demons by Beelzebub.
19"And if I cast out demons by Beelzebub, by whom do your sons cast them out? Therefore they will be your judges.
20"But if I cast out demons with the finger of God, surely the kingdom of God has come upon you.
21"When a strong man, fully armed, guards his own palace, his goods are in peace.
22"But when a stronger than he comes upon him and overcomes him, he takes from him all his armor in which he trusted, and divides his spoils.
23"He who is not with Me is against Me, and he who does not gather with Me scatters.

An Unclean Spirit Returns

(Matt. 12:43–45)

24"When an unclean spirit goes out of a man, he goes through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he says, 'I will return to my house from which I came.'
25"And when he comes, he finds it swept and put in order.
26"Then he goes and takes with him seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter and dwell there; and the last state of that man is worse than the first."

Keeping the Word

27 And it happened, as He spoke these things, that a certain woman from the crowd raised her voice and said to Him, "Blessed is the womb that bore You, and the breasts which nursed You!"

28 But He said, "More than that, blessed are those who hear the word of God and keep it!"

Seeking a Sign

(Matt. 12:38–42)

29 And while the crowds were thickly gathered together, He began to say, "This is an evil generation. It seeks a sign, and no sign will be given to it except the sign of Jonah the prophet.[f]

30 "For as Jonah became a sign to the Ninevites, so also the Son of Man will be to this generation.

31 "The queen of the South will rise up in the judgment with the men of this generation and condemn them, for she came from the ends of the earth to hear the wisdom of Solomon; and indeed a greater than Solomon is here.

32 "The men of Nineveh will rise up in the judgment with this generation and condemn it, for they repented at the preaching of Jonah; and indeed a greater than Jonah is here.

The Lamp of the Body

(Matt. 6:22, 23)

33 "No one, when he has lit a lamp, puts it in a secret place or under a basket, but on a lampstand, that those who come in may see the light.

34 "The lamp of the body is the eye. Therefore, when your eye is good, your whole body also is full of light. But when your eye is bad, your body also is full of darkness.

35 "Therefore take heed that the light which is in you is not darkness.

36 "If then your whole body is full of light, having no part dark, the whole body will be full of light, as when the bright shining of a lamp gives you light."

Woe to the Pharisees and Lawyers

37And as He spoke, a certain Pharisee asked Him to dine with him. So He went in and sat down to eat.

38When the Pharisee saw it, he marveled that He had not first washed before dinner.

39Then the Lord said to him, "Now you Pharisees make the outside of the cup and dish clean, but your inward part is full of greed and wickedness.

40"Foolish ones! Did not He who made the outside make the inside also?

41"But rather give alms of such things as you have; then indeed all things are clean to you.

42"But woe to you Pharisees! For you tithe mint and rue and all manner of herbs, and pass by justice and the love of God. These you ought to have done, without leaving the others undone.

43"Woe to you Pharisees! For you love the best seats in the synagogues and greetings in the marketplaces.

44"Woe to you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites![g] For you are like graves which are not seen, and the men who walk over them are not aware of them."

45Then one of the lawyers answered and said to Him, "Teacher, by saying these things You reproach us also."

46And He said, "Woe to you also, lawyers! For you load men with burdens hard to bear, and you yourselves do not touch the burdens with one of your fingers.

47"Woe to you! For you build the tombs of the prophets, and your fathers killed them.

48"In fact, you bear witness that you approve the deeds of your fathers; for they indeed killed them, and you build their tombs.

49"Therefore the wisdom of God also said, 'I will send them prophets and apostles, and some of them they will kill and persecute,'

50"that the blood of all the prophets which was shed from the foundation of the world may be required of this generation,

51"from the blood of Abel to the blood of Zechariah who perished between the altar and the temple. Yes, I say to you, it shall be required of this generation.

52"Woe to you lawyers! For you have taken away the key of knowledge. You did not enter in yourselves, and those who were entering in you hindered."

53And as He said these things to them,[h] the scribes and the Pharisees began to assail Him vehemently, and to cross-examine Him about many things,

54lying in wait for Him, and seeking to catch Him in something He might say, that they might accuse Him.[i]

Luke 12

Beware of Hypocrisy

(Matt. 10:26, 27)

1In the meantime, when an innumerable multitude of people had gathered together, so that they trampled one another, He began to say to His disciples first of all, "Beware of the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy.

2"For there is nothing covered that will not be revealed, nor hidden that will not be known.

3"Therefore whatever you have spoken in the dark will be heard in the light, and what you have spoken in the ear in inner rooms will be proclaimed on the housetops.

Jesus Teaches the Fear of God

(Matt. 10:8–31)

4"And I say to you, My friends, do not be afraid of those who kill the body, and after that have no more that they can do.

5"But I will show you whom you should fear: Fear Him who, after He has killed, has power to cast into hell; yes, I say to you, fear Him!

6"Are not five sparrows sold for two copper coins?[a] And not one of them is forgotten before God.

7"But the very hairs of your head are all numbered. Do not fear therefore; you are of more value than many sparrows.

Confess Christ Before Men

(Matt. 10:32, 33)

8"Also I say to you, whoever confesses Me before men, him the Son of Man also will confess before the angels of God.

9"But he who denies Me before men will be denied before the angels of God.

10"And anyone who speaks a word against the Son of Man, it will be forgiven him; but to him who blasphemes against the Holy Spirit, it will not be forgiven.

11“Now when they bring you to the synagogues and magistrates and authorities, do not worry about how or what you should answer, or what you should say.

12“For the Holy Spirit will teach you in that very hour what you ought to say.”

The Parable of the Rich Fool

13Then one from the crowd said to Him, “Teacher, tell my brother to divide the inheritance with me.”

14But He said to him, “Man, who made Me a judge or an arbitrator over you?”

15And He said to them, “Take heed and beware of covetousness,[b] for one’s life does not consist in the abundance of the things he possesses.”

16Then He spoke a parable to them, saying: “The ground of a certain rich man yielded plentifully.

17“And he thought within himself, saying, ‘What shall I do, since I have no room to store my crops?’

18“So he said, ‘I will do this: I will pull down my barns and build greater, and there I will store all my crops and my goods.

19‘And I will say to my soul, “Soul, you have many goods laid up for many years; take your ease; eat, drink, and be merry.” ’

20“But God said to him, ‘Fool! This night your soul will be required of you; then whose will those things be which you have provided?’

21“So is he who lays up treasure for himself, and is not rich toward God.”

Do Not Worry

(Matt. 6:19–21, 25–34)

22Then He said to His disciples, “Therefore I say to you, do not worry about your life, what you will eat; nor about the body, what you will put on.

23“Life is more than food, and the body is more than clothing.

24“Consider the ravens, for they neither sow nor reap, which have neither storehouse nor barn; and God feeds them. Of how much more value are you than the birds?

25“And which of you by worrying can add one cubit to his stature?

26“If you then are not able to do the least, why are you anxious for the rest?

27“Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin; and yet I say to you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

28“If then God so clothes the grass, which today is in the field and tomorrow is thrown into the oven, how much more will He clothe you, O you
of little faith?
29“And do not seek what you should eat or what you should drink, nor have an anxious mind.
30“For all these things the nations of the world seek after, and your Father knows that you need these things.
31“But seek the kingdom of God, and all these things[c] shall be added to you.
32“Do not fear, little flock, for it is your Father’s good pleasure to give you the kingdom.
33“Sell what you have and give alms; provide yourselves money bags which do not grow old, a treasure in the heavens that does not fail, where no thief approaches nor moth destroys.
34“For where your treasure is, there your heart will be also.

The Faithful Servant and the Evil Servant

(Matt. 24:42–51)

35“Let your waist be girded and your lamps burning; 36“and you yourselves be like men who wait for their master, when he will return from the wedding, that when he comes and knocks they may open to him immediately.
37“Blessed are those servants whom the master, when he comes, will find watching. Assuredly, I say to you that he will gird himself and have them sit down to eat, and will come and serve them.
38“And if he should come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and find them so, blessed are those servants.
39“But know this, that if the master of the house had known what hour the thief would come, he would have watched and[d] not allowed his house to be broken into.
40“Therefore you also be ready, for the Son of Man is coming at an hour you do not expect.”
41Then Peter said to Him, “Lord, do You speak this parable only to us, or to all people?” 42And the Lord said, “Who then is that faithful and wise steward, whom his master will make ruler over his household, to give them their portion of food in due season?

43“Blessed is that servant whom his master will find so doing when he comes.
44“Truly, I say to you that he will make him ruler over all that he has.
45“But if that servant says in his heart, ‘My master is delaying his coming,’ and begins to beat the male and female servants, and to eat and drink and be drunk, 46“the master of that servant will come on a day when he is not looking for him, and at an hour when he is not aware, and will cut him in two and appoint him his portion with the unbelievers.
47“And that servant who knew his master’s will, and did not prepare himself or do according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.
48“But he who did not know, yet committed things deserving of stripes, shall be beaten with few. For everyone to whom much is given, from him much will be required; and to whom much has been committed, of him they will ask the more.

Christ Brings Division

(Matt. 10:34–39)

49“I came to send fire on the earth, and how I wish it were already kindled!
50“But I have a baptism to be baptized with, and how distressed I am till it is accomplished!
51“Do you suppose that I came to give peace on earth? I tell you, not at all, but rather division.
52“For from now on five in one house will be divided: three against two, and two against three.
53“Father will be divided against son and son against father, mother against daughter and daughter against mother, mother-in-law against her daughter-in-law and daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law.”

Discern the Time

(Matt. 16:1–4)

54Then He also said to the multitudes, “Whenever you see a cloud rising out of the west, immediately you say, ‘A shower is coming’; and so it is.
55“And when you see the south wind blow, you say, ‘There will be hot weather’; and there is.
56“Hypocrites! You can discern the face of the sky and of the earth, but how is it you do not discern this time?

Make Peace with Your Adversary

57 "Yes, and why, even of yourselves, do you not judge what is right?
58 "When you go with your adversary to the magistrate, make every effort along the way to settle with him, lest he drag you to the judge, the judge deliver you to the officer, and the officer throw you into prison.
59 "I tell you, you shall not depart from there till you have paid the very last mite."

Luke 13

Repent or Perish

1 There were present at that season some who told Him about the Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.
2 And Jesus answered and said to them, "Do you suppose that these Galileans were worse sinners than all other Galileans, because they suffered such things?
3 "I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish.
4 "Or those eighteen on whom the tower in Siloam fell and killed them, do you think that they were worse sinners than all other men who dwelt in Jerusalem?
5 "I tell you, no; but unless you repent you will all likewise perish."

The Parable of the Barren Fig Tree

6 He also spoke this parable: "A certain man had a fig tree planted in his vineyard, and he came seeking fruit on it and found none.
7 "Then he said to the keeper of his vineyard, 'Look, for three years I have come seeking fruit on this fig tree and find none. Cut it down; why does it use up the ground?'
8 "But he answered and said to him, 'Sir, let it alone this year also, until I dig around it and fertilize it.
9 'And if it bears fruit, well. But if not, after that[a] you can cut it down.' "

A Spirit of Infirmity

10 Now He was teaching in one of the synagogues on the Sabbath.
11 And behold, there was a woman who had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bent over and could in no way raise herself up.

12 But when Jesus saw her, He called her to Him and said to her, “Woman, you are loosed from your infirmity.”

13 And He laid His hands on her, and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

14 But the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because Jesus had healed on the Sabbath; and he said to the crowd, “There are six days on which men ought to work; therefore come and be healed on them, and not on the Sabbath day.”

15 The Lord then answered him and said, “Hypocrite![b] Does not each one of you on the Sabbath loose his ox or donkey from the stall, and lead it away to water it?

16 “So ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan has bound—think of it—for eighteen years, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath?”

17 And when He said these things, all His adversaries were put to shame; and all the multitude rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by Him.

The Parable of the Mustard Seed

(Matt. 13:31, 32; Mark 4:30–32)

18 Then He said, “What is the kingdom of God like? And to what shall I compare it?

19 “It is like a mustard seed, which a man took and put in his garden; and it grew and became a large[c] tree, and the birds of the air nested in its branches.”

The Parable of the Leaven

(Matt. 13:33)

20 And again He said, “To what shall I liken the kingdom of God?

21 “It is like leaven, which a woman took and hid in three measures[d] of meal till it was all leavened.”

The Narrow Way

(Matt. 7:13, 14)

22 And He went through the cities and villages, teaching, and journeying toward Jerusalem.

23 Then one said to Him, “Lord, are there few who are saved?” And He said to them,

24"Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for many, I say to you, will seek to enter and will not be able.

25"When once the Master of the house has risen up and shut the door, and you begin to stand outside and knock at the door, saying, 'Lord, Lord, open for us,' and He will answer and say to you, 'I do not know you, where you are from,'

26"then you will begin to say, 'We ate and drank in Your presence, and You taught in our streets.'

27"But He will say, 'I tell you I do not know you, where you are from. Depart from Me, all you workers of iniquity.'

28"There will be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when you see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob and all the prophets in the kingdom of God, and yourselves thrust out.

29"They will come from the east and the west, from the north and the south, and sit down in the kingdom of God.

30"And indeed there are last who will be first, and there are first who will be last."

31On that very day[e] some Pharisees came, saying to Him, "Get out and depart from here, for Herod wants to kill You."

32And He said to them, "Go, tell that fox, 'Behold, I cast out demons and perform cures today and tomorrow, and the third day I shall be perfected.'

33"Nevertheless I must journey today, tomorrow, and the day following; for it cannot be that a prophet should perish outside of Jerusalem.

Jesus Laments over Jerusalem

(Matt. 23:37–39)

34"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, the one who kills the prophets and stones those who are sent to her! How often I wanted to gather your children together, as a hen gathers her brood under her wings, but you were not willing!

35"See! Your house is left to you desolate; and assuredly,[f] I say to you, you shall not see Me until the time comes when you say, 'Blessed is He who comes in the name of the LORD!' "[g]

Luke 14

A Man with Dropsy Healed on the Sabbath

1 Now it happened, as He went into the house of one of the rulers of the Pharisees to eat bread on the Sabbath, that they watched Him closely.
2 And behold, there was a certain man before Him who had dropsy.
3 And Jesus, answering, spoke to the lawyers and Pharisees, saying, "Is it lawful to heal on the Sabbath?"[a] 4 But they kept silent. And He took him and healed him, and let him go.
5 Then He answered them, saying, "Which of you, having a donkey[b] or an ox that has fallen into a pit, will not immediately pull him out on the Sabbath day?"
6 And they could not answer Him regarding these things.

Take the Lowly Place

7 So He told a parable to those who were invited, when He noted how they chose the best places, saying to them:
8 "When you are invited by anyone to a wedding feast, do not sit down in the best place, lest one more honorable than you be invited by him; 9 "and he who invited you and him come and say to you, 'Give place to this man,' and then you begin with shame to take the lowest place.
10 "But when you are invited, go and sit down in the lowest place, so that when he who invited you comes he may say to you, 'Friend, go up higher.'
Then you will have glory in the presence of those who sit at the table with you.
11 "For whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted."
12 Then He also said to him who invited Him, "When you give a dinner or a supper, do not ask your friends, your brothers, your relatives, nor rich neighbors, lest they also invite you back, and you be repaid.
13 "But when you give a feast, invite the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind.
14 "And you will be blessed, because they cannot repay you; for you shall be repaid at the resurrection of the just."

The Parable of the Great Supper

(Matt. 22:1–14)

15 Now when one of those who sat at the table with Him heard these things, he said to Him, “Blessed is he who shall eat bread[c] in the kingdom of God!”

16Then He said to him, “A certain man gave a great supper and invited many,

17“and sent his servant at supper time to say to those who were invited, ‘Come, for all things are now ready.’

18“But they all with one accord began to make excuses. The first said to him, ‘I have bought a piece of ground, and I must go and see it. I ask you to have me excused.’

19“And another said, ‘I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I am going to test them. I ask you to have me excused.’

20“Still another said, ‘I have married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.’

21“So that servant came and reported these things to his master. Then the master of the house, being angry, said to his servant, ‘Go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and bring in here the poor and the maimed and the lame and the blind.’

22“And the servant said, ‘Master, it is done as you commanded, and still there is room.’

23“Then the master said to the servant, ‘Go out into the highways and hedges, and compel them to come in, that my house may be filled.

24‘For I say to you that none of those men who were invited shall taste my supper.’ ”

Leaving All to Follow Christ

(Matt. 10:34–39)

25Now great multitudes went with Him. And He turned and said to them, 26“If anyone comes to Me and does not hate his father and mother, wife and children, brothers and sisters, yes, and his own life also, he cannot be My disciple.

27“And whoever does not bear his cross and come after Me cannot be My disciple.

28“For which of you, intending to build a tower, does not sit down first and count the cost, whether he has enough to finish it—

29“lest, after he has laid the foundation, and is not able to finish, all who see it begin to mock him,

30“saying, ‘This man began to build and was not able to finish.’

31“Or what king, going to make war against another king, does not sit down first and consider whether he is able with ten thousand to meet him who comes against him with twenty thousand?

32"Or else, while the other is still a great way off, he sends a delegation and asks conditions of peace.
33"So likewise, whoever of you does not forsake all that he has cannot be My disciple.

Tasteless Salt Is Worthless
(Matt. 5:13; Mark 9:50)

34"Salt is good; but if the salt has lost its flavor, how shall it be seasoned?
35"It is neither fit for the land nor for the dunghill, but men throw it out. He who has ears to hear, let him hear!"

Luke 15

The Parable of the Lost Sheep
(Matt. 18:10–14)

1Then all the tax collectors and the sinners drew near to Him to hear Him.
2And the Pharisees and scribes complained, saying, "This Man receives sinners and eats with them."
3So He spoke this parable to them, saying:
4"What man of you, having a hundred sheep, if he loses one of them, does not leave the ninety-nine in the wilderness, and go after the one which is lost until he finds it?
5"And when he has found it, he lays it on his shoulders, rejoicing.
6"And when he comes home, he calls together his friends and neighbors, saying to them, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found my sheep which was lost!'
7"I say to you that likewise there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine just persons who need no repentance.

The Parable of the Lost Coin

8"Or what woman, having ten silver coins,[a] if she loses one coin, does not light a lamp, sweep the house, and search carefully until she finds it?
9"And when she has found it, she calls her friends and neighbors together, saying, 'Rejoice with me, for I have found the piece which I lost!'

10“Likewise, I say to you, there is joy in the presence of the angels of God over one sinner who repents.”

The Parable of the Lost Son

11Then He said: “A certain man had two sons.
12“And the younger of them said to his father, ‘Father, give me the portion of goods that falls to me.’ So he divided to them his livelihood.
13“And not many days after, the younger son gathered all together, journeyed to a far country, and there wasted his possessions with prodigal living.
14“But when he had spent all, there arose a severe famine in that land, and he began to be in want.
15“Then he went and joined himself to a citizen of that country, and he sent him into his fields to feed swine.
16“And he would gladly have filled his stomach with the pods that the swine ate, and no one gave him anything.
17“But when he came to himself, he said, ‘How many of my father’s hired servants have bread enough and to spare, and I perish with hunger!
18‘I will arise and go to my father, and will say to him, “Father, I have sinned against heaven and before you, 19“and I am no longer worthy to be called your son. Make me like one of your hired servants.” ’ 20“And he arose and came to his father. But when he was still a great way off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him.
21“And the son said to him, ‘Father, I have sinned against heaven and in your sight, and am no longer worthy to be called your son.’ 22“But the father said to his servants, ‘Bring[b] out the best robe and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand and sandals on his feet.
23‘And bring the fatted calf here and kill it, and let us eat and be merry;
24‘for this my son was dead and is alive again; he was lost and is found.’
And they began to be merry.
25“Now his older son was in the field. And as he came and drew near to the house, he heard music and dancing.
26“So he called one of the servants and asked what these things meant.
27“And he said to him, ‘Your brother has come, and because he has received him safe and sound, your father has killed the fatted calf.’

28“But he was angry and would not go in. Therefore his father came out and pleaded with him.
29“So he answered and said to his father, ‘Lo, these many years I have been serving you; I never transgressed your commandment at any time; and yet you never gave me a young goat, that I might make merry with my friends.
30‘But as soon as this son of yours came, who has devoured your livelihood with harlots, you killed the fatted calf for him.’ 31“And he said to him, ‘Son, you are always with me, and all that I have is yours.
32‘It was right that we should make merry and be glad, for your brother was dead and is alive again, and was lost and is found.’ ”

Luke 16

The Parable of the Unjust Steward

1He also said to His disciples: “There was a certain rich man who had a steward, and an accusation was brought to him that this man was wasting his goods.
2“So he called him and said to him, ‘What is this I hear about you? Give an account of your stewardship, for you can no longer be steward.’ 3“Then the steward said within himself, ‘What shall I do? For my master is taking the stewardship away from me. I cannot dig; I am ashamed to beg.
4‘I have resolved what to do, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receive me into their houses.’
5“So he called every one of his master’s debtors to him, and said to the first, ‘How much do you owe my master?’ 6“And he said, ‘A hundred measures[a] of oil.’ So he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and sit down quickly and write fifty.’ 7“Then he said to another, ‘And how much do you owe?’ So he said, ‘A hundred measures[b] of wheat.’ And he said to him, ‘Take your bill, and write eighty.’
8“So the master commended the unjust steward because he had dealt shrewdly. For the sons of this world are more shrewd in their generation than the sons of light.
9“And I say to you, make friends for yourselves by unrighteous mammon, that when you fail,[c] they may receive you into an everlasting home.

10"He who is faithful in what is least is faithful also in much; and he who is unjust in what is least is unjust also in much.

11"Therefore if you have not been faithful in the unrighteous mammon, who will commit to your trust the true riches?

12"And if you have not been faithful in what is another man's, who will give you what is your own?

13"No servant can serve two masters; for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will be loyal to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve God and mammon."

The Law, the Prophets, and the Kingdom

14Now the Pharisees, who were lovers of money, also heard all these things, and they derided Him.

15And He said to them, "You are those who justify yourselves before men, but God knows your hearts. For what is highly esteemed among men is an abomination in the sight of God.

16"The law and the prophets were until John. Since that time the kingdom of God has been preached, and everyone is pressing into it.

17"And it is easier for heaven and earth to pass away than for one tittle of the law to fail.

18"Whoever divorces his wife and marries another commits adultery; and whoever marries her who is divorced from her husband commits adultery.

The Rich Man and Lazarus

19"There was a certain rich man who was clothed in purple and fine linen and fared sumptuously every day.

20"But there was a certain beggar named Lazarus, full of sores, who was laid at his gate, 21"desiring to be fed with the crumbs which fell[d] from the rich man's table. Moreover the dogs came and licked his sores.

22"So it was that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels to Abraham's bosom. The rich man also died and was buried.

23"And being in torments in Hades, he lifted up his eyes and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom.

24"Then he cried and said, 'Father Abraham, have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that he may dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue; for

I am tormented in this flame.’
25“But Abraham said, ‘Son, remember that in your lifetime you received your good things, and likewise Lazarus evil things; but now he is comforted and you are tormented.
26‘And besides all this, between us and you there is a great gulf fixed, so that those who want to pass from here to you cannot, nor can those from there pass to us.’
27“Then he said, ‘I beg you therefore, father, that you would send him to my father’s house,
28‘for I have five brothers, that he may testify to them, lest they also come to this place of torment.’
29“Abraham said to him, ‘They have Moses and the prophets; let them hear them.’
30“And he said, ‘No, father Abraham; but if one goes to them from the dead, they will repent.’
31“But he said to him, ‘If they do not hear Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded though one rise from the dead.’ ”

Luke 17

Jesus Warns of Offenses

(Matt. 18:6, 7; Mark 9:42)

1Then He said to the disciples, “It is impossible that no offenses should come, but woe to him through whom they do come!
2“It would be better for him if a millstone were hung around his neck, and he were thrown into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones.
3“Take heed to yourselves. If your brother sins against you,[a] rebuke him;
and if he repents, forgive him.
4“And if he sins against you seven times in a day, and seven times in a day returns to you,[b] saying, ‘I repent,’ you shall forgive him.”

Faith and Duty

(Matt. 17:19–21; Mark 9:28, 29)

5And the apostles said to the Lord, “Increase our faith.”
6So the Lord said, “If you have faith as a mustard seed, you can say to this mulberry tree, ‘Be pulled up by the roots and be planted in the sea,’ and it would obey you.

7“And which of you, having a servant plowing or tending sheep, will say to him when he has come in from the field, ‘Come at once and sit down to eat’?

8“But will he not rather say to him, ‘Prepare something for my supper, and gird yourself and serve me till I have eaten and drunk, and afterward you will eat and drink’?

9“Does he thank that servant because he did the things that were commanded him? I think not.[c]

10“So likewise you, when you have done all those things which you are commanded, say, ‘We are unprofitable servants. We have done what was our duty to do.’ ”

Ten Lepers Cleansed

11Now it happened as He went to Jerusalem that He passed through the midst of Samaria and Galilee.

12Then as He entered a certain village, there met Him ten men who were lepers, who stood afar off.

13And they lifted up their voices and said, “Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!”

14So when He saw them, He said to them, “Go, show yourselves to the priests.” And so it was that as they went, they were cleansed.

15And one of them, when he saw that he was healed, returned, and with a loud voice glorified God, 16and fell down on his face at His feet, giving Him thanks. And he was a Samaritan.

17So Jesus answered and said, “Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine?

18“Were there not any found who returned to give glory to God except this foreigner?”

19And He said to him, “Arise, go your way. Your faith has made you well.”

The Coming of the Kingdom

(Gen. 6:5—8:22; 19:12–14)

20Now when He was asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come, He answered them and said, “The kingdom of God does not come with observation; 21 “nor will they say, ‘See here!’ or ‘See there!’[d] For indeed, the kingdom of God is within you.”

22 Then He said to the disciples, “The days will come when you will desire to see one of the days of the Son of Man, and you will not see it.
23 “And they will say to you, ‘Look here!’ or ‘Look there!’[e] Do not go after them or follow them.
24 “For as the lightning that flashes out of one part under heaven shines to the other part under heaven, so also the Son of Man will be in His day.
25 “But first He must suffer many things and be rejected by this generation.
26 “And as it was in the days of Noah, so it will be also in the days of the Son of Man:
27 “They ate, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noah entered the ark, and the flood came and destroyed them all.
28 “Likewise as it was also in the days of Lot: They ate, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built; 29 “but on the day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven and destroyed them all.
30 “Even so will it be in the day when the Son of Man is revealed.
31 “In that day, he who is on the housetop, and his goods are in the house, let him not come down to take them away. And likewise the one who is in the field, let him not turn back.
32 “Remember Lot’s wife.
33 “Whoever seeks to save his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life will preserve it.
34 “I tell you, in that night there will be two men in one bed: the one will be taken and the other will be left.
35 “Two women will be grinding together: the one will be taken and the other left.
36 “Two men will be in the field: the one will be taken and the other left.”[f]
37 And they answered and said to Him, “Where, Lord?” So He said to them, “Wherever the body is, there the eagles will be gathered together.”

Luke 18

The Parable of the Persistent Widow

[1]Then He spoke a parable to them, that men always ought to pray and not lose heart,

[2]saying: “There was in a certain city a judge who did not fear God nor regard man.

[3]“Now there was a widow in that city; and she came to him, saying, ‘Get justice for me from my adversary.’

[4]“And he would not for a while; but afterward he said within himself, ‘Though I do not fear God nor regard man,

[5]‘yet because this widow troubles me I will avenge her, lest by her continual coming she weary me.’ ”

[6]Then the Lord said, “Hear what the unjust judge said.

[7]“And shall God not avenge His own elect who cry out day and night to Him, though He bears long with them?

[8]“I tell you that He will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless, when the Son of Man comes, will He really find faith on the earth?”

The Parable of the Pharisee and the Tax Collector

[9]Also He spoke this parable to some who trusted in themselves that they were righteous, and despised others:

[10]“Two men went up to the temple to pray, one a Pharisee and the other a tax collector.

[11]“The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, ‘God, I thank You that I am not like other men—extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this tax collector.

[12]‘I fast twice a week; I give tithes of all that I possess.’

[13]“And the tax collector, standing afar off, would not so much as raise his eyes to heaven, but beat his breast, saying, ‘God, be merciful to me a sinner!’

[14]“I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other; for everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, and he who humbles himself will be exalted.”

Jesus Blesses Little Children

(Matt. 19:13–15; Mark 10:13–16)

[15]Then they also brought infants to Him that He might touch them; but when the disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 But Jesus called them to Him and said, “Let the little children come to Me, and do not forbid them; for of such is the kingdom of God.
17 “Assuredly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God as a little child will by no means enter it.”

Jesus Counsels the Rich Young Ruler

(Matt. 19:16–22; Mark 10:17–22)

18 Now a certain ruler asked Him, saying, “Good Teacher, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?”
19 So Jesus said to him, “Why do you call Me good? No one is good but One, that is, God.
20 “You know the commandments: ‘Do not commit adultery,’ ‘Do not murder,’ ‘Do not steal,’ ‘Do not bear false witness,’ ‘Honor your father and your mother.’ ”[a] 21 And he said, “All these things I have kept from my youth.”
22 So when Jesus heard these things, He said to him, “You still lack one thing. Sell all that you have and distribute to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven; and come, follow Me.”
23 But when he heard this, he became very sorrowful, for he was very rich.

With God All Things Are Possible

(Matt. 19:23–30; Mark 10:23–31)

24 And when Jesus saw that he became very sorrowful, He said, “How hard it is for those who have riches to enter the kingdom of God!
25 “For it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God.”
26 And those who heard it said, “Who then can be saved?”
27 But He said, “The things which are impossible with men are possible with God.”
28 Then Peter said, “See, we have left all[b] and followed You.”
29 So He said to them, “Assuredly, I say to you, there is no one who has left house or parents or brothers or wife or children, for the sake of the kingdom of God, 30 “who shall not receive many times more in this present time, and in the age to come eternal life.”

Jesus a Third Time Predicts His Death and Resurrection

(Matt. 20:17–19; Mark 10:32–34)

31Then He took the twelve aside and said to them, “Behold, we are going up to Jerusalem, and all things that are written by the prophets concerning the Son of Man will be accomplished.
32“For He will be delivered to the Gentiles and will be mocked and insulted and spit upon.
33“They will scourge Him and kill Him. And the third day He will rise again.”
34But they understood none of these things; this saying was hidden from them, and they did not know the things which were spoken.

A Blind Man Receives His Sight

(Matt. 20:29–34; Mark 10:46–52)

35Then it happened, as He was coming near Jericho, that a certain blind man sat by the road begging.
36And hearing a multitude passing by, he asked what it meant.
37So they told him that Jesus of Nazareth was passing by.
38And he cried out, saying, “Jesus, Son of David, have mercy on me!”
39Then those who went before warned him that he should be quiet; but he cried out all the more, “Son of David, have mercy on me!” 40So Jesus stood still and commanded him to be brought to Him. And when he had come near, He asked him, 41saying, “What do you want Me to do for you?” He said, “Lord, that I may receive my sight.”
42Then Jesus said to him, “Receive your sight; your faith has made you well.”
43And immediately he received his sight, and followed Him, glorifying
God. And all the people, when they saw it, gave praise to God.

Luke 19

Jesus Comes to Zacchaeus’ House

1Then Jesus entered and passed through Jericho.
2Now behold, there was a man named Zacchaeus who was a chief tax collector, and he was rich.

[3]And he sought to see who Jesus was, but could not because of the crowd, for he was of short stature.

[4]So he ran ahead and climbed up into a sycamore tree to see Him, for He was going to pass that way.

[5]And when Jesus came to the place, He looked up and saw him,[a] and said to him, “Zacchaeus, make haste and come down, for today I must stay at your house.”

[6]So he made haste and came down, and received Him joyfully.

[7]But when they saw it, they all complained, saying, “He has gone to be a guest with a man who is a sinner.”

[8]Then Zacchaeus stood and said to the Lord, “Look, Lord, I give half of my goods to the poor; and if I have taken anything from anyone by false accusation, I restore fourfold.”

[9]And Jesus said to him, “Today salvation has come to this house, because he also is a son of Abraham;

[10]“for the Son of Man has come to seek and to save that which was lost.”

The Parable of the Minas

(Matt. 25:14–30)

[11]Now as they heard these things, He spoke another parable, because He was near Jerusalem and because they thought the kingdom of God would appear immediately.

[12]Therefore He said: “A certain nobleman went into a far country to receive for himself a kingdom and to return.

[13]“So he called ten of his servants, delivered to them ten minas,[b] and said to them, ‘Do business till I come.’

[14]“But his citizens hated him, and sent a delegation after him, saying, ‘We will not have this man to reign over us.’

[15]“And so it was that when he returned, having received the kingdom, he then commanded these servants, to whom he had given the money, to be called to him, that he might know how much every man had gained by trading.

[16]“Then came the first, saying, ‘Master, your mina has earned ten minas.’

[17]“And he said to him, ‘Well done, good servant; because you were faithful in a very little, have authority over ten cities.’

[18]“And the second came, saying, ‘Master, your mina has earned five minas.’

19“Likewise he said to him, ‘You also be over five cities.’

20“Then another came, saying, ‘Master, here is your mina, which I have kept put away in a handkerchief.

21‘For I feared you, because you are an austere man. You collect what you did not deposit, and reap what you did not sow.’

22“And he said to him, ‘Out of your own mouth I will judge you, you wicked servant. You knew that I was an austere man, collecting what I did not deposit and reaping what I did not sow.

23‘Why then did you not put my money in the bank, that at my coming I might have collected it with interest?’

24“And he said to those who stood by, ‘Take the mina from him, and give it to him who has ten minas.’

25(“But they said to him, ‘Master, he has ten minas.’)

26‘For I say to you, that to everyone who has will be given; and from him who does not have, even what he has will be taken away from him.

27‘But bring here those enemies of mine, who did not want me to reign over them, and slay them before me.’ ”

The Triumphal Entry

(Matt. 21:1–11; Mark 11:1–11; John 12:12–19)

28When He had said this, He went on ahead, going up to Jerusalem.

29And it came to pass, when He drew near to Bethphage[c] and Bethany, at the mountain called Olivet, that He sent two of His disciples, 30saying, “Go into the village opposite you, where as you enter you will find a colt tied, on which no one has ever sat. Loose it and bring it here.

31“And if anyone asks you, ‘Why are you loosing it?’ thus you shall say to him, ‘Because the Lord has need of it.’ ”

32So those who were sent went their way and found it just as He had said to them.

33But as they were loosing the colt, the owners of it said to them, “Why are you loosing the colt?”

34And they said, “The Lord has need of him.”

35Then they brought him to Jesus. And they threw their own clothes on the colt, and they set Jesus on him.

36And as He went, many spread their clothes on the road.

37Then, as He was now drawing near the descent of the Mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the disciples began to rejoice and praise God with a loud voice for all the mighty works they had seen, 38 saying:

> " 'Blessed is the King who comes in the name of the LORD!'[d] > Peace in heaven and glory in the highest!"

39 And some of the Pharisees called to Him from the crowd, "Teacher, rebuke Your disciples."
40 But He answered and said to them, "I tell you that if these should keep silent, the stones would immediately cry out."

Jesus Weeps over Jerusalem

41 Now as He drew near, He saw the city and wept over it, 42 saying, "If you had known, even you, especially in this your day, the things that make for your peace! But now they are hidden from your eyes.
43 "For days will come upon you when your enemies will build an embankment around you, surround you and close you in on every side, 44 "and level you, and your children within you, to the ground; and they will not leave in you one stone upon another, because you did not know the time of your visitation."

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–19; John 2:12–25)

45 Then He went into the temple and began to drive out those who bought and sold in it,[e]
46 saying to them, "It is written, 'My house is[f] a house of prayer,'[g] but you have made it a 'den of thieves.' "[h]
47 And He was teaching daily in the temple. But the chief priests, the scribes, and the leaders of the people sought to destroy Him, 48 and were unable to do anything; for all the people were very attentive to hear Him.

Luke 20

Jesus' Authority Questioned

(Matt. 21:23–27; Mark 11:27–33)

1 Now it happened on one of those days, as He taught the people in the temple and preached the gospel, that the chief priests and the scribes, together with the elders, confronted Him
2 and spoke to Him, saying, "Tell us, by what authority are You doing these things? Or who is he who gave You this authority?" 3 But He answered and said to them, "I also will ask you one thing, and answer Me:
4 "The baptism of John—was it from heaven or from men?"
5 And they reasoned among themselves, saying, "If we say, 'From heaven,'
He will say, 'Why then[a] did you not believe him?'
6 "But if we say, 'From men,' all the people will stone us, for they are persuaded that John was a prophet."
7 So they answered that they did not know where it was from.
8 And Jesus said to them, "Neither will I tell you by what authority I do these things."

The Parable of the Wicked Vinedressers

(Matt. 21:33–46; Mark 12:1–12)

9 Then He began to tell the people this parable: "A certain man planted a vineyard, leased it to vinedressers, and went into a far country for a long time.
10 "Now at vintage-time he sent a servant to the vinedressers, that they might give him some of the fruit of the vineyard. But the vinedressers beat him and sent him away empty-handed.
11 "Again he sent another servant; and they beat him also, treated him shamefully, and sent him away empty-handed.
12 "And again he sent a third; and they wounded him also and cast him out.
13 "Then the owner of the vineyard said, 'What shall I do? I will send my beloved son. Probably they will respect him when they see him.' 14 "But when the vinedressers saw him, they reasoned among themselves, saying, 'This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.’

15“So they cast him out of the vineyard and killed him. Therefore what will the owner of the vineyard do to them?

16“He will come and destroy those vinedressers and give the vineyard to others.” And when they heard it they said, “Certainly not!”

17Then He looked at them and said, “What then is this that is written:

> ‘The stone which the builders rejected
> Has become the chief cornerstone’?[b]

18“Whoever falls on that stone will be broken; but on whomever it falls, it will grind him to powder.”

19And the chief priests and the scribes that very hour sought to lay hands on Him, but they feared the people[c]—for they knew He had spoken this parable against them.

The Pharisees: Is It Lawful to Pay Taxes to Caesar?

(Matt. 22:15–22; Mark 12:13–17)

20So they watched Him, and sent spies who pretended to be righteous, that they might seize on His words, in order to deliver Him to the power and the authority of the governor.

21Then they asked Him, saying, “Teacher, we know that You say and teach rightly, and You do not show personal favoritism, but teach the way of God in truth:

22“Is it lawful for us to pay taxes to Caesar or not?”

23But He perceived their craftiness, and said to them, “Why do you test Me?[d]

24“Show Me a denarius. Whose image and inscription does it have?” They answered and said, “Caesar’s.”

25And He said to them, “Render therefore to Caesar the things that are Caesar’s, and to God the things that are God’s.”

26But they could not catch Him in His words in the presence of the people. And they marveled at His answer and kept silent.

The Sadducees: What About the Resurrection?

(Matt. 22:23–33; Mark 12:18–27)

27Then some of the Sadducees, who deny that there is a resurrection, came to Him and asked Him,

[28]saying: “Teacher, Moses wrote to us that if a man’s brother dies, having a wife, and he dies without children, his brother should take his wife and raise up offspring for his brother.

[29]“Now there were seven brothers. And the first took a wife, and died without children.

[30]“And the second[e] took her as wife, and he died childless.

[31]“Then the third took her, and in like manner the seven also; and they left no children,[f] and died.

[32]“Last of all the woman died also.

[33]“Therefore, in the resurrection, whose wife does she become? For all seven had her as wife.”

[34]Jesus answered and said to them, “The sons of this age marry and are given in marriage.

[35]“But those who are counted worthy to attain that age, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry nor are given in marriage;

[36]“nor can they die anymore, for they are equal to the angels and are sons of God, being sons of the resurrection.

[37]“But even Moses showed in the burning bush passage that the dead are raised, when he called the Lord ‘the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.’[g]

[38]“For He is not the God of the dead but of the living, for all live to Him.”

[39]Then some of the scribes answered and said, “Teacher, You have spoken well.”

[40]But after that they dared not question Him anymore.

Jesus: How Can David Call His Descendant Lord?

(Matt. 22:41–46; Mark 12:35–37)

41And He said to them, “How can they say that the Christ is the Son of David?

[42]“Now David himself said in the Book of Psalms:

> ‘The LORD said to my Lord,
> “Sit at My right hand,
> [43]Till I make Your enemies Your footstool.” ’[h]

[44]“Therefore David calls Him ‘Lord’; how is He then his Son?”

Beware of the Scribes

(Matt. 23:1–7; Mark 12:38–40)

45 Then, in the hearing of all the people, He said to His disciples, 46 "Beware of the scribes, who desire to go around in long robes, love greetings in the marketplaces, the best seats in the synagogues, and the best places at feasts, 47 "who devour widows' houses, and for a pretense make long prayers. These will receive greater condemnation."

Luke 21

The Widow's Two Mites

(Mark 12:41–44)

1 And He looked up and saw the rich putting their gifts into the treasury,
2 and He saw also a certain poor widow putting in two mites.
3 So He said, "Truly I say to you that this poor widow has put in more than all;
4 "for all these out of their abundance have put in offerings for God,[a] but she out of her poverty put in all the livelihood that she had."

Jesus Predicts the Destruction of the Temple

(Matt. 24:1, 2; Mark 13:1, 2)

5 Then, as some spoke of the temple, how it was adorned with beautiful stones and donations, He said,
6 "These things which you see—the days will come in which not one stone shall be left upon another that shall not be thrown down."

The Signs of the Times and the End of the Age

(Matt. 24:3–14; Mark 13:3–13)

7 So they asked Him, saying, "Teacher, but when will these things be? And what sign will there be when these things are about to take place?"
8 And He said: "Take heed that you not be deceived. For many will come in My name, saying, 'I am He,' and, 'The time has drawn near.' Therefore[b] do not go after them.
9 "But when you hear of wars and commotions, do not be terrified; for these things must come to pass first, but the end will not come immediately."

10Then He said to them, "Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom.

11"And there will be great earthquakes in various places, and famines and pestilences; and there will be fearful sights and great signs from heaven.

12"But before all these things, they will lay their hands on you and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues and prisons. You will be brought before kings and rulers for My name's sake.

13"But it will turn out for you as an occasion for testimony.

14"Therefore settle it in your hearts not to meditate beforehand on what you will answer;

15"for I will give you a mouth and wisdom which all your adversaries will not be able to contradict or resist.

16"You will be betrayed even by parents and brothers, relatives and friends; and they will put some of you to death.

17"And you will be hated by all for My name's sake.

18"But not a hair of your head shall be lost.

19"By your patience possess your souls.

The Destruction of Jerusalem

(Matt. 24:15–28; Mark 13:14–23)

20"But when you see Jerusalem surrounded by armies, then know that its desolation is near.

21"Then let those who are in Judea flee to the mountains, let those who are in the midst of her depart, and let not those who are in the country enter her.

22"For these are the days of vengeance, that all things which are written may be fulfilled.

23"But woe to those who are pregnant and to those who are nursing babies in those days! For there will be great distress in the land and wrath upon this people.

24"And they will fall by the edge of the sword, and be led away captive into all nations. And Jerusalem will be trampled by Gentiles until the times of the Gentiles are fulfilled.

The Coming of the Son of Man

(Matt. 24:29–31; Mark 13:24–27)

25"And there will be signs in the sun, in the moon, and in the stars; and on the earth distress of nations, with perplexity, the sea and the waves roaring; 26 “men’s hearts failing them from fear and the expectation of those things which are coming on the earth, for the powers of the heavens will be shaken.

27 “Then they will see the Son of Man coming in a cloud with power and great glory.
28 “Now when these things begin to happen, look up and lift up your heads, because your redemption draws near.”

The Parable of the Fig Tree

(Matt. 24:32–35; Mark 13:28–31)

29 Then He spoke to them a parable: “Look at the fig tree, and all the trees.
30 “When they are already budding, you see and know for yourselves that summer is now near.
31 “So you also, when you see these things happening, know that the kingdom of God is near.
32 “Assuredly, I say to you, this generation will by no means pass away till all things take place.
33 “Heaven and earth will pass away, but My words will by no means pass away.

The Importance of Watching

(Matt. 24:36–44; Mark 13:32–37)

34 “But take heed to yourselves, lest your hearts be weighed down with carousing, drunkenness, and cares of this life, and that Day come on you unexpectedly.
35 “For it will come as a snare on all those who dwell on the face of the whole earth.
36 “Watch therefore, and pray always that you may be counted worthy[c] to escape all these things that will come to pass, and to stand before the Son of Man.”
37 And in the daytime He was teaching in the temple, but at night He went out and stayed on the mountain called Olivet.
38 Then early in the morning all the people came to Him in the temple to hear Him.

Luke 22

The Plot to Kill Jesus

(Matt. 26:1–5, 14–16; Mark 14:1, 2, 10, 11; John 11:45–53)

1 Now the Feast of Unleavened Bread drew near, which is called Passover.
2 And the chief priests and the scribes sought how they might kill Him, for they feared the people.
3 Then Satan entered Judas, surnamed Iscariot, who was numbered among the twelve.
4 So he went his way and conferred with the chief priests and captains, how he might betray Him to them.
5 And they were glad, and agreed to give him money.
6 So he promised and sought opportunity to betray Him to them in the absence of the multitude.

Jesus and His Disciples Prepare the Passover

7 Then came the Day of Unleavened Bread, when the Passover must be killed.
8 And He sent Peter and John, saying, "Go and prepare the Passover for us, that we may eat."
9 So they said to Him, "Where do You want us to prepare?"
10 And He said to them, "Behold, when you have entered the city, a man will meet you carrying a pitcher of water; follow him into the house which he enters.
11 "Then you shall say to the master of the house, 'The Teacher says to you, "Where is the guest room where I may eat the Passover with My disciples?" '
12 "Then he will show you a large, furnished upper room; there make ready."
13 So they went and found it just as He had said to them, and they prepared the Passover.

Jesus Institutes the Lord's Supper

14 When the hour had come, He sat down, and the twelve[a] apostles with Him.
15 Then He said to them, "With fervent desire I have desired to eat this Passover with you before I suffer;
16 "for I say to you, I will no longer eat of it until it is fulfilled in the kingdom of God."

17 Then He took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, “Take this and divide it among yourselves;
18 “for I say to you,[b] I will not drink of the fruit of the vine until the kingdom of God comes.”
19 And He took bread, gave thanks and broke it, and gave it to them, saying, “This is My body which is given for you; do this in remembrance of Me.”
20 Likewise He also took the cup after supper, saying, “This cup is the new covenant in My blood, which is shed for you.
21 “But behold, the hand of My betrayer is with Me on the table.
22 “And truly the Son of Man goes as it has been determined, but woe to that man by whom He is betrayed!”
23 Then they began to question among themselves, which of them it was who would do this thing.

The Disciples Argue About Greatness

24 Now there was also a dispute among them, as to which of them should be considered the greatest.
25 And He said to them, “The kings of the Gentiles exercise lordship over them, and those who exercise authority over them are called ‘benefactors.’
26 “But not so among you; on the contrary, he who is greatest among you, let him be as the younger, and he who governs as he who serves.
27 “For who is greater, he who sits at the table, or he who serves? Is it not he who sits at the table? Yet I am among you as the One who serves.
28 “But you are those who have continued with Me in My trials.
29 “And I bestow upon you a kingdom, just as My Father bestowed one upon Me, 30 “that you may eat and drink at My table in My kingdom, and sit on thrones judging the twelve tribes of Israel.”

Jesus Predicts Peter’s Denial

(Matt. 26:31–35; Mark 14:27–31; John 13:36–38)

31 And the Lord said,[c] “Simon, Simon! Indeed, Satan has asked for you, that he may sift you as wheat.
32 “But I have prayed for you, that your faith should not fail; and when you have returned to Me, strengthen your brethren.”
33 But he said to Him, “Lord, I am ready to go with You, both to prison and to death.”

[34]Then He said, “I tell you, Peter, the rooster shall not crow this day before you will deny three times that you know Me.”

Supplies for the Road

[35]And He said to them, “When I sent you without money bag, knapsack, and sandals, did you lack anything?” So they said, “Nothing.”

[36]Then He said to them, “But now, he who has a money bag, let him take it, and likewise a knapsack; and he who has no sword, let him sell his garment and buy one.

[37]“For I say to you that this which is written must still be accomplished in Me: ‘And He was numbered with the transgressors.’[d] For the things concerning Me have an end.”

[38]So they said, “Lord, look, here are two swords.” And He said to them, “It is enough.”

The Prayer in the Garden

(Matt. 26:36–46; Mark 14:32–42; John 18:1)

[39]Coming out, He went to the Mount of Olives, as He was accustomed, and His disciples also followed Him.

[40]When He came to the place, He said to them, “Pray that you may not enter into temptation.”

[41]And He was withdrawn from them about a stone’s throw, and He knelt down and prayed,

[42]saying, “Father, if it is Your will, take this cup away from Me; nevertheless not My will, but Yours, be done.”

[43]Then an angel appeared to Him from heaven, strengthening Him.

[44]And being in agony, He prayed more earnestly. Then His sweat became like great drops of blood falling down to the ground.[e]

[45]When He rose up from prayer, and had come to His disciples, He found them sleeping from sorrow.

[46]Then He said to them, “Why do you sleep? Rise and pray, lest you enter into temptation.”

Betrayal and Arrest in Gethsemane

(Matt. 26:47–56; Mark 14:43–52; John 18:1–11)

[47]And while He was still speaking, behold, a multitude; and he who was called Judas, one of the twelve, went before them and drew near to Jesus to kiss Him.

48But Jesus said to him, “Judas, are you betraying the Son of Man with a kiss?”

49When those around Him saw what was going to happen, they said to Him, “Lord, shall we strike with the sword?”

50And one of them struck the servant of the high priest and cut off his right ear.

51But Jesus answered and said, “Permit even this.” And He touched his ear and healed him.

52Then Jesus said to the chief priests, captains of the temple, and the elders who had come to Him, “Have you come out, as against a robber, with swords and clubs?

53“When I was with you daily in the temple, you did not try to seize Me. But this is your hour, and the power of darkness.”

Peter Denies Jesus, and Weeps Bitterly

(Matt. 26:69–75; Mark 14:66–72; John 18:13–18, 25–27)

54Having arrested Him, they led Him and brought Him into the high priest’s house. But Peter followed at a distance.

55Now when they had kindled a fire in the midst of the courtyard and sat down together, Peter sat among them.

56And a certain servant girl, seeing him as he sat by the fire, looked intently at him and said, “This man was also with Him.”

57But he denied Him,[f] saying, “Woman, I do not know Him.”

58And after a little while another saw him and said, “You also are of them.” But Peter said, “Man, I am not!”

59Then after about an hour had passed, another confidently affirmed, saying, “Surely this fellow also was with Him, for he is a Galilean.”

60But Peter said, “Man, I do not know what you are saying!” Immediately, while he was still speaking, the rooster[g] crowed.

61And the Lord turned and looked at Peter. Then Peter remembered the word of the Lord, how He had said to him, “Before the rooster crows,[h] you will deny Me three times.”

62So Peter went out and wept bitterly.

Jesus Mocked and Beaten

(Matt. 26:67, 68; Mark 14:65)

63Now the men who held Jesus mocked Him and beat Him.
64And having blindfolded Him, they struck Him on the face and asked Him,[i] saying, “Prophesy! Who is the one who struck You?”
65And many other things they blasphemously spoke against Him.

Jesus Faces the Sanhedrin

(Matt. 26:57–68; Mark 14:61–64; John 18:12–14, 19–24)

66As soon as it was day, the elders of the people, both chief priests and scribes, came together and led Him into their council, saying, 67“If You are the Christ, tell us.” But He said to them, “If I tell you, you will by no means believe.
68“And if I also ask you, you will by no means answer Me or let Me go.[j]
69“Hereafter the Son of Man will sit on the right hand of the power of God.”
70Then they all said, “Are You then the Son of God?” So He said to them, “You rightly say that I am.”
71And they said, “What further testimony do we need? For we have heard it ourselves from His own mouth.”

Luke 23

Jesus Handed Over to Pontius Pilate

(Matt. 27:1, 2, 11–14; Mark 15:1–5; John 18:28–38)

1Then the whole multitude of them arose and led Him to Pilate.
2And they began to accuse Him, saying, “We found this fellow perverting the[a] nation, and forbidding to pay taxes to Caesar, saying that He Himself is Christ, a King.”
3Then Pilate asked Him, saying, “Are You the King of the Jews?” He answered him and said, “It is as you say.”
4So Pilate said to the chief priests and the crowd, “I find no fault in this Man.”
5But they were the more fierce, saying, “He stirs up the people, teaching throughout all Judea, beginning from Galilee to this place.”

Jesus Faces Herod

6When Pilate heard of Galilee,[b] he asked if the Man were a Galilean.

7And as soon as he knew that He belonged to Herod's jurisdiction, he sent Him to Herod, who was also in Jerusalem at that time.

8Now when Herod saw Jesus, he was exceedingly glad; for he had desired for a long time to see Him, because he had heard many things about Him, and he hoped to see some miracle done by Him.

9Then he questioned Him with many words, but He answered him nothing.

10And the chief priests and scribes stood and vehemently accused Him.

11Then Herod, with his men of war, treated Him with contempt and mocked Him, arrayed Him in a gorgeous robe, and sent Him back to Pilate.

12That very day Pilate and Herod became friends with each other, for previously they had been at enmity with each other.

Taking the Place of Barabbas

(Matt. 27:15–26; Mark 15:6–15; John 18:38—19:16)

13Then Pilate, when he had called together the chief priests, the rulers, and the people,

14said to them, "You have brought this Man to me, as one who misleads the people. And indeed, having examined Him in your presence, I have found no fault in this Man concerning those things of which you accuse Him;

15"no, neither did Herod, for I sent you back to him;[c] and indeed nothing deserving of death has been done by Him.

16"I will therefore chastise Him and release Him"

17(for it was necessary for him to release one to them at the feast).[d]

18And they all cried out at once, saying, "Away with this Man, and release to us Barabbas"— 19who had been thrown into prison for a certain rebellion made in the city, and for murder.

20Pilate, therefore, wishing to release Jesus, again called out to them.

21But they shouted, saying, "Crucify Him, crucify Him!"

22Then he said to them the third time, "Why, what evil has He done? I have found no reason for death in Him. I will therefore chastise Him and let Him go."

23But they were insistent, demanding with loud voices that He be crucified. And the voices of these men and of the chief priests prevailed.[e]

24So Pilate gave sentence that it should be as they requested.
25And he released to them[f] the one they requested, who for rebellion and murder had been thrown into prison; but he delivered Jesus to their will.

The King on a Cross

(Matt. 27:32–44; Mark 15:21–32; John 19:17–24)

26Now as they led Him away, they laid hold of a certain man, Simon a Cyrenian, who was coming from the country, and on him they laid the cross that he might bear it after Jesus.
27And a great multitude of the people followed Him, and women who also mourned and lamented Him.
28But Jesus, turning to them, said, "Daughters of Jerusalem, do not weep for Me, but weep for yourselves and for your children.
29"For indeed the days are coming in which they will say, 'Blessed are the barren, wombs that never bore, and breasts which never nursed!'
30"Then they will begin 'to say to the mountains, "Fall on us!" and to the hills, "Cover us!" '[g]
31"For if they do these things in the green wood, what will be done in the dry?"
32There were also two others, criminals, led with Him to be put to death.
33And when they had come to the place called Calvary, there they crucified Him, and the criminals, one on the right hand and the other on the left.
34Then Jesus said, "Father, forgive them, for they do not know what they do."[h] And they divided His garments and cast lots.
35And the people stood looking on. But even the rulers with them sneered, saying, "He saved others; let Him save Himself if He is the Christ, the chosen of God."
36The soldiers also mocked Him, coming and offering Him sour wine, 37and saying, "If You are the King of the Jews, save Yourself."
38And an inscription also was written over Him in letters of Greek, Latin, and Hebrew:[i]

THIS IS THE KING OF THE JEWS.

39Then one of the criminals who were hanged blasphemed Him, saying, "If You are the Christ,[j] save Yourself and us."
40But the other, answering, rebuked him, saying, "Do you not even fear

God, seeing you are under the same condemnation?
41"And we indeed justly, for we receive the due reward of our deeds; but this Man has done nothing wrong."
42Then he said to Jesus, "Lord,[k] remember me when You come into Your kingdom."
43And Jesus said to him, "Assuredly, I say to you, today you will be with Me in Paradise."

Jesus Dies on the Cross

(Matt. 27:45–56; Mark 15:33–41; John 19:25–30)

44Now it was[l] about the sixth hour, and there was darkness over all the earth until the ninth hour.
45Then the sun was darkened,[m] and the veil of the temple was torn in two.
46And when Jesus had cried out with a loud voice, He said, "Father, 'into Your hands I commit My spirit.' "[n] Having said this, He breathed His last.
47So when the centurion saw what had happened, he glorified God, saying, "Certainly this was a righteous Man!"
48And the whole crowd who came together to that sight, seeing what had been done, beat their breasts and returned.
49But all His acquaintances, and the women who followed Him from Galilee, stood at a distance, watching these things.

Jesus Buried in Joseph's Tomb

(Matt. 27:57–61; Mark 15:42–47; John 19:38–42)

50Now behold, there was a man named Joseph, a council member, a good and just man.
51He had not consented to their decision and deed. He was from Arimathea, a city of the Jews, who himself was also waiting[o] for the kingdom of God.
52This man went to Pilate and asked for the body of Jesus.
53Then he took it down, wrapped it in linen, and laid it in a tomb that was hewn out of the rock, where no one had ever lain before.
54That day was the Preparation, and the Sabbath drew near.
55And the women who had come with Him from Galilee followed after, and they observed the tomb and how His body was laid.
56Then they returned and prepared spices and fragrant oils. And they rested on the Sabbath according to the commandment.

Luke 24

He Is Risen

(Matt. 28:1–10; Mark 16:1–8; John 20:1–10)

1 Now on the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they, and certain other women with them,[a] came to the tomb bringing the spices which they had prepared.

2 But they found the stone rolled away from the tomb.

3 Then they went in and did not find the body of the Lord Jesus.

4 And it happened, as they were greatly[b] perplexed about this, that behold, two men stood by them in shining garments.

5 Then, as they were afraid and bowed their faces to the earth, they said to them, "Why do you seek the living among the dead?

6 "He is not here, but is risen! Remember how He spoke to you when He was still in Galilee,

7 "saying, 'The Son of Man must be delivered into the hands of sinful men, and be crucified, and the third day rise again.' "

8 And they remembered His words.

9 Then they returned from the tomb and told all these things to the eleven and to all the rest.

10 It was Mary Magdalene, Joanna, Mary the mother of James, and the other women with them, who told these things to the apostles.

11 And their words seemed to them like idle tales, and they did not believe them.

12 But Peter arose and ran to the tomb; and stooping down, he saw the linen cloths lying[c] by themselves; and he departed, marveling to himself at what had happened.

The Road to Emmaus

(Mark 16:12, 13)

13 Now behold, two of them were traveling that same day to a village called Emmaus, which was seven miles[d] from Jerusalem.

14 And they talked together of all these things which had happened.

15 So it was, while they conversed and reasoned, that Jesus Himself drew near and went with them.

16 But their eyes were restrained, so that they did not know Him.

17 And He said to them, “What kind of conversation is this that you have with one another as you walk and are sad?”[e]

18 Then the one whose name was Cleopas answered and said to Him, “Are You the only stranger in Jerusalem, and have You not known the things which happened there in these days?”

19 And He said to them, “What things?” So they said to Him, “The things concerning Jesus of Nazareth, who was a Prophet mighty in deed and word before God and all the people, 20 “and how the chief priests and our rulers delivered Him to be condemned to death, and crucified Him.

21 “But we were hoping that it was He who was going to redeem Israel. Indeed, besides all this, today is the third day since these things happened.

22 “Yes, and certain women of our company, who arrived at the tomb early, astonished us.

23 “When they did not find His body, they came saying that they had also seen a vision of angels who said He was alive.

24 “And certain of those who were with us went to the tomb and found it just as the women had said; but Him they did not see.”

25 Then He said to them, “O foolish ones, and slow of heart to believe in all that the prophets have spoken!

26 “Ought not the Christ to have suffered these things and to enter into His glory?”

27 And beginning at Moses and all the Prophets, He expounded to them in all the Scriptures the things concerning Himself.

The Disciples’ Eyes Opened

28 Then they drew near to the village where they were going, and He indicated that He would have gone farther.

29 But they constrained Him, saying, “Abide with us, for it is toward evening, and the day is far spent.” And He went in to stay with them.

30 Now it came to pass, as He sat at the table with them, that He took bread, blessed and broke it, and gave it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened and they knew Him; and He vanished from their sight.

32 And they said to one another, “Did not our heart burn within us while He talked with us on the road, and while He opened the Scriptures to us?”

33So they rose up that very hour and returned to Jerusalem, and found the eleven and those who were with them gathered together, 34saying, “The Lord is risen indeed, and has appeared to Simon!”
35And they told about the things that had happened on the road, and how He was known to them in the breaking of bread.

Jesus Appears to His Disciples

(John 20:19–23; Acts 1:3–5; 1 Cor. 15:5)

36Now as they said these things, Jesus Himself stood in the midst of them, and said to them, “Peace to you.”
37But they were terrified and frightened, and supposed they had seen a spirit.
38And He said to them, “Why are you troubled? And why do doubts arise in your hearts?
39“Behold My hands and My feet, that it is I Myself. Handle Me and see, for a spirit does not have flesh and bones as you see I have.”
40When He had said this, He showed them His hands and His feet.[f] 41But while they still did not believe for joy, and marveled, He said to them, “Have you any food here?”
42So they gave Him a piece of a broiled fish and some honeycomb.[g] 43And He took it and ate in their presence.

The Scriptures Opened

44Then He said to them, “These are the words which I spoke to you while I was still with you, that all things must be fulfilled which were written in the Law of Moses and the Prophets and the Psalms concerning Me.”
45And He opened their understanding, that they might comprehend the Scriptures.
46Then He said to them, “Thus it is written, and thus it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise[h] from the dead the third day, 47“and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem.
48“And you are witnesses of these things.
49“Behold, I send the Promise of My Father upon you; but tarry in the city of Jerusalem[i] until you are endued with power from on high.”

The Ascension

(Mark 16:19, 20; Acts 1:9)

50 And He led them out as far as Bethany, and He lifted up His hands and blessed them.
51 Now it came to pass, while He blessed them, that He was parted from them and carried up into heaven.
52 And they worshiped Him, and returned to Jerusalem with great joy, 53 and were continually in the temple praising and[j] blessing God. Amen.[k]

Annotations for Luke

🕮 1:1–15, 57–68, 76, 80 This passage is read on June 24, the Feast of the Birth of John the Baptist.

1:2, 3 Luke was not a disciple from the beginning, yet he has perfect understanding of the gospel because his sources were the apostles themselves, the eyewitnesses of Christ. Luke wrote his Gospel to Theophilus, a prominent Gentile who had received Christian instruction (see also Acts 1:1). St. Ambrose notes that Theophilus can simply mean any "lover of God," and therefore he writes, "If you love God, it was written to you."

1:5 Herod ruled Judea from 37–4 BC. He was a great builder but a cruel leader. Luke mentions Herod to pinpoint the historical date of the birth of Jesus Christ. An ancient prophecy of Jacob indicated the Messiah would come when a king ruled who was not from the tribe of Judah (Gn 49:10). As Herod was a non-Jew calling himself the king of Judea, the coming of Christ was surely at hand. See also the note on v. 20.

🕮 1:5–25 This passage is read on September 23, the Feast of the Conception of John the Baptist.

1:6 Zacharias and Elizabeth are righteous before God, not merely in outward appearance, but to the core of their being. The holiness of John the Baptist came in part through the faith and piety of his parents.

1:7 To be barren was a public reproach (v. 25), but like Sarah (Gn 16:1), Rebekah (Gn 25:21), Rachel (Gn 29:31), Hannah (1Kg 1:2), and Anna, the mother of the Virgin Mary, Elizabeth's temporary barrenness was in fulfillment of God's plan for the salvation of His people.

1:8–10 Each priest was assigned to a division (see 1Ch 23:3–11; 28:13). There were twenty-four divisions in all, each serving a week at a time in rotation. The responsibilities in the division were decided by lot; Zacharias is here assigned the duties of the high priest. This event takes place at the time of the Atonement, when the high priest would enter the temple and make offerings for the sins of the people.

1:11 Angels minister continually at the altar of the Lord, though usually unseen. Those priests of pure heart, such as Zacharias, are occasionally chosen by God to witness this angelic liturgy (see also Is 6; Rev 7:9–17).

1:13 As high priest, Zacharias prayed not for a son, but for the atonement of the sins of Israel (Heb 9:7). Gabriel's (v. 19) announcement reveals both that Zacharias' prayer for atonement will be answered and that Elizabeth will conceive a son. This atonement will be announced by John, who will identify Christ as "the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world" (Jn 1:29).

1:15 He will also be filled with the Holy Spirit, even from his mother's womb: See v. 41.

1:17 Elijah is expected to reappear from heaven as the forerunner of the second coming of the Lord (Mal 4:5). John the Baptist fulfills the spirit of Elijah as he is the forerunner of the Lord's first coming (see Mt 11:14).

1:20 You will be mute: Zacharias is disciplined for his lack of faith, yet this also serves as proof that Gabriel's announcement (v. 19) is true. The silencing of the high priest also reveals a deeper mystery. The Messiah was expected to fulfill three crucial roles held by various people in the OT: prophet, priest, and king. Only Jesus Christ can be said to have fulfilled all three offices perfectly. He is the true Prophet (Dt 18:15–18), the true King (23:3; Is 9:6; Mic 5:1), and the true High Priest (Ps 109:4; Heb 4:14). In preparation for Christ's coming, God had silenced the prophets for many years (see note for v. 24), and also permitted an illegitimate usurper to occupy the position of king of Judea (see note for v. 5). Here, in the last days before Christ's coming, the high priest is also silenced. With these three roles vacant, illegitimate, and silent, all is ready for the Son of God to be revealed as Prophet, King, and Priest.

1:24 Elizabeth conceived: The conception of St. John the Baptist is celebrated liturgically on September 23, confirming the sanctity of marital relations for those past childbearing years. Hid herself: Since the time of Malachi, God had not sent a great prophet to Israel (see 1Mc 9:27). This silencing of the prophets served to heighten the anticipation of the Messiah and to make it all the more evident when He came. As John the Baptist was the prophet preparing the way for Christ, he was kept hidden until Christ was conceived. Once Christ was conceived, John was revealed through the prophetic act of leaping in Elizabeth's womb (v. 41). See also the note for v. 20.

📖 1:24–38 This passage is read on March 25, the Feast of the Annunciation of the Virgin Mary.

1:26 In the sixth month means the sixth month of Elizabeth's pregnancy with John (v. 36).

1:27 The name Mary means "exalted one." When Joseph is referred to as of the house of David, it reveals Mary also was descended from David's royal lineage, for a righteous man would usually marry within his own tribe (see note at 3:23–38). Twice in this verse, and again by implication (1:34), Luke calls Mary a virgin.

1:28 While Eve brought forth children in sorrow (Gn 3:17), Mary, being the new Eve, will rejoice in bringing forth her Son; as Eve had been cursed, so now Mary is blessed. Highly favored (Gr. charitou) can also be translated "full of grace." Mary is the most blessed woman who has ever lived because of her complete willingness to receive God's grace, or in the words of her Son, to "hear the word of God and keep it" (11:28).

1:31–33 Gabriel's announcement emphasizes two truths: (1) you will conceive in your womb: the Lord Jesus took His flesh—His human nature—from Mary herself; and (2) this is the divine Son of the Highest in Mary's womb. Thus the one Person, Jesus, the eternal Son and Word of God, is both fully human and fully divine. This truth was crucial in the defeat of the heretic Nestorius, who taught that Mary conceived a mere man who was later joined by the divine Son of God. The Church's true teaching is proclaimed in the festal hymn of Annunciation, which declares, "The Son of God becomes the Son of the Virgin as Gabriel announces the coming of grace."

1:34 Mary's question, "How can this be?" does not indicate a lack of faith, as Zacharias' question did (v. 18). Rather, she is merely inquiring into the manner in which something so extraordinary would happen.

1:35 Holy One is a messianic title (see Ps 15:10). Note the revelation of the Holy Trinity: The Father (the Highest), the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

1:38 Mary's faithful response is that of highest obedience to God. The Incarnation is not only the work of God, but it involves the free response of mankind in the person of Mary. Whereas Eve once disobeyed, Mary now obeys; whereas Eve closed herself to God, Mary opens to His will. Mary's response says, "I am a tablet; let the Writer write whatever He desires on it" (Theoph).

1:41 Because Christ is now incarnate, prophecy resumes in Israel (see note on v. 20). The blessed John prophesies of the presence of Christ by leaping in the womb of Elizabeth. As he is God's prophet, John's recognition of Christ fulfills what was spoken of Jeremiah: "Before I formed you in the womb, I knew you" (Jer 1:5).

1:42 Mary receives veneration from both angels and humans. As Gabriel had done (v. 28), so now Elizabeth declares Mary to be blessed among women.

1:43 Mary is confessed as the mother of My Lord. This confession, and others like it within the Church ("Theotokos," "Mother of God," etc.), confirm that the One in the womb of Mary is both human and divine—the very Son of God Himself. At Vespers of Annunciation we declare, "It is the Word of God who dwells within her." Note that even though His physical body was not yet fully formed, Jesus is nevertheless fully and truly the Son of God incarnate, and Mary is already recognized as being His mother. This truth deals a fatal blow to the idea that abortion is justifiable because the fetus is not yet a person.

1:46–56 This passage, called the "Magnificat" from the first word of the song in Latin, comes from the heart of Mary, inspired by the song of Hannah (1Kg 2:1–10). It is normally sung at Matins in the liturgical cycle. From this inspired hymn, we are taught: (1) Christian believers for all time will honor and venerate the Virgin Mary, for she prophesied that all generations will call me blessed (v. 48); (2) it is impossible to believe in the inspiration of Scripture and not bless the Mother of God; (3) Mary ascribes the miracle of the Incarnation to God, and not to herself, showing both deep humility and the knowledge that God is the source of all grace (v. 49); (4) through the Incarnation, God reigns over all (vv. 50–55).

1:59 Circumcision was a sign of Israel's covenant with God and the means by which a male became a member of God's community (Gn 17:10–14; Lv 12:3). In Christ, circumcision is fulfilled in baptism (see Col 2:11 and the article, "Holy Baptism," at Rom 6).

1:60–63 John means "grace of God." By insisting on the name God chose for her son, Elizabeth affirms God has called John to a specific mission (see also 1:31; Gn 17:5, 15; 32:28).

1:64–79 When Zacharias assented to God's will, his mouth was opened. Just as prophecy is restored at the Incarnation of Christ (see note on v. 24), so Zacharias, as high priest, can speak again now that the Savior and His forerunner have come (see note v. 20). Note Zacharias immediately declares Christ (vv. 68, 69), and secondly declares the role of his own son as prophet of the Highest (v. 76).

1:80 Dwelling in the desert, away from the stains and wickedness of the masses, John is able to fight temptation and grow strong in spirit. According to the tradition of the Church, John was brought to the deserts by Elizabeth when Zacharias was martyred, and there was ministered to by angels.

Mary

"For behold, henceforth all generations will call me blessed."
(Lk 1:48)

For two thousand years the Church has preserved the memory of the Virgin Mary as the prototype of all Christians—the model of what we are to become in Christ. Mary was truly pure and unconditionally obedient to God. The tradition of the Church holds that Mary remained a virgin all her life (see note on Mt 12:46–50). While lifelong celibacy is not a model for all Christians to follow, Mary's spiritual purity, her wholehearted devotion to God, is certainly to be emulated.

Mary is also our model in that she was the first person to receive Jesus Christ. As Mary bore Christ in her womb physically, all Christians now have the privilege of bearing God within them spiritually. By God's grace and mercy we are purified and empowered to become like Him.

The honor we give to Mary also signifies our view of who Jesus is. From early times the church has called her Mother of God (Gr. Theotokos, lit. "God-Bearer"), a title which implies that her Son is both fully man and fully God. As His Mother, Mary was the source of Jesus' human nature; yet the One she bore in her womb was also the eternal God.

Therefore, because of her character and especially because of her role in God's plan of salvation, Christians appropriately honor Mary as the first among the saints. The archangel Gabriel initiated this honor in his address to her: "Rejoice, highly favored one, the Lord is with you; blessed are you among women!" (Lk 1:28). This salutation clearly indicates that God Himself had chosen to honor Mary. Her favored status was confirmed when she went to visit her cousin Elizabeth, who was then six months pregnant with John the Baptist. Elizabeth greeted Mary with these words: "Blessed are you among women, and blessed is the fruit of your womb! But why is this granted to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?" (Lk 1:42, 43). And Mary herself, by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, predicted the honor that would be paid her throughout history: "For behold, henceforth all generations will call me blessed" (Lk 1:48).

In obedience to God's clear intention, therefore, the Orthodox Church honors Mary in icons, hymns, and special feast days. We entreat her, as the human being who was most intimate with Christ on earth, to intercede with her Son on our behalf. We ask her, as the first believer and the Mother of the Church, for guidance and protection. We venerate her—but we do not worship her, for worship belongs to God alone.

In Matins, Vespers, and all the services of the hours of prayer, we sing this hymn, which expresses Mary's unique place in creation.

It is truly right to bless you, O Theotokos, ever-blessed and most pure, and the Mother of our God. More honorable than the cherubim and more glorious beyond compare than the seraphim, without defilement you gave birth to God the Word: True Theotokos, we magnify you.

2:1–3 God uses earthly rulers to accomplish His will. This census enabled Christ to be born in Bethlehem, fulfilling the prophecy of Micah (Mic 5:1). In the hymn by St. Cassiane sung at Vespers of the Lord's Nativity, Augustus ruling as the only emperor over many scattered cities is an icon of our one Lord gathering the scattered pagans of the world. Christ being registered in the fallen world enables the faithful to be registered in the name of God.

📖 2:1–20 This passage is read on December 24, the Eve of the Nativity of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

2:7 The term firstborn does not imply Mary had additional children, but only that no child was born before Jesus. The firstborn son is traditionally the primary heir and recipient of blessings. Christ is the firstborn over all creation, and thus the firstborn from the dead (Col 1:15, 18). In Orthodox icons of the Nativity, Christ's swaddling cloths are depicted as burial wrappings, affirming that one purpose of His coming was to endure death. The manger, or feed trough, would have been in a cave where animals were kept, thus fulfilling the prophecy of Isaiah: "The ox knows its owner and the donkey its master's crib" (Is 1:3).

2:8 Shepherds are chosen to hear the first announcement of the Nativity, as they are symbols of Christ the Good Shepherd (Jn 10:11). Unlike the Pharisees, the shepherds were without guile and had simple faith.

2:13, 14 The message of the first angel is confirmed by the multitude, fulfilling the Law in which every word is established with two or three witnesses (Dt 19:15). Christ Himself is our peace who has come to earth; in Him, man is no longer estranged from God (see Eph 2:14–16).

2:17–20 The shepherds are also images of the bishops and presbyters of the Church, who proclaim Christ to the world. St. Ambrose writes that Mary's own faith was strengthened by the news from the shepherds, and he asks, "If Mary herself learns from the shepherds, why do so many refuse to learn from the presbyters of the Church?"

📖 2:20, 21, 40–52 This passage is read on January 1, the Feast of the Circumcision of Christ.

2:21 Because Christ has come to perfectly fulfill the Law, He receives circumcision under the Law (see note on 1:59). In the Orthodox Church, it is ancient tradition to name a child eight days after birth, with a special blessing.

2:22–24 The Presentation of Christ (also called the Meeting of the Lord) is celebrated in the Church on February 2. Mary fulfills the law (Lv 12) by bringing Jesus to the temple on the fortieth day. (In the Orthodox Church, mothers and newborn children also receive a special blessing on the fortieth day.) The law required that an offering of an unblemished lamb be brought, or if the mother is not able to bring a lamb, then she brings a pair of turtledoves or two young pigeons (Lv 12:6–8). Not only do Mary and Joseph offer turtledoves, but as Christ is the unblemished Lamb of God, they perfectly fulfill the precepts of the Law by offering Him as well. This also fulfills the prophecy spoken when Abraham was to sacrifice Isaac and said, "God will provide for Himself the sheep for a whole burnt offering" (Gn 22:8).

📖 2:22–40 This passage is read on February 2, the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord in the Temple.

2:25, 26 Simeon represents humanity in waiting for the Consolation of Israel. He fulfills Ps 90:16, in which God makes a promise to the one who loves Him: "With length of days I will satisfy him, / And show him My salvation."

2:28 The hymns of the Church compare Simeon's reception of Christ to Isaiah's reception of the burning coal from the angel (Is 6:6, 7). In both cases, a prophet receives the life-giving fire of the offering—Isaiah received the type, and Simeon receives the fulfillment.

2:29–32 The Canticle of Simeon is sung daily at Vespers. Since salvation (v. 30) has been born into the world, all peoples can embrace death (see Php 1:23). For the Christian, death is no longer frightful, but a gateway to everlasting peace (v. 29).

2:34 The second coming of the Lord will be the reckoning of the world. For the believer, it will be a resurrection to life; for the unbeliever, it will be a falling into judgment (Jn 5:29).

2:35 The sword refers to the anguish that Mary will experience in witnessing her Son's death on the Cross. Her soul will be pierced in grief.

2:38 Both men and women are called to proclaim Christ's redemption, and women are the first to proclaim His Resurrection (24:9).

2:40 That Jesus grew and became strong in spirit does not imply that He was lacking divine perfection at any time. Rather, it indicates that in emptying Himself and assuming human nature (Php 2:7), He freely subjected Himself to human development and expression (see also v. 52).

2:41 Pilgrimages to Jerusalem on holy days like Passover were customary for Jews; often entire clans or villages would travel together.

2:46 In appearing to be lost for three days, Christ prefigures His rest in the tomb.

2:48 Joseph is honored with the title father for his care and upbringing of his adopted Son. This title further prefigures our adoption by God, whom by grace we call "Father" (Gal 4:4–7).

2:49–51 Christ's eternal generation from the Father is divine, while his maternal ancestry is human. Accordingly, Jesus was first obedient to the will of His Father, and then is willingly subject to His mother and father.

2:52 See note at 2:40.

3:1 See note at 1:5.

📖 3:1–18 This passage is read on the Eve of the Feast of the Baptism of Christ (Theophany).

3:2 High priests: Caiaphas was now the sole high priest, but people also recognized the continuing power of his father-in-law Annas, a previous high priest deposed by the Romans.

3:3 The call to repentance was traditional for prophets. John's baptism did not grant remission of sins once and for all, but prefigured and prepared people for the baptism of Christ which was to come (see Rom 6:3–11). John is a figure of the Law in that, like the Law, he denounced sin but could not remit (lit. "put away") sin. Both John and the Law point to the One who can remit sin.

3:4–6 The voice: John ascribes to himself this role in Jn 1:23.

3:8 While parents and ancestors help impart piety and holiness (see note on 1:6), ancestry itself does not make one worthy of God. Each person in every generation must bear fruits worthy of repentance. Stones symbolize the Gentiles who would become children to Abraham through faith in Christ (Rom 4:16–18).

3:16, 17 Fire in this context has the primary meaning of the gift of the Holy Spirit, which is given to the world at Pentecost (Acts 2:1–4). It further declares the judgment of Christ, in which the faithless will burn (see 2Th 1:6–10; 2:8). Note that this fire is one. It is the same Power and the same Spirit which both enlivens the faithful and destroys the faithless.

3:19 His brother Philip's wife: Herod had divorced his own wife and married Philip's wife Herodias while Philip was still living.

3:21, 22 Jesus Himself does not need baptism. In being baptized, our Lord accomplished several things: (1) He affirmed John's ministry; (2) He was revealed by the Father and the Holy Spirit to be the Christ, God's beloved Son; (3) He identified with His people by descending into the waters with them; (4) He prefigured His own death, giving baptism its ultimate meaning; (5) He entered the waters, sanctifying the water itself; (6) He fulfilled the many types given in the OT, as when Moses led the people from bondage through the Red Sea (Ex 14) and when the ark of the covenant was carried into the Jordan so the people could enter the Promised Land (Jos 3; 4); and (7) He opened heaven to a world separated from God through sin.

3:22 The Baptism of Christ is celebrated on January 6 and is known commonly as Epiphany, or more properly, Theophany, which means "God revealed." The Son is revealed by the descent of the Holy Spirit and by the voice of the Father. This is the greatest and clearest public manifestation of God as Trinity in human history, as we sing, "The Trinity was made manifest."

The words spoken by the Father also apply to everyone who is baptized and lives faithfully, as sonship is bestowed by adoption (Gal 4:4–7). The Holy Spirit appearing as a dove is not an incarnation, but rather a visible sign for the people. This appearance further fulfills the type prefigured at the Flood: "Just as a dove announced to Noah that God's wrath had ceased, so too the Holy Spirit announces here that Christ has reconciled us to God by sweeping sin away in the flood waters of baptism" (Theoph).

3:23–38 The genealogy follows Joseph's ancestry, even though Jesus was only supposed to be the son of Joseph but was in fact humanly descended from Mary only. This is explained in two complementary ways: (1) Joseph was a righteous man and would have married within his tribe—thus Mary and Joseph would have largely shared a common lineage; (2) Jesus was born to bring all mankind into adoption by the Father, and thus He affirms that a lineage of adoption is as binding and receives the same inheritance as a lineage of blood (Gal 4:4–7).

3:38 Adam means "man"; thus Christ is declared to be both the "Son of Man" and the "Son of God."

4:1 This exodus of Jesus into the wilderness following His baptism has a dual symbolism: (1) it fulfills the OT type, in which Israel journeyed in the wilderness for forty years after its "baptism" in the Red Sea; and (2) it prefigures our own journey through the fallen world after baptism as we struggle towards the Kingdom.

4:2–12 On the temptation of Christ, see notes at Mt 4:1–11.

4:4 Note each time Christ rebukes the devil, it is with the truth and power of Scripture. This teaches the faithful to become immersed in Scripture in order to resist and drive away every temptation (see Ps 118:11).

4:10, 11 Satan vainly tries to use the Scriptures (as do the Pharisees in Jn 7:52), but understands neither their truth nor their power. Knowing and quoting Scripture without true understanding is worthless at best and ultimately condemnable. Without true understanding through the Holy Tradition of the Church, the Scriptures are robbed of their authority (see also 2Pt 1:19–21).

4:13 Opportune time: See 22:40–46; 23:35; Mt 16:21–23.

📖 4:16–22 This passage is read on September 1, the beginning of the Ecclesiastical New Year.

4:18 Being the eternal Son of God, Christ did not become the world's anointed Savior, but has always been our Savior from before the foundation of the world. It was Christ speaking through Isaiah who said, "The Spirit of the Lord is upon Me" (Is 61:1). Note He does not say, "The Spirit has come upon Me." When the Spirit of the LORD descended on Jesus at His baptism (see 3:22), this was a sign revealing an eternal, not temporal, truth to the people.

4:19 Acceptable year: The time of the Incarnation, when the Kingdom of heaven has come to earth (see 2Co 6:2).

4:22–30 This double response of marveling (v. 22) and rejection (v. 29) occurs frequently in those who encounter Christ (see 11:14–16; Jn 9:16). His being rejected in His own country fulfills the rejection of the OT prophets such as Elijah (v. 26) and Elisha (v. 27), and foreshadows His rejection by the whole Jewish nation at His trial before Pilate (Jn 19:14, 15). Christ accepts death according to the Father's will, not at the will of the Jews. Here, the hour of His Passion has not yet come (see Jn 8:20).

📖 4:22–30 This passage is read on July 20, the Feast of the Prophet Elias.

4:31 Christ begins preaching and healing on the Sabbaths to show that "the new creation began where the old creation ceased" (AmbM).

4:32 With authority: Unlike the prophets of old and the teachers of His day who taught in the third person ("The Lord says"), Christ taught in the first person ("I say to you"). See also Mt 5.

4:35 Be quiet: See note on Mt 12:16–21.

4:38 See note on Mt 8:14–17.

4:39 Rebuked the fever: "That which was rebuked was some living thing unable to withstand the influence of Him who rebuked it, for it is not reasonable to rebuke a thing without life and unconscious of the rebuke. Nor is it astonishing for there to exist certain powers that inflict harm on the human body" (CyrAl).

4:43 Christ's primary mission was to preach the kingdom. Miracles and healings testify both to the truth of the message and the identity of the Teacher (see 5:24). This same pattern holds true in the Church (Acts 4:29, 30).

5:1 The Lake of Gennesaret is also known as the Sea of Galilee. It is about 13 miles long and 7 miles wide.

5:3 Sitting was the traditional position for a teacher (see note at Mt 5:1).

5:4 Launch out into the deep: St. Ambrose sees the spiritual meaning of this command as an invitation to give one's life over to the deep mystery of the knowledge of the Son of God.

5:6 The Lord draws people to Himself by things that are familiar to them. As He drew the Magi with a star (Mt 2:2), as He would draw tax collectors by a tax collector (5:29), here He draws the fishermen with fish (see 1Co 9:19–23).

5:8 Peter's cry in the face of divine power is not a rejection of Jesus (contrast 8:37). Rather, being suddenly cast in the light of Christ, holy people such as Peter become keenly aware of their own unworthiness (compare Is 6:5; Rev 1:17).

5:10 The great catch of fish (v. 9) is an image of the apostles bringing mankind to the knowledge of Jesus Christ, and it fulfills the prophecy of Jer 16:16. In the festal hymn of Pentecost we sing to Christ, "Through the fishermen, You drew the world into Your net."

5:12 Leprosy was one of the most dreaded diseases of the time. It brought great physical suffering as well as total banishment and isolation from society. It is also a symbol of our sin.

5:14 Show yourself to the priest: Christ gives this command in order to convince the priests by a tangible miracle that He is superior to Moses (CyrAl). The priests hold Moses to be greater than Christ, yet Christ heals a leper immediately and with His own divine authority. However, when Miriam was struck with leprosy, Moses had to seek mercy from above, and still she was only healed after seven days (Nm 12:10–15).

5:17–26 See note at Mt 9:2–8.

5:27 Levi (Matthew) answers Christ's call, "Follow Me," and leaves his occupation to become a disciple. From the beginning of His ministry Christ has been a friend of tax collectors and sinners, which is one of the Pharisees' complaints against Him (v. 30). Levi may also have been one of the tax collectors prepared for Christ by John the Baptist (3:12).

5:29 This feast expresses Matthew's joy and gratitude. The guest register is a stirring demonstration of the fruit of Jesus' love and forgiveness.

5:33–39 Jesus' earthly life is a time of joyous blessings. But there will come a time when His followers will practice the fast (see notes on Mt 9:14–17; Mk 2:20).

5:39 This saying occurs only in Luke's account, and illustrates (1) the difficulty with which the Jews would accept the new covenant, (2) the inner resistance a person faces in turning from a sinful way of life, and (3) the general stubbornness of the human heart.

6:1–5 Second Sabbath after the first: This term was used when a Jewish feast immediately followed the normal Sabbath, for a feast was also known as a Sabbath. According to St. Ambrose, the term "second Sabbath" serves as an image of the new covenant and the eternal resurrection: the first Sabbath indicates the Law, while the second Sabbath indicates the gospel that follows it. Under the new covenant, the food which was at one time not lawful for anyone but the priests to eat is now freely given to all by the Lord of the Sabbath (v. 5). David prefigured this when he gave the showbread . . . to those with him (vv. 3, 4).

6:7 According to certain traditions that the scribes and Pharisees had built up around the Law, healing was considered work, and thus was not permissible on the Sabbath. They believed they served God by zealously keeping these peripheral traditions, but this legalism made them insensitive to God's mercy.

6:12, 13 Jesus, being the Son of God, does not pray as if to obtain grace or revelation from the Father. Rather, as the Son of Man, He prays as the Advocate for humanity (AmbM; see 1Jn 2:1). Jesus spent all night in prayer before selecting the twelve apostles to teach us that before choosing a candidate for any spiritual ministry, we should pray that God will reveal to us the one suited for the task (Theoph).

6:14–16 See note at Mt 10:1–4.

6:17–49 See the notes at Mt 5–7. This Sermon on the Plain (level place, v. 17) is similar in content to the Sermon on the Mount (Mt 5–7), though not as extensive. Jesus repeated many of His teachings over a period of three years (see note at Jn 2:23).

📖 6:17–23; 10:22–24; 14:25–35 This passage is read on days commemorating hierarchs, hieromartyrs and monks.

6:24–26 Luke reports four "woes" not found in Matthew's account. Woe is an indication not merely of sorrow, but of unspeakable destruction (Is 5:18–24; Am 5:18, 19; Rev 12:12). Those who prize the vices listed here are liable to the "utmost misery"; however, they find hope when they sacrifice their earthly blessings in showing mercy to others (CyrAl).

6:31 This "Golden Rule" is a minimum of Christian virtue, as it places man's desire for goodness ("the natural law of self-love," CyrAl) as a basic standard of how to treat others. It is but the first step on the path to the perfection of virtue; this perfection is found in v. 36, where God's mercy, rather than man's desire, is the standard.

6:37, 38 Mercy precludes human judgment. Good measure, pressed down, shaken together, and running over are descriptions of how an honest and generous merchant would measure bulk goods. Flour pressed down, for example, would yield a more generous amount than flour fluffed up. The blessings God intends to put into our hearts are more generous than we can possibly contain, yet this also depends on the spirit in which we ourselves give and forgive.

6:40 Christ does not judge anyone (Jn 8:15; 12:47). Therefore, "if the Teacher does not judge, neither must the disciple, for the disciple is guilty of worse sins than those for which he judges others" (CyrAl).

6:46–49 Hearing the gospel alone is not enough, for salvation is based not on hearing alone, nor on faith alone, but also on doing the things spoken by Christ (see Jam 2:24).

7:2–10 This centurion, a Roman Gentile, is unusual in his devotion to the Jews. His characteristics are notable: compassion (v. 2); love for God and His people (v. 5); humility (v. 6); and great faith (vv. 7–9).

7:11–17 This is one of three resurrections performed by our Lord as recorded in the Gospels (see also 8:41–56; Jn 11:1–44). They confirm the promise given to the prophet Ezekiel that God will one day open the graves and raise all the dead (Ezk 37:1–14). Many people have exercised authority over the living; only the Son of God "has power over both the living and the dead" (funeral service). While Christ has power through His word alone (Jn 11:43), here He also touched the coffin to show that His very body is life-giving. This event also prefigures Christ's own Resurrection. As Mary would weep for Jesus at the Cross, yet her tears would be turned to joy by the Resurrection, here a widow's only son is raised from the dead, putting an end to her weeping (AmbM).

7:18–23 John the Baptist was imprisoned soon after Jesus was baptized (Mk 1:14). Though John directed his disciples to follow Christ (Jn 1:29–31, 35–37), some remained with him. While John's own faith was undoubtedly strengthened by the signs Christ performed, the Fathers universally see this encounter as a means John used to convince his remaining disciples that Jesus was indeed the Coming One.

7:28 Though he was the greatest prophet, John's earthly life and ministry remained in the period of the old covenant. The new covenant so far surpasses the old that the least in the kingdom is greater than the greatest outside it. This does not imply John will not be resurrected to the Kingdom, but merely that his life on earth came before something far superior.

7:30 See Mk 11:27–33.

7:31–34 Children would play this game in two groups. One group would mimic musicians, while the other group refused to respond appropriately to the type of music being played. The Pharisees were so rigid in their religion that they were unable to respond to and engage the world around them. Thus, they rejected John as being too mournful and ascetic, and Christ as being too merciful and joyous.

7:35 In spite of being rejected by the Pharisees, both John and Christ are justified, not by the opinions of men, but by their children, those who would come to believe and be faithful.

7:36–50 This Pharisee was intrigued by Christ, as evidenced by his invitation, but he clearly does not believe in Him, as shown by his reaction to Christ's mercy (v. 39) and by his lack even of common hospitality (vv. 44–46). The encounter with the sinful woman is an icon of the grace found only in the Church. Through her, "the Church is justified as being greater than the Law, for the Law does not know the forgiveness of sins, nor the mystery in which secret sins are cleansed; therefore, what is lacking in the Law is perfected in the Gospel" (AmbM).

📖 7:36–50 This passage is read on days commemorating holy nuns.

7:49 That a man could forgive sins was beyond the bounds of the Law as the Pharisees understood it (see 5:21). Yet Christ was not a mere man, but the very Lawgiver Himself. "Who could declare things that were above the Law, except the One who ordained the Law?" (CyrAl).

8:2 These women were faithful to Christ to the end (23:49, 55), and were the first to receive and proclaim the news of His Resurrection (24:1–10). In the Scriptures, the number seven often symbolizes totality and completeness, indicating that Mary called Magdalene had been thoroughly given over to darkness before her healing.

8:4 Parable: See the article "Parables" at Mt 13.

8:5–15 As the sower in this parable, Christ fulfills the prophecy in Is 55:10–13. Note that while some might teach a person is permanently saved at the moment he professes faith—a view never held by the historic Church—the teaching of Jesus is clear that it is possible to believe for a while and then fall away (v. 13).

8:10 Mysteries are not obscure intellectual concepts, but the presence of the Kingdom of God which cannot be defined. A person's unwillingness to understand Christ's parables is due to a rejection of His Kingdom. "If the blindness were natural, it would have been proper for God to open their eyes; but because it was a voluntary and self-chosen blindness, He does not overthrow their free will." Doing so would have been not only to "no advantage for them, but an even greater condemnation" (JohnChr).

8:19–21 See note at Mt 12:46–50. It was not Christ's will to deny His mother and brothers. Rather, Jesus is correcting both them and His hearers "to the right idea concerning Himself," that the family of His Kingdom "is not by nature but by virtue" (JohnChr; see also 11:27, 28).

8:22–25 Christ deliberately permits the windstorm to arise while He is sleeping in order to perfect the disciples' faith and rebuke their weaknesses, so they would eventually be unshaken by life's temptations. Here their faith is still mixed with unbelief. They showed faith when they came to Him, but unbelief when they said, "We are perishing."

8:26–39 See note on Mt 8:28–34.

8:33 Some teach that the presence of swine indicates a Gentile population. However, since our Lord forbade His disciples to go to the Gentiles (Mt 10:5) and was Himself reluctant to seek out the Gentiles (Mt 15:24), likely these were Jews engaged in a sinful occupation (see also the note at Mt 4:15).

The destruction of the entire herd reveals: (1) while animals are a venerable part of creation, man is of far greater value; (2) Christ removes a source of sin, for swine herding was an abomination to the Jews (Dt 14:8); (3) demons have no power over creation, but are subject to the will of God—they could only enter the swine at Christ's command; (4) people are protected under God's providence—otherwise, the demon-possessed man would have come to the same end as the swine; (5) the magnitude of the economic loss would remain as a sign for the hardhearted people who fled that region (v. 34).

8:40–56 See note on Mt 9:18–26.

8:43, 44 For the Jews, contact with blood caused defilement and led to religious and social isolation (Lv 25). The woman displays bold faith by approaching both Christ and a ruler of the synagogue (v. 41) in a crowd, potentially defiling all of them and subjecting herself to ridicule.

8:45 "Who touched Me?" does not simply mean a physical touch, but rather, "Who touched me in faith?" Just as "the temple sanctifies the gold" (Mt 23:17), so also matter is sanctified by Christ's Incarnation, and the power of Christ works through even His garment. To touch Christ's garment in faith is to touch Him. In the Church, we touch Christ through icons, oil, water, bread, wine, etc. When this is done in faith, the power of Christ is received.

8:47 Jesus calls the woman forward both to take away her fear and trembling and to strengthen Jairus for the forthcoming news of his daughter's death (v. 49).

8:54 See note at 7:11–17.

9:1–5 See note at Mt 10:1–4.

9:7–9 This is the same Herod to whom Pilate would send Jesus during His trial (23:7). He is the son of the Herod who slew the innocent infants in Bethlehem (Mt 2:16). The incident of the beheading of St. John is found in Mk 6:14–28.

9:11–17 Theophylact sees a liturgical parallel with the feeding of the five thousand. Here Christ first healed and spoke of the gospel, and then fed the multitude with the miraculous bread by the hands of His disciples. In the Church, a person is first healed through baptism; then at the Liturgy, the gospel is preached and the bread of life and the cup are received from the hands of the ordained clergy.

9:13 You give them something to eat: This commission is a type and preparation for the apostolic ministry the disciples will perform after Christ's Resurrection. They will feed the world with the word of God and with the Eucharist. Five loaves and two fish: Christ is the same Creator "of both the earth and the sea, who in the beginning brought fruit from the earth and life out of the water" (JohnChr).

9:16 Christ looked up to heaven "not as receiving power from elsewhere, but as honoring the Father who begot Him." That Christ blessed and broke the bread teaches us "not to touch any meal until we have given thanks to Him who gives us food" (JohnChr). This blessing also presents a clear eucharistic image and directs us to pursue spiritual food greater than that which is earthly (see Jn 6:26, 27).

9:18, 19 As in every generation, what the crowds have to say about Jesus is usually unpredictable and misguided.

9:20 Who do you say that I am? is the ultimate question in Scripture and in all theology. How this question is answered defines the universe. Christ (Heb. Messiah) means "Anointed One." The declaration of Peter that Jesus is the Christ of God reveals Jesus is not merely another anointed king or prophet, but the long-awaited Savior.

9:21 Jesus desires to keep His identity as the Christ hidden to avoid popular political and theological misunderstandings. Only after His Passion and Resurrection can His identity as Messiah be understood (see note on Mt 12:16–21).

9:23 Note two things: (1) Each person must take up his own cross. The burden in this world is different for each person, and each has been chosen by God to bear certain struggles for his own salvation and the salvation of those around him. (2) The cross is to be taken up daily. Commitment to following Christ is not just a one-time event. Rather, it is the continual practice of faith and obedience, even to the point of being shamed and persecuted by the world.

9:27 This is a reference to those who will witness the Transfiguration (vv. 28–36), as well as to those in every generation who experience the presence of God's Kingdom.

9:28–36 See the article "The Transfiguration" at Mt 17.

9:31 Christ's decease (Gr. exodus, lit. "departure") refers to His death. Christ's death is intimately connected to the glory of the Transfiguration, for Christ is glorified through His death (Jn 12:23). In the liturgical cycle, the Feast of the Transfiguration (Aug. 6) comes forty days before the feast of the Holy Cross (Sept. 14), showing the connection between Christ's glory and His Cross. The term exodus reveals that Christ's Passion is a fulfillment of the OT Passover and is the true exodus from enslavement into salvation.

This revelation of divine power also confirms Christ's upcoming death was not imposed on Him by outside forces, but was a voluntary offering of love, for no arresting soldier could withstand such glory if Christ had not consented (Mt 26:53). In a festal hymn (called the kontakion) of Transfiguration, we sing, "Your disciples beheld Your glory as far as they could bear it, so that when they saw You crucified, they would understand that Your suffering was voluntary."

9:40, 41 While the disciples' faith was incomplete (Mt 17:19, 20), Christ's rebuke is also to the crowds, whose faith was weaker still (see Mk 9:22–24).

9:44 Christ's repeated prediction of His Passion was meant to encourage and strengthen His disciples for the terrifying events they would face, and to assure them that Christ was not powerless but went to the Cross willingly.

9:46–50 Little child: See note on Mt 18:1–4. Theophylact sees John's comment as a regret, his conscience having been pricked by what Christ said about the least and the great. St. Ambrose, on the other hand, sees John as expecting full obedience to accompany such blessings. In either interpretation, Christ's response shows those acting in good faith are not excluded, even if they are not currently numbered among the disciples. "See how divine grace is at work even in those who are not His disciples" (Theoph; see also Nm 11:24–30). On those using Christ's name without good faith, see 11:23; Acts 19:13–16.

9:57–62 I will follow You: There is a cost to discipleship. Jesus reveals three: (1) The disciple relinquishes personal or earthly security—if the Lord has nowhere to lay His head, neither will the disciple. (2) Nothing, not even the honor due to parents, can be an obstacle to serving the Lord. (3) A disciple cannot delay in accomplishing the good that Christ demands.

10:1 Seventy: See the article "The Seventy" in this chapter.

📖 10:1–15 This passage is read for the commemoration of apostles.

10:2 We are to pray not only for the harvest of converts to Christ, but also for the laborers who will reach them.

10:3 Lambs speak of the sacrificial life of the apostles and of all followers of Christ. The wolves are those who seek to frighten and devour those who follow the Lord (Jn 15:18).

10:7, 8 Twice here Christ commands the apostles to eat whatever is offered to them. This has a twofold significance: (1) the apostles must be content with whatever is offered, even if the food is little and simple; and (2) the gracious reception of others' hospitality takes precedence over personal fasting or dietary disciplines.

St. Cassian the Desert Father notes that when he visited a monastery, the fast was always relaxed to honor him as a guest. When he asked why, the elder responded, "Fasting is always with me, but you I cannot always have with me. Fasting is useful and necessary, but it depends on our choice, while the law of God demands charity. Thus receiving Christ in you, I serve you with all diligence, and when I have taken leave of you, I resume the rule of fasting again." In this way the ascetics would obey Christ's command here and His command that we not "appear to men to be fasting" (Mt 6:18; see also Rom 14:2–6; 1Co 10:27; Heb 13:2).

10:9 The gospel message is not simply that there is a Kingdom in the future, but that this kingdom of God has come near.

10:13–16 Judgment is severe for those who reject Christ after experiencing His grace. In contrast, those who have never known Christ due to genuine ignorance are without sin in that regard (Jn 15:22–24), and are instead judged by their God-given conscience (Rom 2:12–16).

📖 10:16–21 This passage is read on April 25, the Feast of the Apostle Mark, and on November 8, the Commemoration of Holy Archangels.

10:18 I saw Satan fall describes an event that took place before the creation of the world. Five times Satan set his will against God (Is 14:12–15; see also Rev 12:7–12).

10:21 Babes: People of simple faith and open hearts (see 18:15–17).

📖 10:22–24 This passage is read for the commemoration of hieromartyrs.

10:30 Jerusalem is the place of peace, symbolic of communion with God. Jericho, on the other hand, was renowned as a place of sin (see 19:1). Falling among thieves speaks to the natural consequence of journeying away from God toward a life of sin (see Jn 10:10).

10:31, 32 Titles and positions are meaningless in God's sight when good deeds do not accompany them: "The dignity of the priesthood means nothing unless he also excels in deeds" (CyrAl). That the priest and the Levite do not help the man also indicates the failure of the OT Law to heal the consequences of sin.

10:33 The Samaritan, while a despised foreigner, is an image of Christ (Jn 8:48), for He "came down from heaven" (Creed) to save even those in rebellion against Him.

10:34, 35 The bandages, oil, and wine are sacramental images for (1) the garment of baptism, which delivers us from the wounds of sin; (2) the oil of chrismation, which gives us new life in the Holy Spirit; and (3) the communion of the divine Blood, which leads to eternal life. His own animal indicates Christ bearing our sins in His own body, and the inn reveals the Church in which Christ's care is received. He pays the price for that care (1Co 6:20; 7:23).

10:38–42 Mary and Martha are the sisters of Lazarus, whom Jesus raised from the dead (Jn 11:1). Martha is not rebuked for serving, but for complaining and for being distracted, worried, and troubled. In following Christ, we serve in order to facilitate the spread of the gospel (see Acts 6:1–4).

🕮 10:38–42; 11:27, 28 This passage is read on the several feasts of the Virgin Mary, on September 8, October 1, November 21, the Friday after Pascha, and August 15.

The Seventy

In Luke 10:1–17, the Lord appoints seventy men to go out as missionaries—as apostles. Though not so prominent as the Twelve, the Seventy carried out their missions with fervor and enthusiasm. The Tradition of the Church confirms that the Seventy remained true to the Lord and their calling, fulfilling a vital role in the spread of the gospel. These were not random choices or accidental volunteers but true disciples, true apostles, whose labors carried the message of their Lord throughout the Roman Empire and beyond.

Though lists of the Seventy vary somewhat, all these men are remembered in the calendar of the Church (see chart, "The Seventy," on page 1822). One day, January 4, is set aside to remember them all, and the record of their work is preserved in accounts handed down through the centuries from place to place, especially in those locations where they labored.

To tell all the stories passed down in the Church concerning the Seventy would fill a book of considerable size, but the stories of a few will convey the conviction and faith of this illustrious body.

Barnabas, a Jew of the tribe of Levi, was born in Cyprus of wealthy parents. He is said to have studied under Gamaliel with Saul of Tarsus, who was to become Paul the apostle. Originally named Joseph, he was called Barnabas (Son of Consolation) by the apostles (Acts 4:36) because he had a rare gift of comforting people's hearts. He sought out Paul when everyone else was afraid of him, bringing him to the apostles. It was Barnabas whom the apostles first sent to Antioch with Paul. Their long association was broken only when Barnabas was determined to take his cousin Mark, whom Paul did not trust just then, on a missionary journey. The three were later reconciled (Col 4:10). Many ancient accounts say Barnabas was the first to preach in Rome and in Milan, but he was martyred in Cyprus, then buried by Mark at the western gate of the city of Salamis.

Also among the more prominent of the Seventy was the apostle Titus, whom Paul called his brother (2Co 12:18) and his son (Tts 1:4). Born in Crete, Titus was educated in Greek philosophy, but after reading the prophet Isaiah he began to doubt the value of all he had been taught. Hearing the news of the coming of Jesus Christ, he joined some others from Crete who were going to Jerusalem to see for themselves. After hearing Jesus speak and seeing His works, the young Titus joined those who followed Him. Baptized by the apostle Paul, he worked with and served the great apostle to the Gentiles, traveling with him until Paul sent him to Crete, making him bishop of that city. It is said that Titus was in Rome at the time of the beheading of St. Paul and that he buried the body of his spiritual father before returning home. Back in Crete, he converted and baptized many people, governing the Church on that island until he entered into rest at the age of ninety-four.

Many less prominent among the Seventy also labored for Christ unto death. Aristarchus, whom Paul mentions several times (Acts 19:29; Col 4:10; Phm 24), calling him a "fellow laborer," became bishop of Apamea in Syria. Sosthenes (Acts 18:17; 1Co 1:1) became bishop of Caesarea, and Tychicus (Acts 20:4; Eph 6:21; Col 4:7; 2Ti 4:12; Tts 3:12) succeeded him in that city. Simeon (Mt 13:55; Mk 6:3), son of Cleopas (who was the brother of Joseph, the betrothed of the Virgin Mary), succeeded James as bishop of Jerusalem. Aristobulus (Rom 16:10), the brother of the apostle Barnabas, preached the gospel in Britain and died peacefully there.

The lives of these few are quite representative of the Seventy, who were instrumental in helping to plant the Church throughout the world. Many became bishops, but the names of all are numbered in heaven in the Book of Life as faithful servants of the Lord, apostles and foundations of the Church.

11:1 Teach us to pray expresses a universal longing to be in communion with God. For notes on the Lord's Prayer, see Mt 6:9–13.

11:5–8 This parable demonstrates God's faithfulness to those who are in need and who pray with persistence (v. 8). The Fathers interpret midnight as both the time of our death and a time of great temptation. The friend is Christ, who, as our only source of grace, provides everything we need.

11:9–13 In Greek, the verbs rendered ask, seek, and knock imply a continuing action and are better translated, "keep asking," "keep seeking," and "keep knocking." God responds when we persistently ask for things that are good. Bread, fish, and an egg are all images of life and symbolize the gift of the Holy Spirit (see Jn 14:13, 14; Jam 4:3).

11:15 Beelzebub: A pagan god, derided by the Jews as "the Lord of the Flies." Here it is a direct reference to Satan (v. 18).

11:16 A sign is never given to those whose motive is merely to test God (see 4:9–12).

11:20 Finger of God: the Holy Spirit (Mt 12:28).

11:21, 22 The strong man is Satan, who holds sway over the fallen human race, while the stronger is Christ (see 1Jn 4:4).

11:23 It is the work of Christ to gather the children of God, while those who scatter are in direct opposition to Him. Those who work in opposition to Christ are different from those who work in good faith toward His purpose but are not yet united to the Church (see 9:46–50 and note). Only "good deeds done for Christ's sake bring fruit," and thus deeds done for any other purpose, "even if they are good, are deeds that scatter abroad" (SerSar).

11:24–26 The unclean spirit refers to the rebelliousness cast out of the Jews by the OT prophets to prepare them to receive Christ. Those who refuse to receive Him are left open to the wickedness of seven other spirits or demons (JohnChr).

11:27, 28 These verses are read on most feasts of the Virgin Mary. Jesus corrects the woman from the crowd, not by denouncing his mother, but by emphasizing her faith. People are blessed in God's eyes if, like Mary, they hear the word of God and keep it. The Greek word menounge, here rendered more than that, is translated "Yes indeed" in Rom 10:18. This word corrects by amplifying, not by negating.

11:29–32 The sign of Jonah is (1) the fact that the rebellious Ninevites were willing to repent at Jonah's preaching, and (2) that Jonah coming out of the great fish prefigures Christ rising from the tomb (Mt 12:40). In contrast to the Ninevites' repentance, the Jews' failure to repent at something far greater—Christ's preaching and Resurrection—will result in their judgment. Queen of the South: See 3Kg 10:1–10.

11:33 See note at Mt 5:13–16.

11:34–36 See note at Mt 6:22, 23.

11:39–52 See notes at Mt 23:13–24. Woe: A term indicating complete and devastating destruction (6:24–26; see Is 5:18–24; Am 5:18, 19; Rev 12:12).

🕮 11:47–54 This passage is read on days commemorating holy prophets.

11:51 Zechariah: Some of the Fathers teach this was the prophet at the time of Joash the king (2Ch 24:20–22), while others say it refers to the father of St. John the Baptist, who, according to tradition, was also murdered in the temple.

📖 12:1–12 This passage is read on days commemorating a holy martyr.

12:5 Whom you should fear refers to God (Pr 9:10). The body will die eventually, one way or another. St. Ambrose even states that the death of the body is not itself a punishment, but rather it marks the end of earthly punishments. The soul continues for all eternity; since God is the judge of the soul, our efforts in this world are to please Him alone.

12:10 To say a word against the Son of Man is to reject Jesus as the Messiah. Jesus seemed to be a mere man to many people before their conversion. The scandal caused by the Incarnation and Crucifixion of the Son of God (1Co 1:23) makes this sin more easily forgiven. The Holy Spirit, on the other hand, is without bodily form and invisibly works divine goodness. According to St. John Chrysostom and many other Fathers, the blasphemy against the Holy Spirit would be forgivable if a person were to repent of it. Jesus never calls the sin itself "unforgivable." Jesus makes this declaration knowing that those who blaspheme the Spirit are calling pure, divine goodness "evil," and are beyond repentance by their own choice.

12:13–15 It was a custom for respected rabbis to arbitrate personal disputes. However, a dispute over an inheritance is detrimental to salvation. This greed is pure idolatry (Col 3:5) and unfitting for anyone who knows God. Notice how incompatible this question is with what the Lord had just finished saying.

12:20 Whose will those things be which you have provided? is the key to understanding the saving up of material goods. St. John Chrysostom writes that the only barns we need we already have: "the stomachs of the poor." St. Basil the Great taught that the bread in our cupboard belongs to the hungry man; the coat hanging unused belongs to the one who needs it; the shoes rotting in our closet belong to the one who has no shoes; and the money we hoard belongs to the poor. St. Ambrose teaches, "The things which we cannot take with us are not ours. Only virtue will be our companion when we die." Even when Joseph stored up grain in Egypt (Gn 41), it was for the benefit of the whole nation. These teachings apply to parishes as well as to each person.

12:22–31 See notes on Mt 6:25–33.

12:32 Do not fear is a recurring theme in this discourse. Little flock refers to all believers. They are little in two ways: (1) they are insignificant in the eyes of the world, and (2) they are small in number when compared to the earthly and heavenly creation.

📖 12:32–40 This passage is read on days commemorating a priest martyr.

12:35, 36 A call to be vigilant, echoing the imagery of the parable of the wise and foolish virgins (Mt 25:1–13). Your waist be girded: Be ready for virtuous action. Lamps burning: Have spiritual discernment.

12:37–48 See also Mt 24:45–51. The mark of a true disciple is vigilance in performing the work and exemplifying the virtue of the master.

12:38 Second and third watch is between 9:00 p.m. and 3:00 a.m., interpreted as hours of heightened temptation. Thus, the servants are most blessed who remain faithful during the night.

12:40 It is not the place of anyone to try to predict the time of the return of the Son of Man, but rather to remain faithful and to be ready at every hour.

12:41 The previous parable (vv. 35–40) is to all *people, while the following parable (vv. 42–48) is to the apostles and their successors, the rulers (v. 42) and teachers of the Church. The exhortations to principles of virtue and the warnings against corruption apply specifically to those entrusted with spiritual leadership.

12:47, 48 The judgment of the teachers of the Church will be strict (Jam 3:1). The many *stripes given to those who are willfully and knowingly disobedient symbolize condemnation. The few stripes are for those disobedient out of ignorance and indicate chastisement or correction.

12:49 Fire references the proclamation of the gospel and the gift of the Holy Spirit. This fire both enlivens the faithful and judges the faithless; it purifies virtue and destroys sin (see 3:16; 1Co 3:12–15).

12:50 Baptism refers to Christ's Passion (see note at Mt 20:20–23).

12:51 There are two kinds of peace. False peace, to which Christ refers here, is a shallow harmony that results from ignoring issues of truth. Genuine peace is reconciliation to God through faith in Christ and surrender to truth. Genuine peace has division as a byproduct because not everyone wants truth. In the fallen world, divisions are necessary for truth to be manifest (see 1Co 11:18, 19).

12:53 This fulfills the prophecy of Mic 7:6. In addition to its literal meaning, which has been experienced in the Church since the time of Christ, the older generation being divided from the younger generation also symbolizes (1) the rejection of the new covenant by followers of the old covenant, and (2) the spiritual struggle between our old, sinful state and our renewal in Christ (see Eph 4:20–24).

12:56 This time: The revelation of the Kingdom of God in the first coming of Jesus Christ.

12:58 Just as a guilty person would attempt to reconcile with his opponent before facing an earthly judge, even more so should one be reconciled to God in Christ before facing His dread judgment.

13:1–5 These two historical incidents (vv. 1, 4) are only reported in Luke. The slain Galileans were probably Zealots, Jewish nationalists, who triggered some disturbance against the Romans. The collapse of the tower in Siloam, whether by accident or sabotage, was believed to be divine justice on sinners. Christ denies this suffering was God's judgment; instead, He uses these events as illustrations for those who perish because they will not repent.

13:6–8 The fruitless fig tree is universally interpreted in the Church to be fallen humanity. The three years represent God's covenants with His people through Abraham, Moses, and Christ, all of which are rejected, as well as the three-year earthly ministry of Christ. The keeper of the vineyard is Christ Himself, who intercedes on our behalf that He should suffer His Passion and send the Holy Spirit to us before the final judgment takes place.

13:10–17 Healing on the Sabbath: See note at 6:7.

📖 13:10–17 This passage is read on December 9, the Feast of the Conception of the Theotokos.

13:16 Think of it: The Fathers see this command as directing us to a spiritual meaning for the eighteen years. As the Greek expression is literally translated "ten and eight years," both St. Ambrose and Theophylact see ten as representing the Ten Commandments and eight as representing grace, for the day of Resurrection is often called the "eighth day." Thus humanity is lifted up by faith in Christ, who fulfills both law and grace.

13:19 The mustard plant grows to a height of about 10 feet in Palestine (see note at Mt 13:31–33).

13:24 See note on Mt 7:13, 14.

13:25–27 Neither verbal confessions (Lord, Lord; v. 25) nor sacramental experiences (v. 26) avail anything unless we also do the works of faith (see 6:46–49).

13:30 Theophylact sees the first who becomes last as not only faithless Jews, but those in the Church who "from infancy have put on Christ and have been taught the Word, but who become last by transgressing against it."

13:32–35 This passage shows (1) Christ voluntarily going to His Passion, (2) His great love for Jerusalem in spite of its continual state of rebellion, and (3) His foreknowledge of how He will be received on the first Palm Sunday.

14:1–6 On the Sabbath: See note at 6:7. Jesus' illustration builds on His words in 13:15.

14:7–17 These parables are directed toward guests (vv. 7–11) and hosts (vv. 12–14). In imitation of Christ, perfect humility is expected of guests, and boundless charity is demanded of hosts (see Jam 4:6).

14:12–14 This instruction is based on the manner in which God treats us, even though not one of us could possibly repay Him (see 6:30–36). You shall be repaid: See 10:34, 35.

14:15 This man unwittingly declares the ultimate beatitude. The truth behind his words can come only through understanding the bread to be eternal communion with God.

14:16, 17 This parable operates on two levels, illustrating both the first and second coming of Christ, who is the servant sent to gather many. Supper indicates evening, the end of the age. The people invited are first the Jews, then all mankind.

📖 14:16–24 This passage is read on the second Sunday before Christmas, called the Sunday of the Holy Ancestors of Christ.

14:18–20 The Fathers see the three excuses as having both a literal meaning, that many are too attached to worldly cares to accept the Kingdom of God (v. 26; 18:29), and spiritual meanings. St. Ambrose sees the three excuses of I cannot come representing the Gentile, the Jew, and the heretic. The Gentile's devotion to earthly wealth is represented by the piece of ground, the Jew's enslavement to the five books of the Law by the five yoke of oxen, and the heretic's espousal of error by the man refusing on account of his wife. Theophylact more generally associates the excuses with people devoted to earthly matters, to things pertaining to the five senses, and to all pleasures of the flesh.

14:21–23 Those in the streets and lanes indicate (1) the Gentiles who accepted Christ after the faithless Jews rejected Him, and (2) those outside the Church replacing those within who have rejected their own baptism.

📖 14:25–35 This passage is read for the commemoration of hieromartyrs.

14:26 The command to hate one's kindred and his own life also is not to be taken literally. Rather we are to hate the way our relationships with others can hinder our total dedication to the Kingdom of God, which takes precedence even over family ties.

14:27 See note on 9:23.

14:28 Build a tower: See 1Co 3:10–15.

14:34 Salt: See note at Mt 5:13–16.

15:2–12 Fellowship with sinners defiled pious Jews. The three parables in this chapter are Christ's answer to the Pharisees and scribes. The man (v. 4), the woman (v. 8), and the father (v. 12) are seen as representing Christ, the Church, and God the Father. "Christ carries the sinner, the Church seeks and intercedes, and the Father receives" (AmbM).

15:4 In the Fathers' spiritual interpretation, the hundred sheep represent all rational creation. The one sheep who goes astray symbolizes mankind, while the ninety-nine represent the angelic realm (see also note on Mt 18:12).

15:8 Ten silver coins comprise a single necklace worn by a married woman, a bride, which is an image of the Church (Eph 5:32). The lost coin (Gr. drachma), which carried the image of the king, symbolizes mankind who, though bearing the image of God, fell from grace. Through the Church, Christ enlightens the world, sweeps away sin, and finds His lost creation.

📖 15:11–32 This passage is read on the third Sunday before Great Lent, called the Sunday of the Prodigal Son.

15:12–14 The son's request for his portion of goods (Gr. ousia, lit. "essence") indicates man receiving his free will and his rational mind from God. As Adam did in Eden, the younger son uses these possessions to rebel against his father. The far country represents life in exile from God.

15:15 Feeding swine could rightly be called "Jewish Skid Row." He could not sink much lower.

15:17 Came to himself: A person immersed in sin is living outside his true self (Rom 7:17–20). The prodigal realizes his hopeless condition. The bread symbolizes Christ, who is known through the Scriptures and the Eucharist.

15:20 Though it was considered unseemly in Jewish culture for an old man to run, the father did not passively stand by waiting for his son to return. He ran to him. This self-humiliation for the sake of the lost indicates the way in which our Father, through Christ's sacrifice, actively seeks those who stray.

15:22 The significance of the robe is righteousness granted by baptism (Is 61:10), the signet ring is family identity (Hag 2:23), and the sandals refer to walking according to the gospel (Eph 6:15).

15:23 Fatted calf is more closely translated "wheat-fed bull-calf," or even more literally "a bull-calf formed from wheat." This animal is a male calf raised on wheat in preparation for use as a religious offering. As the reconciliation of the prodigal son was not complete without the sacrifice of the calf, so man's reconciliation to God is not by his repentance alone, but by Christ offering Himself on the Cross. The festive dining on an animal offering "formed from wheat" is a clear reference to our partaking of the eucharistic bread (see also note at Mt 22:4).

15:25–28 The resentful older son illustrates the hardheartedness of the Pharisees to whom Christ was telling this parable (vv. 2, 3). God requires His followers to rejoice when even the most blamable man is called to repentance (CyrAl).

15:29 I never transgressed your commandment at any time: The failure of the older son to recognize his own sins leads to his self-righteous and merciless attitude. Contrast this with the contrition of the younger son (vv. 18, 19). "The one who seems to himself to be righteous, who does not see the beam in his own eye, becomes angry when forgiveness is granted to one who confesses his sin and begs for mercy" (AmbM). The older son's ingratitude is also apparent in his charge you never gave me a young goat to his father, who has given him all he has (v. 31).

16:1–9 A steward is responsible for managing his master's property and looking after the welfare of his servants. The point of this parable is that the unrighteous are better at using money to make friends in the world than believers are at using money to make friends for the Kingdom of God—which is accomplished by spending it on the needy. At death (when you fail) the needy will welcome their benefactors into the everlasting home (v. 9).

16:10–12 The test as to whether God will bestow heavenly blessings (true *riches) on a person is directly related to how that person spends his money. The money we consider our own is actually another man's, that is, belonging to God, or at least to the poor. The Fathers universally see a person's failure to give money to God's work as stealing: "nothing less than embezzlement of money belonging to someone else" (Theoph).

16:15 The things which are highly esteemed among men include money, power, position, and praise.

16:17 See note at Mt 5:18.

16:18 See note at Mt 5:31, 32.

16:22 Abraham's bosom means heaven. Abraham is mentioned among all the righteous because, in stark contrast to the rich man, Abraham showed hospitality to strangers (Gn 18:1–8). The rich man . . . was buried: The Fathers see this as illustrating the state of his merciless soul, buried by the pleasures of the flesh. He was already buried in life by "couches, rugs, furnishings, sweet oils, perfumes, large quantities of wine, varieties of food, and flatterers" (JohnChr). That the rich man remains unnamed indicates that he is ultimately forgotten (see Ps 9:6).

16:24–26 The rich man's appeal to Abraham as a spiritual father is not rejected. Rather, Abraham accepts this role, calling the rich man son and showing himself to be compassionate even towards the most wretched of men. The great gulf is not a geographical divide, but the complete separation between virtue and wickedness, a separation that cannot be overcome after death. Note that torments have not changed the rich man's heart, as he still sees Lazarus as a servant existing for the sake of his own comfort. Finally, this account by Christ reveals the communion of the saints: a man, not even a believer, calls out from Hades and converses with Saint Abraham!

16:27–31 Some Fathers see this parable being set after the final judgment, citing the punishment and reward being received by the two men respectively. Others see this parable set at a time after death but before the second coming of Christ, as evidenced by the man interceding on behalf of his brothers who are still living. The torment he is experiencing would be but a foretaste of his final state. From this perspective, we learn that souls of the departed have awareness of and concern for the state of those still alive on earth (see 9:30, 31; 2Mc 15:12–16; Mt 2:18), but also that the intercessions of a wicked man are heard, but avail nothing (contrast Jam 5:16).

16:31 "The ignorance of Scripture is a great cliff and a deep abyss. It is impossible for anyone to be without benefit if he reads continually and with attention" (JohnChr). Furthermore, the rebellious were not persuaded even when people did rise from the dead (Mt 28:11–15; Jn 12:9–11).

17:2 Little ones refers primarily to children, and by extension to anyone whose heart is humble and dependent on God (see notes at Mt 18:1–4, 6).

17:4 See note at Mt 18:21–35.

17:6 Here, the mulberry tree is symbolic of the devil's works. It is on the leaf of this tree that silkworms feed, worms being an image of hell (Mk 9:42–48). This patristic interpretation is confirmed by numerous scriptural images of evil being destroyed in the sea (8:33; Ex 14:27; Mt 21:21; Rev 20:10).

17:7 The servant plowing is mentioned first and the one tending sheep second, showing that one must first work out his own salvation (Php 2:12) before he can become a shepherd of others.

17:10 Unprofitable (lit. "without merit") does not mean without intrinsic value. Rather, it means everything we have comes from God and is owed back to Him. There is nothing we can offer God that is not already His.

17:12–14 See notes on 5:12, 14.

17:17–19 Where are the nine? Christ came to heal all of fallen humanity, yet only a small portion receive Him in faith and thanksgiving to give glory to God (v. 18). Thus, "many are called, but few chosen" (Mt 20:16). The lesson for Orthodox Christians is that worship is the number one priority.

17:21 The kingdom of God is a spiritual reality present within the Christian believer and within the community of the Church. Within you can also be translated "among you" or "in your midst."

17:26–30 The warning not to be preoccupied with worldly matters applies both to believers and to parishes.

17:34–36 Christ's second coming will entail a sudden revelation of judgment. One will be taken to heaven and the other left for eternal condemnation. The separation of the saints from the wicked will occur on "the day when the Son of Man is revealed" (v. 30) and not, as some speculate today, at an event that occurs before His return.

17:37 The body refers to Christ, while the eagles refer to the angels and the saints.

18:1 Persistent (v. 7) and faithful (v. 8) prayer is the remedy for the tribulation just described (17:22–37; see also 1Th 5:16–18 and note).

18:8 Will He really find faith on the earth? The Lord often uses this form of question when speaking of characteristics that are rarely found (see 11:11; 12:42).

18:10 The Pharisee is highly respected and a careful observer of the details of the Law, whereas the tax collector is despised as a sinner who collaborates with the occupying Roman forces, betraying and cheating his own people.

🕮 18:10–14 This passage is read on the fourth Sunday before Great Lent, called the Sunday of the Publican and the Pharisee.

18:11, 12 The practices of this Pharisee are worthy examples to follow. His good deeds (fasting and giving tithes) are the primary weapons against the passions of lust and greed (adultery and extortion). However, without a humble and repentant heart, these outward practices are worthless and lead only to pride and judgment of others. Note that he prays with himself, for God is absent where there is boasting.

18:13 The tax collector shows by his posture an awareness of the state of his soul, standing far from the altar of sacrifice with eyes cast downward. His prayer, God, be merciful to me a sinner, is the foundation of the Jesus Prayer (see note on 1Th 5:16–18), as is the refrain "Lord have mercy" that permeates Orthodox worship and personal prayer.

18:14 Justified means forgiven and set right with God, for inward humility is blessed while pride in outward deeds is condemned.

18:15–17 Infants are the standard of faith by which adults receive the kingdom of God, and not the other way around. "A little child is not arrogant, he does not despise anyone, he is innocent and guileless. He does not inflate himself in the presence of important people, nor withdraw from those in sorrows. Instead, he lives in complete simplicity" (Theoph). See note at Mt 19:13–15.

18:18–30 See notes at Mt 19:16–29.

18:22 See note at Mt 19:21.

18:25–27 See 19:8–10.

18:34 The saying was hidden not by God, but because the disciples could not comprehend its meaning until the events of the Passion had taken place.

18:35–43 See note at Mt 20:30.

19:1 Jericho was notorious as a place of iniquity and is commonly associated with sinful living (see 10:30).

🕮 19:1–10 This passage is read on the fifth Sunday before Great Lent, called Zacchaeus Sunday.

19:2 He was rich: See 18:24–27. This encounter between Christ and Zacchaeus demonstrates that grace can accomplish that which is impossible to man.

19:3, 4 Many spiritual interpretations express the universal significance of this encounter. Theophylact sees the crowd symbolizing sins: "Crowded in by a multitude of passions and worldly affairs, he is not able to see Jesus." St. Ambrose sees several parallels: (1) Zacchaeus being short is indicative of his being short on faith and virtue; (2) that Zacchaeus must ascend a tree shows no one attached to earthly matters can see Jesus; and (3) the Lord intending to pass that *way reveals that Christ will approach anyone willing to repent and believe.

19:8 Zacchaeus uses the term give for his free and generous offering to the poor, and restore for what he owes those he had cheated, as this was not a gift but required by the Law (Ex 22:1). By doing both, Zacchaeus not only fulfills the Law, but shows his love of the gospel.

19:9 The title son of Abraham indicates Zacchaeus had become like this patriarch of Israel: he was counted righteous by his faith, he became generous toward the poor, and he was united to the people of God. Early records tell us he went on to be a bishop of the Church.

19:11–27 See note at Mt 25:14–30.

19:28–40 See notes at Mt 21:1–11. The Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem marks the public acclamation of Jesus as Messiah. However, the crowd's understanding of the Messiah is flawed in that they are expecting a political leader, a king, whereas Christ comes to establish a Kingdom "not of this world" (Jn 18:36).

19:42 Jerusalem means "foundation of peace." Only faith in Christ brings true peace—a truth hidden from a city that will soon rebel against its Savior (see note on 12:51).

19:43, 44 The destruction of Jerusalem that Jesus foretells would occur in AD 70. This also describes the spiritual end of every person who lacks faith.

19:45 See note at Mt 21:12, 13.

20:2 These things refers to Christ's Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem as Messiah (19:35–38), the cleansing of the temple (19:45), and His preaching (20:1). The elders confront Jesus since it was the duty of the priestly descendants of Levi to manage the temple. While Christ was descended from Judah (3:33), yet He is the High Priest "according to the order of Melchizedek" (Ps 109:4), a priestly line far greater than that of Levi, for His authority is from the Father.

20:9–16 In this parable, the man represents God the Father, and the vineyard refers to God's people. The vinedressers are the leaders of the Jews entrusted to care for the people. Each servant (vv. 10–12) sent by the owner stands for an OT prophet who comes to call people back to God, while the beloved son (v. 13) refers to Christ Himself. When the Son is cast out of the vineyard (v. 15) to be killed, this is understood on two levels: (1) that Jesus was killed outside Jerusalem; and (2) that Jesus was crucified by foreign soldiers, not by those of His own vineyard. The others (v. 16) who later receive the vineyard are the Gentiles brought into the Church.

20:17, 18 That stone is Christ. This saying illustrates the two ways of destruction. Those falling on the stone are people who suffer the effects of their own sins while yet in this life, whereas those on whom the stone falls are unrepentant people who become powder in the final judgment (JohnChr).

20:20–26 This question on taxation is designed to trap Jesus: a "yes" would turn the Jewish people against Him, while a "no" would bring a charge of treason by the Romans. His answer defeats their cunning and shows that a believer can render the state its due while serving God (Rom 13:1–7). As the coin bears the image of the emperor and is properly paid to him, so each person bears the image of God and therefore belongs to Him. Conflict arises only when the state demands that which is contrary to God.

20:27–40 See note at Mt 22:23–33.

20:41–44 The first reference to the LORD applies to God the Father, while the term my Lord refers to Christ. This question is answered in that Christ is the Son of David in His humanity and David's Lord in His divinity (see note at Mt 22:41–46).

20:45–47 See notes at Mt 23:1–39.

21:1–4 According to the Fathers, the Lord accounts the value of a gift not by how much is given, but by how much is kept back. Thus, the poor widow is counted to have given a great gift, having kept nothing for herself. Those who give out of their abundance but keep plenty back for themselves are counted by God to have given very little.

21:5–36 See notes at Mt 24:1–44.

📖 21:12–19 This passage is read on days commemorating holy martyrs.

22:1 The Passover (Gr. Pascha) is the celebration of the destruction of the firstborn of Egypt and the deliverance of God's people from bondage (Ex 12–14). In remembrance of this, the Jews would slaughter an unblemished lamb and partake of it with unleavened bread. This prefigures Christ's Passion, in which the only-begotten Son of God is slain in order to deliver His people from their bondage to sin and death, and then is raised to lead them into the eternal Kingdom. Thus, Pascha is the primary term by which we refer to the death and Resurrection of Christ, known in the West as Easter.

22:3 Satan does not enter a man except by the man's consent. The reason Satan chose Judas and none of the others is that Judas had a place for Satan in his heart, while the others did not. Luke's mention of Judas being numbered among the twelve emphasizes the depth of the betrayal and shows that religious position is worthless if not accompanied by faith and virtue.

22:7, 8 See note at v. 1. The term Passover (Gr. Pascha) can refer to the original event itself, the celebration of that event, the food that is eaten, or the lamb that is slain. According to the Fathers, Peter represents zeal and John represents spiritual understanding, the virtues with which we are to partake of the Lord's Supper.

22:15 Christ has a fervent* desire for this Passover because this meal will impart the mysteries of the new covenant to His followers, and because this event will inaugurate the great deliverance of humanity from sin through the power of the Cross.

22:17, 18 This first cup concludes the OT Passover meal Christ eats with His disciples to fulfill the Law. Until the kingdom of God comes means until Christ's Resurrection; at that time He will again eat and drink with His disciples (24:43; Acts 10:41).

22:19, 20 Gave thanks has at its root the Greek word eucharist, which immediately came to refer to both the Liturgy and the sacrament of Holy Communion. Before the end of the first century, a manuscript called the Didache refers to the celebration of the Liturgy as "the Eucharist," and in the year AD 150, St. Justin says of Holy Communion, "This food we call 'Eucharist,' of which no one is allowed to partake except one who believes that the things we teach are true, and has received the washing [holy baptism] for forgiveness of sins and for rebirth, and who lives as Christ commanded us." This is My body: The Orthodox Church has always accepted Christ's words as true, "that the food consecrated by the word of prayer which comes from Him is the flesh and blood of that incarnate Jesus" (Justin). See Jn 6:51–66 and notes, and the article "The Eucharist" at 1Co 11.

22:21–23 Judas too is invited to the table for the mystical supper, Jesus seeking by all means to save him. His unworthy participation leads to his utter destruction (see 1Co 11:27–30; compare Est 7).

22:24–27 This small-minded dispute is out of place in the context of the mysteries Christ has just revealed. He corrects the disciples by first comparing them to the power-hungry Gentiles, whom they themselves considered an abomination, and contrasting them to Himself, who serves us even though He is Lord of all.

22:30 "Christ judges by discerning the heart, and not by examining deeds. So also the apostles are being shaped to exercise spiritual judgment concerning faith, and in rebuking error with virtue" (AmbM). The apostles will judge not with earthly judgment, but by the witness of their own lives. Since God's kingdom begins with the Resurrection of Christ, the authority of judgment has already been given to the apostles and their successors in the journey of the Church on earth (Mt 16:19; Jn 20:23).

22:31, 32 The form of you in v. 31 is plural, indicating Satan asked for all the disciples, while the you in v. 32 is singular, indicating Jesus prayed especially for Simon Peter. Because Peter's faith was the strongest, he would be tested the most. When you have returned to *Me: See Jn 21:15–17. Strengthen your brethren refers not only to the other disciples, but to all the faithful until Christ returns.

22:35–38 The sword (v. 36) is not to be understood literally (compare vv. 49–51), but refers to the living word of God in the battle against sin (Eph 6:17; Heb 4:12). St. Ambrose adds an additional meaning: that giving up one's garment and buying a sword refers to surrendering the body to the sword of martyrdom. Because the disciples were thinking of swords literally, Jesus abruptly ends the discussion with the words, "It is enough," or better translated, "Enough of this!" (see Dt 3:26; Mk 14:41).

22:41–44 Christ's agony (v. 44) was the product of His human nature. In asking that the cup be taken away, He reveals His human will. By submitting His human will to the Father, Christ reveals His divine will to be one with the Father's, and further shows that each person must submit his own will to God's will (11:2). Christ willingly takes in Himself the voice of weak humanity, thereby conquering weakness: "The words of weakness are sometimes adopted by the strong in order that the hearts of the weak may be strengthened" (GrgGt).

🕮 22:43–45 This passage is read on Holy Thursday, the Thursday before Pascha (Easter).

22:51 This healing is recorded only by St. Luke the physician. It indicates the manner in which we are to treat our enemies. The Fathers see a spiritual meaning in that it is Christ who gives people the ability to hear the truth and thereby come to salvation (see 8:8; 14:35).

22:53 Darkness: See Jn 3:19–21; 13:30.

22:56 A girl being the first to test Peter is an icon of the temptation of Adam by Eve (Gn 3:6). Our fallen state is overcome in Christ when women are the first to hear, believe, and proclaim the Resurrection (24:1–10).

22:61, 62 Peter is so overcome with fear that neither Christ's prediction (v. 34) nor the crowing of the rooster calls him to repentance, but only the Lord's gaze causes him to weep bitterly. Nevertheless, "through tears, what cannot be defended can be purged, for tears wash away the offense which is shameful to confess out loud" (AmbM).

22:68 Jesus asked many questions of the Jewish leaders which they refused to answer because doing so would have meant confessing Him as the Christ (20:4–7; Mt 22:41–46; Mk 3:4).

22:69 By this claim, Jesus declares Himself to be equal with God.

23:2–4 The religious accusations against Jesus (22:66–71) would not be enough to justify a death sentence under Roman occupation. Therefore, the chief priests invent false (20:20–26), politically charged accusations in order to persuade Pilate to put Jesus to death. Pilate's question (v. 3) is more a mockery of the accusation itself than of Jesus, as he clearly does not take the political charges seriously (v. 4). Christ's answer, "It is as you say," can also be translated with a more ambiguous, "You say so."

23:8, 9 Herod sees Jesus as a novelty. Christ's silence is an act of compassion, for revealing divine mysteries in the face of such blasphemy would have brought Herod even greater condemnation. St. Ambrose sees Herod as a figure representing all unrighteous people who, if they do not recognize Jesus as the Christ, will never understand His words nor recognize His miracles.

23:13–25 Three times Pilate attempts to release Jesus (vv. 16, 20, 22), and three times the chief priest and the rulers incite the people to demand He be put to death. In the end, they demand the release of a rebel like themselves. Barabbas means "son of the father" and indicates to which father these rulers belong—the devil (Jn 8:44).

23:26 Simon means "obedience"; this faithful man stands for all who desire to follow Christ and carry the cross He places on them (9:23; 14:27).

23:28 Weeping is not appropriate for the One who redeems the world through the Cross, but is suited for one's own sins and for the sufferings of others.

23:29 The blessing on the barren women is an acknowledgment of the overwhelming pain a mother endures seeing her children suffer (illustrated by the "woe" in Mt 24:19). "Mothers are held by the tie of feeling for their children, but cannot save them. How can one escape the bonds of nature? How can she who nurses ever overlook the one she has borne?" (JohnChr).

23:31 The green wood is Christ, full of virtue and truth. The dry stands for the Jews, barren of all life and of all righteousness. If the Romans eagerly destroy the righteous, what horrifying things await the unrighteous?

23:33 Calvary: lit., “the skull.” Being crucified between the two criminals shows Christ’s complete identity with fallen humanity and fulfills the prophecy of Is 53:9–12.

23:34 This intercession is not only for those who sentenced and crucified Jesus, but for all of humanity—a people who have no insight into the profound mystery of God’s salvation. Jesus speaks these words not as a request, but with divine authority. Their great sin would still have been forgiven them had they repented. Indeed, one of the soldiers did repent (v. 47) and is considered a saint of the Church.

23:35–37 Save Yourself: The continuing temptation of Satan to deter Jesus from completing His mission (see 4:9–13).

23:38 An inscription: What was intended as an accusation and a mockery became instead a triumphant symbol that all nations would come under the reign of Jesus the King.

23:39–43 The first of the criminals wanted to use Jesus to avoid responsibility for his actions, while the other accepts his sentence and asks simply to be remembered. This latter way is the path to Paradise. Today: To be reconciled to Christ is to be in paradise immediately. Furthermore, the souls of the departed are in the presence of God and experience a foretaste of His glory before the final resurrection.

🕮 23:39–43 This passage is read at Vespers of Great and Holy Friday, the Friday before Pascha (Easter).

23:45 The veil of the temple was torn in two: See note at Mt 27:51.

23:46 Jesus does not have His life taken from Him, but will voluntarily commit it to the Father. His was the first human soul not to be taken to Hades; instead it was freely given into the hands of God. Thus, Christ frees all of humanity from death’s grip. His death reconciles mankind to God, not by satisfying the Father’s need for blood-justice as some might teach, but by causing every aspect of our corrupt human nature to be transformed, for whatever divinity touches is healed. Christ accepts human nature in order to sanctify human nature; He accepts our weakness in order to make us strong; He takes on our sin in order to free us from sin; He suffers in order to transfigure suffering; and He enters death in order to destroy it (1Co 15:20–28; see note at Mt 27:50).

23:47 Reflecting on the conversion of the centurion, St. Cyril of Alexandria notes, “Observe that no sooner had Christ endured the Passion on the Cross for our sakes than He began to win many unto knowledge of the truth.”

23:50–53 If the apostles had buried Christ, doubters could claim His body was simply hidden away. Joseph being both a council member and a good and just man refutes any possibility that the Lord’s body was deceptively hidden by the apostles. The spiritual significance of a tomb where no one had ever lain before is that Christ died a death unlike any person had ever died: a death without corruption, a death leading to victory over the grave itself.

23:55, 56 His rest in the tomb fulfills the image of His birth in a cave (see 2:7) and reveals the ultimate purpose of His coming. The faith of the women, while stronger than that of the hiding disciples, was still imperfect in that they prepared for the corruption of Christ’s body. Sabbath: As God rested from His work of creation on the original Sabbath (Gn 2:1–3), so now Christ rests from the work of the new creation on the Sabbath. Thus He gives the Sabbath its ultimate meaning and fulfills the Law even in death. At Matins of Holy Saturday we sing, “This is the most blessed Sabbath on which Christ sleeps in order to rise on the third day.”

24:1 The first day of the week was the day after the Sabbath—Sunday—which in the Christian tradition is called the Lord’s Day, the day of worship (Acts 20:7). Spices: See note at 23:55, 56.

24:2 See Mt 28:2. The stone is rolled away not to let the all-powerful Lord out, but to let us witness His Resurrection.

24:4 These men . . . in shining garments were angels.

24:5–7 In order to dispel any doubt, the angel confirms his message by recalling Christ’s own words. In calculating the third day, the first day is Friday, the day on which Christ died before sundown. The second is Saturday, the Sabbath on which Christ rested in the tomb. The third day, which begins after sundown on Saturday, is the day of Resurrection, Sunday.

24:10 Certain Fathers teach that Mary the mother of James was the wife of Alphaeus, and this James was one of the Twelve (6:15). Most, however, hold that this is the Virgin Mary, being in fact the stepmother of a different James, "the Lord's brother" (see Mt 13:55; compare Mk 15:40, 47). The Virgin Mary appears in certain icons of the Myrrhbearing Women, and in a hymn by St. John of Damascus, we sing, "The angel cried to the lady full of grace, 'Rejoice, O pure Virgin: your Son is risen from His three days in the tomb.'"

24:13 The two of them are Cleopas (v. 18) and, according to tradition, Luke himself. It was a common literary device for a writer not to give his own name (see Mk 14:51; Jn 21:24).

24:16 The nature of the resurrected body is so different from its previous state that it is not immediately recognizable (Jn 20:14; 21:4, 12; see 1Co 15:35–44). It is also able to take different forms, which is what occurs here (see Mk 16:12 and note). Their eyes were restrained: Christ intentionally prevents them from recognizing Him in order to expose their doubting thoughts and then cure them by means of the OT Scriptures (v. 27).

24:21 The disciples' hope for redemption was still imbedded in a foolish (v. 25) misunderstanding of the Messiah as a political savior or deliverer. With Christ's death, this earthly hope had been dashed.

24:26, 27 It is partial faith to believe either in a Messiah who only suffered or one that would only reign in His glory. Complete faith sees the Messiah encompassing both, for all of this was foretold in the Law and the Prophets (see also note for v. 16).

24:30–35 The Lord breaks bread in the same manner as at the Last Supper (22:19), imaging the Eucharist of the NT Church. All who commune with the Lord in His risen Body in faith have their eyes opened (v. 31) to know Him, for the Lord is known most perfectly in the breaking of bread (v. 35).

24:32 Did not our heart burn within us: The inescapable effect of hearing the Holy Scriptures taught correctly and with faith (see 2Ti 2:15). This burning is the conviction that the words and promises are true.

24:36 Peace to you: This resurrectional greeting of Christ is proclaimed by the priest or the bishop frequently in Orthodox worship services.

🕮 24:36–53 This passage is read on the Feast of the Ascension of Our Lord Jesus Christ.

24:38–43 Christ eats not because He in His resurrected body needs food, but to prove to the disciples that He is truly risen in the flesh. The spiritual significance assigned to the fish is active virtue, and the honeycomb is the sweetness of divine wisdom.

24:46 See note for vv. 26, 27.

24:47 Remission of sins refers to the putting away of sins in baptism, which is preached by St. Peter at Pentecost (see Acts 2:38).

24:49 Are endued with is literally "have put on" (the same verb found in Eph 6:11), indicating the complete protection of spiritual armor. Tarry is literally "sit down," and is an instruction not only to stay in place, but also to take rest and prepare attentively before a great and difficult task (compare Mk 14:32). The Promise of My Father is the Holy Spirit (see Acts 1:4).

24:51 The Ascension of Christ is celebrated forty days after the Resurrection (Acts 1:3). This event fulfills the type given when Elijah ascended in a fiery chariot (4Kg 2:11) and marks the completion of Christ's glorification and lordship over all creation. At the Incarnation, Christ brought His divine nature to human nature. In the mystery of the Ascension, Christ brings human nature to the divine Kingdom. He reigns with the Father and the Holy Spirit in His glorified body, revealing His glorified human nature—indeed, human flesh—to be worshiped by the whole angelic realm. At Vespers of Ascension we sing, "The angels were amazed seeing a Man so exalted." In some icons of the Ascension, Christ's white robes are tinted red to indicate the shedding of His blood for the redemption of the world and the ascent of that life-giving blood into heaven (Is 63:1–3; see also Ps 23:7–10).

Notes for Luke

The Book of John

Author

According to tradition, St. John the Apostle (also called the Theologian because of the profundity of his gospel) was assisted by St. Prochorus in writing this gospel. John, "the beloved disciple" of Christ (13:23; 21:7, 20), served as the leading authority of Ephesus for most of his ministry and wrote his gospel there. He was almost one hundred years old when he died, c. AD 96–100.

Date

This gospel, written about AD 96, is usually considered the last of the four gospels to be written, supplementing the other three.

Major Theme

The eternal Son of God has come in the flesh. The gospel was written "that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in His name" (20:31).

The Gospel of John has many theological themes. They include the following:

(1) The Trinity. In his gospel, John is quite explicit about the Persons of the Trinity and their relationships: They are three Persons in one nature. The Father is the Unbegotten, the Son is the Only Begotten (1:18; 3:16, 18), and the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father (15:26).

(2) Glory. The glory of God is preeminently manifested in Christ's earthly ministry—His Person, words, and works—but is also experienced by the Church in the power of the Holy Spirit, the Helper or Paraclete (14:16, 26; 15:26; 16:7).

(3) The spiritual dimension. The mystical, theological perspective dominates this gospel. The revelation of divine life and light is resisted by this age, resulting in great spiritual warfare: the kingdom of God versus "the world" as a fallen entity in rebellion against God.

(4) The sacramental dimension. John stresses the mysterious and sacramental presence and activity of God in the world, linking the saving work of Christ to baptism (3:5) and the Eucharist (6:52–59).

(5) The Church. The Gospel of John testifies to a strong sense of community among the disciples, expressed through the plural "we" (1:14, 16). True disciples are those who believe in Jesus as the incarnate Son of the Father, who are united with Him, and who here and now express the life of divine love given by Christ.

(6) The Paschal Theme. Three Passovers are specifically mentioned in John, hence the tradition that the public ministry of Jesus encompassed a three-year period. During the final Passover, Jesus, the Lamb of God (1:29, 36), leads His followers to a new Passover through His Death and Resurrection.

(7) The Redemption of the World. In John's perspective, the Divine Word, the Son of God, came into the world to save the world and, through the life of the Church, to offer the whole world up to God. Christ and His Church begin this transformation now.

Outline

I. The Witness, John the Baptist (1:1–51)
  A. Prologue (1:1–18)
  B. The mission of John the Baptist (1:19–51)
II. The Word Incarnate Transfigures Creation (2:1–10:42)
  A. The new creation prefigured (2:1–25)
  B. Baptism manifested (3:1–5:47)
  C. The Eucharist manifested: feeding of five thousand (6:1–71)

The Eternal Word

(Gen. 1:1—2:3)

1 In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God.
2 He was in the beginning with God.
3 All things were made through Him, and without Him nothing was made that was made.
4 In Him was life, and the life was the light of men.
5 And the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness did not comprehend[a] it.

John's Witness: The True Light

6 There was a man sent from God, whose name was John.
7 This man came for a witness, to bear witness of the Light, that all through him might believe.
8 He was not that Light, but was sent to bear witness of that Light.
9 That was the true Light which gives light to every man coming into the world.[b] 10 He was in the world, and the world was made through Him, and the world did not know Him.
11 He came to His own,[c] and His own[d] did not receive Him.
12 But as many as received Him, to them He gave the right to become children of God, to those who believe in His name: 13 who were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

The Word Becomes Flesh

14 And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us, and we beheld His glory, the glory as of the only begotten of the Father, full of grace and truth.
15 John bore witness of Him and cried out, saying, "This was He of whom I said, 'He who comes after me is preferred before me, for He was before me.' "

16 And[e] of His fullness we have all received, and grace for grace.
17 For the law was given through Moses, but grace and truth came through Jesus Christ.
18 No one has seen God at any time. The only begotten Son,[f] who is in the bosom of the Father, He has declared Him.

A Voice in the Wilderness

(Matt. 3:1–12; Mark 1:1–8; Luke 3:1–20)

19 Now this is the testimony of John, when the Jews sent priests and Levites from Jerusalem to ask him, "Who are you?"
20 He confessed, and did not deny, but confessed, "I am not the Christ."
21 And they asked him, "What then? Are you Elijah?" He said, "I am not." "Are you the Prophet?" And he answered, "No."
22 Then they said to him, "Who are you, that we may give an answer to those who sent us? What do you say about yourself?"
23 He said: "I am

> 'The voice of one crying in the wilderness:
> "Make straight the way of the LORD*,"* '[g] as the prophet Isaiah said."

24 Now those who were sent were from the Pharisees.
25 And they asked him, saying, "Why then do you baptize if you are not the Christ, nor Elijah, nor the Prophet?"
26 John answered them, saying, "I baptize with water, but there stands One among you whom you do not know.
27 "It is He who, coming after me, is preferred before me, whose sandal strap I am not worthy to loose."
28 These things were done in Bethabara[h] beyond the Jordan, where John was baptizing.

The Lamb of God

(Matt. 3:13–17; Mark 1:9–11; Luke 3:21, 22)

29 The next day John saw Jesus coming toward him, and said, "Behold! The Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world!
30 "This is He of whom I said, 'After me comes a Man who is preferred before me, for He was before me.'

31“I did not know Him; but that He should be revealed to Israel, therefore I came baptizing with water.”
32And John bore witness, saying, “I saw the Spirit descending from heaven like a dove, and He remained upon Him.
33“I did not know Him, but He who sent me to baptize with water said to me, ‘Upon whom you see the Spirit descending, and remaining on Him, this is He who baptizes with the Holy Spirit.’
34“And I have seen and testified that this is the Son of God.”

The First Disciples

35Again, the next day, John stood with two of his disciples.
36And looking at Jesus as He walked, he said, “Behold the Lamb of God!”
37The two disciples heard him speak, and they followed Jesus.
38Then Jesus turned, and seeing them following, said to them, “What do you seek?” They said to Him, “Rabbi” (which is to say, when translated, Teacher), “where are You staying?” 39He said to them, “Come and see.” They came and saw where He was staying, and remained with Him that day (now it was about the tenth hour).
40One of the two who heard John speak, and followed Him, was Andrew, Simon Peter’s brother.
41He first found his own brother Simon, and said to him, “We have found the Messiah” (which is translated, the Christ).
42And he brought him to Jesus. Now when Jesus looked at him, He said, “You are Simon the son of Jonah.[i] You shall be called Cephas” (which is translated, A Stone).

Philip and Nathanael

43The following day Jesus wanted to go to Galilee, and He found Philip and said to him, “Follow Me.”
44Now Philip was from Bethsaida, the city of Andrew and Peter.
45Philip found Nathanael and said to him, “We have found Him of whom Moses in the law, and also the prophets, wrote—Jesus of Nazareth, the son of Joseph.”
46And Nathanael said to him, “Can anything good come out of Nazareth?”
Philip said to him, “Come and see.”
47Jesus saw Nathanael coming toward Him, and said of him, “Behold, an Israelite indeed, in whom is no deceit!”

48 Nathanael said to Him, “How do You know me?” Jesus answered and said to him, “Before Philip called you, when you were under the fig tree, I saw you.”

49 Nathanael answered and said to Him, “Rabbi, You are the Son of God! You are the King of Israel!”

50 Jesus answered and said to him, “Because I said to you, ‘I saw you under the fig tree,’ do you believe? You will see greater things than these.”

51 And He said to him, “Most assuredly, I say to you, hereafter[j] you shall see heaven open, and the angels of God ascending and descending upon the Son of Man.” Christology

John 2

Water Turned to Wine

1 On the third day there was a wedding in Cana of Galilee, and the mother of Jesus was there.

2 Now both Jesus and His disciples were invited to the wedding.

3 And when they ran out of wine, the mother of Jesus said to Him, “They have no wine.”

4 Jesus said to her, “Woman, what does your concern have to do with Me? My hour has not yet come.”

5 His mother said to the servants, “Whatever He says to you, do it.”

6 Now there were set there six waterpots of stone, according to the manner of purification of the Jews, containing twenty or thirty gallons apiece.

7 Jesus said to them, “Fill the waterpots with water.” And they filled them up to the brim.

8 And He said to them, “Draw some out now, and take it to the master of the feast.” And they took it.

9 When the master of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, and did not know where it came from (but the servants who had drawn the water knew), the master of the feast called the bridegroom.

10 And he said to him, “Every man at the beginning sets out the good wine, and when the guests have well drunk, then the inferior. You have kept the good wine until now!”

11 This beginning of signs Jesus did in Cana of Galilee, and manifested His glory; and His disciples believed in Him.

12 After this He went down to Capernaum, He, His mother, His brothers, and His disciples; and they did not stay there many days.

Jesus Cleanses the Temple

(Matt. 21:12–17; Mark 11:15–19; Luke 19:45–48)

13 Now the Passover of the Jews was at hand, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

14 And He found in the temple those who sold oxen and sheep and doves, and the money changers doing business.

15 When He had made a whip of cords, He drove them all out of the temple, with the sheep and the oxen, and poured out the changers' money and overturned the tables.

16 And He said to those who sold doves, "Take these things away! Do not make My Father's house a house of merchandise!"

17 Then His disciples remembered that it was written, "Zeal for Your house has eaten[a] Me up."[b]

18 So the Jews answered and said to Him, "What sign do You show to us, since You do these things?"

19 Jesus answered and said to them, "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up."

20 Then the Jews said, "It has taken forty-six years to build this temple, and will You raise it up in three days?"

21 But He was speaking of the temple of His body.

22 Therefore, when He had risen from the dead, His disciples remembered that He had said this to them;[c] and they believed the Scripture and the word which Jesus had said.

The Discerner of Hearts

23 Now when He was in Jerusalem at the Passover, during the feast, many believed in His name when they saw the signs which He did.

24 But Jesus did not commit Himself to them, because He knew all men,

25 and had no need that anyone should testify of man, for He knew what was in man.

John 3

The New Birth

[1]There was a man of the Pharisees named Nicodemus, a ruler of the Jews.

[2]This man came to Jesus by night and said to Him, “Rabbi, we know that You are a teacher come from God; for no one can do these signs that You do unless God is with him.”

[3]Jesus answered and said to him, “Most assuredly, I say to you, unless one is born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God.”

[4]Nicodemus said to Him, “How can a man be born when he is old? Can he enter a second time into his mother’s womb and be born?”

[5]Jesus answered, “Most assuredly, I say to you, unless one is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God.

[6]“That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.

[7]“Do not marvel that I said to you, ‘You must be born again.’

[8]“The wind blows where it wishes, and you hear the sound of it, but cannot tell where it comes from and where it goes. So is everyone who is born of the Spirit.”

[9]Nicodemus answered and said to Him, “How can these things be?”

[10]Jesus answered and said to him, “Are you the teacher of Israel, and do not know these things?

[11]“Most assuredly, I say to you, We speak what We know and testify what We have seen, and you do not receive Our witness.

[12]“If I have told you earthly things and you do not believe, how will you believe if I tell you heavenly things?

[13]“No one has ascended to heaven but He who came down from heaven, that is, the Son of Man who is in heaven.[a]

[14]“And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up, [15]“that whoever believes in Him should not perish but[b] have eternal life.

[16]“For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.

[17]“For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but that the world through Him might be saved.

[18]“He who believes in Him is not condemned; but he who does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

19“And this is the condemnation, that the light has come into the world, and men loved darkness rather than light, because their deeds were evil.

20“For everyone practicing evil hates the light and does not come to the light, lest his deeds should be exposed.

21“But he who does the truth comes to the light, that his deeds may be clearly seen, that they have been done in God.”

John the Baptist Exalts Christ

22After these things Jesus and His disciples came into the land of Judea, and there He remained with them and baptized.

23Now John also was baptizing in Aenon near Salim, because there was much water there. And they came and were baptized.

24For John had not yet been thrown into prison.

25Then there arose a dispute between some of John’s disciples and the Jews about purification.

26And they came to John and said to him, “Rabbi, He who was with you beyond the Jordan, to whom you have testified—behold, He is baptizing, and all are coming to Him!”

27John answered and said, “A man can receive nothing unless it has been given to him from heaven.

28“You yourselves bear me witness, that I said, ‘I am not the Christ,’ but, ‘I have been sent before Him.’

29“He who has the bride is the bridegroom; but the friend of the bridegroom, who stands and hears him, rejoices greatly because of the bridegroom’s voice. Therefore this joy of mine is fulfilled.

30“He must increase, but I must decrease.

31“He who comes from above is above all; he who is of the earth is earthly and speaks of the earth. He who comes from heaven is above all.

32“And what He has seen and heard, that He testifies; and no one receives His testimony.

33“He who has received His testimony has certified that God is true.

34“For He whom God has sent speaks the words of God, for God does not give the Spirit by measure.

35“The Father loves the Son, and has given all things into His hand.

36“He who believes in the Son has everlasting life; and he who does not believe the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abides on him.” The New Birth

John 4

A Samaritan Woman Meets Her Messiah

1 Therefore, when the Lord knew that the Pharisees had heard that Jesus made and baptized more disciples than John 2 (though Jesus Himself did not baptize, but His disciples),
3 He left Judea and departed again to Galilee.
4 But He needed to go through Samaria.
5 So He came to a city of Samaria which is called Sychar, near the plot of ground that Jacob gave to his son Joseph.
6 Now Jacob's well was there. Jesus therefore, being wearied from His journey, sat thus by the well. It was about the sixth hour.
7 A woman of Samaria came to draw water. Jesus said to her, "Give Me a drink."
8 For His disciples had gone away into the city to buy food.
9 Then the woman of Samaria said to Him, "How is it that You, being a Jew, ask a drink from me, a Samaritan woman?" For Jews have no dealings with Samaritans.
10 Jesus answered and said to her, "If you knew the gift of God, and who it is who says to you, 'Give Me a drink,' you would have asked Him, and He would have given you living water." 11 The woman said to Him, "Sir, You have nothing to draw with, and the well is deep. Where then do You get that living water?
12 "Are You greater than our father Jacob, who gave us the well, and drank from it himself, as well as his sons and his livestock?" 13 Jesus answered and said to her, "Whoever drinks of this water will thirst again,
14 "but whoever drinks of the water that I shall give him will never thirst.
But the water that I shall give him will become in him a fountain of water springing up into everlasting life." 15 The woman said to Him, "Sir, give me this water, that I may not thirst, nor come here to draw."
16 Jesus said to her, "Go, call your husband, and come here."
17 The woman answered and said, "I have no husband." Jesus said to her,
"You have well said, 'I have no husband,' 18 "for you have had five husbands, and the one whom you now have is not your husband; in that you spoke truly."

19The woman said to Him, "Sir, I perceive that You are a prophet.

20"Our fathers worshiped on this mountain, and you Jews say that in Jerusalem is the place where one ought to worship."

21Jesus said to her, "Woman, believe Me, the hour is coming when you will neither on this mountain, nor in Jerusalem, worship the Father.

22"You worship what you do not know; we know what we worship, for salvation is of the Jews.

23"But the hour is coming, and now is, when the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth; for the Father is seeking such to worship Him.

24"God is Spirit, and those who worship Him must worship in spirit and truth."

25The woman said to Him, "I know that Messiah is coming" (who is called Christ). "When He comes, He will tell us all things."

26Jesus said to her, "I who speak to you am He."

The Whitened Harvest

27And at this point His disciples came, and they marveled that He talked with a woman; yet no one said, "What do You seek?" or, "Why are You talking with her?"

28The woman then left her waterpot, went her way into the city, and said to the men,

29"Come, see a Man who told me all things that I ever did. Could this be the Christ?"

30Then they went out of the city and came to Him.

31In the meantime His disciples urged Him, saying, "Rabbi, eat."

32But He said to them, "I have food to eat of which you do not know."

33Therefore the disciples said to one another, "Has anyone brought Him anything to eat?"

34Jesus said to them, "My food is to do the will of Him who sent Me, and to finish His work.

35"Do you not say, 'There are still four months and then comes the harvest'? Behold, I say to you, lift up your eyes and look at the fields, for they are already white for harvest!

36"And he who reaps receives wages, and gathers fruit for eternal life, that both he who sows and he who reaps may rejoice together.

37 “For in this the saying is true: ‘One sows and another reaps.’
38 “I sent you to reap that for which you have not labored; others have labored, and you have entered into their labors.”

The Savior of the World

39 And many of the Samaritans of that city believed in Him because of the word of the woman who testified, “He told me all that I ever did.”
40 So when the Samaritans had come to Him, they urged Him to stay with them; and He stayed there two days.
41 And many more believed because of His own word.
42 Then they said to the woman, “Now we believe, not because of what you said, for we ourselves have heard Him and we know that this is indeed the Christ,[a] the Savior of the world.”

Welcome at Galilee

43 Now after the two days He departed from there and went to Galilee.
44 For Jesus Himself testified that a prophet has no honor in his own country.
45 So when He came to Galilee, the Galileans received Him, having seen all the things He did in Jerusalem at the feast; for they also had gone to the feast.

A Nobleman’s Son Healed

46 So Jesus came again to Cana of Galilee where He had made the water wine. And there was a certain nobleman whose son was sick at Capernaum.
47 When he heard that Jesus had come out of Judea into Galilee, he went to Him and implored Him to come down and heal his son, for he was at the point of death.
48 Then Jesus said to him, “Unless you people see signs and wonders, you will by no means believe.”
49 The nobleman said to Him, “Sir, come down before my child dies!”
50 Jesus said to him, “Go your way; your son lives.” So the man believed the word that Jesus spoke to him, and he went his way.
51 And as he was now going down, his servants met him and told him, saying, “Your son lives!”
52 Then he inquired of them the hour when he got better. And they said to him, “Yesterday at the seventh hour the fever left him.”

53So the father knew that it was at the same hour in which Jesus said to him, “Your son lives.” And he himself believed, and his whole household.

54This again is the second sign Jesus did when He had come out of Judea into Galilee.

John 5

A Man Healed at the Pool of Bethesda

1After this there was a feast of the Jews, and Jesus went up to Jerusalem.

2Now there is in Jerusalem by the Sheep Gate a pool, which is called in Hebrew, Bethesda,[a] having five porches.

3In these lay a great multitude of sick people, blind, lame, paralyzed, waiting for the moving of the water.

4For an angel went down at a certain time into the pool and stirred up the water; then whoever stepped in first, after the stirring of the water, was made well of whatever disease he had.[b]

5Now a certain man was there who had an infirmity thirty-eight years.

6When Jesus saw him lying there, and knew that he already had been in that condition a long time, He said to him, “Do you want to be made well?”

7The sick man answered Him, “Sir, I have no man to put me into the pool when the water is stirred up; but while I am coming, another steps down before me.”

8Jesus said to him, “Rise, take up your bed and walk.”

9And immediately the man was made well, took up his bed, and walked. And that day was the Sabbath.

10The Jews therefore said to him who was cured, “It is the Sabbath; it is not lawful for you to carry your bed.”

11He answered them, “He who made me well said to me, ‘Take up your bed and walk.’ ”

12Then they asked him, “Who is the Man who said to you, ‘Take up your bed and walk’?”

13But the one who was healed did not know who it was, for Jesus had withdrawn, a multitude being in that place.

14Afterward Jesus found him in the temple, and said to him, “See, you have been made well. Sin no more, lest a worse thing come upon you.”

15The man departed and told the Jews that it was Jesus who had made him well.

Honor the Father and the Son

16For this reason the Jews persecuted Jesus, and sought to kill Him,[c] because He had done these things on the Sabbath.

17But Jesus answered them, “My Father has been working until now, and I have been working.”

18Therefore the Jews sought all the more to kill Him, because He not only broke the Sabbath, but also said that God was His Father, making Himself equal with God.

19Then Jesus answered and said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, the Son can do nothing of Himself, but what He sees the Father do; for whatever He does, the Son also does in like manner.

20“For the Father loves the Son, and shows Him all things that He Himself does; and He will show Him greater works than these, that you may marvel.

21“For as the Father raises the dead and gives life to them, even so the Son gives life to whom He will.

22“For the Father judges no one, but has committed all judgment to the Son, 23“that all should honor the Son just as they honor the Father. He who does not honor the Son does not honor the Father who sent Him.

Life and Judgment Are Through the Son

24“Most assuredly, I say to you, he who hears My word and believes in Him who sent Me has everlasting life, and shall not come into judgment, but has passed from death into life.

25“Most assuredly, I say to you, the hour is coming, and now is, when the dead will hear the voice of the Son of God; and those who hear will live.

26“For as the Father has life in Himself, so He has granted the Son to have life in Himself, 27“and has given Him authority to execute judgment also, because He is the Son of Man.

28“Do not marvel at this; for the hour is coming in which all who are in the graves will hear His voice

29“and come forth—those who have done good, to the resurrection of life, and those who have done evil, to the resurrection of condemnation.

30“I can of Myself do nothing. As I hear, I judge; and My judgment is righteous, because I do not seek My own will but the will of the Father who sent Me.

The Fourfold Witness

31 "If I bear witness of Myself, My witness is not true.
32 "There is another who bears witness of Me, and I know that the witness which He witnesses of Me is true.
33 "You have sent to John, and he has borne witness to the truth.
34 "Yet I do not receive testimony from man, but I say these things that you may be saved.
35 "He was the burning and shining lamp, and you were willing for a time to rejoice in his light.
36 "But I have a greater witness than John's; for the works which the Father has given Me to finish—the very works that I do—bear witness of Me, that the Father has sent Me.
37 "And the Father Himself, who sent Me, has testified of Me. You have neither heard His voice at any time, nor seen His form.
38 "But you do not have His word abiding in you, because whom He sent, Him you do not believe.
39 "You search the Scriptures, for in them you think you have eternal life; and these are they which testify of Me.
40 "But you are not willing to come to Me that you may have life.
41 "I do not receive honor from men.
42 "But I know you, that you do not have the love of God in you.
43 "I have come in My Father's name, and you do not receive Me; if another comes in his own name, him you will receive.
44 "How can you believe, who receive honor from one another, and do not seek the honor that comes from the only God?
45 "Do not think that I shall accuse you to the Father; there is one who accuses you—Moses, in whom you trust.
46 "For if you believed Moses, you would believe Me; for he wrote about Me.
47 "But if you do not believe his writings, how will you believe My words?"

Feeding the Five Thousand

(Matt. 14:13–21; Mark 6:30–44; Luke 9:10–17)

1 After these things Jesus went over the Sea of Galilee, which is the Sea of Tiberias.
2 Then a great multitude followed Him, because they saw His signs which He performed on those who were diseased.
3 And Jesus went up on the mountain, and there He sat with His disciples.
4 Now the Passover, a feast of the Jews, was near.
5 Then Jesus lifted up His eyes, and seeing a great multitude coming toward Him, He said to Philip, "Where shall we buy bread, that these may eat?"
6 But this He said to test him, for He Himself knew what He would do.
7 Philip answered Him, "Two hundred denarii worth of bread is not sufficient for them, that every one of them may have a little."
8 One of His disciples, Andrew, Simon Peter's brother, said to Him, 9 "There is a lad here who has five barley loaves and two small fish, but what are they among so many?"
10 Then Jesus said, "Make the people sit down." Now there was much grass in the place. So the men sat down, in number about five thousand.
11 And Jesus took the loaves, and when He had given thanks He distributed them to the disciples, and the disciples[a] to those sitting down; and likewise of the fish, as much as they wanted.
12 So when they were filled, He said to His disciples, "Gather up the fragments that remain, so that nothing is lost." 13 Therefore they gathered them up, and filled twelve baskets with the fragments of the five barley loaves which were left over by those who had eaten.
14 Then those men, when they had seen the sign that Jesus did, said, "This is truly the Prophet who is to come into the world."

Jesus Walks on the Sea

(Matt. 14:22–33; Mark 6:45–52)

15 Therefore when Jesus perceived that they were about to come and take Him by force to make Him king, He departed again to the mountain by Himself alone.
16 Now when evening came, His disciples went down to the sea, 17 got into the boat, and went over the sea toward Capernaum. And it was already dark, and Jesus had not come to them.

18 Then the sea arose because a great wind was blowing.

19 So when they had rowed about three or four miles,[b] they saw Jesus walking on the sea and drawing near the boat; and they were afraid.

20 But He said to them, “It is I; do not be afraid.”

21 Then they willingly received Him into the boat, and immediately the boat was at the land where they were going.

The Bread from Heaven

22 On the following day, when the people who were standing on the other side of the sea saw that there was no other boat there, except that one which His disciples had entered,[c] and that Jesus had not entered the boat with His disciples, but His disciples had gone away alone—

23 however, other boats came from Tiberias, near the place where they ate bread after the Lord had given thanks—

24 when the people therefore saw that Jesus was not there, nor His disciples, they also got into boats and came to Capernaum, seeking Jesus.

25 And when they found Him on the other side of the sea, they said to Him, “Rabbi, when did You come here?”

26 Jesus answered them and said, “Most assuredly, I say to you, you seek Me, not because you saw the signs, but because you ate of the loaves and were filled.

27 “Do not labor for the food which perishes, but for the food which endures to everlasting life, which the Son of Man will give you, because God the Father has set His seal on Him.”

28 Then they said to Him, “What shall we do, that we may work the works of God?”

29 Jesus answered and said to them, “This is the work of God, that you believe in Him whom He sent.”

30 Therefore they said to Him, “What sign will You perform then, that we may see it and believe You? What work will You do?

31 “Our fathers ate the manna in the desert; as it is written, ‘He gave them bread from heaven to eat.’ ”[d]

32 Then Jesus said to them, “Most assuredly, I say to you, Moses did not give you the bread from heaven, but My Father gives you the true bread from heaven.

33 “For the bread of God is He who comes down from heaven and gives life to the world.”

34Then they said to Him, “Lord, give us this bread always.”

35And Jesus said to them, “I am the bread of life. He who comes to Me shall never hunger, and he who believes in Me shall never thirst.

36“But I said to you that you have seen Me and yet do not believe.

37“All that the Father gives Me will come to Me, and the one who comes to Me I will by no means cast out.

38“For I have come down from heaven, not to do My own will, but the will of Him who sent Me.

39“This is the will of the Father who sent Me, that of all He has given Me I should lose nothing, but should raise it up at the last day.

40“And this is the will of Him who sent Me, that everyone who sees the Son and believes in Him may have everlasting life; and I will raise him up at the last day.”

Rejected by His Own

41The Jews then complained about Him, because He said, “I am the bread which came down from heaven.”

42And they said, “Is not this Jesus, the son of Joseph, whose father and mother we know? How is it then that He says, ‘I have come down from heaven’?”

43Jesus therefore answered and said to them, “Do not murmur among yourselves.

44“No one can come to Me unless the Father who sent Me draws him; and I will raise him up at the last day.

45“It is written in the prophets, ‘And they shall all be taught by God.’[e] Therefore everyone who has heard and learned[f] from the Father comes to Me.

46“Not that anyone has seen the Father, except He who is from God; He has seen the Father.

47“Most assuredly, I say to you, he who believes in Me[g] has everlasting life.

48“I am the bread of life.

49“Your fathers ate the manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

50“This is the bread which comes down from heaven, that one may eat of it and not die.

51“I am the living bread which came down from heaven. If anyone eats of this bread, he will live forever; and the bread that I shall give is My flesh, which I shall give for the life of the world."

52The Jews therefore quarreled among themselves, saying, "How can this Man give us His flesh to eat?"

53Then Jesus said to them, "Most assuredly, I say to you, unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in you.

54"Whoever eats My flesh and drinks My blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day.

55"For My flesh is food indeed,[h] and My blood is drink indeed.

56"He who eats My flesh and drinks My blood abides in Me, and I in him.

57"As the living Father sent Me, and I live because of the Father, so he who feeds on Me will live because of Me.

58"This is the bread which came down from heaven—not as your fathers ate the manna, and are dead. He who eats this bread will live forever."

59These things He said in the synagogue as He taught in Capernaum.

Many Disciples Turn Away

60Therefore many of His disciples, when they heard this, said, "This is a hard saying; who can understand it?"

61When Jesus knew in Himself that His disciples complained about this, He said to them, "Does this offend you?

62"What then if you should see the Son of Man ascend where He was before?

63"It is the Spirit who gives life; the flesh profits nothing. The words that I speak to you are spirit, and they are life.

64"But there are some of you who do not believe." For Jesus knew from the beginning who they were who did not believe, and who would betray Him.

65And He said, "Therefore I have said to you that no one can come to Me unless it has been granted to him by My Father."

66From that time many of His disciples went back and walked with Him no more.

67Then Jesus said to the twelve, "Do you also want to go away?"

68But Simon Peter answered Him, "Lord, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life.

69"Also we have come to believe and know that You are the Christ, the Son of the living God."[i]

70Jesus answered them, "Did I not choose you, the twelve, and one of you is a devil?”

71He spoke of Judas Iscariot, the son of Simon, for it was he who would betray Him, being one of the twelve.

John 7

Jesus’ Brothers Disbelieve

1After these things Jesus walked in Galilee; for He did not want to walk in Judea, because the Jews[a] sought to kill Him.

2Now the Jews’ Feast of Tabernacles was at hand.

3His brothers therefore said to Him, “Depart from here and go into Judea, that Your disciples also may see the works that You are doing.

4“For no one does anything in secret while he himself seeks to be known openly. If You do these things, show Yourself to the world.”

5For even His brothers did not believe in Him.

6Then Jesus said to them, “My time has not yet come, but your time is always ready.

7“The world cannot hate you, but it hates Me because I testify of it that its works are evil.

8“You go up to this feast. I am not yet[b] going up to this feast, for My time has not yet fully come.”

9When He had said these things to them, He remained in Galilee.

The Heavenly Scholar

10But when His brothers had gone up, then He also went up to the feast, not openly, but as it were in secret.

11Then the Jews sought Him at the feast, and said, “Where is He?”

12And there was much complaining among the people concerning Him. Some said, “He is good”; others said, “No, on the contrary, He deceives the people.”

13However, no one spoke openly of Him for fear of the Jews.

14Now about the middle of the feast Jesus went up into the temple and taught.

15And the Jews marveled, saying, “How does this Man know letters, having never studied?”

16 Jesus[c] answered them and said, “My doctrine is not Mine, but His who sent Me.
17 “If anyone wills to do His will, he shall know concerning the doctrine, whether it is from God or whether I speak on My own authority.
18 “He who speaks from himself seeks his own glory; but He who seeks the glory of the One who sent Him is true, and no unrighteousness is in Him.
19 “Did not Moses give you the law, yet none of you keeps the law? Why do you seek to kill Me?” 20 The people answered and said, “You have a demon. Who is seeking to kill You?”
21 Jesus answered and said to them, “I did one work, and you all marvel.
22 “Moses therefore gave you circumcision (not that it is from Moses, but from the fathers), and you circumcise a man on the Sabbath.
23 “If a man receives circumcision on the Sabbath, so that the law of Moses should not be broken, are you angry with Me because I made a man completely well on the Sabbath?
24 “Do not judge according to appearance, but judge with righteous judgment.”

Could This Be the Christ?

25 Now some of them from Jerusalem said, “Is this not He whom they seek to kill?
26 “But look! He speaks boldly, and they say nothing to Him. Do the rulers know indeed that this is truly[d] the Christ?
27 “However, we know where this Man is from; but when the Christ comes, no one knows where He is from.”
28 Then Jesus cried out, as He taught in the temple, saying, “You both know Me, and you know where I am from; and I have not come of Myself, but He who sent Me is true, whom you do not know.
29 “But[e] I know Him, for I am from Him, and He sent Me.”
30 Therefore they sought to take Him; but no one laid a hand on Him, because His hour had not yet come.
31 And many of the people believed in Him, and said, “When the Christ comes, will He do more signs than these which this Man has done?”

Jesus and the Religious Leaders

32The Pharisees heard the crowd murmuring these things concerning Him, and the Pharisees and the chief priests sent officers to take Him.

33Then Jesus said to them,[f] "I shall be with you a little while longer, and then I go to Him who sent Me.

34"You will seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you cannot come."

35Then the Jews said among themselves, "Where does He intend to go that we shall not find Him? Does He intend to go to the Dispersion among the Greeks and teach the Greeks?

36"What is this thing that He said, 'You will seek Me and not find Me, and where I am you cannot come'?"

The Promise of the Holy Spirit

37On the last day, that great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried out, saying, "If anyone thirsts, let him come to Me and drink.

38"He who believes in Me, as the Scripture has said, out of his heart will flow rivers of living water."

39But this He spoke concerning the Spirit, whom those believing[g] in Him would receive; for the Holy[h] Spirit was not yet given, because Jesus was not yet glorified.

Who Is He?

40Therefore many[i] from the crowd, when they heard this saying, said, "Truly this is the Prophet."

41Others said, "This is the Christ." But some said, "Will the Christ come out of Galilee?

42"Has not the Scripture said that the Christ comes from the seed of David and from the town of Bethlehem, where David was?"

43So there was a division among the people because of Him.

44Now some of them wanted to take Him, but no one laid hands on Him.

Rejected by the Authorities

45Then the officers came to the chief priests and Pharisees, who said to them, "Why have you not brought Him?"

46The officers answered, "No man ever spoke like this Man!"

47Then the Pharisees answered them, "Are you also deceived?

48"Have any of the rulers or the Pharisees believed in Him?

49“But this crowd that does not know the law is accursed.”

50Nicodemus (he who came to Jesus by night,[j] being one of them) said to them,

51“Does our law judge a man before it hears him and knows what he is doing?”

52They answered and said to him, “Are you also from Galilee? Search and look, for no prophet has arisen[k] out of Galilee.”

An Adulteress Faces the Light of the World

53And everyone went to his own house.[l]

John 8

1But Jesus went to the Mount of Olives.

2Now early[a] in the morning He came again into the temple, and all the people came to Him; and He sat down and taught them.

3Then the scribes and Pharisees brought to Him a woman caught in adultery. And when they had set her in the midst, 4they said to Him, “Teacher, this woman was caught[b] in adultery, in the very act.

5“Now Moses, in the law, commanded[c] us that such should be stoned.[d] But what do You say?”[e]

6This they said, testing Him, that they might have something of which to accuse Him. But Jesus stooped down and wrote on the ground with His finger, as though He did not hear.[f]

7So when they continued asking Him, He raised Himself up[g] and said to them, “He who is without sin among you, let him throw a stone at her first.”

8And again He stooped down and wrote on the ground.

9Then those who heard it, being convicted by their conscience,[h] went out one by one, beginning with the oldest even to the last. And Jesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the midst.

10When Jesus had raised Himself up and saw no one but the woman, He said to her,[i] “Woman, where are those accusers of yours?[j] Has no one condemned you?”

11She said, “No one, Lord.” And Jesus said to her, “Neither do I condemn you; go and[k] sin no more.”

12 Then Jesus spoke to them again, saying, “I am the light of the world. He who follows Me shall not walk in darkness, but have the light of life.”

Jesus Defends His Self-Witness

13 The Pharisees therefore said to Him, “You bear witness of Yourself;
Your witness is not true.”
14 Jesus answered and said to them, “Even if I bear witness of Myself, My witness is true, for I know where I came from and where I am going; but you do not know where I come from and where I am going.
15 “You judge according to the flesh; I judge no one.
16 “And yet if I do judge, My judgment is true; for I am not alone, but I am with the Father who sent Me.
17 “It is also written in your law that the testimony of two men is true.
18 “I am One who bears witness of Myself, and the Father who sent Me bears witness of Me.”
19 Then they said to Him, “Where is Your Father?” Jesus answered, “You know neither Me nor My Father. If you had known Me, you would have known My Father also.”
20 These words Jesus spoke in the treasury, as He taught in the temple; and no one laid hands on Him, for His hour had not yet come.

Jesus Predicts His Departure

21 Then Jesus said to them again, “I am going away, and you will seek Me, and will die in your sin. Where I go you cannot come.” 22 So the Jews said, “Will He kill Himself, because He says, ‘Where I go you cannot come’?”
23 And He said to them, “You are from beneath; I am from above. You are of this world; I am not of this world.
24 “Therefore I said to you that you will die in your sins; for if you do not believe that I am He, you will die in your sins.” 25 Then they said to Him, “Who are You?” And Jesus said to them, “Just what I have been saying to you from the beginning.
26 “I have many things to say and to judge concerning you, but He who sent Me is true; and I speak to the world those things which I heard from Him.”
27 They did not understand that He spoke to them of the Father.
28 Then Jesus said to them, “When you lift up the Son of Man, then you will know that I am He, and that I do nothing of Myself; but as My Father taught Me, I speak these things.

29"And He who sent Me is with Me. The Father has not left Me alone, for I always do those things that please Him."
30As He spoke these words, many believed in Him.

The Truth Shall Make You Free

31Then Jesus said to those Jews who believed Him, "If you abide in My word, you are My disciples indeed.
32"And you shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."
33They answered Him, "We are Abraham's descendants, and have never been in bondage to anyone. How can You say, 'You will be made free'?"
34Jesus answered them, "Most assuredly, I say to you, whoever commits sin is a slave of sin.
35"And a slave does not abide in the house forever, but a son abides forever.
36"Therefore if the Son makes you free, you shall be free indeed.

Abraham's Seed and Satan's

37"I know that you are Abraham's descendants, but you seek to kill Me, because My word has no place in you.
38"I speak what I have seen with My Father, and you do what you have seen with[l] your father."
39They answered and said to Him, "Abraham is our father." Jesus said to them, "If you were Abraham's children, you would do the works of Abraham.
40"But now you seek to kill Me, a Man who has told you the truth which I heard from God. Abraham did not do this.
41"You do the deeds of your father." Then they said to Him, "We were not born of fornication; we have one Father—God."
42Jesus said to them, "If God were your Father, you would love Me, for I proceeded forth and came from God; nor have I come of Myself, but He sent Me.
43"Why do you not understand My speech? Because you are not able to listen to My word.
44"You are of your father the devil, and the desires of your father you want to do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and does not stand in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaks a lie, he speaks from his own resources, for he is a liar and the father of it.

45"But because I tell the truth, you do not believe Me.

46"Which of you convicts Me of sin? And if I tell the truth, why do you not believe Me?

47"He who is of God hears God's words; therefore you do not hear, because you are not of God."

Before Abraham Was, I AM

48Then the Jews answered and said to Him, "Do we not say rightly that You are a Samaritan and have a demon?"

49Jesus answered, "I do not have a demon; but I honor My Father, and you dishonor Me.

50"And I do not seek My own glory; there is One who seeks and judges.

51"Most assuredly, I say to you, if anyone keeps My word he shall never see death."

52Then the Jews said to Him, "Now we know that You have a demon! Abraham is dead, and the prophets; and You say, 'If anyone keeps My word he shall never taste death.'

53"Are You greater than our father Abraham, who is dead? And the prophets are dead. Who do You make Yourself out to be?"

54Jesus answered, "If I honor Myself, My honor is nothing. It is My Father who honors Me, of whom you say that He is your[m] God.

55"Yet you have not known Him, but I know Him. And if I say, 'I do not know Him,' I shall be a liar like you; but I do know Him and keep His word.

56"Your father Abraham rejoiced to see My day, and he saw it and was glad."

57Then the Jews said to Him, "You are not yet fifty years old, and have You seen Abraham?"

58Jesus said to them, "Most assuredly, I say to you, before Abraham was, I AM."

59Then they took up stones to throw at Him; but Jesus hid Himself and went out of the temple,[n] going through the midst of them, and so passed by.

John 9

A Man Born Blind Receives Sight

[1]Now as Jesus passed by, He saw a man who was blind from birth.

[2]And His disciples asked Him, saying, “Rabbi, who sinned, this man or his parents, that he was born blind?”

[3]Jesus answered, “Neither this man nor his parents sinned, but that the works of God should be revealed in him.

[4]“I[a] must work the works of Him who sent Me while it is day; the night is coming when no one can work.

[5]“As long as I am in the world, I am the light of the world.”

[6]When He had said these things, He spat on the ground and made clay with the saliva; and He anointed the eyes of the blind man with the clay.

[7]And He said to him, “Go, wash in the pool of Siloam” (which is translated, Sent). So he went and washed, and came back seeing.

[8]Therefore the neighbors and those who previously had seen that he was blind[b] said, “Is not this he who sat and begged?”

[9]Some said, “This is he.” Others said, “He is like him.”[c] He said, “I am he.”

[10]Therefore they said to him, “How were your eyes opened?”

[11]He answered and said, “A Man called Jesus made clay and anointed my eyes and said to me, ‘Go to the pool of[d] Siloam and wash.’ So I went and washed, and I received sight.”

[12]Then they said to him, “Where is He?” He said, “I do not know.”

The Pharisees Excommunicate the Healed Man

[13]They brought him who formerly was blind to the Pharisees.

[14]Now it was a Sabbath when Jesus made the clay and opened his eyes.

[15]Then the Pharisees also asked him again how he had received his sight. He said to them, “He put clay on my eyes, and I washed, and I see.”

[16]Therefore some of the Pharisees said, “This Man is not from God, because He does not keep the Sabbath.” Others said, “How can a man who is a sinner do such signs?” And there was a division among them.

[17]They said to the blind man again, “What do you say about Him because He opened your eyes?” He said, “He is a prophet.”

[18]But the Jews did not believe concerning him, that he had been blind and received his sight, until they called the parents of him who had received his sight.

[19]And they asked them, saying, “Is this your son, who you say was born blind? How then does he now see?”

20 His parents answered them and said, “We know that this is our son, and that he was born blind; 21 “but by what means he now sees we do not know, or who opened his eyes we do not know. He is of age; ask him. He will speak for himself.” 22 His parents said these things because they feared the Jews, for the Jews had agreed already that if anyone confessed that He was Christ, he would be put out of the synagogue.
23 Therefore his parents said, “He is of age; ask him.”
24 So they again called the man who was blind, and said to him, “Give God the glory! We know that this Man is a sinner.” 25 He answered and said, “Whether He is a sinner or not I do not know.
One thing I know: that though I was blind, now I see.”
26 Then they said to him again, “What did He do to you? How did He open your eyes?”
27 He answered them, “I told you already, and you did not listen. Why do you want to hear it again? Do you also want to become His disciples?” 28 Then they reviled him and said, “You are His disciple, but we are Moses’ disciples.
29 “We know that God spoke to Moses; as for this fellow, we do not know where He is from.”
30 The man answered and said to them, “Why, this is a marvelous thing, that you do not know where He is from; yet He has opened my eyes!
31 “Now we know that God does not hear sinners; but if anyone is a worshiper of God and does His will, He hears him.
32 “Since the world began it has been unheard of that anyone opened the eyes of one who was born blind.
33 “If this Man were not from God, He could do nothing.”
34 They answered and said to him, “You were completely born in sins, and are you teaching us?” And they cast him out.

True Vision and True Blindness

35 Jesus heard that they had cast him out; and when He had found him, He said to him, “Do you believe in the Son of God?”[e] 36 He answered and said, “Who is He, Lord, that I may believe in Him?” 37 And Jesus said to him, “You have both seen Him and it is He who is talking with you.”
38 Then he said, “Lord, I believe!” And he worshiped Him.

39 And Jesus said, “For judgment I have come into this world, that those who do not see may see, and that those who see may be made blind.” 40 Then some of the Pharisees who were with Him heard these words, and said to Him, “Are we blind also?”
41 Jesus said to them, “If you were blind, you would have no sin; but now you say, ‘We see.’ Therefore your sin remains.

John 10

Jesus the True Shepherd

1 “Most assuredly, I say to you, he who does not enter the sheepfold by the door, but climbs up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber.
2 “But he who enters by the door is the shepherd of the sheep.
3 “To him the doorkeeper opens, and the sheep hear his voice; and he calls his own sheep by name and leads them out.
4 “And when he brings out his own sheep, he goes before them; and the sheep follow him, for they know his voice.
5 “Yet they will by no means follow a stranger, but will flee from him, for they do not know the voice of strangers.”
6 Jesus used this illustration, but they did not understand the things which He spoke to them.

Jesus the Good Shepherd

7 Then Jesus said to them again, “Most assuredly, I say to you, I am the door of the sheep.
8 “All who ever came before Me[a] are thieves and robbers, but the sheep did not hear them.
9 “I am the door. If anyone enters by Me, he will be saved, and will go in and out and find pasture.
10 “The thief does not come except to steal, and to kill, and to destroy. I have come that they may have life, and that they may have it more abundantly.
11 “I am the good shepherd. The good shepherd gives His life for the sheep.
12 “But a hireling, he who is not the shepherd, one who does not own the sheep, sees the wolf coming and leaves the sheep and flees; and the wolf catches the sheep and scatters them.

13“The hireling flees because he is a hireling and does not care about the sheep.
14“I am the good shepherd; and I know My sheep, and am known by My own.
15“As the Father knows Me, even so I know the Father; and I lay down My life for the sheep.
16“And other sheep I have which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they will hear My voice; and there will be one flock and one shepherd.
17“Therefore My Father loves Me, because I lay down My life that I may take it again.
18“No one takes it from Me, but I lay it down of Myself. I have power to lay it down, and I have power to take it again. This command I have received from My Father.”
19Therefore there was a division again among the Jews because of these sayings.
20And many of them said, “He has a demon and is mad. Why do you listen to Him?”
21Others said, “These are not the words of one who has a demon. Can a demon open the eyes of the blind?”

The Shepherd Knows His Sheep

22Now it was the Feast of Dedication in Jerusalem, and it was winter.
23And Jesus walked in the temple, in Solomon’s porch.
24Then the Jews surrounded Him and said to Him, “How long do You keep us in doubt? If You are the Christ, tell us plainly.”
25Jesus answered them, “I told you, and you do not believe. The works that I do in My Father’s name, they bear witness of Me.
26“But you do not believe, because you are not of My sheep, as I said to you.[b] 27“My sheep hear My voice, and I know them, and they follow Me.
28“And I give them eternal life, and they shall never perish; neither shall anyone snatch them out of My hand.
29“My Father, who has given them to Me, is greater than all; and no one is able to snatch them out of My Father’s hand.
30“I and My Father are one.”

Renewed Efforts to Stone Jesus

31Then the Jews took up stones again to stone Him.

32Jesus answered them, “Many good works I have shown you from My Father. For which of those works do you stone Me?”

33The Jews answered Him, saying, “For a good work we do not stone You, but for blasphemy, and because You, being a Man, make Yourself God.”

34Jesus answered them, “Is it not written in your law, ‘I said, “You are gods” ’?[c]

35“If He called them gods, to whom the word of God came (and the Scripture cannot be broken), 36“do you say of Him whom the Father sanctified and sent into the world, ‘You are blaspheming,’ because I said, ‘I am the Son of God’?

37“If I do not do the works of My Father, do not believe Me;

38“but if I do, though you do not believe Me, believe the works, that you may know and believe[d] that the Father is in Me, and I in Him.”

39Therefore they sought again to seize Him, but He escaped out of their hand.

The Believers Beyond Jordan

40And He went away again beyond the Jordan to the place where John was baptizing at first, and there He stayed.

41Then many came to Him and said, “John performed no sign, but all the things that John spoke about this Man were true.”

42And many believed in Him there.

John 11

The Death of Lazarus

1Now a certain man was sick, Lazarus of Bethany, the town of Mary and her sister Martha.

2It was that Mary who anointed the Lord with fragrant oil and wiped His feet with her hair, whose brother Lazarus was sick.

3Therefore the sisters sent to Him, saying, “Lord, behold, he whom You love is sick.”

4When Jesus heard that, He said, “This sickness is not unto death, but for the glory of God, that the Son of God may be glorified through it."

5 Now Jesus loved Martha and her sister and Lazarus.

6 So, when He heard that he was sick, He stayed two more days in the place where He was.

7 Then after this He said to the disciples, "Let us go to Judea again."

8 The disciples said to Him, "Rabbi, lately the Jews sought to stone You, and are You going there again?"

9 Jesus answered, "Are there not twelve hours in the day? If anyone walks in the day, he does not stumble, because he sees the light of this world.

10 "But if one walks in the night, he stumbles, because the light is not in him."

11 These things He said, and after that He said to them, "Our friend Lazarus sleeps, but I go that I may wake him up."

12 Then His disciples said, "Lord, if he sleeps he will get well."

13 However, Jesus spoke of his death, but they thought that He was speaking about taking rest in sleep.

14 Then Jesus said to them plainly, "Lazarus is dead.

15 "And I am glad for your sakes that I was not there, that you may believe. Nevertheless let us go to him."

16 Then Thomas, who is called the Twin, said to his fellow disciples, "Let us also go, that we may die with Him."

I Am the Resurrection and the Life

17 So when Jesus came, He found that he had already been in the tomb four days.

18 Now Bethany was near Jerusalem, about two miles[a] away.

19 And many of the Jews had joined the women around Martha and Mary, to comfort them concerning their brother.

20 Then Martha, as soon as she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met Him, but Mary was sitting in the house.

21 Now Martha said to Jesus, "Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died.

22 "But even now I know that whatever You ask of God, God will give You."

23 Jesus said to her, "Your brother will rise again."

24 Martha said to Him, "I know that he will rise again in the resurrection at the last day."

25 Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in Me, though he may die, he shall live.
26 “And whoever lives and believes in Me shall never die. Do you believe this?”
27 She said to Him, “Yes, Lord, I believe that You are the Christ, the Son of God, who is to come into the world.”

Jesus and Death, the Last Enemy

28 And when she had said these things, she went her way and secretly called Mary her sister, saying, “The Teacher has come and is calling for you.”
29 As soon as she heard that, she arose quickly and came to Him.
30 Now Jesus had not yet come into the town, but was[b] in the place where Martha met Him.
31 Then the Jews who were with her in the house, and comforting her, when they saw that Mary rose up quickly and went out, followed her, saying, “She is going to the tomb to weep there.”[c] 32 Then, when Mary came where Jesus was, and saw Him, she fell down at His feet, saying to Him, “Lord, if You had been here, my brother would not have died.”
33 Therefore, when Jesus saw her weeping, and the Jews who came with her weeping, He groaned in the spirit and was troubled.
34 And He said, “Where have you laid him?” They said to Him, “Lord, come and see.”
35 Jesus wept.
36 Then the Jews said, “See how He loved him!”
37 And some of them said, “Could not this Man, who opened the eyes of the blind, also have kept this man from dying?”
